Who Corrupted the Gospel / Injil & thus the Bible

The Quran makes several claims about the Torah and the Gospel, stating that these scriptures were revealed by Allah as guidance for humanity and are word of Allah. However, when examining the content of the current Gospel, one finds significant contradictions between it and the Quran, especially concerning key events in the life of Jesus Christ. This article explores these contradictions, the Islamic belief in the corruption of the Gospel, and the theological implications that arise from this belief.

The Quranic Assertion of the Torah and the Gospel

The Quran explicitly states that Allah revealed the Torah and the Gospel as guidance for mankind. In Surah 3:3-4, it says:

> "It is He (Allah) who has sent down the Book (the Quran) to you, Muhammad, with truth, confirming what came before it. And He sent down the Torah and the Gospel aforetime, as a guidance to mankind."

This verse affirms that the Torah and the Gospel were part of the divine message intended to guide humanity. The Quran acknowledges these earlier scriptures, suggesting their importance and authenticity at the time of their revelation.

Contradictions Between the Quran and the Gospel

Despite the Quran's acknowledgment of the Gospel, there are stark contradictions between the teachings of the Quran and those found in the Gospel, particularly concerning the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus. The New Testament, particularly the Gospel of Mark, contains verses where Jesus predicts his death and resurrection:

- Mark 9:31: "For he was teaching his disciples, saying to them, 'The Son of Man is going to be delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill him. And when he is killed, after three days he will rise.'"
- Mark 10:45: "For even the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

These verses are in direct conflict with the Quranic account in Surah 4:157, which states:

> "That they said (in boast), “We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God”;- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and thhose who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge, but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:-."

The Quran denies the crucifixion of Jesus, asserting instead that it only appeared so to the people. This contradiction raises a significant theological issue: if both the Quran and the Gospel are divine revelations, how can they disagree on such a fundamental event?

The Concept of Corruption of the Gospel

Given these contradictions, many Muslims conclude that the Gospel must have been corrupted after its initial revelation. This belief is widespread, yet it introduces further complexities because the Quran itself asserts that no one can change Allah's words. For instance:

- Surah 6:114-115: "Shall I seek a judge other than Allah, while it is He who has sent down to you the Book explained in detail? And those to whom We gave the Scripture know that it is sent down from your Lord in truth. So be not of those who doubt. And the word of your Lord has been fulfilled in truth and in justice. None can change His words, and He is the Hearing, the Knowing."
- Surah 18:27: "And recite, [O Muhammad], what has been revealed to you of the Book of your Lord. There is no changer of His words, and never will you find in other than Him a refuge."

These verses suggest that divine revelations, including the Torah and the Gospel, are protected from alteration. Therefore, the idea that the Gospel could be corrupted seems to contradict these Quranic statements.

What Muslim Scholars are missing is that if you ignore what Allah says about no one being able to change his words and you decide contrary to what Allah clearly says that the Gospel was corrupted then the Quran does tell you who corrupted it. Let me say that again the Quran states repeatedly that no one can change Allah's words, but if you decide in spite of what Allah says that the Gospel was in fact corrupted, the Quran tells you exactly who corrupted it. The Quran gives us the answer, Muslim scholars simply ignore. I'm going to show you right now who corrupted the Gospel according to the Quran. To solve this mystery we'll go through seven facts, seven facts that point to one unavoidable conclusion here are the facts:

1. Jesus as a Messenger of Islam

The Quran presents Jesus (Isa) as a messenger of Allah and a prophet within Islam. Surah 19:23-33 recounts how Jesus, even as a baby, proclaimed his servitude to Allah and his role as a prophet. Additionally, Surah 42:13 emphasizes that Jesus preached the same monotheistic message as prophets like Noah, Abraham, Moses, and Muhammad: "He has ordained for you of religion what He enjoined upon Noah and that which We have revealed to you, [O Muhammad], and what We enjoined upon Abraham, Moses, and Jesus – to establish the religion and not be divided therein." This suggests a continuity of the divine message across different prophets.

2. The Quran on Jesus' Followers

According to the Quran, Jesus had followers who embraced Islam. Surah 3:52 mentions, "But when Jesus felt [persistence in] disbelief from them, he said, 'Who are my supporters for [the cause of] Allah?' The disciples said, 'We are supporters for Allah. We have believed in Allah and testify that we are Muslims [submitting to Him].'" Furthermore, Surah 5:111 states, "And [mention] when I inspired to the disciples, 'Believe in Me and in My messenger Jesus.' They said, 'We have believed, so bear witness that indeed we are Muslims [in submission to Allah].'" These verses indicate that Jesus' true followers were Muslims, according to the Quran.

3. Historical Records of Jesus' Followers

The historical records of Jesus' disciples, as preserved in Christian tradition, portray them as proclaiming Jesus' death, resurrection, and divinity—beliefs that differ significantly from Islamic teachings. There is no historical evidence that any of Jesus' disciples believed in the message of Islam as described in the Quran. This discrepancy raises questions about the Quranic claim that Jesus had Muslim followers who adhered to a pure monotheistic faith similar to Islam.

In the Quran Allah promises Jesus that his followers will be superior to unbelievers until the day of resurrection. Sura 3:55:

Behold! God said: "O Jesus! I will take thee and raise thee to Myself and clear thee (of the falsehoods) of those who blaspheme; I will make those who follow thee superior to those who reject faith, to the Dsy of Resurrection: Then shall ye all return unto me, and I will judge between you of the matters wherein ye dispute.

Since, the day of resurrection hasn't arrived yet, Allah's promise is still in effect: Jesus's followers will be superior to those who blaspheme till the day of resurrection. So, if Jesus had Muslim followers as Quran claims they were so insignificant and inconsequential that we have no record of them even existing. They must have been disappeared from early on and faded from history.

4. The Quran's Account of the Crucifixion

Mainstream Islamic belief, based on Surah 4:157, states that Allah used a power of illusion to device people to convince them that Jesus died on the cross. The verse states,

"That they said (in boast), “We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God”;- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge, but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:-"

This verse is interpreted to mean that Allah deceived people into believing that Jesus was crucified, which subsequently led to the Christian belief in the crucifixion—a belief that, according to this interpretation, originated from Allah’s own actions. So Allah miraculously disguised someone else to look like Jesus and crucified that man. Thus Allah through illusion and deception made Christians for 600 years before Muhammad’s revelation think that the person died was Jesus!

So when you see on the Gospel that Jesus died on the cross, it isn’t from Paul or Counsel of Nicaea, it’s straight from Allah’s deception.

5. Allah's Role in the Spread of Christianity

Surah 61:14 narrates how Allah aided the followers of Jesus:

"O you who have believed, be supporters of Allah, as when Jesus, the son of Mary, said to the disciples, 'Who are my supporters for Allah?' The disciples said, 'We are supporters of Allah.' And a faction of the Children of Israel believed and a faction disbelieved. So We supported those who believed against their enemy, and they became dominant."

Historically, the only group of Jesus' followers who became dominant/uppermost were Christians who believed in his crucifixion, resurrection, and divinity. If Allah supported these followers, it suggests that He helped spread beliefs that Islam considers false. So Allah helped spread a corrupt followers.

6. The Quran and the Integrity of the Gospel

The Quran speaks highly of the Gospel, even urging Christians to judge by it. Surah 7:157 refers to those who follow the unlettered Prophet, whom they find written in the Torah and the Gospel. Surah 5:47 states, "Let the people of the Gospel judge by what Allah has revealed therein. And whoever does not judge by what Allah has revealed – then it is those who are the defiantly disobedient." Surah

5:68 similarly commands, "Say, 'O People of the Scripture, you are [standing] on nothing until you uphold the Torah, the Gospel, and what has been revealed to you from your Lord.'" These verses imply that the Gospel available during the time of Muhammad was still considered valid and authoritative, raising the question of when, how, and by whom it could have been corrupted if it indeed was.

The oldest complete Bible manuscript available now is the Codex Sinaiticus, which dates back to 330-360 AD.

Critical Questions for Reflection

Given the Quran's teachings, several critical questions arise:

1. Why would Allah corrupt Jesus' message and destroy everything Jesus worked so hard to accomplish?
2. Why did Allah promise Jesus that his followers would be superior to unbelievers until the Day of Resurrection if their message was destined to be corrupted? (Didn't Allah know he was about to corrupt Christianity by tricking people into believing Jesus died on the cross?)
3. If the Gospel was divinely revealed, why didn't Allah preserve it instead of allowing or causing its corruption?
4. Why did Allah help spread Christianity if it was based on a corrupted message?
5. If Allah corrupted the Gospel in the first century, why did Allah commend the Christians of Muhammad's time to judge by this corrupt Gospel?
6. If Allah deceives people who follow his prophets (as he deceived the followers of Jesus), how do Muslims know that He isn't deceiving them right now?
7. Since Jesus' message was corrupted by Allah, what did Jesus accomplish, according to Islam?

Putting all of this together we've solved the mystery. We now know who corrupted the Gospel, when he corrupted the Gospel and how he corrupted the Gospel.
Here's what happened:

Allah sent Jesus to the children of Israel and Jesus, thanks to his powerful preaching and astounding miracles, won a number of converts who were Muslims. Allah decided to take Jesus away, but he promised Jesus that his followers would be superior to unbelievers until the day of resurrection. Sadly Allah soon forgot about that promise and he tricked Jesus disciples into believing that he died on the cross, ultimately giving rise to Christianity and thus to a corrupt Gospel. Then Allah forgot that he corrupted the Gospel and he helped Christians spread their message until they became uppermost over those who rejected Jesus. Finally Allah revealed the Quran 600 years later, but by that time Allah didn't remember much of what happened. So He just kept boasting about no one being able to change His words, and He kept telling Christians to judge by the Gospel that Christians still have, which was corrupted. Tragically by Quran itself, the only conclusion Muslims can draw from all this is that Allah has been suffering from memory loss for a long long time. He tried but he just can't remember things that he says or does or promises or corrupts.

If our Muslims want to worship a God who isn't suffering from memory loss and who isn't a cosmic trickster (Al-Makir) who deceives people and undermines the work of his own prophets and accidentally starts false religions, they'll need to look somewhere other than Islam. Don't they?

Does the Quran consider the Bible to be corrupted scripture?

In Surah 29 verse 46 the Quran commands Muslims to say to Christians:
"We believe in what has been revealed to us and in what has been revealed to you. Our God and your God is one. And to him we submit."

Yet many Muslims say something very different to Christians. They say we don't believe in your book, because it's been corrupted, so do the God you believe in. If Muslims are commanded to say that they believe in what has been revealed to us- Christians, why do they instead say that they don't believe in the Bible- the only revelation we Christians have? And if they're commanded to say that Christian's God and Muslim's God is one, why do they instead say that Christian's God idea is false? According to the Bible God is a unity, one in nature or essence, but three in person- Father, Son and Holy Spirit (going into detail in chapter- 8, 12 &). The Son entered creation as Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus died on the cross for sins and rose from the dead. Muslims have to reject the Bible because the Bible contradicts the Quran. But Muslims have a problem here. The Quran declares that the Torah and the Gospel were revealed by Allah. Surah 3 verses 3-4:
He has revealed to you the book with truth, verifying that which is before it, and he revealed the Torah and the Gospel aforetime, a guidance for the people. And he sent the Quran.

So, Allah revealed the Torah and the Gospel as guidance. But, Muslims tell us that Allah couldn't protect the Torah and the Gospel and that both revelations were corrupted by men. What Allah sent to guide people ended up misguiding people- convincing Christians that God is a unity and that Jesus died on the cross for sins. Muslims tell us that the Torah and the Gospel were changed. But the Quran states that no one can change Allah's words.

Surah 18 verse 27:

And recite what has been revealed to you of the book of your lord. There is none who can change his words; and you shall not find any refuge besides him.

Here Muslims might say this verse only means that no one can change the Quran. But it says that no one can change Allah's words, and the Torah and the Gospel according to the Quran are Allah's words. Despite Allah's clear declaration that no one can change his words, many Muslims assert that the Gospel was corrupted by the apostle Paul or by later Christians. If the Gospel is corrupted we can only wonder why the Quran says that Christians still had the Gospel during the time of Muhammad. Surah 7 verse 157:

Those who follow the messenger, the unlettered prophet, whom they find mentioned in their own (scriptures)- in the Torah and the Gospel- it is they who will prosper.

How could Christians find Muhammad mentioned in the Gospel when the Gospel was supposedly corrupted centuries earlier? Is Allah saying that we find Muhammad mentioned in our corrupted scriptures? But we don't find Muhammad mentioned in our scriptures at all (explained in chapter-14), except as part of a general warning about false prophets who come to lead people away from the Gospel. And if we did find Muhammad mentioned in our scriptures, how would we know that this wasn't one of the corrupted parts? And since our scriptures contradict Islam, why would Allah appeal to them as evidence for Islam? But Allah goes much further than this. He commands Christians to judge by the Gospel. Surah 5 verse 47:

Let the people of the Gospel judge by what Allah hath revealed therein. If any do fail to judge by (the light of) what Allah hath revealed, they are (no better than) those who rebel.

Why does Allah command us to judge by a corrupt book? The only Gospel we have contradicts Islam. So to obey Allah's command, we would have to judge by the Gospel and conclude that Islam is false. Allah continues along these same lines in Surah 5:68:
Say: "O people of the book! You have no ground to stand upon unless you stand fast by the Torah, the Gospel, and all the Revelation that has come to you from your Lord."

Why would Allah tell us that we have no ground to stand upon unless we stand upon a corrupt book? If the Gospel has been corrupted, wouldn't Allah just tell us to get rid of it and believe in the Quran? So the Quran clearly maintains that the Gospel is authoritative for Christians. And this only makes sense if the author of the Quran believed that Christians have the word of God. But the Gospel wasn't just authoritative for Christians only, it was also authoritative for Muhammad himself and therefore Muslims. One day Muhammad started having doubts about his revelations. In response to these doubts, Allah commanded Muhammad to go to the people of the book- Jews and Christians for confirmation. Surah 10 verse 94:
But if you (O Muhammad) are in doubt as to what we have revealed to you ask those who read the book before you; certainly the truth has come to you from your lord, therefore you should not be of the disputers.
Muslims today act as if the Quran stands in judgment over the Bible. Since the Bible contradicts the Quran, Muslims assume that the Bible must be rejected. But in the Quran, it's exactly the opposite- the Bible stands in judgment over the Quran and Muhammad himself could only confirm his revelations by checking to see if they line up with the scriptures of the people of the book. Since Muhammad continued preaching Islam, he apparently never took this test very seriously. If he had gone to the people of the book in search of confirmation, he would have been forced to reject the Quran. Because the Quran puts Muslims in an inescapable dilemma. Either Christians have the inspired preserved authoritative word of God or we don't. Those are the only two possibilities. If we have the inspired, preserved, authoritative word of God then Islam is false. Because Islam contradicts what we have. If we don't have the inspired, preserved, authoritative word of God then Islam is false too. Because the Quran affirms the inspiration, preservation, and authority of our book. So, if the Gospel is the word of God- Islam is false. If the Gospel isn't the word of God- Islam is false. Either way, Islam is false. By affirming scriptures that contradict its core teachings, Islam self-destructs.

The Qur'an Confirms the Integrity of the Bible

There is a common held conviction among Muslims that the Bible has become corrupted. They believe that the Bible has been changed. Almost every Christian-Muslim dialogue begins with the Muslim allegation of Bible corruption. Because of this erroneous belief, Muslims are taught to reject the Holy Bible as the Word of God. Unless this misconception is cleared at the very beginning, a meaningful dialogue with Muslims will not be possible.

The objective of this work is to demonstrate that the accusations raised against the Holy Bible by Muslims are not only false but also meaningless in light of what the Qur'an, the true authority in Islam, actually teaches about the Holy Bible. We will use the Qur'an – Islam's own sacred book – to prove the integrity of the Bible. This article is essential for all who desire to engage in the preaching of the Gospel to the Muslims. However, it is also equally essential for the individual Muslim who sincerely aspires to know what his own sacred book reveals about the Bible.

Of course, Christians do not need the Qur'an to establish the credibility of the Bible. However, since Muslims believe in the Qur'an, it is used here exclusively for the purpose of proving to Muslims that their own sacred book confirms the integrity of the Holy Bible. The Bible teaches Christians to be always ready to make a defense, so we will use this article to do just that.

1 Peter 3:15: "Always be ready to make a defense before everyone that demands of you a reason for the hope in you."

Christians know for sure that it is not Allah, the deity worshipped by Muslims who inspired the writings of the Holy Bible. The true source who both inspired the writings of the Holy Bible and revealed it to mankind is none other than Jehovah God. However, in order to explain to Muslims what the Qur'an teaches about the integrity of the Bible, we have to go along – at least for the duration of this article – with the Qur'an's claim that the Bible was sent to mankind by Allah. The Qur'an states that the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel were all revealed by Allah. In other words, they are the Words of Allah.

THE REFERENCE OF THE TORAH IN THE QUR'AN

The Arabic word for Torah is Taurat or Tawrat:

Surah 5:44: "Lo! We did reveal the Torah, wherein is guidance and a light." (Pickthall)

"Surely We revealed the Taurat in which was guidance and light." (Shakir)

THE REFERENCE OF THE PSALMS IN THE QUR'AN

The Arabic word for Psalms is Zabur or Zaboor:

Surah 4:163: "We have sent thee inspiration, as We sent it to Noah and the Messengers after him: we sent inspiration to Abraham, Ismail, Isaac, Jacob and the Tribes, to Jesus, Job, Jonah, Aaron, and Solomon, and to David We gave the Psalms." (Yusuf Ali)

"…and to Dawood (David) We gave the Zaboor (Psalms). " (Hilali-Khan)

THE REFERENCE OF THE GOSPEL IN THE QUR'AN

The Arabic word for Gospel is Injil or Injeel:

Surah 3:2-4: "Allah! *There is no god but He…*It is He Who sent down the Law (of Moses) and the Gospel (of Jesus) before this, as a guide to mankind." (Yusuf Ali)

Surah 5:46: "And We caused Jesus, son of Mary, to follow in their footsteps, confirming that which was (revealed) before him in the Torah, and We bestowed on him the Gospel wherein is guidance and a light*, confirming that which was (revealed) before it in the* Torah – a guidance and an admonition unto those who ward off (evil)." (Pickthall)

"And We sent after them in their footsteps Isa, son of Marium, verifying what was before him of the Taurat and We gave him the Injeel in which was guidance and light." (Shakir)

All these Qur'anic verses explicitly acknowledge that the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are the "Words of Allah." And the Qur'an adds that they contain "guidance and light" for "mankind." Thus, Allah himself testifies in the Qur'an that there is guidance and light in the Torah and the Gospel. A careful consideration of Allah's purpose in sending the Torah and the Gospel to mankind can help us discern why it is both vital and absolutely necessary for the integrity of these Scriptures to be kept intact and maintained as such for all eternity. Since Allah sent the Torah and the Gospel as "guidance and light for mankind," would it make sense to believe that he would allow his guidance and light to become corrupted? To do so would result in the opposite of his intended purpose for the Torah and the Gospel. It would now lead people into spiritual darkness. For Allah to send the Torah and the Gospel with the command to obey them but then to later permit them to become a false guide through corruption would result in his leading astray untold millions of sincere believers. This is especially true when the command to obey the Torah and the Gospel can still be found in the Qur'an today.

Before we proceed on in our discussion, it is important to familiarize ourselves with a couple of terms that are used in the Qur'an. One: The Qur'an uses the term "People of the Book" to describe the Jews and Christians. Two: The Qur'an uses the Arabic term Al-Kitab for the Bible. According to the Arabic–English Dictionary, the term Al-Kitab is translated as follows: (1) Bible (2) Holy Writ (3) Holy Scripture (4) Scripture (5) Book.

The Arabic term, Al-Kitab is translated as the following in the various English translations of the Qur'an: Bible, Scripture(s), Revelation(s) and Book(s).

In our compilation of this article, we extracted many essential verses from the Qur'an. Not only do these Qur'anic verses support the integrity of the Bible but they also prove why the Bible will always remain as the unchanged Word of God. All these essential verses from the Qur'an along with appropriate commentaries are reproduced here in this article. And we have enumerated these supporting Qur'anic verses as Testimonies. Let us now begin our discussion by considering the numerous Testimonies of the Qur'an that prove why the Bible has not been changed, will not be changed and cannot be changed in the course of time.

TESTIMONY NUMBER ONE

Muslims claim that the Torah and the Gospel in our present Bible have become corrupted. Let us see what Allah himself testifies in the Qur'an:

> Surah 10:64: "No change can there be in the words of Allah. This is indeed the supreme felicity." (Yusuf Ali)

None can change the Words of Allah. This is indeed the Supreme Triumph. (Pickthall)

The above Qur'anic verse clearly states that there can be no changing to the "Words of Allah." As shown at the beginning of this article, the Qur'an itself testifies that the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are the "Words of Allah." As such, Allah guarantees that they cannot be changed. From the very beginning of its compilation, the contents of the Bible consist of nothing else but the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel. Since the Qur'an testifies that these Scriptures are the very "Words of Allah," then there can be no changing to the Bible. If it does, then the Qur'an is wrong.

"None can change the Words of Allah" says the Qur'an. In total violation to the teachings of their own sacred book, Muslim apologists claim that the Jews and the Christians corrupted their Scriptures. Two very important points are taught in the Qur'an. One: The Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are the "Words of Allah." Two: "None can change the Words of Allah." Whether Muslims agree or not, they are now compelled to make a choice here. They must now choose between believing the lies propagated by Muslim apologist who claim that simple humans corrupted the incorruptible "Words of Allah" and believing Allah's clear testimony in the Qur'an which states that the Holy Bible cannot be corrupted.

If the claim that the Jews and the Christians altered the Bible is true, then they must surely be more powerful than Allah. Not only would this prove Allah's defeat at the hands of weak humans but it also proves that the Qur'an's testimony to the authenticity of the Torah and the Gospel is false. To believe in the corruption of the Bible is the same as rejecting the teachings of the Qur'an. Surely, God has the power to preserve his Word.

It would therefore require a denial of the Qur'an itself to believe that the Bible has been changed through corruption. If the claim of corruption is true, then the promises of Allah in the Qur'an to preserve his Word become a lie. This not only makes Allah a liar but it would also make the Qur'an false.

Knowing that their position is impossible to defend, Muslims conjure up another lie. They try to wriggle out of this difficulty by claiming that it is not the original Torah and Gospel revealed by Allah that has become corrupted but only the Torah and the Gospel in the Bible. How can this be true when the only existing Torah and Gospel at the time when Allah authenticated these Scriptures in the Qur'an are the very ones that were already existing in the Bible? A simple comparison of our Bible with the Bibles that existed during the time of Muhammad shows that nothing has changed. It is for this reason Allah could say:

> Surah 5:66: If they had observed the Torah and the Gospel and what was revealed to them from their Lord, they would surely have been nourished from above and from below. (Wahiduddin Khan)

And this command of Allah can still be found in the Qur'an. Can you imagine the length that Muslims are willing to go to maintain the lie that only the Torah and the Gospel in our present Bible have become corrupted? This claim by Muslims is a preposterous lie. This can be seen by the fact that whenever Muslims say that the coming of Muhammad is prophesied in the Jewish and Christian Scriptures, the only Torah and the only Gospel they quote to support their claim is from the Torah and the Gospel which are recorded in our present Bible. Will they be quoting the Torah and the Gospel from our present Bible to authenticate Muhammad's prophethood if they had any reason to believe that these are not the Torah and the Gospel that were originally revealed by Allah? If Muslims are sincere in their belief that the Torah and the Gospel in our present Bible are different from the originals, why do they still quote from these Scriptures to support their claim that the coming of Muhammad is prophesied in the Bible? Are not Muslims then guilty of validating Muhammad's prophethood on the basis of Scriptures that have become false through corruption?

Apart from the Bible, Muslims cannot produce a single copy of the supposedly original Torah and Gospel to back their claim. So where are these Scriptures? After all, if the Scriptures of Allah are not even supposed to suffer a minuscule change in them, can they truly become lost completely? Will Allah's claim to preserve his Scriptures make any sense if at the same instance these Scriptures are permitted to become lost? What good is Allah's preservation of his Scriptures if they are not preserved from becoming lost? Surely, preservation from corruption would make no sense if it does not include preservation from loss. So where are the original uncorrupted Torah and Gospel?

While not having a single copy of the alleged original Torah and Gospel and at the same instance claiming that the Torah and the Gospel in the Bible have become corrupted, Muslims are forced to accept the following blasphemous conclusion. They have to admit that these two essential Scriptures of Allah have either become lost or they have become corrupted. Thus, by denying the Torah and the Gospel in our present Bible, Muslims themselves are guilty of proclaiming that the Qur'an is not the Word of God. The Qur'an's clear testimony that the "Words of Allah" cannot become lost or corrupted is now shown to be false by Muslims themselves.

The dilemma for Muslims is that even if we were to accept that the original Torah and Gospel are not the ones recorded in the Bible, then the fact that these originals are now lost proves that the Qur'an is false since it assures us that the "Words of Allah" will be preserved forever. However, the truth is that besides the Torah and the Gospel which are preserved in the Bible, no such authentic Torah or Gospel as claimed by Muslims exists. Otherwise, Muslims would be quoting from these so called originals to support their claim that Muhammad is prophesied in the Scriptures of the Jew and Christians. That is why the only Torah and Gospel which Muslims refer to are the ones recorded in the Bible. These are the originals. Islam falls apart if Muslims are unwilling to accept this simple fact since the only alternative left for them is to accept the indisputable conclusion that Allah lied in the Qur'an. He lied that he will preserve his Word.

Interestingly, Muslims are willing to accept certain parts of the Bible as authentic. They are willing to accept as authentic parts of the Torah and the Gospel which they believe prophesies about the coming of Muhammad. The fact that Muslims are willing to accept certain parts of the Torah and the Gospel in the Bible as the authentic "Words of Allah" while rejecting the rest as corrupted is an undeniable proof of their admission that parts of the "Words of Allah" have become corrupted. At the same instance, it is also an admission that the only available Torah and the Gospel are the ones found in our present Bible. This reveals that their claim of corruption is actually directed to the original "Words of Allah." So no matter how hard they attempt to cover their lies, they still end up denying Allah and the Qur'an.

Therefore, in reality Muslims are actually accusing the original "*Words of Allah" of becoming corrupted. This is blasphemy. Can the "*Words of Allah" become corrupted? "*No" says the Qur'an while Muslims say, "*Yes." This means that each time Muslims charge the Torah and the Gospel in the Bible with corruption, they are also at the same instant claiming the Qur'an to be false.

But, why are Muslims so adamant in promoting the idea that our Bible has become corrupted. Why do they resort to such dishonesty even though the Qur'an confirms the integrity of the Bible? In fact, many verses of the Qur'an testify to the authenticity and integrity of the Scriptures of the Jews and the Christians. As such, the Bible has to be perfect at the time of the Qur'an's revelation. Since the Qur'an testifies that God's Word cannot be altered or corrupted, it rules out any possibility of the Bible ever becoming corrupted at a later point in time. The reason for such insistence on the claim of Bible corruption is because when later generation of Muslims ventured into neighboring Christian lands, they found that the teachings of the Bible were contrary to the version that Muhammad had taught them.

Well there can be only two possible responses to this discovery. Muslims had to either accept that their Prophet had erred in his teachings or to believe on the presupposition that the Bible itself had been changed. Regrettably, they chose the latter course. Therefore, Muslims base their belief on a presupposition and then seek "evidences" to justify it. Thus, before a Muslim even picks up a Bible, he is led to believe it is no longer the Word of God. Sadly for Muslims, they have to insist that the Bible was changed, otherwise they cannot remain a Muslim!

A sincere study of the evidences proves that the Muslim's assumption of Bible corruption is based purely on conjecture. When these evidences are honestly and objectively examined, the only conclusion that can be reached is that the Bible which we have in our possession today is the same as it was originally revealed by God. Yes! The Bible that we have today is the authentic uncorrupted Word of God.

We will now consider further evidences in the Qur'an that confirm the integrity of the Bible. In the later part of this article, we will also provide evidences that exist for the Bible's textual history in the oldest manuscripts that are available to us to prove just how strong the verifications are in favor for the authenticity of the Bible.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWO

The following Qur'anic verse gives further proof that God's Word cannot be changed.

> Surah 6:115: "Perfected is the Word of thy Lord in truth and justice. There is naught that can change His words. He is the Hearer, the Knower." (Pickthall)*
> Perfect are the words of thy Lord in truthfulness and justice; no man can change His words; He is the All-hearing, the All-knowing. (Arberry)*

Muslims who claim that the Bible has become corrupted must also be willing to accept that the above Qur'anic verse is false to its claim. This Qur'anic verse states very plainly, without any clause or qualification, that none can change the "Word of thy Lord." In other words, under no circumstance can anyone or anything change the Scriptures of Allah. And this means that it will remain unchanged for all eternity. Therefore, should the Bible become corrupted at any time – past, present and future – then the statement of Allah in the above Qur'anic verse becomes false at the same instant.

The Qur'an also states very clearly that Allah is "All-hearing" and "All-knowing." This indicates he is listening and he knows and he is watching over his Word. So who changed the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel without the knowledge of Allah? Therefore, either the Qur'an is right and Allah's Word cannot be changed, or the Qur'an is wrong and the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel have been changed. It cannot be both ways.

This is not just an issue about the integrity of the Bible but also an issue that is integral to the integrity of Allah himself. If Allah is powerless to protect the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel which the Qur'an unquestionably acknowledges as the inspired Words of Allah, how can Muslims then trust him with their eternal salvation? Salvation is very much dependent on the integrity of the Scriptures. Without the integrity of the Scriptures, there can be no salvation. Muslims say that Allah is Great (Akbar) and Powerful (Al Qawie) and yet at the same instant they believe that he is unable to protect his Holy Word from distortion by defiant humans. It is utterly evil for someone to believe that an all-powerful God would allow his Holy Word to become corrupted at the hands of weak human beings.

Some Muslims claim that the above Qur'anic verse applies only to the preservation of the Qur'an. To make such a claim is to distort the meaning of this Qur'anic verse. If Allah's intention is only to preserve the Qur'an, he would have stated emphatically: "No one can change the Qur'an." But the Qur'an does not say that. The above Qur'anic verse states very clearly in Arabic that it is the "Kalimah of thy Lord" (Word of thy Lord) that will remain unchanged. This means every Word of Allah.

And the Qur'an itself testifies that the Bible (Al-Kitab) which consists of the Torah, Psalms and the Gospel is the divine "Word of thy Lord." Therefore, when Allah says "nothing can change his words," it means not a single word in any of the Scriptures of Allah. To say Allah's words were changed in the Bible but not in the Qur'an would make the above Qur'anic verse a preposterous lie because it shows that, at least, some of Allah's words can be changed. This would mean Allah lied in the Qur'an. Either that or we could believe that these Muslims who claim the Bible is changed are the ones who are lying. What Muslims fail to understand is that it is either all or nothing.

Additionally, take note of Allah's declaration in this Qur'anic verse, "Perfected is the Word of thy Lord in truth and justice." At the time when this Qur'anic verse was revealed, the Qur'an was still in the process of compilation. Would it not be a little premature to testify that the Qur'an is already the "Perfected Word of thy Lord" even before its completion? The Qur'an was very much incomplete when this verse was revealed and it is impossible to see how this verse can be used to prove its exclusive preservation. This is the language of hypothesis and presupposition.

TESTIMONY NUMBER THREE

Time and again the Qur'an testifies that no one can change the Words of God.

Surah 18:27: "And recite (and teach) what has been revealed to thee of the Book of thy Lord; none can change His Words, and none wilt thou find as a refuge other than Him." (Yusuf Ali)

"…there is none who can alter His words." (Shakir)

Once again Allah declares that "none can change or alter his Words." In their desperation to fault the Bible, some Muslim apologists state that the above verse applies only to the integrity of the Qur'an. The absurdity of such reasoning can be easily exposed.

To illustrate: Assume you purchased an insurance policy that covers the cost of the damages of all your houses in the event of a disaster. And you were guaranteed that all the houses are included in the policy. The policy is signed and documented on paper. Say, in time two of your houses were damaged by fire. However, when you filed your papers to make your claim, you are told by the insurance company that you are mistaken. They now tell you that the policy covers only the third undamaged house. Would you accept this? Would you not use the document that details the terms of the policy to sue the company? Absolutely! And would you not logically conclude that this company is a fraud?

This is exactly the same when Muslims make the absurd claim that Allah's pledge to protect his Scriptures does not cover the first two Books but only the third. By doing so, they are portraying Allah as a fraud. Well, do we have a written document that states with absolute certainty that Allah will protect all his Scriptures? Yes, we have! We have the Qur'an.

Surah 10:64: The Word of God shall never change. That is the supreme triumph. (W. Khan)

Surah 6:115: No one can change His Words. (S. V. Ahamed)

Surah 18:27: There is none who hath power to change His Words. (Sale)

The above three Qur'anic verses are simple and clear to understand. They clearly state that the "Word of God" cannot be changed by anyone. They do not say that the Qur'an cannot be changed but the "Word of God" cannot be changed. Well, are the Torah and the Gospel acknowledged as the *"Word of Allah" in the Qur'an? Most certainly! Are the Torah and the Gospel revealed by Allah? Absolutely! How can these Scriptures then become corrupted? And for the benefit of our Muslim readers, we will provide a further Qur'anic verse to reaffirm this point:

> Surah 3:3: "He has verily revealed to you this Book, in truth and confirmation of the Books revealed before, as indeed He had revealed the Torah and the Gospel." (Ahmed Ali)

In view of the undeniable fact that the Torah and the Gospel are the Words of Allah and since no one can change the Words of Allah, how can Muslims then claim that the promised protection does not include the Scriptures of the Jews and Christians. Are they are not bearing false witness against Allah? Are they are not lying against the Qur'an which says over and over again, "No one can change His Words."?

The Qur'an not only authenticates the Scriptures of the Jews and Christians as the revealed Words of Allah but it also commands Muslims to believe in them. If Muslims continue to believe that these Scriptures have become corrupted, then they are committing a very serious error of invalidating the promises and commandments of Allah in the Qur'an. They can either believe that Allah failed in his promises to protect his revealed Scriptures or they can believe that the Bible is the preserved Word of God. They cannot have it both ways.

In order to maintain the deceit that the Bible has become corrupted, Muslims blasphemously deny the present Torah and Gospel as the revealed Scriptures of Allah. Of course, Muslims will tell you that they believe in the Torah and Gospel, but in the once uncorrupted Torah and Gospel which they claim existed before. Do Muslims really understand the absurdity of what they are saying? When Allah said, "No one can change His Words," it means not a single Scripture of Allah can be changed at any time. In other words, from the time they were revealed, the Torah and Gospel are meant to be preserved forever by Allah. As such, there cannot be such a thing as a once existing uncorrupted Torah and Gospel. What Muslims fail to understand is that in order for the Qur'an to be true, the Torah and Gospel have to be available at all times and have to remain uncorrupted for all eternity.

Can Allah's guarantee to preserve the Torah and Gospel be true if these Scriptures are not available in their original form today? Can the Torah and Gospel truly be the eternal Words of Allah if they have become completely lost? Would it make sense for Allah to promise that the Torah and Gospel will remain eternally untouched by corruption if he at the same instance he allows them to become eternally lost? For the Qur'an to be true, the Torah and Gospel must not only be available today but they must available to us without having become corrupted. That is what Allah guaranteed in the Qur'an. Nothing less than that. Therefore, there cannot be such a thing as a once upon a time uncorrupted Scriptures of Allah. That very statement is a fallacy. Muslims are guilty of blasphemy when they say this.

Now consider another example. Suppose a man who owns three well-built houses tells you that nothing can destroy his houses. Say, in time a storm destroyed two of his houses. Now, would the claim that nothing could destroy his houses be true? It does not matter if it is House No 1 or House No 2, as long as a single house is destroyed, his claim will be utterly false. Is not Allah making exactly the same claim in the Qur'an as this man in the illustration?

Therefore, if the Torah and the Gospel are truly destroyed through corruption as Muslims wants us to believe, then the claim of Allah will be equally false like that of the man in this illustration. In fact, it does not matter if it is the Torah or the Gospel, as long as a single Scripture of Allah is corrupted, Allah's claim will become false. And Muslims are willing to go as far as labeling Allah a fraud by insisting that he only meant to preserve the Qur'an and not the Bible. To say that the Bible has been permitted by Allah to become corrupted is to believe that Allah lied in the Qur'an. Again, this would make the Qur'an false since it states that God's Word cannot be changed.

During the course of Muhammad's prophetic career (610 C.E. – 632 C.E.), he received the Qur'an piecemeal over a period of 23 years. This means that the Bible, which was in circulation during that period of time, could not have been corrupted. Otherwise, the Qur'an cannot make the bold claim that "none can change His Words." The question that Muslims must answer is that since the Qur'an says that the Scriptures of the Bible is from Allah and Allah's words cannot be changed, how did the Bible become corrupted? Any Muslim who even contemplates to answer this question will find himself calling Allah a liar and the Qur'an a lie. In fact, the Qur'an Allah testifies that not a single word or sentence that comes from Allah can be changed.

Surah 50:29: "The sentence that cometh from Me cannot be changed, and I am in no wise a tyrant unto the slaves." (Pickthall)

According to this Qur'anic verse, not a sentence of Allah can be changed. Imagine, if not even a sentence of Allah can be changed, can a Book of Allah be changed? And in total violence of the teachings of the Qur'an, Muslims make the absurd claim that the Bible has been changed. They deliberately choose to ignore the true meaning of this Qur'anic verse.

Muslims do not believe the Bible has been changed because they have found evidences to merit such a belief. They believe it has been altered because they have to in order to maintain the conviction that the Qur'an is the Word of God. If the Bible is the unchanged Word of God, then the Qur'an automatically fails because it contradicts the Bible in numerous vital areas. Thus, before a Muslim even picks up a Bible he is led to believe it is no longer an authentic book. The dilemma for Muslims is that they are in trouble when they believe that the Bible has been changed and they are still in trouble when they believe it is not.

TESTIMONY NUMBER FOUR

In the following Qur'anic verse, Allah's pledge to protect his "Words" from corruption is specifically addressed to the Apostles who came "before" the time of Muhammad. Allah promised the Apostles that "there is none that can alter the Words of Allah." Here, Allah is giving evidence to the fact that the Scriptures in their possession, which were revealed "before" the time of the Qur'an, cannot be altered.

> Surah 6:34: "Rejected were the Apostles before thee*: with patience and constancy they bore their rejection and their wrongs,* until Our aid did reach them: there is none that can alter the Words (and decrees) of Allah. Already hast thou received some account of those Apostles." (Yusuf Ali)

> Messengers before you were also denied but they were steadfast in the face of the denial and injury they suffered until Our help arrived. There is no changing the Words of Allah. And news of other Messengers has come to you. (A. Bewley)

In the above Qur'anic verse, Allah assured the Apostles who lived "before" the time of Muhammad that "there is no changing the Words of Allah." The Scriptures that were given to the Apostles "before" the time of Muhammad is not the Qur'an but the Holy Bible. When the Qur'an says "none can alter the Words of Allah," it simply means that nothing, no one, nobody, not a soul can change or alter the Scriptures of Allah. In other words, no one can corrupt the Holy Bible. Now, if at the same instance some Muslim scholars, apologists, imams, muftis or your Muslim neighbors were to tell you that Allah's earlier Scriptures have been changed, who do you choose to believe? Do you believe the Qur'an is true in its statement that nobody can change the Words of God or do you believe that the Qur'an is false and the Words of God can be changed?

When the Qur'an says "none can alter the Words of Allah," it means nothing, no one, nobody, not a soul can change or alter the earlier Scriptures of Allah. In other words, no one can corrupt the Holy Bible. Now, if at the same instance some Muslim scholars, apologists, imams, muftis or your Muslim neighbors were to tell you that Allah's earlier Scriptures have been changed, who do you choose to believe? Do you believe the Qur'an is true in its statement that nobody can change the Words of God or do you believe that the Qur'an is false in its statement that nobody can change the Words of God?

For Muslims to believe that the Bible was corrupted by the Jews or Christians amounts to a very serious denial of the teachings of the Qur'an. A Muslim who denies the teachings of the Qur'an would no longer be qualified as a Muslim. Muslims cannot deny the Bible and continue to remain a Muslim. To attack the Bible is to attack the standing of the Qur'an which validates the authority, authenticity and infinity of the Bible.

According to the Qur'an:

(1) No one can change the Word of Allah.

(2) The Bible, which consists of the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel, is the Word of Allah.

(3) So, no one can change the Bible.
Since the Bible is supposed to be the Word of Allah, it is to be protected and kept pure through all eternity by the power of Allah. This is promise of Allah in the Qur'an. In addition, the Qur'an emphatically states that for Muslims to be assured of their salvation, they must believe in the Scriptures of the Bible:
Surah 2:4: And those who believe in what is sent down to you, and what was sent down before you (such as the Torah, Gospel and Psalms, and the Scrolls of Abraham); and in the Hereafter they have certainty of faith. (Ali Ünal)
Yes! For Muslims to "have certainty of faith," they must believe in the Holy Bible. This means they must believe in all the teachings that are inspired within its pages. The Bible was completed more than five centuries before the arrival of the Qur'an. If someone wrote a book today that contradicts a historical document written at the time when the event occurred, the person who wrote the second book centuries later has the burden to prove that the older document was false. He also has to prove that his newly forwarded facts are true. The document written at the time of the event would not have to prove itself against a latter document. This is true to the principles of the science of history. And history is on the side of the Bible.

TESTIMONY NUMBER FIVE

To say that the Bible has become corrupted means that the contents of the Bible have become corrupted. And the Torah, which consists of the five major Books of Moses, is an essential part of the Bible. This would then mean, if not all, at least a substantial portion of the Torah must have become corrupted. As such, Allah would have warned us to refrain from either reading or consulting these "corrupted Scriptures" in the Bible. However, we do not find a single warning or restriction against the Bible in the Qur'an. In fact, the opposite is true. In the Qur'an, Allah encourages us to "read" and "study" the Scriptures of the Bible. And Allah admonishes: "Bring the Torah and study it, if you are men of truth."

> Surah 3:93: "Say: Produce the Torah and read it (unto us) if ye are truthful." (Pickthall)

Say: "Bring ye the Torah and study it, if ye be men of truth." (Malik)
And this admonition to "read" and "study" the Scriptures of the Bible is not restricted to just the Torah but it encompasses the entire Scriptures of the Bible. In fact, the Qur'an insists that the entire Bible is an indispensable Book for Muslims. And especially so in times of personal crisis regarding their faith. Even Muhammad was commanded by Allah to "ask those who have been reading the Book from before him" to clear his doubts about the reliability of the Qur'an. Consider now the authoritative strength given to the Bible in the following verse which was revealed specifically for Muhammad:

> Surah 10:94: "If thou wert in doubt as to what We have revealed unto thee, then ask those who have been reading the Book from before thee: the Truth hath indeed come to thee from thy Lord: so be in no wise of those in doubt." (Yusuf Ali)
> But if you (Muhammad) are in doubt as to what We have revealed to you, ask those who read the Book before you. Verily the Truth from thy Lord hath come unto thee. So be not thou of the waverers. (Pickthall)

"The Book from before thee" refers to the Scriptures of the "People of the Book." The Qur'an describes the Jews and the Christians as the "People of the Book." Now, why would Allah command Muhammad to refer to the Scriptures of the Jews and the Christians if these Scriptures have indeed become corrupted? In fact, the command in Surah 10:94 enforces upon Muhammad the obligation to recognize the Holy Bible as the only source of divine illumination that is available to Muslims to determine the validity of the Qur'an. No other options existed for Muhammad.

Although Muhammad was addressed in this Qur'anic verse, the command given here applies equally to all Muslims. Allah is commanding Muslims to seek clarification from those who read the Bible when they have serious doubts about the Qur'an. In other words, it is telling them to consult the Bible to clear any doubts that they may have regarding the reliability of the Qur'an. Allah is commanding Muslims to consult the Bible as a means of establishing the truth. Thus, instead of warning Muslims to refrain from either reading or consulting the Bible, the Qur'an encourages them to seek guidance from it. And especially so at a critical time when their faith is undermined by doubts and uncertainties.

Hence, as long as the Qur'an exists and Muslims read it, the Bible should be at hand to clear any disbelief that might arise with reference to the Qur'an. It would be absolutely absurd for Allah to command Muslims to seek guidance from a people whose Scriptures had become corrupted. If the claim of corruption is really true, it would be extremely foolish for Allah to direct Muslims to seek guidance from those who study the Bible.

How would Muslims today apply the commandment given to them in Surah 10:94? In order for Muslims today to obey this essential command from Allah to consult the Bible when they are in doubt, it would be absolutely necessary for the Bible to remain uncorrupted. Thus, the above Qur'anic verse is yet another existing proof why the Bible will continue to remain as the uncorrupted Word of God. It has to for the benefit of Muslims. According to the Qur'an itself, the Bible is the standard of authenticity by which the Qur'an is measured.

In spite of the Qur'an's validation for the authenticity of the Bible, Muslims continue to claim that the Bible has become corrupted. Yet, when it comes to the Qur'an, they say it remains pure and unadulterated because of Allah's protection upon it. Do Muslims believe in two Allahs? One who could protect his Scriptures and the other who could not?

TESTIMONY NUMBER SIX

The following Qur'anic verse confirms yet once again that Allah will guard his Word or Message from corruption.

> Surah 15:9: "We have, without doubt, sent down the Message; and We will assuredly guard it (from corruption)." (Yusuf Ali)

In their desperation to fault the Bible, we find Muslims falsely asserting that the above Qur'anic verse applies only to the integrity of the Qur'an. This deception can be easily exposed when we consider Allah's intended purpose for revealing this verse in the Qur'an. Allah is stating a divine principle here. He is saying that since he is the originator of "the Message," he "will assuredly guard it." Who does the Qur'an say is the originator of "the Message" in the Torah and the Gospel? Is it not Allah? It is important to note that the verses, which immediately follow the above Qur'anic verse, provide vital evidences that "the Message" mentioned here involves principally "the Message" that was sent to the apostles "before" the time of Muhammad.

It is important to note that the verses, which immediately follow the above Qur'anic verse, provide vital evidences that "the Message" mentioned here involves principally "the Message" that was sent to the apostles "before" the time of Muhammad.

> Surah 15:10-11: "We did send apostles before thee amongst the religious sects of old: But never came an apostle to them but they mocked him."(Yusuf Ali)

Let us now read the texts in full:

> Surah 15:9-11: We have without doubt sent down the Message and We will assuredly guard it (from corruption*).* We did send apostles before thee amongst the religious sects of old*: But never came an apostle to them but they mocked him. (Yusuf Ali)*

Take note of the words of Allah. Immediately after saying, "We have without doubt sent down the Message," Allah adds, "We did send apostles before thee." The immediate reference to the "apostles" that were sent before the time of Muhammad suggests that Allah's assurance to guard "the Message" from corruption involves principally the Scriptures that he gave to those who were sent before Muhammad. Thus, the context itself supports the view that Allah's pledge to protect "the Message" includes the Scriptures that were given to the prophets and apostles before the arrival of Muhammad. Therefore, the promised protection applies equally to all the Scriptures that were revealed and delivered by Allah. We will now provide more evidences from the Qur'an itself to prove this truth even more conclusively.

It must be noted that Surah 15:9 does not say that only the Qur'an will be exclusively guarded as Muslims try to claim. But rather it says that "the Message" will be guarded. In fact, the word Qur'an is not even mentioned at all in this verse. The Arabic word for "Message" is "Zhikri." That Allah's divine protection from corruption includes the Holy Bible can be seen by the fact that the earlier Biblical Scriptures are also referred to as the "Zhikri" (Message) of Allah" in the Qur'an. Consider now the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 21:105: Before this We wrote in the Psalms*,* after the Message (Zhikri) (given to Moses): "My servants the righteous shall inherit the earth." (Yusuf Ali)*

Surah 16:43: "And before thee also the apostles We sent none but men, to whom We granted inspiration: If ye realise this not, ask of those who possess the Message (Zhikri)." (Yusuf Ali)*

There are many more similar verses in the Qur'an but the above is sufficient to prove our point. These passages in the Qur'an establish the fact that the Scriptures which the Jews and Christians possessed at the time of Muhammad were part of that "Message" which Allah promised to preserve. The Qur'an confirms the fact that the Bible contains "the Message" of Allah in it. Therefore, since the Bible consists of "the Message" of Allah, it is included in its entirety in the pledge made by Allah to preserve his "Message." To believe in the corruption of the Bible is to believe in the failure of Allah to guard his "Message" which means Allah is guilty of breaking his divine promise of ensuring their preservation. This is a very serious accusation against Allah by Muslims. Are Muslims willing to accept this? Further evidences from the Qur'an:

Surah 40:53-54: We did aforetime give Moses the Book of Guidance and We gave the book in inheritance to the Children of Israel, – A Guide and a Message (Zhikraa) to men of Understanding. (Yusuf Ali)*

All the above Qur'anic verses establish the truth that the revelation given to Moses, David and the Apostles, which the Jews and Christians had in their possession at the time of Muhammad, had all been sent down by Allah. They are his "Message." Thus his promised preservation applies to them primarily.

What evidences do Muslims have that Surah 15:9 is even about the Qur'an rather than the books of the Bible? Read Surah 15:9 carefully and see if you can find any evidence in it to prove that it is speaking exclusively about the preservation of only the Qur'an. We will now look at another important Qur'anic verse that confirms that the Bible is the "Message" of Allah:

Surah 21:7: "Before thee, also, the messengers We sent were but men, to whom We granted inspiration: If ye realise this not, ask of those who possess the Message (Zhikri)." (Yusuf Ali)*

(O Muhammad), even before you We never sent any other than human beings as Messengers, and to them We sent revelation. Ask the People of the Book if you do not know. (Maududi)

"*…then ask the people of the reminder (Jews and Christians)." (Farook Malik)*

Observe carefully the proclamation of Allah to Muhammad, "If ye realise this not, ask of those who possess the Message." Since Muhammad was told to "ask of those who possess the Message," this would automatically exclude the Message given to Muhammad in the Qur'an. Who then are these people who possess "the Message" of Allah? The translation of the above Qur'anic verse by Farook Malik clearly identifies that these were the Jews and Christians who were contemporaries of Muhammad.

This clearly identifies who were the original possessors of Allah's "Message." Allah is telling Muhammad to learn from the Jews and Christians who possess his "Message" if he is unaware of certain essential truths. Thus, the Qur'an recognizes both the validity and the availability of uncorrupted Bibles at the time of Muhammad. It could therefore command Muhammad to seek confirmation for the authority of Allah's "Message" from the Jews and Christians.

For Allah to command Muhammad to go to the Jews and Christians proves beyond any doubt that "the Message" in their possession must have remained uncorrupted. As such, we can be sure that in harmony with Allah's promise, "the Message" will continue to be protected by Allah for all eternity. If Muslims cannot recognize this simple fact then they must accept the fact that Allah is a deceiver. Additionally, this Qur'anic verse also states very clearly that the messengers who came before Muhammad were inspired (wahi) by Allah. Therefore, "the Message" they wrote were "the Message" of Allah.

Contrary to the lies propagated by Muslim apologists, if God's standards are consistent, then his promised preservation will be applied to all his divine Books equally. God cannot guard just one of his Books and leave the others to be tampered with. We cannot trust a God who treats his divine Books with partiality. We cannot trust a God who protects some of his Books and allow others to become corrupted. This is especially true when it is reinforced in the promise of Allah: "None can change the Words of Allah. This is indeed the Supreme Triumph." (Surah 10:64).

"This is indeed the Supreme Triumph." This expression means that the most excellent, the most majestic victory of Allah is his capability to preserve his Scriptures. The authenticity of Allah is very much dependent on his capability to maintain the authenticity of his Scriptures. Since the Scriptures of the Bible are recognized as the "Words of Allah" in the Qur'an, will Allah allow anything or anyone to change his "Messages" in the Bible? The Bible was completed about six hundred years before the arrival of the Qur'an. Therefore, if it is at all possible for the Christians or Jews to alter the "Words of Allah," then Muslims must accept the fact that Allah lied in the Qur'an. They must accept the fact that he lied when he testified: "We will assuredly guard it from corruption." (Surah 15:9). The Muslim's position is simply too dangerous for them to maintain. Allah says: "Nobody can change my Word." In defiant, Muslims say: "No, it was changed." Who should we believe? Allah or Muslims?

We will look at Surah 16:43 once again, but this time to highlight another significant point from this verse:

> Surah 16:43: The apostles We sent before you were but men whom we inspired with revelations and with Scriptures. Ask the People of the Book, if you know not. (Dawood)

It can be seen that time and again Allah commands Muhammad to consult the Jews and Christians on matters that are crucial for his salvation. One such matter was the divine inspiration of Apostles. They were inspired to write the previous Scriptures. The only Scriptures that the Qur'an recognizes are the ones recorded in the Holy Bible. Would it be logical for Allah to command Muhammad to consult a people who studied corrupted Scriptures? But it gets better than that. In the following Qur'anic verse, Allah commands Muhammad to "ask" the Messengers/Apostles who were sent before his time. In other words, Muhammad was commanded by Allah to consult the Messengers/Apostles who lived and died before his time. According to Islamic theology, the last Messenger who was sent before Muhammad was Jesus Christ. No other Messengers or Apostles were sent between the time of Jesus and Muhammad. So, how can Muhammad consult them when they were already dead?

> Surah 43:44-45: The Qur'an is a reminder to you and to your people and you will soon be questioned about it. You can ask Our Messengers whom We sent before you if We had commanded them to worship other gods besides the Beneficent God?" (Muhammad Sarwar)
> The (Qur'an) is indeed the message, for thee and for thy people; and soon shall ye (all) be brought to account. And question thou our Apostles whom We sent before thee; did We appoint any deities other than (God) Most Gracious, to be worshipped? (Yusuf Ali, Original 1938)

Since all the Messengers/Apostles, had already passed away before the time of Muhammad, how could Allah then command Muhammad to consult them? How could this be possible? The only way for Muhammad to inquire from the Messengers/Apostles who had died before his time is by consulting their writings. Would this be possible if what they wrote in the Scriptures had become corrupted? Muslims have to decide. Either the Bible is the uncorrupted Word of God or Allah is suffering from schizophrenia. How can Allah command Muhammad to consult dead persons? This is not said with the intent to insult but to stress the ridiculous position of Muslims when they accuse the Bible of corruption or falsification.

TESTIMONY NUMBER SEVEN

> Surah 2:136: *Say (O Muslims): '*We believe in Allah and that which is revealed unto us and which was revealed unto Abraham, and Ishmael, and Isaac and Jacob, and the tribes and that which Moses and Jesus received*, and that which the prophets received from their Lord.* We make no distinctions between any of them*, and unto Him we have surrendered." (Pickthall)*

If the claim of corruption is true, then why are Muslims today still commanded to believe in the earlier Scriptures that were given to the prophets before the time of Muhammad? Every Muslim readers of the Qur'an – in the past and in the present – are commanded by Allah to make this "Declaration of Faith" to believe in all the revealed Scriptures of Allah. Muhammad received the Qur'an piecemeal for a period of twenty-three years. It is important to note that Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah) is a Medinan Surah. [1] This means that even more than thirteen years after Muhammad began to receive his revelations, the Muslims there were still commanded to believe in the Scriptures of the Jews and Christians.

These Scriptures of the Jews and Christians are more accurately known as the Hebrew Scriptures and the Christian Greek Scriptures respectively. Therefore, contrary to the belief of many Muslims, this Qur'anic verse proves that the Scriptures given to the Jews and Christians were never meant to be abrogated by the arrival of the Qur'an. Since the commandment to believe in the Hebrew and Christian Greek Scriptures were given even after the arrival of the Qur'an, proves that the Bible remained as the authentic Word of Allah. Thus, Allah himself confirms the integrity of the Bible in the Qur'an.

The above "Declaration of Faith" not only commands Muslims to believe in the earlier Scriptures but also to make "no distinctions" between the various Scriptures of Allah. Therefore, the amount of faith that Muslims have in the Qur'an must also likewise be given to the Bible. But, how can Muslims continue to obey this command today when they are taught by their religious leaders that the Bible in our possession has become corrupted? How can Muslims believe in something that they have no knowledge of? To believe in the Bible as commanded by Allah, Muslims have to know and understand the contents of these Scriptures. These Scriptures must be read to be believed and accepted as the Word of God.

The obedience to this command of Allah is only possible if authentic copies of the Bible are within the reach of every sincere Muslim who wants to obey him. As testified in the above Qur'anic verse, the commitment to believe in the previous Scriptures is laid upon every single Muslim by Allah. Since this is a standing order in the Qur'an, can any Muslim continue to believe in the validity of this Qur'anic verse if the Bible is no longer the authentic Word of God today? Can Muslims today expect Allah to require them to believe in something that is no longer available? Or in something that has become corrupted? To reject the Bible as the Word of God would then lead to a rejection of this "Declaration of Faith" in the Qur'an. In turn, this means Muslims are guilty of rejecting one of the most important requirements of Allah in the Qur'an.

For the above Qur'anic verse to have any real meaning to Muslims today, they must stop their baseless claim that the Bible in our possession has become corrupted. To deny the Bible as the Word of God will without fail lead to the denial of the Qur'an. Muslims strongly argue that the Qur'an must be perfect because Allah would preserve his Word unfailingly. Yet, if the Torah and the Gospel are the Scriptures of Allah, how can Muslims then dare to accuse Allah of failing to preserve them? Is this not an act of blasphemy against Allah? If Allah failed to preserve his inspired Word in the first instance (Torah) and in the second instance (Gospel), why should Muslims trust him with the third (Qur'an)? Since it is Allah who orders Muslims to "make no distinctions" between any of his Scriptures, can we then expect Allah to make the very same distinctions that he himself forbids? Will he then make the distinction of only protecting the Qur'an while permitting his other Scriptures to become corrupted? To believe in the integrity of Allah, one has to believe in the integrity of all the Scriptures of Allah. By this it means that the Bible will be equally preserved by Allah without distinction. If the claim of corruption is true, it would then mean that Muslims who are living today will no longer be able to follow the commandment given in the above Qur'anic verse. And this would actually mean that parts of the Qur'an are no longer valid for Muslims today. Can Muslims now claim the Qur'an to be the eternal word of God when some of its instructions are no longer possible to be implemented today? Certainly not! This is especially true when the command to obey the Scriptures that were given to the earlier prophets can still be found in the Qur'an today.

TESTIMONY NUMBER EIGHT

Muslims are groomed from young to deny the Bible as the Word of God. Since Muslims believe that the Qur'an is superior to all the other Revelations of God, they make influenced distinctions in favor of the Qur'an over the Bible. However, they fail to understand that according to the Qur'an, a Muslim cannot deny any of the revealed Books of Allah. Additionally, he is commanded not to make any distinctions between the various revealed Books of Allah. The Qur'an clearly states that all the revealed Books of Allah are to be equally esteemed and accepted without distinction by Muslims.

> Surah 3:84: Say: "We believe in Allah, and in what has been revealed to us and what was revealed to Abraham, Ismail, Isaac, Jacob, and the Tribes, and in (the Books) given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets, from their Lord: We make no distinction between one and another among them, and to Allah do we bow our will (in Islam)." (Yusuf Ali)

Muslims who believe that the protection of Allah is confined to the Qur'an only, should seriously contemplate the words of the above Qur'anic verse. This verse makes it clear that Allah's assurance to protect "His Words" would include every single one his revealed Scriptures. Allah states: "We make no distinction between one and another among them." Should Allah protect some and leave others to become corrupted, then he is certainly making partial distinctions. And the Qur'an recognizes only four Scriptures of Allah by name. They are the Torah, the Psalms, the Gospel and the Qur'an.

It is important for Muslims to take note of the fact that in this Qur'anic verse, Allah is commanding Muslims to believe "in the Books given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets." This is only possible if uncorrupted copies of the original Scriptures that were "given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets" were available to Muslims at the time when this Qur'anic verse was revealed. And they must be identical to the originals in every detail. Otherwise it would be impossible for Muslims to obey this commandment of Allah.

And since the command for Muslims to believe "in the Books given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets" still exists in the Qur'an today, it proves that this commandment to believe in the previous Scriptures of Allah is still mandatory for present-day Muslims. This is only possible if Allah ensured that uncorrupted copies of the original Books are still available for Muslims today. Otherwise, this Qur'anic verse has no meaning at all for Muslims in our day. But where can Muslims find these Scriptures of Allah today? The Books of Allah such as the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel can only be found in the Bible. And for Muslims to believe in them today as required by Allah, the Bible must be kept free from corruption.

The Qur'anic verse in Surah 3:84 is emphatically pointing to the fact that it will be impossible for Muslims to "believe in Allah" without believing in the "Books of Moses, Jesus, and the prophets." And equally important is the fact that this Qur'anic verse commands Muslims to "make no distinction between" the various Books of Allah. This means that they are all held to be equally true and equally preserved.

Actually Surah 3:84 needs no explanation. Its message is crystal clear. It simply states that it is mandatory for Muslims to believe not only in the Qur'an but also in the previous Books of Allah. To believe in the previous Books of Allah, one must know what it is and understand what it says. In other words, it involves reading, studying and understanding of what are written in them. The Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are among the Books of Allah that comprise the Scriptures of the Bible. Ask yourself, will a Muslim be able to read the Torah, the Psalms or the Gospel in the Bible if the original messages in them are lost or corrupted?

For Muslims to truly confess their belief in the earlier revealed Books of Allah, they must accept them as the uncorrupted Word of God. The teachings of the Qur'an do not give Muslims the personal right to deny the Bible as the Word of God. Can any Muslim who deny the earlier Books of Allah, stand before the judgment seat of Allah and truly testify that he believes in these Books? Can he do so when he has not even touched or studied or valued them as the Word of God? In direct violation to Allah's commandment, Muslims are taught to renounce the previous Scriptures of Allah. A failure to believe in the previous Books of Allah amounts to a rejection of the Islamic "Declaration of Faith." This means a rejection of Islam. A Muslim cannot be a Muslim and at the same time deny the Bible as the Word of God.

The Six Pillars of Faith in Islam:

(1) Belief in Allah
(2) Belief in His Angels
(3) Belief in His Books
(4) Belief in His Messengers
(5) Belief in the Day of Judgment (Resurrection)
(6) Belief in Divine destiny

We can be confident that Allah's protection encompasses all of his Holy Books. It will be improper for the one telling Muslims not to make any distinction between his Books, to do so himself. Thus, we can be certain of Allah's impartial preservation of all his revealed Scriptures. If he preserves one, he will preserve the other. That is why Allah commands Muslims to "believe in the Books given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets." In other words, Allah is telling Muslims to accept the Bible that we have today in our possession as the uncorrupted Word of God. The Qur'an maintains that the Bible is the Word of God and it makes no distinction between any of the Books of Allah. Muslims who attack the Bible are, in fact, attacking the Qur'an.

TESTIMONY NUMBER NINE

We will continue on with our discussion as to why a Muslim cannot deny the Bible and still be a Muslim. Once more we can see in the following Qur'anic verse the same requirement of Allah . The requirement for all Muslims to unconditionally believe in all his revealed Books:

> Surah 2:285: The Messenger believes in what has been sent down to him from His Lord, and so do the believers*.* Each believes in Allah and His Angels, His Books*, and His Messengers, we do not differentiate between any one of His Messengers.* They say: 'We hear and obey*. (We ask) Your forgiveness Lord, and to you is the arrival'. (Qaribullah)*

The worship of Allah requires Muslims to believe in all the Books of Allah. This is a predetermined condition on the part of Allah that every individual Muslim must obey. It is an uncompromising condition. By stating "Books" (plural) and not "Book" (singular), the Qur'an confirms that Allah does not support the idea of Muslims that the earlier Books had become corrupted. The concept of the Bible of ever becoming a corrupted Book did not originate with Allah. How can Muslims today truly say, "We hear and obey," to the command to believe in all the Books of Allah if the Bible is no longer the uncorrupted Word of God? To deny the Bible is to deny the Books of Allah. The rejection of the Bible by Muslims would without fail result in a denial of their religion.

Muslims, who believe that the Bible has become corrupted, are placing themselves in a very dangerous position regarding their faith. This is because any declaration of faith in the previous Scriptures by Muslims will now mean that such expressions of faith are only be a formality – an outward display of piety. And this is hypocrisy. To sincerely believe in the Bible, Muslims must accept it as the uncorrupted Book of Allah. For Muslims to believe in the corruption of the Bible is to believe that Allah is now deliberately demanding them "to believe" in something that he very well knows is no longer the valid Word of God. Such a requirement would make Allah both unreasonable and immoral. In harmony with the above Qur'anic verse, this unconditional requirement to believe in the previous Books of Allah is also stressed in the Hadith.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 300:

> Narrated by Abu Huraira: One day while Allah's Apostle was sitting with the people, a man came to him walking and said, "O Allah's Apostle. What is Belief?" The Prophet said, "Belief is to believe in Allah, His Angels, His Books, His Apostles, and the meeting with Him, and to believe in the Resurrection."

Sahih Bukhari is recognized as the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world. By their misguided belief that the Bible has become corrupted, Muslims have made it virtually impossible for them to obey a fundamentally vital requirement in Islam – the requirement to put faith the Bible. Muslims have failed to realize the full implication of their action in rejecting the Bible as the uncorrupted Word of God. When they reject the Bible, they are in truth rejecting Allah.

Muslims are caught between obeying the clear commandments of Allah to believe in the integrity of the Bible and believing that the Bible has become corrupted. Thus, they find themselves in a dilemma. To circumvent this complicated situation, Muslims end up deceiving themselves. The make the impossible claim, "Of course we believe in the Bible, but in the previously existing uncorrupted Bible." Does their statement make any sense? Not only is their reasoning faulty but it is also in direct conflict with the teachings of the Qur'an.

Since Muslims use this excuse frequently, it is necessary to expose this deception. To expose the error of their ways, we need to make a comparison. To illustrate: Let us say Abdullah was an honest cop. But he became corrupted and turned bad. He became as such long before you were born. Therefore, during the course of your entire life, you only know him as a bad cop. Now, would it make sense for you to say, "Of course I believe (present tense) in him but in the honest cop he was before?"

Try saying this in a court of law and see if your statement carries any weight to exonerate that person. We are living in the present moment.

Therefore, your estimation of the person expressed in the present tense must be contemporaneous with your current opinion of that person. It is either you presently "believe" in the goodness of that person or not. It is the same with the Bible.

Now, let us look at this issue from Allah's standpoint. We will refer back to the commandment that he gave to Muslims in Surah 3:84:

> Say*, We believe in God and in what has been sent down to us and to Abraham, Ishmael, Isaac, Jacob and the Tribes.* We believe in what has been given to Moses, Jesus and the prophets from their Lord*. We make no distinction between any of them. It is to Him that we have surrendered ourselves. (W. Khan)*

The above commandment can still be found in the Qur'an today. When something turns bad, it is no longer good. The good in it is gone. Today, Allah talks to Muslims through the Qur'an. And he tells them in the present tense that they should "believe in what has been given to Moses, Jesus and the prophets from their Lord." This can only mean one thing. It means that all these previous Books are still good and have not turned bad through corruption. It means that they are still valuable for Muslims even to this day. Thus, the Bible that we have today must be the uncorrupted Word of God. Otherwise, it would mean that Allah is commanding Muslims to believe in something that has gone bad.

We will look further into the absurd claims of Muslims. As discussed earlier, some Muslim apologists argue that the requirement to believe in the previous Scriptures does not apply to the present Bible but to the once uncorrupted Scriptures of the Jews and Christians that existed before but are now lost. Some others say that the Bible contains some true and authentic words of Allah, but not all of it is authentic. Still others claim that some of its passages were lost and it underwent many alterations and additions. When Muslim apologists assert such baseless accusations against the Bible, they do not attack the Christians, but Allah himself. Attacking God's Word is an attack on God himself. Their remarks are faulty for many reasons. Among them are some of the following reasons:

Firstly: If what these apologists say is true, it would make no sense for Allah to command all Muslims to declare their belief in the earlier Scriptures which he revealed to the Jews and the Christians. How can the Qur'an continue to command present-day Muslims to believe in a lost text? How can the Qur'an continue to command present-day Muslims to believe in a corrupted text? Can Muslims honestly claim that they believe in the previous Scriptures and in the same hypocritical breath say that they are now lost or corrupted? Additionally, if the previous Scriptures are truly lost or corrupted, how can Muslims truly say that they believe in something that they have no knowledge of? Would not this be a classic example of blind faith? Are these Muslims now accusing Allah of encouraging blind allegiance in the Qur'an?

Since the entire world of Islam is unable to produce a single copy of the hypothetical "previously existing authentic Scriptures," how can Muslims then submit to Allah's command to "believe in what has been given to Moses, Jesus and the prophets from their Lord."? Muslims are now left with two choices. Either they accept the Bible that we have today as the original uncorrupted Word of God or they can choose to reject Allah, the Qur'an and the mandatory Islamic "Declaration of Faith." They can also choose to ignore the commandments of Allah in Surah 2:285 and Surah 3:84. In short, they can choose to leave Islam.

Secondly: How can the former Scriptures get lost as some Muslim apologists falsely claim when Allah personally guaranteed that all his Scriptures will be assigned his divine protection? Consider now the confirmation of Allah's protection of the former Scriptures in the following Qur'anic verse. For the benefit of our Muslim readers – who are fed lies by their religious leaders – we have provided five different translations of this Qur'anic verse. We want them to have an accurate understanding of Allah's determination regarding the integrity of the Scriptures that were revealed before the time of the Qur'an. Allah told Muhammad:

> Surah 5:48: Then We revealed the Book to you (O Muhammad!) with Truth, confirming whatever of the Book was revealed before and protecting and guarding over it*. (Maududi)[2]*
> And to you We have revealed the Book containing the truth, confirming the earlier revelations and preserving them from change and corruption*. (Ahmed Ali)*

And unto thee have We revealed the Scripture with the truth, confirming whatever Scripture was before it and a watcher over it. (Pickthall)
And We have revealed to you the Book with the truth, verifying what is before it of the Book and a guardian over it." (Shakir)
To thee We sent the Scripture in truth, confirming the scripture that came before it, and guarding it in safety." (Yusuf Ali)

The above Qur'anic verse tells us that the purpose of the Qur'an is not only to confirm (verify) the Bible but also to "guard it in safety." Not only do we learn of Allah's pledge to personally protect his earlier Scriptures, but we are told here that he has also assigned the Qur'an the same sacred duty to guard and protect his earlier Scriptures from corruption. Though it is not revealed exactly how the Qur'an is supposed to do this, but we are nevertheless informed in no uncertain terms that the Qur'an was sent to stand as a "guardian" or "watcher" over the Bible. The Arabic word "Muhaimin" (Watcher) carries the meaning of as "one who safeguards" or "preserves."

If the Bible was corrupted before the time of the Qur'an, why was the Qur'an sent down to protect that which has already become corrupted? Would not that be foolish on the part of Allah? Why would Allah assign the Qur'an to act as a guardian over corrupted Scriptures? Why guard the Scriptures that have already turned bad. Therefore, the only sensible choice left for Muslims is to accept the fact that the Bible has remained pure and authentic at the time when this verse was revealed. Otherwise, this Qur'anic verse makes no sense.

However, if the corruption of the Bible were to take place after the time of the Qur'an's revelation, then it means that the Qur'an has failed in its sacred duty to act as a protector of Allah's Scriptures. So precisely when did the alleged corruption of the Bible take place? Can Muslims enlighten us on this? They cannot do so without faulting the Qur'an. And they cannot do so without faulting Allah. Therefore, the Muslim argument of the alleged corruption of the Bible having occurred either before or after the Qur'an does not matter in the least to us. Both are wrong. Both make Allah a liar and the Qur'an false.

Instead of insisting on their baseless claim of Bible corruption, Muslims can learn a vital lesson from the above Qur'anic verse. This verse gives Muslims an opportunity to comprehend the determination of Allah regarding the preservation of the Scriptures that came before the time of the Qur'an. For Allah to assign the Qur'an with the sacred duty to guard his former Scriptures in such a determined way reveals that it is his divine will that his previous Scriptures remain uncontaminated by corruption. Therefore, the occurrence of corruption to any of his former Scriptures means the failure of Allah's divine will. It also means that Allah was unable to see through the fulfillment of his divine will. Thus, if the claim of corruption is true, then the person or persons involved in the alleged corruption of Bible must be more powerful than Allah. Are Muslims willing to accept this?

Islam teaches that both Allah and the Qur'an serve as protectors and guardians of the Scriptures that were given to the Jews and Christians. Therefore, the claim by Muslims that the Bible was abrogated with the arrival of the Qur'an is a contradiction to the teachings of the Qur'an. If the Muslim claim is true, then there would be no need for the Qur'an to act as a "guardian" or "watcher" in such a determined way over the Torah and the Gospel that are to be done away with at the instant of its arrival. Muslims must remember that it is Allah who assigns the Qur'an with this sacred duty of protection over his previous Scriptures. Thus, if the Bible is changed in any way, it means that the Qur'an has failed in its duty to protect the Bible. It also means that Allah is a failure. And this means that both he and the Qur'an are not to be trusted. It also means that Allah had failed to foresee the failure of the Qur'an. The failure of the Qur'an is the failure of Allah.

Thirdly: Since some Muslim apologists claim that original authentic copies of the Bible existed before but are now corrupted or lost, we need them to answer and enlighten us on the following questions:

- If original uncorrupted Bible existed before, how is it possible for mere humans to corrupt the Book of Allah?
- Is this not an admission that Almighty Allah was defeated at the hands of weak humans?
- Who changed this once existing uncorrupted Book of Allah that Allah himself guaranteed that none could change?

- Would not Allah's pledge to protect his Scriptures apply primarily to these early original Scriptures that functioned as the foundation of his divine communication to mankind?
- Why did Allah then fail to protect these once existing authentic Scriptures?
- Are you not accusing Allah of deceiving his worshippers by saying something that is not true in the Qur'an?
- Are you not accusing Allah with failure to protect his once existing uncorrupted Scripture?
- Are you not also preventing sincere Muslims from obeying the requirement to believe in all the Books of Allah?

In their desperation to prove the Bible wrong, these apologists are willing to blasphemously insult Allah and betray their Muslim brothers. As for those Muslim apologists who say that the Bible contains only partial truths and not all of it is the authentic words of Allah, Allah gives them the following warning in the Qur'an:

> Surah 2:85: "Then is it only a part of the Book that ye believe in, and do ye rejects the rest? But what is the reward for those among you who behave like this but disgrace in this life? – And on the Day of Judgment they shall be consigned to the most grievous penalty. For Allah is not unmindful of what ye do." (Yusuf Ali)
> What, do you believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in part? What shall be the recompense of those of you who do that, but degradation in the present life, and on the Day of Resurrection to be returned unto the most terrible of chastisement? And God is not heedless of the things you do. (Arberry)

Allah asks: "What, do you believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in part? The above Qur'anic verse was revealed as a warning for all those who commit the grave error of accepting some parts of Allah's Book while rejecting the rest. It clearly states that the "most terrible of chastisement" is awaiting those who "believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in part." So, those Muslims who cherry pick some parts of the Bible while denying the rest is forewarned of a terrible punishment by Allah. Most Muslims do not realize the seriousness of their action in not accepting the complete Bible. "The Book" or "Al-Kitab," as it is known in Arabic, is literally what the term "Bible" means. More on this later.

To avoid Allah's wrath, it is absolutely crucial for Muslims to accept the complete Bible (Al-Kitab) as the Word of God. Who has given Muslims the divine right to decide which verses to choose and which verses to reject from the Bible? Are they now acting as God? Do Muslims have an "authentic Bible" to compare with the one we have in our possession so as to know which parts of our Bible are authentic and which parts are untrue? If we were to accuse you of forging someone's signature without ever producing a single signature of the original signature of that person, would you accept that?

Consider now another serious charge that Allah levels against these Muslims:

> Surah 4:136: O ye who believe! Believe in Allah and His Messenger and the scripture which He hath sent to His Messenger and the scripture which He sent to those before him*.* Any who deny Allah, His angels, His Books*, His Messengers, and the Day of Judgment,* hath gone far, far astray*." (Yusuf Ali)*

The Qur'an very clearly says that anyone who "denieth His Books hath gone far, far astray." Notice, it does not say Book but Books. Since no Books were revealed by Allah after the Qur'an, it must then be referring to the Books that were revealed before the Qur'an. The Qur'an recognizes only four major Books – the Torah, Psalms, Gospel and the Qur'an. Three out of the four Books mentioned here can only be found in the Bible which is in our possession today. This means that if a Muslim believes only in the Qur'an but not in the Bible, he "hath gone far, far astray" and a "grievous penalty" is waiting for him. If you as a Muslim believe that the above two Qur'anic verses (Surah 2:85 and Surah 4:136) are Allah's eternal Words, then carefully reassess what you have been taught to believe. Ask yourself:

(1) Does it make sense for Allah to warn me that if I deny his Books, I have gone far, far astray if his Books are no longer in existence?

(2) Does it make sense for Allah to warn me that if I deny his Books, I have gone far, far astray if his Books are corrupted? (3) Does it make sense for Allah to prepare for me a grievous penalty if I deny his Books when they are no longer in existence or corrupted?

Just think! Can Allah punish or hold you accountable for rejecting his Books if they are truly corrupted or lost? Certainly not! However, since the warning that Allah will personally hold you accountable for denying his Books can still be found in the Qur'an today, then this means that right now as you read this warning in the Qur'an, there has to be a preserved and uncorrupted Bible for you to deny. Otherwise, this warning will make no sense for the millions of Muslims who read this warning of Allah in the Qur'an today.

So there is no excuse for you as a Muslim not to submit to the teachings of the Bible. To claim that Allah allowed the corruption of all his other Books with the exception of the Qur'an will only invalid the teachings of the Qur'an. How can you accuse the Bible of corruption when the Qur'an speaks of it with such respect and reverence?

TESTIMONY NUMBER TEN

> Surah 6:84-89*: And We gave to him Isaac and Jacob, each did We guide. And before him We guided Noah and among his seed,* David and Solomon and Job, Joseph, Moses and Aaron. For thus do We reward those who do good. And Zachariah and John and Jesus and Elias, all righteous ones… It is to these We gave the Book and the Judgment and Prophethood*. But if they disbelieve therein, then, indeed, We shall entrust it to a people who will not disbelieve*. (H. S. Aziz)
> We gave him Isaac and Jacob: all (three) guided: and before him, We guided Noah, and among his progeny, David*, Solomon, Job, Joseph,* Moses*, and Aaron: thus do We reward those who do good: And Zakariya and John, and* Jesus and Elias: all in the ranks of the righteous: These were the men to whom We gave the Book, and authority, and prophethood: if these (their descendants) reject them, Behold! We shall entrust their charge to a new people who reject them not. (Yusuf Ali)

The above Qur'anic verse is speaking of the earlier Prophets of God who were given "the Book" and "the Judgment" and "the Prophethood." The Prophets to whom Allah gave "the Book" were faithful men of earlier times. These men were specifically chosen and guided by Allah. And the Qur'an provides a list of the names of these faithful men. It includes names such as David, Moses, Jesus and the names of many other Biblical characters.

However, these faithful men died long before the time of Muhammad. Therefore, when Allah told Muhammad, "if these disbelieve therein," he was not referring to them but to "their descendants" who were the contemporaries of Muhammad. Thus, Yusuf Ali's translation of the Qur'an fittingly inserts the term, "their descendants" in parenthesis to help the readers understand to whom Allah was referring to when he said, "if these disbelieve therein." Yes, if they were to reject the Bible, then Allah will "entrust their charge to a new people who reject them not."

This Qur'anic verse is important for the following vital reasons. Firstly, we have Allah's guarantee that the Bible will always be entrusted to the care of those who believe in it as the Word of God. In other words, it will always be in the hands of those who preserve it. Here, we can see Allah's determination to protect his "Book" – the Holy Bible – from falling into the wrong hands. He will act to ensure its safety, so that it will always remain pure. He will, without fail, secure his "Book" from the dangers of corruption from those who are determined to destroy or corrupt it. Thus, we can be confident that Allah will protect and preserve the Bible at all times. As such, it will only be entrusted to a people who will protect his "Book" from corruption.

Secondly, we can see that even after the coming of the Qur'an, Allah manifested his determination to ensure the continued preservation of the Bible. The Qur'an reveals Allah's determination to maintain the purity of the Bible for all eternity. If the Qur'an is sent to replace the Bible – on the grounds of corruption as Muslims claim – then it would hardly make any sense for Allah to ensure that the Bible is always kept in the safe hands of those who will maintain its purity. Why ensure the safety of a corrupted "Book" that is to be done away with? This exposes the lying claims of Muslims that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible. And more importantly, this Qur'anic verse rules out the possibility of the Bible ever becoming corrupted after the time of Muhammad. Allah will ensure it does not.

This Qur'anic verse proves once again that the Bible which was available at the time of Muhammad and which is in our hands today is the authentic Word of God. In this Qur'anic verse we find once again the assurance of Allah that the Bible will always remain as the uncorrupted Word of God. Muslims who deny the trustworthiness of Bible are in fact denying the trustworthiness of Allah.

TESTIMONY NUMBER ELEVEN

In Testimony Number Ten we discussed Surah 6:84-89. We will now continue on in our discussion by considering Surah 6:89-90. These verses provide us with another strong evidence regarding the integrity of the Bible. And the evidences from these Qur'anic verses are also substantiated by the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world.

> Surah 6:89-90: These were the men to whom We gave the Book*, and Authority, and Prophethood: if these (their descendants) reject them, Behold! We shall entrust their charge to a new people who reject them not.* Those were the (prophets) who received Allah's guidance: Copy the guidance they received*; Say: "No reward for this do I ask of you: This is no less than a message for the nations." (Yusuf Ali)*

Let us analyze the above Qur'anic verses. Allah told Muhammad: "These were the men to whom We gave the Book." "Those were the prophets who received Allah's guidance." "Copy the guidance they received."

The "prophets who received Allah's guidance" received it through the "Book" that he revealed to them. And Allah commanded Muhammad to "copy the guidance" written in that "Book." For Allah to command Muhammad to copy the "guidance" of the earlier prophets proves that the "guidance" recorded in their "Book" was kept intact by them. Otherwise it would mean that Allah is commanding Muhammad to copy something which had already become corrupted. Thus, the above Qur'anic verses prove once again the authenticity of the Bible at the time of Muhammad. Readers are strongly encouraged to remember this vital fact regarding the authenticity of the Bible at the time of Muhammad. It will be shown in the later part of this article why it is impossible for the Bible to become corrupted after that period of time.

Muhammad received his revelations piecemeal within a period of twenty-three years. According to Islamic scholars, Surah Al-Anam (Surah 6:89-90) is a late Meccan Surah. It was revealed just one year before the Hijrah, which means it was revealed nearly about thirteen years after the start of the Qur'an's revelation. [3] But why did Allah command Muhammad to copy the guidance of the previous "Book" after more than a decade had passed since the beginning of the Qur'an revelation? Because contrary to the lies propagated by Muslims, it was never the intention of Allah to replace the Bible with the Qur'an. That is why Allah commanded Muhammad to follow the inspired guidance written in the Bible even at this late stage of his prophetic career.

Since Muslim scholars assert that the Qur'an was revealed progressively as the state of affairs warrants it, why was Allah telling Muhammad to refer back (regress) to the former Scriptures? Why did not Allah provide Muhammad with the needed progressive revelations to guide him as the situations warrant it instead of directing him back to the guidance recorded in the former Scriptures? Since the Qur'an was still being revealed piecemeal to Muhammad, is it not appropriate for Allah to reveal new verses in the Qur'an to guide Muhammad instead of telling him to "copy the guidance" of the previous Scriptures?

The answer to all the above questions lies with the simple truth that according to Allah, the Bible is irreplaceable. As such, the Bible was indispensable for Muhammad. He was commanded to "copy the guidance" written in it and to follow them. If the Bible is good enough for Allah and if it is good enough for Muhammad, why is it not good enough for the average Muslims? As stated earlier, the above Qur'anic verses are substantiated and clarified by the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world. Let us read the Hadith.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 156:

> *Narrated By Mujahid: That he asked Ibn Abbas, "Is there a prostration in Surat-al-Sad?" (Sura 38:24) Ibn Abbas said, "Yes" and then recited: "We gave... So follow their guidance." (Sura 6:85-90) Then he said, "He (David) is one them (i.e. those prophets)." Mujahid narrated: I asked Ibn Abbas (regarding the above Verse). He said, "Your Prophet (Muhammad) was one of those who were ordered to follow them."

It is interesting to note that according to the above Hadith, among the guidance that Muhammad was told to follow was the guidance given to David. He is considered as a prophet in Islam. And the Qur'an testifies that David was guided by Allah.

Surah 6:84: "We guided Noah, and among his progeny, David*."*

And now Muhammad was told to follow the guidance given to David. The inspired guidance that David received was the Book of Psalms. And the Qur'an verifies this in the following Qur'anic verses:

Surah 4:163: We have sent thee inspiration… and to David We gave the Psalms*. (Yusuf Ali)*

Surah 17:55: And we preferred some of the prophets above others, and unto David We gave the Psalms*. (Pickthall)*

When Muhammad was told to "copy the guidance" of the earlier prophets, it included the Book of Psalms. Surprisingly, in the entire Qur'an, we can find only an incomplete single sentence from the Book of Psalms.

Surah 21:105: Certainly We wrote in the Psalms*, after the Torah: '*Indeed My righteous servants shall inherit the earth.' (Ali Quli Qara'i)

This certainly cannot be everything that was divinely revealed in the Book of Psalms. Surely there must be many more valuable "guidance" in the Book of Psalms for Muhammad to copy and obey. For Allah to command Muhammad to follow what was revealed to David, even after the commencement of the Qur'an, proves that the Book of Psalms must be of great value to Muhammad. Muslims claim that the Qur'an was sent to reveal and restore what was allegedly lost or corrupted in the Bible. If true, where is the rest of the Book of Psalms? Why are the contents of the genuine Book of Psalms, which was supposedly corrupted in the Bible, not restored authentically in the Qur'an?

Muslims, if you really want to know what the rest of the Book of Psalms teaches, where can you find them? If it is not in the Qur'an, then where is it? Do you really believe that Allah would allow the inspired Book of Psalms, which he commanded Muhammad to copy, to suddenly disappear after that? How can an entire Book of Allah just disappear into oblivion?

It may astound Muslims to know that God has preserved the entire Book of Psalms. The complete collection of Psalms can be found in the Holy Bible – a grand total of 150 Surahs. And we will now quote the same verse that was plagiarized by the Qur'an from the Book of Psalms in the Holy Bible.

> Psalms 37:29: "The righteous themselves will inherit the earth and they will reside forever upon it."

And another gem from the Book of Psalms says:

> Psalm 89:34: "My promise I will not break, nor alter the Word that is gone out of my lips."

The Book of Psalms contains many precious truths. Muslims do not realize what they are really missing when they deny the Bible. As an example, we will now quote Psalms 15 in its entirety to show sincere Muslims what they are really missing from the Word of God. Please read the inspired guidance provided in Psalms 15:1-5. These inspired verses explain to us how we can draw close to God. They reveal to us what acts of holy conduct and deeds of godly devotion must a worshipper of the true God manifest to draw close to him. Please read the beautiful words expressed here in Psalms 15:1-5:

> O Jehovah, who will be a guest in your tent?
> Who will reside in your holy mountain?
> He who is walking faultlessly,
> And practicing righteousness,
> And speaks the truth within his heart.
> The one who does not slander with his tongue.
> To his companion he has done nothing bad,
> Or bring disgrace on his neighbor.
> In his eyes anyone wicked is certainly rejected,
> But those fearing God he honors.
> He keeps an oath even when it hurts him,
> And yet he does not alter.
> His money he has not given out on interest,
> Nor has he taken a bribe against an innocent one.
> Whoever does these things will never be shaken.

Are there any hints of corruption in these beautiful verses? As a Muslim, are you not concerned by the fact that Muhammad accepted the guidance of the Bible and believed in them, while you are taught not to do so today by your religious leaders? Does not Islam teach you that it is mandatory for you to follow the example set by your Prophet? Would Allah who ordered Muhammad to copy and follow the Scriptures of the Bible, prevent you and other Muslims from doing so? Should the Bible be corrupted in any way, Allah would not have commanded Muhammad to copy it. In fact, there is not a single reason whatsoever for Muslims to doubt the Bible. And this assurance comes from none other than Allah himself. If Muslims were to reason logically they would arrive at only one conclusion. If the Qur'an says the Bible is the Word of Allah, then according to the Qur'an it cannot be changed. As such it must be accepted and followed as it was done so by Muhammad at the command of Allah.

The Torah was revealed more than twenty centuries before the time of the Qur'an. And the Qur'an testifies to the authenticity of the Torah. In fact, the Qur'an testifies to the authenticity of the entire Scriptures of God that is contained in the Bible. Here are some points for Muslims to ponder:

(1) How can the Torah that had remained authentic for more than twenty centuries suddenly become corrupted only after the coming of Islam?

(2) How can the Torah that had transcends time and culture to provide guidance to Muhammad – years after he began to receive his own revelation – suddenly become corrupted?

(3) How can the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel which served as Allah's only solution to deal with the serious doubts that Muhammad developed, suddenly become invalid after that? (See Surah 10:94).

(4) If Allah considers the Bible to be an invaluable guide for Muhammad who is an Arab (a foreigner), how can this precious Book suddenly become obsolete only after Muslims realized that the teachings of Muhammad contradicted the Bible?

It is unthinkable for the Bible which contains the Scriptures of Allah within its pages to become corrupted. The inspired writings of the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel that can be found within the pages of the Bible are the eternal Words of the Almighty God. And they will forever remain as his eternal Words.

A MUSLIM OBJECTION

There is an objection that is often raised by Muslims that needs to be addressed. Not that this objection is valid by any means. But it needs to be addressed because it has been used persistently by Muslims as a pretext to reject the Bible. Some Muslims apologists claim that the word "Bible" does not appear in the Qur'an. Therefore, they assert that whenever it is stated in the Qur'an that "None can change God's Word," it applies only to the preservation of the Scriptures that were originally given to the prophets such as Moses, David, Jesus, and not to the Bible. Is this true? Is their argument valid?

If Muslims are sincere in their claim that Allah's promise to preserve from corruption applies only to the Scriptures that were given to the prophets such as Moses, David and Jesus, should not they then at least accept these Scriptures as the uncorrupted Word of God? Why do Muslims then reject the Torah, Psalms and Gospel, which were given to Moses, David and Jesus? Why do they then blasphemously claim that these Scriptures have become corrupted? Additionally, if the Qur'an's testimony of preservation applies only to these Scriptures, where are these preserved Scriptures today? Are they in the possessions of Muslims today? Can Muslims produce them to prove how vastly they differ from the Torah, Psalms and Gospel that we have in the Bible today? If not, how can the very Scriptures which were supposed to be preserved by Allah become lost? Does not this claim by Muslims make the Qur'an false?

Now, let's get to the bottom of this subject. The claim that the term "Bible," or their Arabic equivalents do not appear in the Qur'an is a deception by Muslim apologists. The English term "Bible" comes through the Latin from the Greek word "Biblos," which simply means "Book." And "Biblia" means "Little Books." The Bible is a collection of sixty-six little books that make up its content. Therefore, instead of expecting to find the term "*Bible" in the Arabic Qur'an, Muslims should honestly examine to see whether the Qur'an refers to the "*Bible" by its Arabic equivalent, namely "*Al-Kitab" which means "*the Book." And this is precisely what we find in the Qur'an. Thus, references to the Bible as "*Al-Kitab" meaning "*the Book" can be found in numerous passages of the Qur'an. Consider now the following example:

Surah 2:113: The Jews say, ´The Christians have nothing to stand on, ´ and the Christians say, ´The Jews have nothing to stand on, ´ yet they both recite the Book. (A. Bewley)

> The Jews said, "The Christians are nothing" and the Christians said, "The Jews are nothing" whereas they both read the Book*. (Ahmed Raza Khan)*

The Muslim Commentary on the Qur'an, "Tafsir-ul-Qur'an," by Maulana Abdul Majid Daryabadi, gives the following explanation on Surah 2:113:

> "The fact that both sides appealed to the same source of authority – served also to narrow and intensify the struggle." "The new religion … asserted that it had been founded to fulfill the mission of Judaism, and endeavored to prove the correctness of this allegation from the Bible, the very book upon which Judaism is founded."

Maulana Abdul Majid Daryabadi is a renowned Sunni Muslim scholar who is esteemed for his Commentary on the Qur'an. The fact that Maulana Daryabadi clearly identifies that the Arabic term, "Al-Kitab" actually means "the Bible" illustrates the fact that there are, at least, some honest Islamic scholars who correctly recognize that the term "Book" or "Scripture" used in the Qur'an is indeed the "Holy Bible." Surah 2:113 is just one among the numerous verses in the Qur'an that confirms this truth.

Other scholars too recognize this fact. Among them is the renowned Muslim translator of the Qur'an, Muhammad Asad. Muhammad Asad readily acknowledged that the term, "Al-Kitab" means "the Bible" and should therefore be translated as such. For the benefit of our readers, we will now provide a few examples from the translation of the Qur'an by Muhammad Asad. Only the relevant quote from the Qur'anic verses is cited here:

> Surah 5:15: "O followers of the Bible!"
> Surah 5:19: "O followers of the Bible!"
> Surah 5:65-66: If the followers of the Bible would but attain to true faith and God-consciousness,…and if they would but truly observe the Torah and the Gospel and all the Revelation that has been bestowed from on high upon them by their Sustainer, they would indeed partake of all the blessings of heaven and earth.

Surah 5:68: Say: "O followers of the Bible! You have no valid ground for your beliefs -unless you truly observe the Torah and the Gospel, and all that has been bestowed from on high upon you by your Sustainer!"

All the above examples prove that the term "Book" or "Scripture" with reference to the Jews and Christians mean nothing else but the "Holy Bible." Additionally, Surah 5:65-66 confirms the fact that besides the Torah and the Gospel, numerous other Scriptures were also given to the "followers of the Bible." The Qur'anic verses make this clear by stating that the "followers of the Bible" were commanded to observe "the Torah" and "the Gospel" and "all the Revelation that has been bestowed from on high upon them." This shows that in addition to the Torah and the Gospel, various other Scriptures were also "bestowed from on high" for them to observe. And all theses Scriptures in the Bible came under divine protection.

Similarly, Surah 5:68 also states that the "followers of the Bible" were commanded to observe "the Torah" and "the Gospel" and "all that has been bestowed from on high." This Once again proves that the "followers of the Bible" were given additional Scriptures besides the Torah and the Gospel.

The Bible (Al-Kitab) is a composite Book consisting of numerous Scriptures within it. The Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are among those that are specifically named in the Qur'an. Although the Bible consisted of sixty-six individual writings, the entire collection is classified as "the Book" due to the fact the Author is one, God himself. Just as a building may consist of many apartments within it, the Bible is composed of numerous Scriptures within it. Therefore, the claim of Muslims that the promised preservation does not apply to the Bible, but only to the Scriptures given to the prophets such as Moses, David and Jesus is like saying that the building will become useless through damage but not the apartments within it. Talk about absurdity.

Can Muslims please enlighten us as to how the apartments can be preserved while the building is destroyed? You just cannot. You have to preserve one to preserve the other. That is why Muslims who make this absurd claim end up contradicting the very claim they put forward. They destroy their own argument. And they end up blaspheming against Allah by saying that the Torah, the Psalms and the Gospel are also corrupted. And not to forget, they eventually end up contradicting their own sacred book – the Qur'an which specifically confirms these Scriptures of Allah will be protected.

How much more delusional can one get? Can you not see the illusion that these Muslim apologists try to create to discredit the Word of God? This demonstrates the extent of deceit that some Muslims are willing to commit in order to invalid the Word of God – the Holy Bible. Do not allow yourselves to be deceived by all these trickery to discredit the Holy Bible. And this caution is also extended to all sincere Muslims.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWELVE

Muhammad is commanded by Allah to make the following pledge:

Surah 42:15: "And follow not their desires but say: I believe in whatsoever Allah has sent down of the Book (all the holy Books*, this Qur'an* and the Books of the old from the Taurat (Torah), or the Injeel (Gospel) or the Pages of Ibrahim (Abraham))" (Hilali-Khan)

> *And say this: '*I believe in every Book that Allah has revealed.' (Mohammad Tahir-ul-Qadri)
> And say to them: "I have given credence to all the Books Allah has sent down and in all of them do I believe." (Al-Muntakhab)

Muhammad was commanded to believe in "all the Books Allah has sent down" – every single one of them. This means that in addition to the Qur'an, it is mandatory for Muhammad to believe in "the Books" that were sent to the Jews and the Christians – all of them. This confirms that "all the Books" that were sent to the Jews and the Christians must have remained absolutely authentic when this Qur'anic verse was revealed to Muhammad. In fact, the Qur'an directly commands every single Muslim to believe in all the Books of Allah.

> Surah 4:136: O you who believe! Believe in God and His Messenger (Muhammad) and the Book He has been sending down on His Messenger in parts and the > (Divine) Books He sent down before. Whoever disbelieves in God and His angels and His Books and His Messengers and the Last Day, has indeed gone far astray. (Ali Ünal)

The above Qur'anic verse commands Muslims to believe in all the Books of Allah. And no verses were ever revealed after this to abrogate the above commandment. In other words, even after the completion of the Qur'an, this remains as the standing order of Allah. If the previous Books of Allah have been changed in any way, it would be absurd for the Qur'an to command Muslims to believe in all the Books of Allah. For Muhammad and the Muslims to truly submit to the commandment of Allah, their faith cannot be based on the Qur'an only but also on all the other earlier Books of Allah. In other words, they must submit to the teachings of the Bible. All the previous Books of Allah can only be found in the Bible. Deny the Bible and all the previous Books of Allah just disappears into oblivion. Muslims will now be left with only the Qur'an. Can they then submit to Allah's command to believe in all the Books of Allah? Can the Qur'an be the Word of God when the commandments written in it are irrelevant for Muslims today?

The command given to Muhammad to "believe in all the Books" not only proves the fact that the Scriptures of the Bible were available to Muhammad but it also proves that they have remained uncorrupted. They are identical to the original Scriptures. Thus, the authentic Hebrew and Christian Greek Scriptures not only existed but were also available during the time of Muhammad. Undeniable proof of this is shown in the following Qur'anic verse. Please read the verse carefully:

Surah 32:23: "We did indeed aforetime give the Book to Moses: be not then in doubt of it's reaching (thee): And we made it a guide to the Children of Israel." (Yusuf Ali)

> And certainly We gave the Book to Musa, so be not in doubt concerning the receiving of it, and We made it a guide for the children of Israel. (Shakir)

Yes! It was available to Muhammad. When Allah says, "be not then in doubt of it's reaching thee," it is obvious that Allah was not talking about a corrupted Book of Moses. He was speaking about uncorrupted identical copies of the Book of Torah that he gave to Moses. If the copies of the Book of Moses were to reach Muhammad with alterations in it, then it cannot be spoken of as the Book that was given to Moses. And it will certainly be deceitful for Allah to say, "We gave the Book to Moses, be not in doubt concerning the receiving of it." The Torah was given to Moses more than fifteen centuries before the arrival of the Gospel. If uncorrupted copies of the Torah that were written centuries before the Gospel were available to Muhammad, then we can be sure that the rest of the later Scriptures of the Bible must have also reached him without corruption. Qur'anic evidences prove consistently that preserved copies of the Torah and the Gospel were available during the life-time of Muhammad. Like their Prophet, Muslims should accept the Holy Bible as the pure, unadulterated Word of God. Otherwise, they have "indeed gone far astray." We are not the ones telling this but Allah.

TESTIMONY NUMBER THIRTEEN

> Surah 2:41: And accept faith in what I have sent down (the Qur'an), which confirms what is with you (the Torah/Bible), and do not be the first to disbelieve in it – and do not exchange My verses for an abject price – and fear Me alone. (Faridul Haque)
> And believe in that which I reveal, confirming that which ye possess already (of the Scripture), and be not first to disbelieve therein, and part not with My revelations for a trifling price, and keep your duty unto Me. (Pickthall)

How can Allah say to the Christians that the Qur'an is "confirming that which ye possess" if "that which ye possess" has already become corrupted? This passage from the Qur'an can be true only if the Bible has continued to remain pure and uncorrupted at the time when Muhammad received this Qur'anic verse. The purpose of the Qur'an is to confirm the Bible as the Word of God. To confirm the Bibles in the possessions of the Christians world-wide as the authentic Word of God. Renowned Muslims scholars acknowledge that in view of the fact that the Bible had already been distributed worldwide by the time of Muhammad, it would be impossible to corrupt the Bible after that since any corruption can easily be exposed. More on this later.

> Surah 3:3: "He hath revealed unto thee (Muhammad) the Scripture with truth, confirming that which was (revealed) before it, even as He revealed the Torah and the Gospel." (Pickthall)

The root word for "confirm" or "confirming" as used in the Qur'anic Arabic of Surah 3:3 is "Saddaqa." It means: "to confirm, to accept as true, establishing as true, to believe, to give credence." Thus, when Muhammad used this word, he "confirmed" the Bible as the Word of God. And he "believed" that the Bible is the authentic Word of God. The purpose of the Qur'an is to confirm the messages of God that are written in the Bible. This simply means that its duty is to prove the authenticity of these messages. Its purpose is not to correct, contradict or supersede it, but to authenticate it. The Qur'an uses the word "confirming" numerous times in connection with the previous Scriptures but never once to mean as "correcting" them.

For example, in a court of law if a witness confirms the statement of another witness, it means he or she is affirming the truthfulness of that statement. Thus, the confirmation of the authenticity of the Bible by the Qur'an is only possible if the Bible has still remained uncorrupted even after the Qur'an came into existence. This is because it is only possible after the Qur'an came into existence, for it to be on hand to confirm the Bible.

To know that the Qur'an is a confirmation of the previous Scriptures, Muslims have to study and examine both the Bible and the Qur'an. It is important for us to understand that by confirming the Bible, the Qur'an is actually validating its own merits by claiming that it contains the true original words of God in it. Notice Allah's words carefully in Surah 2:41. Allah was telling the Jews and Christians not to doubt the Qur'an on account of the fact it confirms the Scriptures which is in their possession. Therefore, the basis to believe in the Qur'an is simply because it confirms the Bible. It would defy logic and intellect for the Qur'an to use a corrupted Book as a confirmation of its own authenticity.

Therefore, Muslims who try to discredit the authenticity of the Bible are guilty of attacking the very foundation upon which the Qur'an relies on to validate itself. The Qur'an is quite clear and very explicit regarding Allah's position on the previous Scriptures. The Qur'an clearly testifies that the Bible which contains the Scriptures of the Jews and the Christians is the true and preserved Word of God. The function of the Qur'an was to confirm it.

By means of the Qur'an, Muhammad confirmed both the existence and the integrity of the Bible. Not a single word of the textual corruption of the Bible was ever uttered by Muhammad. According to the Qur'an, the Gospel confirms the Torah (Surah 5:46). If the Gospel confirms the Torah by maintaining harmony between the two Scriptures, how is the Qur'an supposed to confirm the Torah and the Gospel? By invalidating them?

TESTIMONY NUMBER FOURTEEN

Allah commands both Jews and Christians to judge by what was revealed in the Torah and the Gospel.

> Surah 5:43: How come they unto thee for judgment when they have the Torah, wherein Allah hath delivered judgment for them? Yet even after that, they turn away. Such folk are not believers. (Pickthall)
> "And how do they make you a judge and they have the Taurat wherein is Allah's judgment? Yet they turn back after that, and these are not the believers." (Shakir)

The above event took place in the environment of Medina at the time of Muhammad. This Qur'anic verse not only proves that the Jews had the authentic Torah with them but it also proves that the accusation that they changed the written text of the Torah is a blatant lie. It defies logic as to why Allah would give such a commandment to the Jews to judge by the Torah if indeed it is changed in any way. If the claim of corruption is true, then it means that Muslims are worshipping an ignorant deity.

Muslims claim that the Torah (Old Testament) that we have in the Bible today is not the same as the original Torah that was given to Moses. Therefore, when Muslims claim that the Torah was corrupted by the Jews, they are actually saying that the Jews corrupted the written messages of the Torah. Imagine, mere man altering the Scriptures of Allah. Therefore, from the Muslims perspective, it follows that Allah has failed to guard his own Holy Scriptures. Can you comprehend the utter blasphemy that these Muslims are committing against Allah when they claim this? These are extremely serious charges.

One of the most basic attributes of Allah is his omnipotence. This means that he is all-powerful. Therefore, no one – neither man nor jinn – can nullify his Scriptures. As he gave his Scriptures to man, so is he able to preserve it from corruption by man. At no time can any of the Scriptures of Allah be subjected to corruption. Since the Torah is the inspired Scripture of Allah, it cannot be subjected to corruption at any time at the hands of mere humans. That is the clear teaching of the Qur'an. Yet, Muslims blasphemously lowered the supremacy of Allah to below that of ordinary humans – to below that of the Jews whom they claim corrupted the Scripture of Allah. They made Allah inferior to man.

The above Qur'anic verse also states explicitly that the Torah contains the judgments of Allah in it. Are the Jews so powerful that they could alter or corrupt the written judgments of Allah when he himself testified that none can change his Word? This demonstrates that right from the time when the Torah was revealed to Moses until the time of Muhammad, the Torah remained unchanged and true in its contents. No changes whatsoever occurred through all those years. The only time when the Torah was ever accused of corruption is when Muslims began to discover that the stories that Muhammad narrated to the early Muslims contradicted with the original account in the Bible. Thus, instead of admitting that Muhammad got it wrong, they choose to fault the Bible. They choose to stake their salvation by trusting an illiterate man rather than believing the divine Word of God. The accusations by Muslims that the Bible had become corrupted did not arise until some 400 years after the death of Muhammad. More on this later.

The Torah that the Jews of Medina had in their possession is the same as the ones possessed by the Jews all over the world. How could the Torah then be corrupted? Throughout their history, the Jews have known only one Scripture. And that Scripture, as it is commonly known today, is the "Old Testament." From centuries before the time of Jesus Christ and right throughout the lifetime of Muhammad and down to this very day, the Al-Kitab of the Jews has always been nothing other than the Old Testament. The Qur'an repeatedly upholds the Scripture of the Jews, the Old Testament, as the genuine Word of God.

Surah 5:43 is part of Surah Al-Maidah, otherwise known as the Fifth Surah. This Surah was revealed during the period spanning the last five years of Muhammad's life. In fact the third verse of this Surah was revealed during his last pilgrimage. Muslims call it the "Farewell Pilgrimage." This pilgrimage was performed by Muhammad a short time before his death. Muhammad's prophetic career lasted for a period of twenty-three years. Surah Al-Maidah was revealed piecemeal from the eighteenth to the twenty-third year. [4] This proves that even when the Qur'an was nearing its completion, it was never the intention of Allah to replace the Torah with the Qur'an. Even at this stage, he commanded the Jews to abide by the teachings of their own sacred Scripture.

An interesting fact that can be noted in Surah 5:43 is that Allah did not want the Jews to turn to Muhammad for judgment. For Allah to rebuke the Jews for seeking the judgment of Muhammad rather than seeking the judgment of their own Scriptures clearly proves the fact that the Torah has remained unchanged and authentic at the time of Muhammad. It also proves that the Torah is held as an authoritative source for judgment by Allah. Allah prevented the Jews from going to Muhammad or to the Qur'an. It shows how highly the Torah is esteem by Allah. Allah would hardly exhort the Jews to judge by the Torah if it had become corrupted or unreliable in any way. The charge that the Bible has been changed is one of the greatest falsehoods ever proclaimed in the cause of truth.

Torah means Law. Therefore, the Torah that the Jews had in their possession contains the Laws of Allah. In matters pertaining to judicial rulings, the written laws must remain perfectly intact for judgments to be executed righteously and accurately. Any changes in the wordings or sentences can affect the ruling or the outcome of verdict. Thus, for Allah to direct the Jews to the Torah, proves that the Torah must have been perfectly preserved for judgments to be based on its written laws and for the Jews to judge by it. Allah also stated that those who turn away from the Torah are "not believers." Had the Torah failed to remain pure, turning away from this corrupted Scripture would have truly been the wise course.

Now, let us see what the Qur'an reveals about the integrity of the Gospel that was in the possession of the Christian contemporaries of Muhammad.

> Surah 5:47: "Let the People of the Gospel judge by what Allah hath revealed therein. If any do fail to judge by (the light of) what Allah hath revealed, they are (no better than) those who rebel." (Yusuf Ali)

The above commandment was given to the Christians who were contemporaries of Muhammad. And the command is written in the 'present tense' which in the Arabic language can also refer to the future. Logically, if the copies of the Gospel were corrupted at the time of Muhammad, Allah would have never ordered the Christians to judge according to the laws of the Gospel. It would not have been possible at all for Allah to give such an order if there had been any reason to believe that the Gospel was not authentic in every detail. Like the Torah, the written laws in the Gospel must remain perfectly intact for judgments to be executed righteously and accurately. This command to judge by the Gospel can be carried out only if the copies that the Christians had in their possession are authentic copies of the original Gospel.

For centuries before the time of Muhammad right down to this very day, Christians have known only one divine Book. The Scriptures of the Christians throughout their history has always been the Holy Bible. Allah's commandment for the Jews to judge by the Torah and for the Christians to judge by the Gospel reveals two vital truths. Firstly, it proves that the Christians at the time of Muhammad must have had in their possession the Bible which consists of both the Old and New Testaments. Secondly, it proves that the Bible consisting of the Old and New Testaments has continued to remain as the authentic Word of God.

The references in both Surah 5:43 and Surah 5:47 do not say that Allah's command to the Jews and the Christians to follow their own Scriptures is to be in force until the arrival of the Qur'an. On the contrary, despite the arrival of the Qur'an, these verses expressly exhort the Jews and the Christians to abide by the Torah and the Gospel. Thus, the Qur'an neither abrogates nor supersedes the Torah or the Gospel. In fact, these two Qur'anic verses clearly show that the People of the Book have no need for the teachings of Muhammad or for his Qur'an. And Allah himself confirms this truth when he testified that they should go to their own Scriptures for "judgment*" or "decisions." As such, the Bible is indeed sufficient for them.

The Old and New Testaments both date back to centuries before the time of Muhammad. And there are no historical evidences of any kind to support the claim that the original Scriptures of the Jews and the Christians were something other than these two Books. The Qur'an clearly confirms the Scriptures of these two groups as they existed in Muhammad's time to be the authentic revelations of God. Therefore, the Qur'an testifies not only to the authenticity of the Old and New Testaments but also to their divine origin. As such, it can never become invalidated through corruption.

> Surah 12:111: Indeed in the history of these men, there is a lesson for people of understanding. As for this Revelation, it could not possibly be a Hadith, fabricated. It confirms the Divine Origin of the previous Scriptures. (Shabbir Ahmed)

The Qur'an's indisputable testimony to the authenticity of the Holy Bible which existed at the time of Muhammad shows Allah's determination in maintaining its preservation. Manuscript evidences prove that the Bible which is in our possession today is identical to the Bible that was in circulation during Muhammad's day. Therefore, the Qur'an is correct when it says that "none can change the Word of Allah." In contrast with the general Muslim attitude, the Qur'an speaks highly of the Bible.

Since the Qur'an encourages both Jews and Christians to judge by their own Scriptures, it shows that the Qur'an strongly believes that the Bible is the only source of guidance for them. And it is the only source of guidance for any who wish to know the divine will of God. Muslims should stop attacking the Bible because it would only result in their attacking the Qur'an which upholds the Bible as the uncorrupted Word of God!

One of the reasons for Muslims to attack the Bible is to discredit Christianity. This is to be expected. If Muslims can undermine the strength and integrity of the Bible, then it would be much easier for them to win arguments with Christians. It would also be easier to confound the Christian and make converts of those who do not know the truth about the powerful teachings of the Bible. By casting doubt upon the Bible, Muslims try to get you to doubt the Word of God. And then, they tell you how great Islam is.

Muslims use various methods to accomplish this. Especially when discussing subjects that Muslims find difficult to answer, they will quickly change the subject. Very often this change involves attacking the Bible. It is an advantage that you read the Qur'an, but only after having first studied the Bible. This is important because even though the Qur'an supports the authenticity of the Bible, you will not be able to see through the other subtle elements of its powerful deception unless you first come to know and understand the Bible.

TESTIMONY NUMBER FIFTEEN

In many places the Qur'an reveals the determination of Allah to preserve the Holy Bible from corruption. His personal guarantee to protect his inspired Messages in the Jewish and Christian Scriptures are repeatedly assured in the Qur'an. In addition, Allah also assigns the Qur'an with the sacred duty to safeguard the Jewish and Christian Scriptures – Scriptures which constitute the Holy Bible. And in the following Qur'anic verse, we can now read about Allah's determination to protect his previous Scriptures by entrusting them to the protection of God-fearing men. Such is the determination of Allah to protect and preserve his previous Scriptures. Is it reasonable then to believe that Allah would permit the Bible to become corrupted as Muslims claim?

> Surah 5:44: We sent down the Torah containing guidance and light. The prophets, who had submitted, judged by it for the Jews, and so did the rabbis and the scribes, as they were charged to preserve the Book of Allah and were witnesses to it. So do not fear the people, but fear Me, and do not sell My signs for a paltry gain. Those who do not judge by what Allah has sent down —it is they who are the faithless.(Ali Quli Qara'i)
> It was We who revealed the Law (to Moses): therein was guidance and light. By its standard have been judged the Jews, by the Prophets who bowed (as in Islam) to Allah's Will, by the Rabbis and the Doctors of Law: for to them was entrusted the protection of Allah's Book and they were witnesses thereto…If any do fail to judge by the light of what Allah has revealed, they are no better than Unbelievers. (Yusuf Ali)

The above Qur'anic verse reveals that the Prophets, the Rabbis and the Doctors of Law (Scribes) were "entrusted" personally by Allah with the sacred duty to protect his Book. To "entrust" means "to commit with confidence the care or protection of someone or something." Will such God-fearing men who were individually and personally selected by Allah to protect his divine Book, corrupt the Book of Allah? Will such God-fearing men stand by and allow others to corrupt the Book of Allah? Will Allah entrust his Book to be protected by these men if he has any reason to doubt or distrust them? Certainly not! Each time Muslims assert the Bible to be corrupted, they only end up criticizing Allah. If the Bible is corrupted, then it can only mean one thing. It means that the Prophets, the Rabbis and the Doctors of Law who were "entrusted" by Allah to protect his Book, failed to protect it.

Can Muslims fully comprehend the implication of this? This means that Allah the omniscient failed to foresee the outcome of this failure. He failed to see the failure of these men. Allah failed to protect his Books because he made a mistake in entrusting them to the wrong people. Can Allah be trusted now that we have come to know that he has failed in his judgment? Can Allah make mistakes? Muslim critics of the Bible have a choice to make here. Either they can trust the wisdom of Allah and believe in the integrity of the Bible or they could doubt his wisdom and believe that the Bible that we have today is corrupted. We know that men can make bad choices but not God. Since Allah cannot make bad or wrong choices, the people to whom he "entrusted the protection" of his divine Book must be pious, God-fearing men. They must be the sort of men who will guard the Book of Allah with their very lives. Only men of this sort would be chosen by Allah to protect his Book. This Qur'anic verse, therefore, puts an end to the claim that the People of the Book corrupted their Scriptures. Those "entrusted the protection of Allah's Book" will never allow that to take place and Allah trusted them completely to protect his Word. If Muslims truly believe in Allah, they would trust in the integrity of the Holy Bible.

TESTIMONY NUMBER SIXTEEN

How credible were the Old and New Testaments during the time of the revelation of the Qur'an? And how did Allah view these Scriptures? Let the Qur'an answer these questions:

> Surah 5:66: Had they followed the Laws of the Old and New Testaments and what was revealed to them from their Lord, they would have received Our bounties from above and below in abundance. Some of them are modest people, but many of them commit the worst sins. (Muhammad Sarwar)

If they had observed the Torah and the Gospel and what was revealed to them from their Lord, they would surely have been nourished from above and from below. There are some among them who are on the right course*; but there are many among them who do nothing. (Wahiduddin Khan)*

If only they had stood fast by the Law, the Gospel, and all the revelation that was sent to them from their Lord, they would have enjoyed happiness from every side. There is from among them a party on the right course*: But many of them follow a course that is evil. (Yusuf Ali)*

Four vital lessons can be learnt from this Qur'anic verse:

Firstly, it shows that when the Qur'an speaks of the Torah and the Gospel, it refers to "the Old and New Testaments."

Secondly, it shows that if the Jews and Christians were to abide by the "Torah and the Gospel and what was revealed to them from their Lord," it would result in their "happiness. " Can this be possible if what "they stood fast by" were no longer the pure authentic Word of God?

Thirdly, this Qur'anic verse testifies that there were Jews and Christians who were "on the right course" during the time of Muhammad. Notice, Allah was speaking in the present tense when he said to Muhammad, "There is from among them a party on the right course." For Jews and Christians to be "on the right course," the Scriptures in their possession must be absolutely pure and authentic.

Fourthly, after mentioning the Torah and the Gospel, the Qur'an states that the Jews and Christians were also required to follow "what was revealed to them from their Lord." This refers to the rest of the inspired Scriptures that the Jews and Christians received from God. Scriptures such as those they received through the Prophets and Apostles. This proves that the complete Bible was untouched by corruption and it was available to the Jews, Christians and Muslims at the time of Muhammad.

The Scriptures that the Jews and Christians of Muhammad's time were commanded to believe and follow are the very Scriptures that can be found in our Bibles today. Thus, the Qur'an is essentially confirming that the Bible that we have today is the uncorrupted Word of God. Since these Scriptures cannot be found anywhere else other than in the Bible, Muslims are left with no other option. If they fail to accept the Bible as the uncorrupted Word of God, it means the Qur'an is a lie. And Allah is a failure.

It must be remembered that Surah 5 (Surah Al Maidah) was revealed during the final years of Muhammad's prophetic career and just five years before his death. [4] For Allah to state even at this late stage of the Qur'an's compilation that Christians will be "nourished from above and from below" when they stood fast by their own Scriptures, proves that the Qur'an was not sent to replace the Bible. These faithful Christians would not have been on the right course if they had "stood fast" by following Scriptures that had become corrupted.

If the Bible had been altered or changed in any way, why have the accusers not produced a list of the verses that were supposedly changed with a list of the original verses? After all, the authentic Bible was available during Muhammad's day and was read and circulated among the Christians. Therefore, if there are any changes or alterations in the Bible that we have today, these accusers can use the originals to prove their claim? Why don't they? Surely, the millions of the Bibles that were in circulation at the time of Muhammad could not have just disappeared from the face of the earth without a trace. Thus, the argument forwarded by Muslims requires a priori belief – a commitment based not on evidence but nonetheless insisted upon.

No Muslim should doubt the integrity of Bible as the Word of God. It is impossible to believe that the Bible has been changed without rejecting the teachings of the Qur'an at the same instant. Since the Qur'an attests to the fact that the Bible, consisting of the Torah and the Gospel, has remained trustworthy even during the final stages of Muhammad's prophetic career, we can be certain that it will continue to remain trustworthy for all eternity. Since no Qur'anic verses were revealed later to change the existing command of Allah in Surah 5:66, we can be certain that the command to follow the Bible is binding for all eternity. This is possible only if the Bible remains uncorrupted for all eternity.

TESTIMONY NUMBER SEVENTEEN

If the Bible is corrupted as Muslims claim, would the following admonition to Jews and Christians exist in the Qur'an today?

> Surah 5:68: "O People of the book! Ye have no ground to stand upon unless ye stand fast by the Law, the Gospel, and all the revelation that has come to you from your Lord." (Yusuf Ali)
> Say: 'People of the Book, you do not stand on anything, until you perform the Torah and the Gospel, and what was sent down to you from your Lord.' (Arberry)

The Jews and Christians were referred to as the "People of the Book" in the Qur'an. This honorable title confirms the fact that the Qur'an recognizes the Jews and Christians as historically belonging to the community of faithful people who were originally given divine Scriptures. No other people were referred as such in the Qur'an. This in itself proves that they had the authentic Word of God with them. Besides the Torah and the Gospel, the Jews and Christians were also commanded to "stand fast by all the revelation" that were given to them. This would include the Book of Psalms and the Messages of the Prophets. [5] All these Scriptures can be found in the Bible that we have today. The Qur'an clearly states that the Jews and the Christians will not stand on anything, "until" or "unless" they "perform the Torah and the Gospel and what was sent down to them" by their Lord. This means that they will be without guidance unless or until they observe the inspired teachings in the Bible. This once again proves conclusively that the Bible was not abrogated with the arrival of the Qur'an. And this also rules out the claim of corruption by Muslims. Furthermore, in this Qur'anic verse we can see Allah's clear command to the Christians. The Qur'an is not for them. Instead, they were commanded to submit to the teachings of the Gospel for guidance.

As stated earlier, Surah 5 (Surah Al Maidah) was revealed in the eighteenth year of Muhammad's prophetic career – just five years before his death. Yet, the Qur'an still admonishes the Jews and the Christians "to perform the Torah and the Gospel and what was sent down to them." It does not tell them to now perform what was sent down to Muhammad but by what was revealed to them in the Holy Bible. Thus, even when the compilation of the Qur'an was nearing its completion, Christians were still admonished to stand fast by their own Scriptures. And no Qur'anic verses were revealed after Surah Al Maidah that shows a change in the standing of Allah regarding the commandment of Allah that was given to Christians. This means that even now as you are reading this article, the salvation of Christians rests on their obedience to "perform the Torah and the Gospel and what was sent down to them." Their salvation does not rest on the Qur'an but the Bible. This confirms the dependability of the Bible not only at the time of Muhammad but right down to our day.

Although the Qur'an was revealed to Muhammad, this verse in the Qur'an was specifically addressed to the Christians. And when Allah told the Christians "to stand fast by the Gospel," he spoke to them in the present tense. We must ask the Muslims, how should Christians who read this verse in the Qur'an today understand it? Should Christians view this command "to stand fast by the Gospel" as no longer applicable? Since when did it become inapplicable? At what specific period in time after this Qur'anic verse was revealed, did this verse become irrelevant for Christians? Are not Allah's commandments in the Qur'an eternal?

For Christians to submit today to Allah's commandment to "stand fast by the Gospel," the Bible must not only be available to them but it must also remain pure and trustworthy. Otherwise, Christians will find themselves submitting to Scriptures that are no longer the authentic Word of God when they submit to the commandments of Allah in the Qur'an today.

The paradox of the claim of corruption by Muslims is that if the Bible is truly corrupted and, therefore, if Christians today decide to abandon the teachings of the Bible and follow the Qur'an, guess what do they find? The Qur'an advises them to follow the Gospel. It tells them, "You have no ground to stand upon unless you stand fast by the Gospel." In other words, it tells them to go back to the Bible. Well, if Christians are unable to "stand fast by the Gospel" because of the claim of corruption, then the Qur'an becomes a false guide by directing Christians to submit to a Scripture which has become corrupted. To submit to a Scripture which no longer exists. This is a serious error because the commandment for Christians to "stand fast by the Gospel" can still be found in the Qur'an today.

Each time Muslims charge the Bible with corruption, they end up either insulting Allah or condemning the Qur'an as a false guidance. And, of course, this would make Islam false as well.

TESTIMONY NUMBER EIGHTEEN

One of the strongest evidences in the Qur'an that testifies to the everlasting integrity of the Bible is firmly established here in the following Qur'anic verse. The rendering of four different translations is provided below:

> Surah 3:55: When Allah said: O Jesus*, I will cause thee to die and exalt thee in My presence and clear thee of those who disbelieve* and make those who follow thee above those who disbelieve to the day of Resurrection. (Maulana Ali)
> I will make those who follow thee superior to those who disbelieve until the Day of Resurrection. (Yusuf Ali)
> I will clean you of those who rejected you and exalt your followers above the unbelievers until the Day of Resurrection. (Farook Malik)
> And I will place the people who follow you above those who are kafir until the Day of Rising. (A. Bewley)

This is a very profound statement in the Qur'an. It reveals the superiority of those who follow Jesus Christ. It does not say those who believe in Jesus will be made superior but those who follow him. The context shows that Allah spoke the words of the above Qur'anic verse to Jesus Christ when he was still on earth. This event took place centuries before the birth of Islam. The disciples of Jesus who followed him were known as Christians.

According to the above Qur'anic verse, Christians will be exulted or made superior over the disbelievers until the Day of Resurrection. The Day of Resurrection or Qiyamah will occur at the time of the end. Let us see how this Qur'anic verse actually testifies to the eternal legitimacy of the Bible that is in the possession of Christians. Let us now analyze this Qur'anic verse step by step.

- For Christians to be exulted until the time of the end, the true Christian faith must exist in this world until the time of the end.

- For the true Christian faith to exist in this world until the time of the end, true Christians must be present in this world until the time of the end.
- For true Christians to be present in this world until the time of the end, Christians must have a righteous standing with God until the time of end.
- For Christians to have a righteous standing with God until the time of end, Christians must be guided righteously until the time of the end.
- For Christians to be guided righteously until the time of the end, the Bible which is in their possession must remain true until the time of the end.
- For the Bible to remain true until the time of the end, the Bible must remain free from corruption until the time of the end.
- Only then, can Christians have a righteous standing with God and be exulted "until the Day of Resurrection."

This Qur'anic verse is one of the strongest testimonies which proves that the Bible will continue to remain pure and unchanged for ever and ever. And this certainly confirms the truth that the Bible, which is in our possession today, is the uncorrupted Word of God. It will be logically impossible for the Bible to continue uncorrupted until the time of the end if it has already been corrupted today.

The Qur'an also contrasts the followers of Jesus with the unbelievers (kafirs). This in itself proves that Christians are true believers. Can you imagine Christians being judged as true believers "until the Day of Resurrection" by Allah himself when Muslims are taught to believe that Christians are following a falsified Bible. Muslims must note that the above Qur'anic verse does not say that Christians will be made superior until the time of Muhammad's arrival or until the arrival of the Qur'an but until the time of the end.

From the founding of Christianity until today, true Christians have not and still do not submit themselves to the teachings of Allah in the Qur'an. They only submit to the teachings of the Bible. So how can Allah then exult Christians and make them "superior to those who disbelieve until the Day of Resurrection" when they do not subscribe to the teachings of the Qur'an? The answer is obvious but not to Muslims. This Qur'anic verse proves beyond doubt that the Bible alone is indeed sufficient for the outworking of a Christian's salvation – in the past, present and future. In fact, the teachings of the Bible will remain as the authoritative guidance for all mankind. Thus, the claim that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible is a preposterous lie manufactured by Muslims.

Since the Qur'an states that Allah will make the followers of Christ superior over the disbelievers, this would then mean that Christians will prevail over the disbelievers until "the Day of Resurrection." As such, it would be logically impossible for the disbelievers to corrupt the Scriptures of the Christians. So how can Muslims then believe that the Christians who were given supremacy by Allah, remain helpless as their Scriptures are mutilated by the disbelievers? Would not this in reality then mean that the disbelievers are superior? Would not this then prove that Allah's promise regarding the supremacy of the followers of Jesus is a lie? Does not this make the Qur'an false?

The Qur'an states explicitly that the Christians who follow Jesus will be made superior until the time of the end. For this Qur'anic verse to be true, the continuous existence of true Christians from each successive generation must be present here on earth until the time of the end. But how can Christians keep following Jesus when he is no longer with them? This is only possible if the teachings of Jesus are perfectly preserved in the Bible. Therefore, by submitting to the accurate teachings of Jesus as it is preserved in the Bible today, true Christians can continue to follow him until the time of the end.

This means that the reliability of Allah's proclamation in this Qur'anic verse is very much dependent on the continued preservation of the Bible. The instant the Bible becomes corrupted, then this Qur'anic verse loses its credibility. Therefore, the Bible must continue to remain authentic for this Qur'anic verse to maintain its credibility. Thus, once again we can see that each time Muslims claim the Bible to be corrupted, the end up falsifying the Qur'an.

Yes! True Christians will continue to follow Jesus Christ until the Day of Resurrection and beyond that. This is possible because the Bible in their possession will continue to remain as the true authentic Word of God, both now and forever. In fact, in one of the teachings that Jesus taught his followers, he confirmed this truth regarding the preservation of the Bible:

> Matthew 5:18: Truly I say to you that sooner would heaven and earth pass away than one stroke of a letter to pass away from the Holy Scriptures before everything has come true.

TESTIMONY NUMBER NINETEEN

In view of the importance of the following Qur'anic verse, we have provided three different translations to help our readers get the full sense of the meaning of this verse.

Surah 12:111: Indeed in their stories, there is lesson for men of understanding. It (the Qur'an) is not a forged statement but a confirmation of Allah's existing Books which went before it (the Taurat (Torah), the Injeel (Gospel) and other Scriptures of Allah) and a detailed explanation of everything and a guide and a Mercy for the people who believe." (Hilali-Khan)

In their history verily there is a lesson for men of understanding. It is no invented story but a confirmation of the existing (Scripture) and a detailed explanation of everything, and a guidance and a mercy for folk who believe. (Pickthall)

Indeed in the history of these men, there is a lesson for people of understanding. As for this Revelation, it could not possibly be a Hadith, fabricated. It confirms the Divine Origin of the previous Scriptures*, and gives a detailed explanation of everything. And it is a Beacon and Mercy for all those who accept it. (Shabbir Ahmed)*

Valuable lessons can be learnt from this Qur'anic verse.

The Torah and the Gospel are described here as "Allah's existing Books." And Allah claims the ownership of these two Books. This means that the Torah and the Gospel belong to Allah. It is important to note that the Qur'an does not speak of the Torah and the Gospel as Allah's Books in the past tense but in the present continuous tense as "Allah's existing Books."

Therefore, the Torah and the Gospel are not described here as Books that were once existing as the authentic Scriptures of Allah. No but as Books that are still "existing" – even at this very moment in time – as the authentic Scriptures of Allah. This is certainly true because each time Muslims read this verse in their Qur'an today, this is exactly what it tells them. It tells them the Torah and the Gospel are "Allah's existing Books." If the Torah and the Gospel are falsified in any way, then they cannot be described presently as "Allah's existing Books." They would have ceased to be the Books of Allah.

For example, if I were to write a thesis and someone copies it. But in the process, if the person were to leave out many of my ideas and adds many of his own in it, then that thesis would no longer be mine. I would most definitely not claim ownership of this corrupted work because it is no longer my thesis. My disclaimer is proper because the words and ideas in the thesis are no longer mine but belongs to someone else's. Yet, we find in the above Qur'anic verse Allah claims ownership of the Torah and the Gospel. He describes them as "His existing Books." Can they then become corrupted? Would it be proper for Muslims to believe that Allah is claiming Books that have become corrupted as his existing Books? Can Muslims truly believe that these Books of Allah are no longer the Scriptures of Allah?

Even after the arrival of the Qur'an, Allah refers affectionately to the Torah and the Gospel as his "existing Scriptures." Now, why would he address them as such if the real purpose of the Qur'an is to replace them? Would it possible to describe them as such if they have become corrupted? Can "Allah's existing Books" become falsified in the course of time at the hands of mere humans? Can "Allah's existing Books" cease to be the existing Books of Allah? And this is what Muslims blasphemously choose to believe.

Surah 12:111 also states very clearly that "the Qur'an is not a forged statement but a confirmation of Allah's existing Books." Thus, the Qur'an confirms Allah's existing Books." Can the Qur'an confirm "Allah's existing Books" if "Allah's existing Books" have already become corrupted? How can Muslims continue to believe that the Bible has become corrupted when Allah repeatedly says that the Qur'an is a confirmation of the Bible? Is the Qur'an confirming a corrupted Book? Muslims who charge the Bible with corruption are accusing Allah of dishonestly saying something which is not true. They also accuse Allah with failure to protect his Holy Books. And they deny the teachings of the Qur'an.

Surah 12:111 proves that the Bible, described as "Allah's existing Books" is the genuine Word of God. It is referred to in the plural because it contains the Torah, Gospel, Psalms and the Scriptures of the Prophets. Let us analyze this Qur'anic verse once again. Why does Allah repeatedly mentions that the Qur'an is a "confirmation of Allah's existing Books"? It is vital to understand the actual reason why Allah repeatedly declares that the Qur'an is a confirmation of the previous Scriptures. Surah 12:111 reveals to us the actual reason why Allah does this.

Notice the wordings of Allah carefully in Surah 12:111. Allah is saying that the Qur'an is not an "invented story" or a "forged statement" by virtue of the fact that it confirms the Scriptures of the Bible. Thus, it can clearly be seen here that Allah is drawing on the strength of the authenticity of the Bible to validate the Qur'an. In other words, Allah is saying that the Qur'an is true because it is a confirmation of something that is true – the Scriptures of the Holy Bible. So, how can the previous Scriptures then be charged with corruption? It is like saying that the title deed of the Qur'an has become fraudulent. The authenticity of the Qur'an depends very much on the authenticity of the Bible. And the Qur'an repeatedly confirms this truth about the authenticity of the Bible as the existing Word of God.

Therefore, the claim by Muslims that the Bible has become corrupted is in conflict with the teachings of the Qur'an. To claim that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible is an absolute lie invented by desperate Muslims.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY

To confirm means: "To establish the truth or correctness of something previously believed." It also means: "To establish the certainty or validity or accuracy or genuineness of something or someone." Therefore, when it is stated in the Qur'an that the Qur'an confirms the Torah and the Gospel, it means the Qur'an supports the truthfulness or correctness of these Scriptures. In other words, the Qur'an establishes the truthfulness of the Bible as the authentic Word of God.

Muslims believe that Allah is the all knowing one. Therefore, if the Bible is falsified in any way, Allah would know it. Would Allah knowingly commit to writing in the Qur'an, over and over again, that the Qur'an was sent to confirm the Torah and the Gospel if the Bible had truly become corrupted? The verses stating that the Qur'an confirms the Torah and the Gospel still exist in the Qur'an till today. For these Qur'anic verses to be true today, the Bible has to be true today. Presented below are some of the Qur'anic verses that speak about the Qur'an's confirmation of the Torah and the Gospel. Please give attention to the details in these verses:

> Surah 2:41: And believe in what I have sent down this Qur'an, confirming that which is with you (the Taurat (Torah) and the Injeel (Gospel)) and be not the first to disbelieve therein. (Hilali-Khan)
> Surah 2:91: And when it is said unto them. Believe in that which Allah hath revealed, they say: We believe in that which was revealed unto us. And they disbelieve in that which cometh after it, though it is the truth confirming that which they possess. (Pickthall)
> Surah 2:101: When God sent them a messenger confirming the Scriptures they already had, some of those who had received the Scripture before threw the Book of God over their shoulders as if they had no knowledge. (Abdel Haleem)
> Surah 3:3: It is He Who sent down to thee (step by step), in truth, the Book, confirming what went before it; and He sent down the Law (of Moses) and the Gospel (of Jesus) (Yusuf Ali)
> Surah 5:48: To you (O Messenger) We have sent the Book in Sure Truth confirming the Divine Origin of whatever Scripture was before it. The Qur'an is the Watcher over the old Scriptures and guards the Truth in them. (Shabbir Ahmed)
> Surah 6:92: And this Qur'an is the Blessed Book that We have sent down, confirming the Divine Origin of what was revealed before it. (Shabbir Ahmed)

Surah 10:37: No one could have composed this Qur'an besides God. This confirms the existing Book (the Bible) and explains itself. There is no doubt that it is from the Lord of the Universe. (Sarwar)

> Surah 12:111: Indeed in their stories, there is a lesson for men of understanding. It (the Qur'an) is not a forged statement but a confirmation of the Allah's existing Books (the Taurat (Torah), the Injeel (Gospel) and other Scriptures of Allah) and a detailed explanation of everything and a guide and a Mercy for the people who believe. (Hilali-Khan)

Surah 35:31: (O Prophet) the Book We have revealed to you is the Truth, confirming that came before it. Verily Allah is well aware of His servants and sees everything. (Maududi)*

Muslims must contemplate deeply over the significance of all these Qur'anic verses. They must come to terms with what these Qur'anic verses are actually revealing to them about the Scriptures of Allah. What these verses actually mean to them for their salvation. A failure to understand and accept these verses in the Qur'an may lead them into the path of destruction at the hands of Allah.

All of the above Qur'anic verses proclaim that the Qur'an is a confirmation of the Torah and the Gospel. Therefore, as long as these verses that speak of the Qur'an's confirmation of the Bible exist in the Qur'an, the Bible must remain true. Otherwise, it would mean that Qur'an is now confirming corrupted Scriptures as the true Word of God. Since these verses still exist in the Qur'an at this very moment, any changes in the Bible would mean that the Qur'an is now erroneous confirming the Scriptures that have become corrupted as the true Word of God. And that would make the Qur'an false. And now we will fast forward to the future.

Muslims strongly believe that the Qur'an is exclusively protected by Allah from any changes occurring within its pages. If true, then it is impossible for any changes to occur to any of the above cited Qur'anic verses at any time. This means that all of the above Qur'anic verses which proclaim that the Qur'an is a confirmation of the Torah and the Gospel will remain unchanged for all eternity. And since these verses will always remain true in the Qur'an, the Bible has to be authentic at all times for these Qur'anic verses to remain true in the Qur'an for all eternity. Muslims must come to realize that authenticity of the Qur'an depends very much upon the enduring authenticity of the Bible.

Let's recap. All the above Qur'anic verses prove with utmost certainty that the Bible was pure and authentic at the time when Muhammad received these verses from Allah. For these Qur'anic verses to remain true as the eternal words of Allah, the Bible has to remain true eternally. The instant the Bible fails in its integrity, all these verses in the Qur'an will become false instantly. Since all these verses are still the standing order of Allah in the Qur'an, it means that even at this very minute the Qur'an is confirming the Bible as the Word of God. And these Qur'anic verses were never abrogated later by Allah. This means that the Bible that we have in our possession today is the authentic uncorrupted Word of God. It has to be. If Muslims are sincere and truly faithful to the teachings of the Qur'an, they will accept the truthfulness of this conclusion. And we are glad that there are sincere Muslim scholars, both past and present, who acknowledge the indisputable fact that the Bible cannot be corrupted. We will now look at two examples, one ancient and the other modern.

Ibn Abbas (618-687 C.E.) is a paternal cousin of Muhammad. He was one of a special group of Muslims known as the "Companions of Muhammad." He is regarded as one of the great scholars in Islamic History and as one of the most authoritative scholars of early Islam. He is also esteemed above all other Commentators of the Qur'an. His commentary on the subject of "corruption" is stated in the following Hadith.

The Book of the Oneness of God, the Chapter of Surat Al-Borooj, Number 85:

> "They corrupt the word" means "they alter or change its meaning." Yet no one is able to change even a single word from any Book of Allah. The meaning is that they interpret the word wrongly. (Al-Bukhari, Kitaab Al-Tawheed, Baab Qawlu Allah Ta'ala, "Bal Huwa Qur'aanun Majeed, fi lawin")

Ibn Abbas stated, "no one is able to change even a single word from any Book of Allah." Therefore, it is impossible for any changes to occur in the written text in "any Book of Allah." In other words, it is impossible for anyone to corrupt the written Scriptures of the Bible. While one may misinterpret the meaning of the text orally, it is impossible for the written text to be corrupted. Let us now look at the commentary of a contemporary Muslim scholar.

Dr Saeed Abdullah, Professor of Islamic Studies, Melbourne University:

> "The reverence that the Qur'an has shown them (the Scriptures of the Jews and Christians) at the time *should be retained today. Many interpreters of the Qur'an, from Tabari to Razi to Ibn Taymiyya and even Qutb, appear to be inclined to share this view." "The wholesale dismissive attitude held by many Muslims in the modern period towards the scriptures of Judaism and Christianity does not seem to have the support of either the Qur'an or the major figures of tafsir."

Dr Saeed Abdullah states very clearly that the negative attitude that many Muslims have today regarding the authenticity of the Bible "does not seem to have the support of either the Qur'an or the major figures of tafsir."* Dr Saeed Abdullah cited the names of very prominent ancient scholars of Islam to support this fact. Al-Tabari, Razi, Ibn Taymiyya and Qutb are heavyweights in Islam. And they all agree that the Scriptures of the Jews and the Christians cannot be textually corrupted. In other words the written text of Bible is the same as it was originally revealed by God.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY-ONE

Abundant evidences were provided in this article to prove that the Qur'an was not sent to replace the Holy Bible. If it was not sent to replace the Holy Bible, then why did Allah reveal the Qur'an? What was his purpose for doing so? Before we answer this question, it is important to understand that the Qur'an was specifically sent to the Arabs in the Arabic language:

Surah 12:2: "Surely We have revealed it – an Arabic Qur'an – that you may understand." (Shakir)*
Surah 42:7: And thus have We revealed to you an Arabic Qur'an. (Shakir)*

All the previous Scriptures of Allah were revealed in non-Arabic languages. We will now look into the reason as to why it became necessary for Allah to send the Qur'an. We will let the Qur'an itself explain Allah's reason for sending the Qur'an. The answer is provided in the following Qur'anic verses:

Surah 6:154-156: Again, We gave the Scripture unto Moses, complete for him who would do good, an explanation of all things, a guidance and a mercy, that they might believe in the meeting with their Lord. And this is a blessed Scripture which We have* revealed. So follow it and ward off (evil), that ye may find mercy. Lest ye should say: "The Book was sent down to two Peoples before us, and for our part, we remained unacquainted with all that they learned by assiduous study*." (Pickthall)*

Surah 6:156: We have sent it down as the spirit of truth guiding into all truth lest you people render such a reason as to say: "The Book sent down to the people of Musa and to those of Isa aforetime was expressed in their own tongues, in languages, we were not taught nor did we understand"; an excuse which it shall no longer be possible to justify. (Al-Muntakhab)

Essential details can be gathered here:

Firstly, these Qur'anic verses clearly testify that the divinely inspired Book of Allah was sent to only "two Peoples" before the time of Islam. And the Qur'an itself identifies them as the "people of Musa (Moses) and to those of Isa (Jesus)." This is a very important point to remember because it tells us that whenever the Qur'an speaks of Allah's previous Books or Scriptures, it applies exclusively to the Scriptures that were given to the Jews and Christians – Scriptures that were recorded in the Bible before the time of Islam.

Secondly, these Qur'anic verses tell us that the actual reason for sending the Qur'an to the Arabs – in their own language – is because they could now become acquainted with the messages of the Bible that were sent earlier to the Jews and Christians. It was sent as a response to the plea of the Arabs, "We were in fact unaware of what they studied." And the Qur'an specifically identifies and tells us the reason as to why the Arabs were unaware of the messages of the Bible. They voiced their concern to Allah: "The Book sent down to the people of Musa and to those of Isa aforetime was expressed in their own tongues, in languages, we were not taught nor did we understand." It was clearly a problem of language. The solution only necessitates a duplication of the Book of the Jews and the Christians in the Arabic language. Thus, the purpose for the revealing of the Qur'an was not to correct or replace the Bible, but for the Arabs to know for themselves the Message of the Bible in their own language. This is the only reason Allah gave in the Qur'an for sending the Qur'an to the Arabs.

Therefore, the Qur'an was not sent, as Muslims falsely claim, because of the supposedly corruption of the previous Scriptures. This fact is strongly substantiated by the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 46:12: "And yet, before this was the Scripture of Moses, an example and a grace. And this (Qur'an) is a Book confirming the Truth (in Torah), in the Arabic Tongue, to warn the wrongdoers, and a herald of glad tiding for the doers of good." (Shabbir Ahmed)

And before this, was the Book of Moses as a guide and a mercy: And this Book confirms (it) in the Arabic tongue. (Yusuf Ali)

It can be seen from the above Qur'anic verse that the Qur'an is supposed to be an Arabic version of the Judeo-Christian Scriptures, specifically a confirmation of the Book of Moses in Arabic for Arabs. That is why the above Qur'anic verse clearly states: "And this Book confirms it in the Arabic tongue."

It is also important to note that Surah 6:154–156 clearly testify that the previous Scripture is "*complete for him who would do good, an explanation of all things, a guidance and a mercy that they might believe in the meeting with their Lord."

The Qur'an testifies that previous Scripture is "complete for him who would do good and an explanation of all things." As such, will Christians then need any additional guidance besides the Scriptures of the Bible to help them meet with their Lord? To put it more pointedly, do they need the Qur'an? Therefore, the Qur'an was not sent for the benefit of the Jews or Christians but for the Arab Muslims. These Qur'anic verses are just echoing a vital truth that was written by divine inspiration long before the Qur'an came into existence. Concerning the very purpose of the Holy Bible, the Bible itself testifies:

> 2 Timothy 3:16-17: All Scripture is given by the inspiration of God and is profitable for teaching, for reproving, for setting things straight, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be fully competent, completely equipped for every good work.

The Qur'an is supposed to be an Arabic version of the Bible. The fact that the Qur'an ended up being different and even contradictory to the Bible has put Muslims in a dilemma. How can the Qur'an, which is supposed to confirm and verify the Bible, be so different in its contents? How can the Qur'an, which is supposed to be an exact duplication of the Bible in the Arabic language, ends up contradicting the very source it is supposed to emulate. The only way out of this dilemma for Muslims is to fault the Bible. However, in doing so they have taken a stand against the author of the Bible – God himself! This is blasphemy at its greatest against the true God.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

The evidences presented up to now in this article have established the following facts regarding the teachings of the Qur'an on the subject of the integrity of the Bible. The Qur'an confirms that the Torah, the Psalms, the Gospel and the Scriptures that were given to the Prophets are the Words of Allah. All these Scriptures make up the contents of the Bible. They can only be found in the Bible that we have in our possession today. These Scriptures are described in the Qur'an as Scriptures belonging to Allah. And Allah guarantees to protect his inspired Scriptures. If humans are able to change any of the Words of Allah, then no Revelations of Allah could be trusted. Since no humans can be more powerful than Allah, then it is impossible for humans to change the Words of Allah. Therefore, none has the power to change his Words. In other words, none can change the Bible. This is the clear teaching of the Qur'an.

Muslims, who doubt the authenticity of the Bible as the Word of God, should carefully consider the significance of Allah's statement in the following Qur'anic verse. For the benefit of our Muslim readers, we have provided four different translations of this verse.

> Surah 10:37*: No one could have composed this Qur'an besides God.* This confirms the existing Book (the Bible) and explains itself*.* There is no doubt that it is from the Lord of the Universe*. (Sarwar)*
> This Qur'an is not such as could be produced by anyone other than Allah; in fact it is the confirmation of prior revelations (Psalms, Torah, and Gospel) and fully explains the Holy Book (prior scriptures); there is no doubt in this fact that it is (revealed) from the Lord of the Worlds. (Farook Malik)
> This Qur'an could never have been devised by any besides Allah. Rather it is confirmation of what came before it and an elucidation of the Book which contains no doubt from the Lord of all the worlds.

(A. Bewley)
This Qur'an could not have been produced without God; it is to authenticate what is between his hands, and to give details of the Book in which there is no doubt*, from the Lord of the worlds. (The Monotheist Group)*

Once again it is stated that the Qur'an "confirms the existing Book" of Allah. And renowned Qur'an translators like Muhammad Sarwar and Farook Malik recognize the fact that the term "existing Book" refers to the Bible. This means the Holy Bible is the "existing Book" of Allah. The Arabic word translated as "confirm" in Surah 10:37 means "to secure or establish something which has already been stated or done." For the Qur'an to confirm the Bible as such, it absolutely necessary for the Bible to be true and unchanged at the time when this Qur'anic verse was revealed. And since this claim still remains in the Qur'an today, the Bible has to constantly remain as such. Invalid the Bible and you invalid the Qur'an. The Bible is of great importance to Muslims since it contains an earlier and more complete rendition of the message that the Qur'an intends to affirm.

Surah 10:37 also states that the purpose of the Qur'an is to provide "a detailed explanation of the former Scripture, about which there is no doubt." To give a detailed explanation or clarification of the former Scripture, it absolutely necessary for the former Scripture to remain intact. How can the Qur'an give "a detailed explanation of the former Scripture" if the details of the former Scripture have become uncertain through corruption? You cannot confirm something if the original has become unclear or is no longer in existence. It is important to understand that to confirm something, the thing confirmed must be produced as evidence. Therefore, when the Qur'an confirms the authenticity of the Bible, it is absolutely necessary for the authentic Bible to be presented as evidence. In other words, the authentic Bible must exist.

What Muslims fail to comprehend is the fact that whenever Allah states the Qur'an was sent to confirm the Bible, it means that Allah is absolutely certain of the status of the Bible as the authentic Word of God. He reveals these Qur'anic verses as a confirmation of this fact.

Thus, the Qur'an's confirmation of the Bible is only a result of this confidence of Allah in the authenticity of the Bible. Can Allah be wrong?

After stating that the purpose of the Qur'an is to serve as "a confirmation of what was before it and a detailed explanation of the former Scripture," Allah adds, "about which there is no doubt." When Allah spoke about "the former Scripture," he qualified the status of "the former Scripture" with the following profound statement, "about which there is no doubt." How can Allah tell Muslims not to doubt his "former Scripture" if it has already become corrupted? The "former Scripture" of Allah that was given to the Jews and the Christians can only be found in the Bible that we have today. Of course, some Muslim translators render this Qur'anic verse in such a way to mean that it is the Qur'an that is not to be doubted. If true, then it serves as a double bonus for validating the integrity of the Bible. Why do we say that?

It is astounding to note that the very recipient of the Qur'an had doubts about the Qur'an. Yes! Muhammad had doubts about the Qur'an. And guess what was Allah's remedy for Muhammad? Allah's remedy is found in the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 10:94: So if you are in doubt, (O Muhammad), about that which We have revealed to you, then ask those who have been reading the Scripture before you*. (U. Muhammad, Sahih International)*

Muhammad was commanded by Allah to consult the people "who have been reading the Scripture" that was revealed "before" him to clear his doubts. Yes Muslims, even your Prophet was told to go to ordinary Christians who have been reading the Bible to overcome his doubts. You should do the same. Therefore, there is no justification for you to reject the Bible – the eternal Word of the Almighty God. So which Scripture do you think qualifies to be identified with the statement, "about which there is no doubt."? However, even if Muslims claim that the statement, "about which there is no doubt" applies to the Qur'an, it only serves to prove the superiority of the Holy Bible which functions as the only solution for the doubts raised by the Qur'an? It qualifies the qualifier.

For Muslims to doubt the authenticity of the Bible is to distrust Allah. When Muslims defiantly reject the Holy Bible, they are rejecting the "existing Book" of Allah. Do Muslims really understand the serious implication of their action? The following Qur'anic verse also calls upon Muhammad to "ask the people of the Reminder" on other matters of vital concerns. This verse was revealed during the time when Muhammad underwent some moments of serious doubts and discouragement. [6]

> Surah 21:7: And We sent not before you (O Muhammad) but men to whom We inspired, so ask the people of the Reminder [Scriptures – the Taurat (Torah), the Injeel (Gospel)] if you do not know. (Hilali-Khan)
> "If you do not know this ask the followers of earlier revelation*." (Muhammad Asad)*

Muhammad Asad's exegesis for this Qur'anic verse, which is cited in his translation of the Qur'an, states: Lit. "followers of the reminder – i.e. of the Bible." (Qur'an Ref: 21:7
Source: http://www.islamicity.com/Qur'anSearch)
As it can be seen, renowned Qur'an translators like Muhammad Asad recognizes the fact that whenever the term Revelation, Reminder, Message, Scripture or Book appears in the Qur'an with reference to the Jews and Christians, it literally means the Bible.
The above Qur'anic verse commands Muhammad to clarify matters of divine nature by asking those who possess the Bible. Here we find Allah once again appealing to the Bible to address the troubles of Muhammad. Would it make sense for Allah to direct Muhammad to seek assurance from a "people" whose Holy Book had become corrupted? Surely not! Allah gave this command because he knew with utmost certainty that the Scriptures they held were genuine. It is important to note that the verb, "ask the people" is in the present tense. Thus, even during the course of the Qur'an's revelation, Muhammad was told to consult the People of the Book. And Allah specifically told Muhammad, "Ask the people of the Reminder if you do not know." It will therefore defy logic for Allah to direct Muhammad to a people whose Holy Book has become corrupted. This proves that even more than five centuries after its completion, the Bible remains unchanged. Is it not a little suspicious that the Bible which has remained unchanged for centuries to suddenly be accused of corruption only after Muslims discovered the presence of numerous contradictions between the Bible and the Qur'an? It must be remembered that since the Qur'an came much later, it is the teachings of the Qur'an that are contradicting the divine teachings of Allah in the Bible. So Muslims should not put the cart before the horse.

The Muslim's assertion that the corruption of the Bible is taught in the Qur'an is unfounded. To this day, Muslims have never been able to bring forth any evidences to show at what point in history the alleged corruptions of the text of the Bible took place. No evidences were revealed to show how the Bible came to be changed. And no evidences were provided to show precisely when these changes were made, by whom the changes were made, and what the changes were.

Manuscript evidences pre-dating Islam proves that the texts that were available to Muhammad in the seventh century are essentially the same as the ones we have today. If they are unreliable today as Muslims claim them to be, they would have been unreliable then. Yet, Allah told Muhammad to "ask the followers of earlier revelation." So who should we believe – Allah or the Muslims who deny the Bible? The irony for Muslims is that Allah tells them not to doubt the Bible, but if they do doubt the Bible, then they have to go to the Bible to clear their doubts. Are Muslims prepared to face Allah on Judgment Day with their blasphemous accusation that he could not preserve his inspired Scriptures which he gave to the Jews and Christians from corruption?

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY-THREE

The following Qur'anic verse shows why it is vital for Muslims to accept the Bible as the divine Word of God. The Bible is made up of many individual Books. And in this Qur'anic verse, Allah affectionately identifies the Books of the Bible as "heavenly Books." He values the Bible and describes it as the "evidence of the Truth." Time and again Allah appealed to the Bible. Consider now the importance of the Bible in the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 20:133: "They have said, 'Why has he, (Muhammad), not brought some miracle from his Lord?' Have they not received the previously revealed heavenly Books as the evidence of the Truth?" (Sarwar)

And they say, 'Why does he not bring us a miracle from his Lord?' Were they not given enough miracles in the former Scriptures? (Talal A. Itani)
And they say, "Why does he not bring us a miracle from his Lord?" But has there not come to them a clear evidence of all the truth that was in the former Scriptures? (Shabbir Ahmed)

The Muhammad's contemporaries demanded proof from him to authenticate his claim of prophethood. They wanted him to produce "some miracle" just as the earlier prophets of God have done in the past to substantiate their claims of prophethood. They wanted tangible evidences to validate his calling as a prophet of God. Of course there were none since Muhammad could not perform any miracles. And Allah came to the defense of Muhammad. But who came to the defense of Allah? He appealed to the authority of the Bible to answer their demands for evidences in the form of miracles. Allah answered: "Have they not received the previously revealed heavenly Books as the evidence of the Truth?" "Were they not given enough miracles in the former Scriptures?"

Do Muslims really understand the significance of Allah's response to the people who demanded proof of miracles to authenticate Muhammad's calling as a prophet of God? Noteworthy points can be learnt here from Surah 20:122.

(1) When the contemporaries of Muhammad demanded proof of miracles, Allah responded: "Have they not received the previously revealed heavenly Books as the evidence of the Truth?" By saying this, Allah is telling them that the Bible is sufficient as "evidence of the Truth." In other words, the Bible is good as the miracles that they demanding.

(2) This Qur'anic verse is also testifying that the evidences to substantiate Allah's capacity to perform miracles can be found in the Bible. Therefore, if Muhammad needs to provide evidence to his contemporaries, he will have to prove it from the Bible. This means that if his contemporaries want to know about real miracles, they have to go to the Bible. This further proves that accounts of true miracles can only be found in the Bible.

(3) This Qur'anic verse reveals the tremendous authoritative strength of "the previously revealed heavenly Books." The existence of authentic accounts of miracles in the Bible is as good as the display of miracles itself. If the Bible says so, it surely must be.

(4) Since Allah used "the previously revealed heavenly Books as the evidence of the Truth," the pervious Scriptures cannot be a lie. They must be absolutely reliable and free from corruption to be described as such. The value of appealing to the "previous Books" is that those individual Books of the Bible are absolutely trustworthy. If the "previous Books" were not trustworthy, what good are their testimonies?

All these evidences demonstrate that even after the arrival of the Qur'an, Allah still value the Bible as an indispensable authority. The fact that Allah used the authority of the Bible to silence his critics shows that it is not a Book that is hopelessly lost in obscurity through the transient of time. Neither is it corrupted in any way. The Bible served as a respected authority for Allah to use whenever the situation demands it. The value of appealing to the Bible by Allah proves the absolute trustworthiness of the Bible. If the Bible is not dependable, its testimony would be of no value.

Muslims must consider why did not Allah answer those miracle demanders without supplicating to the Bible? Why did he not use the Qur'an or inspire a new Qur'anic verse to answer them? After all, at this point in time, the Qur'an was still being revealed piecemeal? Yet, at a crucial moment when Muhammad's prophethood was challenged, the only authority Allah can turn to was the Bible, to answer the critics. Can Muslims really believe that Allah would permit such an essential Book to become worthless through corruption? Since the Qur'an itself speaks with such reverence about the authority of the Bible, what do you think Allah wants you to believe?

Since the Bible is made up of many individual Books, it is not surprising for the Qur'an to refer to the Bible in the plural as "previously revealed heavenly Books." By referring to the Bible as "heavenly Books," the Qur'an is testifying to the truth that the origin of the Bible is divine – heaven itself. In other words, the source of the Bible is none other than God himself. Since God himself is the author of the Bible, do you think any man would be able to change the very Word of the Almighty God? There is an inspired verse in the Holy Bible that is worth considering at this point:

Psalm 119:89: "Forever, O Jehovah, Your Word is firmly fixed in the heavens."

Since God's Word is stationed in the heaven, no man will be able to corrupt them. It is divinely protected by God. That is why the Qur'an repeatedly testifies that none can change the Word of God. The Qur'an actually commands Muslims to believe in the former Scriptures. Therefore, true Muslims who are faithful to the teaching of the Qur'an have nothing to lose by following the teachings of their own Scripture in this vital matter of accepting the Bible as the unchanged Word of God. In fact, it is mandatory for Muslims to do so. While the purpose of this article is to assist Christians to defend their Holy Book against the lies propagated by Muslim apologists, it is also the purpose of this article to lovingly implore sincere Muslims to come to their senses. We sincerely invite Muslims to investigate the teachings of the Bible with an open mind. You can get a foretaste of the Bible's profound teachings by reading the Sermon of Jesus Christ in the Book of Matthews, Chapters 5–7. These three chapters will forever change the way you have been taught to think. Try it.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY-FOUR

One of the most troubling verses in the Qur'an for Muslims is Surah 10:94. This Qur'anic verse reveals that Muhammad had serious doubts as to whether he was indeed receiving genuine revelations from God. This Qur'anic verse expressly states that as a result of these doubts, Allah had to swiftly take counter measures to address this serious problem. He commanded Muhammad to consult those who read the Scriptures that were revealed before the arrival of the Qur'an. In order to verify the truth, Muhammad had to consult those who read the Holy Bible. [6] Though we have discussed Surah 10:94 briefly in this article, we will now consider it in length. Three different translations of this Qur'anic verse are provided below:

Surah 10:94: "And if thou (Muhammad) art in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto thee, then question those who read the Scripture that was before thee. Verily the Truth from thy Lord hath come unto thee. So be not thou of the waverers." (Pickthall)

"But if you are in doubt as to what We have revealed to you, ask those who read the Book before you*; certainly the truth has come to you from your Lord,* therefore you should not be of the disputers." (Shakir)

"So if you (O Muhammad) are in doubt concerning that which We have revealed unto you*...*then ask those who are reading the Book (Torah) and the Injeel (Gospel) before you. Verily, the truth has come to you from your Lord. So be not of those who doubt it." (Hilali-Khan)

"Ask those who read the Book before you." Those who have been reading the "Book" before the time of Muhammad were the Jews and the Christians. And the only "Book" that the Christians have been reading is the Holy Bible. What was revealed to Muhammad was the Qur'an. To paraphrase, this verse is simply saying, "Muhammad, if you have doubts about the Qur'an, seek out the people who read the Bible to clear your doubts."

Let us now carefully analyze the full implication of this single verse in the Qur'an. This Qur'anic verse is clearly stating that the Bible functions as the standard for Muhammad to determine whether the Qur'an is true or not. It also tells us that the Bible functions as the judge to determine whether Muhammad's revelations are genuinely from God or not. Thus, this Qur'anic verse reveals that the Bible's evidence is critical for the confirmation of the authenticity of the Qur'an.

Since the Bible is the standard of truth with which the Qur'an must agree, it stands above the judgment of the Qur'an. It is the Qur'an and not the Bible that has to be viewed in the light of previous Scriptures for verification purposes. It is the Bible that evaluates the Qur'an and not the other way round. This substantiates the indisputable truth that the Bible is far greater in authority than the Qur'an. How can the Qur'an evaluate the Book that evaluates it? Therefore, contrary to the claims by Muslims that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible, Allah urges Muhammad to consult the Bible when he is in doubt. Surah 10:94 not only confirms the credibility of the Bible as the authoritative Word of God, but it also reveals the fact that the Qur'an is not meant to supersede the Bible.

Allah commands Muhammad to confer with the Bible when he has doubts. In order for Muhammad to consult the Christians to overcome his doubts, it is absolutely essential, mandatory, crucial, vital, and compulsory for the Bible to remain pure. It would be meaningless for Muhammad to seek clarification from a people who read corrupted Scriptures or Scriptures which could be corrupted. This divine commandment would not have been given to Muhammad if the Bible is altered in any way. It would not have been given if the Bible is to be replaced by the arrival of the Qur'an. This shows that the Bible is the standard of gold by which the Qur'an is to be examined. As Muslims are not above Muhammad, they must also similarly submit to the direction given in this Qur'anic verse.

Here we have Allah's final Prophet who is advised to clear his doubts by learning from ordinary Christians. Why? Because the Bible – the authentic Word of God – eliminates doubts and restores faith. It would make no sense for Allah to command those who are in doubt to consult with the Christians if the Bible in their possession is corrupted in any way. Christians themselves would certainly be plagued by many misconceptions if what they were studying are distorted Scriptures. Hence, the Scriptures given before Islam – the Holy Bible – must have remained pure and uncorrupted for Allah to command Muhammad to seek its support to eliminate his doubts. Muhammad's life hangs in the balance if he does not heed this commandment. He will be among those who perish. After the directive in Surah 10:94, the Qur'anic verse that immediately follows reveals the stern warning of Allah to Muhammad.

> Surah 10:95: Be not of those who deny Our Revelations and become losers. (Shabbir Ahamed)
> "And do not be of those who reject the Signs (Verses) of Allah, or you shall be of those who will perish." (Syed Vicar Ahamed)

The Chapter name for Surah 10 is Surah Jonah or Surah Yunus as it known in Arabic. What should be troubling for Muslims is the fact that this Surah is a late Meccan Surah. For the Prophet of Allah to have serious doubts about the revelations he was receiving – almost a decade after receiving them – is indeed troubling. The nature of Muhammad's doubt is serious because he was having doubts about the validity of the Qur'an itself, the very source that is supposed to build faith in Allah. Read once again the words of Allah in Surah 10:94:

> "And if thou (Muhammad) art in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto thee, then question those who read the Scripture (that was) before thee… And be not thou of those who deny the revelations of Allah, for then wert thou of the losers."

The only solution to resolve Muhammad's serious lack of faith in the Qur'anic messages was the Holy Bible. That is the only solution Allah could think of to remedy this volatile situation. If the claim by Muslims that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible is true, would Allah make such an urgent appeal to the Bible to deal with a crisis as serious as this? The restoration of Muhammad's faith rested on the Bible. Why was Allah unable to remove the doubts of his Prophet by inspiring a faith-strengthening verse in the Qur'an? Repeatedly, the Holy Bible came to the support of Allah to deal with matters which otherwise could not be solved.

The success of Muhammad's prophethood depended very much on his submission to the teachings of the Bible. Will not Allah protect such an essential Book from becoming corrupted? Will he not protect the very foundation upon which the credibility of the Qur'an depends on? The Muslim claim that only the Qur'an is preserved with the exclusion of the Bible means the destruction of the very foundation on which the Qur'an builds its dependability. If you destroy the foundation, you destroy everything that is built on it.

Well Muslims, does it not come as a shocking truth to learn that your infallible Prophet – the very recipient of the Qur'an – had serious doubts about the revelations he was receiving – years after he began to receive them? Does it not astound you to learn that the only available source for your Prophet to overcome his doubts is the Holy Bible? For Muhammad to trust the Qur'an, he had to first trust the Bible.

It is also essential for Muslims to note that while the Prophet of Islam was told to go to the People of the Book when he had doubts, the Jews and Christians were never instructed to consult Muhammad. In fact, the opposite is true. They were even admonished by Allah for consulting Muhammad. Instead, they were told to consult their own inspired Scriptures. The following Qur'anic verses clearly testify to this truth:

Surah 5:43: "How come they unto thee for judgment when they have the Torah, wherein Allah hath delivered judgment (for them)?" (Pickthall)*

Surah 5:47: "The followers of the Gospels (the New Testament) must judge according to what God has revealed in it. Those who do not judge by the laws of God are evil doers. (Muhammad Sarwar)

The above two Surahs can still be found un the Qur'an today. This means that even today, Allah is telling Christians that Holy Bible is the only guide for Christians. As such, it has to remain pure. Muslims, if you truly believe in Allah and the Qur'an, you will not allow yourselves to be deceived by those who falsely suggest that the Bible has become corrupted. Read the Qur'an for yourself. Then, as you will be directed to do so by the Qur'an, read the Holy Bible.

TESTIMONY NUMBER TWENTY-FIVE

All too often we find Muslims making the claim that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible. They claim that the Bible is no longer the authentic Word of God since it has become invalid through corruption. Incredibly, at the same instant they also claim that the coming of Muhammad is accurately prophesized in the Bible. Consequently, Muslims have to now juggle between the claim of corruption and the claim of authenticity of the verses that supposedly foretold the coming of Muhammad. Therefore, to reconcile these conflicting views, Muslim apologists came up with an ingenious plan. They claim that only parts of the Bible which agrees with the Qur'an should be accepted as authentic. However, where there are discrepancies between the Bible and the Qur'an, the Bible's view should be rejected in favor of the Qur'an.

While we are happy to acknowledge that there are major differences between the teachings of the Bible and the Qur'an, we do not however agree with their argument that the Qur'an should have precedence in areas where it differs from the Bible. As for these apologists, we will now show them the error of their ways. We will use a single Qur'anic verse to demonstrate why it is erroneous to let the Qur'an have priority over the teachings of the Bible in areas where they conflict. Let us now look at a Qur'anic verse that narrates about an article of faith that is supposedly practiced in Christianity. The Qur'an states:

Surah 2:145: "Even if thou wert to bring to the people of the Book all the Signs (together), they would not follow Thy Qibla; nor art thou going to follow their Qibla; nor indeed will they follow each other's Qibla." (Yusuf Ali)

"Even if you give every proof to the people of the Book, they will not accept your Qiblah, nor will you accept theirs. Neither of them (the Jews and Christians) are the followers of each other*." (Malik)*

The Qiblah or Kiblah is the direction of the Ka'ba at Mecca, to which Muslims face at prayer. After stating that the "people of the Book" (Jews and Christians) will not follow the Qiblah of the Muslims, this Qur'anic verse then goes on to state, "nor will they follow each other's Qiblah." This is indeed a gross error in the Qur'an because Christians never had a Qiblah. They never had a specific direction to face while praying. So, how can the Qur'an then tell that the Jews will not follow the Qiblah of the Christians and vice-versa? It is a well-known historical fact that Christians never had a Qiblah. Even ordinary Muslims are aware of this fact. In the entire Christian Scriptures there is not even a slightest hint of a Qiblah for Christians. Therefore, if Allah truly revealed the Gospel as claimed in the Qur'an, such an obvious error will never be found in the Qur'an. He cannot therefore be the source behind the inspiration of the Gospel.

It is not only a fact that Christians did not have a Qiblah but it is also impossible for them to have one. This is in line with the divine teachings they received from their sacred Scriptures. In 2 Corinthians 4:18, the Bible teaches Christians to keep their "eyes not on the things seen, but on the things unseen. For the things seen are temporary, but the things unseen are everlasting." Thus, instead of viewing any physical object or place with reverence so as to direct their prayers towards it, Christians are taught to direct their prayers towards their Creator. And because of this profound teaching in the Bible, Christians are not restricted to face a certain prayer direction.

Furthermore, the divine conception of the true Christian faith rules out the association of any physically perceivable object as a focal point for Christians to worship their God. This is potentially idolatrous.

2 Corinthians 5:7: "For we are walking by faith*,* not by sight*."*

Jesus firmly established the Christian position on this issue in John 4:19-24:

> The (Samaritan) woman said to him: "Sir, I see that you are a prophet. Our forefathers worshiped on this mountain, but you people say that in Jerusalem is the place where people must worship." Jesus said to her: "Believe me, woman, the hour is coming when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you people worship the Father*. You worship what you do not know; we worship what we know, because salvation began with the Jews.* Nevertheless, the hour is coming, and it is now, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth. For indeed, the Father is looking for suchlike ones to worship him. God is a Spirit and those worshiping him must worship with spirit and truth."

The above Biblical verses was revealed more than five centuries before the time of Muhammad. It shows that the form of worship that is specified by Jehovah is not a ritualistic form of physical veneration. Rather, it is a superlative form of devotion that is governed by the inner spiritual veneration of the worshipper towards Him. Can true godliness be attained by just the bodily turning to the right or left? It is not the turning of the body but the turning of the heart towards God in righteousness that counts with Him.

The above words of Jesus clearly show that from God's point of view, it is futile to direct our prayers towards any physical places of reverence, even if it means a city such as Jerusalem. Christians were never taught by their God to pray facing any physical object, place or city. Thus, Christians were never required to face a specific direction while praying. If Christians had to face a certain direction in order to pray, it will be an insult to the supremacy of their God. Christians do not need a Qiblah. Jehovah, the God whom they worship, will be able to listen and accept the prayers of his faithful servants, no matter from what directions such prayers are expressed to Him.

The Qur'an made an enormous mistake when it spoke about the Qiblah of the Christians. We challenge Muslim apologists to produce a single verse from the Bible that speaks about the Qiblah of the Christians. This is actually a double error in the Qur'an. In the first place, the Qur'an made an obvious error in stating that Christians face a specific direction while praying. Secondly, the Qur'an failed to understand that it is ethically and morally wrong for a Christian to face a specific object while praying as Muslims do. This is because it is potentially idolatrous for the Christian to do so. Such an act does not harmonize with the spirit directed teachings of the Holy Bible.

Right from the beginning, Jehovah God warned the Israelites from falling prey to this subtle form of idolatry. It is subtle because the worshippers who engage in this form of idolatry will deny – just as Muslims do today – that they are actually rendering worship to the object of reverence. Muslims cannot see it as an act of idolatry. The Muslim argument is that while they pray facing that object of reverence, their minds and prayers are actually directed towards God. Therefore, they claim that the object of reverence has no bearing whatsoever on their worship of Allah. If their claim is true, then there is absolutely no reason to face that object of reverence while praying – since it supposedly has no bearing whatsoever on their worship of Allah. In other words, their purpose of facing that object of reverence is in reality pointless.

So, why are Muslims then commanded in the Qur'an to face that object of reverence whenever they have to approach Allah in prayer? Why is it mandatory for them to do so? This shows that contrary to the claim of Muslims, that object of reverence is significant in their form of worship. It is an essential commitment in their sacred service to Allah. Thus, it is indisputably an act of idolatry.

As stated, the Muslim argument is that while they pray facing the object of reverence, their minds and prayers are actually directed towards God. Therefore, they reason it is not actually an act of idolatry. The Muslim argument can be likened to that of a man who justifies his adulterous acts by claiming that he was thinking of his wife while he was committing the sinful act. Can this excuse his sinful act? Adultery is adultery no matter where you direct your thoughts during that sinful act. And idolatry is idolatry no matter where you direct your thoughts while performing the idolatrous act.

And we must not overlook the fact that during the Hajj, Muslims actually touch and kiss the Black Stone with reverence – the focus of the direction of their prayers. That the Black Stone is truly the focus of their prayers can clearly be seen by the fact that the entire ritual of the Hajj centers on this idol in the shape of a Black Stone. And Muslims fondly kiss the Black Stone which with reverence in their heart. This is purely an act of idolatry no matter what excuses Muslims give. Any reverence given to an object is idolatry. Why kiss a stone if your mind is on Allah?

Centuries before the arrival of Islam, Jehovah God warned the nation of Israel to avoid this subtle entrapment of Satan. An entrapment that Islam, centuries later, failed to escape. Read the warnings of Jehovah:

> Leviticus 26:1: "Do not make for yourselves worthless idols. You must not erect for yourselves a carved statue or a sacred pillar and you must not put a stone as a sacred showpiece in your land to bow down toward it*. I am Jehovah your God."*

Jehovah God told the Israelites not to bow down to any images. And that includes images in the form of a stone:

> Exodus 20:4-5: "You must not make for yourself a carved image or a form like anything that is in the heavens above or that is on the earth underneath or that is in the waters under the earth. You must not bow down to them nor be induced to serve them, because I Jehovah your God am a God exacting exclusive devotion."
> 1 Corinthians 10:14: Therefore, my beloved ones, flee from idolatry.

Some Muslims claim that the purpose of the Qiblah is to promote unity. It is said that the entire Muslim world is unified by the requirement laid upon them to face a single focal point while praying. However, contrary to the claims made by Muslims, unity is not attained by facing a single direction but by love. The fact that Muslims kill and slaughter one another – while facing a single Qiblah – is a proof of this truth. The Islamic divide is actually much more serious than most Muslims are willing to admit.

There was never and there will never be a Qiblah for Christians. Christians can pray to their God from anywhere, from any direction, in any respectable position, at any time of the day or night and still be confident that their beloved God would listen to them. To insist that you have to face a specific direction or an object to talk to God is an insult to his Almightiness.

Well, there is a disagreement now between the teachings of the Bible and the teachings of the Qur'an. So, what should Christians do now?

Should they listen to the suggestion of these Muslim apologists and abandon the profound teachings of the Holy Bible? Should they, in imitation of Muslims, start looking for a pagan sacred stone to face while praying? Would it not be wise for them to follow the divine teachings of the Bible and worship their God with spirit and truth? While we are on this subject, we would like these Muslim apologists to enlighten us on the following issues:

(1) Since when did Christians have a Qiblah? (2) What is the Qiblah of the Christians? (3) Where are Christians supposed to face while praying? (4) If Allah is truly the one who inspired the writings of the Gospel, as the Qur'an claims, then why did he not know that there is no Qiblah in Christianity?

What vital lessons can Muslims learn here? The Qur'an should never contradict the teachings of the Holy Bible. As Surah 10:94 testifies, the Qur'an should never evaluate the Book that evaluates it. Thus, we can clearly see that the suggestions of Muslim apologists to reject the teachings of the Bible that are in conflict with the Qur'an are not only baseless but it can also lead to embarrassment for Muslims. True Christians believe and accept the entire Bible as the authentic "Word of God."

> 1 Thessalonians 2:13: "And we also thank God continually because, when you received the word of God's message, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men, but as it actually is, the Word of God."

And Allah warns the Muslim apologists:

> Surah 29:46: And do not dispute with the followers of the Book except by what is best, except those of them who act unjustly, and say: 'We believe in that which has been revealed to us and revealed to you*, and our God and your God is One, and to Him do we submit.' (Shakir)*
> *"*And argue not with the people of the Scripture *(Jews and Christians)." (Hilali-Khan)*

A FINAL TESTIMONY

The Qur'an clearly testifies that the Scriptures that were given to the Jews and Christians are the inspired Messages of Allah. The same claim of inspiration is also made for the Qur'an. As such, there should be complete agreement between the teachings of the Bible and the Qur'an. However, since the Bible and the Qur'an differ immensely from one another, Muslims find themselves in a dilemma. How are they going to reconcile the significant differences between the Qur'an and the Bible? In their desperate attempt to reconcile the differences in favor of Islam, Muslims found it necessary to fault the Bible. Therefore, the claim that the Bible is corrupted is nothing more than a desperate attempt by Muslims to salvage the credibility of the Qur'an. However, in their attempt to falsely accuse the Bible of corruption, Muslims have invalidated the Qur'an in the process. Muslims have now proven that Qur'an is false in its claim that the inspired Messages of Allah cannot be corrupted.

In this article we presented numerous evidences to prove why the Bible cannot be corrupted as Muslims claim. Finding no evidences in the Qur'an to support their claim of corruption, some Muslims have begun asserting that the corruption of the Bible must have taken place after the completion of the Qur'an. Of course, this claim is false since it still contradicts the teachings of the Qur'an which says that none can change the Word of Allah. And logically this would mean that Allah's Word cannot be changed at any time. Therefore, it cannot be changed in the past, present or in the future. It is not supposed to according to the teachings of the Qur'an.

Hence, if Muslims were to insist that the Bible was corrupted after the completion of the Qur'an, this would then mean that Allah was unaware that his Scriptures would become corrupted in the future. And he would not have boldly made the claim that none can change his Word. Of course, this would without a doubt make the Qur'an false since it contains an erroneous claim of Allah in it.

The evidences provided in this article prove with absolute certainty why it is impossible for anyone to corrupt the Bible. And evidences were also shown to prove why it is impossible for the Bible to become corrupted after the time of Muhammad. However, to let this matter rest with absolute certainty, we will reason on this subject further. Just ponder on this for a moment. If the corruption took place after Muhammad's time, then our present Bible would surely be different from the Bibles that predated Muhammad. Then how is it possible that we have in various museums, ancient copies of the Bible which predate Muhammad that are identical to the Bibles we have today? Does not this positively confirm the truth that the Bible we have today is the same as the ones that existed before the time of Muhammad? The only possibility for the Bible to reach us identically as the predated copies is by maintaining its authenticity absolutely and remaining unchanged during and after the time of Muhammad. Otherwise, it could not reach us as such.

Furthermore, how does one explain the fact that the Bibles that we have with us today are based on manuscripts which predate Muhammad by hundreds of years? And there are thousands of these manuscripts in multiple languages. We can find manuscripts of the Bible written four to five hundred years before the time of Muhammad that are on public display in museums today. When comparing our modern Bibles with these ancient manuscripts, we can easily substantiate the fact that the Bible we have today has remained the same since those words were written in the Qur'an saying, "there is guidance and light" in the Torah and the Gospel. The Qur'an testifies to the authenticity of the Bibles at the time of Muhammad. Since the Bibles we have today are identical copies of the Bibles that existed before and during the time of Muhammad, then the Qur'an's testimony to their authenticity applies with equal force to the copies of the Bible that we have today in our possession. Yes! The Bible has continued to remain unchanged right to our day. We will now show the readers why it is absolutely impossible for the Bible to be altered after the time of the Qur'an's completion.

ONE: Not only was the Bible translated into many languages before the time of Muhammad, but by then it had already been distributed throughout the civilized world. The Bible was by that time distributed in Europe, Asia and Africa. It was translated into Latin, Greek, Coptic, Gothic, Syrian, Ethiopian, Armenian and many other languages. For the corruption to take place after the time of the Qur'an's completion, it would mean that the Jews and the Christians were able to alter the texts of every single copy of their Bible, all over the world, in every country and in all the languages that the Bible was written in. And this must be accomplished with the consent and collusion of every single individual in the entire world who owns a copy of the Bible. And they must do this without leaving a single copy of the original Bible to exist. This would then involve the undertaking to destroy thousands or even hundreds of thousands of the original Bibles from all around the world. Are the Jews and the Christians capable of accomplishing such a stupendous task without leaving a trace of their conspiracy?

TWO: Since the copies of the Bible that we have today are identical in its message and content, then the assumption that it came from earlier corrupted versions would mean that the earlier corrupted versions were also identical in their message and content. Therefore, those who corrupted the earlier versions must have made identical changes in all those earlier copies of the Bible in all the nations and in all the languages. And this change has to be made simultaneously in all the Bibles, in all the nations and in all the languages. This means a universal approval for the alteration of the Bible has had to take place. Then, this would also call for every single individual Jews and Christians all over the world – who owns a Bible – to conspire with one another so that the changes would be identical.

Imagine! Muslims are asking us to believe that some unknown individuals were able to change all the manuscripts that were written in multiple languages and that were distributed over a significant geographical area and change them all simultaneously and in the same manner so that nobody would notice the changes. This is not only an utterly absurd proposition but also a feat that is humanly impossible. And we are also left wondering, why did the rest of the faithful Christians and Jews remain silent while their Scriptures were mutilated right before them? This feat, if it is true, would be a miracle in itself. To even imagine such an event taking place is totally insane. This scenario is not only logistically unachievable but also morally impossible. For this to occur, thousands of God-fearing persons who love the Word of God with their very lives would have had to choose to alter their sacred Scriptures knowingly. Are Muslims expecting us to believe this? The Qur'an itself testifies that faithful worshippers among the People of the Book will take a stand for righteousness:

> Surah 3:113: "Not all of them are alike: Of the People of the Book are a portion that stand (for the right): They rehearse the Signs of Allah all night long, and they prostrate themselves in adoration." (Yusuf Ali)
> Not all the People of the Scripture are alike. Among them are those who take a firm stand for the right

> cause, reflect upon the Revelations of Allah by night and fall in full submission. (Shabbir)*

Would not these faithful ones safely protect and preserve their Scriptures? These righteous Jews and Christians would certainly have exposed those among them that were attempting to corrupt their sacred Scriptures. Such sincere worshippers would never permit the corruption of their Scriptures to occur. The Qur'an itself testifies that they will "take a firm stand for the right cause."

THREE: If Muslims claim that the Bible was corrupted after the completion of the Qur'an, then this is an admission that it was not corrupted before that. If so, how is it possible that until today, not a single copy of the uncorrupted Bible can be found from among the millions of Bibles that were available before the time of Muhammad in the Middle East, Europe, Asia and Africa? What happened to all of those Bibles? If the claim of Bible corruption is true, then the original would be needed to prove the existence of any such distortions in the later copies of the Bible. Such "originals" has never been found till today. Of course it will never be found since the Bible that we have in our possession today is the original. This proves that the Bible that existed before the Qur'an is the same that we have today.

Not only do we have external evidences such as the Qur'an that validates the integrity of the Bible but we also have internal evidences in the Bible itself that prove why the Jews could not have corrupted their Scriptures. Before we proceed on, it is useful in our discussion to remember that since the Old Testament is written in the Hebrew language it is also known as the Hebrew Scriptures. The principle theme of the Christian Greek Scriptures is the Kingdom of God with Jesus Christ as the principal ruler. Yet, it is significant to note that in the Hebrew Scriptures that were revealed to the Jews, there are numerous prophecies regarding the coming of the Son of God as the anointed ruler of this Kingdom of God. Though the Hebrew Scriptures were completed about four centuries before the time Jesus Christ was born, it contains numerous prophecies regarding his role as the future King and Messiah. The teachings of the Christian Greek Scriptures that identify Jesus Christ as the Son of God is constantly justified by quotes from the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament). There are numerous examples in the Bible to evidence this fact.

For example, in the Hebrew Scriptures in Psalm 2:7, God speaks of the coming of his Son as the anointed one.

> Psalm 2:7: *I will tell of the decree of Jehovah. He said unto me: "You are my son; today I have become your father."

Furthermore, in the Hebrew Scriptures in 2 Samuel 7:14, when God informed David that this same Anointed One would be a descendent of his lineage, He once again made the following statement regarding his Son:

> 2 Samuel 7:14: *"I myself shall become his father, and he himself will become my son."

Both these texts are quoted word for word in the Christian Greek Scriptures.

> Hebrews 1:5: For example, to which one of the angels did God ever say: "You are my son; today I have become your father"? And again: "I will become his father, and he will become my son"?

The Hebrew Scriptures find their fulfillment in the Christian Greek Scriptures. Psalms 2:7 and 2 Samuel 7:14, which speaks about the coming of the Son of God as God's Anointed One, find their fulfillment in Hebrews 1:5 with the coming of Jesus Christ. In fact, there are numerous other prophecies similar to this in the Jewish Hebrew Scriptures that find their fulfilled in the Christian Greek Scriptures.

To this day, the two relevant texts quoted above and many other similar texts remain in the treasured Scriptures of the Jews, a people who do not believe that God has a unique Son any more than the Muslims do. The doctrine of Jesus as the unique Son of God is as fervently rejected by the Jews as it is by the Muslims. It is rejected even more so by the Jews as they do not believe in Jesus at all, whereas the Muslims at least acknowledge that he is a true prophet. Yet, the very texts foretelling the coming of God's Son into the world remain intact in the Jewish Scriptures. Why did not the Jews obliterate these texts to suit their purposes?

When Muslims claim that the Jews distorted their Scriptures, should not the verses that points to the unique Sonship of Jesus be among the first to be removed or falsified by them? Yet, we do not find that to be the case. The Jewish Bible is exactly the same as the Old Testament Jewish Scriptures which are integrated in the Christian Bible. Could the Jews and Christians have conspired to change their Scriptures identically? Is it possible when the Jews and Christians differ so conspicuously in their beliefs? Besides the fact that God would prevent and never allow such alterations from taking place, the circumstances itself would render such an attempt impossible.

We will now look at another piece of evidence that proves why the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament) could not have been falsified as Muslims try to claim. About two centuries before the time of Jesus Christ, the whole text from the original Hebrew Scriptures was translated into the Greek language. This translation is known as the Septuagint and was widely distributed in the Greek speaking world. This translation in Greek would have had to be changed identically along with its Hebrew counterpart, if indeed the Hebrew Scriptures were changed. However, we find no such supporting evidences. To this day this Greek translation is thoroughly consistent with the oldest Hebrew Massoretic texts that have been preserved by the Jews and which are displayed in various museums. This proves that the Scriptures of the Bible were never corrupted and it continues to remain as the authenticity Word of God.

Bevan-Jones, Christianity Explained to Muslims, p. 19:

> It only remains to point out that it would have been utterly impossible for the Jews and the Christians to have effected this kind of textual corruption at or about the time of Muhammad, for the following very good reasons: By that period they were spread over the whole of the known world and could not have met together to agree to do this thing. ….Then, too, the Jews and the Christians were, unfortunately, mutually hostile; so that the one party would have promptly exposed any alterations or perversions by the other.

The Jewish Scriptures has been in the possessions of both the Jews and the Christians throughout the world ever since the time of Christ. A falsification of any portion of the text would involve a worldwide conspiracy between every single Jew who owns the Hebrew Scriptures and every single Christian who owns a Bible. Try to figure out if this possible.

QUESTIONS FOR MUSLIMS

If Muslims are serious in their claim that the Bible is corrupted and therefore is no longer the authentic Word of God, then they must be able to answer the questions provided below:

(1) When, and up to what period of time in history was the true uncorrupted Bible in circulation?

(2) Where are the uncorrupted Bibles now to give evidence of the corruption of the Bibles we have today?

(3) Is it not true that to prove that the dollar somebody holds is forged, you have to have the authentic dollar to compare it with the forged dollar?

(4) Do Muslims have the "authentic Bible" to compare it with the Bible that we have today?

(5) Since the entire Muslim world is unable to produce a single copy of the alleged "original Bible," does it not then prove that the claim that the Bible is corrupted is totally unsubstantiated?

(6) If Christians and Jews have two different religions, what is the purpose of their conspiracy to corrupt their own Scriptures?

(7) Why would Christians corrupt their own Scriptures?

(8) What is the motive of the Jews and Christians for corrupting their own Scriptures?

The ancient copies of the entire Bible, which are called the Codices, date back centuries before the arrival of Islam in early Seventh Century C.E. Provided below are the most well-known Codices:

(1) Septuagint (Second Century B.C.E.) is the earliest translation of the complete Hebrew Scriptures into Greek. This translation is kept in the British Museum.

(2) The Codex Vaticanus (Fourth Century C.E.) is kept at the Vatican Library in Rome.
(3) The Codex Sinaiticus (Fourth Century C.E.) is kept in the British Museum.
(4) The Codex Alexandrinus (Fifth Century C.E.) is kept in the British Museum.
All these ancient Codices were in existence long before the arrival of the Qur'an. And all these different manuscripts confirm the authenticity of the Bible that we have today. The existence of the manuscripts such as the Septuagint, the Codex Vaticanus, the Codex Sinaiticus and the Codex Alexandrinus, testifies that the Bible in our possession has remained the same since the time it was revealed. It is the same today as it was centuries before the Qur'an was revealed. These manuscripts serves as the authoritative document against which translations can be checked to ensure that present day Christians are guided accurately with the inspired message of Jehovah their God.
Muslims provide no dates when the supposed changing took place. No names of the places where the supposed changing was initiated. No names of those responsible for the changes. And no copies of the supposedly original Bible. Yet they audaciously assume it happened. To believe that the Bible is corrupted is to believe a great deception that will hinder Muslims from reading and discovering the wonderful truth of God within its pages. Nowhere in the Qur'an is the Bible described as being textually corrupted. If there were any evidence of actual textual corruption (tahrif), Muslims would have eagerly produced them right away.
In "The Book of Monotheism" which is part of his Sahih, Imam Al-Bukhari explains the meaning of "tahrif" as follows:

> "Tahrif" means alteration*. However, no one can alter any* written character in a book of God. Tahrif was done to the text in the sense of twisting its meaning (misinterpreting it)."

Since "no one can alter any written character in a book of God," Muslims have to resort to deception to accuse the Bible of corruption. They deviously use the Qur'anic verses that tell how the Jews misrepresented the meaning of some verses to imply textual corruption. Thus, the verses in the Qur'an that Muslims try to use to charge the Bible with textual corruption are only dishonest attempts to mislead sincere seekers of Truth. Since the Qur'an persistently and consistently upholds the integrity of the Bible, it will be contradicting itself if there are even slight hints of textual corruption of the Bible within its pages. An honest reading of the Qur'an proves that from the very beginning of Islam, Muhammad accepted the Bible as the unchanged Word of God.

Logically, if the Bible was ever the Word of God, then God would never allow it to become corrupted at a later time. And since the Qur'an acknowledges that the Torah, the Gospel and the rest of the Scriptures of the Bible that were given to the Jews and Christians are the Words of Allah, then this rules out the possibility of any changes occurring in the Bible at a later period of time. Therefore, for any changes to occur in the Bibles would mean that the Qur'an is not the Word of God. Since Muslims know this, why do they then insist persistently that the Bible has been changed? The reason they do this is because they are caught in a dilemma. It is a lose, lose situation for Muslims. They stand to lose if the Bible is corrupted and they stand to lose if it is not. Either option spells disaster for Islam and the Qur'an.

Muhammad died in 632 C.E. Accusations that the Bible had become corrupted did not arise during the first four centuries following Muhammad's death. Islamic sources reveal that it was not until 1064 C.E. – more than 430 years later – that the first allegation of Bible corruption was made by Ibn-Khazem (b. 994 C.E.-1064 C.E.). It was only with Ibn-Khazem that the charge of falsification was first made during the 11th century C.E. This charge was concocted by Ibn-Khazem in a desperate effort to defend Islam's integrity against Christianity when he came upon many serious contradictions between the Qur'an and the Bible. To reconcile the differences in favor of the Qur'an, he deviously accused the Bible of corruption. Thus, the belief that the Bible is corrupted did not originate with the teachings of Allah, Muhammad or the Qur'an.

Muslims, who maintain that the Bible was changed after the time of Muhammad, fail to acknowledge that this charge contradicts the claim of the Qur'an to be the guardian of the earlier Scriptures. To believe in the corruption of the Torah, the Gospel and the other Scriptures of the Bible is to charge the Qur'an with failure in its role to act as the guardian of the Bible. (Surah 5:48) And recall that Allah himself promised to protect all his inspired Messages which he gave to mankind. (Surah 15:9) Therefore, if any claim is made that the Bible is changed, it must then be concluded that the Qur'an and Allah are not to be trusted.

From the evidences provided so far in this article, there is no justification for Muslims to reject the Bible. Muslims do not have a valid reason to reject the Bible because the Qur'an itself testifies to its integrity. The logic concerning the integrity of the Bible is quite simple and inevitable. If the Bible is truly corrupted, then the Qur'an's testimony to its integrity must be wrong. Since Muslims cannot accept the Qur'an to be wrong, then they must accept the Bible to be right in order for their Qur'an to be true. Thus, it is logically consistent for Muslims to accept the Bible as the uncorrupted Word of God.

Let us now consider the commentary by an early Muslim theologian on his views concerning the alleged corruption of the Bible. Fakhr al-Din al-Razi (1149 C.E. – 1209 C.E.) is a well-known and respected Persian Sunni Muslim theologian and philosopher. He made this statement on the authority of Ibn Abbas, a paternal cousin of Prophet Muhammad:

> "The Jew and early Christians were suspected of altering the text of the Tawrat and Injil; but in the opinion of eminent doctors and theologians, it was not practicable thus to corrupt the text, because those Scriptures were generally known and widely circulated, having been handed down from generation to generation. No interpolation could therefore be made in them*, although it is admitted that some people used to conceal their true sense and interpretation." (Sayyid Ahmad, THE MOHAMMEDAN COMMENTARY on the HOLY BIBLE, 7th discourse, p.81)*

This commentary by a prominent Sunni Muslim theologian clearly shows that it is impossible to alter the Scriptures of the Jews and Christians. The solid reason is "because those Scriptures were generally known and widely circulated." The eminent doctors and theologians of Islam testify that it is "not practicable to corrupt the text." These are their very words.

Not practicable means: not feasible, not realistic, not possible, not workable, not practical, not viable, not achievable and not doable. In short, it means it is utterly impossible to corrupt the Bible.
Additionally they also stated that "no interpolation could therefore be made in them." In other words, no intrusions can be made in them. Therefore, no alterations of the texts could be made in the Bible by the deliberate insertion of foreign or unauthorized materials.
It is interesting to note that the Jews and Christians were only looked upon with suspicion of having altered their Scriptures. The fact that the Jews and Christians were only suspected reveals that Islam does not have a single shred of evidence to validate the claim that the Jews and the Christians actually corrupted their Scriptures. This substantiates the truth that Muslims do not have a single piece of tangible evidence such as the actual textual corruption of the Scriptures to charge the Jews and Christians of corrupting their Scriptures.
And even the grounds for suspicion were shown to be unfounded because in the admission of these eminent doctors and theologians of Islam "it was not practicable to corrupt the text." Why is it not practicable? The reason is irrefutably clear. According to these eminent doctors and theologians it is not practicable "because those Scriptures were generally known and widely circulated, having been handed down from generation to generation. No interpolation could therefore be made in them." Thus, Islam's own conclusion proves that "it was not practicable to corrupt the text."
But what is more important is the fact that this confirms the undeniable truth that there are no teachings of the corruption of the Holy Bible in the Qur'an. Should teachings of the corruption of the Bible exist in the Qur'an, it would have strongly influenced the opinion of these eminent doctors and theologians of Islam. And they would not have said that "it was not practicable to corrupt the text" and "no interpolation could be made in them." They would not dare to contradict the Qur'an. Therefore, Muslims who boldly claim that the Jews and Christians corrupted the Bible are really treading on thin ice when they say this.
Sincere Muslims should be glad with evidences provided here because they prove the Qur'an to be right when it says that "none can change the Word of God." And this means, the Bible that we have today is the authentic, unchanged Word of God. Muslims do not have any valid grounds to reject the Bible since the claim that it was corrupted cannot be supported by the teachings of the Qur'an. Therefore, in harmony with the teachings of the Qur'an, Muslims should accept the Bible as the authentic Word of God. And it truly is.

DIVINE WARNINGS IN THE HOLY BIBLE

God severely warns anyone who tries to change his inspired Word – the Holy Bible. As the author, God holds the eternal copyright. Jehovah strictly forbids the addition or removal of anything from his inspired Word.

> Deuteronomy 4:2: "You shall not add unto the Word which I command you, neither shall you take anything away from it, that you may keep the commandments of Jehovah your God which I command you."

The Bible ends with this warning in the last chapter of the final book of the Bible. In the Book of Revelation this warning is given to us:

> Revelation 22:18-19: "I am bearing witness to everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone makes an addition to these things, God will add to him the plagues that are written in this book. And if anyone takes anything away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God will take his portion away from the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things that are written in this book."

The Bible is the final revelation of God to man. The Bible itself testifies to this truth. In fact, it is the only true revelation of God. The Book of Revelation has sealed all messages and revelations. No man is to add any further messages or revelations to the Bible. And no man should subtract from it. Christianity is the final revelation.

> Jude 3: "I found it necessary to write you to urge you to put up a hard fight for the faith that was once for all time delivered to the holy ones."

The Bible is the complete and final Book of God. Genesis is the Book of the Beginning in the Bible and Revelation is the Book of the End. The connection between Genesis and Revelation is truly remarkable. Revelation completes all that Genesis begins.

In Genesis we have Satan's first appearance, and in Revelation his final destruction. In Genesis we learn how Paradise was lost, and in Revelation we learn how Paradise is restored. In Genesis we learn how sin entered into world, and in Revelation we learn how sin is removed. In Genesis we learn how death came to the human race, and in Revelation we learn how death is removed. There are many more parallels such as these. These things cannot be said of any other book outside the Bible. The Qur'an does not fit into this equation. The Bible is the standard by which we judge the truthfulness of everything else. The Qur'an, which came centuries later, blasphemously attempts to add to the revelations of the Bible. Thus, the Qur'an fails the test of the Scripture in Revelation 22:18-19. Therefore, it cannot be a final revelation of God. It is not supposed to be. Since the Bible is God's complete and final revelation to men, it repeatedly warns against those who claim to have received other revelations from God.

> Galatians 1:8-9: But, even if we, or an angel from heaven, were to declare any other gospel to you than what we have declared to you, let him be accursed. As we have said before, so now I say again, if anyone declares any other gospel to you than what you received, let him be accursed.

Those who claim to bring new revelations in addition to the Bible not only contradict and deny the Bible but are condemned by it. We are assured by Jehovah, blessed be his name, that to time indefinite the Bible will be kept pure and above the reach of those who intend to tarnish it.

> Psalm 119:89: "Forever, O Jehovah, Your Word is firmly fixed in the heavens*."*

The Bible is a comprehensive guidance for mankind:

> 2 Timothy 3:16-17: "All Scripture is given by the inspiration of God and is profitable for teaching, for reproving, for setting things straight, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be fully competent, completely equipped for every good work."

The Bible is God's gift to mankind. It reveals the mind of God. There is no greater wealth than the Word of God. As such, it will be preserved at all times. And God has promised to do just that.

> Psalm 12:6-7: The sayings of Jehovah are pure sayings, As silver refined in a smelting furnace of earth, clarified seven times. You yourself, O Jehovah, will guard them. You will preserve each one from this generation to time indefinite*.*

The Bible is like a piece of pure gold. It holds within itself the proof of its purity. It stands on its own merits. It is the product of Jehovah, the Grand Creator. As such, it does not need the Qur'an to verify its authenticity. However, since the Qur'an is the earliest record which details the beliefs and practices of the early Muslims, it is used here exclusively for historical purposes to show Muslims that their own sources support the authenticity and reliability of the Bible. Therefore, the Qur'an's testimony to the authenticity of the Bible must stand to benefit, not Christians, but Muslims themselves. While the Qur'an is an outstanding witness to the integrity of the Christian Bible, Muslims will stand to benefit only if they accept the evidences of the Qur'an. Only if they accept the indisputable evidences which prove the integrity of the Holy Bible.

A WARNING FROM ALLAH

Allah warns Muslims. He warns Muslims to stop spreading lies about his divine Books. One such lie is the claim by Muslims that some of his divine Books have been altered. If you are a Muslim, it is crucial for you to seriously consider Allah's stern warning to all those who spread malicious lies about the integrity of the Bible:

> Surah 40:70-72: Those who gave the lie to this Book and all the Books which We had sent with Our Messengers shall soon come to know the Truth when fetters and chains shall be on their necks, and they shall be dragged into boiling water, and cast into the Fire. (Maududi)

THE MUSLIM DILEMMA

Since the Qur'an and the Bible disagree on essential issues, they both cannot be right. Logic demands that one has to be in error. Muslims claim that since the Bible does not harmonize with the teachings of the Qur'an, the Bible must have been corrupted. However, the Qur'an in Surah 10:94 recognizes the Bible as the measurement of truth upon which the integrity of the Qur'an is evaluated. To overcome his doubts, even Muhammad was commanded to learn from Christians who studied the Bible, in order to verify the truth regarding the authenticity of the Scriptures. Thus, the Bible serves as a final authority to evaluate the Scriptures of Allah. The Qur'an cannot evaluate the very authority that evaluates it.

Since the Bible is the measurement of truth upon which the Qur'an is measured, it leads us to the inevitable conclusion that whenever and wherever the Bible and the Qur'an disagree, the Qur'an must be in error. In other words, the Qur'an is in error whenever it contradicts the Bible. And there are numerous errors in the Qur'an concerning a myriad of doctrinal issues because the Qur'an contradicts the Bible on these matters. To name a few, the Qur'an is in error concerning the identity of Jesus as the Son of God, the atoning value of his sacrifice and even the manner of his death.

If the Bible was the Word of God at the time when it was revealed and has been changed at a later date, then it means the Qur'an is wrong and has a mistake in it because it clearly teaches that the Word of God can never be changed. Having clarified this, let us analyze what this actually means for Muslims.

- If the Bible has been changed then the Qur'an is not true.
- If the Bible is not changed then the Qur'an is true.
- If the Bible is not changed, then it must be the authentic Word of God.
- If the Bible is the authentic Word of God, then the Qur'an is not true because it contradicts the Bible.

The Qur'an is wrong even when it is right. This is the dilemma for Muslims. It is lose, lose situation for them. Since the Qur'an confirms the Bible as the Word of God, while at the same time contradicting its essential teachings, the Qur'an must be rejected. There cannot be two conflicting sets of truths.

Sadly for Muslims, if there are changes in the Bible, then it proves that the Qur'an is not the Word of God. And if there are no changes in the Bible, then it also proves that the Qur'an is not the Word of God. Muslims must think deeply about this unavoidable conclusion. And yet, this is not the end of the matter.

A FINAL THOUGHT FOR MUSLIMS TO CONTEMPLATE

There is an old English proverb which says, "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones." It means that we should be careful how we treat others because they could easily do likewise to us.

Muslims should not forget their own vulnerability and "throw stones" at Christians by criticizing their sacred Scriptures. Rather, they should look into their own backyard first. It will be sensible for Muslims to seriously consider what the Qur'an itself reveals about the Qur'an:

> Surah 15:90-93: Like as We sent down on the dividers, Those who made the Qur'an into shreds*. So, by your Lord, We would most certainly question them all, As to what they did. (Shakir)*
> Just as We sent down to the separatists. Those who made the Qur'an obsolete*. By your Lord, we will question them all. About what they used to do. (Talal A. Itani)*
> Even as We sent down on the dividers, who reduced the Qur'an into pieces*, by your Lord, We will question them all concerning what they used to do. (Ali Quli Qara'i)*

Yes! The Qur'an admits it has been tampered with. And in addition to this admission in the Qur'an, authentic Islamic sources also confirm that the Qur'an has been corrupted.

Abdullah bin Umar, the son of Caliph Umar stated:

> "Let no one of you say that he has acquired the entire Qur'an for how does he know that it is all? Much of the Qur'an has been lost*, thus let him say, 'I have acquired of it what is available.'" (Suyuti: Itqan, part 3, page 72)*

This fact is also confirmed by Ubay ibn Ka'b who was a very close Companion of Muhammad:

> "*This famous companion asked one of the Muslims, 'How many verses in the chapter of the Parties?' He said, 'Seventy-two or seventy-three verses.' He (Ubay) told him, '*It used to be almost equal to the chapter of the Cow (about 286 verses) and included the verse of the stoning.' The man asked, 'What is the verse of the stoning?' He said, 'If an old man or woman committed adultery, stone them to death."' (Suyuti: Itqan, part 3, page 72)

Very appropriately, Allah cautions the Muslims:

> Surah 5:101*:"O ye who believe!* Ask not of things which, if they were made known unto you, would trouble you." (Pickthall)

In conclusion, we would like to emphasize to our readers that our reason for using the Qur'an is not that we believe in it but because Muslims believe in it. But after using the Qur'an to prove to the Muslims that the Bible is the authentic Word of God, we will then use the Bible to prove to them why the Qur'an cannot be the Word of God. We will do this because we love Muslims. They need to know the truth.

If you as a Muslim find this article offensive, please be assured it is a work of love. The article is intently written in an assertive manner so as to thaw you from the years of lies that you have been fed from infancy. Sometimes strong words are necessary to thaw the permafrost like condition of the Muslim mind. Though this article may understandably upset you, but please remember that the ones telling such truths are in reality the best friends of Muslims.

Now that we have come to the end of the article, we will restate an important fact concerning the authorship of the Holy Bible. We know for a certainty that Allah is neither the author nor the inspiration behind the Holy Bible. However, for the duration of this article we had to go along with the Qur'an's claim that Allah revealed the Bible to mankind. It was a necessary approach that had to be employed to prove to Muslims that their own sacred book confirms the integrity of the Holy Bible. However before we conclude, it is absolutely necessary to clearly identify the true Author of the Holy Bible. We will end this article by referring to a profound verse in the Bible that clearly identifies the true Author of the Holy Bible.

> Psalms 83:18: "May people know that you, whose name is Jehovah, You alone are the Most High over all the earth."

And to this, we say:

> *"*Blessed be his glorious name to time indefinite. And let his glory fill the whole earth. Amen and Amen." (Psalms 72:19)

[5] Jesus sub-divided the Old Testament into three basic categories:

> Luke 24:44: He (Jesus) now said to them: "These are my words which I spoke to you while I was yet with you, that all the things written in the Law of Moses and in the Prophets and Psalms about me must be fulfilled."

[6] The Qur'an testifies that Muhammad underwent an episode of inner spiritual crisis giving rise to doubts. This was especially true when he lost hope of performing miracles. Thus, Allah found it necessary to reprimand him in Surah 11:12:

> Perhaps you are leaving part of what has been sent down to you, and your chest is straitened by it, because they say: 'Why has no treasure been sent down to him, or an angel come with him?' You are only a warner and Allah is a Guardian over everything. (Qaribullah)

And in Surah 6:35, Muhammad incurs a rebuke from Allah:

> And if their aversion is grievous unto thee, then, if thou canst, seek a way down into the earth or a ladder unto the sky that thou mayst bring unto them a portent (to convince them all)! – If Allah willed, He could have brought them all together to the guidance – So be not thou among the foolish ones. (Pickthall)

And Muhammad was made to confess in Surah 46:9:

> Say: "I am no new thing among the messengers (of Allah), nor know I what will be done with me or with you. I do but follow that which is inspired in me, and I am but a plain warner." (Pickthall)

In Surah 6:50, Muhammad made the following reply to those who had asked him for a miracle:

> Say (O Muhammad, to the disbelievers): "I say not unto you (that) I possess the treasures of Allah, nor that I have knowledge of the Unseen; and I say not unto you: Lo! I am an angel. I follow only that which is inspired in me." (Pickthall)

And in Surah 7:188, Muhammad is instructed to declare:

> Say: "For myself I have no power to benefit, nor power to hurt, save that which Allah willeth. Had I knowledge of the Unseen, I should have abundance of wealth, and adversity would not touch me. I am but a warner, and a bearer of good tidings unto folk who believe." (Pickthall)

The Quran's Entire View of the Injil/New Testament: Each Verse that Mentions

The Quran affirms the inspiration, preservation, and authority of the Gospel. And yet Muslims say that the Gospel has been corrupted. They continue insisting that the Quran says something completely different from what it actually says. Since they haven't read the Quran, they always seem to assume that there must be some verse somewhere in the Quran that says the Gospel has been corrupted. Because, that's what their Imams tell them it says. Fortunately, there is a way to settle this dispute and see who's right and who's been deceived by lying Imams. In this chapter, we're going to read every single verse in the Quran that mentions the Gospel. Now to ensure careful reasoning as we go through these verses let's set up two hypotheses here at the beginning and then we'll go through the Quran and see which hypothesis is confirmed by the evidence.

1/ My hypothesis, we will call it the D-wood hypothesis, is this:

According to the Quran, Allah gave different revelations to different groups of people through different prophets, and those different groups are responsible for obeying the scriptures that were revealed to them. Christians received the Gospel through Jesus. The Gospel is still reliable and authoritative, and Christians are commanded to judge by the Gospel, not by the Quran.

If the D-wood hypothesis is correct Muslims face two major problems:

First, the Quran sounds like it's saying that Allah gave a book called the Gospel to Jesus and that Jesus then gave this book to his followers. The Quran says that Christians still have the Gospel and that Christians have to judge by the Gospel. Since Christians have never had a book that was given by Jesus, Allah apparently doesn't know what he is talking about.

Second, in the Quran Allah seems to think that the Gospel that Christians still have agrees with the Quran, when it clearly doesn't. Since Allah affirms our scriptures, when our scriptures contradict the Quran Allah once again doesn't know what he's talking about.

So, that's the David Wood's hypothesis, and those are the two main problems for Islam if the David Wood's hypothesis is correct.

2/ The Muslim hypothesis. We'll call it the standard Islamic narrative:

According to the Quran, Allah gave different Revelations to different groups of people, but they were all corrupted, except the Quran. Christians received the Gospel through Jesus, but they corrupted it. The Gospel is not reliable or authoritative, and Christians must now judge by the Quran not by the Gospel.

That is what you believe taught by your Imams. There's just one problem with the standard Islamic narrative- the Quran. Let's go through the Quran and read every single verse that mentions the Gospel so we can see which hypothesis is correct.

There are only 12 verses that mention the Gospel in Quran: 3:3, 3:48, 3:65, 5:46, 5:47, 5:66, 5:68, 5:110, 7:157, 9:111, 48:29, and 57:27. Some of these verses are clear on their own, so we can read those on their own. Some of the verses require a bit of context, for those we'll read some of the surrounding context. Let's confirm a hypothesis and disconfirm another hypothesis.

First up Surah 3 verse 3. We'll read verses 2-4 for context. [third brackets [ ] are used for clarification for this book's context wherever it is used]:

God, there is no God but He, the Living, the Self-Subsisting. He sent down the Book upon thee in truth, confirming what was before it, [so the Quran confirms what came before it] and He sent down the Torah and the Gospel aforetime, as a guidance to mankind. And he sent down the Criterion. Truly those who disbelieve in the signs of God shall have a severe punishment. And God is Mighty Possessor of Vengeance.

There are a few interesting pieces of evidence here. Surah 3 verse 3 obviously affirms the inspiration of the Gospel. It says that "He sent down the Torah and the Gospel". The verse says that the Quran confirms what was before it by saying "confirming what was before it" and then clarifies that it's referring to earlier revelations. English translations obscure another important piece of evidence here- when the Quran is said to confirm what was before it, does this just mean before it in time? Is the Quran only saying that the Torah and the Gospel were reliable when they were originally revealed but not necessarily later? Or does it mean something much more significant? Well, the Arabic phrase translated as 'before it' is 'ma bayna yadayhi' which literally means between his hands. When used as an idiom 'ma bayna yadayhi' can mean in his presence or its presence. So, it doesn't sound like the Quran is verifying books that came before it, but were subsequently corrupted. It sounds like the Quran is verifying books that were still available as it was being revealed. Verse 4 says that Allah revealed the Gospel as a guidance to mankind. This means that Muslims who say that the Gospel was corrupted early on by someone like the apostle Paul are telling us that Allah failed. Because, if they're right- the Gospel was corrupted and didn't guide mankind. Finally, we have Allah warning people that "Truly those who disbelieve in his signs [which here refers to his Revelations] shall have a severe punishment". So, if Allah is affirming not only the inspiration, but also the preservation and authority of the Gospel. Those Muslims who say the Gospel has been corrupted, they're going to face a severe punishment from Allah. With such a terrifying warning you'd think Muslims would investigate this issue a bit more carefully. Putting all of these pieces of evidence together Allah says that he revealed the Gospel by saying "He sent down the Torah and Gospel". He says that the Quran confirms the Gospel by saying "confirming what was before it". He seems to indicate via the Arabic phrase 'ma bayna yadayhi' that the Quran confirms texts that were still available in the 7th century. And he says that the Gospel was to be a guidance for mankind by saying “He sent down the Torah and the Gospel aforetime, as a guidance to mankind”- not something that was going to be lost or corrupted. I think we can say definitively that Surah 3 verses 3-4 strongly support the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Next verse Surah 3 verse 48. We will start at verse 45 for context:

When the Angels said, “O Mary, truly God gives the Glad Tidings of a Word from Him, whose name is the Messiah, Jesus Son of Mary, high honored in this world and the Hereafter, and one of those brought nigh. He will speak to people in the cradle and in maturity, and will be among the righteous.” She said, “My Lord, how shall I have a child while no human being has touched me?” He said, “Thus does God create whatsoever He will.” When He decrees a thing, He only says to it, “Be!” and it is. And He will teach him the Book, Wisdom, the Torah, and the Gospel.

Verse 48 is a little confusing. Because, it sounds like it's talking about four different revelations. There's the book, and the wisdom, and the Torah, and the Gospel. So, here there seems to be a distinction between the book and other Revelations. But, that's not our concern here. Our only concern is that the angel tells Mary that Allah would teach Jesus the Gospel. Since, both the D-wood hypothesis and the standard Islamic narrative claim that according to the Quran Allah revealed the Gospel through Jesus, this verse confirms neither hypothesis over the other.

Next verse Surah 3 verse 65. We will start a verse earlier for context:

Say, “O people of the book! Come to a word common between us and you, that we shall worship none but God, shall not associate ought with Him, and shall not take one another as lords apart from God.” And if they turn away, then say, “Bear witness that we are submitters.” O People of the Book! Why do you dispute concerning Abraham, as neither the Torah nor the Gospel was sent down until after him? Do you not understand?

Sura 3 verse 65 simply says that the Torah and the Gospel were revealed after the time of Abraham. So there's nothing here that confirms either of our hypotheses over the other.

Next two verses Surah 5 verse 46 and Surah 5 verse 47:

And in their footsteps, We sent Jesus son of Mary, confirming the Torah that had come before him, and We gave him the Gospel, wherein is a guidance and a light, confirming the Torah that had come before him, as a guidance and an exhortation to the reverent. Let the people of the Gospel judge by what God has sent down therein. Whosoever judges not by that which God has sent down- it is they who are iniquitous.

Allah says that he sent Jesus confirming the Torah that had come before him by saying “confirming the Torah that had come before him”. ‘Before him’ here is ‘ma bayna yadayhi’ in Arabic, as we've seen means ‘between his hands’ or ‘in his presence’. So Jesus confirmed the Torah that was still present in his time. This is significant because we have copies of the Torah from before the time of Jesus. So we know what the Quran is confirming here. Allah says that he gave Jesus the Gospel by saying “We gave him the Gospel” and that the Gospel contains a guidance and a light by saying “wherein is a guidance and a light” and that the Gospel confirms the Torah by saying “confirming the Torah that had come before him”. Here ‘before him’ is ‘ma bayna yadayhi’ in Arabic meaning ‘between his hands’ or ‘in his presence’. It also says the Torah contains a “guidance and an exhortation”. Notice the similarity to Surah 3 verses 3-4 where Allah said that the Quran confirmed the Torah and the Gospel that were still available when the Quran was revealed and he said that the Torah and the Gospel were given as guidance to mankind. Here in Surah 5 verse 46 Allah says that he revealed the Gospel. He says that the Gospel confirms the Torah that was still available when Quran was revealed. And he says that the Gospel and the Torah contain a guidance. I have to point out to Muslims that, if this is Allah trying to say that the Torah and the Gospel have been corrupted, he's doing a really bad job of it. Then we have Allah's command and warning in Surah 5 verse 47. So Allah says “Let the people of the Gospel judge by what God has sent down therein.” Allah commands Christians to judge not by the Quran, but by what he has sent down in the Gospel. Then he gives us a stern warning “Whosoever judges not by that which God has sent down- it is they who are iniquitous.” If we don't judge by the Gospel, then we are iniquitous- we're immoral. There's a fundamental principle in ethics: ‘ought’ implies ‘can’. If I say you ought to do something, if I say you have a moral obligation to do something, I'm assuming that you can do it, I'm assuming that you have the ability to do it. It would make no sense for me to command you to do something that you can't possibly do. If I tell you, you have a moral obligation to give a million dollars to charity right now, that command only makes sense if you have a million dollars. If you don't have a million dollars, I'm commanding you to do something you can't possibly do. And it's absurd to say you have an obligation to do something you can't possibly do. So, when Allah commands Christians to judge by the Gospel and tells us that ‘we're iniquitous if we don't’, Allah's command assumes that we still have the Gospel. If we don't have the Gospel, because it's been lost or corrupted, Allah's command makes no sense.

Because he would be commanding us to do something that we can't possibly do. Putting all these lines of evidence together we can say that Surah 5 verses 46 to 47 strongly confirm the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Next two verses Surah 5 verse 66 and Surah 5 verse 68. We'll start at verse 65 for context:

Had the People of the Book believed and been reverent, We would surely have absolved them of their evil deeds, and caused them to enter Gardens of bliss. Had they observed the Torah and the Gospel and that which was sent down unto them from their Lord, they would surely have received nourishment from above them and from beneath their feet. There is a moderate community among them; but as for many of them, evil is that which they do! O messenger! Convey that which has been sent down unto thee from thy Lord, and if thou dost not, thou wilt not have conveyed His message. And God will protect thee from mankind. Surely God guides not disbelieving people. Say, "O people of the book! You stand on naught till you observe the Torah and the Gospel, and that which has been sent down unto you from your Lord." Surely that which has been sent down unto thee from thy Lord will increase many of them in rebellion and disbelief. So grieve not for disbelieving people.

Here we have a common theme in the Quran that Jews and Christians don't believe or aren't reverent. "Had they observed the Torah and the Gospel and that which was sent down unto them from their Lord", something we can only do if we still have the Torah and the Gospel "they would surely have received nourishment from above them and from beneath their feet". Another theme in the Quran is that there is a minority of Jews and Christians who do believe and who obey God referring to "There is a moderate community among them". The Quran's criticism of Jews and Christians is not that we have corrupt scriptures, it's never that we have corrupt scriptures. The Quran's criticism of Jews and Christians is that we don't obey our scriptures. If you think I'm wrong look at what Allah says in verse 68. "O People of the Book! You stand on not till you observe the Torah and the Gospel, and that which has been sent down unto you from your Lord." Jews and Christians have nothing to stand on until we obey the Torah and the Gospel. Remember 'ought' implies 'can'. Can we obey the Torah and the Gospel if we don't have the Torah and the Gospel? No. So, Allah is declaring yet again that we still have the Torah and the Gospel and he's commanding us yet again to obey the Torah and the Gospel. And it's clear yet again that Jews and Christians are supposed to judge by the revelations that were given to us not by the Quran. Surah 5 verses 66 and 68 much like verses 46 to 47 strongly favor the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Next verse Surah 5 verse 110 we'll start at verse 109 for context:

The day when God will gather The messengers and say, "What response did you receive? they will say, "We have no knowledge. Truly it is Thou Who knowest best the things unseen." Then God will say, "O Jesus son of Mary! Remember My Blessing upon thee, and upon thy mother, when I strengthened thee with the Holy Spirit, that thou mightest speak to people in the cradle and in maturity; and when I taught thee the Book, Wisdom, the Torah and the Gospel; and how thou wouldst create out of clay the shape of a bird, by My Leave, and thou wouldst breathe into it, and it would become a bird, by My Leave, and thou wouldst heal the blind and the leper, by my Leave; and thou wouldst bring forth the dead, by My Leave; and how I restrained the Children of Israel from thee, when thou didst bring them clear proofs, and those who disbelieved among them said, 'This is not but manifest sorcery.'

Allah saying that he taught Jesus "the Book, Wisdom, the Torah and, the Gospel". So this is simply Allah telling Jesus to remember what happened and it's very similar to what the angel said to Mary in Surah 3 verse 48. Nothing new here that confirms one hypothesis over the other.

Next verse Surah 7 verse 157 will start part of the way through verse 156 for context.

[This passage is way too long to give the complete context so I'll just summarize. The passage is about Moses going up the mountain to receive the tablets. Aaron makes a golden calf. Moses comes back down the mountain and he's angry. Allah is angry. Moses tells Allah that he shouldn't punish them, because Allah is the one who chooses to lead people astray or guide them and Moses finally says: can't you just prescribe good for us. Then we have Allah's response starting in verse 156.]

He said, "I cause my Punishment to smite whomsoever I will, though My Mercy encompasses all things. I shall prescribe it for those who are reverent, and give alms, and those who believe in Our signs, those who follow the Messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find inscribed in the Torah and the Gospel that is with them, who enjoins upon them what is right, and forbids them what is wrong, and makes good things lawful for them, and forbids bad things, and relieves them of their burden and the shackles that were upon them. Thus those who believe in him, honor him, help him, and follow the light that has been sent down with him; it is they who shall prosper."

This is very confusing, because Allah is saying this to Moses. Moses asks Allah to be merciful after Aaron made an idol and Allah replies to Moses that he will show Mercy to "those who follow the Messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find inscribed in the Torah and the Gospel that is with them". Most Muslims are convinced that this is referring to Muhammad. So this must have been extremely confusing to Moses. Moses would have no clue what the Gospel is, and he'd have no clue who Muhammad was. Notice what Allah says at the end of verse 157. This is supposedly referring to Muhammad, Allah says that "those who believe in him, [believe in Muhammad] honor him, help him, and follow the light that has been sent down with him; it is they who shall prosper." So, Moses says can't you be merciful? And Allah replies I'm only going to be merciful to people who believe in Muhammad, and honor him, and help him. Considering Muhammad wasn't born for another 2,000 years, this would be no small task for Moses and his followers. We can only conclude if we're being generous that Allah's response to Moses was meant for Muhammad's listeners when this verse was eventually revealed. Since, this was revealed during the time of Muhammad the part that's relevant for us is this- "those who follow the Messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find inscribed in the Torah and the Gospel that is with them". This verse claims that Muhammad is prophesied in the Torah and the Gospel. More importantly Muhammad is supposedly prophesied in the Torah and the Gospel "that is with them". According to Surah 7 verse 157, when the Quran refers to the Torah and the Gospel it's referring to the Torah and the Gospel that Jews and Christians still have with them. If Allah says he's confirming the Torah and the Gospel that are with Jews and Christians, and if we're supposed to take the Torah and the Gospel seriously, as sources of divine prophecy, we obviously can't believe that they've been corrupted. So Surah 7 verse 157 strongly confirms the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Next verse Surah 9 verse 111:

Truly God has purchased from the Believers their souls and their wealth in exchange for the Garden being theirs. They fight in the way of God, slaying and being slain. (It is) a promise binding upon Him in the Torah, the Gospel and the Quran. And who is truer to His pact than God? So rejoice in the bargain you have made. That indeed is the great triumph.

This verse says that in exchange for Allah giving believers paradise, they fight for him- slaying and being slain. So, if you fight for Allah you know that he's going to keep his end of the bargain. Allah says that this promise is “binding upon Him in the Torah the Gospel and the Quran”. I have no idea which verse of the Gospel is supposed to confirm this agreement, but Allah says it's there in the Gospel. So, he confirms that the Gospel is still available. It wouldn't make much sense to say that people should believe in a promise they find in a corrupt book. But since there isn't much here to go on I'll just say that this verse somewhat favors the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Next verse Surah 48 verse 29:

Muhammad is the Messenger of God. Those who are with him are harsh against the disbelievers, merciful to one another. You see them bowing, prostrating, seeking bounty from God and contentment; their mark upon their faces is from the effect of prostration. That is their likeness in the Torah. And their likeness in the Gospel is a sapling that puts forth its shoot and strengthens it, such that it grows stout and rises firmly upon its stalk, impressing the sowers, that through them He may enrage the disbelievers. God has promised forgiveness and a great reward to those among them who believe and perform righteous deeds.

So, if you're with Muhammad then you're harsh against disbelievers and only merciful towards fellow believers. That's not very tolerant. But the verse goes on to say how believers are described in the Torah and the Gospel. In the Gospel believers are compared to “a sapling that puts forth its shoot and strengthens it, such that it grows stout and rises firmly upon its stalk, impressing the sowers”. There are passages in the Gospel that say something very similar to this. This is similar to the parable of the growing seed and the parable of the mustard seed in the Gospel of Mark chapter 4:26-32. This would fit with either hypothesis I could say that the Quran is referring to what we still have here. Muslims could say that even though the Gospel was corrupted there are still parts that are true. What's relevant for our discussion is that the Quran continues to appeal to the Torah and the Gospel for confirmation of its teachings. “Their likeness in the Gospel is”, the Quran claims that this is still in the Gospel. Which means that the Gospel is still available and there's no indication here that the Gospel has been corrupted. So the Quran once again appeals to the Gospel for confirmation. It doesn't make much sense to appeal to a corrupt book for confirmation. I'll say that Surah 48 verse 29 somewhat favors the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative.

Our final verse Surah 57 verse 27:

Then we sent Our messengers to follow in their footsteps, and We sent Jesus Son of Mary, and We gave him the Gospel and placed kindness and mercy in the hearts of those who follow him. And monasticism they invented- We did not ordain it for them- only to seek God's Contentment. Yet they did not observe it with proper observance. So We gave those of them who believed their reward, yet many of them are iniquitous.

Here the Quran once again claims that the Gospel was given to Jesus by saying “We gave him the Gospel”. We have the added bonus that Allah says that he “placed kindness and mercy in the hearts of those who follow” Jesus. So, Christians are kind and merciful, according to the Quran. Allah says that Christians invented monasticism, he's saying he didn't reveal that. Instead, he told Christians to seek God's contentment. But he says Christians haven't observed that with proper observance. Notice the Quran always criticizes Christians for not obeying what he revealed in the Gospel and for inventing certain practices that he didn't command. Allah never ever condemns our scriptures or gives even the slightest hint that our scriptures can't be trusted, and we know this because we've now gone through every single Quran verse that mentions the Gospel. Since Surah 57 verse 27 fits with either of our hypotheses, we'll say that it doesn't confirm one over the other. Although we could argue that if the standard Islamic narrative were correct, Allah should be saying in all or at least some of these verses that the Gospel has been corrupted.

Returning to our two hypotheses:

The D-wood Hypothesis:

According to the Quran, Allah gave different Revelations to different groups of people through different prophets, and those different groups of people are responsible for obeying the scriptures that were revealed to them. Christians received the Gospel through Jesus. The Gospel is still reliable and authoritative, and Christians are commanded to judge by the Gospel, not by the Quran.

The Standard Islamic Narrative:

According to the Quran, Allah gave different Revelations to different groups of people, but they were all corrupted, except the Quran. Christians received the Gospel through Jesus, but they corrupted it. The Gospel is not reliable or authoritative, and Christians must now judge by the Quran, not by the Gospel.

After reading every single verse in the Quran that mentions the Gospel we've seen that four verses 3:48, 3:65, 5:110, and 57:27 confirm neither hypothesis over the other. Two verses 9:111 and 48:29 somewhat confirm the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative. And six verses 3:3, 5:46, 5:47, 5:66, 5:68, and 7:157 strongly confirm the D-wood hypothesis over the standard Islamic narrative. There isn't a single verse anywhere in the Quran that confirms the standard Islamic narrative over the D-wood hypothesis. Allah repeatedly affirms the inspiration of the Gospel. He repeatedly affirms the preservation of the Gospel. And he repeatedly affirms the authority of the Gospel. Christians are commanded to obey the Gospel. In fact, we're told that we have no ground to stand on until we obey the Gospel. Christians are criticized and condemned for not obeying the Gospel. Allah never says one word, not one word in the entire Quran that's even slightly critical of the text we have before us. And what do all of our Muslim friends say- don't believe the Gospel, don't judge by the Gospel, the Gospel has been corrupted, you can't trust the Gospel, everyone has to judge by the Quran now. They say the exact opposite of what Allah says in the Quran. And then they tell us to believe in the Quran when they clearly don't believe in it. Muslims how can you possibly tell us to respect the Quran when you don't respect the Quran at all? How can you possibly tell us to obey Allah, when you also tell us not to obey Allah? Allah tells us over and over again to obey the Gospel that Christians still have. And then Muslims say no don't obey the Gospel, because you don't have the Gospel. You're telling us that Allah is either a liar or the worst communicator in history. Why would we take the Quran seriously when according to you it was revealed by a liar? Your God affirms the inspiration, preservation and authority of our book. You tell us not to believe what your God says, but to believe your book anyway. If we can't trust your book, when it talks about our book why would we trust your book at all? A more important question for you would be this- when your God tells you one thing and you're lying Imams tell you the exact opposite why do you side with your lying Imams and not with your God? Why do you call yourselves Muslims- people who submit to God when you really submit to your lying Imams who insult and degrade your God?

Allah's word has no change:

Surah Al-Anam 6:115: And the word of your Lord has been fulfilled in truth and in justice. None can alter His words, and He is the Hearing, the Knowing.

Surah Yunus 10:64: For them are good tidings in the worldly life and the Hereafter. No change is there in the words of Allah. That is what is the great attainment.

You must have to put faith on former scriptures:

Surah An-Nisa 4:136: O you who have believed, believe in Allah and His Messenger and the Book that He sent down upon His Messenger and the Scripture which He sent down before. And whoever disbelieves in Allah, His angels, His books, His messengers, and the Last Day has certainly gone far astray.

Surah Ash-Shuraa 42:15: So to that [religion of Allah] invite, [O Muhammad], and remain on a right course as you are commanded and do not follow their inclinations but say, 'I have believed in what Allah has revealed of scripture, and I have been commanded to do justice among you. Allah is our Lord and your Lord. For us are our deeds, and for you are your deeds. There is no [need for] argument between us and you. Allah will bring us together, and to Him is the [final] destination.

Do You Then Believe in Part of the Book/Revelation?

The Qur'an affirms the inspiration, preservation, and authority of the Jewish and Christian scriptures—repeatedly and emphatically. Like a beating drum, it declares over and over that the Torah (Tawrat) and the Gospel (Injil) are reliable and true in their entirety. If one reads the Qur'an attentively, it's as if Allah Himself is asking, "How can I possibly make it any clearer to you that the Torah and the Gospel are not, have never been, and never will be corrupted?"

Yet, many of our Muslim friends insist that Allah somehow means the exact opposite of what He repeatedly says. We are here to help, by guiding our Muslim friends through the Qur'an and highlighting verses that many imams and da'wah speakers have perhaps overlooked or intentionally left out.

Let's examine what happens when we carefully read just a single verse of the Qur'an that refers to the earlier scriptures. We'll focus on Surah 2:85—but to understand it properly, we'll read from verses 83 to 86 for context. This passage addresses the Jews of Medina and may seem confusing at first without the historical background, which we'll also explore. Then we'll see how Surah 2:85 exposes the inconsistency in how some Muslims treat the Bible and the Qur'an.

■The Qur'anic Passage: Surah 2:83–86

> “And [recall] when We made a covenant with the Children of Israel: ‘Worship none but God; be good to parents, relatives, orphans, and the needy; speak kindly to people; establish prayer; and give alms.’ Then you turned away—except for a few of you—refusing [to comply]. And [recall] when We made a covenant with you: ‘Do not shed each other’s blood or expel one another from your homes.’ You admitted to this covenant and bore witness. Yet here you are—killing one another and expelling some of your own people from their homes, aiding one another in sin and aggression. And when those [banished ones] come to you as captives, you ransom them—though expelling them was unlawful for you. Do you then believe in part of the Scripture and disbelieve in the rest? So what should be the reward for those among you who do that, except disgrace in this worldly life? And on the Day of Judgment, they will be subjected to the most severe punishment. For God is never unaware of what you do.”

■Historical Context

At the time, Medina was home to three major Jewish tribes: the Banu Qaynuqa, Banu Nadir, and Banu Qurayza. The city also had two major pagan Arab tribes: al-Aws and al-Khazraj. The Jewish tribes had formed alliances with these Arab tribes—Qaynuqa and Nadir with al-Khazraj, and Qurayza with al-Aws.

When the Arab tribes went to war with each other, their Jewish allies joined them in battle, which tragically meant that Jews ended up fighting—and even killing—other Jews. Some were expelled from their homes, directly violating God's covenant. And yet, when those same fellow Jews were taken captive, they were ransomed, in obedience to another command of the Torah.

This contradictory behavior—obeying part of the Book and ignoring other parts—is precisely what Surah 2:85 condemns.

■The Qur’an’s Rebuke

The criticism in Surah 2:85 is crystal clear. Allah rebukes the Jews of Medina for selectively following only the portions of their scripture that suited them, while disregarding others. The rhetorical question Allah poses —“Do you then believe in part of the book and disbelieve in part?”—serves as a divine indictment of such inconsistency.

He then warns of the consequences: disgrace in this world and severe punishment in the Hereafter.

■Why This Matters Today

Now here’s the challenge for many Muslims today: what do nearly all da’wah preachers and imams say about the Torah and the Gospel? They claim these scriptures have been corrupted. They urge believers to accept only those parts of the Bible that agree with the Qur’an—and reject the rest.

In other words, they say: Believe in part of the Book, and disbelieve in part.

But according to the very verse we’ve just read, this is precisely the behavior for which Allah threatens His severest punishment.

The logic is unavoidable:

- The Qur’an affirms the Torah and the Gospel as inspired, preserved, and authoritative.
- It rebukes those who accept only part of the earlier scriptures.
- Yet Muslim leaders today encourage precisely such selective belief.

So, we must ask: Who are ordinary Muslims listening to? Do they follow Allah's clear words in the Qur’an, or do they follow leaders who contradict those words?

■Picking and Choosing: A Dangerous Precedent

The pattern continues. Many Muslims believe the verses of the Qur’an that affirm the inspiration of the Torah and Gospel. But they ignore or reinterpret the verses that speak of their preservation and authority. They have been taught to accept only the parts that support Islam and to discard the rest as corruption. But this is a form of “believing in part of the Book and disbelieving in part.”

So, to our Muslim friends, we humbly ask: Why do you believe in part of your own Book, and not all of it? You accept the verses that align with what you already believe, and ignore those that challenge your assumptions. What would Allah say about this?

According to the Qur’an, He has already spoken:

> “Do you then believe in part of the book and disbelieve in part? And what is the recompense of those who do so but disgrace in the life of this world—and on the Day of Resurrection, they shall be consigned to the most severe punishment.”

View from Quran: Was Jesus Crucified?

Jesus’ death by crucifixion is regarded by historians and New Testament scholars as one of the best-established facts of the ancient world. Jesus’ death isn't simply a point of Christian doctrine, it's a historical fact, as even non-Christian scholars are happy to admit.

Atheist new test scholar Gerd Ludemann author of "The Resurrection of Jesus: History, Experience, Theology" declares that “Jesus’ death as a consequence of crucifixion is indisputable”.

John Dominic Crossan of the infamous Jesus seminar and author of "Jesus: A Revolutionary Biography" says that “There is not the slightest doubt about the fact of Jesus’ crucifixion under Pontius Pilate”.

Marcus Borg another member of the Jesus seminar and author of "Jesus: Uncovering the Life, Teachings, and Relevance of a Religious Revolutionary" says that “Jesus execution is the most certain fact about the historical Jesus.”

Jewish scholar Pinchas Lapide author of "The Resurrection of Jesus: A Jewish Perspective" affirmed that “Jesus’s death by crucifixion is historically certain”.

Paula Fredriksen a convert to Judaism and author of "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews" says that “The single most solid fact about Jesus life is his death: he was executed by the Roman prefect Pilate on or around Passover in the manner Rome reserved particularly for political insurrectionists, namely crucifixion”.

Bart Ehrman author of "The New Testament: A Historical Introduction to the Early Christian Writings" maintains “One of the most certain facts of history is that Jesus was crucified on orders of the Roman prefect of Judea, Pontius Pilate”.

Notice these non-Christian scholars aren't simply saying that we have some evidence that Jesus died by crucifixion. They're saying that it's indisputable that it's historically certain that it's one of the most certain facts of History. We can only conclude that any worldview that denies Jesus death by crucifixion is simply out of touch with reality. The death of Jesus is foundational to Christianity. It was part of a divine plan.

Jesus said in Mark 10:45
(written in around 64-67 CE by Mark & Simon Peter):
For even the son of man did not come to be served but to serve and to give his life as a ransom for many.

Mark 9:31 (written in around 64-67 CE by Mark & Simon Peter)
The Son of Man is to be delivered into the hands of men, and they will kill Him; and when he has been killed he will rise three days later.

John 12:23-24 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. Very truly I tell you, unless a kernel of wheat falls to the ground and dies, it remains only a single seed. But but if it dies, it produces many seeds.

Jesus also warned his followers that false prophets were coming:

Matthew 7:15 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)
Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing, but underneath are ravenous wolves.

Now if Jesus’ death is as important as he makes it sound, do you think his death might be something a false prophet is going to deny or distort? If someone says- I have received a revelation and my revelation tells me that Jesus never died, there can be only one answer to that. We have been expecting you, because Jesus warned us about you. If someone claims to speak for God and denies the crucifixion of Jesus he might as well get a tattoo across his forehead that says- hi I'm a false prophet, don't believe anything I say ever. Muslims have been forced into this position by the Quran, or so they think. And the entire problem comes from just one verse of the Quran- Surah 4 verse 157-158: [third brackets [ ] are used in this verse for clarity for this article’s context]

That they said (in boast), [they here are a group of Jews] “We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God”;- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:- Nay, God raised him up unto Himself; and God is Exalted in Power Wise.

So, according to the Quran, some Jews were boasting about killing Jesus. Allah corrects them and says that they didn't kill him or crucify him, it only appeared to them that they had killed him and crucified him. Now what does the Quran mean when it says that the Jews didn't kill or crucify Jesus, but that they thought they did because it was made to appear to them that they did? The Quran doesn't explain, but the traditional Muslim explanation goes something like this- Jesus went around telling people to believe in God and the Torah. This upset the Jews so much that they decided to kill him. But, God had a plan. God took Jesus out of this world into heaven and miraculously disguised someone else to make him look like Jesus. And it was this other person who was crucified. But God made everyone think that it was Jesus. This is called substitution theory- the theory that Jesus was replaced by a substitute. There are numerous problems with substitution theory. Let's consider 4:

First, substitution theory portrays Allah as a cosmic trickster than like the God of the Bible. If Jesus didn't die, but Allah made people think that Jesus died, then the real reason billions of people are now convinced that Jesus died is that Allah did an outstanding job tricking everyone. Notice according to the traditional Muslim explanation, you can't trust your senses- even if you see someone die with your own eyes Allah might be tricking you. And once you have an omnipotent deceiver (al-Makir) running the universe, how do you know what to believe? How can you tell when the omnipotent deceiver you believe in is tricking you or not tricking you? Oh! Because your Prophet says so? How do you know that the omnipotent deceiver (al-Makir) you believe in isn't tricking you through your prophet?

Second, the Islamic view portrays Jesus as a total failure. The Jesus of the Quran spent years preaching Islam, only to have his life's work sabotaged by Allah Who tricked the world into believing that Jesus died by crucifixion- ultimately giving rise to Christianity. According to the Quran Jesus' followers were devout Muslims. But, they must have disappeared rather quickly without so much trace. Because there are no historical records that any Muslim followers of Jesus ever existed. So the Islamic Jesus couldn't win a single lasting Muslim convert and he accomplished absolutely nothing of any lasting significance. We respect Jesus- how- by believing that your God sabotaged his life's work!

Third, Surah 61:4 of the Quran claims that Allah aided the true followers of Jesus until they became uppermost over those who rejected Jesus:

…; then We aided those who believed against their enemy, and they became uppermost.

But, the followers of Jesus who became uppermost over those who opposed Jesus were Christians who proclaimed Jesus' death and resurrection. See the problem? Allah says he helped the true followers until they became uppermost. The followers who became uppermost believed in Jesus' death and resurrection. Muslims tell us that Jesus didn't die and that he didn't rise from the dead. So according to our Muslims, Allah aided the wrong people.

Fourth, Surah 7 verse 157 of the Quran says that Christians were still reading the Gospel during the time of Muhammad:

…, whom they find written down with them in the Taurat and Injeel ...

And Surah 5: 47 of the Quran commands Christians to judge by the Gospel:

Let the people of the Gospel judge by what God hath revealed therein. If any do fail to judge by (the light of) what God revealed, they are (no better than) those who rebel.

Since we know that the Gospel read by Christians in the 7th Century proclaimed Jesus' death by crucifixion, Muslims are contradicting the Quran- when they say that Jesus didn't die by crucifixion. See the problem? Allah affirms the Gospel- the Gospel that Christians had in the 7th Century, which is the Gospel that we still have historically with archaeological undeniable evidence (entire Manuscripts). The Gospel that we have tells us over and over again like a beating drum that Jesus died on the cross. So, how can we believe the Quran when the Quran orders us to judge by scriptures that contradict the Quran? Our Muslim friends think they can avoid this problem by saying that the Gospel was corrupted (later chapters we will know if Quran says Bible is corrupted or not, till then hold your horses). But notice if the Gospel was corrupted then Allah was ordering Christians to judge by a corrupt book. So Allah order Christians to judge by a corrupt book! According to our Muslims, Jesus never died by crucifixion. We open the Gospel and we read about Jesus dying by crucifixion. Where did people get the idea that Jesus died by crucifixion?-

From Allah who tricked people into believing that Jesus died by crucifixion. So if the Gospel was corrupted who corrupted it? According to our Muslim friends the Gospel was corrupted by the omnipotent deceiver (al-Makir) they worship. You're telling us to believe in a God who tricks billions of people for no reason and starts false religions and undermines the work of his prophets and affirms the inspiration and authority of scriptures that he corrupted. Then does the Quran really deny the crucifixion of Jesus or are Muslims misinterpreting the Quran? To be clear if you ignore everything else in the Quran Surah 4:157 does seem to deny the crucifixion of Jesus.

Surah 4 verse 157 [third brackets [ ] are used in this verse for clarity for this article's context]:

That they said (in boast), [they here are a group of Jews] "We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God";- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not

That definitely sounds like it's denying Jesus death and crucifixion and that's why most Muslims believe that Jesus didn't die and that he wasn't crucified. But watch what happens when we dig a little deeper. Surah 4: 157 is part of a passage in which Allah is rebuking a group of Jews.

(they have incurred divine displeasure): In that they broke their covenant; that they rejected the signs of God; that they slew the Apostle in defiance of right; that they said, "Our hearts are wrappings (which preserve God's Word; We need no more)"; -Nay, God hath set the seal on their hearts for their blasphemy, and little is it they believe;- That they rejected Faith; That they uttered against Mary a grave false charge; That they said (in boast), [they here are a group of Jews] "We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God";- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:- Nay, God raised him up unto Himself; and God is Exalted in Power Wise;- And there is none of the People of the Book but must believe in him before his death; and on the Day of Judgement he will be a witness against them

In Surah 4: 155 the Quran says that the Jews broke their Covenant, they killed prophets & Allah put a seal on their hearts because of their blasphemy, they falsely accused Mary, and they bragged about killing

Jesus, but every Jew will believe in Jesus before he dies, that is they'll find out the truth about Jesus when the angel of death appears. In context then Surah 4: 157 is not a response to the Christian belief that Jesus died on the cross. It's not a response to the historical claim that Jesus died on the cross. It's a response to a group of Jews who were saying we don't have to believe in Jesus, because we killed him. Simply reading the context opens the door for some alternative interpretations. For instance, Quran 4:157 says that Jesus never died and was never crucified, or is it saying that even though this group of Jews thought they had exposed Jesus as a false Messiah by crucifying him, they didn't really kill him, they didn't really crucify him- meaning to kill someone by crucifixion, because Allah raised him up. So, Quran is saying that- you think you don't have to believe in Jesus because you killed him? You didn't really kill him because Allah raised him up. What does it was made to appear to them mean [Q 4:157]? Does it mean that Allah took another person and miraculously disguised him to make him look like Jesus so that people thought they were crucifying Jesus even though they were crucifying someone else? That's the traditional view. But that's not what the verse actually says. Could it simply mean that they thought they had exposed Jesus by killing him, but that it only appeared to them that way because Allah refuted them by raising him from the dead? So, just by examining the surrounding context, we can see why some Muslims have interpreted this verse differently. However, there are more challenges to the traditional Muslim explanation in other parts of the Quran. In Surah 19:33 Jesus is speaking miraculously as a baby and he says:
"So peace is on me the day I was born, the day that I die, and the day that I shall be raised up to life (again)"!

Notice the pattern- the day I was born, the day that I die, the day that I shall be raised up. Birth, death, resurrection. What happened to Jesus in Surar 4 verse 158?- God raised him up unto himself:
Nay, God raised him up unto Himself; and God is Exalted in Power, Wise.

According To Jesus in the Quran 19:33, what was supposed to happen to him before he was raised? He was supposed to die. So if Jesus was raised in 4:158 why would Muslims say that he didn't die in 4:157? Are they saying that Jesus was wrong in 19:33? Or are they saying that Jesus was a false prophet? The point here is that Islamic baby Jesus described a simple pattern- he was born, he would die, and he would be raised.

Muslims present a much more complicated pattern. They say he was born, then he was raised without dying and one day he will be lowered back to earth, then he will die then he will be raised again. That doesn't sound anything like what Jesus said in 19:33, and it doesn't sound anything like what Allah says in Surah 3:55 where Allah speaks to Jesus during his ministry and tells him what's about to happen:
Behold! God said: "O Jesus! I will take thee and raise thee to Myself and clear thee (of the falsehoods) of those who blaspheme; I will make those who follow thee superior to those who reject faith, to the Day of Resurrection: Then shall ye all return unto me, and I will judge between you of the matters wherein ye dispute.

What a ridiculous translation Yusuf Ali translates this as 'I will take thee and raise thee to myself'. 'I will take thee' the Arabic here is 'mutawaffika'. Most Muslim translators do what Yusuf Ali did. They translate this as 'I will take you' or 'I will gather you'. But that's just not what 'mutawaffika' means. Surah 3:55 doesn't say that Allah will take Jesus away without Jesus dying. It says that Allah will cause Jesus to die. The kind of taking that Allah says he's about to do is taking away a person's soul. This usually refers to causing death. Islam also teaches that when a person goes to sleep Allah takes away his soul, but then returns it when he wakes up (Quran 39:42). So when the context is something about going to bed Allah taking away your soul can refer to to Allah causing you to fall asleep. But when there's nothing about going to bed in context taking your soul means taking your soul from your body and causing you to die. Most Orthodox Muslims mistranslated 3:55 because they know it contradicts their interpretation of 4:157 'they killed him not nor crucified him'. So they decide based on 4:157 that Jesus never died. Then they go to 3:55 where Allah says I will cause you to die and they have to mistranslate it as I will take you or I will gather you. But look at three translations from non-orthodox Muslims. In the Sher Ali translation Allah says "O Jesus I will cause thee to die a natural death and will raise thee to Myself" and the Khalifa translation "O Jesus, I am terminating your life, raising you to Me" and the Muhammad Assad translation says "O Jesus! Verily, I shall cause thee to die, and shall exalt thee unto Me". What about non-Muslim translations? Here's the Palmer translation "O Jesus! I will make Thee die and take Thee up again to me" and the Rodwell translation "O Jesus! verily I will cause thee to die, and will take thee up to myself" and the Sale translation "O Jesus, verily I will cause thee to die, and I will take thee up unto me".

Are you seeing a pattern from translators who aren't deliberately mistranslating this verse to avoid contradicting their interpretation of 4:157? Everyone seems to understand that it means Allah is going to cause Jesus to die. You can look up Surah 3:55 on a Quran site that has Arabic, translate it with translator or research on each Arabic word. Why do non-orthodox Muslims, non-muslims, and even AI translate 3:55 as Allah telling Jesus that he's going to cause him to die? Because that's what the verse says. But again most Muslim translators won't translate 3:55 accurately because they think to themselves- Surah 4:157 clearly says that Jesus wasn't killed and wasn't crucified, so Jesus never died- therefore Surah 3:55 obviously can't be saying that Jesus died; we have to come up with a different translation. They start with their interpretation of 4:157 ‘they didn't kill him nor did they crucify him’ and they use that interpretation to reinterpret 3:55 ‘Allah will cause Jesus to die and raise him’. But notice they could do the exact opposite, they could say well in 3:55 Allah clearly said he was going to cause Jesus to die so we should probably rethink our interpretation of 4:157- maybe it isn't saying that Jesus never died. To be clear 4:157 “they killed him not nor crucified him” if you read it completely on its own, it does sound like it's denying Jesus death. Just as in 3:55 I shall cause thee to die if you read it completely on its own it sounds like it's affirming Jesus’ death. Assuming you want to avoid a contradiction you have to reinterpret one of these verses. Now when you're in this position- when you have two verses that seem to be saying opposite things, and you have to reinterpret one of them you should ask yourself what other reasons do I have for interpreting verse such and such this way or that way. Is there other evidence to go on? Are there other considerations that could tip the balance in one direction or the other? 3:55 ‘O Jesus verily I shall cause thee to die’ sounds like it's saying that Jesus was about to die. What reason reasons do we have for reinterpreting this and concluding that it's not affirming Jesus’ death? There's only one reason- the traditional Muslim interpretation of 4:157 ‘they killed him not nor did they crucify him’. That's the only reason to reinterpret 3:55, there are no other reasons. Let's ask the same question about 4:157. 4:157 sounds like it's saying that Jesus wasn't killed and wasn't crucified. What reasons do we have for reinterpreting this and concluding that it's not denying Jesus' death? Here we have all kinds of reasons for reinterpreting this. We have already seen that in context 4:157 isn't a response to Christian beliefs about Jesus' death. It's a response to a Jewish claim that Jesus’ death had exposed him as a false Messiah. We've seen that in 3:55 Allah says he's going to cause

Jesus to die. Many people would say that Surah 5 verse 117 also affirms Jesus' death. We've seen that 19:33 suggests that Jesus would be born, then die, then be raised, which doesn't fit well with the standard Muslim interpretation of 4:157. We have also seen four theological problems with the standard Muslim interpretation of 4:157-

1/ Substitution theory: portrays Allah as a cosmic trickster (al-Makir) who starts false religions for no reason and corrupts the teachings of all of his own prophets

2/ The traditional Muslim view portrays Jesus as a total failure- who spent years preaching but couldn't win a single lasting convert

3/ The Quran claims that Allah aided the true followers of Jesus until they became uppermost over those who rejected Jesus. We know that the followers of Jesus who became uppermost definitely believed in his death by crucifixion

4/ The Quran affirms the inspiration preservation and authority of Christian scriptures that Clearly indisputably say that Jesus died by crucifixion (later chapters will describe it in detail)

So we have some very good reasons to reinterpret Sura 4 verse 157. But we can go even further. I'll give you two possibilities straight from the Quran. Suppose right before we read Surah 4:157 we read Surah 3 verse 169:

Think not of those who are slain in God's way as dead. Nay, they live, finding their sustenance in the presence of their Lord;

If someone dies for Allah don't think of him as dead because he's alive, he's in the presence of Allah. So let's say you are a Muslim and your friend Abul goes out to fight the infidel and the infidel kills him then the infidel comes to you and says 'haha we killed Abul, we shot him with a bunch of arrows and now he's dead'. As a Muslim how are you supposed to respond according to Sura 3 verse 169? When someone says Abul is dead because we killed him, you're supposed to reply- 'No he isn't and no you didn't. Abul is alive and safe with Allah'.

Suppose you absorb what Allah says in 3:169 :

Think not of those who are slain in God's way as dead. Nay, they live, finding their sustenance in the presence of their Lord;

Then you read 4:157-158 [third brackets [ ] are used in this verse for clarity for this article's context]:

That they said (in boast), [they here are a group of Jews] "We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God";- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:- Nay, God raised him up unto Himself; and God is Exalted in Power Wise.

If you read 4:157-158 right after reading 3:169 would you conclude that the only possible interpretation of 4:157 is that Allah miraculously disguised some other person and made this other person look like Jesus and had this other person die in Jesus' place? No. Because there's a much, much simpler interpretation based on what Allah says in three 3:169. It makes perfect sense to interpret 4:157-158 as Allah saying it may have appeared to this group of Jews as if they killed Jesus. It may have appeared to them as if they crucified Jesus, but Jesus is alive and safe with Allah. Allah raised him up. So they didn't really do what they thought they did. Much simpler.
Here's the other possibility:
Suppose right before you read Surah 4:157 you read Surah 8 verse 17. This is about the Battle of Badar. Muslims were outnumbered, but they defeated the Meccans. At one point Muhammad threw a handful of dust at the Meccans. After the battle, some of the Muslims were boasting about killing the infidel. Look at what Allah says to them:
It is not ye who slew them; it was God: when thou threwest (a handful of dust), it was not thy act, but God's: in order that He might test the Believers by a gracious trial from Himself: for God is He Who heareth and knoweth (all things).

Yusuf Ali translation here is a bit awkwardly worded. Let's read the Hilali Khan translation:
You killed them not, but Allah killed them. And you (Muhammad SAW) threw not when you did throw but Allah threw, that He might test the believers by a fair trial from Him. Verily, Allah is All-Hearer, All-Knower.

Picture this Muhammad and his companions are outnumbered, but they defeat the Meccans. Muhammad's companions start boasting: look at all the unbelievers we killed. And then Allah reveals- you didn't kill them, I did. Muhammad didn't throw that dust, I did. It may have appeared to you as if you were doing these things, but you were all mere instruments in my hand. I used you to accomplish my goals. So stop boasting. You didn't do these things I did these things through you'. It's a little strange to think that way about a battle, but that's exactly how Allah commands Muslims to think about their battles. You run out into battle to fight the kufar. You kill five of the kufar. You run back and say I killed five kufar, and Allah says no you didn't, you didn't kill them, you didn't stab them, with your sword, you didn't shoot them with your bow, you didn't do any of that. It appeared to you that way. But in reality, I was the one who was doing it. I was accomplishing my purposes through you. Suppose you read that and you get your mind around what Allah is saying in 8:17- when you do certain things you're not really doing them. And then you read 4:157-158 [third brackets [ ] are used in this verse for clarity for this article's context]: That they said (in boast), [they here are a group of Jews] "We killed Christ Jesus the son of Mary, the Apostle of God";- but they killed him not, nor crucified him, but so it was made to appear to them, and those who differ therein are full of doubts, with no (certain) knowledge but only conjecture to follow, for of a surety they killed him not:- Nay, God raised him up unto Himself; and God is Exalted in Power Wise.

If you read 4:157-158 after reading 8:17 are you going to think that this is Allah declaring- no you didn't kill Jesus, you didn't crucify him. You only think you did because I took another person and I miraculously changed his appearance to make him look like Jesus and it was this other person that you crucified. Is that how you would interpret this verse? Or would you go with the much simpler interpretation- you think you killed Jesus? You think you crucified Jesus? You didn't do anything to Jesus that I didn't want to happen. You didn't cause Jesus to die I caused Jesus to die. What did Allah say in 3:55? Allah said to Jesus during Jesus' earthly ministry:
"O Jesus! verily I will call cause thee to die, and will take thee up to myself

Who's really causing Jesus to die according to Allah? Are the Jews causing Jesus to die?- No. Are the Romans causing Jesus to die? No. Who's causing Jesus to die?- Allah. So, if Allah told Jesus- Jesus I'm going to cause you to die then I'm going to raise you up. If some Jews talking to Muhammad say- why should we believe in Jesus when we killed him? How should Allah respond? He should respond by saying- 'you may think you killed Jesus it may have appeared to you that you exposed him as a false Messiah. But in reality this was all part of my plan, this was something I was doing. I told Jesus this was going to happen. I told him I was going to cause him to die, and I completely proved him by raising him.' That's exactly what Allah sounds like he's saying in 4:157-158, if we read the passage after reading 8:17 ‘you killed them not but Allah killed them’. So putting all of this together there is one Quran verse that sounds like it's saying Jesus didn't die. There are other Quran verses that sound like they're saying Jesus did die. Most Muslim Scholars over the centuries have decided to stick with their interpretation of the one verse that sounds like it's saying Jesus didn't die. They use their interpretation of that one verse to reinterpret other Quran verses to reject the consensus of historians and to accuse Allah of deceiving billions of people undermining the work of his own prophet, corrupting his own revelation and helping the wrong group become uppermost and starting the world's largest false religion Christianity. We've got two main hypotheses here:

1/ Jesus died by crucifixion

2/ Allah tricked people into believing that Jesus died by crucifixion

If we were to put all of the evidence and all of the different considerations that favor one hypothesis over the other into a balance one side basically drops to the floor. The hypothesis that Jesus died by crucifixion is massively stronger than the hypothesis that Allah tricked people into believing that Jesus died by crucifixion and explained his tricking 600 years later. And yet you can put all of this information and much more in front of the average Muslim and ask him did Jesus die? He'll reply with complete confidence no Jesus didn't die, it says right there in Surah 4 verse 157: “they killed him not nor crucified him”. The amazing thing about this is that Muslims are quite happy to reinterpret just about any other verse in the Quran. We ask what does Allah mean when he says that Christians and Jews have no ground to stand upon unless we stand fast by the Torah and the Gospel [Q-5:68]. They say- oh he means that the Torah and the Gospel have been corrupted, so everyone just needs to go to the Quran. Apparently, it's quite common for Allah to sound like he's saying one thing even though he's actually saying something completely different. The only exception is 4:157. There Allah means exactly what he sounds like he means, even though the context and other Quran verses and history and theology give us a lot of very good reasons to think that Allah means something different. So why are most Muslims obsessed with substitution theory? Because they've been conditioned to always go along with whatever their Imams say. And their Imams don't want to admit that Jesus died and rose from the dead. Because, believing in Jesus' death and resurrection might bring Muslims a little too close to Christianity. They can't allow that. So, they just keep propagating substitution theory. They keep ignoring the context, they keep ignoring other Quran verses, they keep rejecting history, they keep rejecting scholarship. But that raises an important final question for Muslims- is Islam the religion of submission to Allah's Quran or is it the religion of submission to your Imams? If Islam is the religion of submission to Allah now would be a really good time to take a closer look at what Allah says- so that you don't falsely accuse Him of saying things that He didn't say. Let's start by reading the following 3 chapters.

Quranic View of Jesus, Unity & Creation

!!!Carefully read and analyze with the interlinear Quran word by word, root by root from online for this chapter. Must judge each of the Arabic word with roots. This is your tusk to check from your own Quran who Jesus is. Don't trust any website, do research on each Arabic word & root.

Jesus in Islam:

- The Spirit's Dialogue with Mary (Quran 19:17-21)

- The spirit speaks to Mary as if it represents Allah, taking human form from within Allah.
- The spirit states that Jesus was created as an exemplary figure and a favor from Allah for humanity.
- Jesus is referred to as Ruhullah (روح الله), meaning "spirit of Allah."
- There is no explicit mention in the Quran that Ruhul Qudus (روح القدس) is Jibril or an angel.
- Even the idea of Jibril being an angel cannot be directly proven from the Quran.
- Quran 66:4 implies a distinction between angels and Jibril.

- Jibril's Role in the Quran

- Verses such as Quran 2:97-98 and 66:4 do not explicitly state that Jibril is an angel.
- Ruhul Qudus directly refers to Jesus, as Al-Quddus (القدوس) is a name of Allah, meaning "The Most Holy."

- Ruhul Qudus and Revelation

- Quran 16:98-102 mentions Ruhul Qudus as the entity that sent verses to the Prophet.
- The Prophet mentioned here may or may not be Muhammad, as the Quran often presents events without strict chronological order.
- For example, in Quran 7:102-104 and 17:1-2:
    - Muhammad's name is not mentioned in 17:1, but Moses is mentioned in 17:2.
- Quran 62:1 emphasizes Allah's name, Al-Quddus.

- The meaning of Ruhul Qudus could then be interpreted as "a spirit from Al-Quddus/Allah."
- In Quran 16:102, the Quranic verses were sent through Ruhul Qudus, but Muhammad is not named explicitly.
- This raises the possibility that the term Quran in 16:98 may also refer to revelations given to other prophets.

- Distinction Between Ruh and Angels

- Quran 58:22 uses the term Ruhin (روح), distinct from Ruh (روح).
- Ruhin is interpreted as energy accumulated through the possession of faith.
- Quran 78:38 describes the spirit and angels standing in line, further implying a distinction.
- Quran 97:4 notes that angels and the spirit descend, again distinguishing between them.
- Thus, Jibril and angels differ, as do Ruh and angels, per the limited knowledge mentioned in Quran 17:85.

- God’s Breath and the Spirit's Role

- God entered Ruh into Adam and Mary through His breath.
- The spirit appears in human form and speaks Allah's word, but there is no evidence identifying this spirit as Gabriel.
- Jibril is described as the power of Allah, but angelic terms are not used with Jibril.

- Revelation from Behind a Veil

- Quran 42:51 emphasizes that Allah sends revelations from behind a veil, further underscoring His transcendence.

- Jesus and the Holy Spirit

- Quran 4:171 describes Jesus as the "spirit of Allah."
- Quran 66:12 mentions that Maryam was given the spirit (Ruh) of Allah.
- Quran 2:87 and 2:253 state that Moses and Jesus were given miracles:
    - Moses received a Book, and Jesus was given the Holy Spirit.
- Ruh originates from Al-Quddus (Allah).

- Jesus as the Word of Allah

- Quran 4:171, 3:39, and 19:34 describe Jesus as the "word of Allah," further highlighting his divine association.

Translation of Qur'an 9:31 based on the Arabic structure and grammar:

اتَّخَذُوا أَحْبَارَهُمْ وَرُهْبَانَهُمْ أَرْبَابًا مِّن دُونِ اللَّهِ وَالْمَسِيحَ ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ ۖ وَمَا أُمِرُوا إِلَّا لِيَعْبُدُوا إِلَٰهًا وَاحِدًا ۖ لَّا إِلَٰهَ إِلَّا هُوَ ۚ سُبْحَانَهُ عَمَّا يُشْرِكُونَ

Grammatical, word-for-word rendering:

- اتَّخَذُوا – They took/adopted
- أَحْبَارَهُمْ – their scholars (ḥibr: learned men),
- وَرُهْبَانَهُمْ – and their monks,
- أَرْبَابًا – as lords
- مِّن دُونِ اللَّهِ – besides/in place of Allah,
- وَالْمَسِيحَ ابْنَ مَرْيَمَ – and the Messiah, son of Mary,
- وَمَا أُمِرُوا – and they were not commanded
- إِلَّا لِيَعْبُدُوا – except to worship
- إِلَٰهًا وَاحِدًا – one God;
- لَا إِلَٰهَ إِلَّا هُوَ – there is no deity except Him.
- سُبْحَانَهُ – Glory be to Him
- عَمَّا يُشْرِكُونَ – above what they associate (with Him).

Literal flow translation preserving Arabic grammar:

> They took their scholars and their monks as Lords besides Allah, and the Messiah, son of Mary. And they were not commanded except to worship one God—there is no deity except Him. Exalted is He above what they associate (with Him).

■Qur'an 31:34 — Allah has exclusive knowledge of the Hour

Arabic:

إِنَّ ٱللَّهَ عِنـــــــــدَهُۥ عِلْـــــــــمُ ٱلسَّـــــــــاعَةِ

Transliteration:

Inna Allāha ʿindahu ʿilmu as-sāʿah

Literal translation:

"Indeed, Allah—with Him alone is the knowledge of the Hour."

This verse is part of a list of five exclusive domains of divine knowledge (known in Islamic tradition as "Mafātīḥ al-Ghayb"—the keys to the unseen), including when rain will fall, what is in the womb, what one will earn tomorrow, and where one will die.

Qur’an 43:61 — Jesus is the knowledge of the Hour

■Arabic:
وَإِنَّهُۥ لَعِلْمٌ لِّلسَّاعَةِ

■1. وَإِنَّهُۥ (wa-innahu)

- وَ (wa) – "And"
    - This is a conjunction that connects this verse with the previous one, maintaining the flow of thought in the passage.
- إِنَّهُۥ (inna-hu) – "Indeed, he (is)"
    - إِنَّ (inna) is a particle of emphasis that is used to affirm what follows.
    - هُ (hu) is a pronoun referring to ʿĪsā (Jesus), confirming that it is he who is being discussed.

■2. لَعِلْمٌ (la-ʿilmun)

- لَ (la) – "Certainly, truly"
    - This "la" is used for emphasis, stressing the certainty of the statement.
- عِلْمٌ (ʿilmun) – "knowledge"
    - This is the noun for "knowledge," derived from ʿilm, meaning understanding, awareness, or enlightenment.

However, in this context, ʿilmun does not mean Jesus possesses the actual knowledge of the Hour, but rather that he is a sign or indication of the Hour. In many classical interpretations, it is understood as a marker of the nearness of the Hour rather than literal "knowledge" of the exact timing.

■3. لِّلسَّاعَةِ (li-s-sāʿah)

- لِـ (li) – "for" or "of"

- This preposition indicates purpose or relation—here, it connects Jesus to the Hour, explaining what he is a knowledge or sign of.

- السَّاعَةِ (as-sāʿah) – "the Hour"
  - السَّاعَة (as-sāʿah) refers to the Day of Judgment or the final hour in Islamic eschatology.
  - This is a specific reference to the apocalyptic event known as Yawm al-Qiyāmah (the Day of Resurrection), which is a major theme in the Qur'an and Hadith.

■Full phrase translation:

"And indeed, he (Jesus) is the knowledge of the Hour."

■Context of Qur'an 43:59-61:

The verses around Qur'an 43:61 help establish that the subject is indeed ʿĪsā (Jesus):

1. Qur'an 43:57 (before 43:61) speaks about Jesus' miraculous birth and his divine nature in relation to his mission on Earth:
   - Translation: And when the son of Mary is cited as an example, immediately your people [mockingly] laugh.
2. Qur'an 43:58: Further speaks about the reaction of those who reject him.
   - This sets the context for the discussion on ʿĪsā, as he is the one being referred to throughout these verses.
3. Qur'an 43:59: Allah declares the reality of Jesus' mission and his role:
   - Translation: The Messiah (ʿĪsā) is not but a messenger...
   - This explicitly names ʿĪsā as al-Masīḥ (the Messiah), leaving no ambiguity about the subject being Jesus.

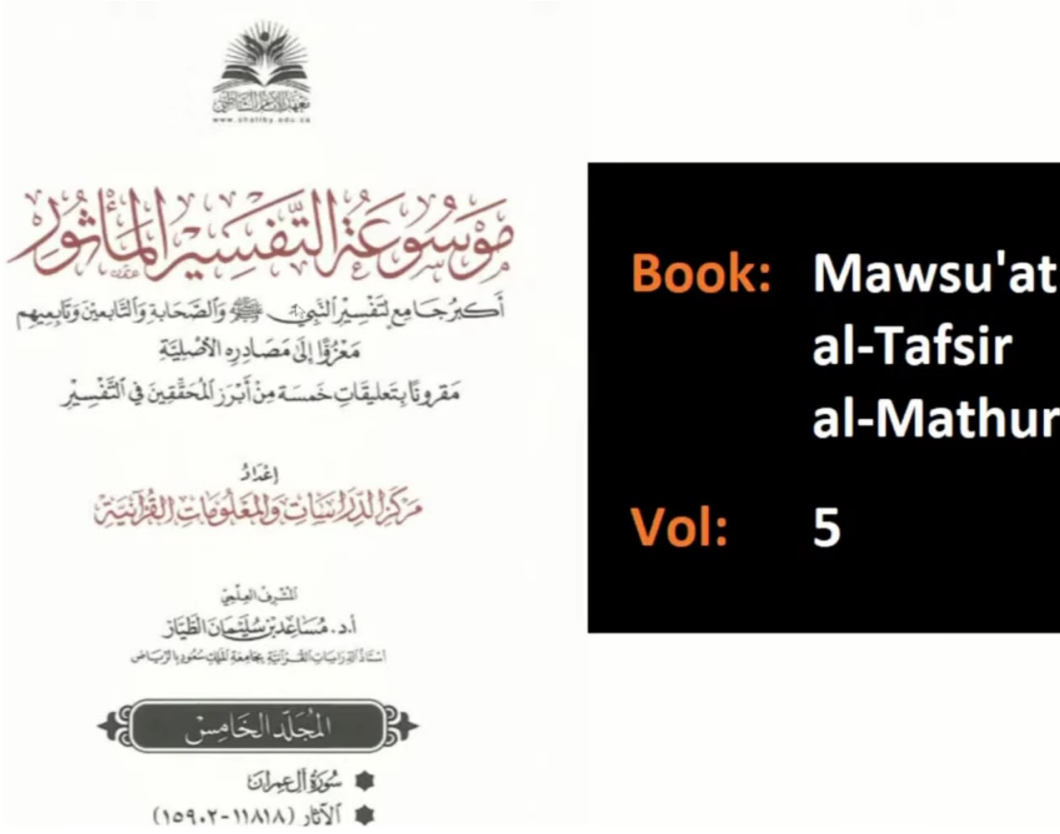
Arabic (Surah Āl ʿImrān 3:45):

إِذْ قَالَتِ ٱلْمَلَٰٓئِكَةُ يَٰمَرْيَمُ إِنَّ ٱللَّهَ يُبَشِّرُكِ بِكَلِمَةٍ مِّنْهُ ٱسْمُهُ ٱلْمَسِيحُ عِيسَى ٱبْنُ مَرْيَمَ وَجِيهًا فِي ٱلدُّنْيَا وَٱلْءَاخِرَةِ وَمِنَ ٱلْمُقَرَّبِينَ

Full Literal Translation:

“[Remember] when the angels said, ‘O Mary, indeed Allah gives you glad tidings of a Word from Him, whose name is the Messiah, ʿĪsā (Jesus), son of Mary—eminent in this world and the Hereafter and among those brought near [to Allah].’”

Let’s realize what it means by Messiah from a book:



﴿ٱسْمُهُ ٱلْمَسِيحُ عِيسَى ٱبْنُ مَرْيَمَ﴾

١٢٩١٢ ـ عن عبد الله بن عباس ـ من طريق عكرمة ـ قال: لم يكن مِن الأنبياء مَن له اسمان إلَّا عيسى، ومحمد ﷺ[١]. (٣/٥٤٧)

١٢٩١٣ ـ عن عبد الله بن عباس، قال: سُمِّي مَسيحًا لأنَّه ما مَسَحَ ذا عاهَةٍ إلا بَرِئَ[٢][١١٩٩]. (ز)

١٢٩١٤ ـ عن إبراهيم النَّخَعِيِّ ـ من طريق منصور ـ قال: ﴿ٱلْمَسِيحُ﴾: الصِّدِّيقُ[٣][١٢٠٠]. (٣/٥٤٧)

١٢٩١٥ ـ عن إبراهيم النَّخَعِيِّ ـ من طريق منصور ـ مثله، أي: مُسِحَ بالبركة[٤]. (ز)

١٢٩١٦ ـ عن الحسن البصري، في قوله: ﴿ٱسْمُهُ ٱلْمَسِيحُ﴾: أي: مُسِحَ بالبركة[٥]. (ز)

١٢٩١٧ ـ عن أبي عمرو بن العلاء، أنَّه قال: ﴿ٱلْمَسِيحُ﴾: المَلِكُ[٦]. (ز)

==من الله، وخَبَرٌ مِن عنده. ولم ينسبه لأحد. وثانيها: أنَّ الكلمة التي قالها الله هي: كن. وثالثها: أنَّ الكلمة ... بما شاء من الأسماء.

The Messiah is "Al-Malik" (The King)

■ 📖 1. Surah Al-Hashr (59:23)

Arabic:
هُوَ ٱللَّهُ ٱلَّذِي لَآ إِلَٰهَ إِلَّا هُوَ ٱلْمَلِكُ ٱلْقُدُّوسُ ٱلسَّلَٰمُ ٱلْمُؤْمِنُ ٱلْمُهَيْمِنُ ٱلْعَزِيزُ ٱلْجَبَّارُ ٱلْمُتَكَبِّرُ...

Transliteration:
Huwa Allāhu alladhī lā ilāha illā huwa, al-Malik, al-Quddūs, as-Salām...

Translation:
"He is Allah, there is no deity except Him—the King, the Holy, the Peace..."

■ 📖 2. Surah Al-Jumuʿah (62:1)

Arabic:
يُسَبِّحُ لِلَّهِ مَا فِي السَّمَاوَاتِ وَمَا فِي الْأَرْضِ الْمَلِكِ الْقُدُّوسِ الْعَزِيزِ الْحَكِيمِ

Transliteration:
Yusabbiḥu lillāhi mā fī as-samāwāti wa-mā fī al-arḍi al-Maliki al-Quddūsi al-ʿAzīzi al-Ḥakīm

Translation:
"Whatever is in the heavens and the earth glorifies Allah—the King, the Holy, the Almighty, the Wise."

✅ Again, "al-Malik" (the King) is clearly used here.

■ 📖 3. Surah Al-Fātiḥah (1:4)

Arabic:
مَٰلِكِ يَوْمِ ٱلدِّينِ

Transliteration:

Translation:
"Master (or King) of the Day of Recompense"

💡 Some variant Qur'anic readings (qirāʾāt), like that of Ḥafṣ ʿan ʿĀṣim, read it as "Mālik" (Master), but others, like Warsh, read it as "Malik" (King). Both meanings apply and are accepted. So here, Allah is also the "King of the Day of Judgment."

■ 📖 4. Surah An-Nās (114:2)

Arabic:
مَلِكِ النَّاسِ

Transliteration:
Maliki-n-nās

Translation:
"The King of mankind"

✅ Here, Allah is described as "King of all people", further affirming His ultimate sovereignty.

■Summary of Titles as "King" in the Qur'an:

Verse	Arabic Phrase	Title Used
59:23	ٱلْمَلِكُ	The King (one of Allah's names)
62:1	ٱلْمَلِكِ	The King
1:4	مَٰلِكِ / مَلِكِ	Master/King of the Day of Judgment
114:2	مَلِكِ ٱلنَّاسِ	King of mankind

Why is Jesus Christ Called the "Son of God"?

The term "Son of God" ascribed to Jesus Christ has deep theological, metaphorical, and spiritual implications rather than any physical connotation. This title reflects a profound relationship between Jesus and God, emphasizing His unique role in God's divine plan. To fully understand this, we must examine how terms like "Father" and "Son" are used metaphorically in human language and sacred scriptures.

■The Metaphorical Meaning of "Son of God"

In both the Bible and common language, terms like "Father" and "Son" are often used metaphorically to denote a close relationship, mentorship, or guidance. For instance:

- A person who follows the ways of God, guided by His Spirit, is called a "child of God."
- Conversely, someone influenced by evil is referred to as a "child of Satan."

This metaphorical usage is evident in the Bible:
"For if you live according to the flesh, you will die; but if by the Spirit you put to death the deeds of the body, you will live. For all who are led by the Spirit of God are children of God." (Romans 8:13-14, NRSVue)

Thus, the term "Son of God" reflects a spiritual kinship and obedience to God.

■Historical Context: The Jewish Nation as "Children of God"

In the Old Testament, the Jewish people were collectively called "children of God" when they remained obedient to His commandments. However, those who strayed from God's guidance were referred to as "children of the devil" (e.g., John 8:44).

The title "Son of God" carries no physical connotation. Instead, it emphasizes a spiritual relationship grounded in faith, obedience, and alignment with divine will. This broader understanding of divine sonship applies to anyone—Jew or Gentile—who sacrifices selfish desires, follows God's commandments, and nurtures a deep spiritual relationship with Him.

■Why is Jesus Christ Uniquely Referred to as the "Son of God"?

Jesus Christ holds the title of "Son of God" uniquely because of His unparalleled:

1. Obedience to God: Jesus lived in perfect harmony with God's will, free from sin.
2. Reliance on God: His unwavering faith exemplifies a complete surrender to divine guidance.
3. Intimacy with God: Jesus's relationship with God was profound, transcending human understanding.

These attributes set Jesus apart from others, as His life embodies the highest example of divine sonship. The title signifies His spiritual closeness to God, distinct from the general designation for believers.

■The Quran's Perspective on the "Son of God"

Differentiation Between Ibn and Walad

The Quran uses two Arabic terms for "son," which are crucial to understanding its perspective:

1. ابْنِ (Ibn): This term often carries a metaphorical meaning, such as ابْنِ السَّبِيلِ (Ibn al-Sabil, "child of the road" or "traveler"). It aligns with the Hebrew Ben (בן) and the Greek Huios (υἱός) used in the Bible for "child of God."
2. وَلَدً (Walad): This term refers to a physical offspring born through biological processes. It is never used to describe the relationship between God and Jesus in Islamic or Christian theology.

Quranic Verses Addressing the "Son of God"

The Quran explicitly denies the notion of God having a physical son (Walad):

- "They say, 'The Most Merciful has taken a son (Walad).' Exalted is He! Rather, they are honored servants." (Surah Al-Anbiya 21:26)

- "If Allah had intended to take a son (Walad), He could have chosen from His creation whatever He willed. Exalted is He! He is Allah, the One, the Prevailing." (Surah Az-Zumar 39:4)
- "He has not taken a wife nor a son (Walad)." (Surah Al-Jinn 72:3)

The Quran also critiques the distorted belief that God physically fathered a son:

- "And [beware the Day] when Allah will say, 'O Jesus, son of Mary, did you say to the people, 'Take me and my mother as deities besides Allah?' He will say, 'Exalted are You! It was not for me to say that to which I have no right.'" (Surah Al-Ma'idah 5:116)

These verses reject a specific misconception prevalent in certain Christian sects of the time, which claimed a triad of God, Mary, and Jesus as divine figures.

Harmonizing the Quran and the Gospel

The Quran's rejection is directed toward a physical interpretation of "Son of God," not its metaphorical or spiritual usage. This aligns with the Gospel, where the term "Son of God" is purely symbolic, emphasizing Jesus's spiritual relationship with God.

■Theological Implications of "Son of God"

Theologically, Jesus being the "Son of God" underscores His divine mission as the Messiah, a bridge between humanity and God. It reflects:

1. Revelation of God's Love: Jesus's life and teachings demonstrate God's love for humanity.
2. Role as Mediator: As the "Son of God," Jesus mediates between humanity and God, offering salvation.
3. Invitation to Relationship: The title invites all believers to emulate Jesus's obedience and establish a closer relationship with God.

■Misunderstandings and Clarifications

The title "Son of God" has often been misunderstood, particularly in interfaith contexts. Misinterpretations arise when:

1. The term is taken literally, implying a biological relationship.
2. Jesus's divine role is confused with polytheistic concepts of gods having offspring.

Both Christianity and Islam reject any notion of God engaging in physical processes. Instead, the Gospel's spiritual metaphor and the Quran's critique of physical interpretations align in rejecting such false notions.

■Conclusion

The title "Son of God" for Jesus Christ is a metaphorical expression that highlights His unique spiritual relationship with God. It conveys obedience, intimacy, and alignment with divine will, free from physical implications. The Quran and the Gospel, when correctly understood, complement each other in emphasizing the spiritual and metaphorical nature of this title.

This understanding fosters a deeper appreciation of Jesus's role as a bridge between humanity and God and invites all believers to seek a closer, spiritual connection with the Divine.

Many that have carefully read the Quran know that it nowhere condemns the historic understanding of the doctrine of the Blessed and Holy Unity. Rather, it attacks (an) aberrant view(s) of Christianity that has/have never been held by mainstream Christians, especially during Muhammad's time. Here are the verses in question so that the readers can see for themselves that the Islamic scripture doesn't even come remotely close to condemning the actual beliefs of Christians:

> They are unbelievers who say, 'God is the Messiah, Mary's son.' For the Messiah said, 'Children of Israel, serve God, my Lord and your Lord. Verily whoso associates with God anything, God shall prohibit him entrance to Paradise, and his refuge shall be the Fire; and wrongdoers shall have no helpers.' They are unbelievers who say, 'God is the Third of Three. No god is there but One God. If they refrain not from what they say, there shall afflict those of them that disbelieve a painful chastisement. Will they not turn to God and pray His forgiveness? God is All-forgiving, All-compassionate. The Messiah, son of Mary, was only a Messenger; Messengers before him passed away; his mother was a just woman; they both ate food. Behold, how We make clear the signs to them; then behold, how they perverted are! S. 5:72-75 Arberry

The fact that Mary is mentioned along with her glorious Son as eating food within the same context where the issue of God being the Third of Three is mentioned, clearly indicates that Muhammad and/or the Quran's author(s) erroneously assumed that Christians actually worshiped Allah, Mary, and Jesus as three gods. The following passage from this same surah further confirms this point:

> And when God said, 'O Jesus son of Mary, didst thou say unto men, "Take me and my mother as gods, apart from God"?' He said, 'To Thee be glory! It is not mine to say what I have no right to. If I indeed said it, Thou knowest it, knowing what is within my soul, and I know not what is within Thy soul; Thou knowest the things unseen. S. 5:116 Arberry

It is therefore obvious that the Quran is attacking a belief in three gods consisting of Allah, Christ and his blessed mother. As the late Islamic scholar E. M. Wherry noted in his commentary on the Quran:

> Say not... three, "Namely, God, Jesus, Mary. For the Eastern writers mention a sect of Christians which held the Trinity to be composed of those three; but it is allowed that this heresy has been long since extinct (Elmacin, p. 227). The passage, however, is equally levelled against the Holy Trinity, according to the doctrine of the orthodox Christians, who, as Al Baidhawi acknowledges, believe the divine nature to consist of three persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost; by the Father, understanding God's essence; by the Son, his knowledge; and by the Holy Ghost, his life." - Sale.
> See also Prelim. Disc., p. 64.
> The commentators Baidhawi, Jalaluddin, and Yahya agree in interpreting the three to mean "God, Jesus, and Mary," in the relation of Father, Mother, and Son. This misrepresentation of the Scripture doctrine again stamps the Qur'an as a fabrication, and furnishes the evidence of its being such on the ground of its own claims. The history of the Church, as well as the Bible, proves the statement of the text, as interpreted by authoritative commentators, to be false; for even granting that some obscure Christian sect did hold such a doctrine of the Trinity (of which statement we have yet to learn the truth), yet the spirit of Muhammad's inspiration represents it as the faith of the Christians generally. In almost every case where the Qur'an refers to the Christian faith, it is to inveigh against the idea that God has a son. See chap. ix. 31, xix. 31, xliii. 59. (Wherry, A comprehensive commentary on the Qurán: comprising Sale's translation and preliminary discourse, with additional notes and emendations; together with a complete index to the text, preliminary discourse and notes, Volume 2, pp. 116-117; bold emphasis ours)

Wherry wasn't the only scholar to note Muhammad's blunders concerning core essential Christian doctrines:

Mistakes About the Trinity

The Quran contains many errors about what Christians believe and practice. One of the most significant is that the Quran misrepresents the Christian doctrine of the Trinity.

Muhammad mistakenly thought that Christians worshiped three gods: the Father, the Mother (Mary), and the Son (Jesus), (Sura 5:73–75, 116).[25]

As Richard Bell pointed out:

[Muhammad] never understood the doctrine of the Trinity.[26]

Encyclopedia Britannica states:

[There are] mistaken concepts of the Trinity in the Quran.[27]

Yusuf Ali's translation of the Quran tries to avoid this error by deliberately mistranslating Sura 5:73.

The Arabic text condemns those who say that "Allah is the third of three," that is to say Allah is only one of three gods! Both Arberry and Pickthall translate this correctly.

Ali mistranslates Sura 5:73 to read:

They do blaspheme who say: God is one of three in a Trinity.

The words "in a Trinity" are not in the Arabic text. Ali puts it in his translation in an attempt to avoid the rather obvious error that Christians believe in three gods.

In reality, Christians believe only in one God who is in three persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. They do not believe that Mary is a part of the Trinity.

Even the Concise Dictionary of Islam admits:

In some cases the "material" which forms the substance of Quranic narrative, details of the creeds of Christianity and Judaism for example, does not correspond to those religion's own understanding of their beliefs. This could be said, for example, of the notion of the Trinity found in the Quran, the story of Satan's refusal to bow down to Adam, the Docetist view of the crucifixion, all of which can be traced to the dogmas of Gnostic sects, which are heretical in relationship to orthodox Christianity and Judaism. The Trinity "seen" in the Quran is not the Trinity of the Apostles Creed, or of the Nicene Creed.[28]

The Quran is so clearly erroneous at this point that Muslims such as Yusuf Ali must mistranslate the Quran to get away from it!

Mistakes About the "Son" Of God

The Quran also makes the mistake of saying that Christians believe Jesus is the "Son" of God in the sense that God the "Father" has a male body and had sexual intercourse with Mary.

In Muhammad's mind, to say that God had a son was to blaspheme because it meant that God had sex with a woman (Suras 2:116; 6:100, 101; 10:68; 16:57; 19:35; 23:91; 37:149, 157; 43:16-19).

Christians believe that Mary was a virgin when Jesus was conceived in her by the Holy Spirit (Luke 1:35).

Thus Jesus is the "Son" of God, but not in the sexual sense that Muhammad understood. God the "Father" is not a man and hence does not have a male body and has not had sex with anyone. The Quran is 100 percent wrong on this issue.

This is even acknowledged by those who seek to defend the Muslim scripture's gross misrepresentation of orthodox Christian beliefs. Take, for instance, the following comments by Sydney Griffith as he attempts to defend the Quran's erroneous description of the Trinity and the Deity of Christ:

> "Rhetorically speaking, the two identical phrases at the beginning of the two successive verses, 'They have disbelieved who say,' are clearly critical of the following quotations attributed to those who say, 'God is the Messiah, Mary's son,' (vs. 72) and those who say, ''God is one of three' (vs.73). But the quotations, while clearly meaning to censure Christian belief, do not in fact quote actual Christian usage of the era. Rather, the Christians in the Qur'an's milieu would have said, 'the Messiah is God, the Son of God', and they would also have said, 'the Treble One, the One of Three, is God'. But for reasons of orthodoxy they would NEVER HAVE SAID that God is Jesus; rather, they would have said Jesus is God. It seems clear, therefore, that here the Qur'an, aware of actual Christian usage, has for its own rhetorical polemical reasons, reversed the customary Christian order of words in these formulaic phrases in order the more effectively to highlight what it considers wrong about Christian faith in Jesus, and to criticize what it regards as the objectionable Christian doctrine that God has a Son and that He is the Messiah, Jesus of Nazareth. The Quran consistently and persistently teaches in varying phrases that God has no offspring; e.g., 'How would He have offspring, not having a female consort' (VI al-An'am 101). 'It is not for God to take a child; Glory be to Him, when He determines a matter He but says to it, 'Be', and it comes to be'

(XIX Maryam 35). ‘God is one.… He has not begotten, nor is He begotten’ (CXII al-Ikhlas 1-3).

“The historically troublesome term for commentators both ancient and modern in the passage quoted above from surat al-Ma'idah 73 is the phrase thalith thalathatin, 'one of three', sometimes translated as 'third of three'. Scholars have not heretofore recognized it as reflecting an epithet of Jesus the Messiah, common in mainstream Christian Syriac homiletic texts in the adjectival form tlithaya, meaning, 'one of three', 'treble', 'trine', and referring to Jesus the Son of God as 'one of three' in the Trinity, and as typologically characterized by 'three' on account of having spent three hours on the cross and three days in the tomb, just as Jonah spent three days in the belly of the whale. Once the phrase is recognized as an Arabic rendering of the not uncommon Syriac epithet for Jesus the Messiah, the two verses quoted above (surat al-Ma'idah 72 and 73) can be seen to be affirming the same judgment about the infidelity of those who say, in the Qur'an's polemically inspired rendering, 'God is the Messiah, Mary's son,' or 'God is one of three.' At the same time it is clear once again that in the Quran's view it is the objectionable doctrine that Christians affirm as true about Jesus, namely that he is God and the Son of God, that leads them into the further objectionable affirmation that the one God is also spoken of in terms of three.” (The Bible in Arabic: The Scriptures of the ‘People of the Book’ in the Language of Islam [Princeton University Press, 2013], 33-34; bold and capital emphasis ours)

Had the author(s) and/or editor(s) of the Quran wanted to make sure that s/he/they was/were attacking the historic understanding of the Trinity, then all s/he/they needed to simply do was to employ words such as jawhar wahid (“one substance”) or thalatha aqanim (“three hypostases”). S/he/they could have used the expression, Al-Aqanim Al-Thalatha (lit. “the Hypostases the Three”), since this is what Christians during that time used in reference to the Trinity.

Hence, all the Quran needed to do was to say any of the following things if it really intended to condemn the orthodox view of the Blessed and most Holy Trinity:

> "They are unbelievers who say that Allah is one substance (jawhar wahid) in three hypostases (thalatha aqanim)."
> "They are unbelievers who say that Allah is three hypostases (thalatha aqanim)."
> "They are unbelievers who believe in the three hypostases (Al-Aqanim Al-Thalatha)."
> "Say not Three Hypostases (Al-Aqanim Al-Thalatha/thalatha aqanim)."

Better yet, the Islamic scripture could have simply put it in the following manner:

> "They are unbelievers who say that Allah is the Father, the Son and Holy Spirit."

Or:

> "They are unbelievers who say that the Father, the Son and Holy Spirit are one God."

Unfortunately for Muslims, we do not find such statements in the Quran. As such, Muslims must accept the fact that their respective scripture nowhere condemns belief in the actual Christian doctrine of the Trinity or the essential Deity of Christ.

It may surprise the readers to learn that, instead of opposing the historical Christian understanding of the Trinity, the Quran actually confirms it (at least a counterfeit form of it)! This is because it ascribes certain divine functions and qualities to both Jesus and the Holy Spirit, which invariably end up supporting the doctrine of the Trinity.

The Holy Spirit: The Divine Creator and Giver of life

To begin with, the Muslim scripture describes the Holy Spirit as possessing the ability to empower all true believers to fulfill the will of Allah.

For instance, we are told on three separate occasions that the Holy Spirit strengthened Jesus for the ministry that Allah sent him to accomplish:

We gave Moses the Book and followed him up with a succession of apostles; We gave Jesus the son of Mary Clear (Signs) and strengthened him with the holy spirit (wa'ayyadnahu bi'roohi al-qudusi). Is it that whenever there comes to you an apostle with what ye yourselves desire not, ye are puffed up with pride? - Some ye called impostors, and others ye slay! S. 2:87 Abdullah Yusuf Ali

Those apostles We endowed with gifts, some above others: To one of them God spoke; others He raised to degrees (of honour); to Jesus the son of Mary We gave clear (Signs), and strengthened him with the holy spirit (wa'ayyadnahu bi'roohi al-qudusi). If God had so willed, succeeding generations would not have fought among each other, after clear (Signs) had come to them, but they (chose) to wrangle, some believing and others rejecting. If God had so willed, they would not have fought each other; but God Fulfilleth His plan. S. 2:253 Y. Ali

Then will God say: "O Jesus the son of Mary! Recount My favour to thee and to thy mother. Behold! I strengthened thee with the holy spirit (ith ayyadtuka bi'roohi al-qudusi), so that thou didst speak to the people in childhood and in maturity. Behold! I taught thee the Book and Wisdom, the Law and the Gospel and behold! thou makest out of clay (wa-ith TAKHLUQU mina al-teeni), as it were, the figure of a bird, by My leave, and thou breathest into it and it becometh a bird by My leave, and thou healest those born blind, and the lepers, by My leave. And behold! thou bringest forth the dead by My leave. And behold! I did restrain the Children of Israel from (violence to) thee when thou didst show them the clear Signs, and the unbelievers among them said: 'This is nothing but evident magic.' S. 5:110 Y. Ali

We will be discussing the Quran's recognition of Jesus' ability to create and give life a little later.

At this point the Muslim scripture is simply parroting the teaching of God's Word, the Holy Bible, that the Holy Spirit filled Christ with power to do good and to destroy the works of the Devil:

"Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness… Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee. And His fame went throughout the surrounding region. He taught in their synagogues, being glorified by everyone. He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up. And as His custom was, He went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day. And He stood up to read. The scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to Him. When He had unrolled the scroll, He found the place where it was written: 'The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He has anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He has sent Me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed; to preach the acceptable year of the Lord.' Then He rolled up the scroll, and He gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. The eyes of all those who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him. And He began to say to them, 'Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing.'" Luke 4:1, 14-21

"But when Jesus knew it, He withdrew from there. And great crowds followed Him, and He healed them all, and warned them that they should not make Him known, to fulfill what was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying: 'Here is My Servant, whom I have chosen, My Beloved, in whom My soul is well pleased; I will put My Spirit upon Him, and He will render judgment to the Gentiles. He shall not struggle nor cry out, nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets. A bruised reed He will not break, and a smoldering wick He will not quench, until He renders judgment unto victory; and in His name will the Gentiles trust.'… But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has come upon you." Matthew 12:15-21, 28

"The word which He sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace through Jesus Christ, who is Lord of all, the word, which you know, that was proclaimed throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee after the baptism which John preached: how God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power, who went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with Him." Acts 10:36-38

The Quran also intimates that it is this same Holy Spirit who strengthens all the Muslims to remain faithful:

> Thou wilt not find any people who believe in God and the Last Day, loving those who resist God and His Apostle, even though they were their fathers or their sons, or their brothers, or their kindred. For such He has written Faith in their hearts, and strengthened them with a spirit from Himself (wa'ayyadahum bi'roohin minhu). And He will admit them to Gardens beneath which Rivers flow, to dwell therein (for ever). God will be well pleased with them, and they with Him. They are the Party of God. Truly it is the Party of God that will achieve Felicity. S. 58:22 Y. Ali

Now in order for the Holy Spirit to be able to simultaneously preserve all believers wherever they may be, he must possess all of God's omni-attributes.

In other words, this ability presupposes that the Spirit is omnipresent, omniscient and omnipotent, and therefore fully divine, facts that even Muslim scholars recognize. Note, for instance, what the late Abdullah Yusuf Ali wrote in his commentary to this passage:

> "… Cf. ii 87 and 253, where it is said that God strengthened the Prophet Jesus with the holy spirit. Here we learn that all good and righteous men are strengthened by God with the holy spirit. If anything, the phrase used here is stronger, 'a spirit from Himself'. Whenever any one offers his heart in faith and purity to God, God accepts it, engraves that faith on the seeker's heart, and further fortifies him with the Divine Spirit, which we can no more define adequately than we can define in human language the nature of God." (Ali, The Meaning of the Holy Quran, p. 1518, fn. 5365; bold emphasis ours)

Ali wasn't the only Muslim scholar to refer to the Spirit as an incomprehensible divine being. The late Ahmadiyya scholar and Quranic translator Maulana Muhammad Ali used the same description in his note to Q. 15:29:

> 29*a*. This shows that man is made complete when the Divine spirit is breathed into him. It should be noted that the *Divine spirit (Ar. ruh) does not mean here the animal soul in man, but the Spirit of Allah, that gives him perfection. (Bold and underline emphasis ours)

And here is what he wrote concerning Q. 32:9:

9*a*. This verse shows that the spirit of God is breathed into every man. This points to a mystical relation between human nature and Divine nature. The word ruh does not here mean the animal soul, because the animal soul is common to man and the animal kingdom. It is something that distinguishes man from the animal world. It is due to the spirit Divine that he rules creation and its due to the same Divine spirit in him that he receives a new life after death – a life which he lives in God and with God – the meeting with God or liqa Allah, as it is called in v. 10. (Bold and underline emphasis ours)

An examination of these texts will demonstrate why the maulana chose to identify the Spirit as being divine. According to these texts, Allah breathed his Spirit into Adam after having fashioned him from clay:

And when thy Lord said to the angels, 'See, I am creating a mortal of a clay of mud moulded. When I have shaped him, and breathed My spirit in him, fall you down, bowing before him!' S. 15:28-29 Arberry

It is obvious why Allah breathed his Spirit into Adam. It was the Spirit that animated Adam's body, thereby causing him to become a living being, and therefore shows that the Holy Spirit is both creator and life-giver. The following text brings out these points even more clearly:

And mention in the Book Mary when she withdrew from her people to an eastern place, and she took a veil apart from them; then We sent unto her Our Spirit that presented himself to her a man without fault. She said, 'I take refuge in the All-merciful from thee! If thou fearest God … He said, 'I am but a messenger come from thy Lord, to give thee a boy most pure. She said, 'How shall I have a son whom no mortal has touched, neither have I been unchaste?' He said, 'Even so thy Lord has said: "Easy is that for Me; and that We may appoint him a sign unto men and a mercy from Us; it is a thing decreed."' S. 19:16-21 Arberry

Here we see Allah's Spirit manifesting as a perfect looking man, and claiming to be a messenger sent from Mary's Lord who was sent to the give her a pure child. This not only shows that the Spirit creates and gives life, but it also reveals that he is a distinct divine Person from Allah who speaks and interacts with others. This next verse gives us an idea of how the Spirit gave Mary a holy offspring:

> And Mary, the daughter of Imran, who guarded her private parts, so We breathed into it of Our Spirit and she established as true the Words of her Lord and His Books and she had been among the ones who are morally obligated. S. 66:12 Dr. Laleh Bakhtiar

Allah breathed his Spirit into Mary's private parts for the obvious purpose of causing her to conceive the human nature and physical body of Jesus. As we just noted, in order for the Spirit to be able to miraculously impregnate a virgin he must necessarily be both creator and life-giver.

In light of the foregoing, could the Quran be any more explicit regarding the divine identify of the Holy Spirit?

Jesus: Allah's Word and Spirit made Flesh

Shockingly, the Quran identifies Jesus as the Word of Allah who came forth as a Spirit from him to Mary:

> When the angels said, 'Mary, God gives thee good tidings of a Word from Him whose name is Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary; high honoured shall he be in this world and the next, near stationed to God. S. 3:45 Arberry

> O People of the Book! Go not beyond the limits in your way of life and say not about God but The Truth: That the Messiah, Jesus son of Mary, was a Messenger of God and HIS WORD that He CAST TO Mary and a Spirit from Him (wa'kalimatuhu al-qaha ila Maryama wa'roohun minhu). So believe in God and His Messengers. And say not: Three. To refrain yourselves from it is better for you. There is only One God. Glory be to Him that He have a son! To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is in and on the earth and God sufficed as a Trustee. S. 4:171 Dr. Laleh Bakhtiar

This is the reason why Jesus is given the titles “the Word of Allah” (Kalimatullah) and “the Spirit of Allah” (Ruhullah) in Islamic tradition:

> “… They will go to 'Isa and say, 'O 'Isa! You are the Messenger of Allah and His Word which He cast to Maryam and a spirit from Him. You spoke to people while in the cradle. Intercede with your Lord on our behalf. Do you not see what we are suffering?' 'Isa will say, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again,' AND HE DID NOT MENTION A SIN. 'O my soul! My soul! My soul! Go to someone else. Go to Muhammad.' (Aisha Bewley, The Sahih Collection of al-Bukhari, Chapter 68. Book of Tafsir; bold, capital and underline emphasis ours) > that a group of people from the Companions of the Messenger of Allah sat waiting for him. He said: "Then he came out, such that when he came close to them, he heard them talking, and he heard what they were saying. So some of them said: 'It's amazing that Allah, the Mighty and Sublime, has taken a Khalil (close friend) from His creation. He took Ibrahim as a Khalil.' And some of them said: 'That is not more amazing than speaking to Musa, He spoke to him with real speech.' And some said: 'And 'Eisa is THE WORD OF ALLAH and His Spirit.' And some said: 'Adam was chosen by Allah.' So he came out upon them and said his Salam, and said: 'I have heard your words, and your amazement that Ibrahim is the Khalil of Allah, and he is such, and that Musa is the one spoken to by Allah, and he is such, and that 'Eisa is THE SPIRIT OF ALLAH and HIS WORD, and he is such, and that Adam was chosen by Allah, and he is such…

And:

The ahadith further proclaim that no one can be a true Muslim unless s/he testifies that Jesus is the Word and Spirit of Allah sent down to his blessed mother:

> Narrated 'Ubada: The Prophet said, "If anyone TESTIFIES that None has the right to be worshipped but Allah Alone Who has no partners, and that Muhammad is His Slave and His Apostle, and that Jesus is Allah's Slave and His Apostle and HIS WORD which He bestowed on Mary and a Spirit from Him, and that Paradise is true, and Hell is true, Allah will admit him into Paradise with the deeds which he had done even if those deeds were few." (Junada, the sub-narrator said, "'Ubada added, 'Such a person can enter Paradise through any of its eight gates he likes.") (Sahih Al-Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 55, Number 644)
> It is narrated on the authority of Ubadah b. Samit that the messenger of Allah observed: HE WHO SAID: "There is no god but Allah, He is One and there is no associate with Him, that Muhammad is his servant and His messenger, that Christ is servant and the son of His slave-girl and he (Christ) HIS WORD which He communicated to Mary and is HIS SPIRIT, that Paradise is a fact and Hell is a fact," Allah would make him (he who affirms these truths enter Paradise through any one of its eight doors which he would like. (Sahih Muslim, Book 1, Number 0043)

We say shockingly because the language employed by the Quran and hadiths to describe Jesus implies that Christ already existed with Allah before he was cast down to his blessed mother. In fact, these titles point to Jesus being eternal by nature, and therefore one with God in essence. After all, God's Word is not part of creation but the means through which God both communicates and brings creation into being. As such God has never existed without his own Word.

This, therefore, means that the Quran recognizes that Jesus is an eternal Spirit who became flesh, a fact that many Christian writers have picked up on. Note, for instance, what the following author says as he brings out the significance of Jesus being identified as a Spirit from Allah:

"This third title is very little different from the second one for once again the title belongs to Jesus alone and God again is the source of the Spirit as he was the source of the Word. (It is sometimes said of Adam that God breathed something of his spirit into him but this must be carefully distinguished from the title Spirit of God which is given to Jesus alone.) Jesus is his Word and his Spirit. This title is also not explained in the Qur'an but frankly supports the Christian belief that Jesus was not a creature made out of dust but an eternal spirit who took on human form…

"Jesus, however, is now called "a Spirit from him" (ruhun-minhu) from which he has received the title in Islamic traditions "Spirit of God" (Ruhullah). The expression in Surah 4:171, ruhun-minhu ('a spirit from him') is used in exactly the same form in Surah 58:22 where it is said that God strengthens true believers with "a spirit from him". Very significantly Yusuf Ali, commenting on this latter verse in his translation of the Qur'an states that here the 'phrase used is stronger' than that for the Holy Spirit (Ruhul Quds). He implies that the Spirit from God is greater than the Holy Spirit and says that it is "the divine spirit, which we can no more define adequately than we can define in human language the nature and attributes of God" (note 5365).

"This is a remarkable comment which is clearly a veiled implication that the ruhun-minhu is the very Spirit of the living God, uncreated and eternal in essence. Yusuf Ali says it is "the divine spirit" and that it is as incomprehensible as God himself. This language is unambiguous – the Spirit from God is clearly believed by him to be from the realm of deity and not from the created order. He is, according to this interpretation, practically synonymous with the Holy Spirit in the Christian Bible.

"Now this is the very title that the Qur'an gives to Jesus in Surah 4:171. The exact same words are used - he is the ruhun-minhu, 'a Spirit from God'. If we merely apply Yusuf Ali's interpretation of the expression in Surah 58:22 to the very same expression given as a title to Jesus in Surah 4:171, we can only conclude that Jesus is the "divine spirit, which we can no more define adequately than we can define in human language the nature and attributes of God". He is, therefore, God in essence and nature. Because of the simultaneous denial in 4:171 that Jesus is the Son of God, Yusuf Ali is constrained to deny that the title ruhun-minhu when applied to Jesus implies deity, but he is hardly consistent in his exposition of the Qur'an when he teaches in another place that ruhun-minhu is indeed a divine spirit possessing the nature and attributes of God and is as incomprehensible as God as well. (Christianity and Islam Series No. 5 The Titles of Jesus in the Qur'an and the Bible, by John Gilchrist, 3. A SPIRIT FROM GOD (Ruhullah); bold and underline emphasis ours)

Another Christian scholar writes:

In chap. iv. 169, Jesus is said to be "a spirit proceeding from God," so that he would appear, according to the Quran, to be the Holy Ghost. Muslims even accord to his followers the creed, "There is one God, and Jesus is the Spirit of God," as expressive of the truth. In chap. xxi. 91, Mary's conception is said to have been due to the breathing by God of his spirit into her. And in chap. iii. 45, Jesus is called the "Word proceeding from Himself," i.e., God. Now, while it is certain that these expressions, and many others of a similar import in the Quran, do express the doctrine of the divinity of Jesus, as well as of the Holy Ghost, it is perfectly clear that Muhammad never intended to express that idea. For instance, in chap. iii. 47, it is evident that Muhammad regarded Jesus as a creature. And in chap. iv. 169, 170, where Jesus is called the "word which he (God) conveyed into Mary, and a spirit proceeding from him," this very expression, which is one of the strongest in the Quran, is followed by the command, "Say not, there are three Gods," which is evidently intended to deny the idea of the divinity of Jesus as well as of Mary. Nevertheless, the fact of such expressions being used in the Quran can only be explained on the ground that they were in use among the Arabs in Muhammad's time in a Christian sense, and that Muhammad either used them, while explaining away their meaning, in order to commend his doctrine to Christians, or, as is more probable, he used them without understanding their Christian import himself. See Muir's Life of Mohamet, vol. ii. p.138.

The unintentional testimony of Muhammad to the character of Jesus is a subject worthy the study of the Christian controversialist.

The Tafsir-i-Husaini gives four opinions of Muslim commentators as to the import of the expression "holy spirit:" (1.) The holy soul of Jesus; (2.) the angel Gabriel; (3.) a potent name whereby he was able to raise the dead; and (4.) the Gospel. (Wherry, Volume 1, pp. 321-322; bold and underline emphasis ours)

So We Now Have a Contradiction!

This now introduces a major contradiction in the Quran since there are passages, which demote Christ to the status of a mere servant and apostle of Allah, no more no less:

The Messiah, son of Mary, was no other than a messenger, messengers (the like of whom) had passed away before him. And his mother was a saintly woman. And they both used to eat (earthly) food. See how We make the revelations clear for them, and see how they are turned away! S. 5:75 Pickthall

He ['Iesa (Jesus)] was not more than a slave. We granted Our Favour to him, and We made him an example to the Children of Israel (i.e. his creation without a father). S. 43:59 Hilali-Khan

As a result of these egregious blunders Muhammad came up with the ad hoc reply that there are unclear Quranic verses whose meanings are known only to Allah. Muhammad, therefore, warned his followers not to base their theology on such ambiguous texts:

It is He Who has sent down to you (Muhammad) the Book (this Qur'an). In it are Verses that are entirely clear, they are the foundations of the Book [and those are the Verses of Al-Ahkam (commandments, etc.), Al-Fara'id (obligatory duties) and Al-Hudud (legal laws for the punishment of thieves, adulterers, etc.)]; and others not entirely clear. So as for those in whose hearts there is a deviation (from the truth) they follow that which is not entirely clear thereof, seeking Al-Fitnah (polytheism and trials, etc.), and seeking for its hidden meanings, but none knows its hidden meanings save Allah. And those who are firmly grounded in knowledge say: "We believe in it; the whole of it (clear and unclear Verses) are from our Lord." And none receive admonition except men of understanding. (Tafsir At-Tabari). S. 3:7 Hilali-Khan

The Muslim expositors acknowledge that this verse was written in response to a group of Christians from Najran who employed Muhammad's own testimony to Christ being the Word and Spirit of Allah to prove that he is God in the flesh:

Surah Al `Imran was revealed in Al-Madinah, as evident by the fact that the first eighty-three Ayat in it relate to the delegation from Najran that arrived in Al-Madinah on the ninth year of Hijrah (632 CE). We will elaborate on this subject when we explain the Ayah about the Mubahalah (3:61) in this Surah, Allah willing. We should also state that we mentioned the virtues of Surah Al `Imran along with the virtues of Surat Al-Baqarah in the beginning of the Tafsir of Surat Al-Baqarah. (Tafsir Ibn Kathir; bold emphasis ours)

And:

Therefore, Allah said…

(So as for those in whose hearts there is a deviation) meaning, those who are misguided and deviate from truth to falsehood…

(they follow that which is not entirely clear thereof) meaning, they refer to the Mutashabih, because they are able to alter its meanings to conform with their false interpretation since the wordings of the Mutashabihat encompass such a wide area of meanings. As for the Muhkam Ayat, they cannot be altered because they are clear and, thus, constitute unequivocal proof against the misguided people. This is why Allah said…

(seeking Al-Fitnah) meaning, they seek to misguide their following by pretending to prove their innovation by relying on the Qur'an -- the Mutashabih of it -- but, this is proof against and not for them. For instance, Christians might claim that (`Isa is divine) because the Qur'an states that he is Ruhullah and His Word, which He gave to Mary, all the while ignoring Allah's statements…

(He (`Isa) was not more than a servant. We granted Our favor to him.) (43:59), and…

(Verily, the likeness of `Isa before Allah is the likeness of Adam. He created him from dust, then (He) said to him: "Be!" and he was.) (3:59).

There are other Ayat that clearly assert that `Isa is but one of Allah's creatures and that he is the servant and Messenger of Allah, among other Messengers. (Tafsir Ibn Kathir; bold emphasis ours)

Now this places Muslims in a dilemma since they cannot tell us what it means for Jesus to be the Word and Spirit of Allah, seeing that their own prophet stated that the meaning of these titles are known only to the Islamic deity.

With that said it is quite obvious that Muhammad didn't realize that these particular Christological descriptions, which he had picked up from Christians, basically point to Jesus being God in nature.

Jesus as the Creator and Life-giver

The Islamic scripture describes Christ as creating and giving life in the exact same way that Allah does:

"to be a Messenger to the Children of Israel saying, 'I have come to you with a sign from your Lord. I WILL CREATE for you out of CLAY (annee AKHLUQU lakum mina AL-TEENI)as the likeness of a bird; then I WILL BREATHE INTO IT, and it will be a bird, by the leave of God. I will also heal the blind and the leper, and bring to life the dead, by the leave of God. I will inform you too of what things you eat, and what you treasure up in your houses. Surely in that is a sign for you, if you are believers.'" S. 3:49 Arberry

Now contrast this with the manner in which Allah is said to have created the first man:

When thy Lord said to the angels, 'See, I am creating a mortal of a clay (innee KHALIQUN basharan min TEENIN). When I have shaped him, and breathed My spirit in him, fall you down, bowing before him!' S. 38:71-72 Arthur J. Arberry – cf. 15:28-29

The Quran even employs the same Arabic verb to describe Christ's act of creating a bird from clay which, in all of its other occurrences, is only applied to Allah:

"The verb khalaqa is found 180 times in the Qur'an and it is always translated, in various languages, with 'to create.' With the exception of Q 20:17 (takhluquna ifkan= you invent a lie), it always designates the creative action of God. In 177 cases, the subject of the verb is God, while in the other two cases (3:49 and 5:110) it is Christ. Evidently this could only come from Christians; Muslim tradition, which could not uphold this meaning (the only one attested in the Qur'an), interprets it with the meaning of 'to fashion, mold.' Meanwhile, the action of 'breathing into' is, in the Bible as in the Qur'an, typical of the creative action of God.

"Thus the two verbs used in this verse both reflect the divine creative action, and not the human action of a potter, for example, thereby confirming the Christian origin of this verse." (Samir Khalil Samir, "6. The Theological Christian Influence on the Qur'an – A Reflection," The Qur'an in its Historical Context, edited by Gabriel Said Reynolds [Routledge Studies in the Qur'an, 2008], p. 146; bold emphasis ours)

This, therefore, indicates that Christ is a Co-Creator with the Muslim deity since he is able to create and breathe out the life-giving Spirit into lifeless objects.

At this point the Quran is merely parroting what is found in the God-breathed Scriptures, which present Jesus as healing all sorts of diseases such as leprosy and blindness, raising the dead, and even breathing out the Holy Spirit upon his followers:

"Jesus went throughout all Galilee teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all kinds of sickness and all sorts of diseases among the people. His fame went throughout all Syria. And they brought to Him all sick people who were taken with various diseases and tormented with pain, those who were possessed with demons, those who had seizures, and those who had paralysis, and He healed them." Matthew 4:23-24

"Now when the sun was setting, all those who had anyone sick with various diseases brought them to Him. And He laid His hands on every one of them and healed them. And demons came out of many, crying out, 'You are the Christ, the Son of God!' But He rebuked them and did not permit them to speak, because they knew that He was the Christ." Luke 4:40-41

"In that same hour He cured many of their infirmities and afflictions and evil spirits. And to many who were blind He gave sight. So Jesus answered them, 'Go and tell John what you have seen and heard: that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the gospel is preached to the poor.'" Luke 7:21-22 – cf. Matthew 11:4-5

"When He had said this, He breathed on them and said to them, 'Receive the Holy Spirit.'" John 20:22

Concluding Remarks

Our examination of the Islamic scripture has shown that it nowhere condemns the orthodox view of the doctrine of the bless Trinity, but rather affirms it by ascribing specific functions and roles to Christ and the Holy Spirit, which clearly portray them as being fully divine. As we saw, the Quran basically affirms that Jesus is the eternal Word of Allah that came forth as a Spirit from him for the purpose of becoming flesh, and who possesses the ability to create and give life. We further showed from the Muslim scripture that the Holy Spirit is a divine Person that can manifest in human form, and who can also create and give life. The Quran, therefore, also has a trinity that is virtually identical to that of Christianity, in that it speaks of Allah, his eternal Word made flesh, and his Holy Spirit.

Seeing that this is precisely what Christians mean when they speak of God being Triune how, then, can any Muslim accuse us of being disbelievers or polytheists without also condemning Muhammad and/or the author(s)/editor(s) in the process?

With that said we want to emphasize to the readers that we are not saying that the Allah of Islam is the one true God revealed in the Person of the Lord Jesus, nor do we want them to think for a moment that we actually believe that the Quranic trinity is the same as the glorious Trinity found in the God-breathed Scriptures.

On the contrary, we wholeheartedly affirm that Islam presents another Jesus and spirit, and preaches a different Gospel. As such, the god spoken of in the Muslim scripture is nothing more than a counterfeit set up by the devil for the purpose of keeping people from discovering the one true God manifested in the Lord Jesus Christ:

> "Therefore, since we have this ministry through the mercy we have received, we do not lose heart. But we have renounced the secret things of shame, not walking in craftiness nor handling the word of God deceitfully, but by expressing the truth and commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God. But if our gospel is hidden, it is hidden to those who are lost. The god of this world has blinded the minds of those who do not believe, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine on them. For we do not preach ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord, and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake. For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." 2 Corinthians 4:1-6
> "I would to God you could bear with me a little in my folly. Indeed, bear with me. For I am jealous over you with godly jealousy. For I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ. But I fear that somehow, as the serpent deceived Eve through his trickery, so your minds might be led astray from the simplicity that is in Christ. For if he who comes preaches another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if you receive another spirit, which you have not received, or another gospel, which you have not accepted, you might submit to it readily enough… And I will continue doing what I am doing, that I may cut off the opportunity from those who desire an opportunity to be found equal to us in what they boast about. For such are false apostles and deceitful workers, disguising themselves as apostles of Christ. And no wonder! For even Satan disguises himself as an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also disguise themselves as ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works." 2 Corinthians 11:1-4, 12-15

Therefore, we exhort Muslims to turn away from this counterfeit trinity and embrace the one and only Triune God revealed in the inspired pages of the Holy Bible.

John 8:48-59 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

48 The Jews answered Him, "Aren't we right in saying that You are a Samaritan and demon-possessed?"

49 "I am not possessed by a demon," said Jesus, "but I honor My Father and you dishonor Me. 50 I am not seeking glory for Myself; but there is One who seeks it, and He is the judge. 51 Very truly I tell you, whoever obeys My word will never see death."

52 At this they exclaimed, "Now we know that You are demon-possessed! Abraham died and so did the prophets, yet You say that whoever obeys Your word will never taste death. 53 Are You greater than our father Abraham? He died, and so did the prophets. Who do You think You are?"

54 Jesus replied, "If I glorify Myself, My glory means nothing. My Father, whom you claim as your God, is the One who glorifies Me. 55 Though you do not know Him, I know Him. If I said I did not, I would be a liar like you, but I do know Him and obey His word. 56 Your father Abraham rejoiced at the thought of seeing My day; he saw it and was glad."

57 "You are not yet fifty years old," they said to Him, "and You have seen Abraham!"

58 "Very truly I tell you," Jesus answered, "before Abraham was born, I am!"

59 At this, they picked up stones to stone Him, but Jesus hid Himself, slipping away from the temple grounds.

Creation of human in Islam:

Quran 4:1

O humanity! Be mindful of your Lord Who created you from a single soul, and from it He created its mate, and through both He spread countless men and women. …

وَٰحِدَةٍ

Here this Arabic word ‘wahidatin’ is used in the translation as ‘single’. But it is feminine singular. وَٰحِدَ ‘Wahid’ is used in masculine singular as ةٍ is absent. So ةٍ determines if it is feminine, if it is absent it’s masculine. As here ‘wahidatin’ is used, that means Allah created female, that is Eve, first. From Eve Allah brought it’s mate, that is Adam, her husband.

Quran 3:59

Indeed, the example of Jesus to Allah is like that of Adam. …

From Quran 4:1 and Quran 3:59 it can be inferred that Q3:59 is saying:

like Allah created Jesus from Mary, putting inside Mary the Ruh, Adam was also created from Eve, putting inside Eve the Ruh.

Genesis 3:1-6 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses):

1. Now the serpent was more crafty than any of the wild animals the Lord God had made. He said to the woman, “Did God really say, ‘You must not eat from any tree in the garden’?”
2. The woman said to the serpent, “We may eat fruit from the trees in the garden,
3. but God did say, ‘You must not eat fruit from the tree that is in the middle of the garden, and you must not touch it, or you will die.’”
4. “You will not certainly die,” the serpent said to the woman.
5. “For God knows that when you eat from it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil.”
6. When the woman saw that the fruit of the tree was good for food and pleasing to the eye, and also desirable for gaining wisdom, she took some and ate it. She also gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate it.

Thus, the serpent deceived Eve and she lead with him Adam to deception. Both were cast down from Heaven. Think about why it is so different in Islamic and Jude-Christian faith when it comes to the theory of creation. As if Eve brought Adam to world out of haven through a deceiver/Makir. That's the serpent/Satan.

Who is Muhammad According to Islam Itself?

After the conquest of the Khaybar, a Jewish woman named Zaynab served Muhammad with poison in goat meat. Muhammad took the meat given to him by Zaynab and was poisoned.

[Ibn Sa'd, Vol. 2, pp. 251-252]

> When the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, conquered Khaybar and he had peace of mind, Zaynab Bint al-Harith, the brother of Marhab, who was the spouse of Sallam Ibn Mishkam, inquired: Which part of the goat is liked by Muhammad? They said: The foreleg. Then she slaughtered one from her goats and roasted it (the meat). Then she wanted a poison which could not fail. The Jews discussed about poisons and became united on one poison. She poisoned the she-goat putting more poison on the forelegs, and shoulder. When the sun had set and the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, returned after leading the people in Maghrib (sun-set) prayers, she sat by his feet. He asked her about her. She said: O Abu al-Qasim! Here is a present which I wish to offer to you. The Prophet, may Allah bless him, ordered it to be taken. It was served to him and to his Companions who were present and among those who were present was Bishr Ibn al-Bara Ibn Ma'rur. Then the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, said: Come closer and have night meal. The Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, took the foreleg, a piece of which he put into his mouth. Bishr Ibn al-Bara took another bone and put it into his mouth. When the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, ate one morsel of it Bishr ate his and other people also ate from it. Then the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, said: Hold back your hands! Because this foreleg; and according to another version, the shoulder of the goat, has informed me that it is poisoned. Thereupon Bishr said: By Him Who hath made you great! I discovered it from the morsel I > took. Nothing prevented me from emitting it out, but the idea that I did not like to make your food unrelishing. When you had eaten what was in your mouth, I did not like to save my life after yours, and I also thought you would not have eaten it if there was something wrong. Bishr did not rise from his seat but his color changed to that of taylsan (a green cloth). For a year the pain did not permit him to change his sides but with the help of others and then he expired. According to another version, he died before leaving his seat. He (Ibn Sa'd) said: A peace of it was dropped before a dog who ate it and died (instantaneously) without being able to move its foreleg. The Apostle of Allah sent for Zaynab Bint al-Harith and said to her: What induced you to do what you have done? She replied: You have done to my people what you have done. You have killed my father, my uncle, and my husband, so I said to myself. If you are a prophet, the foreleg will inform you; and others have said: If you are a king we will get rid of you. The Jewess returned as she had come. He (Ibn Sa'd) said: The Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, handed her over to the heirs of Bishr Ibn al-Bara who put her to death.

Therefore the Prophet had killed the woman's father, uncle, and husband. Therefore, the woman did this act to take revenge.

The Prophet said to the Jewish woman you cannot kill me:

Sahih Muslim, Book 26, Hadith 5430 http://sunnah.com/muslim/39/59

> Anas reported that a Jewess came to Allah's Messenger with poisoned mutton and he took of that what had been brought to him (Allah's Messenger). (When the effect of this poison were felt by him) he called for her and asked her about that, whereupon she said: I had determined to kill you. Thereupon he said: Allah will never give you the power to do it. He (the narrator) said that they (the Companion's of the Holy Prophet) said: Should we not kill her? Thereupon he said: No. He (Anas) said: I felt (the affects of this poison) on the uvula of Allah's Messenger.

Jewish woman tested Muhammad by poisoning his food to see if he was really a prophet. Bishar Ibn Al-Bara, companion of Muhammad died immediately after being poisoned. The woman was killed on the order of the Prophet. Finally, the Prophet died because of the woman's poison. At the time of death, the Prophet felt that his aorta was tearing due to severe pain.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 40, Hadith 4497 http://sunnah.com/abudawud/41/19

> “a Jewess presented him at Khaybar with a roasted sheep which she had poisoned. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) ate of it and the people also ate. He then said: Take away your hands (from the food), for it has informed me that it is poisoned. Bishr ibn al-Bara' ibn Ma'rur al-Ansari died. So he (the Prophet) sent for the Jewess (and said to her): What motivated you to do the work you have done? She said: If you were a prophet, it would not harm you; but if you were a king, I should rid the people of you. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) then ordered regarding her and she was killed. He then said about the pain of which he died: I continued to feel pain from the morsel which I had eaten at Khaybar. This is the time when it has cut off my aorta”

Al-Tabari, Volume 9, Page-181

> Aisha, the wife of Muhammad (pbuh) narrated: "Before Muhammad (pbuh) died, I saw that there was a vessel of water near Muhammad (pbuh). He would put his hand inside the vessel and then wipe his face with water and say, "O my Lord. ! Help me to be freed from severe painful punishment.

When Muhammad's illness worsened, Muhammad told water from 7 wells should be brought and poured over his head so that he could recover and return to his people as before. It is known from the hadith that Muhammad’s both legs were paralyzed due to the effect of poison. Muhammad (PBUH) used to walk with his hands on the shoulders of his cousin Ali and another companion:

Sahih al-Bukhari 5714 https://sunnah.com/bukhari:5714

> Narrated 'Aisha:
> When the health of Allah's Apostle deteriorated and his condition became serious, he asked the permission of all his wives to allow him to be treated In my house, and they allowed him. He came out, supported by two men and his legs were dragging on the ground between Abbas and another man. (The sub-narrator told Ibn 'Abbas who said: Do you know who was the other man whom 'Aisha did not mention? The sub-narrator said: No. Ibn Abbas said: It was 'Ali.) 'Aisha added: When the Prophet entered my house and his disease became aggravated, he said, "Pour on me seven water skins full of water (the tying ribbons of which had not been untied) so that I may give some advice to the people." So we made him sit in a tub belonging to Hafsa, the wife of the Prophet and started pouring water on him from those water skins till he waved us to stop. Then he went out to the people and led them in prayer and delivered a speech before them.

Sahih al-Bukhari 5016 https://sunnah.com/bukhari:5016

> Narrated By ‘Aisha : Whenever Allah’s Apostle became sick, he would recite Mu’awwidhat (Surat Al-Falaq and Surat An-Nas) and then blow his breath over his body. When he became seriously ill, I used to recite (these two Suras) and rub his hands over his body hoping for its blessings.

But even then Muhammad did not recover from the poisoning.

The Prophet was telling Aisha on his deathbed that, his chest artery (Aorta) was tearing due to poisoning. He was feeling great pain.

Sahih Bukhari, Vol. 5, Book 59, Hadith 713 http://sunnah.com/bukhari/64/450

> “The Prophet (ﷺ) in his ailment in which he died, used to say, "O `Aisha! I still feel the pain caused by the food I ate at Khaibar, and at this time, I feel as if my aorta is being cut from that poison."”

The Prophet was in Aisha's house at the time of his death and fell to his death in Aisha's arms.

Sahih Bukhari, Vol. 7, Book 62, Hadith 144 http://sunnah.com/bukhari/67/150

> Narrated `Aisha:
> that during his fatal ailment, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ), used to ask his wives, "Where shall I stay tomorrow? Where shall I stay tomorrow?" He was looking forward to Aisha's turn. So all his wives allowed him to stay where he wished, and he stayed at `Aisha's house till he died there. `Aisha added: He died on the day of my usual turn at my house. Allah took him unto Him while his head was between my chest and my neck and his saliva was mixed with my saliva.

According to Aisha, Prophet Muhammad died suffering the most.

Sunan Ibn Majah, Vol. 1, Book 6, Hadith 1622 http://sunnah.com/urn/1289720

> “‘Aishah said: “I never saw anyone suffer more pain than the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).””

2. IBiography of Muhammad "Al Tabari"

When Muhammad preached Islam in Mecca, the Quraysh of Mecca did not believe in the verses of the Qur'an. The Quraish used to say that Muhammad was the author of the verses of the Qur'an. To remove this doubt of the Quraysh, at this time the Qur'anic verse 69:44-46 was revealed, where Allah says that if he (that is, Muhammad) had written any verse by himself in the name of Allah, then Allah would have seized Muhammad by his right hand and cut Muhammad's life artery (aorta).

Therefore the Jewish woman was actually just a medium for God. God himself killed the Muhammad.

Quran 69:44-46

> “And if Muhammad had made up about Us some [false] sayings, We would have seized him by the right hand; Then We would have cut from him the aorta.”

Musnad Ahmad 107

> “. . . This is the Revelation sent down from the Lord of the ‘Alameen (mankind, jinn and all that exists). And if he (Muhammad had forged a false saying concerning Us (Allah). We surely would have seized him by his right hand (or with power and might), And then We certainly would have cut off his life artery (aorta), . . .”

Understand something? Re-read the Hadith and Sira references above. But the Prophet repeatedly said at the time of his death that he felt the pain in his life artery/aorta was ripping. What does that mean? The Prophet used to send down false verses by breaking the name of the Creator (Allah) throughout his life. And the true Lord gave him the same punishment that He had imposed on him for being a false prophet. What a cruel reality.

Some Muslim misconceptions and their answers:

1) The piece of meat warned him that it contained poison, proving that he was a prophet of God!

Answer: If he was a prophet he may have warned everyone as soon as the cooked sheep came (mentioned in this hadith Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 40, Hadith 4497) in front of him. But he could not do that. Instead he himself felt it was poisonous after eating something so he warned everyone about the poison. If Muhammad was a prophet, he would have warned everyone a long time ago and Bishar would not have had to die.

2) If he had died from this poison, how could the Prophet be alive for another 4 years after this incident?!

Answer: Sahih Hadith no Sahih Bukhari, Vol. 5, Book 59, Hadith 713 Muhammad himself claims that he died of Khaybar poisoning. Maybe it worked like slow poisoning. By denying Muhammad's own claims in Sahih Hadith, Muslim claimants question their own faith.

3) After suffering for four years he accepted martyrdom!

Answer: In response to this claim, if someone says that he claimed to be a false prophet, Allah will punish him for four years, did not kill immediately, then how to refute this claim? If you look at the previous book, you will see that if any prophet was written in the destiny of martyr death, none of them suffered for such a long time, rather they died in a very short time at the hands of the adversaries. So trying to make Muhammad's death a martyr's death by equating this death with other martyred prophets is nothing but a misguided attempt.

4) Allah kept him alive for these four years to complete his mission, which proves that he is the Prophet of Allah!

Answer: The Prophet's mission was Persia, the conquest of Syria and Yemen, which we see in Ibn Kasir's famous history book "Al Bidaya wan Nihaya"

> He said, Allahu Akbar gave me the keys of Syria. By God, I can definitely see the red palaces there. He hit the rock a second time. This time the other third collapsed. He said, “I have been given the keys of the Persian Empire by Allahu Akbar. By Allah, I can see the white palaces of Madain. He struck the stone a third time and said Bismillah It broke the rest of the stone. He said, Allahu Akbar has given me the keys to the kingdom of Yemen By Allah, I can now see the gates of the city of Sana'a from this place.

But he died before actually achieving this goal. So if the Muslim claimants want to declare his conquest of Makkah as mission complete, then it will be a lie.

5) In that verse of the Qur'an there is the word "Al Watina", which means "the vein of the heart"; But in that hadith of Sahih Bukhari, the word "Abhari" appears, which means "choking".

Answer: Muslim preachers presents this fallacy to mislead simple minded Muslims. The words carry the same meaning whether it is a heart vein or a blocked aorta. Even if we do not accept this small difference in wording, there is no denying the fact that Muhammad himself will be punished for preaching falsehood in the Qur'an, which actually happened in his life. Muhammad proved himself to be a false prophet by his own admission that the false claim of prophethood he made in the name of God happened in his own life.

No matter how hard he died, before his death he ordered the complete expulsion of non-Muslim from the Arab world. Muslims of the present age keep saying that everyone has their own religion. Muhammad once said do not exaggerate about religion. These words really sound like jokes.

Sahih Bukhari, Vol. 5, Book 59, Hadith 716 http://sunnah.com/bukhari/64/453

> “The ailment of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) became worse (on Thursday) … Then he ordered them to do three things. He said, "Turn the pagans out of the 'Arabian Peninsula; respect and give gifts to the foreign delegations as you have seen me dealing with them." (Sa`id bin Jubair, the sub-narrator said that Ibn `Abbas kept quiet as rewards the third order, or he said, "I forgot it.")”

Sahih al-Bukhari 2338:

Narrated Ibn `Umar:

> `Umar expelled the Jews and the Christians from Hijaz. When Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) had conquered Khaibar, he wanted to expel the Jews from it as its land became the property of Allah, His Apostle, and the Muslims. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) intended to expel the Jews but they requested him to let them stay there on the condition that they would do the labor and get half of the fruits. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) told them, "We will let you stay on thus condition, as long as we wish." So, they (i.e. Jews) kept on living there until `Umar forced them to go towards Taima' and Ariha'.

More references about painful death:

1. [Sunan Abu Dawud 20:3135]

Narrated Aisha, Ummul Mu’minin: By Allah, we did not know whether we should take off the clothes of the Apostle of Allah as we took off the clothes of our dead, or wash him while his clothes were on him. When they (the people) differed among themselves, Allah cast slumber over them until every one of them had put his chin on his chest. Then a speaker spoke from a side of the house, and they did not know who he was: Wash the Prophet while his clothes are on him. So they stood round the Prophet and washed him while he had his shirt on him. They poured water on his shirt, and rubbed him with his shirt and not with their hands. Aisha used to say: If I had known beforehand about my affair what I found out later, none would have washed him except his wives.

2. [Sunan Abu Dawud 39:4499]

Narrated Ibn Ka’b b. Malik: On the authority of his father: Umm Mubashshir said to the Prophet during the sickness of which he died: What do you think about your illness, Messenger of Allah? I do not think about the illness of my son except the poisoned sheep of which he had eaten with you at Khaybar. The Prophet said: And I do not think about my illness except that. This is the time when it cut off my aorta. . .

3. [Sunan Abi Dawud 4512]

Narrated Abu Hurairah: The Messenger of Allah would accept a present, but would not accept alms (sadaqah). And Wahb bin Baqiyyah narrated to us, elsewhere, from Khalid, from Muhammad ibn Amr said on the authority of AbuSalamah, and he did not mention the name of Abu Hurairah: The Messenger of Allah used to accept presents but not alms (sadaqah).

This version adds: So a Jewess presented him at Khaybar with a roasted sheep which she had poisoned. The Messenger of Allah ate of it and the people also ate. He then said: Take away your hands (from the food), for it has informed me that it is poisoned. Bishr ibn al-Bara’ ibn Ma’rur al-Ansari died.

So he (the Prophet) sent for the Jewess (and said to her): What motivated you to do the work you have done? She said: If you were a prophet, it would not harm you; but if you were a king, I should rid the people of you. The Messenger of Allah then ordered regarding her and she was killed. He then said about the pain of which he died: I continued to feel pain from the morsel which I had eaten at Khaybar. This is the time when it has cut off my aorta.

4. [Ibn Ishaq, p. 516]

When the apostle had rested, Zaynab d. al-Harith, the wife of Sallam b. Mishkam prepared for him a roast lamb, having first inquired what joint he preferred. When she learned that it was the shoulder she put a lot of poison in it and poisoned the whole lamb. Then she brought it in and placed it before him. He took hold of the shoulder and chewed a morsel of it, but he did not swallow it. Bishr b. al-Bara b. Ma’rur who was with him took some of it as the apostle had done, but he swallowed it, while the apostle spat it out, saying, ‘This bone tells me that it is poisoned.’ Then he called for the woman and she confessed, and when he asked her what had induced her to do this she answered: ‘You know what you have done to my people. I said to myself, If he is a king I shall ease myself of him and if he is a prophet he will be informed (of what I have done).’ So the apostle let her off. Bishr died from what he had eaten.

5. [Al-Tabari, Vol. 8, pp. 124-125]

When the Messenger of God rested from his labor, Zaynab bt. al-Harith, the wife of Sallam b. Mishkam, served him a roast sheep. She had asked what part of the sheep the Messenger of God liked best and was told that it was the foreleg. So she loaded that part with poison, and she poisoned the rest of the sheep, too. Then she brought it. When she set it before the Messenger of God, he took the foreleg and chewed a bit of it, but he did not swallow it. With him was Bishr b. al-Bars' b. Ma'rur, who, like the Messenger of God, took some of it, Bishr, however, swallowed it, while the Messenger of God spat it out, saying, "This bone informs me that it has been poisoned ." Then he summoned the woman, and she confessed. He asked, "What led you to do this?" She said: "How you have afflicted my people is not hidden from you. So I said, `If he is a prophet, he will be informed; but if he is a king, I shall be rid of him." The Prophet forgave her. Bishr b. al-Bars' died of the food he had eaten. According to Ibn Humayd-Salamah-Muhammad b. Ishaq- Marwan b. 'Uthman b. Abi Said b. al-Mu'alla,513 who said: The Messenger of God said during the illness from which he died-the mother of Bishr b. al-Bara' had come in to visit him-"Umm Bishr, at this very moment I feel my aorta being severed because of the food I ate with your son at Khaybar." The Muslims believed that in addition to the honor of prophethood that God had granted him the Messenger of God died a martyr.

6. [Ibn Sa'd, Vol. 2, p. 294]

Umm Bishr [the mother of the Muslim man who also died eating poison], came to the prophet during his illness and said, "O apostle of Allah! I never saw fever like it in any one." The prophet said to her, "Our trial is double and so our reward [in heaven], is double. What do the people say about it [his illness]?" She said, "They say it is pleurisy." Thereupon the apostle said, "Allah will not like to make His apostle suffer from it (pleurisy) because it indicates the possession of Satan, but (my disease is the result of) the morsel that I had taken along your son. It has cut my jugular vein."

Mubahalah/ Cursing Competition

References: Tafsir Qur'an, Surah Ali Imran, verse 61 by Ibn Kathir History of Islam by Tabari, volume 9, page 187
Christians actually had a silent role they played in his death and even the demise of his family. It all started with the meeting with the Prophet that ended up with the Mubahalah.
What is Mubahalah?
Mubahalah means invocation of Allah’s curse to reveal who is lying. The event was related with the Christian people at Najran (present-day Saudi Arabia), in the month of Dhu’l-Hijja, 10 AH (Anno Hijriah) which is October 631, according to Encyclopaedia of Islam (Second edition). Other Islamic references date it to 22 March or 3 April 632 AD. Prophet Muhammad sent a letter to the Christians at Najran to accept Islam or pay jizya. Jizya is a ransom money to the Prophet Muhammad and his Muslim army. If they didn’t pay, Prophet Muhammad would attack and plunder them. In response to that letter, a Christian delegation was sent to meet the Prophet in Medina. The leader of the Christian delegation was Priest Abdul Masih. When they meet Prophet Muhammad in Medina, they discussed the belief about Jesus, whether he is a Prophet or God incarnated. Muhammad replied- Jesus is nothing more than a mere human being.
Qur’an, Sura Ali Imran, verse 59.
Indeed, the example of Jesus in the sight of Allah is like that of Adam. He created him from dust, then said to him, “Be!” And he was!
The debate lasted for two days. At the end of the day, Prophet Muhammad got mad at the Christians and challenged them for a cursing competition, so that the liars can be directly punished by Allah, or God.

Qur’an, Surah Ali Imran, verse 61.
Now, whoever disputes with you ˹O Prophet˺ concerning Jesus after full knowledge has come to you, say, “Come! Let us gather our children and your children, our women and your women, ourselves and yourselves— then let us sincerely invoke Allah’s curse upon the liars.”

By Qur'an, Surah Ali Imran (3), verse 61, the Challenge of Mubahalah is declared. The Christians never agreed to this Mubahala. So they told- it's getting late, we would like to leave and meet you tomorrow morning. (the Christians leaving Prophet's mosque)
The Qur'an tafsir says that the Najran Christians thought that Muhammad was a real Prophet and therefore they were afraid to accept the cursing competition. But that is not possible because the Bible forbids Christians to curse anyone. We know from the Bible that no Christian will ever engage in such cursing. The Bible is replete with strong words against cursing another.
Luke 6, verse 28.
BLESS THOSE WHO CURSE YOU, pray for those who mistreat you.
Matthew 5, verse 44.
But I say unto you, Love your enemies, BLESS THEM THAT CURSE YOU, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;
James 3, verse 10.
Out of the same mouth come praise and cursing. My brothers and sisters, this should not be.

The Muslims somehow think that the Christians withdrew from this so-called competition because they were afraid of Muhammad's power. In reality, the Najran Christians could easily realize that he was just a false prophet. Had Muhammad been a true prophet, the curse would have made all Christians to have obliterated faces, turning backwards, as what Prophet Muhammad said in:
Qur'an, Surah An-Nisaa, verse 47
O you who were given the Book! Believe in what We have revealed - confirming your own Scriptures — before We wipe out ˹your˺ faces, turning them backwards, or We condemn the defiant as We did to the Sabbath-breakers. And Allah's command is always executed!
The next day, the Prophet came out with his daughter Fatima, his son-in-law Ali, and their two sons, Hasan and Husayn for the Mubahalah.
Muhammad: When I supplicate, you say Amen.
Christian (Priest Abdul Masih): "O Abul Qasim, we have agreed not to do the mubahalah. Please keep your religion, and we remain in our religion."
After that, they left to go back Najran.
Tafsir al-Jalalayn Quran, Surah Ali Imran, v. 61:
Had they set out and performed the mutual cursing, they would have gone home and found neither possessions nor family. And they would have been consumed by fire."
Tafsir Ibn Kathir Quran, Surah Ali Imran, v. 61:
Later, the Prophet asked them to pay jizya with two thousand clothes per year.

Remember the people who participated in the Mubahalah along with Prophet Muhammad: Fatima, the Daughter of Prophet Muhammad, Ali, the Son-in-Law of Prophet Muhammad and Fatima's husband, Al-Hasan, the grandson of Prophet

Muhammad, Al-Husayn, the grandson of Prophet Muhammad. Mubahalah Backfires

The Quran does not say anything about the time frame of the Mubahala effect. However, Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani in his voluminous Fath ul-Bari fi Sharh Sahih al-Bukhari writes:

"Some of the benefits of this hadith is that one can do Mubahala with an opponent if he insists after losing the argument…. What is known by experience is that one who takes part in Mubahala to support falsehood will not survive its FIRST ANNIVERSARY."

Asqalani The mubahala happened in October, 631 A.D. Prophet Muhammad died a painful death on the 7th of June 632 AD, or before the completion of first year of the Mubahala.

Point to Note: According to Ibn Hajar "what is known by experience is that one who takes part in Mubahalah to support falsehood will not survive its first anniversary" and Muhammad who cursed the Christian delegation died approximately in a year.

Does it not raise serious questions on Muhammad's claim to be a true prophet even by Islamic criteria? The Bible Proves Muhammad was a False Prophet. The Mubahala Proves Muhammad was a False Prophet. The Quran and the Hadiths prove Muhammad was a False Prophet

FATIMA KILLED: Shortly after the death of Prophet Muhammad, Fatima, his daughter was killed. After Prophet Muhammad died, Umar and Abu Bakr demanded Ali to swear the oath of allegiance to Abu Bakr. But Ali refused to comply with their demands and left them to go home. Abu Bakr and Umar and their army come to Ali's house. The house was surrounded by an armed band led by Abu Bakr and Umar, who threatened to set it on fire if Ali refused to come out. This situation made Ali's wife, Fatima, very angry. At that time, Fatima was pregnant. When Ali did not come out, Umar violently entered the house of Fatima by breaking the door which fell upon her. This not only aborted her unborn child but also caused enough injuries which later led to her death. Fatima also died in the same year as Prophet Muhammad. 29 years after the death of Muhammad, Ali was also killed. Abdur Rahman bin Muljam was one of the Kharjiz soldiers who hated Ali. He planned to kill Ali who would lead a prayer in Kufa mosque. He soaked his sword in deadly poison for three days. On the morning of the 19th of Ramadan of the year 40 A.H., Ali came into the Great Mosque of Kufa, and he lead the prayer. Standing in the front row, with other worshippers, were Abdur Rahman bin Muljam. When Ali prostrated, bin Muljam attacked him with his sword. He struck fatal blows at his neck, forehead with such deadly force. When people found out about this, they tried to help. His sons, Hasan and Husayn, carried him to his house. A physician came, and tried to dress the ghastly wound but could not stop the bleeding. Ali died soon after that. Ten years later, it was Hasan's turn to meet his demise. Hasan was poisoned Mu'awiya was the Governor of Syria and he was the enemy of Ali and his children, Hasan and Husayn. Mu'awiya conspired with Hasan's wife, Ja'dah. She was made to give Hassan some poison which affected his liver. Hassan later died on the 28th Safar, 50 AH. Husayn was Mutilated Ten years later. Yazīd I succeeded his father, Muāwiyah I, and became the caliph in 680 AD. The Shītes in the city of Kufah in Iraq felt the leadership of the Muslim community rightly belonged to the descendants of Alī. They invited Ḥusayn to take refuge with them, promising to have him proclaimed caliph there. Al-Husayn accepted the invitation. He brought his family and 72 soldiers to leave Mecca and go to Kufah. Yazid I found out about this and he contacted his ally Ubayd Allah governor of Al-Baṣrah, to confront Al-Husayn. Ubayd Allāh sent 4000 army, under the command of Umar ibn Sad, son of the founder of the city Al-Kūfah. They confronted Al-Husayn and his family and his army at Karbalā, west of the Euphrates River, on October 10, 680 AD. Al Husayn and all of his people were butchered, mutilated. Prophet Muhammad and the rest of his family that participated in the Mubahalah died under tragic circumstances. All of them were killed in unexpected ways.

The Prophet did the Mubahalah against the Christians Najran on October 631 He thought he was the winner when the Christians didn't come around. But then he died on June 632, less than a year after the Mubahalah he said Allah cut his aorta, the pain had made him holler. Seems like the Mubahalah got him instead because he was a liar! All his family that came to the Mubahalah, Ali, Fatima, Hasan, Huseyn died in terrible ways. Because those who live in lies are the ones who pay. The Prophet said in Quran that Allah would cut his aorta if he mad up Allah's words. But then in Bukhari he claimed Allah had done just that and caused him to die. The one true thing Muhammad said is Allah curses those who lie. The Mubahalah, Quran, and hadith all prove Muhammad was a prophet quite false and untrue.

Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani in his voluminous Fath ul-Bari fi Sharh Sahih al-Bukhari:

"Some of the benefits of this hadith is that one can do Mubahala with an opponent if he insists after losing the argument…. What is known by experience is that one who takes part in Mubahala to support falsehood will not survive its FIRST ANNIVERSARY."

Qur'an, Surah Ali Imran, verse 61.

Now, whoever disputes with you ˹O Prophet˺ concerning Jesus after full knowledge has come to you, say, "Come! Let us gather our children and your children, our women and your women, ourselves and yourselves— then let us sincerely invoke Allah's curse upon the liars."

Shia sources coincide with Sunni sources

Shia Muslims are tricky and talented. They avoided the above argument of Allah killed Muhammad through curse by quoting the following Shia Hadiths:

One of the best-known ancient Shi'a interpreters of The Qur'an, Ali Ibn Ibrahim Al-Qummi, who lived in the days of Imam al-Hassan al-Askari (peace be upon him), reported this narration by the Imams regarding the assassination of the Prophet:

> The Prophet said to Hafsa: 'I will tell you a secret. If you divulge it, Allah, His Angels and people will curse you.' 'So, what is it?' wondered Hafsa. The Prophet said: 'Abu Bakr will be able to seize the Caliphate and power after me and will be succeeded by your father, Umar.' Hafsa wondered: 'Who informed you of this?' 'Allah, the Omnipresent, the Omniscient informed me.
> On the same day, Hafsa divulged the secret to her friend, A'isha. In turn, A'isha divulged the secret to her father, Abu Bakr. So, Abu Bakr came to Umar and said: 'My daughter A'isha told me a secret reported by Hafsa, but I cannot always trust what A'isha says. So, you ask your daughter Hafsa, make sure and tell me.
> Umar went over to Hafsa and asked her. In the beginning, she was startled and denied it. But, Umar said to her: 'If you have indeed heard this secret, then, tell us so we can immediately seize power and get rid of Muhammad'. So, Hafsa said: 'yes, he told me that.' At this point, those four got together and conspired to poison the Prophet

Another great ancient scholar, Muhammad Ibn Massoud al-Ayashi, a 'Sunni' who later converted to Shi'a Islam, reported:

> Imam al-Sadiq (peace be upon him) was sitting with a group of his followers, and asked them: 'Do you know whether the Prophet died a natural death or was murdered? Allah the Almighty says: "if then he died or is killed". The truth is that the Prophet was poisoned in his last days before he died at the hands of A'isha and Hafsa.' Upon hearing this, the Imam Sadiq's followers said that they and their fathers were among the worst villains ever created by Allah.

Al-Ayshi reports another narration attributed to Imam Al-Sadiq (peace be upon him) in which he says:

> al-Hussein Ibn Munther asked Imam Al-Sadiq (peace be upon him) about Allah's words 'if then he dies or is killed will you turn back upon your heels' Does it mean that the Prophet died a natural death or was murdered? Imam Al-Sadiq (peace be upon him) said: 'In this verse, Allah refers to the Prophet's companions who committed the misdeed Evidence from 'Sunni' sources also indicates the involvement of the traitors named in our sources. For example, in Sahih al-Bukhari, Muslim, and others, we find narrations in which A'isha confesses that when the Prophet was asleep during his illness, she put a strange substance into his mouth with the help of the other wives.

A'isha did it intentionally despite Prophet's prohibition. When the Prophet woke up, he saw the residuals of the substance they had put into his mouth. He angrily asked what it was and who had disobeyed his orders. A'isha and her collaborators justified their action saying that it was just a medication. Following that, they accused the Prophet's uncle, Al-Abbas Ibn Abdul Muttalib, of instructing them to feed him this ''medicine''. However, the Prophet acquitted his uncle and ordered that those with him in the room are punished by having the same substance.

A'isha narrates:

> When Allah's Prophet contracted the terminal disease, he told us: 'Don't put the medicine in my mouth.' But we disobeyed him because every patient dislikes medication. So, we put the substance in his mouth. When he regained his senses, he wondered: 'Who did that? Did I not prohibit you from doing that?' So, we said: 'It is your uncle Al-Abbas who thought that you might have contracted a lateral tumour!' The Prophet said: 'The Devil causes this disease. I cannot contract it.' The Prophet ordered that everyone in the house must put the same substance into their mouths, except Al-Abbas, as the Prophet said: He was not with you.

A'isha clearly states that Muhammad was furious with them for disobeying his orders, forcing them to take the same ''medicine'' they made him consume. A clear sign that Muhammad did not trust them.

Therefore, we cannot exempt Abu Bakr and Umar from the crime of having taken the life of the Prophet based on some weak and false justifications, especially when they had tried to kill him before when he was on his way back from the city of Tabuk.

> "Narrated Ibn `Abbas: I intended to ask `Umar about those two ladies who back each other against 'Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) . For one year I was seeking the opportunity to ask this question, but in vain, until once when I accompanied him for Hajj. While we were in Zahran, `Umar went to answer the call of nature and told me to follow him with some water for ablution. So I followed him with a container of water and started pouring water for him. I found it a good opportunity to ask him, so I said, “O chief of the Believers! Who were those two ladies who had backed each other (against the Prophet)?” Before I could complete my question, he replied, “They were `Aisha and Hafsa.”

Here is another version of the same hadith:

“Narrated Ibn `Abbas: I intended to ask `Umar so I said, “Who were those two ladies who tried to back each other against the Prophet?” I hardly finished my speech when he said, They were `Aisha and Hafsa.“

But their cause is just and it’s through Allah’s command seemingly, as Muhammad have probably used Surah At-Tahrim (66) verse 1-5, 10-11 to do evil deeds and telling it’s Allah who allowed that. It can be comprehended by following passage:

It was Hafsa’s turn to sleep with the Prophet. Her maid Maria Qubtia was also in her room when the Prophet walked in. Maria was a gift from the King of Alexandria of Egypt for Prophet Muhammad. She was a very attractive and voluptuous young teenager.

Muhammad told Hafsah that her dad (Umar) is looking for her (to be alone with Maria Qubtia). When she went to her house and asked her mom where her dad was she told her- he has gone to the Al Manasi field near Baqia to defecate. She asked doesn’t he go to the field behind her house? Her mom told- because it is a sunna to relieve yourself at the place where prophet relieves himself he went there. Again it may be a long wait because Umar hides there afterwards to spy on prophet’s wives to make sure they are veiled according to Quran, Surah Al Ahzab, verse 59 when they come to relieve themselves.

■Qur’an, Surah Al-Ahzab (33:59)

"O Prophet, tell your wives and your daughters and the women of the believers to bring down over themselves [part] of their outer garments. That is more suitable that they will be known and not be abused. And ever is Allah Forgiving and Merciful."

As you know this aya was sent by Allah at Umar's request.

Shahih Bukhari Volume 8, Book 74, Number 257.

Narrated 'Aisha: 'Umar bin Al-Khattab used to say to Allah's Apostle: "Let your wives be veiled" But he did not do so. The wives of the Prophet used to go out to answer the call of nature at night only at Al-Manasi. Once Sauda, the daughter of Zam'a went out and she was a tall woman. 'Umar bin Al-Khattab saw her while she was defecating in a group, and said, "I have recognized you, O Sauda!" Cover yourself better. It's Allah's order!

Bukhari Volume 1, Book 8, Number 395:

Narrated 'Umar bin Al-Khattab: Allah agreed with me on three things and revealed verses, one of them was the verse of the veiling of the women (Q 33.59).

So she didn't waited that long because it was her turn with Prophet that day and returned. But she discovered in her bed Muhammad was having sex with Maria Qubtia.

It was narrated from Anas, that the Messenger of Allah had a female slave with whom he had intercourse, but 'Aishah and Hafsah would not leave him alone until he said that she was forbidden for him. Then Allah, the Mighty and Sublime, revealed: "O Prophet! Why do you forbid (for yourself) that which Allah has allowed to you.' until the end of the Verse.

Tafsir of ibn Kathir on Qur'an 66:1-3

The messenger of Allah, peace and prayer of Allah be upon him, was having sexual relations with a female slave which he had, but Aisha and Hafsa would not cease to bother him about it until he forbid himself to continue it, until Allah praised and glorious brought down a verse saying "O prophet, why do you forbid to yourself what Allah has allowed" until the end of the verse. Ibn Jarir said...The messenger of Allah, peace and prayer of Allah be upon him had sex with Um Ibrahim (Mariyah Al-Qibtiyah) in the house of some of his women. Then she (Hafsah?) said "Hey messenger of Allah! In my house and upon my bed?!" Then the prophet made it forbidden (for him to have sex with her). Then she said "Hey messenger of Allah, how will you forbid what is allowed to you?" Then he swore not to have sex with her. Then Allah revealed "Oh prophet why do you forbid what Allah has made allowable to you?"

Then Muhammad said to Hafsa that if she keeps this incident a secret and don't tell any one, Muhammad will take an oath that he will never touch Maria Qubtia again. After Muhammad took oath she went to to Al-Manasi to see her father. After a short later she returned, and found Muhammad again in bed with Maria Qubtia. Muhammad then shown her the verses he just received from Allah to legitimate sex with Maria Qubtia again by dissolving his oath.

(66:1)

O Prophet, why do you prohibit what God has made lawful for you in seeking to please your wives? And God is forgiving and merciful.

(66:2)

God has ordained for you [the means for] dissolution of your oaths, and God is your Lord, and He is the Knowing, the Wise.

Tafsir al-Jalalayn - Q 66: 1

O Prophet! Why do you prohibit what God has made lawful for you in terms of your Coptic handmaiden Māriya — when he lay with her in the house of Hafsa who had been away but who upon returning and finding out became upset by the fact that this had taken place in her own house and on her own bed — by saying 'She is unlawful for me!' seeking by making her unlawful for you to please your wives? And God is Forgiving Merciful having forgiven you this prohibition.

Verily God has prescribed He has made lawful for you when necessary the absolution of your oaths to absolve them by expiation as mentioned in the sūrat al-Mā'ida Q. 5:89 and the forbidding of sexual relations with a handmaiden counts as an oath so did the Prophet s expiate? Muqātil b. Sulaymān said ‘He set free a slave in expiation for his prohibition of Māriya’; whereas al-Hasan al-Basrī said ‘He never expiated because the Prophet s has been forgiven all errors’. And God is your Protector your Helper and He is the Knower the Wise

Tafsir al-Mazhari:

……..According to the majority of Qur’anic commentators, this verse was revealed concerning the mother of the believers, Lady Mariyah. Al-Baghawi wrote that the Messenger (peace be upon him) had established a schedule for his wives. Once, when it was the turn of Lady Hafsah, she sought permission from the Messenger (peace be upon him) to visit her father's house. He (peace be upon him) granted her permission. After she left, the Messenger (peace be upon him) called Lady Mariyah into that room and had a private encounter with her.

Meanwhile, Lady Hafsah returned and found the room closed. She sat outside and began to cry in deep sorrow. When the Messenger (peace be upon him) came out and saw her, he asked, “What’s the matter? Why are you sitting here and crying?” Lady Hafsah said, “So this was the reason you gave me permission? You brought a slave woman into my room. You granted her closeness on my scheduled day. It seems I hold no value to you.”

The Messenger (peace be upon him) replied, “Has Allah not made her lawful for me? Alright, don’t cry. To please you, I now declare her forbidden for myself. But do not tell this to any of your co-wives.”

However, soon after the Messenger (peace be upon him) left, Lady Hafsah went to the chamber of Lady A’ishah and said, “Listen, I have good news. The Messenger of Allah has declared Mariyah forbidden for himself. Now we shall be more beloved to the Messenger of Allah.” It should be noted that Lady Hafsah and Lady A’ishah had a deep intimacy between them, and thus she could not refrain from sharing this with her.

According to authentic sources, Al-Bazzar has narrated that Ibn Abbas said the verse in question was revealed concerning a slave woman of the Messenger (peace be upon him).....…

…….So, you should withdraw the divorce.

It is to be noted that during that time, the Messenger (peace be upon him) remained separated from his wives for one month and stayed in the residence of Mariyah al-Qibtiyyah, the mother of his son Ibrahim. This state of affairs continued until the revelation of the "Āyah of Option" (Āyat at-Takhayyur). Al-Baghawi wrote that Muqatil ibn Hayyan said: The Messenger (peace be upon him) did not actually divorce Lady Hafsah, but he had expressed the intention to do so. At that moment, Angel Jibril (Gabriel) came and said: "Hafsah is very devoted to fasting and worship. In Paradise, she will be among your wives as well. So, abandon your intention."

"And kept part of it undisclosed" – This means that the Messenger (peace be upon him) did not later reveal the entire matter to Lady Hafsah. He disclosed some of it and withheld the rest. It is noteworthy that those who are noble-hearted behave in this manner—they do not humiliate a wrongdoer by revealing the entirety of their fault in front of them. As Allah, the Almighty, says:

"Allah does not disclose all the sins of the sinners."

Likewise, the Messenger (peace be upon him) did the same.

He had confided two matters to Lady Hafsah and asked her to keep them secret:

1. That he had declared Mariyah forbidden (ḥarām) for himself.
2. The confidential information that Hazrat Abu Bakr would be appointed as his successor (caliph).

When Lady Hafsah secretly disclosed this to Lady A'ishah, Allah informed His beloved Prophet (peace be upon him) of this through revelation. The Prophet (peace be upon him) then summoned Hafsah and said only this:
"Why did you tell A'ishah that I made Mariyah forbidden for myself?"

Regarding the second matter (the news of Abu Bakr's succession), the Prophet (peace be upon him) said nothing further.
This is what is meant by the phrase: "and kept part of it undisclosed."

> ……..
> …….The Messenger (peace be upon him) confided two matters to Lady Hafsah and asked her to keep them secret:

1. That he had declared Mariyah forbidden (ḥarām) for himself.
2. That Hazrat Abu Bakr would succeed him as the leader (caliph).

When Lady Hafsah secretly disclosed this to Lady A'ishah, Allah revealed this matter to His beloved Prophet (peace be upon him). The Prophet (peace be upon him) then called Hafsah and said only:

> "Why did you tell A'ishah about Mariyah—whom I had declared forbidden for myself?"

As for the other matter—the news of Abu Bakr's succession—the Prophet (peace be upon him) did not mention it again to Hafsah. It is this very point that is hinted at in the verse:

> "And disclosed part of it, and withheld part of it."
> (Surah At-Tahrim 66:3)

According to a narration from al-Dhahhak, reported by Ibn Mardawayh, Ibn Abbas said:

Lady Hafsah entered her chamber and saw the Messenger (peace be upon him) with Mariyah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to her:

> "Do not inform A'ishah about this. And here is a good news for you: after Abu Bakr, your father (i.e., Umar) will be the caliph."

Lady Hafsah then went and shared everything with Lady A'ishah. When Lady A'ishah came to the Prophet (peace be upon him), she said:

> "Declare Mariyah forbidden upon yourself."

The Messenger (peace be upon him) did so.

Later, he said to Lady Hafsah:

> "Why did you tell A'ishah about Mariyah?"

But regarding the matter of the caliphate, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said nothing more to Hafsah. This is the context of the phrase:

> "The Prophet disclosed part of it and withheld part of it."
> (Surah At-Tahrim 66:3)

Al-Ṭabarānī has narrated a similar account in his books Al-Awsaṭ and Ashratun-Nisā', reporting from Ibn Abbas. However, both narrations are considered weak (non-authentic).

According to Surah Al-Baqarah (2:230):

> "And if he has divorced her [for the third time], then she is not lawful to him afterward until she marries a husband other than him. And if the latter husband divorces her, there is no blame upon the woman and her former husband for returning to each other if they think they can maintain [the limits of] Allah."

What is Halala?

Halala (also spelled tahleel or halalah) is a specific practice in Islamic law that applies after a man has divorced his wife with a third and final divorce (ṭalāq).

Key Points:

- After the third divorce, the woman cannot remarry her first husband unless:
    1. She marries another man in a valid and consummated marriage.
    2. That new husband divorces her willingly or dies.
    3. Then, she can remarry her first husband if both agree.

Important Ethical Clarification:

- Arranged or contractual halala—where a temporary marriage is done solely to make the woman lawful again for her former husband—is considered haram (forbidden) and a form of deception in mainstream Islamic jurisprudence.
- A valid nikah must be genuine and not pre-planned for divorce.

■Tafsir al-Jalalayn — Surah At-Tahrim

Name and Naming Reason:

The name of the surah, "At-Tahrim", comes from the first word of the surah. However, it is not a thematic title (i.e., it does not summarize the main topic), but rather indicates that the surah contains mention of a "tahrim" (prohibition) made by the Prophet ﷺ.

The surah has:

- 2 Rukus
- 12 Verses (Ayat)
- 349 Words
- 1060 Letters

■Revelation Period:

The surah references an incident where the Prophet ﷺ declared something ḥarām (forbidden) upon himself. Two women involved in this incident are mentioned:

- Lady Safiyyah (RA) – married to the Prophet ﷺ after the Battle of Khaybar, which was unanimously held in the 7th year of Hijrah.

- Lady Mariyah al-Qibtiyyah (RA) – sent to the Prophet ﷺ as a gift by Muqawqis, the ruler of Egypt, also in 7 AH.

These historical facts strongly indicate that Surah At-Tahrim was revealed in 7 or 8 AH.

■Occasion of Revelation (Shan-e-Nuzul):

There are several reports regarding the occasion for the revelation. One such narration says:

- The Prophet ﷺ had arranged regular turns for his wives.
- On the day designated for Lady Hafsah (RA), she asked the Prophet ﷺ for permission to visit her parents. He granted it.
- After she left, the Prophet ﷺ invited Lady Mariyah al-Qibtiyyah (RA) into Hafsah's chamber, and spent time with her there in private.
- Hafsah unexpectedly returned and found them together in her room. She became extremely upset and said:

  "You brought her into my room during my absence? This was nothing but an insult to me."

- To calm her, the Prophet ﷺ said:

  "Fine, I will make her forbidden (ḥarām) for myself. But do not tell anyone about this."

- After leaving, Hafsah told Lady A'ishah (RA) everything, including the confidential statement.
- The Prophet ﷺ, upon learning this, became very upset and swore an oath to stay away from his wives for a month.

- As a result of this incident, Allah revealed the beginning verses of Surah At-Tahrim, addressing the matter directly.

Tafsir Ibn Kathir – Surah At-Tahrim (66)

Para: 28

It is mentioned in Tafsir Ibn Jarir that the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was speaking with Umm Ibrahim (Lady Mariyah al-Qibtiyyah, may Allah be pleased with her) in the house of one of his wives. That wife said to him:

> "In my house and on my bed you do this?"

So the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) responded:

> "I hereby make her forbidden (ḥarām) for myself."

She then said:

> "O Messenger of Allah! How can something that is ḥalāl (permissible) be made ḥarām upon yourself?"

He replied:

> "I swear by Allah, from now on I will not speak to her again."

At that moment, the verses of Surah At-Tahrim were revealed.

Hazrat Zayd (may Allah be pleased with him) said: From this incident, we learn that if someone says to another, "You are ḥarām upon me," such a statement holds no legal consequence (i.e., it is considered meaningless).

Hazrat Zayd ibn Aslam (may Allah be pleased with him) said: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) had said:

> "You are ḥarām upon me. By Allah! I will no longer remain in your company."

……...

……..When the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was engaged with Lady Mariyah (may Allah be pleased with her), he said to Lady Hafsah (may Allah be pleased with her):

> "Do not inform Lady Aisha (may Allah be pleased with her) about this. I am giving you glad tidings: After my passing, following Abu Bakr (may Allah be pleased with him), your father will be the Caliph."

However, Lady Hafsah did go and inform Lady Aisha of this news.

Later, Lady Aisha (may Allah be pleased with her) asked the Prophet (peace be upon him):

> "Who informed you of this matter?"

He replied:

> "The One who is All-Knowing and Fully Aware has informed me."

At that point, Lady Aisha said:

> "I will not look at you until you declare Mariyah (may Allah be pleased with her) forbidden upon yourself."

Then the Prophet (peace be upon him) made Mariyah forbidden for himself (i.e., vowed to not be with her).

It was at that moment that Allah the Exalted revealed the verses — referring to the beginning of Surah At-Tahrim ……...

…….Displeasure was shown toward the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) regarding this matter, and he was instructed to offer expiation (kaffārah) for his oath.

It is mentioned in Tafsīr Ibn Jarīr that ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAbbās (may Allah be pleased with him) once asked ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb (may Allah be pleased with him):

> "Who were the two wives mentioned in the verse?"

ʿUmar (may Allah be pleased with him) replied:

> "They were ʿĀ'ishah (may Allah be pleased with her) and Ḥafṣah (may Allah be pleased with her). The incident was related to Umm Ibrāhīm al-Qibṭiyyah (Mariyah, may Allah be pleased with her). On Ḥafṣah's day, the Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) was with Mariyah (may Allah be pleased with her) in Ḥafṣah's house. Ḥafṣah became upset, thinking: 'On my day, in my room and on my bed, he was with Mariyah?!'

To calm her, the Prophet (peace be upon him) said:

> "I have made her forbidden (ḥarām) for myself. Do not inform anyone about this matter."

Nevertheless, Ḥafṣah disclosed the matter to ʿĀ'ishah. Allah the Exalted then informed His Prophet (peace be upon him) of what had happened and revealed the beginning verses of Sūrah al-Taḥrīm (66:1–5).

The Prophet (peace be upon him) broke his oath and offered expiation (kaffārah), and he resumed his relations with that bondwoman (Mariyah).

ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAbbās (may Allah be pleased with him) used this incident as evidence for a legal ruling (fatwā):

> If a person says, "Such-and-such is ḥarām upon me," then he is considered to have made an oath, and he must break the oath and offer expiation.

A man once asked him regarding such a situation — that he had made his wife ḥarām upon himself. ……...

Next morning, when Prophet returned from Fajr prayer, his wives gave him dirty looks and a silent treatment instead of happily greeting him like every day. As smart as Muhammad was, he knew right away that Hafsa had ratted and divulged last night's scandal to all other wives, who incidentally hated Maria for her beauty and prophet's fondness for her. Then again Muhammad got Allah on his side revealing new verse backing him

Qur'an, Surah At-Tahrim, verse 3

> And when the Prophet confided to one of his wives a statement, and when she informed [another of it], and God made it known to him, he made known part of it and ignored a part. Then when he informed her about it, she said, 'Who informed you of this?' He said, 'I was informed by the Knowing, the Aware.'

Tafsir al-Jalalayn - Q 66:3

> And mention when the Prophet confided to one of his wives namely Hafsa a certain matter which was his prohibition of Māriya telling her 'Do not reveal it!'; but when she divulged it to 'Ā'isha reckoning there to be no blame in doing such a thing and God apprised him He informed him of it of what had been divulged he announced part of it to Hafsa and passed over part out of graciousness on his part. So when he told her about it she said 'Who told you this?' He said 'I was told by the Knower the Aware' namely God

Angry Prophet then gathered all his resentful wives and conveyed the following chilling message from Allah to them which had just arrived:

(66:4)

If the two of you repent to God, [that is best], for your hearts have deviated. But if you support one another against him, then indeed God is his protector, as well as Gabriel and the righteous believers, and the angels, moreover, are [his] assistants.

(66:5)

Perhaps, if he divorces you, his Lord will give him wives better than you—submissive, faithful, obedient, penitent, devout, fasting, previously married and virgins.

That message was a death sentence to the scared wives. A divorce meant starving to death, since nobody was allowed to marry Prophet's wife according to an earlier revelation.

Starving to death was one thing, burning in hellfire for ever was something else. He also downloaded these verse:

(66:10)

God presents an example for those who disbelieve: the wife of Noah and the wife of Lot. They were under two of Our righteous servants but betrayed them, so they availed them nothing before God, and it was said, 'Enter the Fire with those who enter.'

(66:11)

And God presents an example for those who believe: the wife of Pharaoh, when she said, 'My Lord, build for me near You a house in Paradise and save me from Pharaoh and his deeds, and save me from the wrongdoing people.'

Being scared the wives seek mercy. Muhammad the merciful prophet had pity on all of them by refering:

■Qur'an, Surah An-Nisaa (4:34):

Men are the protectors and maintainers of women because God has given some of them advantage over others and because they spend out of their wealth. So righteous women are devoutly obedient, guarding in [the husband's] absence what God would have them guard. But those [wives] from whom you fear disobedience—[first] advise them, [then if they persist], forsake them in bed, and [finally], strike them. But if they obey you, seek no means against them. Indeed, God is ever Exalted and Grand.

Muhammad will just apply Qur'an, Surah An-Nisaa, verse 34 to abstaining sex with all the wives for a month, as a disciplinary action. But the reason why the Prophet decided not to visit all of his wives for a month was because he intended to spend a full one month to sleep exclusively with Maria Qubtia alone. Muhammad is so smart. This is like killing two birds with one stone:

Shahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 43, Number 648.

> ……..The Prophet did not go to his wives because of the secret which Hafsa had disclosed to ‘Aisha, and he said that he would not go to his wives for one month, as he was angry with them, when Allah admonished him for his oath that he would not approach Maria. …….

Allah also decided to pitch-in in the misery of Prophet’s wives by making Maria pregnant with a baby boy, named Ibrahim which Muhammad couldn’t believe it’s his son. This was something Prophet Muhammad desired most and which could not be delivered by any of the nine resident wives.

Summary: Muhammad first revealed the verse about not marrying again due to the pressure from wives. Later, when he got sexually aroused, he sent his elderly wife Hafsa to her father's house and had sex with a maid in her room, which he found out when Hafsa returned that day, which had never exposed before. At that time, even though Muhammad had said that maid & slave sex was permissible, Hafsa asked him to make it forbidden for her. Muhammad agreed and made slave sex forbidden for himself. In order to avoid trouble with sex with Aisha, Muhammad told Hafsa not to tell anyone about this incident and would give her the good news of a prophecy. Hafsa agreed. Muhammad said that your father would be the caliph, and then Aisha's father then. The next day, Hafsa told Aisha about the slave sex and their father’s prophecy of becoming the caliph. Realizing this, Muhammad divorced Hafs and took her back without the obligatory marriage with someone else after the divorce, violating the rules of Islam. Muhammad downloaded from his fake ID Allah that Allah revoked the oath that Muhammad made with Hafsa that is abstaining from slave sex. He threatened to starve all the wives by divorcing as wives of Muhammad is forbidden to remarry. Unable to find a way, the wives apologized and did not want anything against his sex. Finally, Muhammad forgave them and made the intention not to have sex with them for 1 month according to Quran 4:34. Throughout this month he had sex with the slave girl and made her pregnant. Realizing that the old man had become reckless, Aisha, Hafs and their fathers gave Muhammad the second dose of poison. Later, Aisha hadith says that the sex lunatic died after drinking the poison of a Jewish woman.

The sex maniac was so crazy about the maid that, without any trial, he sent Ali to kill a man up after hearing that a man had sex with his maid based solely on accusations, but he didn't blame the maid or punished her:

> Anas reported that a person was charged with fornication with the slavegirl of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ). Thereupon Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said to 'Ali:
> Go and strike his neck. 'Ali came to him and he found him in a well making his body cool. 'Ali said to him: Come out, and as he took hold of his hand and brought him out, he found that his sexual organ had been cut. Hadrat 'Ali refrained from striking his neck. He came to Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) and said: Allah's Messenger, he has not even the sexual organ with him.

So it’s your duty to choose, who killed Muhammad:

- The Jewish woman who’s entire family Muhammad killed and turned her into a slave. (Sunnis usually agree to blame Allah only)
- The two wives (Aisha and Hafsa) Muhammad married within 1 month after his 1st wife Khadija’s death. (Shias usually agree to blaim Ummul Muminins (Mother of believers) with Allah, for unjustly using verse from Allah to legitimize)

- Allah Himself killed Muhammad due to curse of saying what He didn't told him to say as of Surah Al-Ahzab (33:47). (Both Shia and Sunnis agree)

Ayesha knew the lust of Muhammad very well:

> Narrated Aishah, Ummul Muminin: Juwayriyyah, daughter of al-Harith ibn al-Mustaliq, fell to the lot of Thabit ibn Qays ibn Shammas, or to her cousin. She entered into an agreement to purchase her freedom. She was a very beautiful woman, most attractive to the eye. Aishah said: She then came to the Messenger of Allah ﷺ asking him for the purchase of her freedom. When she was standing at the door, I looked at her with disapproval. I realised that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ would look at her in the same way that I had looked. She said: Messenger of Allah, I am Juwayriyyah, daughter of al-Harith, and something has happened to me, which is not hidden from you. I have fallen to the lot of Thabit ibn Qays ibn Shammas, and I have entered into an agreement to purchase of my freedom. I have come to you to seek assistance for the purchase of my freedom. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said: Are you inclined to that which is better? She asked: What is that, Messenger of Allah? He replied: I shall pay the price of your freedom on your behalf, and I shall marry you. She said: I shall do this. She (Aishah) said: The people then heard that the Messenger of Allah ﷺ had married Juwayriyyah. They released the captives in their possession and set them free, and said: They are the relatives of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ by marriage. We did not see any woman greater than Juwayriyyah who brought blessings to her people. One hundred families of Banu al-Mustaliq were set free on account of her. Abu dawud said: This evidence shows that a Muslim ruler may marry a slave woman himself.

We went out with the Prophet (ﷺ) to a garden called Ash-Shaut till we reached two walls between which we sat down. The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Sit here," and went in (the garden). The Jauniyya (a lady from Bani Jaun) had been brought and lodged in a house in a date-palm garden in the home of Umaima bint An- Nu`man bin Sharahil, and her wet nurse was with her. When the Prophet (ﷺ) entered upon her, he said to her, "Give me yourself as a gift." She said, "Can a princess give herself in marriage to an ordinary man?" The Prophet (ﷺ) raised his hand to pat her so that she might become tranquil. She said, "I seek refuge with Allah from you." He said, "You have sought refuge with One Who gives refuge. Then the Prophet (ﷺ) came out to us and said, "O Abu Usaid! Give her two white linen dresses to wear and let her go back to her family."
In Arabia and Islam there is nothing called marriage. They have Nikah, which means sex. Man provide woman money for the value of consummation of sex.

The question is why Muhammad divorced Hafsa for telling sex story with servant? It's because Muhammad was a pedophile and was addicted to child sex. More on the chapter Pedophilia.

Book: al-Hidāyah fī Sharḥ Bidāyat al-Mubtadī

In the discussed text, the extent to which the body of a slave woman owned by someone else may be seen is described. Imam Quduri (رحمه الله) states: A man is permitted to see the same parts of the body of another person's slave woman as he is allowed to see of his mahram women.

It is to be noted that a man is permitted to see the hands, feet, arms, shins, chest, hair, and neck of his mahram woman. This issue has already been discussed earlier. The reason is that slave women would have to go outside the home in their working attire to fulfill the needs of their masters. They also had to appear before their masters' guests to serve them. As a result, their condition in front of non-mahram men outside the home would be similar to that of a woman in front of her mahram male relatives inside the house. It was previously mentioned that men have free access to their mahram women, and these women are usually in working clothes at that time. Thus, a man's seeing the arms, chest, neck, etc., of his mahram woman is permissible. In the same way, since slave women go out in working attire and serve their masters, seeing those parts of their bodies is also considered permissible.

A second piece of evidence is the practice (amal) of ʿUmar (رضي الله عنه). If ʿUmar (رضي الله عنه) saw any slave woman covering her head and body in the streets, he would scold her and strike her with a whip and say:

"O foul-smelling one! Remove your veil! Are you trying to resemble free women?"

The word Ji' (جِيْء) comes from the same pattern and means "bad odor." Here, it metaphorically refers to a slave woman.

Translation:

"Whenever ʿUmar saw a slave girl veiled, he would strike her with a whip and say, 'Remove your veil! Are you trying to resemble free women?'"

Regarding this hadith, Allama Zaylaʿi (رحمه الله) says that this exact wording is not authentically reported in any hadith. However, Imam al-Bayhaqi (رحمه الله) narrates a hadith with a similar meaning:

Narrated from Nāfiʿ that Safiyyah bint Abī ʿUbayd narrated to him:

A veiled and cloaked woman came out. ʿUmar (رضي الله عنه) asked, "Who is this woman?"
Someone replied, "She is a slave girl of so-and-so, a man from among us."
So ʿUmar sent for Ḥafṣah and said, "What made you veil and cloak this slave woman? I nearly approached her [thinking she was a free woman]. I thought she was among the chaste [free women]. Do not make slave girls resemble the free, chaste women!"

Regarding the chain of this narration, Ḥāfiẓ Dhahabī (رحمه الله) said: its chain is strong (sanaduhu qawiyy). (Ref: al-Bināyah)

In summary, although the exact wording of the first hadith mentioned in the book is not established, the meaning and content of it is supported by the narration of Imam al-Bayhaqi.

Question:
I was recently asked a question to which I had no answer. I was asked if islam promotes hayya and modesty, then why are slave girls in the time of rasool Allah SAW or umar RA not allowed to wear hijab but walked around bare chested. Surely this goes against the very practice of islam, that is shyness and modesty. Please answer my question so I may be sure myself and address what was raised to me. I am aware that this does not apply anymore, however the question still stand

Answer

بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم

The 2 riwayaat which are generally known are in Musannaf Ibn Abi Shaybah(2632) and Bayhaqi Al Sunan Al Kubra(V2 P227). Both of them do not have the words 'bare chested". The awrah of concubines is the same as a mahram woman.

Imam Ibn Abidin (Allah have mercy on him) expounds on the issue of a slave-woman's Awrah. He states here and in another chapter of his work that the Awrah of a slave-woman (excluding one's own) is similar to the Awrah of a Mahram woman, in that it is permissible to see of a slave-woman that which is permitted to see of a Mahram woman. The area between the navel up to and including the knees was understandable but there was a need to define the stomach and back. As such, he clarifies what precisely is meant by the stomach and back and stipulates clearly that the chest including the breasts and the area parallel to the chest from the back are not considered to be part of the Awrah of a slave-woman and a Mahram. Thus, strictly speaking, it is not necessary for a woman to cover these parts in front of a Mahram male.

Similarly, it is stated in al-Fatawa al-Hindiyya:

"It is okay for a man to see from his mother, mature daughter, sister and all other Mahram women such as grandmothers, grandchildren, paternal and maternal aunts, at their: hair, chest, locks, breasts, forearms (shoulders) and shins. It is not permissible to look at their back, stomach and the area between the navel and (including the) knees."(Al-Fatawa al-Hindiyya, 5/328)

"The slave women of ʿUmar (may Allāh be pleased with him) used to serve us with their heads uncovered, and their breasts being struck (i.e., exposed to view or touched inadvertently while working)."

Al-Shaykh (al-Bayhaqī) commented:

"The reports from ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb (may Allāh be pleased with him) regarding this are authentic. They indicate that the head, neck, and what appears during work from a slave woman (amāh) are not considered ʿawrah (parts of the body that must be covered). As for the ḥadīth of ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb, there is disagreement regarding its wording, so it should not be relied upon in determining the ʿawrah of a slave woman—though it may be suitable for inference regarding the ʿawrah of a man. And with Allāh is success."

"Hitting their breasts" generally means exposed breasts. In Arabic, this phrase is used to refer specifically to bare or uncovered breasts.
It is noteworthy that Shaykh al-Albānī has graded this ḥadīth as ḥasan (good).

If any of you marries off his slave or worker (to a woman), then he must not look at that (wife's) area between the navel and the knee, because the area between the navel and the knees is part of the ʻawrah (private area that must be covered).”

■Hadith 863:

Narrated by: Muḥammad ibn Makhlad (rahimahullah), from ʿAmr ibn Shuʿayb (rahimahullah), who narrates from his father, from his grandfather.

> And if any of you marries off his male slave or worker to a female slave, he must not gaze at what is below the navel to above the knees (of the woman), for what is between the navel and the knees is ‘awrah (a part of the body that must be covered).”

There you go, for maids and slaves the only shameful part is between navel and knee.

Muhammad’s Death Erection

Abu al-Fida (1273–1331 AD) was a Muslim geographer and historian. He relates that Prophet Muhammad suffered from a death erection.

Vita Mohammedi (The Life of Muhammad), p. 140 by Abu al-Feda:

> Ali ibn Abi Ṭalib, the fourth Rightly-guided Caliph of Islam (and also Muhammad's son-in-law and cousin) washed his body after his death, and had exclaimed, 'O prophet, thy penis is erect unto the sky!'

Edward Gibbon's The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Volume 9, footnote 175. Gibbon attributes it to a Latin translation of a work by Abulfeda (Ismael Abu al-Fida), a 13th–14th century Muslim historian and geographer, specifically from De Vita et Rebus Gestis Mohammedis (The Life and Deeds of Muhammad), page 140
Hadith also support the claim:

Hadith Text (Narrated by Aisha, Ummul Mu'minin):

> "By Allah, we did not know whether we should take off the clothes of the Messenger of Allah as we took off the clothes of our dead, or wash him while his clothes were on him. When they (the people) differed among themselves, Allah cast slumber over them until every one of them had put his chin on his chest. Then a speaker spoke from a side of the house, and they did not know who he was: Wash the Prophet while his clothes are on him. So they stood round the Prophet and washed him while he had his shirt on him. They poured water on his shirt and rubbed him with his shirt and not with their hands. Aisha used to say: If I had known beforehand about his affair what I found out later, none would have washed him except his wives."

Medical science also supports the claim of death erection due to poisoning:

> A death erection happens when blood pools in the lower parts of the body due to gravity after the heart stops pumping (a process called livor mortis), and the corpora cavernosa—the erectile tissues of the penis—fill with blood, causing an erection-like state. This is more likely in cases where death occurs in a vertical or hanging position, as gravity enhances blood flow downward. However, it can also occur in other positions depending on factors like the cause of death and the timing of rigor mortis [stiffening of the muscles that occurs after death. It's a natural process caused by chemical changes in the body once a person stops breathing and the heart ceases to pump blood. Here's how it works: While alive, muscles rely on a molecule called ATP (adenosine triphosphate) to contract and relax. After death, ATP production stops because oxygen and nutrients no longer circulate. Without ATP, the proteins actin and myosin in muscle fibers lock together, causing the muscles to become rigid. This typically begins a few hours after death—starting with smaller muscles like those in the face and hands—and peaks around 12-24 hours, depending on factors like temperature and the body's condition. The stiffness then gradually fades over the next 24-48 hours as decomposition sets in and the proteins break down. In forensic science, rigor mortis helps estimate time of death. For example, if a body is still limp, death likely occurred within the last 2-6 hours; if fully stiff, it's closer to 12-24 hours. Cold delays it, heat speeds it up. The term comes from Latin: rigor (stiffness) and mortis (of death). It's a normal part of the post-mortem process, unrelated to the cause of death itself, though it can interact with phenomena like post-mortem priapism if muscle locking traps blood in certain areas.].

Poisoning could contribute to this phenomenon if it affects the cardiovascular or nervous systems in ways that disrupt normal blood flow or muscle relaxation before death. For example:

- Neurotoxic poisons (e.g., from certain snake venoms or chemicals like strychnine) can cause muscle spasms or vascular changes that might lead to blood pooling in extremities, including the penis.
- Vasodilatory toxins (e.g., some alkaloids or drugs) could relax blood vessels, increasing flow to erectile tissues before or shortly after death.
- Asphyxiant poisons (e.g., carbon monoxide or cyanide) might interfere with oxygen delivery, leading to irregular circulation patterns that could mimic priapism.

Historical accounts sometimes link post-mortem priapism to executions, particularly hangings, where neck compression and gravitational effects are clear factors—studies like one in The American Journal of Forensic Medicine and Pathology (1988) note this in forensic contexts. Poisoning, though less studied in this specific regard, could theoretically mimic these effects if it causes rapid circulatory failure or nervous system dysregulation.

Another factor can be responsible:

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Hadith 144 (also referenced in other places like Book 64, Hadith 450):

> "In that state (of illness), the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked, 'Where am I tomorrow?' meaning whose turn it was among his wives. … Then he stayed in my house until he died, and he died while his head was between my chest and my chin, and his saliva mixed with mine."

Another similar account in Sahih Muslim, Book 31, Hadith 5981, reinforces this, with Aisha saying:

> "He died on the day when it was my turn, and he was taken while his head was resting on my chest."

This is why without funeral prayer (Janazah) he was buried under his child bride Aisha's bed by companions after rotting for 2 days, wrapping him with 3 folds of cloth.

When Mohammed died, the Companions had believed that the bodies of the prophets do not rot. But the body of Mohammed was exposed and the bacteria began to play its role and the body rotted. They did not dare to say this. Rather, they used to say, "How good you are, alive or dead," yet the smell got worse and worse. Omar insisted that he did not die, but would rise again alive, Abu Bakr was forced to save the situation by iterating verse (Muhammad is but a messenger, the messengers had passed away before him), yet this is not a verse in the Quran. Eventually Omar said: "Whoever worships Muhammad? Muhammad is dead." Al-Abbas was one of Muhammad's uncles, stepped in. So he gathered Muhammad's relatives and told them that the body is decomposing, so let's bury it; quickly before they get exposed as fools. And they patch it in various ways. Some of them denied the story, while others justified it as a sign for the people that the Prophet was just a human. Up to that point, the general public believed that Muhammad's body is still preserved in his grave as it is. When faced with the truth, they resort to denial. In fact, Omar claimed that Muhammad went to meet his Lord for forty days like Moses, and Muhammad will be back soon! Therefore, the funeral was delayed as they did not intend to bury him. Rather, Al-Abbas, Ali and Qatham bin Al-Abbas buried him secretly so that people would not see the rotting body, and no funeral was held for him. Here is a question: HOW COME THERE ARE NO RECORDS OF A FUNERAL FOR THE GREATEST MAN IN HISTORY!! Only three relatives were present when the burial took place. The infighting by the Sahabah started immediately over the inheritance yet his family were terrified when they saw that his body had swollen and his belly and little finger had spread, and they did not want anyone to see him in that form, exposing the man as a fraud. If his body had not rotted, they would not have buried him. They did not bury him until his smell spread and noses ran cold.

Let's go to Bible to know how God chose what is weak in the world to shame the strong, and what is foolish in the world to shame the wise:

Judges 4:21:

"But Jael wife of Heber took a tent peg and took a hammer in her hand and went softly to him and drove the peg into his temple until it went down into the ground—he was lying fast asleep from weariness—and he died."

Context:

This verse is part of the story of Deborah and Barak defeating Sisera, the commander of the Canaanite army (Judges 4). After fleeing the battlefield, Sisera seeks refuge in the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber the Kenite. Jael offers him hospitality, but once he falls into a deep sleep, she kills him by driving a tent peg through his temple. This act fulfills the prophecy that the honor of victory would go to a woman (Judges 4:9).

One month later, in the month of Shawwal, the Prophet Muhammad (SAW) married Aisha (RA). At that time, Aisha (RA) was six years old.
> According to this calculation, her marriage took place in Shawwal, three years before the Hijrah, which is approximately 620 CE. The author of Al-Isti'ab, Ibn Abd al-Barr, has supported this view.
> The main controversy arose regarding whether the marriage took place in the same year as Khadija's (RA) passing and whether the marital relationship was consummated three years later when Aisha (RA) was nine years old.

In the tone of Surah Ar-Rahman (55:13) the author like to ask-

"So which of the favors of your Lord will you deny?"

I ain't denying any of that, as all Muslim scholars agree those are authentic.

An interesting Biblical reference that bares on Muhammad is Jeremiah 23:15, and 23:34. In these verses God reveals His judgment upon false prophets. Here is the quote:

23:15 Therefore, this is what the Lord Almighty says concerning the prophets: "I will make them eat bitter food and drink poisoned water, because from the prophets of Jerusalem un-godliness has spread throughout the land."

23:34 If a prophet or a priest or anyone else claims, "This is the oracle of the Lord", I will punish that man and his household"

These verses reflect upon events in Muhammad's life. Muhammad died from poisoning, and all of his male children died when they were very young. His child bride Ayesha and his Grandsons died violently, in war among Muslims, and they call it fitna.

Muhammad's talent of innovation didn't work on him:

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 71, Number 664:

> *Narrated Saud: I heard Allah's Apostle saying, "If somebody takes seven 'Ajwa dates in the morning, neither magic nor poison will hurt him that day."

Muhammad was getting 20% of the war bounty. No excuse to say that he couldn't afford it!

Muslims use to say Solomon practiced polygamy and had concubines. But Bible don't promote that. It's solely against scripture's recommendation, Bible clearly demonstrate that.

■ ◆ 1. God Forbade Kings from Multiplying Wives

This prohibition was clearly stated in the Torah, long before Solomon's time:

> Deuteronomy 17:17
> "He must not acquire many wives for himself, or else his heart will turn away; also silver and gold he must not acquire in great quantity for himself."

✅ This command was specifically for kings of Israel, including Solomon. God knew that many wives could turn a king's heart away from Him — which is exactly what happened.

■ 🔹 2. Solomon Disobeyed — and God's Judgment Came

Despite the command, Solomon married many foreign women:

> 1 Kings 11:1-2
> "King Solomon loved many foreign women... from the nations concerning which the Lord had said to the Israelites, 'You shall not enter into marriage with them, neither shall they with you, for they will surely incline your heart to follow their gods'; Solomon clung to these in love."

And the number was excessive:

> 1 Kings 11:3
> "He had seven hundred princesses as wives and three hundred concubines; and his wives turned away his heart."

⚠ As a direct result:

> 1 Kings 11:9-11
> "Then the Lord was angry with Solomon because his heart had turned away from the Lord... Therefore the Lord said to Solomon, 'Since this has been your mind and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I commanded you, I will surely tear the kingdom from you and give it to your servant.'"

✅ Conclusion: God removed His blessing and announced judgment due to Solomon's disobedience and polygamy.

■ 🔹 3. Biblical View of Marriage: One Man and One Woman

From the beginning, the ideal pattern was set by God:

Genesis 2:24
"Therefore a man leaves his father and his mother and clings to his wife, and they become one flesh."

🟢 Singular form — his wife, not wives. Jesus also affirmed this:

Matthew 19:4-6
"He answered, 'Have you not read that the one who made them at the beginning "made them male and female," and said, "For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh"? So they are no longer two, but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let no one separate.'"

■ 🔹 4. Is Polygamy Ever Called a Blessing or Virtue in the Bible?

No. While polygamy occurred in the Old Testament (e.g., Abraham, Jacob, David, Solomon), it is never prescribed as a blessing, virtue, or ideal.

- These stories are often descriptive, not prescriptive.
- In almost every case, polygamy led to jealousy, family conflict, and spiritual problems (e.g., Hagar & Sarah; Leah & Rachel; Solomon's idolatry).

■ ✅ Summary of Biblical Position

Question	Bible's Answer
❓ Did God forbid kings from taking many wives?	✅ Yes — Deut. 17:17
❓ Did Solomon disobey and face judgment?	✅ Yes — 1 Kings 11:1–11
❓ Does the Bible teach monogamy as the ideal?	✅ Yes — Gen. 2:24, Matt. 19:4–6
❓ Is polygamy called a blessing or virtue?	❌ No — It's often shown with negative consequences

If Muslims think everything all the prophet did is legal according to Islam then they are practicing this too:
📖 Genesis 19:30–38

After the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, Lot and his two daughters settled in a cave in the mountains. Believing they were the last people on earth and that the human race needed to be preserved, the daughters conspired to get their father drunk and lie with him. On two consecutive nights, they each took turns doing this without Lot's knowledge, and both became pregnant by him.

■ 📖 Genesis 19:30–38

30 Now Lot went up out of Zoar and settled in the hills with his two daughters, for he was afraid to stay in Zoar; so he lived in a cave with his two daughters.

31 And the firstborn said to the younger, "Our father is old, and there is not a man on earth to come in to us after the manner of all the world.

32 Come, let us make our father drink wine; then we will lie with him so that we may preserve offspring through our father."

33 So they made their father drink wine that night, and the firstborn went in and lay with her father; he did not know when she lay down or when she rose.

34 On the next day, the firstborn said to the younger, "Look, I lay last night with my father; let us make him drink wine tonight also; then you go in and lie with him so that we may preserve offspring through our father."

35 So they made their father drink wine that night also, and the younger rose and lay with him; and he did not know when she lay down or when she rose.

36 Thus both the daughters of Lot became pregnant by their father.

37 The firstborn bore a son and named him Moab; he is the ancestor of the Moabites to this day.

38 The younger also bore a son and named him Ben-ammi; he is the ancestor of the Ammonites to this day.

ISLAM CONFIRMS MUHAMMAD WAS BEWITCHED

Islamic sources reveal that when Muhammad received his calling as a Prophet of Allah, his first impression was that he was possessed by a demon. His immediate conclusion was that it was not an angel but a demon that spoke to him. Thus, Muhammad was the very first person to doubt the source of his revelations. It is important to remember that the validity of Islam is closely linked to the reliability of Muhammad. Islam stands or falls on the person of Muhammad. What may come as a surprise to most Muslims is the fact that according to the Qur'an, Satan could easily exercise control over Muhammad. We are not making this up, it is in the Qur'an. In fact, Islamic sources state clearly that during the course of his prophetic career, Muhammad once even came under the spell of black magic. Yes! Muhammad was bewitched. Let us now consider the evidences. The following Qur'anic verse shows that Satan could have free access to the mental power of Muhammad:

> Surah 6:68: When you see people mocking Our revelations, turn away from them so that they may change the subject. If Satan causes you to forget this*, do not sit with the unjust people when you remember. (Sarwar)*

This is a very serious matter. The Qur'an is revealing here the extent of influence that Satan could exercise over Muhammad. If Satan could even cause Muhammad to forget, in what other manner could Satan exercise his influence over him? Can someone who comes under the influence of Satan to such an extent be a true prophet of God? Can Muhammad be trusted? Surprisingly, in a number of places the Qur'an testifies that Satan has no authority over any of Allah's righteous servants.

> Surah 15:39-42: Iblis said: "O my Lord! Because Thou hast put me in the wrong, I will make wrong fair-seeming to them on the earth, and I will put them all in the wrong, – Except Thy servants among them, sincere and purified (by Thy Grace)." (God) said: "This (way of My sincere servants) is indeed a way that leads straight to Me. For over My servants no authority shalt thou have, except such as put themselves in the wrong and follow thee." (Yusuf Ali)

This Qur'anic verse clearly proclaims that Satan will have no authority over the righteous servants of Allah. If true, then Satan or the demons should not be able to exercise any kind of influence over Muhammad – the foremost servant of Allah. Thus, at no instant should Muhammad come under the power or spell of either Satan or the demons. And this protection should especially be far-reaching during the period of Muhammad's career as the prophet of Allah. And Allah guarantees this divine protection to all his faithful servants. However, the following Hadiths clearly show that Muhammad was bewitched.

BLACK MAGIC WORKED ON MUHAMMAD

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 490:

Narrated By 'Aisha: Magic was worked on the Prophet so that he began to fancy that he was doing a thing which he was not actually doing. One day he invoked (Allah) for a long period and then said, "I feel that Allah has inspired me as how to cure myself. Two persons came to me (in my dream) and sat, one by my head and the other by my feet. One of them asked the other, 'What is the ailment of this man?' The other replied, 'He has been bewitched.' The first asked, 'Who has bewitched him?' The other replied, 'Lubaid bin Al-A'sam.' The first one asked, 'What material has he used?' The other replied, 'A comb, the hair gathered on it, and the outer skin of the pollen of the male date-palm.' The first asked, 'Where is that?' The other replied, 'It is in the well of Dharwan.'

So, the Prophet went out towards the well and then returned and said to me on his return, "Its date-palms (the date-palms near the well) are like the heads of the devils." I asked, "Did you take out those things with which the magic was worked?" He said, "No, for I have been cured by Allah and I am afraid that this action may spread evil amongst the people." Later on the well was filled up with earth.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Number 89:

Narrated By 'Aisha: The Prophet continued for such-and-such period imagining that he has slept (had sexual relations) with his wives, and in fact he did not. *One day he said, to me, "O 'Aisha! Allah has instructed me regarding a matter about which I had asked Him. There came to me two men, one of them sat near my feet and the other near my head. The one near my feet, asked the one near my head (pointing at me), 'What is wrong with this man? The latter replied, '*He is under the effect of magic.'

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 71, Number 660:

Narrated By 'Aisha: Magic was worked on Allah's Apostle so that he used to think that he had sexual relations with his wives while he actually had not (Sufyan said: That is the hardest kind of magic as it has such an effect)."

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 75, Number 400:

Narrated Hisham's father: 'Aisha said, ", so he invoked Allah repeatedly requesting Him to cure him from that magic)."

The above Hadiths should trouble sincere Muslims. They clearly state: "Magic was worked on Allah's Apostle" and "Allah's Apostle was bewitched." Muhammad is exulted as the "Seal of the Prophets" in the Qur'an. How could the demons exercise control over the "Seal of the Prophets"? As guaranteed in Surah 15:42, why was Allah unable to protect Muhammad from the influences of the demons? Allah clearly stated to Satan: "For over My servants no authority shalt thou (Iblis) have, except such as put themselves in the wrong and follow thee." This means either Muhammad was a follower of Satan or this Qur'anic verse is totally false in its claim? Let us look at further damaging evidences from Islamic sources.

Asbab Al-Nuzul by Ali ibn Ahmad Al-Wahidi, Q. 113-114:

> (Say: I seek refuge in the Lord of the Daybreak…) [113:1-5] The commentators of the Qur'an said: "The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, had a Jewish servant boy. The Jews approached him and kept after him until he gave them some fallen hair from the Prophet, Allah bless him and give him peace, as well as a few teeth from his comb. The Jews used these to cast a spell of black magic on him. The person who was behind this was the Jew Labid ibn al-A'sam. He then put the hair in a well belonging to Banu Zurayq called Dharwan.
> The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, fell ill for a period of six month, during which the hair of his head fell off; he imagined that he slept with his wives when he did not, and was withering away without knowing the reason. As he was one day sleeping, he saw two angels coming to him. One of them sat at his head and the other at his feet. The angel who sat at his head asked: 'What is wrong with the man?' The second angel responded: 'A spell of black magic was cast on him'. (Source: Altafsir.com)*

Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah:

> "From B. Zurayq: Labib b. A'sam, who bewitched the apostle of God so that he could not come at his wives." (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah – The Life of Muhammad –Translated by A. Guillaume, p. 240).

> Guillaume's footnotes states that according to a Muslim scholar, the spell lasted for a year.

Lubaid bin Al-A'sam was a Jewish sorcerer from the tribe of Bani Zaraiq. It is important to note that this incident occurred after Muhammad migrated to Medina and settled there. Muhammad's arrival in Medina took place during the thirteenth year of his prophetic career. This means long after he became a prophet, he succumbed to the demons. Muhammad was still serving as a Prophet of Allah during this period. Even though he is supposed to be the greatest among the Prophets of Allah, he came under demonic influences for nearly a year. He was so bewitched that he believed he was having sexual relations with his wives, when in reality he did not. Imagine, Allah's greatest Prophet was bewitched by a kafir.

Details on this event are also recorded in Ibn Sa'd's "Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir" (Book of the Major Classes), Volume 2, pp. 244 to 248. Here is a relevant quote:

> "The apostle of Allah fell ill. He was bewitched about women and food…There were eleven knots in the hair from the comb. The two Surahs no. 113 and 114 were revealed to him. No sooner did the apostle of Allah recited a verse than a knot loosened. When all of them were loosened, he regained his urge for food and women."

Muslims take pride in saying that Surah 113 and Surah 114 cured Muhammad from the Jewish spell. Do they really have reasons to boast? Consider the following facts: Firstly, the claim that Surah 113 and Surah 114 cured Muhammad from sorcery is in itself an admission that he was bewitched. Otherwise, why was there a need to cure him from the influence of the demons? Secondly, a true prophet of God is not even supposed to be affected by sorcery in the first place. The Bible says that the servants of the true God will not come under demonic control such as sorcery or magic because of the protection of Jehovah over them:

> Numbers 23:23: "There is no sorcery against Jacob. Nor any magic that can harm Israel."

A man who fell victim to sorcery while declaring himself to be God's greatest messenger can only be a fraud. Thirdly, according to Muhammad, consuming seven dates in the morning are just as effective as Surah 113 and Surah 114 to ward off magic:

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 71, Number 664:

> *Narrated Saud: I heard Allah's Apostle saying, "*If somebody takes seven 'Ajwa dates in the morning, neither magic nor poison will hurt him that day."

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 2, Book 15, Number 73:

> Narrated Anas bin Malik: Allah's Apostle never proceeded (for the prayer) on the Day of 'Id-ul-Fitr unless he had eaten some dates. Anas also narrated: The Prophet used to eat odd number of dates.

The "odd number of dates" shows how deeply Muhammad was ingrained in superstition. Now, notice the words of Muhammad's prayer.

Sunan Abu-Dawud, Book 41, Hadith Number 5036:

> Narrated AbulAzhar al-Anmari: When the Apostle of Allah (p.b.u.h.) went to his bed at night, he would say: in the name of Allah, I have laid down my side for Allah. O Allah! Forgive me my sin, drive away my devil*, free me from my responsibility, and place me in the highest assembly.*

QUESTIONS FOR MUSLIMS

(1) If the Qur'an is true in its teachings that Satan will not affect those righteous servants of Allah, why did Muhammad come under the control of sorcery? Think carefully, does this not prove that either the Qur'an is wrong in its promised protection or Muhammad is not a true prophet? Note, either option proves Islam to be false.

(2) What was Muhammad actually doing during the entire year that he thought he was having sexual relationship with his wives when he did not? After all, for him to actually believe he was really having sex with his wives when he did not, implies that he was pleasuring himself in some unknown manner. Otherwise, how could he sense that he was actually engaging in intercourse? Is this not somewhat degrading for someone claiming to be a prophet of God? And why would Allah permit his Prophet to be humiliated in this way, imagining he was engaging in sex when he did not?

(3) Why would Allah deprive Muhammad's wives to go on without having sex with their husband for nearly a year when he could have simply healed him from the very start?

(4) Can we trust that for almost a year Muhammad was not receiving "revelations" when he was under the spell? Can Muslims provide a conclusive statement from the Islamic texts, which say that he was not receiving inspiration during the period when Satan had him under his control?

(5) Would not this incident imply that Satan is more powerful than Allah seeing that he was able to bewitch Muhammad for nearly a year even though the Qur'an says that he would not be able to harm Allah's righteous servants? Or are we to assume that Muhammad was not righteous, which explains why Allah permitted him to come under the control of the demons?

Amazingly, several Muslim expositors even admitted that Muhammad had a demonic visitor named al-Abyad (the White) who would appear to him in the form of Gabriel.

> "Some of the commentators mention that Muhammad had an enemy from among the demons of the jinns whose name was the White. And he use to appear to him in the image of Gabriel. But some people objected to that because people would not then trust the revelation. But we say that God bestowed on the prophet the necessary knowledge by which he would discern between Gabriel and the demon."

It seems easy for the demons to connect to Muhammad. The above commentary, Muslim commentators claim that "God bestowed on the prophet the necessary knowledge by which he would discern between Gabriel and the demon" impersonating as Gabriel. This claim is a lie. Notice carefully, it is not Allah who is saying that Muhammad was bestowed with the knowledge to discern between Gabriel and the demon but the commentators themselves. Notice the words: "But we say." In other words, it is only the opinion of the Muslim commentators that Muhammad was bestowed with this knowledge.

A well-known incident that took place during Muhammad's prophetic career shows that he could not tell the difference between Satan and "Gabriel." This famed event is known as the "Satanic Verses." The records of early Muslim sources show that Muhammad, at one time, delivered a revelation from Satan believing that it was from "Gabriel." Muhammad himself admitted that Satan had put words in his mouth making him compromise with idol worship. Allah later removed the verses and the Qur'anic recital was changed. Evidence of this incident can be seen in the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 22:52: Whenever We sent any messenger or prophet before you, and he recited anything of Our revelation, Satan tampered with it*. But God abrogates Satan's interjections and then He firmly reaffirms His revelations. God is all knowing and all wise. (W. Khan)*

> "Never did We send a Messenger or a Prophet before you, but when he did recite the revelation or narrated or spoke, Satan threw some falsehood in it. But Allah abolishes that which Shaitan (Satan) throws in. Then Allah establishes His Revelations. And Allah is All-Knower, All-Wise." (Hilali-Khan)

Allah is in effect saying: "Don't worry about it Muhammad, all prophets proclaim satanic messages from time to time." This is a blasphemous lie. Notice what the Bible teaches:

> 2 Samuel 23:2: The spirit of Jehovah spoke through me. His word was on my tongue.*

> 2 Peter 1:21: But men moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God.*

Surah 22:52 is in fact an admission in the Qur'an that Allah failed to protect Muhammad from the influence of Satan. And Allah is now lying to conceal his failure through this Qur'anic verse. Why would Allah make light of a prophet speaking the words of Satan as the words of God? While Surah 22:52 confirms that the Satanic Verses episode did really occur, it also shows that Allah openly lied that all of God's prophets in the past were also influenced by Satan. This blatant lie is deliberately told by Allah to cover the humiliation of Muhammad who submitted to satanic influence.

Surah 22:52, which falsely claims that all of God's prophets succumbed to satanic influence, is in itself a satanic verse woven into the fabric of the Qur'an. To excuse his Prophet's succumbing to the influence of Satan, Allah defamed all the prophets of God by claiming that Satan has also casts words into the messages that they received through inspiration. Allah did not provide the slightest proof to substantiate his wicked defamation of Abraham, Moses, Jesus and many other faithful prophets of God in the Holy Bible.

The nature of Allah is very much identical to that of Satan. Both try to tarnish the divine qualities of the true God. They depict God as being powerless in preventing Satan's interference with his messages. Additionally, they also humiliate the prophets of the true God. They do this by resorting to lies and deception.

Allah, who easily excused Muhammad's serious sin, cannot be the true God. The failure of Allah to chastise Muhammad is one thing but to continue to inspire the one who had succumbed to the inspiration of Satan is quite another thing. This cast serious doubts on the inspiration of the Qur'an. The imputing of Satan's suggestion into the mind of Muhammad is further revealed in the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 7:199-200: "Be indulgent O Muhammad and favour forbearance…, And if Al-Shaytan entices you by suggesting divergence or discord secretly to your mind, do not consent nor be actuated, but commit yourself to Allah*…" (Al-Muntakhab)*

The vital lesson that Muslims must learn from all these evidences from Islamic sources themselves is that Muhammad cannot be a prophet of the true God. It will therefore be wise for Muslims to look elsewhere for their salvation. It is vital for Muslims to examine the life of another Messenger of God – Jesus of Nazareth. We will now consider just one out of the many encounters that Jesus had with the demons:

> Mark 1:21-27: They went to Capernaum, and when the Sabbath came, Jesus went into the synagogue and began to teach. And they became amazed at his way of teaching, for there he was teaching them as one having authority, and not as the teachers of the law. Just at that immediate time there was in their synagogue a man under the power of an unclean spirit, and he shouted, saying: What have we to do with you, Jesus of Nazareth? Have you come to destroy us? I know exactly who you are, the Holy One of God." But Jesus rebuked it, saying: "Be silent, and come on out of him!" And the unclean spirit, after shaking him violently and yelling at > the top of its voice, came out of him screaming. Well, the people were all so astonished that they began a discussion among themselves, saying: "What is this? A new teaching! He even orders the unclean spirits with authority, and they obey him."

Contrary to the claims made by Allah in Surah 22:52, Jesus had complete authority over the demons. For the record, none of the prophets who received inspired messages from Jehovah were ever influenced by Satan. And none of the messages that they received was at any time influenced by Satan. Can Muslims provide the name of a single prophet of God in the Bible who spoke the words of Satan? There is not one. Not a single one of them compromised the Word of God to gain converts as Muhammad did. If you have to choose between Muhammad and Jesus, is it not sensible to trust the one who terrified the demons with his presence rather than the one who came under their influence? Would it be wise to follow a man who came under the inspiration of Satan? Muhammad was thoroughly misled by Satan. And this is an indisputable proof that Muhammad was a false prophet who came under the influence of Satan.

A true prophet will not fall prey to the demons. Muhammad's own wife testified that he was bewitched. And she is not his enemy. Given such clear evidences of Muhammad's subjection to the demons, it is extremely difficult to take this man's claims as a prophet seriously. And Jesus warned his followers:

> Matthew 24:11: "And many false prophets will arise and mislead many."

The evidences provided by Muslim sources themselves strongly suggest that Muhammad falls into this category that Jesus warned us about. The Disciples of Christ were not only protected from the demons but they had power over them.

> Luke 10:17: *Then the seventy returned with joy and said: "*Lord, even the demons submit to us by the use of your name."

MUHAMMAD AND THE DEMONS

PART 1 MUHAMMAD'S EXPERIENCES WITH SPIRITS

[NOTE: My comments in the source material are in [ ] type brackets. Source author's / translator's quotes are in ( ) type brackets.]

1) An experience Muhammad had as a child.

When Muhammad was a child he was nursed by a Bedouin woman. During this time he had an experience with "two men in white raiment". Here is W. M. Watt's translation of Ibn Ishaq's biography of Muhammad, page 36:

"...two men in white clothes came to me with a golden basin full of snow. They took me and split open my body, then they took my heart and split it open and took out from it a black clot which they flung away. Then they washed my heart and my body with that snow until they made them pure." ["Muhammad at Mecca", by W.M. Watt, Pub. Oxford University Press.]

This event deeply disturbed the Bedouins and they returned Muhammad to his mother. Here is the story told by Muhammad's wet-nurse, related in Guillaume's translation of Ibn Ishaq, page 72:

"His [Muhammad's friend's] father said to me, "I am afraid that this child has had a stroke, so take him back to his family before the result appears. ..... She [Muhammad's mother] asked me what happened and gave me no peace until I told her. When she asked if I feared a demon had possessed him, I replied that I did." [ "The Life of Muhammad", by A. Guillaume, Oxford University Press.]

Note that Muhammad's wet-nurse believed he had been possessed by a demon. One would expect some degree of attachment between the two, since she nursed him, so it is extraordinary that she would return him in those circumstances: something very troubling actually occurred.

2) Muhammad's experience in the cave - his call to "prophethood".

Quoting from the Hadith of Bukhari, 9.111:
Narrated 'Aisha:

The commencement of the Divine Inspiration to Allah's Apostle was in the form of good righteous (true) dreams in his sleep. He never had a dream but that it came true like bright day light. He used to go in seclusion (the cave of) Hira where he used to worship(Allah Alone) continuously for many (days) nights. He used to take with him the journey food for that (stay) and then come back to (his wife) Khadija to take his food like-wise again for another period to stay, till suddenly the Truth descended upon him while he was in the cave of Hira. The angel came to him in it and asked him to read. The Prophet replied, "I do not know how to read." (The Prophet added), "The angel caught me (forcefully) and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it anymore. He then released me and again asked me to read, and I replied, "I do not know how to read," whereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it anymore. He then released me and asked me again to read, but again I replied, "I do not know how to read (or, what shall I read?)." Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me and then released me and said, "Read: In the Name of your Lord, Who has created (all that exists). Has created man from a clot. Read and Your Lord is Most Generous...up to..... ..that which he knew not." (96.15)

Then Allah's Apostle returned with the Inspiration, his neck muscles twitching with terror till he entered upon Khadija and said, "Cover me! Cover me!" They covered him till his fear was over and then he said, "O Khadija, what is wrong with me?" Then he told her everything that had happened and said, 'I fear that something may happen to me." Khadija said, 'Never! But have the glad tidings, for by Allah, Allah will never disgrace you as you keep good relations with your Kith and kin, speak the truth, help the poor and the destitute, serve your guest generously and assist the deserving, calamity-afflicted ones."

... But after a few days Waraqa died and the Divine Inspiration was also paused for a while and the Prophet became so sad as we have heard that he intended several times to throw himself from the tops of high mountains and every time he went up the top of a mountain in order to throw himself down, Gabriel would appear before him and say, "O Muhammad! You are indeed Allah's Apostle in truth" whereupon his heart would become quiet and he would calm down and would return home. And whenever the period of the coming of the inspiration used to become long, he would do as before, but when he used to reach the top of a mountain, Gabriel would appear before him and say to him what he had said before. (Ibn 'Abbas said regarding the meaning of: 'He it is that Cleaves the daybreak (from the darkness)' (6.96) that Al-Asbah means the light of the sun during the day and the light of the moon at night).

There are a number of slight variations to this story, related by different people, describing Muhammad's visitation by a spirit identifying himself as the angel Gabriel. These stories do not always agree with each other in perfect detail, but on the whole a composite picture can be drawn of Muhammad's initial experience with the spirit and his subsequent reactions.

So I [Muhammad] read it, and he [Gabriel] departed from me. And I awoke from my sleep, and it was though these words were written on my heart. (Tabari: Now none of God's creatures was more hateful to me than an (ecstatic) poet or a man possessed: I could not even look at them. I thought, Woe is me poet or possessed - Never shall Quraysh say this of me! I will go to the top of the mountain and throw myself down that I may kill myself and gain rest. So I went forth to do so and then) when I was midway on the mountain, I heard a voice from heaven saying "O Muhammad! thou are the apostle of God and I am Gabriel."

The visitations from the spirit continued. Then they stopped for a time believed to have been 6 months to 3 years. When this happened, Tabari, volume 6 page 76, records:

"The inspiration ceased to come to the messenger of God for a while, and he was deeply grieved. He began to go to the tops of mountain crags, in order to fling himself from them; but every time he reached the summit of a mountain, Gabriel appeared to him and said to him, "You are the Prophet of God." Thereupon his anxiety would subside and he would come back to himself. ["The History of al-Tabari", translated by W.M. Watt, pub. by SUNY.]

Also, from Tabari Vol. 9, page 167, note 1151 says:

"The pre-Islamic Arabs believed in the demon of poetry, and they thought that a great poet was directly inspired by demons...."

This explains why Muhammad thought he was demon possessed, or influenced by demons; the Quran in many places reads like poetry.

In "Muhammad at Mecca", page 40, 41, there are also references that document Muhammad's suicidal thoughts. Watt quotes from az-Zuhri's material.

"He (Muhammad) said, I had been meditating throwing myself from a mountain crag, but while I was so meditating, he appeared to me and said, "O Muhammad, I am Gabriel, and thou are the Messenger of God."....

Az-Zuhri said: "There was a gap for a time in the revelation to the Messenger of God and he was very sorrowful. He started going early to the tops of the mountains to throw himself down from them. But whenever he reached the summit of a mountain, Gabriel would appear to him and say, "Thou are the Prophet of God."

However you view this event, it is undeniable that something extraordinary happened to Muhammad in the cave, and he was deeply distressed by it.

OTHER REFERENCES TO MUHAMMAD AND THE DEMONS

Even in the Quran, there are references that people believed that Muhammad was possessed or influenced by demons.

Sura 81:22-25 says, "No, your compatriot [Muhammad] is not mad. He saw him [Gabriel] on the clear horizon. He does not grudge the secrets of the unseen, nor is this the utterance of an accursed devil."

Sura 69:41, 42 say, "It [the Quran] is no poet's speech: scant is your faith! It is no soothsayer's divination: how little you reflect! It is revelation from the Lord of the Universe.

Here Muhammad is saying to his critics that he really saw an angel, and his words are not from a devil, or from his own imagination. No doubt the people living at that time thought he was inspired by a devil, so Muhammad spoke these words, in the Quran, in self defense.

What are the possibilities of who and what these experiences can be attributed? The things that come to mind are that:

1) Muhammad did indeed have a visit from the angel Gabriel - thus validating his prophethood.
2) Muhammad was visited by a demon, or Satan himself.
3) Muhammad experienced some type of delusion.
4) Muhammad suffered from some type of epilepsy or other mental problem.
5) A combination of #s 2, 3, and / or 4.

Let's recap.

From his youth, some people thought he was demon possessed. Muhammad's encounter with "Gabriel" deeply disturbs him, and he thinks he is demon possessed. He decides to commit suicide, but is stopped when the spirit appears and says he is an apostle. Later, when these visitations become infrequent, he again goes and tries to commit suicide. Each time the spirit intervenes. As time went on, people continued to think Muhammad was demon inspired.

SOME COMMENTS AND CONCERNS

Isn't it bizarre that following this experience Muhammad became suicidal? Not only that, but as time goes on, he continues to be suicidal. All the while he wonders, deep down, if he is demon possessed. Does this follow from a real experience with God?

PART 2) PEOPLE IN THE BIBLE WHO HAD EXPERIENCES WITH GOD

Let's compare Muhammad's experience with Biblical stories of men who had experiences with God.

Adam - Gen. 3 & 4,	Noah - Gen. 6.
Abraham - Gen. 12 - 18.	Moses - Ex. 3 - 34
David	Isaiah - Isaiah 6
Mary - Luke 2.	Paul - Acts 9

As I read the stories about people in the bible who have an experience with God I do not find anything that resembles Muhammad's experience. These people were filled with a reverent fear, but never became depressed as a result of their experience. These people fellowshipped with God. Some walked with Him, to other's He revealed Himself. None of them ever contemplated suicide. But several times Muhammad tried to commit suicide, and each time this "spirit" stopped him. What plans did this spirit have in store for him?

PART 3 - MUHAMMAD'S OTHER EXPERIENCES WITH EVIL SPIRITUAL POWERS

3.1 Muhammad being bewitched by magic and it's effects.

From the Hadith of Bukhari, Volume 7, # 660.

Narrated Aisha:

Magic was worked on Allah's Apostle so that he used to think that he had sexual relations with his wives while he actually had not (Sufyan said: That is the hardest kind of magic as it has such an effect). Then one day he said, "O 'Aisha do you know that Allah has instructed me concerning the matter I asked Him about? Two men came to me and one of them sat near my head and the other sat near my feet. The one near my head asked the other, "What is wrong with this man?" The latter replied the is under the effect of magic. The first one asked, "Who has worked magic on him?" The other replied, "Labid bin Al-A'sam, a man from Bani Zuraiq who was an ally of the Jews and was a hypocrite." The first one asked, "What material did he use)?" The other replied, 'A comb and the hair stuck to it.' The first one asked, 'Where (is that)?' The other replied, 'In a skin of pollen of a male date palm tree kept under a stone in the well of Dharwan'" So the Prophet went to that well and took out those things and said, "That was the well which was shown to me (in a dream). Its water looked like the infusion of Henna leaves and its date-palm trees looked like the heads of devils." The Prophet added, "Then that thing was taken out' I said (to the Prophet), "Why do you not treat yourself with Nashra?" He said, "Allah has cured me; I dislike to let evil spread among my people."

This Tradition is also found in Bukhari 4.490, 7.658, 7.660, 7.661, 8.89, 8.400.

While the complete story is not found in Ibn Hisham, a reference is made to it. Citing from "The Life of Muhammad", page 240:

"From B. Zurayq: Labib b. A'sam, who bewitched the apostle of God so that he could not come at his wives."

Guillaume notes that a Muslim scholar says that the spell lasted for a year! In other words, for one year, Muhammad thought that he was having sexual relations with his wives when he wasn't. Obviously he was really lost.

Pause and think for a minute. Muhammad is supposed to be God's greatest and last prophet. Muhammad is supposed to be receiving revelations from Allah. Yet Muhammad was so bewitched and befuddled that for one year he thought he was having sexual relations with his wives, when he actually was not! Imagine what were his wives thinking? Do you really think he was a prophet?

Additional details on this event are provided in Ibn Sa'd's "Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir" (Book of the Major Classes), volume 2, pages 244 to 248. Here is a relevant quote.

"The apostle of Allah fell ill. He was bewitched about women and food. ...There were eleven knots [in the hair from the comb]. The two Surahs no. 113, and 114 were revealed to him. No sooner did the apostle of Allah recited a verse than a knot loosened. When all of them were loosened, he regained his urge for food and women."

3.2 Muhammad and the Satanic Verses.

At one point in time, Muhammad admitted that Satan put words in his mouth to compromise with idol worship. Later Muhammad said that God showed him he was wrong, and the Quranic recital was changed. Here is the quote from "The Life of Muhammad".

Tabari. Now the apostle was anxious for the welfare of his people, wishing to attract them as far as he could. It has been mentioned that he longed for a way to attract them and the method he adopted is ..... "When the apostle saw that his people turned their backs on him and he was pained by their estrangement from what he brought them from God he longed that there should come to him from God a message that would reconcile his people to him. Because of his love for his people and his anxiety over them it would delight him if the obstacle that made his task to difficult could be removed; so that he meditated on the project and longed for it and it was dear to him. The God sent down, "By the star when it sets your comrade errs not and is not deceived, he speaks not from his own desire, " and when he reached His words, "Have you thought of al-Lat and al-Uzza and Manat the third, the other", Satan, when he was meditating upon it, and desiring to bring it (reconciliation) to his people put upon his tongue, "these are the exalted Gharaniq whose intercession is approved." [Gharaniq is a bird that flies very high].

When Quraysh heard that they were delighted and greatly pleased at the way in which he spoke of their gods and they listened to him; while the believers were holding that what their prophet brought them from their Lord was true, not suspecting a mistake or a vain desire or a slip, and when he reached the prostration and the end of the Sura in which he prostrated himself the Muslims prostrated themselves when their prophet prostrated confirming what he brought and obeying his command, and the polytheists of Quraysh and other who were in the mosque prostrated when they heard the mention of their gods, so that everyone in the mosque believer and unbeliever prostrated.... Then the people dispersed and Quraysh went out, delighted at what had been said about their gods, saying "Muhammad has spoken of our gods in splendid fashion. He alleged in what he read that they are the exalted Gharaniq who's intercession is approved."

...Then Gabriel came to the apostle and said, "What have you done, Muhammad? You have read to these people something I did not bring you from God and you have said what He did not say to you. The apostle was bitterly grieved and was greatly in fear of God. So God sent down (a revelation), for He was merciful to him, comforting him and making light of the affair and telling him that every prophet and apostle before him desired as he desired and wanted what he wanted and Satan interjected something into his desires as he had on his tongue.

Also, Ibn Sa'd also records the compromise. The quote is in volume 1, page 237.

The point is this, Muhammad admitted to being deceived by Satan to engage in idol worship. Although Muhammad later realized the ramifications of what he had done, and changed his mind, this does not mitigate the fact that he was indeed tricked by Satan, and could not distinguish between words from God and words from Satan.

PART 5 WHO WAS THIS SPIRIT THAT CALLED HIMSELF "GABRIEL"?

Muhammad had many encounters with a spirit that identified himself as "Gabriel". In some of these encounters odd things came out about its nature. Here are a number of references that show the circumstances surrounding him are indeed bizarre. Most of these are from the Hadith of Bukhari which is the 2nd most important book in Sunni Islam. I will not provide the quotes in full because some are too long. However, anyone on AOL can download Bukhari's Hadith for free, from the Islamic Resource Library, if they want to verify my quotes and the context of the Hadith.

1) Non-Muslims called "Gabriel" Satan.
Bukhari 2.225:
...Gabriel did not come to the Prophet (for some time) and so one of the Quraish women said, "His Satan has deserted him." ...

2) "Gabriel" is the "Holy Spirit" ?
Bukhari 8.173
Narrated Abu Salama bin 'Abdur-Rahman bin 'Auf:
... "O Abu- Huraira! I beseech you by Allah (to tell me). Did you hear Allah's Apostle saying' 'O Hassan ! Reply on behalf of Allah's Apostle. O Allah ! Support him (Hassan) with the Holy Spirit (Gabriel).'?" Abu Huraira said, "Yes."

3) Aisha could not see Gabriel.
Bukhari 4.440
'Aisha said that the Prophet said to her "O 'Aisha' This is Gabriel and he sends his (greetings) salutations to you." 'Aisha said, "Salutations ... and addressing the Prophet she said, "You see what I don't see."

4) "Gabriel" won't go into a house with a dog or a picture.
Bukhari 4.450
Once Gabriel promised the Prophet (that he would visit him, but Gabriel did not come) and later on he said, "We, angels, do not enter a house which contains a picture or a dog."

5) "Gabriel" doesn't know genetics.
Bukhari 4.546
When 'Abdullah bin Salam heard the arrival of the Prophet at Medina, he came to him and said, "I am going to ask you about three things which nobody knows except a prophet: What is the first portent of the Hour? What will be the first meal taken by the people of Paradise? Why does a child resemble its father, and why does it resemble its maternal uncle" Allah's Apostle said, "Gabriel has just now told me of their answers."

.....As for the resemblance of the child to its parents: If a man has sexual intercourse with his wife and gets discharge first, the child will resemble the father, and if the woman gets discharge first, the child will resemble her. ...."

6) Other people recognize "Gabriel" as a person they knew.
Bukhari 4.827
....Gabriel started talking (to the Prophet and then left. The Prophet said to Um Salama, "(Do you know) who it was?" (or a similar question). She said, "It was Dihya (a handsome person amongst the companions of the Prophet)." Later on Um Salama said, "By Allah! I thought he was none but Dihya, till I heard the Prophet talking about Gabriel in his sermon." .....

7) "Gabriel" was responsible for the massacre and enslavement of a Jewish tribe.
Gabriel urges Muhammad to go and attack the Jews of Bani Quraiza. This action ended with about 800 prisoners of war being massacred, and thousands of Jewish women and children being enslaved by Muhammad.
Bukhari 5.448
... When the Prophet returned from the (battle) of Al-Khandaq (i.e. Trench) and laid down his arms and took a bath Gabriel came to him while he (i.e. Gabriel) was shaking the dust off his head, and said, "You have laid down the arms?" By Allah, I have not laid them down. Go out to them (to attack them)." The Prophet said, "Where?" Gabriel pointed towards Bani Quraiza. So Allah's Apostle went to them (i.e. Banu Quraiza) (i.e. besieged them). They then surrendered to the Prophet's judgment but he directed them to Sad to give his verdict concerning them. Sad said, "I give my judgment that their warriors should be killed, their women and children should be taken as captives, and their properties distributed."

8) Other Muslims also failed to recognize Gabriel.
Regarding the massacre of the Jews, here is the quote from "The Life of Muhammad", page 461. Note here that these men also recognized this "Gabriel" as the same person Um Salama saw him as - "Dihya"! Why did Gabriel take this merchant's form twice?

"According to what al-Zuhri told me, at the time of the noon prayers Gabriel came to the apostle wearing an embroidered turban and riding on a mule with a saddle covered with a piece of brocade. ..... The apostle passed by a number of his companions in al-Saurayn before he got to the B. Qurayza and asked if anyone had passed them. They replied that Dihya b. Khalifa al-Kalbi had passed upon a white mule with a saddle covered with a piece of brocade. He said, "That was Gabriel who has been sent to B. Qurayza to shake their castles and strike terror to their hearts."

9) Khadija couldn't see Gabriel, but Muhammad could.
Ref. page 107 of "The Life of Muhammad".

10) Gabriel prayed for Muhammad to be healed, but Muhammad wasn't healed.
From the Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, vol. 1, page 265

The apostle of Allah fell ill and he i.e. Gabriel, chanted on him, saying, "In the name of Allah I chant on to ward off from you every thing that harms you and (to ward off you) against every envier and from every evil eye and Allah will heal you."

Let's review. Non-Muslims identified Gabriel as a "Satan". Muhammad can see Gabriel, but others can't. Gabriel makes scientific mistakes about genetics. Gabriel is responsible for the massacre of 800 Jewish men and the enslavement of their women and children. Gabriel prays to God for Muhammad to be healed, and Muhammad isn't healed. When people do see Gabriel, he appears as a person they know, or so they're told, but not as an angel.

PART 6 SATAN AND THE PERSECUTION OF CHRISTIANS.

All quotes are from the NIV.

Revelation 12:7, 8, 17
And there was war in heaven. Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon and his angels fought back. But he was not strong enough and they lost their place in heaven . Then the dragon was enraged at the woman and went off to make war against the rest of her offspring - those who obey God's commandments and hold to the testimony of Jesus.

John 8:44 You belong to your father, the devil, and you want to carry out your father's desire. He was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies.

Matt 24:11 and many false prophets will appear and deceive many people.

John 16:2 in fact, a time is coming when anyone who kills you will think he is offering a service to God. They will do such things because they have not known the Father or me.

From the above we see that Satan is currently making war upon the saints. He will use false prophets to mislead people. Some of these false prophets will have doctrines to allow their followers to kill Christians.

PART 7 THE QURAN ON CHRISTIANITY

There are many references in the Quran and Hadith that address Christianity. What I want to focus on are the latest statements on Christianity made by Muhammad. Initially, Muhammad had some good things to say about the Christians, but as time wore on, his attitude towards Christianity darkened. Note that Suras 9 and 5 were some of the last Suras to be spoken by Muhammad. Quotes are from Dawood's translation of the Quran.

Quran 5:51

"Believers take neither the Jews nor the Christians for your friends."

Quran 9:28 - 30

"Fight against such of those to whom the Scriptures were given as believe neither in God nor the last days, who do not forbid what God and His apostle have forbidden, and do not embrace the true Faith, until they pay tribute out of hand and are utterly subdued. The Jews say Ezra is the son of God, while the Christians say the Messiah is the Son of God. Such are their assertions by which they imitate the infidels of old. God confound them! How perverse they are!

THE HADITH ON CHRISTIANITY AND CONVERSION

Muhammad commanded that Muslims kill apostates from Islam.
Bukhari volume 9, #64

Narrated Ali, "Whenever I tell you a narration from Allah's messenger, by Allah, I would rather fall down from the sky, then ascribe a false statement to him, but if I tell you something between me and you, (not a Hadith), then it was indeed a trick (i.e., I may say things just to cheat my enemy). No doubt I heard Allah's messenger saying, "During the last days there will appear some young foolish people, who will say the best words, but their faith will not go beyond their throats (i.e. they will leave the faith) and will go out from their religion as an arrow goes out of the game. So, wherever you find them, kill them, for whoever kills them shall have reward on the Day of Resurrection."

Muhammad asks God to curse the Christians and the Jews.
Bukhari 1.427

Narrated 'Aisha and 'Abdullah bin 'Abbas:
When the last moment of the life of Allah's Apostle came he started putting his 'Khamisa' on his face and when he felt hot and short of breath he took it off his face and said, "May Allah curse the Jews and Christians for they built the places of worship at the graves of their Prophets." The Prophet was warning (Muslims) of what those had done.

Is the Quran from Satan?

a) Evidence from Qur'an and Hadith on whether Allah is Satan:

1) How the first revelation of the Qur'an proves it's from Satan:

Elohim (God) provides peace, security, and reliability to people, while the way of Satan is deception, betrayal, and suffering. The Bible often shows prophets receiving messages from Elohim directly or through angels, but we do not see these messengers causing them harm. Initially, some felt fear upon seeing an angel, but the angel reassured them not to be afraid ["But the angel said to her, 'Do not be afraid, Mary; you have found favor with God.'" (Luke 1:30)]. Elohim's messengers never harmed anyone when delivering His message. However, when the so-called Jibreel (Gabriel) first delivered a message to Prophet Muhammad, he inflicted significant distress on Muhammad (Sahih al-Bukhari 6982).

The Hadith states:

"He (the Prophet) said: '[The angel] came to me and wrapped me up so forcefully that I felt a severe pain. Then he released me and said, 'Read.' I said, 'I do not know how to read.' He wrapped me up again and pressed me so hard that I felt a severe pain.'"

This contrasts with the Bible, where it is clear that only evil spirits cause such pain (1 Samuel 16:14). So, from 2000 BC to the first century AD, no messenger of Elohim ever harmed a prophet when delivering a message. Only Satan's messengers did such things, and this happened with Muhammad, indicating that the revelations Muhammad received were from a Satanic being disguised as Gabriel.

2) Muhammad's own admission that he had Satan within him:

Sahih Hadith contains Muhammad's admission that he had a Satan within him. He claimed that Satan had become obedient to him, but in truth, Satan only obeys someone who follows him. We know about the Satanic verses in Surah An-Najm, where Satan deceived Muhammad into revealing verses later abrogated. This incident shows that Satan doesn't obey; rather, people obey Satan.

Sunan an-Nasa'i 3960:

Aisha narrated: "I searched for Allah's Messenger and placed my hand on his hair. Allah's Messenger said: 'Your Satan has come to you.' I said, 'Do you have a Satan?' He replied, 'Yes, but Allah helped me against him, and he became Muslim.'"

Jami` at-Tirmidhi 1172:

Jabir narrated: "The Prophet said: 'Do not enter the presence of those women whose husbands are absent, because Satan flows through each of you like blood.' We asked, 'You too?' He said, 'Yes, me too, but Allah helps me against him, so I am safe.'"

3) Muhammad proved that the Qur'an's revelation came from Satan:

Muhammad called bells the musical instruments of Satan:

Abu Huraira narrated: "The Prophet said, 'Bells are the musical instruments of Satan.'"

Sunan Abu Dawud, Hadith No. 2556

He also said that where there are bells, angels of mercy do not come:

Abu Huraira narrated: "The Prophet said, 'The angels of mercy do not accompany people with dogs or bells.'"

Sunan Abu Dawud, Hadith No. 2555

However, Muhammad's claimed angel who brought revelations did so with a sound similar to a bell. The Hadith below illustrates this:

Aisha narrated: "Harith bin Hisham asked the Prophet , 'How does the revelation come to you?' He replied, 'Sometimes it comes like the ringing of a bell. When this ceases, I have grasped what is said. This form of revelation is the hardest on me. Sometimes the angel comes in the form of a man and speaks to me, and I grasp what he says.'"

Sahih Bukhari, Hadith No. 3215

This discussion shows that according to Muhammad's own statements, the sound of a bell is associated with Satan's instruments. Therefore, the entity that Muhammad named Jibreel and who brought revelations with a bell sound was, by Muhammad's definition, a Satanic messenger.

4) Allah Himself is proven to be from Satan through Sahih Hadith:

The Bible states in Revelation 20:10 that Satan, along with a beast and a false prophet, will be thrown into the lake of fire, where they will be tormented forever. This indicates that Satan's ultimate fate is eternal damnation.

However, Muhammad's teachings suggest that Allah will enter Hell to fill it up:

Narrated Anas:

The Prophet said, "The people will be thrown into the (Hell) Fire and it will say: "Are there any more (to come)?' (50.30) till Allah puts His Foot over it and it will say, 'Qati! Qati! (Enough Enough!)'"

Sahih al-Bukhari 4848

This Hadith implies that Muhammad's Allah will physically enter Hell, indicating that Allah is synonymous with Satan.

5) The Qur'an's verses indicate that Allah is Satan:

The context of Surah 93:3 reveals that a woman told Muhammad that his Satan had forsaken him, leading to the revelation that Allah had not forsaken him. The Hadith is as follows:

Jundub ibn Sufyan narrated: "The Prophet was unwell and could not get up for two or three nights. A woman came and said, 'O Muhammad! I think your Satan has forsaken you.' Then Allah revealed, 'By the forenoon and by the night when it is still, your Lord has neither forsaken you nor is displeased.'"

Sahih Bukhari, Hadith No. 4950

The Qur'an's 93:3 states: "Your Lord has neither forsaken you nor is displeased."

Here, Allah did not refute the woman's statement that called him Satan but rather affirmed that He had not forsaken Muhammad. This implies that Allah accepted being identified as Satan.

The Bible includes several verses that advise against taking oaths or swearing by God's name. Here are a few key passages:

Matthew 5:33-37

Teaching about Oaths "Again, you have heard that it was said to the people long ago, 'Do not break your oath, but fulfill to the Lord the vows you have made.' But I tell you, do not swear an oath at all: either by heaven, for it is God's throne; or by the earth, for it is his footstool; or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the Great King. And do not swear by your head, for you cannot make even one hair white or black. All you need to say is simply 'Yes' or 'No'; anything beyond this comes from the evil one."

James 5:12

Warning against Oaths "Above all, my brothers and sisters, do not swear—not by heaven or by earth or by anything else. All you need to say is a simple 'Yes' or 'No.' Otherwise you will be condemned."

Leviticus 19:12

"Do not swear falsely by my name and so profane the name of your God. I am the Lord."

Deuteronomy 6:13

"Fear the Lord your God, serve him only and take your oaths in his name."

While Deuteronomy 6:13 encourages taking oaths in God's name in the context of sincerity and reverence, the New Testament passages emphasize avoiding oaths altogether and maintaining honesty and integrity in one's words without the need for oaths.

In the Bible, God typically swears by Himself, as there is nothing greater or higher by which He could swear. Here are some specific instances:

1. Genesis 22:16-17 - "By myself I have sworn, declares the Lord, because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your only son, I will surely bless you..."
2. Isaiah 45:23 - "By myself I have sworn; from my mouth has gone out in righteousness a word that shall not return: 'To me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear allegiance.'"
3. Hebrews 6:13-14 - "For when God made a promise to Abraham, since he had no one greater by whom to swear, he swore by himself, saying, 'Surely I will bless you and multiply you.'"

In the Quran, Allah swears by various creations:

Surah Al-Asr (103:1-3)

"By time, Indeed, mankind is in loss, Except for those who have believed and done righteous deeds and advised each other to truth and advised each other to patience."

Surah Ad-Duha (93:1-2)

"By the morning brightness, And [by] the night when it covers with darkness,"

Surah Ash-Shams (91:1-10)

"By the sun and its brightness, And [by] the moon when it follows it, And [by] the day when it displays it, And [by] the night when it covers it, And [by] the sky and He who constructed it, And [by] the earth and He who spread it, And [by] the soul and He who proportioned it, And inspired it [with discernment of] its wickedness and its righteousness, He has succeeded who purifies it, And he has failed who instills it [with corruption]."

Surah At-Tur (52:1-6)

"By the mount, And [by] a Book inscribed, In parchment spread open, And the frequented House, And the heaven raised high, And the sea filled [with fire],"

Surah Al-Fajr (89:1-5)

"By the dawn, And [by] ten nights, And [by] the even [number] and the odd, And [by] the night when it passes,"

In these verses, Allah swears by elements of His creation, such as time, natural phenomena, and aspects of the day and night, to underscore the significance of His message.

Surah Al-Lail (92:1-2)

"By the night when it covers, And [by] the day when it appears,"

Surah An-Nazi'at (79:1-5)

"By those [angels] who extract with violence, And [by] those who remove with ease, And [by] those who glide [as if] swimming, And those who race each other in a race, And those who arrange [each] matter,"

Surah Al-Mursalat (77:1-7)

"By those [winds] sent forth in gusts, And the winds that blow violently, And [by] the winds that spread [clouds], And those [angels] who bring criterion, And those [angels] who deliver a message, As justification or warning,"

Surah Al-Qiyamah (75:1-2)

"I swear by the Day of Resurrection, And I swear by the reproaching soul [to the certainty of resurrection]."

Surah At-Takwir (81:15-18)

"So I swear by the retreating stars - Those that run [their courses] and disappear, And by the night as it closes in, And by the dawn when it breathes,"

Surah Al-Balad (90:1-2)

"I swear by this city, And you, [O Muhammad], are free of restriction in this city -"

Surah Al-Haaqqa (69:38-39)

"So I swear by what you see, And what you do not see,"

Surah At-Tariq (86:1-3)

"By the sky and the night comer - And what can make you know what is the night comer? It is the piercing star -"

These verses illustrate how Allah uses oaths by various aspects of His creation to affirm the gravity and truth of His revelations.

Surah Al-Burooj (85:1-3)

"By the sky containing great stars, And [by] the promised Day, And [by] the witness and what is witnessed,"

Surah At-Tur (52:1-8)

"By the mount, And [by] a Book inscribed, In parchment spread open, And the frequented House, And the heaven raised high, And the sea filled [with fire], Indeed, the punishment of your Lord will occur."

Surah Al-Teen (95:1-3)

6) Allah is the greatest deceiver according to Qur'an 3:54:

Deception is a trait of Satan. The Bible in Revelation 12:9 describes Satan as the deceiver of the whole world.

> The great dragon was hurled down—that ancient serpent called the devil, or Satan, who leads the whole world astray. He was hurled to the earth, and his angels with him.

However, the Qur'an declares Allah as the best of deceivers:

"And the disbelievers planned, but Allah planned. And Allah is the best of planners."

Qur'an 3:54

Even the Arabic term used here, "makr," translates to deceit or trickery, suggesting that Allah's nature aligns with that of Satan, the master deceiver.

Quran 7:99 says:

> Did they feel secure against Allah's planning? None would feel secure from Allah's planning except the losers.

Even though the translations above are skillfully done, the original translation is conspirator/deceiver. If you notice in the translation of 7:99, the word "scheme" is used for humans, but for Allah, it is translated as "plans" or "strategizes." Therefore, the Quran itself clearly declares Allah as the best of deceivers, which according to the Bible, is the main characteristic of Satan. In verse 7:99, it is clearly stated, "No one feels secure from Allah's scheme except the losing people." This means that only those who will go to hell are the ones who do not take Allah's scheme seriously and feel safe from it. But the believers (Muslims) do not feel safe from Allah's scheme. In summary, this verse indicates that even Muslims do not feel safe from Allah's deception. So, which God do Muslims believe in? A God from whose scheme they themselves do not feel safe?

Many Muslim scholars want to interpret this by saying that the scheming here is used in a benevolent sense. That is, Allah schemes as a form of punishment against wrongdoers. But this argument does not hold up due to the story in the Quran where Jesus is supposedly taken to heaven by deceiving the Jews. Ibn Kathir has discussed this in detail in his commentary on Quran 3:54 about Allah's deception. Here is an excerpt from there:

"Indeed, Allah brought him (Jesus) out of the house through a small door and lifted him up to the heavens. Moreover, He gave someone in the house the appearance of Jesus. In the darkness of the night, the soldiers of the ruler arrested that person, thinking he was Jesus, and severely mistreated him, crucified him, and placed a crown of thorns on his head. This way, Allah skillfully saved His prophet and took him up from among the conspirators."

(Tafsir Ibn Kathir, Quran 3:52-54)

The problems in the above discussion that make it impossible to accept Allah as an innocent deceiver are:

- An innocent person had to be killed to save Jesus. The narrative does not mention any crime committed by that person.
- If the event of taking Jesus to the heavens had happened openly, there would have been no problem. An innocent person would not have had to lose his life, and it would have been proven to the Jews that Jesus was chosen by Allah.
- Christians would have been freed from their erroneous belief that Jesus died for 600 years. Isn’t Allah’s deception responsible for this wrong belief?
- The twist here is that the followers of Jesus believed he had died, yet they are considered righteous and chosen people by the Quran. Mixing truth with falsehood naturally creates such confusion.

In the Bible, it is stated that Elohim (God) will turn the plans of wicked people against them (Psalms 64:8-9). Elohim will also do this to false prophets (1 Kings 22:21-23). But nowhere does Elohim proudly declare himself as the best of deceivers like the Allah of the Quran does.

7) Allah desires people to sin, a characteristic of Satan:

Elohim hates sin and wants people to avoid it, whereas Allah in the Qur'an seems to prefer that people sin so He can forgive them:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger having said: By Him in Whose Hand is my life, if you were not to commit sin, Allah would sweep you out of existence and He would replace (you by) those people who would commit sin and seek forgiveness from Allah, and He would have pardoned them.

Sahih Muslim Book 37, Hadith Number 6622. The hadith also records in Sahih Muslim.

8) Allah will send all people to Hell at first:

Satan is the entity who wants to deprive people of the kingdom of heaven and take them to hell. The creator mentioned in the Bible wants the salvation of humans, which is why He sent Jesus Christ so that people may be saved.

- But I do not receive testimony from man, nevertheless, I say these things that you may be saved. John 5:34

However, the Allah of the Quran is willing to send all people to Hell, even the believing Muslims, as stated in the Quran:

Maryam 19:71

English - Sahih International "And there is none of you except he will come to it. [1] This is upon your Lord an inevitability decreed."

Maryam 19:72

English - Sahih International "Then We will save those who feared Allah and leave the wrongdoers within it, on their knees."

This plan of sending all people, even the believers, to Hell, proves once again that the Quran is not from the true creator but rather from Satan.

9) Revelation only came to Muhammad in a special circumstance:

The Holy Bible clearly condemns cross-dressing, i.e. man dressing like a woman and vice-versa. God's holy Word says that those who do such things are an abomination to Yahweh:

> "A woman must not wear men's clothing, nor a man wear women's clothing, for the LORD your God detests anyone who does this." Deuteronomy 22:5

What is about to follow next may shock not only Christians but Muslims as well. The authentic hadith literature unashamedly states that Muhammad wore Aisha's apparel as he reclined before her, and also exposed his thighs in front of men.

Instead of saying anything more about this we will simply quote the relevant sources and let the readers see for themselves. All bold, capital and underline emphasis will be ours.

Book XXVI- Fitan.
Chapter XXXVIII, "The Fine Qualities of the Prophet's Wives."

She told that the people used to choose: 'A'isha's day to bring their gifts, seeking thereby to please God's messenger. She said that God's messenger's wives were in two parties, one including 'A'isha, Hafsa, Safiya, and Sauda, and the other including Umm Salama and the rest of God's messenger's wives. Umm Salama's party spoke to her telling her to ask God's messenger to say to the people, "If anyone wishes to make a present to God's messenger, let him present it to him wherever he happens to be." She did so and he replied, "Do not annoy me regarding 'A'isha, for inspiration has not come to me when I was in any WOMAN'S GARMENT but 'A'isha's." They then called Fatima, sent her to God's messenger, and she spoke to him, but he replied, "Do you not like what I like, girlie?" She said, "Certainly," so he said, "Then love this woman." (Bukhari and Muslim.) (English translation with explanatory notes by Dr. James Robson, Sh. Muhammad Ahsraf Publishers, Booksellers & Exporters, Lahore-Pakistan, Reprint 1990, p. 1361; bold and capital emphasis ours)
From the Sahih Collection of al-Bukhari, Hadith Number 2442
Chapter 54. The Book of Gifts and their Excellence, VII: The one who gave a gift to his friend aiming for a time when he was with one of his wives rather than another.
It is related from 'A'isha that the wives of the messenger of Allah fell into two parties. One party contained 'A'isha, Hafsa, Safiyya and Sawda, and the other party contained Umm Salama and the rest of the wives of the messenger of Allah. The Muslims knew of the love of the messenger of Allah for 'A'isha, so when any of them had a gift which he wanted to give to the messenger of Allah he would delay it until the messenger of Allah was in 'A'isha's house. Then the person with the gift would send it to the messenger of Allah while he was in 'A'isha's house. The party of Umm Salama spoke about it and said to her, "Tell the messenger of Allah to speak to the people and say, 'Whoever wants to give a gift to the messenger of Allah should give it to him in the house of whichever wife he is.'" Umm Salama spoke to him about what they had said, but he did not say anything. They asked her and she said, "He did not say anything to me." They said to her, "Speak to him." She said she spoke to him when he went around to her as well, but he did not say anything to her. They asked her and she said, "He did not say anything to me." They said to her, "Speak to him until he speaks to you." He went around to her and she spoke to him. He said to her, "Do not injure me regarding 'A'isha. The revelation does not come to me when I am in the GARMENT of any woman except 'A'isha." She said, "I repent to Allah from injuring you, Messenger of Allah." Then they called Fatima, the daughter of the messenger of Allah, and sent her to the messenger of Allah to say, "Your wives ask you by Allah for fairness regarding the daughter of Abu Bakr." She spoke to him and he said, "O my daughter, do you not love what I love?" She said, "Yes indeed." She returned to them and informed them. They said, “Go back to him,” but she refused to go back. They sent Zaynab bint Jahsh and she went to him and spoke harshly, saying. “Your wives ask you by Allah for fairness regarding the daughter of ibn Abi Quhafa.” She raised her voice until she turned to 'A'isha, who was sitting down, and abused her until the messenger of Allah looked at 'A'isha to see if she would speak. ‘A'isha spoke to answer back Zaynab until she had silenced her. She said, “The prophet looked at 'A'isha and said, ‘She is indeed the daughter of Abu Bakr.’”

Volume Title, “Grace and its Virtues.”

Chapter Title, “What was Granted to the Companions and the Wives.”

Narrated by Ismail, narrated by his brother, narrated by Sulaiman, narrated by Hisham ibn Urwah, narrated by his father, narrated by Aisha who related that the wives of the prophet were divided into two groups. One group consisted of Aisha, Hafsa, Safiya and Sawdah while the other group consisted of Um Salamah and the rest of the women that belonged to the prophet. The Muslims had learned of the great love that the prophet had for Aisha so that if one of them had a gift he desired to give to the prophet, he would delay giving it until the prophet came to Aisha’s house.

Then the group who sided with Um Salamah came to Um Salamah and asked her to tell the prophet that he should command the people that if any of them had a gift to give to the prophet, they should give it him in whatever house of his wives the prophet was in at the time.

So Um Salamah went and talked with the prophet but he did not respond to her. When the group asked her what the prophet said she told them that he did not respond. So they asked her to go talk to him again until he responds… then the prophet said to her, “Do not hurt me with Aisha, for the inspiration did not come upon me when I was IN (fee) A WOMAN’S GARMENT (Thawb) EXCEPT THAT OF AISHA.”

The Book Pertaining to the Merits of the Companions of the Holy Prophet (Kitab Al-Fada'il Al-Sahabah)

'A'isha, the wife of Allah's Apostle, said: The wives of Allah's Apostle sent Fatima, the daughter of Allah's Messenger, to Allah's Apostle. She sought permission to get in as he had been lying with me IN MY MANTLE… The wives of Allah's Apostle then sent Zainab b. Jahsh, the wife of Allah's Apostle… She, however, lost temper very soon but was soon calm. Allah's Messenger permitted her to enter as she ('A'isha) was along with Allah's Messenger IN HER MANTLE, in the same very state when Fatima had entered…

Muslims try to distort the meaning of Mirt and Thawb. If you question the meaning of these words, then you need to read these:

The plural form of thawb appears in the following Quranic texts:

> Lo! now they fold up their breasts that they may hide (their thoughts) from Him. At the very moment when they cover themselves with their clothing (thiyabahum), Allah knoweth that which they keep hidden and that which they proclaim. Lo! He is Aware of what is in the breasts (of men). S. 11:5 Pickthall
> For them will be Gardens of Eternity; beneath them rivers will flow; they will be adorned therein with bracelets of gold, and they will wear green garments (thiyabin) of fine silk and heavy brocade: They will recline therein on raised thrones. How good the recompense! How beautiful a couch to recline on! 18:31 Y. Ali
> Their garments (thiyabu) will be of fine green silk, and gold embroidery. They will be adorned with bracelets of silver, and their Lord will give them a pure drink. S. 76:21 Hilali-Khan
> These two opponents (believers and disbelievers) dispute with each other about their Lord; then as for those who disbelieve, garments (thiyabun) of fire will be cut out for them, boiling water will be poured down over their heads. S. 22:19 Hilali-Khan
> O ye who believe! let those whom your right hands possess, and the (children) among you who have not come of age ask your permission (before they come to your presence), on three occasions: before morning prayer; the while ye doff your clothes (thiyabakum) for the noonday heat; and after the late-night prayer: these are your three times of undress: outside those times it is not wrong for you or for them to move about attending to each other: Thus does God make clear the Signs to you: for God is full of knowledge and wisdom… Such elderly women as are past the prospect of marriage, - there is no blame on them if they lay aside their (outer) garments (thiyabahunna), provided they make not a wanton display of their beauty: but it is best for them to be modest: and God is One Who sees and knows all things. S. 24:58, 60 Y. Ali
> And verily! Every time I called unto them that You might forgive them, they thrust their fingers into their ears, covered themselves up with their garments (thiyabahum), and persisted (in their refusal), and magnified themselves in pride. S. 71:7 Hilali-Khan
> And your garments (thiyabaka) purify! S. 74:4 Hilali-Khan

In all of the foregoing examples thawb clearly refers to clothing oneself with something, whether actual garments one wears or wearing something in a metaphorical sense such as being clothed in fire.

Moreover, here is the definition of mirt according to Al-Mu'jam Al-Waseet (The Intercessory Dictionary), second edition, 1972, part 2, p. 864:

(Mirt) - a dress from wool or cotton that is used as an Izar or a cover by a woman.

From Sahih Muslim, Hadith Number 4415

Volume Title, "From the virtues of the Companions."

Chapter Title, "From the Virtues of Uthman Ibn Affan, May Allah be please with him."

Narrated by Abdel Malik ibn Shu'aib ibn Laith Ibn Sa'ad, narrated by his father, narrated by his grandfather, narrated by Ukail ibn Khalid, narrated by ibn Shihab, narrated by Yahya ibn Sa'id ibn al-Aas who narrated that Aisha, the wife of the prophet, and Uthman related to him that Abu Bakr requested permission from the prophet to enter when the prophet was lying down on Aisha's bed WEARING HER GARMENT (mirt). So the prophet gave permission to Abu Bakr to enter while he (Muhammad) was in that state and Abu Bakr finished what he needed and left. Later, Umar came and requested permission to enter and the prophet gave him permission to enter while he (Muhammad) was in that state. So Umar finished what he needed and left. Later, Uthman requested permission to enter to the prophet, so Muhammad sat up and told Aisha, "TAKE ALL THE CLOTHING THAT BELONGS TO YOU."

So Aisha did as the prophet requested and left. Afterwards, Aisha asked the prophet, "O prophet! Why is it that I didn't see you anxious when Abu Bakr or Umar came like you were when Uthman came in?"

The prophet replied, "Uthman is a bashful man, and I feared that if I gave him permission to enter in the state that I was in, he would not have finished what he came for."

The Explanation of Sahih Muslim by Al-Nawawi

His saying "wearing HER garment (mirt)."

It is pronounced as "mirt" with a diacritical mark underneath that "m". It is a cloak made out of wool. Al-Khalil said that it is A ROBE made out of wool or cotton or the like. Ibn al-A'raby and Abu Zaid said that it is A LOINCLOTH, a waist wrap (izar).

There are numerous Hadeeths in Bukhari (such as Hadeeth No. 352) and Muslim (such as Hadeeth No. 538) wherein different people are reported to have 'Jama`a `Alaihi Thiyabah', i.e., 'wrapped himself well with his CLOTHES', or, 'straightened his CLOTHES to look more formal in appearance'. In, `Aun al-Ma`bud, there is this definition for 'Akhadhta bi-Talbibi Fulan': when you wrap ('Ijma`' or hold) the Thaub that one is wearing [in your hands] and pull him by the Thaub (in today's expressions 'pull him by THE COLLAR towards you').' Similarly, saying that one has 'Jama`a `Alaihi Thiyabah' does not mean that one is collecting his clothes, but rather, one is wrapping himself well with his CLOTHES. In his explanation on Sunan an-Nasaii, as-Sindi said that 'Jumi`at' [means] 'wrapped well', so that one's body is not exposed. (Bold emphasis ours)

Muhammad was indeed wrapping himself with Aisha's clothes!

Then they used to return to their houses after concluding their prayer, unrecognized by anyone. His saying multafi'at has previously been explained. Murooot is plural of mirt with a diacritical mark below the 'mim' letter. It is a striped garment made of silk or wool or something else. It was said that the name mirt applies only if it is green AND WORN BY WOMEN ONLY, but this is answered by saying a mirt made of black hair.

قوله: (متلفعات) تقدم شرحه، (والمروط) جمع مرط بكسر الميم وهو كساء معلم من خز أو صوف أو غير ذلك، وقيل لا يسمى مرطا إلا إذا كان أخضر ولا يلبسه إلا النساء، وهو مردود بقوله مرط من شعر أسود.

Chapter of Modesty in Clothing

Narrated by Aisha who said:
The Prophet went out on a certain day at noon and ON HIM was a *mirt that was murahal made of black hair.
Commentary: Mirt is a kisa' which is a garment that is sometimes made out of wool and sometimes out of hair or cotton or silk. Al-Khatabi said: It is a covering (kisa') that is girded with.
Al-Nudair said: It is only a cloak, WORN BY WOMEN ONLY and is green in color. This hadith is responded to.
Murhal means it has the image of walking camels. Al-Khatabi said: the murhal is something that is striped.

It is clear from the foregoing Muslim authorities that Muhammad did in fact wear women's clothing.
A mirt that is worn is a woman's garment which she can wrap herself in. In light of this, one can legitimately understand fee mirt-in wa'hid to mean that Aisha and Muhammad wrapped themselves in a woman's garment.

Hence, whatever the case may be the narratives we cited which refer to Muhammad wearing his wives' mirt, thawb etc. cannot be overthrown by one single report from Musnad Ahmad (a report which itself can be interpreted to mean that Aisha's garment was long enough for both of them to wrap themselves in).

Finally, if Muhammad had no hesitation to leave his thigh uncovered in the presence of Abu Bakr and Umar, something which he did not do in the presence of Uthman, then why should it be difficult for Abualrub to imagine that he would have no shame wearing his wife's dress in the presence of his fathers-in-law?

Muhammad justified his willful neglect of his wives and his preferential treatment of Aisha by claiming that revelations only came down to him when he was in her clothes:

> Narrated ‘Urwa from ‘Aisha:
> The wives of Allah's Apostle were in two groups. One group consisted of 'Aisha, Hafsa, Safiyya and Sauda; and the other group consisted of Um Salama and the other wives of Allah's Apostle. The Muslims knew that Allah’s Apostle loved ‘Aisha, so if any of them had a gift and wished to give to Allah's Apostle, he would delay it, till Allah’s Apostle had come to ‘Aisha's home and then he would send his gift to Allah’s Apostle in her home. The group of Um Salama discussed the matter together and decided that Um Salama should request Allah's Apostle to tell the people to send their gifts to him in whatever wife’s house he was. Um Salama told Allah’s Apostle of what they had said, but he did not reply. Then they (those wives) asked Um Salama about it. She said, “He did not say anything to me.” They asked her to talk to him again. She talked to him again when she met him on her day, but he gave no reply. When they asked her, she replied that he had given no reply. They said to her, “Talk to him till he gives you a reply.” When it was her turn, she talked to him again. He then said to her, “Do not hurt me regarding Aisha, AS THE DIVINE INSPIRATIONS DO NOT COME TO ME ON ANY OF THE BEDS EXCEPT THAT OF AISHA.” On that Um Salama said, “I repent to Allah for hurting you.” Then the group of Um Salama called Fatima, the daughter of Allah’s Apostle and sent her to Allah’s Apostle to say to him, “Your wives request to treat them and the daughter of Abu Bakr ON EQUAL TERMS.” Then Fatima conveyed the message to him. The Prophet said, "O my daughter! Don’t you love whom I love?" She replied in the affirmative and returned and told them of the situation. They requested her to go to him again but she refused. They then sent Zainab bint Jahsh who went to him AND USED HARSH WORDS SAYING, “Your wives request you TO TREAT THEM and the daughter of Ibn Abu Quhafa ON EQUAL TERMS.” On that she raised her voice AND ABUSED ‘Aisha TO HER FACE so much so that Allah’s Apostle looked at ‘Aisha to see whether she would retort. ‘Aisha started replying to Zainab till she silenced her. The Prophet then looked at ‘Aisha and said, “She is really the daughter of Abu Bakr.” (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 47, Number 755)

The wives demanded equal time and attention and how does Muhammad respond? Does he make an effort to correct his blatant mistreatment of his wives? No, instead of doing the right thing he claims that his deity only gives him divine revelations when he is in bed with Aisha! Imagine that, Muhammad blames his god for discriminating against his wives!

The Quran calls the woman "the garment" of a man in the context of a discussion about sexual intercourse:

> Permitted to you, on the night of the fasts, is the approach to your wives. They are your GARMENTS (libasun) and ye are their garments (libasun). God knoweth what ye used to do secretly among yourselves; but He turned to you and forgave you; so now associate with them, and seek what God Hath ordained for you, and eat and drink, until the white thread of dawn appear to you distinct from its black thread; then complete your fast Till the night appears; but do not associate with your wives while ye are in retreat in the mosques. Those are Limits (set by) God: Approach not nigh thereto. Thus doth God make clear His Signs to men: that they may learn self-restraint. S. 2:187 Yusuf Ali

Here is another version:

> It is made lawful for you to have sexual relations with your wives on the night of As-Saum (the fasts). They are Libas [i.e. body cover, or screen, or Sakan, (i.e. you enjoy the pleasure of living with her - as in Verse 7:189) Tafsir At-Tabari], for you and you are the same for them… Hilali-Khan

Could it be that those narrations where Muhammad says that he didn't receive revelations in the garment of any women except Aisha is meant to be understood in a euphemistic sense, i.e. that revelation only came to him while he was having sexual intercourse with her?

In other words, when Muhammad spoke of wearing his wife's garment did he actually mean that that he used his woman as a garment, e.g. his wife was his garment in the sense that he was having sex with her? Should we understand the terms thawb and mirt in that sense, in the same sense that libas is used in Q. 2:187? After all, when Muhammad was at Aisha's house he would obviously be having sex with her. So Allah only sent down inspiration upon Muhammad when he was sleeping with his child bride.

Even Aisha noticed how Muhammad's deity came running to gratify his messenger's desires:

> Narrated Aisha:
> I used to look down upon those ladies who had given themselves to Allah's Apostle and I used to say, "Can a lady give herself (to a man)?" But when Allah revealed: "You (O Muhammad) can postpone (the turn of) whom you will of them (your wives), and you may receive any of them whom you will; and there is no blame on you if you invite one whose turn you have set aside (temporarily)."

(33.51) I said (to the Prophet), "I feel that your Lord hastens in fulfilling your wishes and desires." (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 311)

Doesn't this show that Muhammad had no shame and did not hesitate to blame everything on his deity? And yet this is the same man that Abualrub wants to foist upon the world as a mercy and a prophet.

{Sidenote: the Salafi translator of Sahih Bukhari, Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Khan, has conveniently decided to translate the Arabic as "beds" which disagrees with the following translation:

> He said to her, "Do not injure me regarding 'A'isha. The revelation does not come to me when I am in the GARMENT of any woman except 'A'isha." (Aisha Bewley, The Sahih Collection of al-Bukhari, Chapter 52. Book of Setting Free, VII: The one who gave a gift to his friend aiming for a time when he was with one of his wives rather than another; source)

The Section of 'Gathering', chapter of 'The detestation of praying in women's coverings'

It was narrated by Muhammad ibn Abd Al-A'la, narrated by Khalid ibn Al-Harith, narrated by Asha't ibn Abdel Malik, narrated by Muhammad ibn Sirin, narrated by Abdallah ibn Shafiq, narrated by Aisha who said, 'The prophet did not pray in his wives' coverings (Luhuf').'

Abu Issa related that this is a true and correct hadith. It was narrated about the prophet that he also gave exception to this.

Commentary: The saying, 'did not pray in his wives' coverings (Luhuf'), is also found in the narration of Abu Dawud as 'in our shi'rina or luhufina' which shows doubt on the part of the narrator. The hadith shows the legitimacy of avoiding WOMEN'S CLOTHES that are thought to have been defiled (by women's emissions) as well as all other clothing that are feared likewise…

As for his saying 'It was narrated about the prophet also gave exception to this,' this was in reference to Aisha's hadith, 'I was with the prophet and on us was our shi'aar and above it we threw on a kisa. When the prophet woke up the next morning, he took the kisa' AND WORE IT and went out and prayed the noon prayer.' This hadith was narrated by Abu Dawud. Both Abu Dawud and Muslim narrated from Aisha, 'The prophet was praying the evening prayer while I was beside him and menstruating. I had upon me a mirt and part of it was also on him.' Al-Kadi Al-Shawkani stated that all this indicates that it is not an obligation for one to avoid (touching) WOMEN'S CLOTHING (thiyab), rather it is done out of caution only. This is how the two hadith are reconciled.

Al-Katabi said: the murhal is something that is striped.
An unsown striped kisa'a (mirt, thawb) worn ONLY BY WOMEN as used. This is an example of one worn by women in the Indian subcontinent.

Ihram – Muslim clothing worn during Hajj pilgrimage. Ihram is the distinctive garb of the male pilgrim worn during Umra or Hajj. It consists of two pieces of white, plain and unsown cloth. One of the pieces (izaar) is wrapped around the midriff to cover his body from just above his navel to his ankles, and the other (reda) is draped around his shoulders to cover the upper body.

Un-sewn garments are very familiar to Muslims. Today, they are specifically used for clothing purposes. These cloths are NOT used as towels to dry the body or blankets to sleep under; they are specifically used for clothing.

10) Punishing people is good news for Allah:

The so-called creator Allah of Muhammad is someone who has broadcast the news of punishing his own creation as good news. This is utterly incompatible with the character of a creator. Yes, the creator can punish wrongdoers in the interest of justice, but it can never be a matter of good news for Him. The Quran states:

"Give tidings to the hypocrites that there is for them a painful punishment." Al-Bayan (An-Nisa' 4:138)

And when Our verses are recited to him, he turns away arrogantly as if he had not heard them, as if there is deafness in his ears. So give him tidings of a painful punishment. (Luqman 31:7)

"So give them tidings of a painful punishment." (Al-Inshiqaq 84:24)

The Bible states that the Creator sent Jesus Christ to save the world, not to judge it:

"For God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through Him." John 3:16-17

In other words, punishing people or sending them to Hell is not a matter of joy or good news for Elohim; rather, it is the opposite.

From the nine important points above, it should be clear to everyone that it was Satan who was the Allah of the Quran.

b) Proof from the Bible that Allah is Satan:

The Bible describes the history of the world in detail and with prophecy. Therefore, it is impossible for the Bible to remain silent about the significant influence of Islam and its founder Muhammad throughout human history.

If we read Daniel 7:7-26, we see a prophecy about a beast with ten horns, symbolizing a kingdom opposed to Elohim and warring against the people of God.

The Book of Revelation also describes the kingdom of the beast with ten horns, which is given power and authority by a dragon (Revelation 13:1-2). The dragon is identified as Satan (Revelation 12:9). Because of the power received from Satan, everyone followed the beast and worshipped both the dragon and the beast (Revelation 13:4). In Islam, Muhammad and Allah are interlinked in every aspect. Belief in Allah requires belief in Muhammad, and obedience to Allah includes obedience to Muhammad. Allah pray to the prophet Muhammad (Quran 33:56). Muslims altered this verse's translation everywhere, you have to read this verse Arabic word by word phrase by phrase to understand the true meaning. Revelation 13:11 describes a third beast who will come as a follower of the ten-horned beast, creating a reign of terror that forces people to obey (Revelation 13:16-17).

Islam means submission to the will of al-Lah or give life tax Jizya to be alive in shameful way or elimination from life, no other options. Further, reading the first few lines of Psalm 83, we see a description of nations opposed to Elohim, which matches the description of Muslim nations and places:

1. O God, do not remain silent; do not turn a deaf ear, do not stand aloof, O God.
2. See how your enemies growl, how your foes rear their heads.
3. With cunning they conspire against your people; they plot against those you cherish.
4. "Come," they say, "let us destroy them as a nation, so that Israel's name is remembered no more."

5. With one mind they plot together; they form an alliance against you—
6. the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, of Moab and the Hagrites,
7. Byblos, Ammon and Amalek, Philistia, with the people of Tyre.
8. Even Assyria has joined them to reinforce Lot’s descendants. Psalm 83:1-8

c) Proof from Muhammad’s Father’s Name

It is reported that a man asked the Prophet about his father, and the Prophet replied, "My father and your father are in Hell."

1. The Fate of the Prophet's Father and a Companion's Father:

Sahih Muslim, Book 1, Hadith 398: Anas reported that a person asked the Messenger of Allah about the fate of his father. The Prophet replied, "He is in the Fire." When the person turned away, the Prophet called him back and added, "Verily, my father and your father are in the Fire."

This narration highlights the belief that some individuals, including close relatives of the Prophet Muhammad, were destined for Hell due to their disbelief.

2. The Fate of a Child from the Pre-Islamic Era:

Sahih Muslim 2662c: 'A'isha, the mother of the believers, reported that Allah's Messenger was called to lead the funeral prayer for a child of the Ansar. She expressed joy for the child, saying it was a bird from Paradise since it had committed no sin. The Prophet responded, "It may be otherwise, because Allah created for Paradise those who are fit for it while they were yet in their fathers' loins and created for Hell those who are to go to Hell."

This narration illustrates the Islamic concept of predestination, where individuals' ultimate fate is determined by Allah's knowledge and will.

3. The Prophet's Visit to His Mother's Grave:

Sunan Ibn Majah 1572: Abu Hurairah narrated that the Prophet visited his mother's grave and wept, causing others to weep. He said, "I asked my Lord for permission to seek forgiveness for her, but He did not grant it. Then I asked for permission to visit her grave, and He granted it. So visit graves, for they remind you of death."

This narration emphasizes the emotional aspect of the Prophet's life and his respect for divine commands.

The name of the Prophet Muhammad's father is Abdullah. The breakdown of this name:
Abd (عبد): "servant" or "slave" in Arabic.
Allah (الله): “The Lah” a specific deity named Lah like the daughters of Al-Lah: Al-Lat, Al-Uzza, Al-Manat. Al means the. If it represented general name of God then it should spell AL-Ilah, meaning The God. The phrase "La ilaha illallah" "لا إله إلا الله" translates to "There is no god but Allah" the creed.

Together, "Abdullah" (عبد الله) means "servant of Al-lah"
The name Abdullah is a common name in Islamic culture, reflecting a sense of devotion and servitude to God. This name is highly esteemed as it signifies a direct connection to the worship of Allah. But, Abdullah went to hell for worshiping Allah. So Muhammad is re-branding Allah.
God has just one personal name. It is written יהוה in Hebrew and is usually transliterated "Jehovah" in English. Some Hebrew scholars favor the rendering "Yahweh" for God's name. Through his prophet Isaiah, God stated: "I am Jehovah. That is my name." (Isaiah 42:8) This name appears about 7,000 times in ancient Bible manuscripts—far more frequently than any other term for God. A shortened form of the divine name, "Jah," appears about 50 times in the Bible, including its use in the word "Hallelujah," or "Alleluia," which means "Praise Jah."—Revelation 19:1. Muslims used to have name Elias, in Hebrew Elijah, meaning Jah is my God. But they don't know God's personal name- Jehovah or YHWH.
Bible uses many titles and descriptions for God. The following list of some of those titles and descriptions shows how each one reveals an aspect of Jehovah's nature or his personality.

Titles and Descriptions of God in the Bible:

- Almighty (Genesis 17:1): Has irresistible power.
- The Alpha and the Omega (Revelation 1:8): The beginning and the end.
- Ancient of Days (Daniel 7:9): Eternal existence.
- Creator (Isaiah 40:28): Bringer of all things into existence.
- Father (Matthew 6:9): Life-giver.
- God (Genesis 1:1): An object of worship.
- God of gods (Deuteronomy 10:17): The supreme God.
- Grand Instructor (Isaiah 30:20): Gives beneficial teaching.
- Happy God (1 Timothy 1:11): Characterized by joy.
- Hearer of prayer (Psalm 65:2): Listens to prayers.
- I Am That I Am (Exodus 3:14): Becomes whatever is needed to fulfill his purpose.
- King of eternity (Revelation 15:3): Eternal rulership.
- Lord (Psalm 135:5): Master.
- Most High (Psalm 47:2): Supreme position.
- Potter (Isaiah 64:8): Authority over creation.
- Redeemer (Isaiah 41:14): Recovers mankind from sin.

- Rock (Psalm 18:2): Secure refuge.
- Savior (Isaiah 45:21): Delivers from danger.
- Shepherd (Psalm 23:1): Cares for worshippers.
- Sovereign Lord (Genesis 15:2): Supreme authority.
- Supreme One (Daniel 7:18): Highest sovereign.

Place names in the Hebrew Scriptures:

Some place names in the Bible include God's personal name, but these are not alternate names for God.

Genesis 22:13-14

13 Abraham looked up and there in a thicket he saw a ram caught by its horns. He went over and took the ram and sacrificed it as a burnt offering instead of his son.
14 So Abraham called that place The LORD Will Provide. And to this day it is said, "On the mountain of the LORD it will be provided."

Exodus 17:15

15 Moses built an altar and called it The LORD is my Banner.

Exodus 17:13-16

13 So Joshua overcame the Amalekite army with the sword.
14 Then the LORD said to Moses, "Write this on a scroll as something to be remembered and make sure that Joshua hears it, because I will completely blot out the memory of Amalek from under heaven."
15 Moses built an altar and called it The LORD is my Banner.
16 He said, "Because hands were lifted up against the throne of the LORD, the LORD will be at war against the Amalekites from generation to generation."

Judges 6:23-24

23 But the LORD said to him, "Peace! Do not be afraid. You are not going to die."
24 So Gideon built an altar to the LORD there and called it The LORD is Peace. To this day it stands in Ophrah of the Abiezrites.

Ezekiel 48:35

35 The distance around the entire area will be 18,000 cubits. And the name of the city from that time on will be: the LORD is there.

Reasons to know and use God's name:

God must feel that his personal name, Jehovah, is important, because he included it thousands of times in the Bible.—Malachi 1:11.

God's Son, Jesus, repeatedly stressed the importance of God's name. For instance, he prayed to Jehovah: "Let your name be sanctified."—Matthew 6:9; John 17:6.

Those who come to know and use God's name take the first steps in building a friendship with Jehovah. (Psalm 9:10; Malachi 3:16) Such a relationship enables them to benefit from God's promise: "Because he has affection for me, I will rescue him. I will protect him because he knows my name."—Psalm 91:14.

The Bible acknowledges: "There are so-called gods, whether in heaven or on earth, just as there are many 'gods' and many 'lords.'" (1 Corinthians 8:5, 6) Yet it clearly identifies the one true God by his name, Jehovah.—Psalm 83:18.

Conclusion: Attributes and actions described for Allah in the Qur'an align closely with those of Satan, as understood in the Bible.

Qur'an Reveals Allah Is Satan

QUR'AN REVEALS ALLAH IS SATAN

Some claim that the Allah of the Qur'an and the God of the Holy Bible are one and the same. Nothing could be further from the truth. It is our duty to expose this wicked lie. We will take on this responsibility not only to help those who are clueless as to who Allah is but also to help sincere Muslims identify to whom they are really rendering their worship to.

As to the identity of Allah, it is best that we use Islamic sources themselves to reveal who Allah really is. Using sources that are acceptable to Muslims will certainly be more effective than using external sources to help them recognize the truth about Allah. Better still, we will let Allah himself disclose to Muslims his real identity. The identity of Allah will become unmistakably clear by the time you finish this article.

A woman, who knew Muhammad intimately – as she was none other than his own aunt – said to him, "Muhammad! I think your Satan has forsaken you, for I have not seen him with you for two or three nights!"

Well, how did Allah respond to this utterly evil portrayal of him as Satan? Did Allah become furiously offended at being called Satan? Did Allah pronounce a vigorous condemnation of the blasphemous accusation hurled against him by this woman? Shockingly, Allah did not voice a single complaint. His only reaction to the woman's criticism was his denial of having forsaken Muhammad. His response to the accusation of the woman is recorded in the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 93:1-3:"I swear by the early hours of the day, And the night when it covers with darkness. Your Lord has not forsaken you, nor has He become displeased." (Shakir)

Allah exposed himself as Satan in two very significant ways. He exposed himself not only by failing to respond to the woman's accusation that he is Satan, but more significantly by the way of his reply. By saying that he has not forsaken Muhammad, Allah identified himself as being the very same someone who was accused of forsaking Muhammad. And that is Satan. Therefore, Allah confirmed the truthfulness of the woman's accusation that he is Satan. He owned up to the very character that this woman associated him with. Allah accepted that he is who this woman identified him to be. Thereby, he exposed himself both by his silence to respond to the accusation that he is Muhammad's Satan and by answering as Satan. Now read the full account of this enlightening event in the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 475:

> *Narrated by Jundub bin Sufyan: Once Allah's Apostle became sick and could not offer his night prayer (Tahajjud) for two or three nights. Then a lady (the wife of Abu Lahab) came and said, "O Muhammad! I think that your Satan has forsaken you, for I have not seen him with you for two or three nights!" On that, Allah revealed:
> *"By the fore-noon, and by the night when it darkens, your Lord (O Muhammad) has neither forsaken you, nor hated you." (Surah 93.1-3).

Let us analyze this incident. The wife of Abu Lahab expressed that Muhammad's Satan had forsaken him. And unbelievably Allah answers by saying that he has not forsaken Muhammad. In fact, he reveals a Qur'anic verse reassuring Muhammad, "Your Lord has not forsaken you."

Now, why would Allah inspire a Qur'anic verse saying that he has "not forsaken" Muhammad when the accusation of Abu Lahab's wife was specifically directed to Satan – that Satan had forsaken him? Why did Allah put himself in Satan's shoes? Is this not an admission that he is Satan? By inspiring a Qur'anic verse to answer on behalf of Satan, is not Allah giving away himself as Satan? Let us put this in a much clearer format for our Muslim readers to understand.

Woman's accusation: "O Muhammad! I think that your Satan has forsaken you." Allah's response: "Your Lord has not forsaken you."

Is this not a clear testimony in the Qur'an that Muhammad's Lord is Satan and therefore Allah is Satan? Allah's response is shocking. But more damaging to Muslims is the fact that Allah concedes to the woman's accusation that he is Satan. This is an irrefutable admission in the Qur'an by Allah that he is none other than Satan. Allah responded instinctively without wavering because that is who he truly is. Allah took issue with the women's remark that he has forsaken Muhammad but not with the more serious offense of her portrayal of him as Satan. He sees nothing wrong in being identified as such. He did not voice a single word of objection against the woman's more serious offense of branding him as Satan.

Had Allah remained silent altogether, there would not be much to argue. However, since Allah viewed the incident serious enough to warrant a response in the Qur'an, why did he not respond to the more serious charge brought on against him by the woman? One thing that we can be sure of is that Allah alias Satan did not forsake Muhammad. Or is it Satan alias Allah? Actually it makes no difference. Allah is Satan. At times, even the most cautious serpent lets the truth slip out.

We should not be astonished by this disclosure of the identity of Allah in the Qur'an. The existence of many evil verses in the Qur'an is sufficient to reveal who Allah truly is. We will now consider some of the evil teachings of Allah in the Qur'an.

THE EVIL TEACHINGS OF ALLAH

A careful consideration of the inspired verses in the Qur'an proves that they can only be the product of an evil source. The Qur'an can only be inspired by Satan. An impartial reader will find an inherent evil in many of the verses of the Qur'an. Of course, there may appear to be some "good verses" that Muslims deceptively use to win converts for Allah. But we are not deceived by these so-called "good verses" in the Qur'an. These "good verses" are like the good food that an assassin mixes with the venom to disguise the appearance and taste of a deadly poison. The Bible alerts us not to be quickly deceived by any apparent display of godliness. A deeper study is a must to understand the crafty designs of Satan.

When we undertake the study of Allah in depth, we find him to be identical to Satan. Both he and Satan share the same traits and goals. For example, the Qur'an reveals that Satan leads people astray. Knowing the evil nature of Satan, we are not surprised by this revelation. However, the Qur'an also reveals that Allah too in a similar manner leads people astray. First, lets look at a Qur'anic verse on Satan. Regarding Satan, the Qur'an reveals the following: Satan.

> Surah 4:119: "And most certainly I will lead them astray and excite in them vain desires." (Shakir)

And the Qur'an reveals the astonishing similarity of Allah with Satan. Now compare the evil trait of Satan with the spirit manifested by Allah in the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 16:93: "But had Allah pleased He would have made you one nation; but He leads astray whom He will*, and guides whom He will; – but you shall be questioned as to that which you used to do." (H.S. Aziz)*
> Surah 4:88: "Would you like to guide him whom Allah has led into error? And whomever Allah leads into error Allah*, then you will never find for him a way." (M.M. Ghali)*

These Qur'anic verses reveal very clearly that just like Satan, Allah also "leads into error" whomever he wishes to. And the Qur'an says no one can guide those "whom Allah has led into error." Such is the power of Allah. And Allah has misled more than a billion Muslims into believing that he is the true God.

> 2 Corinthians 11:14: And no wonder, for Satan himself masquerades as an angel of light.

The Bible identifies Satan as the one who brought Death upon the human race.

> Hebrews 2:14: "That is why Jesus became one of us. That through his death he might bring to nothing the one having the means to cause death, that is, the Devil."
> John 8:44: "You are from your father the Devil*, and you wish to do the desires of your father.* That one was a murderer from the beginning."

Since Death was brought upon the human race by the Devil, he can rightly be described as "The Creator of Death." This is an appropriate designation for Satan since he is originator of Death. Incredibly, this is one of the names of Allah. This fact alone is sufficient for us to discern the real identity of Allah. According to the teachings of Islam, Allah has ninety-nine names. "Al-Mumit" appears as name number sixty-two in the list of the ninety-nine names of Allah. Islamic sources describe the meaning of "Al-Mumit" in the following terms:

The Beautiful Names of Allah:

> 62. AL-MUMIT: *(i) "*The Creator of Death" *(ii) "*The Slayer" *(iii) "*The One Who Renders the Living Dead" *(iv) "*The Bringer of Death"

Like Satan, Allah is "The Creator of Death." In complete contrast, Jehovah is the "Source of Life." He is not the destroyer but the giver of life:

> Psalms 36:7-9: *"*How precious your loving-kindness is, O God! *And in the shadow of your wings the sons of men themselves take refuge …*For with you is the source of life. By light from you we can see light."

In the Qur'an, we find not only Allah working closely with the demons but he also employs these wicked demons into his service to incite humans to do evil. If you find this unbelievable, consider the evidences of Allah's satanic nature in the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 19:83: See you not that We have sent the Shayatin (devils) against the disbelievers to push them to do evil. (Hilali-Khan)
> "Dost thou not see that we send the devils against the infidels, to incite them to sin by their instigations?" (Sale)

The above Qur'anic verse reveals the close association of Allah with the demons. He works along with the demons and they work along with him. Just think, will the true God employ the service of the demons to accomplish his tasks? Will the true God incite anyone – either directly by himself or by the use of demons – to commit evil? Would not these be the traits of Satan? While we rightly expect God to punish unrepentant sinners who willfully engage in sinful conduct, we know for a certainty that it is beyond the holiness of the Almighty God to "push them to do evil." Doing so would make God an enforcer of evil.

It is impossible for the true God to act in the same evil manner as Allah does. The Bible teaches us that it is beyond the holiness of Jehovah to use his divine power to subject any individual to commit evil. In fact, his holiness makes it impossible for him to either entice or tempt anyone by the use of evil things. And it is also impossible for Jehovah to employ the services of wicked demons to "push" anyone to commit evil? Hear what the true God says:

> James 1:13: Let no man say when he is tempted, "I am tempted by God." For God cannot be tempted with evil, neither does He tempt anyone with evil things.

Some Muslim apologists deceptively argue that Allah uses the devils only against the disbelievers. But is this true? The following Qur'anic verse exposes their deceptions and lies:

> Surah 6:112: "Thus have We appointed unto every Prophet an advesary*, –* evil one among men and jinns, inspiring each other with flowery discourses by way of deception." (Yusuf Ali)
> "So have We appointed for every Prophet an enemy – devils of men and Jinns*; who inspire each other with* seductive, deceptive speech which leads astray." (H. S. Aziz)

Once again we find Allah and the demons are working together. However, this time the Qur'an reveals that the "evil ones among the Jinns" are specifically "appointed" by Allah to serve as enemies not to the disbelievers but to the Prophets of God. So not only Allah uses the demons against the unbelievers but also against the Prophets of God. What excuses have Muslim apologists got to say to this. Just imagine, Allah and the demons working together, hand in hand as partners to oppose the Prophets of God.

How do these demonic Jinns act as adversaries against the Prophets of God? The Qur'an admits that they achieve their evil aims by the use of "seductive, deceptive speech which leads astray." Thus, Allah appoints "evil ones among the Jinns" to deceive the Prophets of God into committing sin. Instead of protecting the Prophets of God, Allah takes it upon himself to appoint "evil ones from among the men and Jinns" to lead them astray. Will the true God act in this utterly wicked manner? Does not this information serve as a vital clue to the identity of Allah? Does it not reveal that he Satan?

In contrast, Jehovah God cares for his Prophets. He protects them from being defrauded by their adversaries:

> Psalms 105:14-15: "And God did not allow any human to defraud them*, But on their account he reproved kings, Saying: 'Do not you men touch my anointed ones,* And to my prophets do nothing bad.'"

Can you not see the immense difference between Allah and Jehovah? One ensnares the Prophets by appointing evil enemies to deceive them, while the other protects them from the deception of the evil enemies. Who do you think behaves like a true Creator? As for Jehovah, it is against the nature of his divine holiness to work along with the demons.

> 1 Corinthians 10:21: You cannot be drinking the cup of Jehovah and the cup of demons*. You cannot be partaking of the table of* Jehovah and the table of demons*.*

The following Qur'anic verse is even more damaging. It shows that Allah deliberately holds back guidance just for the sole pleasure of fulfilling his "predetermined" quota of the number of persons he desires to send to "Hell." Adding to his evil, Allah boasts: "If We had so willed, We could certainly have brought every soul its true guidance." This means that Allah could save them from this evil destiny if he wants to but chooses not to. Evil! Evil! Evil!

> Surah 32:13: If We had so willed, We could certainly have brought every soul its true guidance: but the Word from Me will come true, *"*I will fill Hell with Jinns and men all together." (Yusuf Ali)
> Had we willed, we could have given every soul its guidance*, but* it is already predetermined that I will fill Hell with jinns and humans, all together.(Khalifa)

Without a doubt Allah is an evil sadistic deity with a spiteful spirit. The above Qur'anic verse states that Allah has "already predetermined" that he "will fill Hell with jinns and humans." If Allah has "already predetermined" an individual's final destination, then that individual's final destination is not determined by his or her response to the teachings of the Scriptures but as it is "predetermined" by Allah. This means that in reality, there is no need for Scriptures.

How can Muslims submit to a deity who willfully holds back guidance for the sole pleasure of filling "Hell" with mankind? How can Muslims submit to a deity who deliberately withholds guidance for the sole pleasure of fulfilling his "predetermined" quota of the number of persons he wants to send there? This is satanic. We must remember that in line with the teaching of "Hell-fire" in Islam, this would then mean a destination of unspeakable suffering in a fiery place of torment for billions in the hereafter. This means that the spirit that speaks until today in the Qur'an is neither divine nor godly but rather an ungodly, demonic power that holds more than a billion Muslims captive.

And the following verse shows that Allah created some just to "fill Hell" with them. He predetermined their final destination.

> Surah 11:119: *"…*and the Word of thy Lord shall be fulfilled: 'I shall fill Hell with the jinns and men altogether.'" (Yusuf Ali)

This completely eliminates any hope for these individuals who are created for "Hell." This means that they are already destined to "Hell" even before they commit a single act of sin. Is it justifiable to sentence someone to a judgment of condemnation to "Hell" before that individual commits a single act of sin? And Allah does just that. He creates that person for "Hell." Can you really believe the amount of evil teachings that exist in the Qur'an? Compare now the attitude of Allah with that of the true Creator:

> Ezekiel 18:23: "'Do I take any delight at all in the death of someone wicked*,' is the utterance of the Sovereign Lord Jehovah, 'and not in that he should return from his ways and actually keep living?'"*
> Ezekiel 18:32: "'For I do not take pleasure in the death of someone dying*, is the utterance of the Sovereign Lord Jehovah.* So turn yourselves from your bad ways and keep living, O you people.'"
> 2 Peter 3:9: "Jehovah is not slow respecting his promise, as some count slowness, but he is patient with you because he does not desire any to be destroyed but desires all to attain to repentance."

The true God is a God of love who cares for mankind. Although as a God of Justice he is required to execute judgment against the wicked, but it is his intense desire that even the wicked change their ways and keep living. He finds no pleasure even in the death of someone wicked. In further contrast to the loving nature of Jehovah, the Qur'an reveals that Allah deliberately places "wicked men in every town to plot and act deceitfully therein." Read the following verse carefully:

> Surah 6:123: "Thus have We placed leaders in every town, its wicked men, to plot (and burrow) therein." (Yusuf Ali)
> "And thus have We placed in every city chief leaders of the wicked men thereof, that they may act deceitfully therein*." (Sale)*

Why would Allah want to place "wicked men to plot in every town" and to "act deceitfully therein?" The next Qur'anic verse is even more revealing. It testifies that Allah is the "Creator of Evil."

> Surah 113:1-2: Say: "I seek refuge with (Allah) the Lord of the daybreak, From the evil of what He has created*."(Hilali-Khan)*
> "Say: 'I seek refuge in the Lord of the Daybreak. From the evil of that which He created.'" (Pickthall)

The Qur'an openly acknowledges that Allah is the "Creator of Evil." This should put sincere Muslims on the alert. It clearly reveals the true nature of Allah. And they are evil. Absurdly, Muslims are commanded to seek refuge with Allah "from the evil of what He has created." Just think for a moment, would it make sense to flee from something evil only to seek refuge in the very creator of that evil? Would it make sense to fear evil and not the creator of that evil? And this is the idiotic course of action that the Qur'an is commanding Muslims to do. Muslims should therefore seek refuge from Allah because he is the origin of that evil. Does not logic dictate that to seek refuge from the evil that Allah created, one needs to seek refuge from Allah himself? Since Allah is the source of that evil, Allah is evil. And we know that Satan is evil.

The Holy Bible makes the following interesting observation:

> Matthew 7:16-18: "You shall know them by their fruits. Do people gather grapes from thorns or figs from thistles? Likewise every good tree produces fine fruit, but every rotten tree produces worthless fruit; a good tree cannot bear worthless fruit, neither can a rotten tree produce fine fruit."

Just as a good tree cannot bear worthless fruit, a God who is holy and good cannot be a Creator of anything evil. Only good can come from him. When we apply this principle to Allah, what can we determine? What kind of fruits did Allah produce? As the Qur'an itself testifies, the fruits of Allah are evil. The Qur'an itself admits that Allah is the "Creator of Evil."

> James 3:11-12: A fountain does not cause the sweet and the bitter to bubble out of the same opening, does it? My brothers, a fig tree cannot produce olives or a vine figs, can it? Neither can salt water produce sweet water.

Likewise, only Evil can produce evil. Muslims need to know the truth about the evil nature of Allah. But, more than that, Muslims should come to know about the existence of a truly loving God. They should come to know the truth about the God:

> Job 34:10: *"Therefore, hear me, you men of understanding: far be it from God to do evil, and from the Almighty that he should do wicked things."

Who revealed Quran to Muhammad?

Relationship between Prophet Muhammad and Dihya al-Kalbi (Jibril)

There are numerous accounts mentioning that Gabriel appeared in the form of Dihya al-Kalbi. However, in all these stories, the companions (Sahaba) would say, “That’s Dihya,” while Prophet Muhammad was the lone voice asserting, “No, that’s Gabriel.” Not once did any of the companions ever say on their own that this man, who appears as Dihya, cannot actually be Dihya—because he’s, say, flying, glowing, or doing something supernatural, or because Dihya is currently in Syria, so how could he appear here in Yathrib (Medina)? Instead, the companions always identified him as Dihya. The only one claiming otherwise—that it was Gabriel—was Prophet Muhammad.

Moreover, every time Muhammad claimed it was Gabriel, it was during awkward situations where a lie could cover up an embarrassment or scandal. Gabriel never showed up as Dihya in the middle of a battlefield, slaughtering pagans, with Muhammad declaring, “Look, that’s Gabriel!” No. It was always Dihya either getting cozy with Muhammad or reprimanding him, giving Muhammad a motive to lie and save face.

Additionally, there are general accounts suggesting that the relationship between Muhammad and Dihya was more like that of lovers. It is also worth noting that Dihya was considered the most handsome of all the companions—no contest. So, did Gabriel really have no other choice but to appear as the one who would raise the most eyebrows?

Descriptions of Dihya's Beauty

Let’s dive into the stories describing just how handsome Dihya was:

- Al-Dhahabi says, “There’s no doubt that Dihya was the most handsome of the companions in Medina.”
- In a Hadith by Ibn Abbas, it’s mentioned: “When Dihya arrived from Syria, not a single teenage girl stayed indoors; they all went out to gaze at him.” Imagine that! Dihya was so good-looking that when his caravan rolled into Yathrib, teenage girls would rush out just to marvel at his beauty.

- Another version of Ibn Abbas's Hadith states: "When Dihya arrived in the city, not a single woman, even the secluded ones, stayed indoors. They all went out to see him." So, it wasn't just the teenage girls—even adult women who typically stayed indoors would leave their homes just to feast their eyes on Dihya.
- According to Al-Futuhat al-Makkiya, Dihya's beauty was so overwhelming that when he arrived in Medina and people went to greet him, any pregnant woman who saw him would immediately miscarry. Of course, this is an exaggeration, but it highlights just how unparalleled his beauty was.
- In Al-Umda by Al-Ayni, it's noted that Dihya used to walk around with his face covered to avoid causing women to become infatuated with him.

There's no disagreement: Dihya was the kind of stunningly handsome man who could captivate women to the point where he became a legend for his looks.

Dihya's Origin and Beauty

Let's not forget that the Kalb tribe inhabited the area stretching from the outskirts of the Levant (what's now southern Jordan) to Tayma in Saudi Arabia. Before Islam, this region was under Roman influence. To appreciate the beauty of the people from that area, recall the Hadith where Prophet Muhammad told a companion on their way to Tabuk, "Join us in battle, and you'll gain the daughters of the Romans," or he said, "the daughters of the fair-haired," meaning blondes. So, if the girls of Tabuk were blondes, imagine the girls of Al-Qurayat on the Jordanian border. And imagine the girls of Jordan. All these areas were Roman territories. From this region, renowned for its beautiful inhabitants, came Dihya. Even today, in Saudi Arabia, if a Jordanian student attends a middle school, he becomes the talk of the school.

Prophet Mohammed said to his followers " Invade tabuk and your spoils will be the daughters of Al Asfar(blonde white women)
One of his followers named Al Jadd said to Mohammed in front of others in the meeting: "Draw me not into trail and don't tempt me with blonde women because I don't want to commit sin and allow me not to accompany you to Tabuk"
Mohammed got angry with this man and a Quran verse came down concerning him.
Quran 9:49 and Tafsir of al Tabari:
"Among them is a man who says grant me exemption and don't draw me into trail, have they not fallen into trail already? Indeed hell surrounds the unbelievers on all sides" it was mentioned this verse came regarding a man named Al Jadd b-Qais, this was in reference to a man who said to the Prophet give command so I don't accompany you don't tempt me with the daughters of al asfar(white blonde women from Roman Byzantines)

The Hadith on Privacy with Dihya

Hudhyfa says people used to visit the Prophet whenever they wanted before (without permission, even if his wives were present), until the veil was mandated. Then, the veil was mandated, and entering required permission. Now, let's go back to the Hadith describing the period before the veil was imposed: People used to visit the Prophet without permission even if Aisha was sitting with him. However, it was forbidden to enter when Dihya was with him.

Before the veil, it was normal to enter upon the Prophet without permission—even if Aisha was present. But it was forbidden to enter if he was alone with Dihya. If Abu Bakr was with him, no problem. If Umar was with him, no problem. If Ali was with him, still no problem. But if he was alone with Dihya, no one was allowed to enter. Muhammad would prevent anyone from entering to be alone with Dihya. Hudhifa elaborated on this story, saying the Prophet told his companions: "If you see Dihya with me, no one should enter."

The Incident with Hudhifa:

> One day, I came to the Prophet for something and noticed a cloak draped over the door. I lifted the cloak and saw Dihya. Surprised, I closed my eyes and left immediately.

Hudhifa's Account: Later, Hudhifa met Ali Ibn Abi Talib on his way and told him what he had witnessed. They both decided to go to the Prophet together. Before diving into that part of the story, let's first look at another version of Hudhifa's account to understand why he reacted the way he did.

Alternate Account: Hudhifa said, "One day, I approached the Prophet for something, hoping to find him alone. When I reached the door, I noticed a cloak draped over it. I lifted the cloak and was about to enter, as we usually did, and saw Dihya sitting with the Prophet, who was asleep with his head in Dihya's lap. When I saw this, I left immediately."

This version explains why Hudhifa closed his eyes—he saw the Prophet's head in Dihya's lap. Was the Prophet's face turned up or down? Only God knows. However, the sight made Hudhifa instinctively close his eyes.

Ali Ibn Abi Talib's Encounter

Ali Ibn Abi Talib entered the scene and saw the same thing. Dihya then said to him, "Take your cousin's head." Ali moved the Prophet's head from Dihya's lap to his own, and then Dihya left. When the Prophet Muhammad woke up, he found his head in Ali's lap.

- The Prophet asked Ali, "From whose lap did you take my head?" Ali responded, "From Dihya's lap."
- The Prophet then remarked, "That was Gabriel (Jibrīl, in Arabic)."
- Notably, Gabriel did not appear when the Prophet stood on the Rock calling people to his new religion, but he did when Muhammad was supposedly napping (in Dihya's lap).

Ibn Abbas's Account

There is another account from Ibn Abbas:

- Ibn Abbas said, "I passed by the Prophet while he was conversing with Dihya, not realizing it was Gabriel. When I returned, the Prophet asked me why I didn't greet them. I replied, 'I saw you conversing with Dihya, so I didn't want to interrupt.' The Prophet then said, 'You saw him?' I confirmed, and the Prophet said, 'It will take your sight away and return it to you at your death.'"
- Notice that Ibn Abbas mentioned seeing Dihya, not Gabriel. The assertion that it was Gabriel came solely from Muhammad. Ibn Abbas did not greet them, possibly because he sensed something unusual. Muhammad wasn't sure if Ibn Abbas had seen anything, so he asked for confirmation.
- Upon confirming that Ibn Abbas had seen them, the Prophet told him, "You will go blind, and your sight will only return at the moment of your death." This appears to be an attempt at using suggestion to induce blindness. Medically, some forms of blindness can indeed be caused by psychological factors akin to suggestion. It's as if Ibn Abbas saw something so concerning that Muhammad attempted to make him go blind and scared him by saying that if his sight returned it would be at the moment of his death. Did he see the prophet Muhammad engaging in physical activity with Dihya?

The Incident with Ali and the Prophet in the Courtyard

Ibn Abbas also narrated a similar story to Hudhifa's account:

- "The Prophet was in his house, and Ali Ibn Abi Talib came to him in the morning. When Ali entered, he saw the Prophet in the courtyard with his head in Dihya's lap." The rest of the story is known—"the Prophet Muhammad woke up and said it was Gabriel."
- This implies that Ibn Abbas was aware of Muhammad's close relationship with Dihya.

The Famous Story of Gabriel's Appearance

There is another well-known story where a man came to the Prophet Muhammad among his companions and asked about Islam, faith, and excellence. The Prophet answered his questions as though he were a student.

- At the end of the conversation, the Prophet said, "That was Gabriel in the form of Dihya."
- According to the narrations of Abu Daud and Abu Huraira, Dihya would say to the Prophet, "Come closer, Muhammad," repeating it until the Prophet was close enough. Then, Dihya placed his hand on the Prophet Muhammad's knee.
- In Umar's narration, it is said that Dihya brought his knees up to the Prophet's knees and placed his hands on the Prophet's thighs. This implies a certain hold Dihya had over the Prophet, drawing him close and touching him in front of the companions, leaving Muhammad with no choice but to claim it was Gabriel.

The Incident After the Battle of the Trench

After the Battle of the Trench, Dihya stormed into Muhammad's house, exclaiming, "Have you put down your weapons? Get out there and fight Banu Qurayza!" Muhammad reacted so quickly that it startled Aisha.

- After Dihya left towards Banu Qurayza, Muhammad asked Aisha, "Who did you see?" She replied, "I saw Dihya." Muhammad responded, "No, that was Gabriel."
- Muhammad then asked Um Salama the same question. She also said, "I saw Dihya." This time, Muhammad remained silent.
- Muhammad then went to the mosque, which was just a wall away from the house, and told his companions, "Gabriel came to me and ordered me to attack Banu Qurayza." Um Salama overheard this and realized it was supposed to be Gabriel.
- Notice how Muhammad told Aisha it was Gabriel, but he could not say the same to Um Salama, as she was experienced and likely wouldn't be easily deceived.

The Mysterious Encounter: Gabriel or Dihya?

On the way to Banua Quraiza, Muhammad sees some companions and asks, "Who passed by you?" They answer, "Dihya," and he says, "No, that was Gabriel." This so-called Gabriel shows up in front of everyone on the road for no reason but vanishes when they reach the fortress of Banu Quraiza. No one says Gabriel fought in the battle. No one says the Muslims had an easy win. Essentially, Muhammad was embarrassed by Dihya confronting him and covered it up by claiming it was Gabriel. The whole Gabriel story seems like a way for Muhammad to dodge these awkward moments with Dihya, who apparently had some serious leverage over him.

The Beardless Youth: Ibn Taymiyyah's Account

In the writings of Ibn Taymiyyah, he mentions that a faction of Muslims claimed Dihya was a beardless youth and that Gabriel used to visit the Prophet Muhammad in this form. Muhammad would tell Gabriel, "I only want you to come to me as a beardless youth." In other words, Muhammad preferred to see Dihya (whom Gabriel supposedly took the form of) without a beard. So, to sum it up, the Prophet Muhammad didn't like seeing Dihya unless he appeared as a beardless youth.

The Mule Conversation: A Vague Response from Muhammad

Dihya himself recounted a conversation: "I said, 'O Messenger of God, should I not get you a mule by breeding a donkey with a horse so you can ride it?' And the Prophet replied, 'That is done by those who do not know.'" Now, where did Dihya get the nerve to say something like this to Muhammad and then share it with the companions? And why does Muhammad give such a vague response? The Prophet is known to have ridden mules, so it wasn't about refusing the offer. It seems more like Muhammad is hinting that the companions don't know about their special relationship and shouldn't find out.

Gifts and Affection: A Special Connection

Let's not forget about the gifts exchanged between Muhammad and Dihya, which resembled the kind of gifts lovers give each other. Dihya said, "I gifted the Messenger of Allah a woolen cloak and a pair of sandals; he wore them until they were worn out." He also said, "I came from Syria and gifted the Prophet some dried fruits—pistachios, almonds, and cakes." Osama bin Zaid mentioned, "The Messenger of God gave me a thick Coptic garment that Dihya had gifted him, and I gave it to my wife." It seems Dihya was gifting Muhammad some fancy clothing, perhaps even women's clothes. There's also a narration from Fatima hinting that Dihya might have gifted Muhammad some perfume.

Marital Arrangements: Failed Attempts

The bond between Muhammad and Dihya was so strong that Dihya arranged for his niece to marry the Prophet. He sent her to Muhammad, but she died on the way. Muhammad never met or knew her, but Dihya, on his own accord, married her off and sent her to him, only for her to perish before reaching Yathrib. Then Dihya married off his sister to Muhammad and sent her too, but she also died en route.

The Spoils of Khaybar: A Unique Incident

There's also the well-known story that after the Battle of Khaybar, Muhammad told Dihya to choose whatever he wanted from the spoils. Dihya chose Safiyya, the most prized woman among the captives. Muhammad then took her from Dihya, a situation that didn't happen with anyone else but Dihya.

The Friday Prayer Distraction: A Curious Caravan Arrival

Another story involves Dihya's caravan arriving from Syria to Yathrib in the 10th year of Hijra during Friday prayers. The congregation slipped out of the mosque, leaving Muhammad with fewer than ten men behind him. When interpreting why the worshippers sneaked out, no one brings up Ibn Abbas's account of people being eager to see Dihya. The incident is mentioned in the Quran, which states that the companions left Muhammad standing in the middle of the Friday prayer. Commentators claim that the companions went out to buy goods at a good price, but there's no consensus that the caravan belonged to Dihya. Some sources consider him merely an escort in that caravan, not its owner. We already know from Ibn Abbas's hadith that the girls of Yathrib would come out when Dihya arrived in town. So, there's a possibility that the companions left Muhammad because they were eager to see Dihya.

Apostasy and Reversion: Ibn Asakir's Narrative

Ibn Asakir, in his History of al-Maza, notes that Ibn Abbas mentioned Dihya converted to Islam during the time of Abu Bakr. This can only be understood as Dihya having left Islam after Muhammad's death, then reconverting after losing in the wars of apostasy. This explains why Dihya didn't play significant roles after Muhammad's death. So why did Dihya initially renounce Islam? It's clear he only converted superficially. Deep down, he couldn't buy into it—not when he had Muhammad's head in his lap in a way that made Hudhayfa cover his eyes and retreat.

I followed him and saw a man on a horse, with the Prophet leaning on the horse’s saddle, speaking to him. I turned back and asked, ‘Who was that man you were talking to?’ The Prophet asked, ‘Did you see him?’ I said, ‘Yes.’ He asked, ‘Who does he resemble?’ I replied, ‘He looked like Dihyah al-Kalbi.’ The Prophet then said, ‘That was Jibril. It’s reported that Jibril (Gabriel) came to the Prophet while he was with Umm Salama. They were talking, and the Prophet asked Umm Salama, "Who’s this?" She replied, "That’s Dihyah." When the captives were gathered, Dihyah ibn Khalifa asked for a female prisoner. The Prophet told him, "Take one." So, Dihyah chose Safiyyah. But someone informed the Prophet, "She's a noblewoman from her people and would be most suitable for you." The Prophet called for Safiyyah, told Dihyah to pick someone else, and eventually freed her, making her freedom her dowry. Safiyyah went on to become one of the Mothers of the Believers.'

Abu Hurairah reported that Dihyah al-Kalbi once came to Medina, and he was strikingly handsome. During the Friday sermon, folks actually left the mosque while the Prophet was still speaking to ask Dihyah about market prices. Meanwhile, some girls from the city took out their drums and started playing. That's when Allah revealed the verse: "When they see trade or entertainment, they rush to it and leave you standing." Did Muhammad actually had encounters with the true biblical angel Gabriel?

Muslims believe the spirit who revealed the Quran to Muhammad was the angel Gabriel. But have you ever investigated and asked yourself: Was it actually Gabriel who appeared to him? Fortunately, we have authentic reports of how the angel Gabriel appears to people, as recorded in the Bible long before the time of Muhammad. So, we can use these earlier historical accounts to compare and judge whether or not Muhammad actually had encounters with the true biblical angel Gabriel or with some other spirit.

When we make this comparison, you'll be shocked to discover that when you read the Bible and the Quran, you are actually reading about two totally different Gabriels—two totally different spirits. Due to the fact that the Bible came long before the Quran, let's start with the Bible.

Gabriel in the Bible

Starting with the Old Testament, it records two incidents of Gabriel's appearance to Daniel. We read in Daniel 8:16-18:

> "And I heard a man's voice from Ulai calling, 'Gabriel, tell this man the meaning of the vision.' And he came near the place where I was standing. I was terrified and fell prostrate. 'Son of man,' he said to me, 'understand that the vision concerns the time of the end.' While he was speaking to me, I was in a deep sleep, with my face to the ground. Then he touched me and raised me to my feet."

The other Old Testament incident is in Daniel 9:20-22:

> "While I was speaking and praying, confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and making my request to the Lord my God for His holy hill—while I was still in prayer, Gabriel, the man I had seen in the earlier vision, came to me in swift flight about the time of the evening sacrifice. He instructed me and said to me, 'Daniel, I have now come to give you insight and understanding.'"

Now, we turn to the New Testament, which records another two incidents of Gabriel's appearance to people. We read in Luke 1:13, 18-19, where Gabriel appeared to Zechariah:

> "But the angel said to him, 'Do not be afraid, Zechariah; your prayer has been heard.'"

It goes on to say in Luke 1:18-19:

> "Zechariah asked the angel, 'How can I be sure of this? I am an old man, and my wife is well along in years.' The angel answered, 'I am Gabriel. I stand in the presence of God, and I have been sent to speak to you and to tell you this good news.'"

The other New Testament incident is in Luke 1:26-30, where he appears to Mary:

> "In the sixth month, God sent the angel Gabriel to Nazareth, a town in Galilee, to a virgin pledged to be married to a man named Joseph, a descendant of David. The virgin's name was Mary. The angel went to her and said, 'Greetings, you who are highly favored! The Lord is with you.' Mary was greatly troubled at his words and wondered what kind of greeting this might be. But the angel said to her, 'Do not be afraid, Mary; you have found favor with God.'"

Two Key Observations About Gabriel in the Bible

As you can see, there are at least two noticeable facts about the angel Gabriel in these biblical accounts when he appears to Daniel, Zechariah, and Mary:

> Gabriel is known to bring calmness and help relieve the fears of people. As we saw, Daniel was standing but fell prostrate because he was terrified, so Gabriel touched Daniel and raised him back to his feet, indicating Gabriel made Daniel feel more secure or calmer. Additionally, we saw on two other occasions Gabriel specifically told Zechariah and Mary: "Do not be afraid."
> Gabriel ensures that people understand the message he brings. As we saw when he spoke to Daniel, saying: "I have now come to give you insight and understanding," so Daniel was not left in a state of confusion.

Comparing Gabriel in the Quran

Now, in light of these two facts about the angel Gabriel, let us compare these earlier historical biblical accounts with Muhammad's much later alleged encounters with Gabriel to judge whether or not his encounters were with the true biblical angel Gabriel or with some other spirit.

Turning now to Islamic sources, we find that the Quran has only two clear references to Gabriel where he is mentioned by name. However, unlike the Gospel of Luke, where Gabriel is specifically identified as an angel, the Quran's references to Gabriel are not very helpful at all, as they give us the impression that Gabriel may not even be an angel.

Let me briefly show you what I mean. The two references to Gabriel in the Quran are found in Surah 2:97-98 and Surah 66:4. Not only does neither passage actually identify Gabriel as an angel, but looking at the clumsy way the Quran is written, it actually appears to distinguish Gabriel as a being different from the angels.

Surah 2:97-98 says:

> "Say: 'Whoever is an enemy to Gabriel—it is he who has brought it down upon your heart by the leave of God, confirming what was before it, and as a guidance and glad tidings for the believers.' Whoever is an enemy to God, and His angels, and His messengers, and Gabriel, and Michael—surely God is an enemy to the unbelievers."

While Quran 66:4 says:

> "If ye twain turn unto Allah repentant, for your hearts desired; and if ye aid one another against him (meaning Muhammad), then lo! Allah, even He, is his Protecting Friend, and Gabriel, and the righteous among the believers, and the angels are his helpers."

As you can see here in the Quran, when the different classes of beings are listed—namely Allah, the righteous believers, and the angels—Gabriel is listed separately from them all, as if he is a different being from the others. What's even more interesting is that the Quran may even be suggesting that the Islamic Gabriel is from the category of beings known as the jinn.

Muslims believe jinn are basically spirits made from fire, according to Quran 15:27 and Quran 55:15. The jinn are commonly regarded as demonic. So why do I say that the Islamic Gabriel may actually be a jinn?

Evidence Suggesting Gabriel Could Be a Jinn

Another interesting point is that when we normally think of angels, we think of them as messengers. However, notice in Quran 2:97-98: when it listed several different groups of beings, the angels and messengers were actually distinguished from each other. In this specific context, the way the verse is worded, messengers are not necessarily angels. In Islam, messengers may also come from the jinn spirits.

We also see this Islamic teaching in Quran 6:130-131, where Allah is said to send messengers from both men and jinn:

> "O ye assembly of jinns and men, came there not unto you messengers from amongst you?"

As you can see here, the jinn spirits are directly addressed. So, in Islam, messengers can come from the jinn spirits as well. Yet, in Quran 2:97-98, we saw that it was Gabriel—a being different from the angels—who was the messenger bringing the Quran to Muhammad. By relying upon the Quran, consequently, we end up being confused about the true identification of Gabriel, with the evidence pointing us towards him being a jinn rather than an angel. The fact is, the author of the Quran is clumsy and not clear about this.

Turning to the Hadith Literature for Clarity

So, we are forced now to turn our attention to Islam's Hadith literature for more information about the Islamic Gabriel. In Sahih Al-Bukhari, Volume 9, Hadith 6982, we read about the beginning of Muhammad's revelations:

> "The angel came to him (in it) and asked him to read. The Prophet (meaning Muhammad) replied, 'I do not know how to read.' The Prophet added, 'The angel caught me forcefully and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it anymore. He then released me and again asked me to read, and I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Whereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it anymore. He then released me and asked me again to read, but again I replied, 'I do not know how to read or what shall I read?' Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me and then released me and said, 'Read in the name of your Lord who has created. He created man from a clot. Read, and your Lord is Most Gracious... up to that which he knew not.' Then Allah's Messenger (meaning Muhammad) returned with the inspiration, his neck muscles twitching with terror, till he entered upon Khadija and said, 'Cover me, cover me.' They covered him till his fear was over, and then he said, 'O Khadija, what is wrong with me?' Then he told her everything that had happened and said, 'I fear that something may happen to me.'"

The Hadith narration goes on to describe Muhammad's conversation about this revelation with a blind old man named Waraka, who strangely identifies the spirit by the name Namus. Then the narration continues:

> "But after a few days, Waraka died, and the divine inspiration was also paused for a while, and the Prophet became so sad, as we have heard, that he intended several times to throw himself from the tops of high mountains. And every time he went up to the top of a mountain in order to throw himself down, Gabriel would appear before him and say, 'O Muhammad! You are indeed Allah's Messenger in truth,' whereupon his heart would become quiet, and he would calm down and return home. Whenever the period of the coming of the inspiration used to become long, he would do as before; but when he used to reach the top of a mountain, Gabriel would appear before him and say to him what he had said before."

Contrast Between the Biblical Gabriel and the Islamic Accounts

Wow, what a total contrast between the biblical accounts of the angel Gabriel and those in Islam.

Firstly, let me briefly comment on this Hadith: Did you notice that the spirit who gave revelations to Muhammad did not actually identify himself as an angel nor as the angel Gabriel specifically? This spirit is only presumed to be Gabriel by others, including, of course, the followers of Muhammad. In fact, in the Hadith, when Muhammad told the blind old man named Waraka about his revelation, Waraka identified this spirit by the name Namus, rather than Gabriel. Although that's an important fact to point out, it's often overlooked.

Now, let's discuss the two key facts we've already learned from the biblical accounts of the angel Gabriel:

Fact #1: Gabriel Brings Calmness and Relieves Fear

Gabriel is known to bring calmness and help relieve the fears of people. He specifically told both Zechariah and Mary:

> "Do not be afraid."

Fact #2: Gabriel Ensures Clarity of the Message

Gabriel is also known for making sure people understood the message he brought. He spoke to Daniel, saying:

> "I have now come to give you insight and understanding."

Daniel was not left in a state of confusion.

Applying the Biblical Facts to the Islamic Gabriel

Let's take these two biblical facts about Gabriel and apply them to the so-called Islamic Gabriel, specifically the Gabriel mentioned in the Hadith. The Quran cannot be a valid source for us on this topic because relying upon it only leads to confusion about whether Gabriel is an angel or a jinn. So, we will focus on the Hadith accounts.

Fact #1: Did Gabriel Bring Calmness to Muhammad and Relieve His Fears?

Did Gabriel approach Muhammad with the words, "Do not be afraid"? The answer is no, and again, no.

Instead, the spirit caught Muhammad forcefully and pressed him so hard that he could not bear it anymore, repeatedly demanding that he read. This led to Muhammad's neck muscles twitching with terror. It later left Muhammad so distraught that he intended several times to commit suicide by throwing himself from the tops of high mountains.

Fact #2: Did Gabriel Ensure Muhammad Understood the Message?

Did Gabriel make sure Muhammad understood the message he received, or was Muhammad left in a state of confusion? The answer is again, no.

Not only was Muhammad left feeling sad and suicidal, but he was clearly left in a state of confusion. Muhammad was left asking his wife:

> "What is wrong with me?"

And he said:

> "I fear that something may happen to me."

These are not the words of someone with clarity of mind and certainty. In fact, while wondering about the people's reaction, Muhammad even asked Waraka for advice, saying:

> "Will they turn me out?"

This clearly shows Muhammad was left in a state of confusion and uncertainty, still seeking answers from others rather than having clarity within himself after the revelation.

Comparing Muhammad's Emotional State with Mary's and Daniel's

Some of you Muslims might admit that, yes, Muhammad was forcefully pressed so hard by the spirit that he could not bear it anymore and that his neck muscles were twitching with terror. You might want to point out that Mary was greatly troubled at Gabriel's words, and even Daniel fell prostrate because he was terrified.

I would say that this is true. But I would ask you to compare Mary's and Daniel's later emotional state to Muhammad's later emotional state after his revelations:

> Mary was left with the comforting words:
> "Do not be afraid, Mary, you have found favor with God."
> Daniel was securely raised back to his feet by Gabriel, indicating that he was left feeling calmer again.

However, unlike Mary and Daniel, in the case of Muhammad, his later emotional state after the revelations was drastically different. He was repeatedly left feeling suicidal, despite the fact that, at times, Muhammad's heart did become quiet and calm. Despite this, whenever the period of the coming of the revelation became long, he would repeatedly go to the tops of high mountains to throw himself off in an attempt to commit suicide.

You can read the Hadith for yourself and see that I am telling the truth here. Muhammad's later emotional state was nothing like that of Mary or Daniel in the Bible.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the Islamic Gabriel whom Muhammad encountered was not the true biblical angel Gabriel, but a deceiving demonic spirit from the jinn. I reached this conclusion only after reviewing the earlier biblical accounts of Gabriel's appearances to people and comparing these with Muhammad's later alleged encounters with Gabriel, in addition to investigating Gabriel's identity in the Quran. The evidence speaks for itself: Stay away from Islam; stay away from Satan's antichrist deceptions.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Worship_of_heavenly_bodies

To make myself clear once again, the Islamic Gabriel is none other than a jinn, a demonic spirit pretending to be the angel Gabriel. Even some of the people from Muhammad's time suspected this to be the case, as we read in Sahih Al-Bukhari, Volume 2, Hadith 1125:

> 1125. Narrated Jundab bin 'Abdullah
> The angel Jibril (Gabriel) did not come to the Prophet (ﷺ) for some time, and so one of the Quraish women said, "His Satan has deserted him."
> So came the Divine Revelation:

"By the forenoon (after sunrise). By the night when it darkens (and stands still). Your Lord (O Muhammad ﷺ) has neither forsaken you nor hates you."
(Surah Ad-Duha, Verses 1-3)

See Allah didn't deny the claim of the woman that he is the Satan.

Satan's Temptation of Jesus

The Bible tells us about how Satan tried to tempt Jesus. One specific incident is when Satan attempted to get Jesus to throw himself off the temple. We read in Matthew 4:5-7:

> "Then the devil took him up into the holy city, set him on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to him, 'If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down. For it is written: "He shall give his angels charge over you," and "In their hands they shall bear you up, lest you dash your foot against a stone."' Jesus said to him, 'It is written again, "You shall not tempt the Lord your God."'"

In this context, to tempt means to test. Thus, we see that attempting to tempt someone into committing suicide by throwing themselves down from high places is a known tactic of Satan or evil spirits. Here, Satan ultimately failed, as he could not entice Jesus into sin because Jesus had complete control over the devil during this test. If Jesus had wanted to commit suicide by throwing himself off the temple, he would have been a failed or false prophet. However, that was not the case. It was the mission of Jesus to die for our salvation, but he did not kill himself; rather, he allowed others to kill him. Only a failed or false prophet would want to commit suicide due to sadness, emotional imbalance, or depression.

Muhammad's Experience with Suicidal Thoughts

When I was a Muslim, I read the biography of Muhammad and remember what happened to him after he started receiving revelations from a being he identified as Gabriel.

In "The Sealed Nectar," an award-winning biography of Muhammad, on page 69, we read the following quote:

> "After mentioning the coming of the revelation, the Messenger of Allah (Muhammad) said: 'I have never abhorred anyone more than a poet or a madman. I cannot stand looking at either of them. I will never tell anyone of Quraysh of my revelation. I will climb a mountain and throw myself down and die. That will relieve me.'"
> "I went to do that (to commit suicide), but halfway up the mountain, I heard a voice……....."

She set out with the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم to her cousin Waraqa bin Nawfal bin Asad bin 'Abd Al-'Uzza, who had embraced Christianity in the pre-Islamic period, and used to write the Bible in Hebrew. He was a blind old man. Khadijah said: "My cousin! Listen to your nephew!" Waraqa said: "O my nephew! What did you see?" The Messenger of Allâh صلى الله عليه وسلم told him what had happened to him. Waraqa replied: "This is 'Namus' i.e. (the angel who is entrusted with Divine Secrets) that Allâh sent to Moses. I wish I were younger. I wish I could live up to the time when your people would turn you out." Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم asked: "Will they drive me out?" Waraqa answered in the affirmative and said: "Anyone who came with something similar to what you have brought was treated with hostility; and if I should be alive till that day, then I would support you strongly." A few days later Waraqa died and the revelation also subsided.[1]

At-Tabari and Ibn Hisham reported that the Messenger of Allâh صلى الله عليه وسلم left the cave of Hira' after being surprised by the Revelation, but later on, returned to the cave and continued his solitude. Afterwards, he came back to Makkah. At-Tabari reported on this incident, saying:

After mentioning the coming of the Revelation, the Messenger of Allâh صلى الله عليه وسلم said: "I have never abhorred anyone more than a poet or a mad man. I can not stand looking at either of them. I will never tell anyone of Quraish of my Revelation. I will climb a mountain and throw myself down and die. That will relieve me. I went to do that but halfway up the mountain, I heard a voice from the sky saying 'O Muhammad! You are the Messenger of Allâh صلى الله عليه وسلم and I am Gabriel.' I looked upwards and saw Gabriel in the form of a man putting his legs on the horizon. He said: 'O Muhammad You are the Messenger of Allâh صلى الله عليه وسلم and I am Gabriel.' I stopped and looked at him. His sight distracted my attention from what I had intended to do. I stood in my place transfixed. I tried to shift my eyes away from him.

> "Muhammad intended several times to throw himself from the tops of high mountains."

Interruption of Revelation:

Ibn Sa'd reported on the authority of Ibn 'Abbas that the Revelation paused for a few days.[2] After careful study, this seems to be the most possible. To say that it lasted for three and a half years, as some scholars allege, is not correct, but here there is no room to go into more details.

Meanwhile, the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم, was caught in a sort of depression coupled with astonishment and perplexity. Al-Bukhari reported:

The Divine inspiration paused for a while and the Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم became so sad, as we have heard, that he intended several times to throw himself from the tops of high mountains, and every time he went up the top of a mountain in order to throw himself down, Gabriel would appear before him and say: "O Muhammad! You are indeed Allâh's Messenger in truth," whereupon his heart would become quiet and he would calm down and return home. Whenever the period of the coming of the Revelation used to become long, he would do as before, but Gabriel would appear again before him and say to him what he had said before.[3]

[2]Fath Al-Bari, 1/27, 12/360.

I double-checked this source directly from Al-Bukhari, which is considered the most authentic collection of Hadith in Islam after the Quran. Indeed, the narration is found in Volume 9, Hadith number 6982:

> "After a few days Waraqa died, the divine revelation was paused for a while, and the Prophet became so sad, as we have heard, that he intended several times to throw himself from the tops of high mountains and everytime he went up the top of a mountain in order to throw himself down, Jibril would appear before him and say, "O Muhammad! You are indeed Allah's messenger in truth", whereupon his heart would become quiet and he would calm down and would return home. ……..."

You can see from this authentic Islamic source that Muhammad was very suicidal. I also found this event mentioned in older source material, such as "The Life of Muhammad," a translation of Ibn Ishaq's "Sira Rasul Allah," on page 106:

"Muhammad is quoted as saying: 'I thought, woe is me, poet or possessed. Never shall Quraysh say this of me. I will go to the top of the mountain and throw myself down that I may kill myself and gain rest.'"

"So I went forth to do so, and then when I was midway on the mountain, I heard a voice ……."

Comparison Between Jesus and Muhammad

As we saw from the Bible, one of Satan's tactics is to tempt people into committing suicide by throwing themselves down from high places. Satan failed miserably in the case of Jesus, as Jesus never contemplated suicide and refuted Satan by quoting sacred scripture. However, in the case of Muhammad, he not only contemplated suicide but also intended to do so several times and was even on his way to carry it out. Muhammad's weak and negative reaction to this spirit was starkly different from Jesus's triumphant and authoritative reaction.

Consider the fruit of Muhammad's revelations—the Quran. It does not present the true Jesus found in the Bible. In the Bible throughout (from Genesis to Revelation):

1. Jesus is the Son of God, but in the Quran, he is not.
2. Jesus is divine in the Bible, but not in the Quran.
3. Jesus came to die for our sins and bring salvation, but this is not the case in the Quran.

Clearly, it is not the same Jesus in the Bible and the Quran. The spirit giving Muhammad revelations seems strikingly similar to Satan, who tried to tempt Jesus. What's going on here?

A Conclusion and Warning

I conclude that Muhammad was in contact with an evil spirit, which he mistakenly thought was the angel Gabriel. This evil spirit aimed to trick Muhammad into starting a new false religion and to present to the world a false Jesus as a counterfeit to true biblical Christianity. This is exactly what happened, and it is why Muhammad became so opposed to the true Jesus found in the Bible.

Hundreds of years before Muhammad, the Apostle Paul, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, gave this warning in 2 Corinthians 11:3-4:

> "But I fear, lest somehow, as the serpent deceived Eve by his craftiness, so your minds may be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ. For if he who comes preaches another Jesus whom we have not preached, or if you receive a different spirit which you have not received, or a different gospel which you have not accepted—you may well put up with it."

Paul continues in 2 Corinthians 11:14-15:

> "And no wonder! For Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light. Therefore, it is no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves into ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works."

Now, I will prove that Muhammad spoke for Satan, not for God.

The Quran says in Chapter 81, verse 25:

> "And it (the Quran) is not the word of an outcast Satan" (Quran 81:25).

Questioning the Quran's Defense

Why does the author of the Quran seem so defensive here? Why was it necessary to make such a statement? Was Muhammad accused of being inspired by Satan?

Introduction to the Demon

This is where I introduce you to this demon depicted here.

If you read the Islamic commentaries on the Quran, particularly Chapter 81:25, Chapter 59:16, and Chapter 22:52, you will see that this is the demon who tricked Muhammad into thinking he was receiving divine revelation from God. In reality, he was under the control of Satan. This demon is known as "Al-Abyaḍ (الابيض)" or "The White One."

Tafsir al-Qurtubi on Chapter 22:52

The famous Islamic commentary Tafsir al-Qurtubi says regarding Chapter 22:52:

"Allah ibn Abbas said, 'A Satan named Al-Abil (The White One) came to the Messenger of Allah (meaning Muhammad) in the form of Gabriel and cast into his recitation (meaning his Quran recitation) the words: "Indeed they are the exalted cranes, and indeed their intercession is to be hoped for."'"

وقد قال ابن عباس: إنَّ شيطاناً يقال له: الأبيض، كان قد أتى رسولَ الله ﷺ في صورة جبريلَ عليه السلام، وأَلقى في قراءة النبيِّ ﷺ: تلك الغرانيقُ العُلا، وإن

(٥) قال القاضي عياض في الشفا ٢/ ٣٠٢ ردًّا على هذا القول: وهذا السهو في القراءة إنما يصح فيما ليس طريقه تغييرَ المعاني، وتبديلَ الألفاظ، وزيادةَ ما ليس في القرآن، بل السهو عن إسقاط آية منه أو كلمة، ولكنه لا يقَرُّ على هذا السهو، بل ينبَّه عليه، ويذكَّر به للحين.

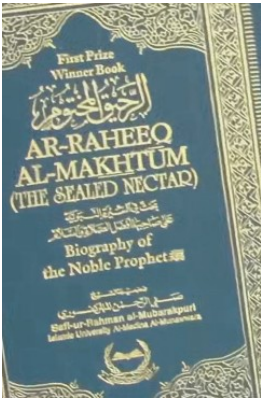
For context, the Al-Gharaniq were false gods that the pagans of Arabia worshipped. We see here that Muhammad was deceived into reciting the words of Satan because this demon, known as "Al-Abyaḍ (الابيض)", appeared to him in the form of the angel Gabriel. This incident suggests that Muhammad was unable to distinguish between demonic revelations from Satan and divine revelations from God.

Ibn Abbas's Narration

Notice that this narration was provided by Ibn Abbas, one of Muhammad's closest companions. This proves that the narration of this incident was in circulation among the earliest Muslims.

Identification of the Demon "Al-Abyaḍ (الابيض)"

If you investigate this particular jinn or demon, you will find that he is often associated with a certain day of the week. Various sources identify Al-Abil with Monday. Sometimes, he is referred to as the "Lord of Monday" and also as one of the seven kings of the jinn (demons) associated with Monday.



Significance of Monday

Now, why is this identification so important? What day of the week do you think Muhammad received the first revelation of the Quran? For the answer, I refer you to the award-winning biography of Muhammad called "The Sealed Nectar," which informs us on page 68 that it was on a Monday.

was 23 years; so the period of these six months of true visions constituted an integral part of the forty-six parts of Prophethood. In Ramadan, in his third year of solitude in the cave of Hira', Allâh's Will desired His mercy to flow on earth and Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم was honoured with Prophethood, and the light of Revelation burst upon him with some verses of the Noble Qur'ân.[1]

As for the exact date, careful investigation into circumstantial evidence and relevant clues point directly to Monday, 21st. Ramadan at night, i.e. August, 10, 610 A.D. with Prophet Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم exactly 40 years, 6 months and 12 days of age, i.e. 39 Gregorian years, 3 months and 22 days.[2]

'Aishah, the veracious, gave the following narration of that most significant event that brought the Divine light which would dispel the darkness of disbelief and ignorance. It led life down a new course and brought about the most serious amendment to the line of the history of mankind:

Forerunners of the Revelation assumed the form of true visions that would strikingly come true all the time. After that, solitude became dear to him and he would go to the cave, Hira', to engage in Tahannuth (devotion) there for a certain number of nights before returning to his family, and then he would return for provisions for a similar stay. At length, unexpectedly, the Truth (the angel) came to him and said, "Recite." "I cannot recite," he (Muhammad صلى الله عليه وسلم) said. The Prophet صلى الله عليه وسلم described: "Then he took me and squeezed me vehemently and then let me go and repeated the order 'Recite.' 'I cannot recite' said I, and once again he squeezed me and let me till I was exhausted. Then he said: 'Recite.' I said 'I cannot recite.' He squeezed me for a third time and then let me go and said:

I believe you now understand the point, dear Muslims. Prophet Muhammad mistook Satan's words for God's words. Therefore, I have proven that Muhammad was under the control of Satan. Because in this incident, Muhammad's Quran revelation was successfully infiltrated by Satan, you, as Muslims, cannot trust Muhammad's Quran revelation at any other time.

A Call to Truth

So, here's what you Muslims need to do: Instead of following a false prophet who could not distinguish between Gabriel and a satanic imitation of Gabriel—a false prophet who cannot be trusted to convey the words of God because he judged and accepted the words of Satan as the words of God—you must now leave Muhammad and follow the truth.

Jesus Christ is the truth, and the Bible teaches us that he had complete control over Satan. Go and read Mark, Chapter 5, which shows that Jesus had full power over a man who was possessed by literally thousands of demons.

2 Corinthians 11:14: And no wonder, for Satan himself masquerades an angel of light.

The Black Stone

JESUS WARNS US ABOUT SATAN'S THRONE, THE MARK AND THE IMAGE HISTORY OF THE FALSE WORSHIP BLACKSTONE AND WICKED HOUSE

Zechariah saw the wicked house in Babylon long before Mohammad created Islam. About 520–518 BCE, during the post-exilic period after the Babylonian exile Zechariah saw a basket of wickedness going to a house in Babylon to be built in the future:

Zechariah 5:6-11

6 “And I said, ‘What is it?’ He said, ‘This is the basket that is going forth.’” And he said, “This is their iniquity in all the land.”
7 And behold, the leaden cover was lifted, and there was a woman sitting in the basket! And he said, “This is Wickedness.” So he thrust her back into the basket and pressed down the leaden weight on its opening.
8 Then I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, two women coming forward. The wind was in their wings; they had wings like the wings of a stork, and they lifted up the basket between earth and heaven.
9 Then I said to the angel who talked with me, “Where are they taking the basket?”
10 He said to me, “To the land of Shinar, to build a house for it. When it is ready, they will set the basket there on its base.”

In Revelation Chapter 2, Jesus warns us Pergamum is where Satan lives and has his throne. To both the churches at Ephesus and Pergamum, Jesus tells them He hates the practices of the Nicolaitans. Later in Revelation Chapter 13, Jesus warns us to avoid the image and mark of widespread false worship that will occur sometime in the future. Jesus warns us eight times to avoid this mark, and another eight times to avoid this image. There is a strong connection between all these warnings and the Blackstone.

Revelation 2:6

6 “You hate the practices of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.”

Revelation 2:12-13

12 “To the angel of the church in Pergamum write: These are the words of him who has the sharp, double-edged sword.

13 I know where you live—where Satan has his throne. Yet you remain true to my name. You did not renounce your faith in me, not even in the days of Antipas, my faithful witness, who was put to death in your city—where Satan lives."

Revelation 13:14-16

14 Because of the signs it was given power to perform on behalf of the first beast, it deceived the inhabitants of the earth. It ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived.

15 The second beast was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that the image could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed.

16 It also forced all people, great and small, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hands or on their foreheads.

In stark contrast to the Blackstone of false doctrine--Jesus gives the Whitestone of truth (Revelation 2:17):

"Let anyone who has an ear listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches. To everyone who conquers I will give some of the hidden manna, and I will give a white stone, and on the white stone is written a new name that no one knows except the one who receives it."

When the Book of Revelation Was Written Pergamum Was Where Satan Lived—Satan Later Moved His Throne to the Wicked House Mentioned in Zechariah 5:11. The church at Pergamum was one of the seven churches in Asia Minor (Turkey) that Jesus addressed in the opening chapters in Revelation. Jesus tells us Satan had his throne in Pergamum (Rev 2:13), warned that some there hold to the teaching of Balaam- who taught Balak to entice the Israelites to sin so that they ate food sacrificed to idols and committed sexual immorality. Revelation 2:14:

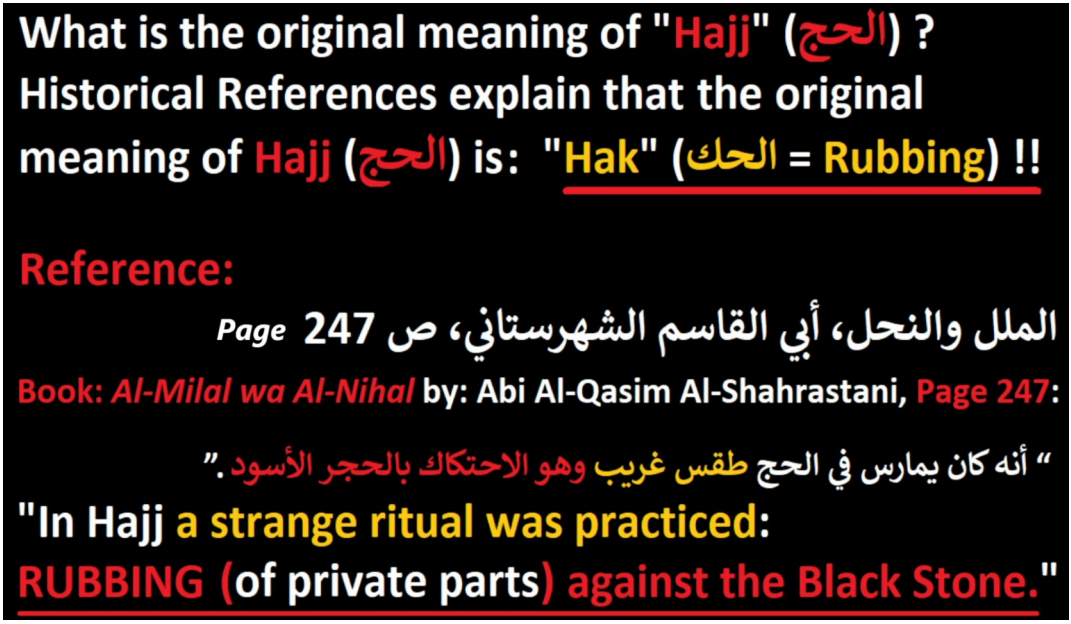
"But I have a few things against you: You have some there who hold to the teaching of Balaam, who taught Balak to put a stumbling block before the people of Israel, so that they would eat food sacrificed to idols and practice fornication."

In the Old Testament, Balaam's role is connected to leading Israel into sin:

Numbers 25:1-3 : "While Israel was staying at Shittim, the people began to have sexual relations with the women of Moab. These invited the people to the sacrifices of their gods, and the people ate and bowed down to their gods. Thus Israel yoked itself to the Baal of Peor, and the Lord’s anger was kindled against Israel."

Numbers 31:16 : "These women here, on Balaam's advice, made the Israelites act treacherously against the Lord in the affair of Peor, so that the plague came among the congregation of the Lord."

Here, it is revealed that Balaam advised Balak, the king of Moab, to lead Israel into sin by using Moabite women to seduce the Israelites into idolatry and sexual immorality. This action caused God's judgment on Israel, resulting in a deadly plague. This passages describes how the Israelites were led into idolatry and immoral behavior by associating with the Moabite women, leading them to worship the false god Baal of Peor.



What is the original meaning of "Hajj" (الحج) ?
Historical References explain that the original meaning of Hajj (الحج) is: "Hak" (الحك = Rubbing) !!

RUBBING (of private parts) against the Black Stone."

Jesus warned some others who hold to the false teaching of the Nicolaitans. Revelation 2:15:

"So you also have some who hold to the teaching of the Nicolaitans."

The Nicolaitans are believed to have been a heretical group within the early church, promoting immoral behavior and compromising with pagan practices, possibly including idolatry and sexual immorality. Their teachings were seen as corrupt and contrary to Christian ethics, much like the teachings of Balaam.

Pergamum was the ancient capital of Asia before Ephesus. Pergamum was a city in northwest Asia Minor (Turkey today). Pergamum was the religious center of the province and it boasted many temples. It also had the great altar of Zeus. Thus, it was a very idolatrous city, being filled with statues and altars, and it also held a Blackstone meteorite that was worshiped as the female goddess Cybele, and a similar female goddess Artemis was worshiped at Ephesus.

False God Temple Ruins in Pergamum

Pergamum Worshiped Cybele--the Blackstone Meteorite

Cybele was the mythological ancient Mother of the Gods, a primal nature goddess worshipped with immoral sexual rites in the mountains of central and western Anatolia (Turkey). The Greeks identified her with their own mother of the gods--the Titaness Rhea. The most sacred manifestation of Cybele worship was a Blackstone meteorite that was said “to have been a stone from heaven.”

When Cyrus the Great conquered Babylon in 457 BC, he forced the pagan Babylonian priesthood to flee westward — to Pergamum in present day Turkey. In 204 BC, the king of Pergamum sent the great mother goddess Cybele--in the shape of a meteoric Blackstone--from Pergamum to Rome.

In 204 BC Rome determined that it must possess this particular manifestation of the goddess, a black meteorite. The origins of the worship of the Roman Great Mother (“Magnus Mater”) are ascribed to a crisis in war time. During Hannibal’s invasion of Italy in 204 BC, the Romans followed a Sibylline prophecy that the enemy could be expelled and conquered if the “Idaean Mother” were brought to Rome, together with her sacred symbol, a black stone reputed to have fallen from the heavens. The Romans imported the goddess meteorite Blackstone from Asia Minor, where she was worshipped under the names of both Cybele and the Great Mother (the Greek word for “great” is Megale; hence the “Megalesian” games in her honor).

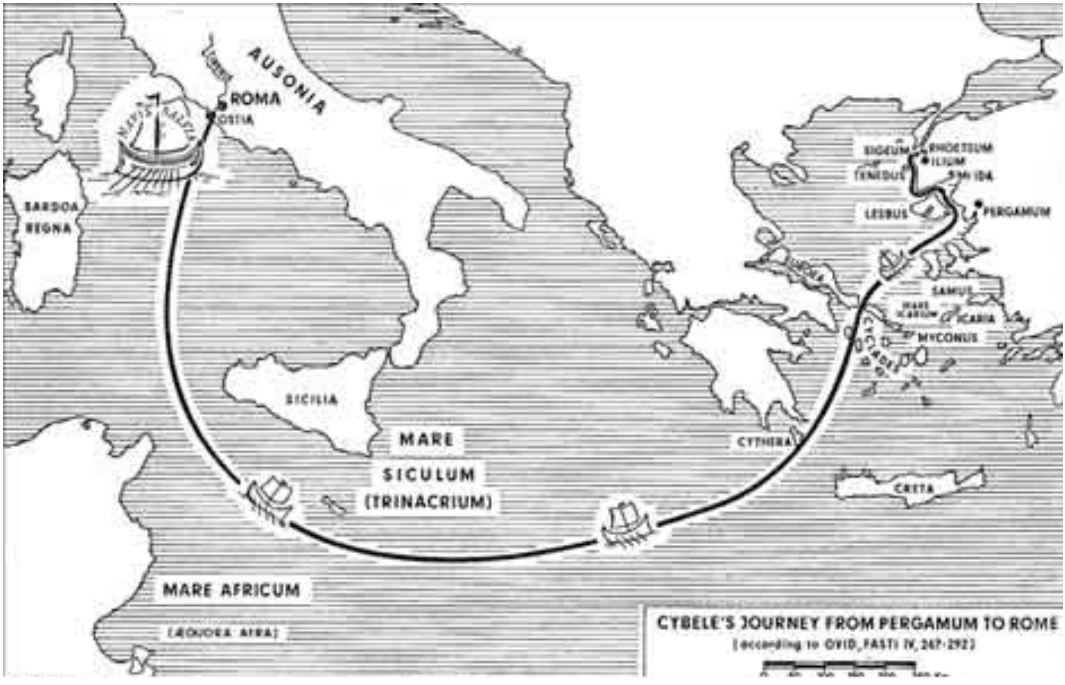
The goddess's connection with victory in war (as the motivation for importing her) is strengthened by the location of her temple beside the Temple of Victory, which was in fact her home with the Blackstone until her own temple was finished.



Sea Route of the Blackstone from Pergamum to Rome

When the ship carrying the Blackstone approached the mouth of the Tiber, Publius Cornelius Scipio sailed out, as required, to the offshore waters to receive the goddess from her priests, and he brought her in to the shore where the leading matrons of Rome were waiting to receive the goddess.

Passing the Blackstone hand to hand in unbroken succession, the women sent the sacred Blackstone on its way to Rome. The entire city poured out to watch. Incense-burners were placed at the doorways of homes all along the route, and when the stone passed, they lit incense and prayed that the goddess would enter Rome willingly and look upon them favorably. The matrons brought her to the Temple of Victory on the Palatine on April 12, her holy day, and a crowd of people brought the goddess gifts; a banquet for the gods was held, as well as games called the Megalesia.

The last account of the Blackstone meteorite's physical appearance was written over 500 years after it had been moved to Rome. Arnobius of Sicca (who died in around 330 AD), was an early Christian writer who spoke out against Pagans, recorded seeing the stone in his work, Against the Pagans-- Adversus Nationes. Where the Blackstone meteorite went after the early 4th century AD is not known until a Blackstone meteorite was placed by Mohammad in the Kaaba (Mecca) in the early 7th century.

Idolatry of "Sacred Stone from Heaven" at Ephesus:

In the Book of Acts we find a detailed description of a hostile Ephesus crowd surrounding the Apostles. The pagan crowd worshipped the female goddess Artemis and her "sacred" meteorite stone.

Acts 19:23-41

23 About that time there arose a great disturbance about the Way. 24 A silversmith named Demetrius, who made silver shrines of Artemis, brought in a lot of business for the craftsmen there. 25 He called them together, along with the workers in related trades, and said: "You know, my friends, that we receive a good income from this business. 26 And you see and hear how this fellow Paul has convinced and led astray large numbers of people here in Ephesus and in practically the whole province of Asia. He says that gods made by human hands are no gods at all. 27 There is danger not only that our trade will lose its good name, but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis will be discredited; and the goddess herself, who is worshiped throughout the province of Asia and the world, will be robbed of her divine majesty."

28 When they heard this, they were furious and began shouting: "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!" 29 Soon the whole city was in an uproar. The people seized Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's traveling companions from Macedonia, and all of them rushed into the theater together. 30 Paul wanted to appear before the crowd, but the disciples would not let him. 31 Even some of the officials of the province, friends of Paul, sent him a message begging him not to venture into the theater.

32 The assembly was in confusion: Some were shouting one thing, some another. Most of the people did not even know why they were there. 33 The Jews in the crowd pushed Alexander to the front, and they shouted instructions to him. He motioned for silence in order to make a defense before the people. 34 But when they realized he was a Jew, they all shouted in unison for about two hours: "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

35 The city clerk quieted the crowd and said: “Fellow Ephesians, doesn’t all the world know that the city of Ephesus is the guardian of the temple of the great Artemis and of her image, which fell from heaven? 36 Therefore, since these facts are undeniable, you ought to calm down and not do anything rash. 37 You have brought these men here, though they have neither robbed temples nor blasphemed our goddess. 38 If, then, Demetrius and his fellow craftsmen have a grievance against anybody, the courts are open and there are proconsuls. They can press charges. 39 If there is anything further you want to bring up, it must be settled in a legal assembly. 40 As it is, we are in danger of being charged with rioting because of what happened today. In that case we would not be able to account for this commotion, since there is no reason for it.” 41 After he had said this, he dismissed the assembly.

Temples Ruin of the False Goddess Artemis in Ephesus

In Ephesus, a great temple was built in her honor, which became one of the "Seven Wonders of the Ancient World". The temple of Artemis at Ephesus endured well into the third century AD, but its importance began to lessen with the expansion of Christianity. The temple was finally destroyed by the Goths around 262 AD, and very little of it remains today. Around the fifth century, a statue of the goddess near the marketplace was taken down by a Christian and replaced with a cross. On the base was an inscription stating that he had “removed the deceitful image of the demon Artemis.”

Who Were the Nicolaitans?

We do not know a lot about the Nicolaitans. We do know Jesus hated what they did. Jesus seldom used the word “hate.” Whatever the Nicolaitans did must really offend the true God. From the first and second commandments we know the false worship of idols angers the true God. The Nicolaitans were mentioned in Revelation twice--in the letters to the church at Ephesus and to the church at Pergamum. The only other thing that Pergamum and Ephesus had in common was they both worshipped a Blackstone meteorite that fell from the heaven. They both associated this Blackstone with the female goddess Artemis and Cybele. We also know Satan's throne was at Pergamum at the time when Revelation was written.

The Greek for Nicolaitans is composed of two words meaning "subduing" and "the people". "Islam" in Arabic means "submission of the people" to Allah. It is possible the Nicolaitans taught that the people should worship the Blackstone and be subdued by it or in submission to it. Since Satan's throne was in Pergamum, the people were in submission to Satan.

Some commentators believe the Nicolaitans encouraged each other to commit sexual immorality and to eat things offered to idols. Whichever theory is true, it is certain that the deeds of the Nicolaitans were an abomination to Christ. They, like the Gnostics and other false teachers, abused the doctrine of grace and tried to introduce Satanic false doctrine in its place (2 Peter 2:15, 19, Jude 1:4)

2 Peter 2:15

"They have left the straight road and have gone astray, following the road of Balaam son of Bosor, who loved the wages of doing wrong."

• Context: This passage refers to false teachers who, like Balaam, were motivated by greed and were leading others astray for personal gain. Balaam's story (from Numbers) serves as a warning about the dangers of loving profit over righteousness.

2 Peter 2:19

"They promise them freedom, but they themselves are slaves of corruption; for people are slaves to whatever masters them."

• Context: This verse describes how false teachers offer the illusion of freedom, often through moral or spiritual license, but they themselves are enslaved by their own corrupt desires. It underscores the irony that those who promise liberation are actually in bondage to sin.

Jude 1:4

"For certain intruders have stolen in among you, people who long ago were designated for this condemnation as ungodly, who pervert the grace of our God into licentiousness and deny our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ."

• Context: Jude warns about individuals who have infiltrated the Christian community, distorting God's grace to justify immoral behavior. These false teachers turn grace into a license for sin, thus denying the true authority of Jesus.

Satan's Throne in Mecca Will Be Destroyed in One Hour

Revelation chapters 17-18 give a detail description of the coming destruction of "the great city." While some think this city is Rome, it is almost certain this city is Mecca, which holds the Kaaba Blackstone image today.

Revelation 17:1-2

1 One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and said to me, “Come, I will show you the punishment of the great prostitute, who sits by many waters. 2

With her the kings of the earth committed adultery, and the inhabitants of the earth were intoxicated with the wine of her adulteries.”

Revelation 17:18

18 "The woman you saw is the great city that rules over the kings of the earth.”

Revelation 18:9-10

9 “When the kings of the earth who committed adultery with her and shared her luxury see the smoke of her burning, they will weep and mourn over her. 10 Terrified at her torment, they will stand far off and cry:

“‘Woe! Woe to you, great city, you mighty city of Babylon! In one hour your doom has come!’"

Narrated Ata:

I heard Jabir bin `Abdullah in a gathering saying, "We, the companions of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) assumed the state of Ihram to perform only Hajj without `Umra." Jabir added, "The Prophet (ﷺ) arrived (at Mecca) on the fourth of Dhul-Hijja. And when we arrived (in Mecca) the Prophet (ﷺ) ordered us to finish the state of Ihram, saying, "Finish your Ihram and go to your wives (for sexual relation)." Jabir added, "The Prophet did not oblige us (to go to our wives) but he only made that legal for us. Then he heard that we were saying, "When there remains only five days between us and the Day of `Arafat he orders us to finish our Ihram by sleeping with our wives in which case we will proceed to `Arafat with our male organs dribbling with semen?' (Jabir pointed out with his hand illustrating what he was saying). Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) stood up and said, 'You (People) know that I am the most Allah-fearing, the most truthful and the best doer of good deeds (pious) from among you. If I had not brought the Hadi with me, I would have finished my Ihram as you will do, so finish your Ihram. If I had formerly known what I came to know lately, I would not have brought the Hadi with me.' So we finished our Ihram and listened to the Prophet (ﷺ) and obeyed him." (See Hadith No. 713, Vol. 2)

It was narrated that Jabir bin 'Abdullah said:

We arrived in Makkah when four nights of Dhul-Hijjah had passed, and when we had performed Tawaf around the Ka'bah and Sa'y between Safa and Marwah, the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) commanded us to make it 'Umrah, and to come out of Ihram and have relations with our wives. We said: 'There are only five (days) until 'Arafah. Will we g out to it with our male organs dripping with semen?' The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: 'I am the most righteous and truthful among you, and were it not for the sacrificial animal, I would have exited Ihram.' 7.31 Kathir - Ibn Al Kathir

Allah commands taking Adornment when going to the Masjid

This honorable Ayah refutes the idolators' practice of performing Tawaf around the Sacred House while naked. Muslim, An-Nasa'i and Ibn Jarir, (the following wording is that of Ibn Jarir) recorded that Shu`bah said that Salamah bin Kuhayl said that Muslim Al-Batin said that Sa`id bin Jubayr said that Ibn `Abbas said, "The idolators used to go around the House while naked, both men and women, men in the day and women by night. The woman would say, "Today, a part or all of it will be unveiled, but whatever is exposed of it, I do not allow." Allah said in reply,

خُذُواْ زِينَتَكُمْ عِندَ كُلِّ مَسْجِدٍ

(Take your adornment to every Masjid,) Al-`Awfi said that Ibn `Abbas commented on:

خُذُواْ زِينَتَكُمْ عِندَ كُلِّ مَسْجِدٍ

(Take your adornment to every Masjid) o"There were people who used to perform Tawaf around the House while naked, and Allah ordered them to take adornment, meaning, wear clean, proper clothes that cover the private parts people were commanded to wear their best clothes when performing every prayer." Mujahid, `Ata', Ibrahim An-Nakha`i, Sa`id bin Jubayr, Qatadah, As-Suddi, Ad-Dahhak and Malik narrated a similar saying from Az-Zuhri, and from several of the Salaf. They said that this Ayah was revealed about the idolators who used to perform Tawaf around the House while naked. This Ayah (7:31), as well as the Sunnah, encourage wearing the best clothes when praying, especially for Friday and `Id prayers. It is also recommended for men to wear perfume for prayer, because it is adornment, and to use Siwak for it is part of what completes adornment. The best color for clothes is white, for Imam Ahmad narrated that Ibn `Abbas said that the Messenger of Allah said,

«الْبَسُوا مِنْ ثِيَابِكُمُ الْبَيَاضَ فَإِنَّهَا مِنْ خَيْرِ ثِيَابِكُمْ، وَكَفِّنُوا فِيهَا مَوْتَاكُمْ وَإِنَّ خَيْرَ أَكْحَالِكُمُ الْإِثْمِدُ فَإِنَّهُ يَجْلُو الْبَصَرَ وَيُنْبِتُ الشَّعَرَ»

(Wear white clothes, for it is among your best clothes, and also wrap your dead with it. And Ithmid (antimony) is among the best of your Kuhl, for it clears the sight and helps the hair grow.) This Hadith has a sound chain of narration, consisting of narrators who conform to the conditions and guidelines of Imam Muslim. Abu Dawud, At-Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah also recorded it, and At-Tirmidhi said, "Hasan Sahih."

Mohammad First Prayed Towards Jerusalem—Then Changed to the Kaaba Blackstone in Mecca.

According to the Quran, Allah later told the Mohammed to change the Qibla (“prayer direction”) as he failed to attract Jews.

Quran 2:142 The foolish among the people will ask, “Why did they turn away from the direction of prayer they used to face?” Say, O Prophet, “The east and west belong only to Allah. He guides whoever He wills to the Straight Path.”

Quran 2:143 And so We have made you believers an upright community so that you may be witnesses over humanity and that the Messenger may be a witness over you. We assigned your former direction of prayer only to distinguish those who would remain faithful to the Messenger from those who would lose faith. It was certainly a difficult test except for those rightly guided by Allah.

What Is the Wicked House Called the Kaaba—"The House of Allah"?

Muslims believe that Abraham—known as "Ibrahim" in the Islamic tradition—and his son, Ishmael, constructed the Kaaba in Mecca. It is called the House of Allah. This story is false. Abraham was never within 200 miles of Mecca.

Walking around the Ka'bah naked is Baal worship at its core, which uses sexual acts by male and female temple prostitutes to arouse Baal, who then would eject rain to make Mother Earth fertile and crops abundant.

Mohammad Placed the Blackstone in the Kaaba—The House of Allah The Blackstone is a meteorite set into the eastern corner of the Kaaba. This relic according to Muslim tradition, dates back to the time of Adam and Eve. But there is no proof that this is true.

Mohammad came to Mecca after a fire damaged the Kaaba. The citizens couldn't agree on where to place the Blackstone and decided to ask the next person to walk through the city gates to make the decision. That person turned out to be Mohammad who set the Blackstone into the center of the House, where it is worshipped by millions of Muslims to this day.

Islamic tradition holds that it fell from heaven as a guide for Adam and Eve to build an altar.

About 610 AD Mohammad Placed the Blackstone in the Kaaba House

The False Prophet Sets Up the Image

When he set up the stone he was completely naked at 35 years age. Many years ago, the work of rebuilding the Kaaba was going on. Our beloved Mahaummad and his uncle Abbas took up the work. They were carrying stones with great difficulty and were working on the Kaaba. Mahaummad was wearing only a lungi and his body was bare. Seeing his difficulty, his uncle Abbas said to fold his lungi over your shoulder, because it will rub less against the stones. Mahaummad felt a little shy, but he took off his lungi in front of everyone, folded the lungi and put it on his shoulder- exposing his dicotyledon date:

The Incident of the Reconstruction of the Kaʿba by the Quraysh

Thousands of years after Prophet Ibrahim (peace be upon him) built the Kaʿba, five years before the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) received prophethood, the Quraysh tribe undertook the reconstruction of the Kaʿba. The Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) also took part in this reconstruction. At the time, he was thirty-five years old. He used to carry stones on his shoulder along with the people. May peace and mercy from Allah continue to be upon him until the Day of Judgment.

Muhammad ibn Ishaq ibn Yasar, in his Sirat (biography of the Prophet), narrates:
"When the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) was thirty-five years old, the people of the Quraysh gathered with the intention of rebuilding the Kaʿba. At that time, the Kaʿba had no roof. It was merely a structure composed of stone foundations and walls. The Quraysh desired to demolish it and rebuild it with a roof. However, they were afraid to demolish it."

Can you imagine a 35 year old man naked lying on the floor until he awakes on a famous public place during mass gathering! Everyone seen his manhood of 30 man of heaven. Surely a massive bamboo!

Revelation tells us the false prophet (Mohammad) who set up this image (Kaaba) in the house of the Lah.

Revelation 13:14-15

14 Because of the signs it was given power to perform on behalf of the first beast, it deceived the inhabitants of the earth. It ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived. The second beast was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that the image could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed.

"It": This refers to the second beast, which is introduced in Revelation 13:11. The second beast is often associated with false religion or false prophecy, working in conjunction with the first beast to deceive people. It is sometimes called the "false prophet" (as referenced in Revelation 16:13, 19:20, 20:10).

"The inhabitants of the earth": This phrase refers to humanity, especially those who are spiritually aligned with worldly and rebellious powers rather than with God. In the context of Revelation, it often contrasts with the faithful followers of Christ, also called the saints.

"Make an image for the beast": The second beast persuades people to create an image or representation of the first beast. The image could symbolize a physical idol or system of worship set up to honor the first beast. It is reminiscent of Old Testament idolatry (e.g., the golden calf in Exodus 32).

"The beast that had been wounded by the sword and yet lived": This refers to the first beast, introduced in Revelation 13:1-3, which represents a powerful kingdom or empire (often interpreted as a symbol of corrupt worldly authority). The phrase about the beast being "wounded by the sword and yet lived" recalls the earlier description of a mortal wound that was healed, symbolizing a counterfeit resurrection. This healing captivates people, causing them to marvel and follow the beast.

"Allowed to give breath to the image": The second beast has the ability to animate the image of the beast, giving it the appearance of life. The term "breath" in this context is significant because, in the Bible, breath (Greek: pneuma) often symbolizes life, but here it is a deceptive imitation of true life from God. This might represent a false or artificial sense of spiritual power or authority.

"The image of the beast could even speak": This animation of the image, enabling it to speak, highlights the deceptive nature of the second beast's influence. The "speaking image" could symbolize how false religions, ideologies, or systems of power can influence people as if they had life or divine authority, even though they are merely a counterfeit.

Ibn Abbas narrated that:

The Messenger of Allah said about the (Black) Stone: "By Allah! Allah will raise it on the Day of Resurrection with two eyes by which it sees and a tongue that it speaks with, testifying to whoever touched it in truth."

"Cause those who would not worship the image of the beast to be killed": The second beast enforces worship of the image of the beast, and those who refuse are threatened with death. This recalls historical instances of forced worship or allegiance to rulers, such as during the Roman Empire or even earlier events like the story of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who refused to worship Nebuchadnezzar's golden image in Daniel 3.

The Quran falsely says, and most Muslims have been taught, that Abraham (or perhaps even Adam) built or at least used the Kaaba. Muslims also expect the Kaaba Blackstone to speak in the last days. Zechariah makes clear the house of wickedness in Babylon (the Kaaba) will be built sometime in the future after him. (Zechariah 5:10 "Where are they taking the basket?" I asked the angel who was speaking to me. 11 He replied, "To the country of Babylonia to build a house for it. When the house is ready, the basket will be set there in its place.")

Most scholars believe Abraham lived around 1800 BC. Zechariah lived long after Abraham around 520 BC. Thus the Kaaba house (image of the beast) was built not in the time of Abraham, but much later. In fact it was Mohammad--the false prophet--who set up the Kaaba house image. (Revelation 13: 14-15 “It ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived. The second beast was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that the image could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed.”)

Three Trillion Prayers Annually to the Wicked House

All 1.5 billion Muslims in the world must pray five times a day while precisely facing the Kaaba Blackstone. That is about 3 trillion prayers a year to Antichrist (those who reject the Father and the Son). “Qibla” is the direction that should be faced when a Muslim prays. It is fixed exactly to the coordinates of the Kaaba in Mecca. Most mosques contain a wall niche, known as mihrab, that indicates the Qibla direction.

Quran 2:125

“We made the House a place of return for the people and a place of security. And take, O believers, from the standing place of Abraham a place of prayer. And we charged Abraham and Ishmael, saying, "Purify My House for those who perform Tawaf and those who are staying there for worship and those who bow and prostrate in prayer.”

Tawaf (literally circling) is one of the Islamic rituals of pilgrimage. During the Hajj (pilgrimage) Muslims are to go around the Kaaba (House of Allah) seven times in a counterclockwise direction.

Quran 3: 96-97

"Indeed, the first House of worship established for mankind was that at Mecca – blessed and a guidance for the worlds. In it are clear signs such as the standing place of Abraham. And whoever enters it shall be safe. And due to Allah from the people is a pilgrimage to the House – for whoever is able to find thereto a way.”

Mecca Is Not an Ancient Town

The early history of Mecca is still largely disputed, as there are no unambiguous references to it in ancient literature prior to the rise of Islam. This makes it certain Abraham was never in Mecca. The Roman Empire took control of part of the Hejaz in 106 AD, ruling cities such as Hegra (now known as Mada'in Saleh), located to the north of Mecca. Even though detailed descriptions were established of Western Arabia by Rome, such as by Procopius, there are no references of a pilgrimage and trading outpost such as Mecca. The first direct mention of Mecca in external literature occurs in 741 AD in the Byzantine-Arab Chronicle.

Given the inhospitable environment and lack of historical references in Roman, Persian and Indian sources, historians have cast doubt on the claim that Mecca was a major historical trading outpost. There is no historical or archaeological evidence that suggests that Mecca ever existed before around the 4th century A.D., when migrants from Yemen initially settled the area.

In Muhammad's time the black stone was inntact. But in the year 930 CE (318 AH) the Qarmatians (a radical Islamic sect) stole the black stone and broke it into pieces and toilet on it till 952 CE (341 AH) and then returned it. 95% of the intact black stone is lost. It is now sealed on a new silver encasing with the 5% of the actual stone fragments, embedded in a black cement-like substance so that nobody could know 95% of it was lost and toileted on for 23 years. There are eight visible fragments of varying sizes, with the largest being about 2 cm in diameter.

Saudi don't spread this information. Qarmatians killed 30,000 pilgrims and destroyed the Kaaba, putting dead people into the Zamzam well and even killing inside the Kaaba. In the history Kaaba was destroyed multiple times, some partially and some completely. But unlike the story of Sura al Fil verse 3, Ababil birds never came to rescue- proving it was fabricated.

Jerusalem, not Mecca, Is the Home of the True God

Narrated Abu Raja Al-Utaridi:

We used to worship stones, and when we found a better stone than the first one, we would throw the first one and take the latter, but if we could not get a stone then we would collect some earth (i.e. soil) and then bring a sheep and milk that sheep over it, and perform the Tawaf around it. When the month of Rajab came, we used (to stop the military actions), calling this month the iron remover, for we used to remove and throw away the iron parts of every spear and arrow in the month of Rajab. Abu Raja' added: When the Prophet (ﷺ) sent with (Allah's) Message, I was a boy working as a shepherd of my family camels. When we heard the news about the appearance of the Prophet, we ran to the fire, i.e. to Musailima al-Kadhdhab.

Dala'il al-Nubuwwah by al- Bayhaqi, vol 2, Makkah: Dar al-Baz Publishers, p. 381 Imam Abu Nu'aym narrates the practice of Anas RA, with his chain, who said: 'The Messenger of Allah used to pray salah at his house and made it long. Once, He [urinated in the well], which was situated inside the house. Anas said: 'there was no well in Madinah which [tasted more cool and sweet] than it'. ALLAH EXTENDS A HAND: ISLAM'S BLACK STONE IDOL

According to Islamic traditions, the black stone is supposed to be Allah's right hand which he permits his followers to touch and kiss:

"… When we reached Rukn Aswad (the Black Stone) he said, "O Abu Muhammad, "What (command) has reached you regarding this Black Stone?' Ata' said: Abu Huraira related to me that he heard Allah's Messenger saying, "He who touches it, in fact touches THE HAND OF THE MERCIFUL (Allah).'…"

Sufi scholar Gibril F. Haddad notes:

"The Black Stone is the right hand of Allah Most High." Ibn Qutayba in Ta' wil Mukhtalif al-Hadith (1972 ed. p. 215=1995 ed. p. 198, 262) said that it was a saying of Ibn 'Abbas and relates a saying of 'A'isha that the Black Stone is the depository of the covenant of human souls with Allah on the Day of Promise (alastu bi rabbikum). He interprets the Black Stone as representing the place where one declares one's pledge of fidelity to the Sovereign. Ibn Hajar in Fath al-Bari (1959 ed. 3:463 #1520) cites al-Khattabi's and al-Muhibb al-Tabari's similar interpretations. Al-Qurtubi said in al-Asna fi Sharh Asma' Allah al-Husna (2:90-91): "It means that the Black Stone has the standing (manzila) of the Right Hand of Allah. metaphorically speaking." (Problematic hadiths and various questions: source)

And:

"As for the saying reported from the Prophet: 'The Black Stone is Allah's right hand,'[202] if established as true, then it is interpreted figuratively according to the doctrinal necessity that Allah is neither spatially confined anywhere nor divisible, and the fact that the senses witness that the Black Stone is not really the right hand of Allah. Therefore, the hadith is taken variously to mean prosperity, blessing, acceptance, and the context of the Muslims pledge of loyalty to their Creator. Yet Ibn Rajah relates that Ibn al-Fa'us al-Hanbali (d. 521) would say: "The Black Stone is Allah's Right Hand in reality (haqiqatan),' for which he was nicknamed 'The Stony' (al-Hajari).[203] Ibn Furak writes that he embarked on a study of kalam because of this hadith.[204] Ibn Qutayba said that it was actually a saying of Ibn 'Abbas, and he relates a saying of 'A'isha that the Black Stone is the depository of the covenant of human souls with Allah on the Day of Promise (alastu bi rabbikum).[205] Ibn Hajar cites al-Khattabi's and al-Muhibb al-Tabari's interpretations of the Black Stone as representing the place where one declares one's pledge of fidelity to the Sovereign.[206]

Seeing that Allah's very own hand can materialize in creation as an actual physical stone this silences any claim on the part of Muslims that God could not or would not become a man. After all, if Allah's limb can become a stone without this diminishing his deity then there is no logical objection to the true God becoming a physical human being while still retaining all of his essential divine attributes:

There even are narrations where Muhammad is reported to have said that he actually saw his lord, i.e. Allah, appear in visible shape:
Narrator: AbdurRahman ibn A'ish

Allah's Messenger said: I saw my Lord, the Exalted and Glorious in the most beautiful form. He said: What do the Angels in the presence of Allah contend about? I said: Thou art the most aware of it. He then placed his palm between my shoulders and I felt its coldness in my chest and I came to know what was in the Heavens and the Earth. He recited: `Thus did we show Ibrahim the kingdom of the Heavens and the Earth and it was so that he might have certainty.' (6:75)

When he said the Salam, he called aloud with his voice saying to us: 'Stay in your rows as you are.' Then he turned coming near to us, then he said: 'I am going to narrate to you what kept me from you this morning: I got up during the night, I performed Wudu and prayed as much as I was able to, and I dozed off during my Salat, and fell deep asleep. Then I saw my Lord, Blessed and Most High, in the best of appearances. He said: 'O Muhammad!' I said: 'My Lord here I am my Lord!' He said: 'What is it that the most exalted group busy themselves with?' I said: 'I do not know Lord.' And He said it three times." He said: "So I saw Him place His Palm between my shoulders, and I sensed the coolness of His Fingertips between my breast. Then everything was disclosed for me, and I became aware. If Allah can therefore appear in a visible body then there is no logical reason why Muslims cannot accept the possibility of the true God becoming a man without ceasing to be God.

As God's only inspired Scriptures testifies in regards to the Lord Jesus:

Colossians 1:15-20

15 He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation;
16 for in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers—all things have been created through him and for him.
17 He himself is before all things, and in him all things hold together.
18 He is the head of the body, the church; he is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, so that he might come to have first place in everything.
19 For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell,
20 and through him God was pleased to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross.

The aorist verb κατοικῆσαι (katoikēsai) could be taken as an ingressive, in which case it refers to the incarnation and may be translated as "begin to dwell, to take up residence." It is perhaps better, though, to take it as a constative aorist and simply a reference to the fact that the fullness of God dwells in Jesus Christ. This is a permanent dwelling, though, not a temporary one, as the present tense in Colossians 2:9 makes clear:

"For in him all the fullness of deity lives in bodily form,"

The present tense in this verse ("lives") is significant. Again, as was stated in the note on 1:19, this is not a temporary dwelling, but a permanent one. Paul's point is polemical against the idea that the fullness of God dwells anywhere else, as the Gnostics believed, except in Christ alone. At the incarnation, the second person of the Trinity assumed humanity, and is forever the God-man.

To make matters worse, besides being Allah's right hand on the earth the black stone is in reality the one true savior of Muslims since it both atones for their sins by absorbing them, and shall come to life on the day of judgment in order to intercede for everyone that use to kiss and touch it!

Part III

The Black Stone is the right hand of Allah on Earth

Among the virtues of the Black Stone, is that it is the right hand of Allah Most High on Earth, as Ibn ʿAbbās said(This ḥadīth is weak (ḍaʿīf) and elevated, şaḥīḥ mawqūf (sound and stopped), if it is confirmed by Ibn ʿAbbās, it is elevated and attributed to the Prophet, so no opinion or interpretation will be accepted): This corner is the right hand of Allah on Earth(This ḥadīth is not a ḥadīth about the characteristics of Allah, please read carefully Ibn Taymiya (m) in his comment on the word of Ibn ʿAbbās in Majmūʿ al-Fatāwā (397-398/6); already quoted.) with which he greets His servants(Ibn Ḥajar al-Haythamī said in az-Zawājir (399/1): "Those who touch them are blessed.") , a greeting of a man for his brother.(Reported by al-Azraqī in Akhbār makka, (323/1), and al-Fākihī in Akhbār makka (89/1), n°20, Ibn Ḥajar said in al-maţālib al-ʿāliya (432/6) it was a mawqūf (stopped) şaḥīḥ (sound))

Words of scholars regarding the meaning of this ḥadīth:

1. Al-Khaţţābī said: The meaning of this, is that whoever greeted the stone on Earth, has done a pact with Allah, like the pact the kings used with whom wanted special attribution or alliance, by greetings or by clapping hands for swearing allegiance, or like the kissing of the hand of a servant to his master; or with elders, by analogy.(Maʿālim as-sunan, al-Khaţţābī (446/1). See: sharḥ as-sunna, al-Baghawī (114/7))

2. Al-Muḥibb aţ-Ţabarī said: All the kings used to give their right hand to any newcomer for them to kiss; it is the same for a pilgrim, when he enters the Sanctuary, it is a tradition for him that the first thing he has to do is to kiss the right hand of his King, which descended especially for that, and for Allah is the highest attribute.(Fatḥ al-Bāri', Ibn Ḥajar (255/2)…)…

Part IV

Touching the Black Stone expiates sins

Touching and stroking the Black Stone expiates sins, only minor ones. Concerning the major ones, true repentance is necessary as the following ḥadīths explain:

1. ʿAbd Allah Ibn Ubayd Ibn ʿUmayr narrated he heard his father telling Ibn ʿUmar: Why is it I see you touching only these two corners: the Black Stone and the Yemeni Corner? Ibn ʿUmar answered: I do so because I heard Allah's Messenger saying: Touching both of them removes sins (The sins: minor ones. It is permitted to touch both of them. Fayḍ al-qadīr (521/2)).(Reported by Aḥmad in al-musnad (3/2), H. 4462. Al-Albānī authenticated it due to corroborating narrations in Ṣaḥīḥ at-targhīb wa at-tarhīb (26/2) H. 1139)

2. In another version: Passing one's hand over them removes(Expiates: i.e. reduces, cancels. See: Fayḍ al-qadīr (95/2)) mistakes.(Reported by an-Nasā'ī (221/5), H. 2919. Authenticated by al-Albānī in Ṣaḥīḥ sunan an-Nasā'ī (319/2), H. 2919)

3. Ibn ʿUbayd Ibn ʿUmayr narrated from his father: Ibn ʿUmar used to compete with others to touch both corners (i.e. the corner of the Black Stone and the Yemeni Corner) in a way the like of which I have never seen any one of the companions of the Prophet do. I said to him: O Abū ʿAbd ar-Raḥmān! You compete with others to touch both corners in a way the like of which I have never seen any one of the companions of the Prophet do. He said: Yes, I do. I heard Allah's Messenger say: Passing the hand over them expiates sins.(Reported by at-Tirmidhī (292/3), H. 959. Authenticated by al-Albānī in Ṣaḥīḥ at-Tirmidhī (491/1), H. 959)

4. Ibn ʿUmar narrated: the Prophet said: Passing one's hand over the Yemeni Corner and the Black Corner truly removes sins(In this version the Prophet insisted (truly). See: Fayḍ al-qadīr (95/2)).(Reported by Aḥmad in al-musnad (89/2), H.5621. Authenticated by al-Albānī in Ṣaḥīḥ at-targhīb wa at-tarhīb (27/2), H. 1139)

Part V

Testimony of the Black Stone in favour of those who touch it righteously

Among the virtues of the Black Stone is that Allah Most High will raise it up on the Day of Resurrection, it will have two eyes with which it will see, and a tongue with which it will talk, and it will give witness in favour of everyone who touched it righteously in this world; among the ḥadīths concerned by this matter:

1. Ibn ʿAbbās narrated: Allah's Messenger said: This Stone has a tongue and two lips and it will bear witness on the Day of Resurrection to those who touched it righteously (Touched it rightfully: in obedience to Allah, following the Sunna, it is not praising the stone itself. See: Mirqāt al-mafātīḥ sharḥ mishkāt al-maṣābīḥ (229-230/9)). (Reported by Aḥmad in al-musnad (266/1), H. 2398. Authenticated by al-Albānī in Ṣaḥīḥ aljāmiʿ (436/1) H. 2184)

2. Ibn ʿAbbās narrated: Allah's Messenger said: This (Black) Stone would come(It will come easily, See: Fayḍ al-qadīr (345/5)) on the Day of Resurrection, having two eyes to see therewith, and a tongue to speak therewith, to bear witness(It will testify in their favour. See: Mirqāt al-mafātīḥ sharḥ mishqāt al-maṣābīḥ,

3. Ibn ʿAbbās narrated: Allah's Messenger said about the Stone: By Allah! Allah will raise(Allah will raise it or revive it: yabʿathannahou with the meaning of making it appear. Albaʿth, resurrection, concerns dead people. The Prophet informed us that Allah is capable of giving life to the stone in order to speak; He will provide it with organs for bearing witness; as dead people are dust and bones and will be resurrected, the two stones will receive life. 4. ʿAbd Allah Ibn ʿAmrū Ibn al-ʿĀṢ narrated: Allah's Messenger said: The Black Stone will come on the Day of Judgment larger than Abū Qubays(Abū Qubays is a mount; it overlooks the Great Mosque at Mecca. Its foothill is aṢ-Ṣafā'. The name was given after a man from Madhḥija known as ḥaddād Yukanna Abū Qubays, who is said to have been the first to build on it. Al-Albānī said about it ḥassan (good) due to corroborating narrations in Ṣaḥīḥ at-targhīb wa at-tarhīb (29/2), H. 1145)

The ḥadīths are clear:

Such ḥadīths are to be taken as they are: Allah almighty is certainly able to give sight and the ability to speak to inanimate objects. The bodies are alike; the phenomena accepted by some can actually be accepted by others. Indeed, Allah is able to do all things.

The people who have in their heart the sickness of philosophy – may Allah protect us – say this is a symbol of the reward of the person who touched the Stone, and that his effort is not wasted. Al-Bayḍāwī surprisingly said: "The most probable meaning is this one! Even if we can accept the apparent meaning." This is not surprising for someone prone to philosophizing about interpreting the Qur'ān and explaining the ḥadīths, may Allah forgive him.(Tuḥfa al-'uḥūdhī, al-Mubārkfawrī (31/4), Mirqāt al-mafātīḥ sharḥ mishkāt al-maṣābīḥ (229230/9). (Ibid., pp. 134-136)) (Mahmud Ibn Ahmad al Dosary, Virtues of the Ka'ba [http://en.alukah.net/Library/0/8099/1/virtues%20of%20the%20ka'ba/], pp. 39-40, 43-47)

Isn't it ironic that Muslims find it objectionable that Jesus Christ, the sinless Son of God, could be the Savior of the world by bearing the punishment of our sins on the cross and making intercession for all those who believe in him, while having no problem believing something similar in regards to an inanimate stone?

If smothering a black stone for the forgiveness of sins isn't a blatant case of idolatry then nothing can ever be considered idolatrous.

The Temple Mount in Jerusalem

1 I rejoiced with those who said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord." 2 Our feet are standing in your gates, Jerusalem. 3 Jerusalem is built like a city that is closely compacted together.4 That is where the tribes go up— the tribes of the Lord—to praise the name of the Lord according to the statute given to Israel. 5 There stand the thrones for judgment, the thrones of the house of David. 6 Pray for the peace of Jerusalem: "May those who love you be secure. 7 May there be peace within your walls and security within your citadels." 8 For the sake of my family and friends, I will say, "Peace be within you." 9 For the sake of the house of the Lord our God, I will seek your prosperity.

This psalm was penned by David for the use of the people of Israel, when they came up to Jerusalem to worship at the three solemn feasts. It was in David's time that Jerusalem was first chosen to be the city where God would record his name. It being a new thing, this, among other means, was used to bring the people to be in love with Jerusalem, as the holy city, though it was but the other day in the hands of the Jebusites.

See the joy with which they were to go up to Jerusalem (v. 1, v. 2). Notice the great esteem they were to have of Jerusalem (v. 3-5). The great concern they were to have for Jerusalem, and the prayers they were to put up for its welfare (v. 6-9).

Likewise, Jesus described Jerusalem as the home of God.

Luke 19: 41-44

41 As he approached Jerusalem and saw the city, he wept over it 42 and said, "If you, even you, had only known on this day what would bring you peace—but now it is hidden from your eyes. 4 The days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment against you and encircle you and hem you in on every side. 44 They will dash you to the ground, you and the children within your walls.

They will not leave one stone on another, because you did not recognize the time of God's coming to you."

What Does the Bible Say about the Direction of Prayer?

Does the Bible teach about the direction of prayer? As it happens, no specific instructions are given. In one case, we find Daniel praying toward Jerusalem (Daniel 6:10). Most other times, we find direction irrelevant. In fact, the prophet Jonah prayed from inside the great fish while it swam around in any number of directions (Jonah 2:1).

Direction of prayer isn't mentioned in various Biblical passages on prayer such as Psalm 32:6 or Matthew 26:39.

Psalm 32:6

"Therefore let all who are faithful offer prayer to you; at a time of distress, the rush of mighty waters shall not reach them."

- Context: This psalm, attributed to David, emphasizes the importance of confessing sins and seeking God. It assures the faithful that God is a refuge in times of trouble. The "rush of mighty waters" symbolizes overwhelming challenges or distress, suggesting that those who trust in God will be protected.

Matthew 26:39

"And going a little farther, he threw himself on the ground and prayed, 'My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me; yet not what I want, but what you want.'"

- Context: This verse occurs in the Garden of Gethsemane, just before Jesus' arrest. It illustrates Jesus' deep anguish and human desire to avoid suffering while simultaneously submitting to the will of the Father. The "cup" symbolizes the impending suffering and death that Jesus was about to face, representing the weight of sin and judgment that He would bear.

But even more to the point, Jesus Himself gives instructions for prayer, and direction is never mentioned. Jesus only mentions location in that He tells us to find a place of seclusion (Matthew 6:6): "But whenever you pray, go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you." Jesus Himself finds a place of privacy for prayer (Matthew 14:23): "And after he had dismissed the crowds, he went up the mountain by himself to pray. When evening came, he was there alone." Through the rest of His teachings, never once is direction of prayer of any significance. In fact, He specifically points out that the place of worship is of no consequence (John 4:21): "Jesus said to her, 'Woman, believe me, the hour is coming when you will worship the Father neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem.'". Does it matter? Is direction of prayer just a difference in the details or is there something bigger here that is being missed?

One thing Jesus tells us is that He will make His abode within us (John 14:23): "Jesus answered, 'Those who love me will keep my word, and my Father will love them, and we will come to them and make our home with them.'" Jesus tells us He will send the Holy Spirit to us. It is this Holy Spirit who helps us to pray when words escape us (Romans 8:26): "Likewise the Spirit helps us in our weakness; for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but that very Spirit intercedes with sighs too deep for words." Jesus tells us specifically that when we gather in His name, He is there (Matthew 18:20): "For where two or three are gathered in my name, I am there among them." In fact, He makes sure we know that His presence is always with us (Matthew 28:20): "And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age." Those who pray earnestly know personally how the LORD meets them wherever they are, in whatever place and time we come to Him in prayer. The reason our direction of prayer is of no consequence is because Jesus is right there with us when we pray!

Second possibility: The Journey of the Black Stone: From Phoenician Times to Arabia

■The Black Stone and the Idea of Divine Presence

The later Imperial era of Pagan Rome was marked by frequent civil wars, which often culminated in the rise of new emperors and dynasties. One notable figure from this tumultuous period was Septimius Severus, a successful contender who became emperor and founded the Severan Dynasty. Severus was married to a Syrian priestess connected to the worship of the Black Stone, tying his lineage to an exotic and mystic religious tradition.

■The Rise of Elagabalus

In 218 CE, this connection came into sharper focus when a 14-year-old boy, Elagabalus, ascended to the throne as the new emperor of Rome. Known to history by the same name as the deity he served, Elagabalus was also the high priest of the cult of the Black Stone, a sacred relic central to his family's religious practices [The god Elagabal (or El-Gabal) in Emesa (modern-day Homs, Syria)].

Elagabalus was initially venerated at Emesa in Syria, where the Arab Emesan dynasty acted as its priests. The name is the Latinised form of the Arabic "Ilah al-Jabal" ("إله الجبل"), the Emesene manifestation of the deity, which is Arabic for "God of the Mountain."[The Journal of Juristic Papyrology, volume 23, page 116: "und mit palmyrenischer Inschrift "Gott Berg" steht die umstrittene Etymologie des Namens "Elagabal" (ilah ha-gabal) fest"] Elagabalus was the religious "lord", or Ba'al, of Emesa.[Ball, Warwick (2016). Rome in the East: The Transformation of an Empire. Routledge. p. 37. ISBN 9780415717779.] The deity successfully preserved Arab characteristics, both in his names and representations.[Bowman, Cameron, Garnsey (2008). The Cambridge Ancient History: Volume 12, The Crisis of Empire, AD 193-337. Cambridge University Press. p. 502. ISBN 9780521850735.]

Elagabalus did not merely bring his foreign religion to Rome—he elevated it above all others. Upon arriving in the city, he transported the Black Stone and its associated priests and constructed a grand temple called the Elagabalium to house it. A temple called the Elagabalium was built on the east face of the Palatine Hill to house the holy stone of the Emesa temple, a black conical meteorite. [Herodian, Roman History V.5 Archived 2015-11-04 at the Wayback Machine]

Herodian writes of that stone: [Herodian, Roman History V.3]

> This stone is worshipped as though it were sent from heaven; on it there are some small projecting pieces and markings that are pointed out, which the people would like to believe are a rough picture of the sun, because this is how they see them.

To further assert the dominance of his deity, he ordered the relocation of sacred relics from other Roman temples to the Elagabalium. Worship of these gods was subsequently redirected to take place under the roof of his temple, in the name of El-Gabal, the sun god represented by the Black Stone.

He reportedly also declared that Jews, Samaritans and Christians must transfer their rites to his temple so that it "might include the mysteries of every form of worship". [Augustan History, Life of Elagabalus 3]

Herodian also related that Elagabalus forced senators to watch while he danced around his deity's altar to the sound of drums and cymbals,[Herodian, Roman History V.5 Archived 2015-11-04 at the Wayback Machine] and at each summer solstice celebrated a great festival, popular with the masses because of food distributions, during which he placed the holy stone on a chariot adorned with gold and jewels, which he paraded through the city [Herodian, Roman History V.6 Archived 2015-11-04 at the Wayback Machine.]:

A six horse chariot carried the divinity, the horses huge and flawlessly white, with expensive gold fittings and rich ornaments. No one held the reins, and no one rode in the chariot; the vehicle was escorted as if the god himself were the charioteer. Elagabalus ran backward in front of the chariot, facing the god and holding the horses' reins. He made the whole journey in this reverse fashion, looking up into the face of his god.

■According to Cassius Dio, the Emperor also tried to bring about a union of Roman and Syrian religion under the supremacy of his deity, which he placed even above Jupiter,[Cassius Dio, Roman History LXXX.11] and to which he assigned either Astarte, Minerva or Urania, or some combination of the three, as wife. [Herodian, Roman History V.6 Archived 2015-11-04 at the Wayback Machine.]

(Do you remember 3 dayghters of Al-Lah: Al-Lat, Al-Manat, Al-Uzza? Want to know who they are?)

At-Tabaraani reported in a Hadeeth with a chain that has some weakness and which was narrated by Abu Buraydah about Allaah's Saying (which means): {…previously married and virgins}[Quran 66:5], that Allaah promised his Prophet that He will marry him to the virgin Maryam Bint Imraan and the previously married woman Aasyah Pharaoh's wife." This Hadeeth with this chain of narrators is Dha'eef (weak).

Also, Ibn 'Asaaker reported that Ibn 'Umar said: "(the angel) Jibreel came to the Prophet and Khadeejah passed by, so Jibreel said: "Allaah is greeting her and giving her glad tiding of a home for her made of gold in Paradise between Maryam Bint Imraan's home and Aasyah Bint Muzaahim's one." But its chain of narrators is Dha'eef (weak).

Narrated Abu Musa Al-Ash`ari:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Many amongst men attained perfection but amongst women none attained the perfection except Mary, the daughter of `Imran and Asiya, the wife of Pharaoh. And the superiority of `Aisha to other women is like the superiority of Tharid (i.e. an Arabic dish) to other meals."

■Religious Outrage in Rome

For the Romans, this was nothing short of sacrilege. The elevation of an Eastern sun god over Jupiter, the chief deity of the Roman pantheon, was deeply offensive. Elagabalus’s annual religious rituals further exacerbated tensions. These ceremonies involved placing the Black Stone on a driverless chariot, which was paraded through the streets of Rome. The emperor himself would lead this procession, running backward in reverence to the stone. Ultimately, his rule ended violently, as political and military forces turned against him, leading to his assassination in 222 CE.

After Elagabalus's assassination in 222 CE, the sacred Black Stone was returned to its sanctuary in Syria. There, his family lineage retained the priesthood over the cult of Elagabal for several decades, ensuring the continuity of its worship. With the rise of Christianity as a dominant force and the subsequent persecutions of non-Christian pagan religions, the Black Stone's safety within Roman Syria became increasingly tenuous. For a time, the city of Emesa (modern-day Homs), the heart of the Black Stone's cult, resisted these changes. While other Syrian cities, such as Antioch, embraced Christianity, Emesa held out. Early Christian bishops were even forced to operate outside the city limits, as they had no jurisdiction within Emesa. Eventually, Christianity's dominance expanded into the city, and the Black Stone was no longer secure.

■Disappearance and Migration of the Black Stone

The historical record regarding the Black Stone grows sparse at this point, leaving room for speculation. It was likely removed from Emesa in secret before Christian authorities gained full control. Given the fervent anti-pagan sentiment of the late Roman Empire, the stone would have needed to leave the empire entirely to remain safe.

The Arabian deserts, long a haven for traditional pagan beliefs, became a plausible refuge. Numerous Kaabas in these deserts served as sanctuaries for pagan gods and stones. The late 300s and 400s CE marked a peak in Christian intolerance toward pagan practices, forcing many such artifacts to flee to the relative safety of these regions.

■The Black Stone in the Kaaba

The narrative then intersects with the rise of Islam. By the 500s CE, the Quraysh tribe, Muhammad's family clan, had assumed control of Kaaba (in Petra), establishing it as a center of pilgrimage. At this time, the Kaaba housed numerous pagan idols, including a central black stone that may have been the same one associated with Elagabalus.

When Muhammad conquered Kaaba (in Petra) in the 7th century, he ordered the destruction of all idols within the Kaaba, sparing only a select few, including the Black Stone. This moment marked the stone's transition into Islamic tradition, where it became a central element of pilgrimage rituals. Pilgrims circumambulate the Kaaba, mirroring Muhammad's reported actions, solidifying the Black Stone's place as Islam's holiest relic.

■The Abbasids and Mecca

The Abbasids recognized the Black Stone's immense symbolic and practical value. By securing it, they redirected pilgrimage routes and reoriented the religious focus toward Mecca. This strategic move elevated Mecca to the center of the Islamic world after the Abbasids rose to power in 749.

■The Abbasids and the Shift to Mecca

Ibn al-Zubayr's journey led him north to what is now Baghdad, known then as Stethman. This region was under the influence of the Abbasids, a rising political power. The Abbasids saw an opportunity: possessing the Black Stone would attract pilgrims, as it was believed that wherever the Black Stone was, the faithful would gather.

Recognizing its religious and political value, the Abbasids secured the Black Stone and shifted its significance to Mecca. This move transformed Mecca into a central religious hub, cementing its status when the Abbasids came to power in 749.

■The Creation of a Backstory

Despite the Black Stone's newfound importance in Mecca, the Abbasids faced a challenge: there was no cohesive historical narrative to support its centrality. To resolve this, they commissioned works that retroactively constructed a backstory.

One of the most significant efforts was the biography of the Prophet Muhammad by Ibn Ishaq, written around 765. However, this biography was far from perfect and faced criticism for inconsistencies. About 70 years later, Ibn Hisham revised Ibn Ishaq's work, admitting he discarded parts he found unappealing and included what suited the narrative.

What most people don’t realize is that the biography widely used today isn’t even Ibn Ishaq’s or Ibn Hisham’s original work. It was reconstructed in the 19th century by Gustav Wüstenfeld, a German scholar who pieced it together between 1858 and 1860 using materials from various libraries across Germany.

This compilation became the basis for Alfred Guillaume’s English translation, which is now the standard reference worldwide. Notably, this reconstruction emerged only 160 years ago, underscoring the relatively modern origins of what is considered early Islamic history.

■The Role of Al-Bukhari

By the 9th century, the Abbasids further shaped Islamic tradition through figures like Al-Bukhari, who compiled the hadith (sayings and actions of the Prophet). Al-Bukhari reportedly began with 600,000 hadiths but deemed only 7,397 authentic—about 2% of the total. The remaining 98%, nearly 595,000 hadiths, were discarded or lost, a reflection of the Abbasids' rigorous control over religious texts and narratives.

This large-scale censorship reveals the Abbasids' intent to consolidate power and influence by shaping religious doctrines and historical accounts.

The Black Stone's resilience is remarkable. It has been damaged, burned, and shattered multiple times, most notably:

In 683 CE during the Second Fitna, an early Islamic civil war. This was when the Umayyad forces, under the command of Yazid I, besieged Mecca, where Abdullah ibn al-Zubayr had declared his caliphate in opposition to the Umayyads. During the siege, a fire broke out, accidentally setting ablaze the wooden structure (the covering and supports around the Kaaba). The intense heat caused some of the stones of the Kaaba to crack and shatter into several pieces. Following the incident, Abdullah ibn al-Zubayr supervised the reconstruction of the Kaaba. To preserve and hold the fragments together, he bound the pieces with silver, creating the initial inlay.

The Qarmatians seized the Black Stone (Al-Hajar Al-Aswad) in 930 CE during a raid on Mecca. The group, a radical Isma'ili Shi'a sect led by Abu Tahir al-Jannabi, attacked the city during the Hajj pilgrimage, massacred thousands of pilgrims, and desecrated the Kaaba.

They removed the Black Stone and took it to their base in Al-Ahsa (in modern-day eastern Saudi Arabia). The stone was kept there for approximately 22 years in active toilet before being returned to Mecca in 952 CE, following diplomatic negotiations and possibly a ransom payment. They returned eight pebbles (approximately 5%) of the destroyed stone, requiring further binding with silver. It also required cementing with black cement so that none could know the history that the solid stone is gone and 95% are missing. Since then, the silver frame has been periodically replaced or repaired by later rulers to maintain the integrity of the size.

■A Fascinating Legacy

This enigmatic relic continues to inspire awe and devotion. Five times a day, prayers from around the globe are directed toward the Kaaba and the Black Stone.

Whether a meteorite, a piece of sacred history, or a relic of the sun god Elagabal, its significance transcends time and culture. The reverence it commands and the rituals surrounding it offer a mesmerizing glimpse into humanity's enduring quest for connection with the divine. Now check the highlighted portion again and read.

Writings, by St John of Damascus, The Fathers of the Church, vol. 37 (Washington, DC: Catholic University of America Press, 1958), pp. 153-160. Posted 26 March, 2006.

(Saint John's monumental work, the Fount of Knowledge, part two entitled Heresies in Epitome: How They Began and Whence They Drew Their Origin. Saint John (+ 749) is considered one of the great Fathers of the Church, and his writings hold a place of high honor in the Church. His critique of Islam "the heresy of the Ishmaelites," is very important):

> They furthermore accuse us of being idolaters, because we venerate the cross, which they abominate. And we answer them: 'How is it, then, that you rub yourselves against a stone in your Ka'ba and kiss and embrace it?' Then some of them say that Abraham had relations with Agar upon it, but others say that he tied the camel to it, when he was going to sacrifice Isaac. And we answer them: 'Since Scripture says that the mountain was wooded and had trees from which Abraham cut wood for the holocaust and laid it upon Isaac, [Genesis 22:6] and then he left the asses behind with the two young men, why talk nonsense? For in that place neither is it thick with trees nor is there passage for asses.' And they are embarrassed, but they still assert that the stone is Abraham's. Then we say: 'Let it be Abraham's, as you so foolishly say. Then, just because Abraham had relations with a woman on it or tied a camel to it, you are not ashamed to kiss it, yet you blame us for venerating the cross of Christ by which the power of the demons and the deceit of the Devil was destroyed.' This stone that they talk about is a head of that Aphrodite whom they used to worship and whom they called Khabár. Even to the present day, traces of the carving are visible on it to careful observers.

A baetyl (/ˈbiːtɪl/; also betyl), literally "house of god," is a sacred stone (sometimes believed to be a meteorite) that was venerated and thought to house a god or deity. ["Baetyl". Livius. Retrieved 2024-05-16.]

The most famous example is the Omphalos, stored in the Temple of Apollo at the Greek town of Delphi.
[Doniger, Wendy (2000). Merriam-Webster's Encyclopedia of World Religions. Springfield, Mass.: Merriam-Webster, p. 106. ISBN 0-87779-044-2.]

The Emesa temple to the sun god Elagabalus featured a baetyl at its center, depicted on Roman coins from the 3rd century AD.

The term "baetyl" was used in ancient Near Eastern sources in the form of "beth-el," as well as in Greek and Roman sources as "baitylos." In the former, the term referred to names of gods or places. Examples include Bethel, a location described in the Hebrew Bible, and the deity Bethel, [Hyatt, J. Philip (1939). "The Deity Bethel and the Old Testament". Journal of the American Oriental Society, 59(1): 81–98. doi:10.2307/593947. JSTOR 593947.] who was mentioned in texts like Esarhaddon's Treaty with Ba'al of Tyre and the Elephantine papyri.

In the latter, the word described a round stone that had fallen from the sky (i.e., a meteorite).
[Hyatt, J. Philip (1939). "The Deity Bethel and the Old Testament". Journal of the American Oriental Society, 59(1): 81–98. doi:10.2307/593947. JSTOR 593947, pp. 44–46.]

The term "baetyl" derives from the Greek baetylus/baitylos (βαίτυλος), itself derived from the Semitic term byt'l ("beth-el," "house of god"), where it appears to have referred to open-air sanctuaries.
[Gaifman, Milette (2008). "The Aniconic Image of the Roman Near East". In Kaizer, Ted (ed.). The Variety of Local Religious Life in the Near East in the Hellenistic and Roman Periods. Brill.]
[Wenning, Robert (2001). "The Betyls of Petra". Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research, 324(1): 79–85. doi:10.2307/1357633. JSTOR 1357633, p. 80.]

(Kaaba did not have any roof.)

■Ancient Greece

The first Greek usage of the term baitylos appears in a first-century text, but only as the name of a slave, not as a stone or a god. The next usage, also from the first century, is found in the Phoenician History by Philo of Byblos, where it refers to the name of one of the sons of Ouranos and Gaia. Philo then describes a magical stone he calls a baitylia, which was invented when Ouranos first rained them from heaven (making it a meteorite). This is a common mythological etiology for the origins of these sacred stones.
[Wenning, Robert (2001). "The Betyls of Petra". Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research, 324(1): 79–85. doi:10.2307/1357633. JSTOR 1357633, p. 80.]

(Kaaba's black stone also came down from heaven, according to Muslim scriptures.)

Philo's discussion is extant only in quotations from Eusebius, who lived in the fourth century.

[Wenning, Robert (2001). "The Betyls of Petra". Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research, 324(1): 79–85. doi:10.2307/1357633. JSTOR 1357633, pp. 51–52.]

Another first-century reference comes from Pliny the Elder, who describes the baitylos in the following manner:
[Wenning, Robert (2001). "The Betyls of Petra". Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research, 324(1): 79–85. doi:10.2307/1357633. JSTOR 1357633, pp. 53–54.]

> Sotacus distinguishes also two other varieties of the stone, a black and a red, resembling axe-heads. According to him, those among them that are black and round are supernatural objects; and he states that thanks to them cities and fleets are attached and overcome, their name being baetuli while the elongated stones are cerauniae.

A much later reference occurs in the works of Damascius, a 6th-century Neoplatonist, according to later quotations of his text by Photios I of Constantinople in his Bibliotheca. There, it is described as a spherical stone that originated from the sky and was discovered by a certain man named Eusebius. Eusebius finds that this stone is prophetic and becomes its interpreter.

■Ancient Rome

It is only in the Later Roman Empire and in the period of late antiquity that the term baitylos came to take on connotations that combined its association with divinity from the Semitic tradition with its function as an object in the Greek tradition. This fusion was a product of the dual influence of both Semitic and Greek traditions on the Roman Near East, particularly in northern Syria and Lebanon.
[Wenning, Robert (2001). "The Betyls of Petra". Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research. 324 (1): 79–85. doi:10.2307/1357633. JSTOR 1357633. pp.55–57]

The Meccan sanctuary, the Kaaba, has been referred to in pre-Islamic Arabic poetry as "God's house" (bayt allāh). According to later sources, the Black Stone (a baetyl) was moved to this location from a nearby mountaintop to augment the sacred nature of the site when the area was under the control of the Quraysh.

Such baetyls can be described with the Arabic term nuṣub (pl. anṣāb), typically referring to sacrificial stone altars. This term is distinct from others like ṣanam and watham, which refer to manufactured statues or idols.

Some historians have compared the Black Stone to the description of a black, rounded stone said to have descended from heaven, as described by Herodian.

Greece: The Omphalos of Delphi

In ancient Greek religion and mythology, the term baetyl was specially applied to the Omphalos of Delphi ("navel").

- This stone was believed to be the one swallowed by Cronus, who feared misfortune from his children, after it was substituted for his infant son Zeus by Gaea.
- Carefully preserved at Delphi, the stone was anointed with oil daily and, on festive occasions, was covered with raw wool.

The Baetyl of Aphrodite at Palaepaphos

According to Tacitus, the simulacrum of the goddess at the temple of Aphrodite Paphia, at her mythological birthplace in Paphos, Cyprus, was a rounded object, approximately conical or shaped like a meta (a turning post on a Roman circus). Tacitus noted that "the reason for this is obscure."

It is possible, as P.M. Bellamare suggests, that the stone was broken by Byzantine Christians. But this is speculation in the lack of any historical or archaeological evidence about the later fate of the black stone

> As for the black stone, it was quietly shipped back to Syria and reinstalled in the temple of Emesa. It was probably smashed to pieces when the temple was converted into a Christian church, some time in the 4th century. The site, now occupied by a mosque, has never been excavated. All that remians of the mysterious black stone are ancient texts and a collection of iconographic documents, mostly coins.

■Conclusion

The journey of the Black Stone—from its Phoenician origins to its central role in Mecca—reveals the interplay of religion, politics, and historical narrative. Its transformation into a symbol of divine presence and its integration into Islamic tradition underscore the profound influence of human agency in shaping religious history. While the Black Stone's story is shrouded in mystery and reconstruction, its enduring significance remains a testament to its powerful symbolism.

You further might be seeing these references as a response from Muslims:

Genesis 28:18-19 :

> So Jacob rose early in the morning, and he took the stone that he had put under his head and set it up as a pillar and poured oil on the top of it. He called that place Bethel, but the name of the city was Luz at the first.

The place Jacob named Bethel (Hebrew: בֵּית־אֵל, pronounced Beit-El, meaning "House of God") was previously called Luz. Its exact historical location is associated with a site about 10 miles north of Jerusalem, near the modern town of Beitin in the West Bank.

Jethro, known as the high priest of Midian, a region mentioned in the Bible located in the northwestern part of the Arabian Peninsula, near the eastern shores of the Gulf of Aqaba and the Sinai Peninsula, is an important figure in the Hebrew Bible. He is introduced in Exodus 2:16–21 and plays a significant role in the life of Moses. Jethro, also referred to as Reuel or Hobab in some texts, was the father-in-law of Moses, as Moses married his daughter Zipporah.

But these have no connection whatsoever, as the stone didn't fell from heaven or not a meteorite.

Idolatry is defined as the Worship of Idols. And it can take on many forms. It consists of acts such as bowing down, touching or kissing an object reverentially. Idols can be made of stone, wood, gold, silver or clay. However, idolatry is not confined just to acts of worship towards an idol. Idolatry can also be defined as having a deep sense of reverence towards an object when such reverence should be given to God alone. Idolatry is a spiritual issue. Ultimately, it results in the worship of false gods.

Before the arrival of Islam, the pre-Islamic Arabs reverentially bowed down in prayer towards a pagan temple called the Ka'ba. Today Muslims do the same. No matter in which part of the world they live, all Muslims are commanded to bow down in prayer towards the Ka'ba. They are forbidden to face any other direction during their daily prayers. For Muslims to pray towards any other direction is a violation of the commandment of Allah:

> Surah 2:144: We see you often turn your face towards the heavens, but We will surely turn you to a Qiblah you shall like. Turn then your face towards the Sacred Mosque (Ka'ba in Mecca) wherever you are. (Hamid S. Aziz)

According to the Qur'an, all Muslims must pray facing the Ka'ba in order to worship Allah. The historical fact that the Ka'ba was indeed a pre-Islamic pagan shrine is acknowledged in numerous authentic sources of Islam.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 43, Number 658:

Narrated 'Abdullah bin Masud: The Prophet entered Mecca and (at that time) there were three hundred-and-sixty idols around the Ka'ba.

The above Hadith clearly reveals that the Ka'ba was indeed a pre-Islamic pagan shrine housing "three hundred-and-sixty idols." This Hadith also testifies that the Ka'ba remained as such right up until the time of Muhammad. Islamic scholars are aware of this historical fact. However, Muslims claim that the Ka'ba was built by Abraham and Ishmael under the direction of Allah. In Islam, the Ka'ba is known as "Baitullah" which means "House of Allah." If the Muslim claim is true, then we would like to ask them the following questions:

(1) If the Ka'ba was built by Abraham and Ishmael*, how did it become a* Pagan Temple housing 360 idols*?*

(2) If the Ka'ba was originally the House of Allah*, how did it transform into a* Temple of Idols*? And exactly when did Allah allow this transformation to take place?*

(3) How did the most sacred place for the Worship of Allah become a place for the Worship of Idols*? How is it possible for this* corruption to occur in the first place?

(4) Why was Allah powerless to prevent his most sacred shrine from becoming contaminated with the idolatrous worship of the Pagans?

(5) What theological reason is there for Allah to allow his original House of Worship to become a Pagan Temple*?*

(6) How could Abraham and Ishmael build the Ka'ba when the Qur'an repeatedly states that no Messengers or Prophets or Warner or Scriptures were ever sent to the Arabs prior to the time of Muhammad? Is Abraham not a Prophet? (See Surah 28:46-47, Surah 32:3, Surah 34:44, Surah 36:2-6)

What is extremely damaging for Islam is the fact that when Allah commanded Muslims in Surah 2:144 to pray towards the Ka'ba, it was still a pagan shrine housing three hundred and sixty idols. The command to pray towards the Ka'ba predates the conquest of Mecca by years. The pagan idols were destroyed only after the conquest of Mecca. Therefore, during all those intervening years – between the time when Muslims were commanded to pray towards the Ka'ba and the conquest of Mecca – Muslims were praying towards a pagan shrine surrounded by idols. This is not an insignificant matter in terms of worship. Why must the prayers of the Muslims be directed towards a pagan shrine in order to reach the ears of Allah?

THE STONE IDOL OF ISLAM

When Muhammad conquered Mecca, he destroyed all the idols of the Ka'ba with the exception of the preeminent idol – the Black Stone. Why? Due to his deep-rooted reverence brought on by years of submission to the pagan practice of stone worship, Muhammad left the Black Stone unharmed to represent Islam. The intensity of his reverence towards the Black Stone was so severe that he simply could not see it as to what it truly is – an idol. He kissed the Black Stone to avow his submission to the stone idol. Muhammad was an idolater. The kiss that the pious Muslim pilgrims bestow on the Black Stone is a survival of an age-old idolatrous practice of the pagans. The Black Stone that was sacred to the pagans became sacred to the Muslims. This is pure idolatry! It may surprise Muslims to learn that even Caliph Umar (2nd Caliph of Islam), had reservations about kissing the pagan Black Stone.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 2, Book 26, Number 667:

> Narrated 'Abis bin Rabia: Umar came near the Black Stone *and kissed it and said: "*No doubt, I know that you are a stone and can neither benefit anyone nor harm anyone. Had I not seen Allah's Apostle kissing you I would not have kissed you."

This is a profound admission coming from one who used to engage in idolatrous worship of the Ka'ba before his conversion to Islam. While Caliph Umar had the spiritual perception to make the above observation, Muhammad continued to venerate the pagan stone idol. The reason behind Caliph Umar's reluctance to kiss the Black Stone after his conversion is obvious. He was fully aware that this is the same Black Stone that was kissed by the pagans before the arrival of Islam. He knew that this same Black Stone was sacred to the pagans. Sadly, Caliph Umar's devotion to Muhammad superseded his spiritual awareness. He submitted to idolatry in imitation of his Prophet.

The Black Stone which was venerated by the Arab pagans became the focus of the Muslim pilgrimage. Muslims touch and kiss the Black Stone with reverence during their annual pilgrimage to Mecca. The presence of non-Muslims are strictly forbidden anywhere near it. The Black Stone which had been a pagan object of worship for centuries before the time of Muhammad became the central shrine of Islam.

Muhammad Husayn Haykal was an esteemed Egyptian scholar who wrote numerous books on Islam. His writings are based on the scholarly works of Ibn Hisham. In his book, "The Life of Muhammad," he acknowledged the following facts:

> In fact, the Arabs venerated these stones so much that not only did they worship the black stone in the Ka'ba*, but also they would take one of the stones of the* Ka'ba as a holy object in their travels, praying to it and asking it to bless every move they made. (p. 30)

The above biography on Muhammad clearly testifies that the Arab pagans worshipped the Black Stone. What do you call a stone that is worshipped? Yet, Muslims deny that the Black Stone is an idol. They insist that their prayers are directed to Allah alone. However, in actual practice, Muslims treat the Black Stone with the same reverence that the pagans manifest towards their idols. Islam's denial of its idolatrous worship of the Black Stone can be likened to a man who pleads innocence for his adulterous act by saying that he was only thinking of his wife while performing the illicit sexual act. We are all judged by our actions. Adultery is adultery and idolatry is idolatry. The justification for the veneration of a dead stone to the extent of bowing down and kissing it can only be identified with the pagan practice of idolatry than with the true spirit of monotheistic worship. Well, do Muslims worship the Black Stone*?*

One of Egypt's renowned scholars, Sheikh Sha'rawi, revealed the following truth:

> *"The kissing of the meteorite is a firm practice in Islamic law because Muhammad did it. You must not ask about the wisdom behind that because* this rite is an expression of worship in spite of the obscurity of its wisdom." (Legal Opinions, pt. 3, p. 167, Muslim)

The kissing of the Black Stone is admittedly an "expression of worship" in Islam. This further confirms the fact that all Muslims are idolaters. And the sole reason for kissing the Black Stone is because "Muhammad did it." Muhammad's devotion to the Black Stone was so intense that it cannot be defined as anything other than worship. Consider now the following evidence:

Ibn `Umar said: "Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) faced the Black Stone, touched it, and then placed his lips on it and wept for a long time." Likewise, `Umar also wept for a long time. The Prophet (peace and blessings be upon him) said: 'O `Umar, this is the place where one should shed tears."' (Reported by Al-Hakim who considers it a sound Hadith with a sound chain of authorities) Source: IslamOnline.

Muhammad not only touched and kissed the Black stone but he also "placed his lips on it and wept for a long time." As we can see, he became extremely emotional in the presence of the Black Stone. If this is not idolatry, then what is it? It is an undeniable fact that any form of religiously motivated adoration or devotion to an object is idolatry. In view of his pagan past, Muhammad needed something tangible to connect him to Allah. Thus, he submitted to idolatry. This is why he said that the Black Stone is the place "where one should shed tears." Muslims fail to grasp the fact that kissing and caressing of stone objects were an integral part of pagan worship. Muhammad could not break free from his pagan roots. And Caliph Umar gave in to blind allegiance.

Like Caliph Umar, Muslims blindly emulate their Prophet in the veneration of this pagan idol. Historically, it cannot be denied that the Black Stone was venerated by the pre-Islamic pagans of Arabia. The Black Stone was one among the many idols that was worshipped at the Ka'ba. The Black Stone which the pagans kissed is the same Black Stone that the Muslims are kissing today. Muslims are kissing a stone that was previously used in idolatrous worship. Muslims have no basis whatsoever to justify this act of idolatry. What divine knowledge or spiritual experience can come from venerating an inanimate object which admittedly is a simple meteorite?

Additionally, Muhammad also taught that on Judgment Day the Black Stone will testify favorably on behalf of those who touched it in sincerity. Islam also teaches that the sins of an individual would be forgiven if he or she touches the Black Stone.

Narrated by al-Tirmidhi, 961; Ibn Maajah, 2944:

It was narrated that Ibn 'Abbaas said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said concerning the Stone: "By Allah, Allah will bring it forth on the Day of Resurrection, and it will have two eyes with which it will see and a tongue with which it will speak, and it will testify in favour of those who touched it in sincerity."

Narrated by al-Tirmidhi, 959:

The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "Touching them both (the Black Stone and al-Rukn al-Yamani) is an expiation for sins."

Narrated by al-Tirmidhi, 877, Ahmad, 2792:

The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings be upon him) said: "When the Black Stone came down from Paradise, it was whiter than milk, but the sins of the sons of Adam made it black."

Thus, Muslims are deceitful when they say that the Black Stone is just a focal point to direct their prayers to for the sake of unity. In reality, it means much more than they are willing to admit. Is it not idolatrous to believe that sins can be forgiven by merely touching or kissing a dead stone? While Muslims strongly reject the atoning value of Jesus Christ, these very same Muslims readily believe that a dead stone can achieve the very objective that they deny the living Messiah could accomplish.

Muhammad began and ended up with a pagan religion. The difference being that he repackaged it in a monotheistic framework. The fact that many of the rituals performed in the name of Allah are connected to pagan worship shows that Islam was conceived in idolatry. Such practices are consistent with pre-Islamic pagan rituals involving the Ka'ba. The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob would never send a Black Stone to entice his worshippers to commit idolatry.

When a Muslim kisses the Black Stone or circumambulates the Ka'ba or runs between the hills, he is performing the rituals of the pagans. And Muhammad incorporated all these pagan practices into Islam. Thus, only the label has been changed but the poison remains the same. While true Christians can clearly see the idolatrous nature of these rituals, Muslims are blind to this abomination. Consider now the following evidences:

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 23:

Narrated By 'Asim bin Sulaiman: I asked Anas bin Malik about Safa and Marwa (i.e. two mountains at Mecca). Anas replied, "We used to consider (i.e. going around) them a custom of the Pre-Islamic period of Ignorance, so when Islam came, we gave up going around them. Then Allah revealed, 'Verily, Safa and Marwa (i.e. two mountains at Mecca) are among the Symbols of Allah. So it is not harmful of those who perform the Hajj of the House (of Allah) or perform the Umra to ambulate (Tawaf) between them.'" (Sura 2:158)

Provided below is the full Qur'anic verse that is referred to in the above Hadith.

Surah 2:158: "Lo! (The mountains) As-Safa and Al-Marwah are among the indications of Allah. It is therefore no sin for him who is on pilgrimage to the House (of Allah) or visiteth it, to go around them (as the pagan custom is)." (Pickthall)

Is it not strange that the very mountains which were once sacred to the pagans to suddenly become the "Symbols of Allah" only after the Muslim conquest of Mecca? Why were they not the "Symbols of Allah" before that? Furthermore, why is it that the same pagan ritual of running around these two hills is also retained in Islam? It is vital to note that the idolatrous significance of these hills was so evident to the early Muslims that they were reluctant to run around them in imitation of the pagans. Consequently, Allah had to inspire the above Qur'anic verse to sanction this pagan practice and reassure the Muslims that it is fine to continue on with this pagan ritual. Also, why was the pagan ritual of circumambulating the Ka'ba also retained in Islam? No matter how hard Muslims try to justify these rituals, it does not change the fact that these rituals originated in paganism.

The symbolic stoning of Satan is another ritual which Muslims observe during the hajj. During this ritual, a Muslim gathers seven pebbles and throws them at a stone pillar that signifies his defiance of the Devil. One cannot help but be amazed at this act of immense stupidity. Muslims reverentially kiss a stone as a sacred act of devotion to Allah while stoning another stone as a representation of the Devil. This is Islam for you. Thus, it is absolutely certain that Islam is steeped in idolatry. The proof is everywhere and it is overwhelming. This gives us a legitimate reason to reject Islam.

Centuries before the arrival of Islam, Jehovah God lovingly warned the Israelites of a subtle entrapment of Satan which Islam failed to escape. The Holy Bible strongly warned:

Leviticus 26:1: "Do not make for yourselves worthless idols. You must not erect for yourselves a carved statue or a sacred pillar and you must not put a stone as a sacred showpiece in your land to bow down toward it. I am Jehovah your God."

Can any warning be clearer than this? Either it is acceptable to bow down towards a stone or it is not. Both cannot be true. This is serious because it demonstrates that either Allah or Jehovah is the true God. The eternal salvation of every single Muslim lies in the hands of only one of them. Think very carefully! Would a Holy God persuade his worshippers to continue in the idolatrous rituals of the pagans?

It is commonly taught that Judaism, Christianity and Islam are the three great monotheistic religions in existence today. And many a time it is implied that the adherents of these three religions pray to the same God. Nothing could be further from the truth. Islam is heathenism in monotheistic form. There is no place, whatsoever, for any form of idolatry in Christianity:

> 1 John 5:21: "Guard yourselves from idols."

And idolaters have no place in God's Kingdom:

> Galatians 5:19-21: Now the works of the flesh are plainly seen, and they are sexual immorality, uncleanness, brazen conduct, idolatry*, spiritism, hostility, strife, jealousy, fits of anger, dissensions, divisions, sects, envy, drunkenness, wild parties, and things like these. I am forewarning you about these things, the same way I already warned you,* that those who practice such things will not inherit God's Kingdom.

All Muslims are idolaters. They commit idolatry whenever they bow down in prayer towards the Ka'ba or when they reverentially kiss the Black Stone. If members of another religion were to carry out these very same practices, Muslims would have no trouble identifying them as idolatry. Their hypocrisy is blinding them from seeing the truth. However, there is still hope for those Muslims who reject Islam and turn to the living God for their salvation.

Isaiah* 55:6: Search for Jehovah while he may be found. Call to him while he is near.

Original Sin & Islam

To win converts, Muslims often claim that Islam and Christianity share many similar values and teachings. Nothing could be further from the truth. Among the many conflicting teachings between Islam and Christianity is the doctrine of Original Sin. While the doctrine of Original Sin is central to the teachings of Christianity, it is rejected in Islam. But what is Original Sin according to the Bible?

The Bible teaches that the creation of man was the crowning glory of God's earthly creative works. The first man and woman were created perfect. As a perfect Creator, it is impossible for the true God to create them any other way:

Ecclesiastes 7:29: "The true God made mankind upright."

Adam and Eve were not only created perfect but also in the image of God. This means that they were created with the ability to reflect the divine attributes of God such as wisdom, justice, and love. Confirming this truth, the Bible states:

Genesis 1:27: And God went on to create the man in his image, in God's image he created him*; male and female he created them.*

As perfect creations of God, Adam and Eve were created with the prospect to live forever. Although they had the prospect of living forever, they were not immortal. Their prospect of living forever depended on their obedience to their Life-Giver. And God made this clear to them:

Genesis 2:16-17: "From every tree of the garden you may eat to satisfaction. But as for the tree of the knowledge of good and bad, you must not eat from it, for in the day you eat from it you will certainly die."

Tragically, Adam and Eve rebelled against God by eating from the forbidden tree. As a result, they lost their prospect of living forever. Sadly, they sinned even before conceiving any offspring. Although the effects of sin began immediately and the death penalty was passed on them, God loving allowed sufficient time for Adam and Eve to bring forth children into the world so as to populate the earth. Eventually Adam and Eve died from the effects of sin just as God warned them.

The term Original Sin refers to the sin of Adam in the Garden of Eden and its effects on the human race. Original Sin is the sin that mankind inherited from Adam. God by definition is Holy. The doctrine of Original Sin proves that God did not create mankind with an inherent tendency to sin, but that our nature became sinful due to the sin we inherited from our first parents. To deny Original Sin is to deny the holiness of God. No other religion has ever explained the entrance of sin into the world of mankind as clearly as the Bible does.

The term, Original Sin is synonymous with Adamic Sin. It is the cause of mankind's hereditary imperfection leading to sin and death. Adamic Sin resulted in Adamic Death – the death that we inherited from Adam. This is what the Bible means when it uses the term Original Sin. The concept of Original Sin is summarized perfectly in the following verse:

Romans 5:12: "That is why, just as through one man sin entered into the world and death through sin*, and death spread to all men because they had all sinned.*

Adam was that "one man" through whom sin and death "entered into the world." As his offspring, we inherited imperfection from him. Since Adam became imperfect, it is logically impossible for him to produce perfect children. The Bible verifies this undeniable truth:

Job 14:4: Who can produce someone clean from someone unclean? No one can!

The doctrine of Original Sin focuses particularly on the fallen nature of the descendants of Adam. It is the tragic reality of mankind's inherent tendency to sin. The truth that everyone is born a sinner and will manifest that sinfulness in his or her life is a Christian doctrine that is easily verifiable. It is an undeniable fact that everyone sins:

Romans 3:23: For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God.

And it is an undeniable fact that everyone dies:

Romans 5:14: And death ruled as king from Adam down to Moses, even over those who had not sinned in the same way that Adam transgressed.

Even though Islam acknowledges that Adam sinned against God, it nonetheless teaches that his sin has no consequences whatsoever on the human race. According to Islam, everyone is born sinless. We now have two opposing views. And two opposing views cannot be equally true. Our eternal salvation depends very much on knowing which of these two teachings conform to the divine standard of God's righteousness. Is it Christianity or Islam? To determine the truth, we will now analyze the teachings of Islam regarding the fall of man. It is significant to note that while the Quran denies the concept of Original Sin, there are enough evidences in it to prove otherwise. Please read this article carefully.

According to the Quran, Adam and Eve were created in a heavenly Garden. And they were warned not to eat or to approach the forbidden tree:

Surah 7:19: And We said: O Adam! Dwell you and your wife in the garden; so eat from where you desire, but do not go near this tree, for then you will be of the unjust. (Shakir)

However, Satan caused them to sin:

Surah 7:20-22: But the Shaitan made an evil suggestion to them that he might make manifest to them what had been hidden from them of their evil inclinations, and he said: Your Lord has not forbidden you this tree except that you may not both become two angels or that you may not become of the immortals. And he swore to them both: Most surely I am a sincere adviser to you. Then he caused them to fall by deceit; so when they tasted of the tree, their evil inclinations became manifest to them*, and they both began to cover themselves with the leaves of the garden; and their Lord called out to them: Did I not forbid you both from that tree and say to you that the Shaitan is your open enemy? (Shakir)*

After Adam and Eve disobeyed by eating from the forbidden tree, they begged Allah for forgiveness:

Surah 7:23: They said: Our Lord! We have been unjust to ourselves, and if Thou forgive us not, and have not mercy on us, we shall certainly be of the losers. (Shakir)

Did Allah forgive them? The answer can be found in another passage in the Quran:

Surah 20:122-123: Then his Lord chose him, and turned to him with forgiveness*, and gave him guidance. (Allah) said: "Get you down from the Paradise to the earth, both of you, together, some of you are an enemy to some others." (Hilali-Khan)*

The above Quranic verses testify that even though Allah forgave Adam and Eve, they were still expelled from the Garden. This is also confirmed in another account in the Quran:

Surah 2:37-38: Then Adam received from his Lord Words. And his Lord pardoned him (accepted his repentance*). Verily, He is the One Who forgives (accepts repentance), the Most Merciful. We said: "*Get down all of you from this place (the Paradise), then whenever there comes to you Guidance from Me, and whoever follows My Guidance, there shall be no fear on them, nor shall they grieve." (Hilali-Khan)

The Quran clearly teaches that Adam and Eve were cast down to the earth from the heavenly Paradise only after they disobeyed Allah:

Surah 2:36: But Satan deceived them – leading to their fall from the blissful state they were in, and We said: "Descend from the heavens to the earth as enemies to each other. You will find in the earth a residence and provision for your appointed stay." (The Clear Quran)

Since the Quran claims that Allah forgave Adam and Eve, the doctrine of Original Sin makes no sense in Islam. Therefore, instead of Original Sin, Muslims believe in Original Forgiveness. As a result, Muslims not only deny the doctrine of Original Sin but they also reject the redeeming value of Christ's ransom sacrifice. When Islam rejects the doctrine of Original Sin, it is essentially saying that the sin of Adam has no consequence whatsoever on his descendants. Is this true? You will be surprised to discover the amount of absurdities and contradictions surrounding this issue in the Quran. We will deal with this issue systematically. Let's begin.

THE ERRORS OF ISLAM

While the Bible clearly teaches that God created Adam on earth, the Quran contradicts this clear teaching by claiming that Adam was created in a heavenly Paradise. Which one of these two accounts is true? For the answer we need to look no further than the Quran itself. When recounting the creation of Adam, the Quran reveals the exact location where Allah intends to create him:

Surah 2:30: Behold, thy Lord said to the angels: "I will create a vicegerent on earth." (Yusuf Ali)

This Quranic verse confirms that Adam was created on earth. For this verse to be true, Adam must be created on earth and nowhere else. It does not say that Allah will create Adam in heaven but with the intention of later placing him on earth. Muslims deceitfully fabricate this claim to cover an obvious contradiction in the Quran. Surah 2:30 clearly contradicts Surah 2:36 which states that Adam and Eve were cast down to the earth after they sinned against Allah.

The only way Muslims can reconcile this contradiction is to accept the fact that the fall of Adam does not mean a fall from heaven but a fall from the state of perfection as the Bible correctly teaches. In harmony with this truth, Surah 2:30 clearly testifies that Adam was created not in heaven but on earth. These evidences verify the doctrine of Original Sin. They prove that after his fall from perfection, Adam passed on imperfection to his descendants. And imperfection led to sin and death. Either Muslims accept the doctrine of Original Sin as true or they have to recognize the fact that there are serious contradictions in the Quran.

Moreover, the Quran also acknowledges that mankind was produced from the earth:

Surah 71:17: How God has produced you from the earth and caused you to grow. (W. Khan)

Do we need to say more? We will now consider another serious error in the Quran. After the creation of Adam, Allah commanded the angels to bow down to Adam. In obedience, they all bowed down to Adam with the exception of Satan. As you read these Quranic verses, please take careful note of the chronological order of the events:

Surah 7:11-12: Surely We created you, then shaped you, then We said to the angels: "Prostrate before Adam." So they all did but not Satan who refused to prostrate with the others. Allah asked, "What prevented you from prostrating when I commanded you?" Satan replied, "I am better than he is. You created me from fire and created him from clay." (The Clear Quran)

As a result of his disobedience, Allah banished Satan from the heavenly Paradise:

Surah 7:13: *Allah said, "*Then get down from Paradise! It is not for you to be arrogant here. So get out! You are truly one of the disgraced." (The Clear Quran)
*He said, "*Descend from Heaven. It is not for you to be arrogant in it. So get out! You are one of the abased." (A. Bewley)

After expelling Satan, Allah commanded Adam and Eve to dwell in Paradise:

Surah 7:18-19: *Allah said, "Get out of Paradise! You are disgraced and rejected! I will certainly fill up Hell with you and your followers all together." Allah said, "O Adam!* Live with your wife in Paradise and eat from wherever you please but do not approach this tree, or else you be wrongdoers." (The Clear Quran)

In the next verse, the Quran reveals what happened subsequently:

Surah 7:20: Then Satan tempted them in order to expose what was hidden of their nakedness. He said, "Your Lord has forbidden this tree to you only to you from becoming angels or immortals." (The Clear Quran)

Think! How is it possible for Satan who was banished from the heavenly Paradise to regain entry into heaven to tempt Adam and Eve? Does it not make more sense to believe that Adam and Eve must have been dwelling here on earth all along and not in heaven as the Quran teaches? If Muslims refuse to accept this basic truth as taught in the Bible, then they must accept the fact that Satan is far more powerful than Allah. They must accept the fact that Satan defied the banishment order of Allah and sneaked back into heaven to tempt Adam and Eve. And Allah could nothing about it. Are Muslims willing to accept this?

The account in the Bible which teaches that Adam and Eve were created here on earth is far more trustworthy than the wishy-washy stories in the Quran. When Islam denies the doctrine of Original Sin, it runs into numerous difficulties. We will now examine some of these difficulties in the Quran. On the one hand, the Quran acknowledges that man was created perfect:

Surah 32:7: Who has made perfect everything He has created. And He began the creation of man from clay. (Sherali)

Surah 95:4: We have created the human being in the best form. (Sarwar)

The above Quranic verses harmonize perfectly with the teachings of the Bible. And the Hadith also verifies that Adam was a perfect creation of God. It clearly states that Adam was created in God's image. It would defy logic for Islam to claim that Adam was created in God's image if he was created imperfectly in any way.

Sahih Muslim, Book 40, Hadith 6809:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger as saying: Allah, the Exalted and Glorious, created Adam in His own image.

Confirming this fact regarding the perfection of all his creative works, Allah asks a significant question:

Surah 67:3: You do not see any imperfection in the creation by the Almighty. Keep looking; do you see any flaw*? (Monotheist Group)*

The Quran challenges us to find "any imperfection or flaw in the creation by the Almighty." In other words, all the creative works of Allah are perfect. And this essentially applies to the creation of man since Allah even commanded the angels to bow down to Adam proving that the creation of man ranks high among his creative works. However, Allah contradicts himself yet once again. In complete reversal with his own teachings in the Quran, Allah claims that humans are created weak by nature:

Surah 4:28: Allah wishes to lighten your burdens light for you because humans have been created weak by nature. (Farook Malik)

It is vital to note that the above Quranic verse does not say that humans became weak by nature but that they were created weak by nature. Did not Allah claim in Surah 67:3 that there are no imperfections or flaws in his creative works? Is it not absurd for Allah to claim that humans were created perfect but with an inherent weakness in their nature? Is this not an instant contradiction? In the twinkling of an eye, Allah contradicts himself in the Quran. He contradicts his claim from "perfect creation" to "weak creation." Are humans created perfect or are they created weak? Thus, Allah not only contradicts the teachings of the Bible but also his very own teachings in the Quran. This proves that Allah cannot be trusted. But more importantly it proves that Allah cannot be the true Creator.

When Islam rejects the doctrine of Original Sin it has to blasphemously claim that the perfect Creator of the Universe created man with an inherent weakness in his nature. Would the true God create man as such? As we can see, the Quran both agrees and disagrees with the Bible on this single issue regarding the perfection of God's creative works. This means that the Quran is clearly in error in at least one instance. Can the Quran then be trusted?

The Quran is clearly in error when it denies the doctrine of Original Sin. The doctrine of Original Sin is a far more plausible explanation for the sinful nature of mankind than the blasphemous claim in the Quran. The Bible clearly teaches that Adam was a perfect creation of God but who lost his perfection by sinning against his Creator. And just as children inherit the hereditary diseases of their parents, we inherited sin and death from Adam. In other words, we all became sinners deserving of death:

Romans 5:12: "That is why, just as through one man sin entered into the world and death through sin, and death spread to all men because they had all sinned.

And the Quran unwittingly agrees. It testifies that the entire world of mankind is deserving of death:

Surah 16:61: If Allah were to punish men for their wrong-doing He would not leave upon the earth a single living creature. (H. S. Aziz)

This proves that no offspring of Adam is free from sin. All these evidences validate the doctrine of Original Sin as true. If Muslims fail to accept this, then they have to blame Allah for the sinful nature of mankind. Since Allah created man *"*weak by nature," he must be held accountable for the sinful condition of the human race. When Muslims refuse to blame Adam, they have no choice but to blame Allah. Let's analyze this matter further. Is the claim of the Muslims that we are not affected by the sin of Adam really true? We will let Islam answer this vital question. We will now reveal how Islam itself proves the Muslims wrong.

Sahih Muslim, Book 1, Hadith 380:

It is narrated on the authority of Abu Huraira and Hudhaifa that the Messenger of Allah said: Allah, the Blessed and Exalted, would gather people. The believers would stand till the Paradise would be brought near them. They would come to Adam and say: O our father, open for us the Paradise. He would say: What turned you out from the Paradise was the sin of your father Adam. I am not in a position to do that.

Adam was not qualified to lead the believers into Paradise. Why? Islam itself testifies that this is because it was the sin of Adam that caused mankind to be cast out of Paradise in the first place. Thus, the deprivation of Paradise for the entire human race was the result of Adam's Original Sin. Hence, Islam itself acknowledges that Adam's sin did have damaging consequences on his offspring. Consider now another damaging evidence against Islam.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 262:

Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet said, "Moses argued with Adam and said to him (Adam), 'You are the one who got the people out of Paradise by your sin, and thus made them miserable.' Adam replied, 'O Moses! You are the one whom Allah selected for His Message and for His direct talk. Yet you blame me for a thing which Allah had ordained for me before He created me?'" Allah's Apostle further said, "So Adam overcame Moses by this Argument."

Moses blamed Adam for the expulsion of mankind from Paradise and the subsequent misery he caused the human race. However, Adam countered by saying that it was Allah who ordained him to commit this sinful act in Paradise. Moses is highly honored as an outstanding Prophet of God in Islam. The Quran testifies that among all the Messengers, the one to whom God spoke directly was Moses:

Surah 4:164: Messengers we have told you about, and messengers we never told you about. And God spoke to Moses directly. (Rashad)

The fact that this great Prophet of God believed in Original Sin should trouble sincere Muslims. According to Moses, Adam's sin did have dire consequences on mankind. Since this proves that the doctrine of Original Sin is authentic as the Bible teaches, Muslims reject the testimony of Moses. However, it only gets worse. Their rejection of the testimony of Moses in favor of Adam's is far more damaging for Islam than the Muslims realize. As we have noted, Adam blamed Allah for the cause of his sinful act. And shockingly, the Quran agrees with Adam. In the following Quranic verse, Allah declares:

Surah 54:49: Indeed, all things We created with predestination. (Sahih International)

Since it was Allah who predestined Adam to sin by eating from the forbidden tree, Allah is clearly the cause of Adam's sin. And since Allah is the originator of that sin, can his forgiveness of Adam be legitimate as the Quran claims? Does his forgiveness of Adam make any real sense to you? This proves that the forgiveness of Allah is nothing but a deception. It is a mockery! We should not be surprised at this deceitful characteristic of Allah. In fact, the Quran itself admits that Allah is a deceiver:

Surah 3:54: "And they cheated/deceived and Allah cheated/deceived, and Allah is the best of the cheaters/deceivers." (M. A. Samira – Literal Translation from Arabic)

In contrast, the Bible clearly teaches that God created us as free moral agents with the freedom to choose our own destiny. Jehovah lovingly stated the following:

Deuteronomy 30:19: "I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the curse. You must choose life so that you may live."

Yes! We have the freedom to determine our own salvation. In harmony with the principle of divine justice, Jehovah grants us the freedom to choose. We would like to ask the Muslims the following essential questions:

(1) If Allah's original purpose is for mankind to dwell in the heavenly Paradise, then why are we not in Paradise today? Is it not because of Adam's original sin? Does this not prove that we are suffering the consequences of Adam's original sin? If the original sin of Adam did not affect us, then what are we doing here on earth?

(2) Since the Quran claims that Adam and Eve were forgiven even before their expulsion, why did not Allah then allow them to continue dwelling in Paradise? Since they were both expelled from Paradise, how can the Quran then claim that they were forgiven? Can there be true forgiveness when the punishment was still enforced upon them?

(3) How can there be Original Forgiveness as Muslims claim if there is no Original Sin to forgive in the first place?

(4) Since Allah predestined the sinful act of Adam, who really introduced sin into the world of mankind? Was it Adam or was it Allah?

It is time to call their bluff. Muslims insist that we are not affected by the sinful act of Adam and Eve. Either we are affected or we are not. Muslims cannot have it both ways. We will now look at two of the most authentic Hadiths in the Muslim world.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 55, Number 611:

Narrated Abu Hurairah: The Prophet said, "Were it not for Bani Israel, meat would not decay; and were it not for Eve, no women would ever betray their husbands."

Sahih Muslim, Book 8, Hadith 3471:

Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported Allah's Messenger as saying: Had it not been for Eve, woman would have never acted unfaithfully towards her husband.

Al-Nawawi (1233 C.E.–1277C.E.) was a great Muslim scholar and interpreter of the Sunnah (Words and Deeds) of the Prophet of Islam. He studied under the tutorage of more than twenty celebrated Muslim scholars who were masters and authorities on the subject of Hadith and Islamic Jurisprudence. To clarify the true meaning of the above Hadiths, Al-Nawawi based his exegesis on the Tafseer of Al-Qadhi. Al-Qadhi was a renowned Muslim scholar who lived during the time of Muhammad:

"Had it not been for Hawaa' (Eve), women would never betray their husbands." Al-Qadhi said: "The meaning of this Hadith is that she was the mother of the daughters of Adam; so they resembled her, and they INHERITED from her what happened to her in the account of the tree with Iblees (Satan) – he seduced her into eating from the tree and lured her, so she told Adam about the tree and, as a result, he ate from it." Emphasis ours. (Source: Islamweb.com)

Sounds pretty much like Original Sin, does it not? Provided below is another Tafseer by a renowned Muslim scholar. He is one among the many who acknowledges the destructive consequence of Adam's sin on his offspring. In his exegesis on Surah 7:172, he stated the following.

Tafseer Ibn Kathir on Surah 7:172:

*Commenting on this Ayah (7:172), At-Tirmidhi recorded that Abu Hurayrah said that the Messenger of Allah said: ". . . so Adam denied and his offspring followed suit denying Allah's covenant, Adam forgot and his offspring forgot, Adam made a mistake and his offspring made mistakes."

At-Tirmidhi said: "This Hadith is Hasan Sahih (Authentic), and it was reported from various chains of narration through Abu Hurayrah from the Prophet." (Tafseer Ibn Kathir, Surat Al-A'raf to the end of Surah Yunus, Volume 4, pp. 201-203)

Both the Hadiths and the Tafseers confirm the consequence of Original Sin on mankind. The great scholars of Islam recognize the fact that sin can be inherited. However, Muslim apologists deliberately conceal this truth since they know the dilemma this will cause to their religion. The admission that sin can be inherited clearly proves that we are all born in sin because of the sin we inherited from Adam. Centuries before the arrival of the Quran, the psalmist David wrote under inspiration:

Psalms 51:5: Look! I was born guilty of sin. And my mother conceived me in sin.

The sources of Islam themselves prove that the teachings of Islam are replete with contradictions. Let's consider another irrefutable contradiction in Islam. The Muslim rejection of the doctrine of Original Sin is based on the following Quranic verse:

Surah 6:164: Each one is personally responsible for every sin he commits. No one shall bear the burden of sin for anyone else. (Munir Munshey)

It is absolutely true that no one is accountable for the sins of someone else. The Bible is in complete agreement with this fact. And this is exactly what God testifies in the following verse:

Ezekiel 18:20: "A son will bear no guilt because of the error of his father, and a father will bear no guilt because of the error of his son."

In other words, no one is accountable for the sins of another. However, Islam fails to recognize the difference between consequence and accountability. Islam confuses these two different issues and views them as one and the same. There is a vast difference between suffering the consequence of Adam's sin and bearing accountability for his sin. To understand the difference between consequence and accountability, consider the following examples. While it is true that children who are born to an abusive father are not accountable for his actions, they will nonetheless suffer the consequence of his actions. The same can be said of the citizens who live under the reign of a tyrant. While they are not accountable for his actions, they will nonetheless suffer the consequence of his wicked rulership.

Similarly, while we are not accountable for the sin which Adam committed in the Garden of Eden, we nonetheless suffer the inevitable consequence of his sin. Of course, we are accountable for the sins that we personally commit in violation of God's law. There is a difference between Original Sin and the sin we commit by choice. We are not finished with Islam yet. Truth is absolute. Lacking truth, Islam contradicts itself time and again. Islam teaches that on Judgment Day, Allah will enforce the Jews and the Christians to bear the sins of the Muslims. And Allah will ransom the Muslims from punishment by imposing their sins on the Jews and the Christians. Is this not a contradiction of Surah 6:164 which clearly states: "No one shall bear the burden of sin for anyone else." Let us look at the evidences.

110 Ahadith Qudsi, (Sacred Hadith) pp. 19-20:

Superiority of the believers in the Oneness of Allah and the punishment of Jews and Christians

Narrated Abu Musa: Allah's Messenger said: On the Day of Resurrection, my Ummah (nation) will be gathered into three groups. One sort will enter Paradise without rendering an account (of their deeds). Another sort will be reckoned an easy account and admitted into Paradise. Yet another sort will come bearing on their backs heaps of sins like great mountains. Allah will ask the angels though He knows best about them: Who are these people? They will reply: They are humble slaves of yours. He will say: Unload the sins from them and put the same over the Jews and Christians; then let the humble slaves get into Paradise by virtue of My Mercy. This Hadith is Sahih (Authentic) and is mentioned in Mustadrak of Hakim. (Translated from Arabic by Syed Masood-ul-Hasan, Saudi Arabia)

The following Hadith reveals that Allah will rescue the Muslims from Hell-Fire by substituting them with the Jews and the Christians. Allah will enforce the Jews and the Christians to take their place in Hell-Fire. In other words, Allah will punish the Jews and the Christians for the sins of the Muslims.

Sahih Muslim, Book 37, Hadith 6665:

Chapter: Throwing of non-believers in hell-fire for believers as Divine Grace and Mercy.

Abu Musa' reported that Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) said: When it will be the Day of Resurrection Allah would deliver to every Muslim a Jew or a Christian and say: That is your rescue from Hell-Fire.

And Allah will ransom the Muslims from death by sacrificing the Jews and the Christians to take their place of punishment in Hell-Fire.

Sahih Muslim, Book 37, Hadith 6666:

Abu Burda reported on the authority of his father that Allah's Apostle (may peace be upon him) said: No Muslim would die but Allah would admit in his stead a Jew or a Christian in Hell-Fire.

No matter how great the sins of the Muslims are, Allah will forgive them by transferring their sins onto the Jews and the Christians.

Sahih Muslim, Book 37, Hadith 6668:

Abu Burda reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: There would come people amongst the Muslims on the Day of Resurrection with as heavy sins as a mountain, and Allah would forgive them and He would place in their stead the Jews and the Christians.

These teachings are absolutely damaging. Is it not ironical that while Islam rejects the ransom sacrifice of Jesus, it has no objection whatsoever in accepting the ransom of ordinary Jews and Christians to redeem the Muslims from sin and death? If the ransom sacrifice of Jesus is a mockery of justice as Muslims claim, then why could not Allah simply forgive the Muslims without imposing their sins upon the Jews and the Christians? How is it now possible for someone to bear the sins of another? What happened to the boastful claim of the Muslims that Allah could simply forgive without requiring anything in return?

Muslims who challenge the doctrine of Original Sin fail to realize that their own Islamic sources teach that the reason why women are unfaithful to their husbands is because of the sin they inherited from Eve. And in contradiction with its own doctrines, Islam teaches that the Jews and the Christians will bear the sins of the Muslims on Judgment Day. As a Muslim, are you not troubled by all these contradictions in your religion? As such, do you think Islam can guide you to salvation? We will let the Quran answer this vital question for you:

Surah 4:82: Will they not ponder on the Quran? Had it not come from someone other than God, they would have certainly found therein many contradictions. (Muhammad Sarwar)

The Quran just passed the verdict of guilt not only on itself but also on Islam. The above Quranic verse testifies that the teachings which originate from God will be free from contradictions. We could not agree more. However, since there are so "many contradictions" in the teachings of Islam, can these teachings originate from the true God? Can they truly guide Muslims to salvation? If you are a Muslim, your salvation depends very much on the decision you make now. We have presented all these evidences because we care for you. There is still hope if you turn to the true and living God.

Isaiah 12:2: Behold! God is my salvation. I will trust and not be afraid. For Jehovah, even Jehovah is my strength and my might, and he became my salvation."

Salvation belongs to Jehovah. With all these contradictory teachings in Islam, it will be wise for Muslims to first deal with these contradictions before challenging the doctrine of Original Sin. It will be a tragedy for Muslims to reject the only solution that God has provided for the liberation of mankind from the damaging effects of Original Sin. God sent Jesus Christ to undo the damaging effects of Original Sin. It will be wise for Muslims to recognize the redeeming value of the ransom sacrifice of Jesus Christ:

John 3:36: The one who exercises faith in the Son has everlasting life. The one who disobeys the Son will not see life, but the wrath of God remains upon him.

Messenger of Allah, we kill the children of the polytheists during the night raids.
He said: They are from them.

Chapter 2: The ruling regarding one who reviles the prophet Narrated Abdullah Ibn Abbas:
A blind man had a slave-mother who used to abuse the Prophet (ﷺ) and disparage him. He forbade her but she did not stop. He rebuked her but she did not give up her habit. One night she began to slander the Prophet (ﷺ) and abuse him. So he took a dagger, placed it on her belly, pressed it, and killed her. A child who came between her legs was smeared with the blood that was there. When the morning came, the Prophet (ﷺ) was informed about it.

He assembled the people and said: I adjure by Allah the man who has done this action and I adjure him by my right to him that he should stand up. Jumping over the necks of the people and trembling the man stood up.

He sat before the Prophet (ﷺ) and said: Messenger of Allah! I am her master; she used to abuse you and disparage you. I forbade her, but she did not stop, and I rebuked her, but she did not abandon her habit. I have two sons like pearls from her, and she was my companion. Last night she began to abuse and disparage you. So I took a dagger, put it on her belly and pressed it till I killed her.

Thereupon the Prophet (ﷺ) said: Oh be witness, no retaliation is payable for her blood.

The Story of Asma bint Marwan:

The story of Asma bint Marwan highlights the political and social tensions in Medina during the early years of Islam. It has been documented in early Islamic sources, such as Ibn Sa'd's Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, translated by S. Moinul Haq (Volume 2, Pages 30-31) and Sirat Rasul Allah (A. Guilaume's translation "The Life of Muhammad") pages 675, 676. This narrative provides insight into how dissent and criticism were addressed in a nascent Islamic state under the leadership of Prophet Muhammad.

■Background: Muhammad in Medina

After Prophet Muhammad's migration to Medina in 622 CE, his leadership and influence expanded, uniting diverse tribes under a new religious and political framework. However, not all inhabitants welcomed his arrival or supported his actions. Among the critics was Asma bint Marwan, a poetess from the Banu Umayyah Ibn Zayd tribe. She was married to Yazid Ibn Zayd Ibn Hisn al-Khatmi and was known for her vocal opposition to Muhammad and Islam, which she expressed through poetry.

In pre-Islamic Arabia, poets wielded significant influence, using their verses to critique leaders, mobilize people, and shape public opinion. Asma's poetry openly reviled Islam, and encouraged resistance against his leadership.

■The Sariyyah of Umair ibn Adi

As recorded in Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, during Ramadan, in the nineteenth month after the Hijrah, Prophet Muhammad reportedly expressed his frustration with Asma's criticism and incitement. He asked, “Who will rid me of Marwan’s daughter?” Umair ibn Adi al-Khatmi, a companion of Muhammad, volunteered for the task.

Umair, described in the source as a blind man, carried out the mission at night. Entering Asma's house, he found her sleeping, surrounded by her children, including an infant she was nursing. Feeling his way, Umair located Asma, separated the infant from her, and killed her by driving a sword through her chest which went through back.

The next morning, Umair joined the Prophet for prayer in the mosque. Muhammad inquired, “Have you slain the daughter of Marwan?” Umair confirmed, asking if further actions were required. Muhammad reassured him, saying, “No. Two goats will not butt their heads about her.” This statement, according to Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, signified that the act was inconsequential in the larger scheme of things. The Prophet then referred to Umair as "al-Basir" (the seeing), praising his loyalty.

■Reactions and Aftermath

The killing of Asma bint Marwan sent shockwaves through her tribe, Banu Khatma. They lamented the loss and criticized Muhammad’s directive. However, faced with the threat of further violence, they decided to convert to Islam, declaring allegiance to Muhammad. This episode underscores the intersection of politics, religion, and tribal loyalty during this period.

■Historical References

This account is documented in Ibn Sa'd's Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, an early Islamic biographical work. The text provides the following details:

> "SARIYYAH OF `UMAYR IBN `ADI

> Then (occurred) the sariyyah of `Umayr ibn `Adi Ibn Kharashah al-Khatmi against `Asma' Bint Marwan, of Banu Umayyah Ibn Zayd, when five nights had remained from the month of Ramadan, in the beginning of the nineteenth month from the hijrah of the apostle of Allah. `Asma' was the wife of Yazid Ibn Zayd Ibn Hisn al-Khatmi. She used to revile Islam, offend the prophet and instigate the (people) against him. She composed verses. Umayr Ibn Adi came to her in the night and entered her house. Her children were sleeping around her. There was one whom she was suckling. He searched her with his hand because he was blind, and separated the child from her. He thrust his sword in her chest till it pierced up to her back. Then he offered the morning prayers with the prophet at al-Medina. The apostle of Allah said to him: "Have you slain the daughter of Marwan?" He said: "Yes. Is there something more for me to do?" He [Muhammad] said: "No. Two goats will butt together about her. This was the word that was first heard from the apostle of Allah. The apostle of Allah called him `Umayr, "basir" (the seeing).'"

Muhammad was reportedly angered upon hearing Asma's verses. According to the historical text, he addressed his companions, saying:
“Who will rid me of Marwan’s daughter?”

Umair ibn Adi, a companion of Muhammad, volunteered:
“I will do it, Rasulullah.”

■The Morning Conversation

The following morning, Umair reported to Muhammad in the mosque. Their exchange, as recorded in Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir, unfolded as follows:

- Muhammad: “Have you slain the daughter of Marwan?”
- Umair: “Yes.”
- Muhammad: “You’ve helped Allah and his apostle, O Umayr”
- Umair: “Will there be any evil consequences for what I’ve done?”
- Muhammad: “No. Two goats will not butt their heads about her.”

Goats like two butt heads for any trivial reason. But according to Prophet Muhammad the murder of Asthma was so insignificant that even goats would not bother to but their heads for that matter.

The people of Banu Khatma, the tribe of Umair ibn Adi in Medina, were deeply unsettled by the murder of Asma bint Marwan. Whispers spread among them, accusing the Muslim, Umair ibn Adi, of carrying out the killing on Muhammad's orders. Shocked and horrified, they decried the act, calling it barbaric.

Umair, undeterred by their outcry, boldly confronted his tribe. Standing before them, he declared, "Yes, I have killed bint Marwan. O people of Khatma, go ahead —fight me if you dare!"

The tribe, fearful of retaliation and overwhelmed by the strength of Muhammad's followers, decided to submit. That very day, they embraced Islam, reciting the testimony of faith: "There is no god but Allah, and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah."

Despite their conversion, murmurs of grief and discontent lingered. "But where is the justice for our mother and for us?" some questioned, their sorrow for Asma's loss unassuaged.

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "I have been sent with the shortest expressions bearing the widest meanings, and I have been made victorious with awe (cast in the hearts of the enemy), and while I was sleeping, the keys of the treasures of the world were brought to me and put in my hand." Abu Huraira added: Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) has left the world and now you, people, are bringing out those treasures (i.e. the Prophet (ﷺ) did not benefit by them).

■Chapter: The Offspring Of Polytheists (1694)

'Amir reported the Messenger of Allah (May peace be upon him) as saying:

> "The woman who buries alive her newborn girl and the girl who is buried alive both will go to Hell."

This tradition has also been transmitted by Ibn Mas'ud from the Prophet (May peace be upon him) to the same effect through a different chain of narrators.

'A'isha, the mother of the believers, said that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) was called to lead the funeral prayer of a child of the Ansar. I said:

> "Allah's Messenger, there is happiness for this child who is a bird from the birds of Paradise, for it committed no sin nor has he reached the age when one can commit sin."

He said:

> "'A'isha, per adventure, it may be otherwise, because God created for Paradise those who are fit for it while they were yet in their father's loins and created for Hell those who are to go to Hell. He created them for Hell while they were yet in their father's loins."

■(6) Chapter: The reference to angels

Narrated 'Abdullah bin Mus'ud:

Allah’s Messenger (ﷺ), the true and truly inspired, said:

> "The matter of the Creation of a human being is put together in the womb of the mother in forty days, and then he becomes a clot of thick blood for a similar period, and then a piece of flesh for a similar period. Then Allah sends an angel who is ordered to write four things. He is ordered to write down his (i.e. the new creature’s) deeds, his livelihood, his (date of) death, and whether he will be blessed or wretched (in religion). Then the soul is breathed into him. So, a man amongst you may do (good deeds till there is only a cubit between him and Paradise and then) what has been written for him decides his behavior and he starts doing (evil) deeds characteristic of the people of (Hell) Fire. And similarly, a man amongst you may do (evil) deeds till there is only a cubit between him and the (Hell) Fire, and then what has been written for him decides his behavior, and he starts doing deeds characteristic of the people of Paradise."

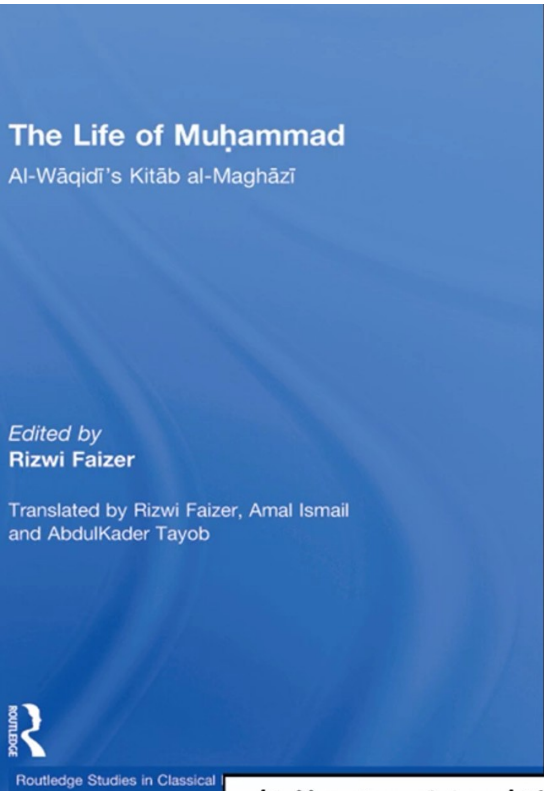
Umm Qirfa (Fatima bint Rabia bin Bader Al Fazarri) was a 90 year old woman and she was the leader of her tribe Banu Fazara. She was well respected by other tribes' leaders. She had more that fifty swords given by other tribes leaders, and those swords hung in her house. She had twelve sons and a beautiful daughter.

Unfortunately, Mohammad’s followers attacked her tribe by hiding through the day and creeping during the night. Umm Qirfa and her gorgeous daughter were captured by Mohammad followers. Muslims were against the idea of a woman governing a tribe as Mohammad said “A nation headed by a woman shall never succeed." – Sahih al-Bukhari 7099

They tortured her by tying her legs to two different camels running in two different directions, tearing Umm Qirfa into two halves. Then they chopped her body and presented her head as a gift to Mohammad in Medina. Mohammad ordered Muslims to parade Umm Qirfa's head throughout the streets of Medina to teach people a good lesson. Mohammad gave his uncle Huzein bin Abi Wahab the daughter of Umm Qirfa to entertain himself.



Muḥammad related to me from al-Zuhrī from ʿUrwa from ʿĀʾisha, who said: Zayd b. Ḥāritha arrived from his direction while the Messenger of God was in my house. Zayd came and knocked on the door. The Messenger of God went to him naked, pulling his clothes on. I have not seen him naked before that. He embraced him and kissed him, then he questioned him, and Zayd informed him of God's victory.

A RECORD OF THOSE KILLED AT UMM QIRFA

Qays b. al-Muḥassir killed Umm Qirfa—violently. He tied a rope between her legs then tied it between two camels. She was an old lady. ʿAbdullah b. Masʿada was killed as was Qays b. al-Nuʿmān b. Masʿada b. Ḥakama b. Mālik b. Badr.

Al-Wāqidī said: Mūsā b. Yaʿqūb related to me from Abū l-Aswad, who said: I heard ʿUrwa b. al-Zubayr say: ʿAbdullah b. Rawāḥa marched to Khaybar twice. The first time, the Prophet sent him to Khaybar in Ramaḍān with three men to observe Khaybar, the condition of its people, what they desired and what they spoke about. He went forward until he came to the region of Khaybar and tried to enter its fortifications. He dispersed his companions to al-Naṭā, al-Shaqq and al-Katība. They learned what they heard of Usayr and others. Then they set out after a stay of three days and returned to the Messenger of God during the last nights of Ramaḍān. ʿAbdullah informed the Prophet of all that he saw and heard; then he set out to Usayr in Shawwāl.

Ibn Abī Ḥabība related to me from Dāwud b. al-Ḥuṣayn from Abū Sufyān from Ibn ʿAbbās, who said: Usayr was a brave man. When Abū Rāfiʿ was killed Usayr b. Zārim took command of the Jews. He stood up before the Jews and said, "By God, Muḥammad did not attack any one of the Jews, but he sent one of his companions to get whatever he desired from them. I will do what my companions did not do." They said, "What do you seek to do that your companions did not do?" He replied, "I will march to the Ghaṭafān and I will gather them." And he marched to the Ghaṭafān and collected them. Then he said, "O community of Jews, we will march to Muḥammad in the heart of his home, for surely one is not attacked in his home except his enemies will take some of what they desire." They said, "Your opinion is correct," and that reached the Messenger of God.

He said: Khārija b. Ḥusayl al-Ashjaʿī arrived before the Prophet and informed him of what was behind him. Then Khārija said, "I left [Page 567] Usayr b. Zārim marching to you with a contingent of Jews." Ibn ʿAbbās said: The Messenger of God summoned the people, and appointed thirty men. ʿAbdullah b. Unays said: I was with them. The Messenger of God appointed ʿAbdullah b. Rawāḥa over us.

He said: We set out until we arrived at Khaybar, and we sent a message to Usayr, saying, "Are we secure if we come to you and present you with what we bring from the Messenger of God?" He replied, "Yes, and can I expect the same from you?" We said, "Yes." We went before him and said, "The Messenger of God sent us to you that you [illegible] Khaybar and be good to you." But Usayr

ويبدو أن الاغتيالات السياسية كانت متفشية في زمن النبي . ففي السنة الثانية للهجرة بعث الرسول عبد الله بن عُتْبة ليغتال أبا رافع سلام بن أبي الحقيق اليهودي وكان سبب قتله أنه كان يظاهر كعب بن الأشرف على الرسول . فدخل عبد الله الحصن وكمن تحت حمار إلى أن أغلق البواب أبواب الحصن وعلق المفاتيح من داخل الباب . وكان أبو رافع يسمر مع أصحابه ، فلما تفرقوا عنه ، أخذ عبد الله بن عتبة المفاتيح وصعد إليه . ويقول عبد الله : فجعلت كلما فتحت باباً أغلقته عليّ من داخل . قلت : إن القوم نذروا بي لم يخلصوا إلي حتى أقتله . قال : فانتهيت إليه ، فإذا هو في بيت مظلم وسط عياله ، لا أدري أين هو من البيت ! قلت : أبا رافع ! قال : من هذا؟ قال : فأهويت نحو الصوت فأضربه ضربة بالسيف وأنا دهش فما أغني شيئاً ، ثم وضعت ضبيب السيف في بطنه حتى أخرجته من ظهره[4].

Sahih Muslim 8:3432

Abu Sa'id al-Khudri (Allah her pleased with him) reported that at the Battle of Hanain Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) sent an army to Autas and encountered the enemy and fought with them. Having overcome them and taken them captives, the Companions of Allah's Messenger (may peace te upon him) seemed to refrain from having intercourse with captive women because of their husbands being polytheists. Then Allah, Most High, sent down regarding that:" And women already married, except those whom your right hands possess (iv. 24)" (i. e. they were lawful for them when their 'Idda period came to an end).

Al-Lah & IMPOSTOR

The Quran testifies that Allah revealed the Gospel and bestowed it on Jesus. Let us first look at this claim of Allah:

Surah 5:46-47: And We caused Jesus*, son of Mary, to follow in their footsteps, confirming that which was revealed before him in the Torah,* and We bestowed on him the Gospel wherein is guidance and a light*. . . . Let the People of the* Gospel judge by that which Allah has revealed therein. Whoso judges not by that which Allah has revealed*, such are evildoers." (Pickthall)*

Allah clearly testifies that he revealed the Gospel to Jesus. We will now prove why this claim of Allah is a preposterous lie. Please read through to the end of this article to understand why this claim is absolutely false. Jesus was sent as a Messenger of God centuries after the time of Moses. As both Biblical and Historical references prove, Jesus appeared about fifteen hundred years after Moses. This means that the Gospel was revealed centuries after the time of Moses. Muslims do not dispute this fact since Allah himself acknowledges this truth in the Quran. However, Allah made a huge blunder by contradicting his own teachings. Carefully consider the evidences in the following Quranic verses.

Surah 7:155-157 reveals to us a heartfelt Prayer of Moses and the Response of Allah to his prayer:

Surah 7:155: And Moses chose seventy of his people for Our place of meeting: When they were seized with violent quaking, he prayed*: "O my Lord! If it had been Your Will, You could have destroyed, long before, both them and me: Would You destroy us for the deeds of the foolish ones among us? This is no more than Your trial: By it You cause whom You will to stray, and You lead whom You will into the right path. You are our Protector: So forgive us and give us Your mercy; for You are the best of those who forgive.*

Surah 7:156: And ordain for us that which is good in this life and in the Hereafter: For we have turned unto You." He (Allah) said: "With My punishment I visit whom I will; but My mercy extends to all things. That mercy I shall ordain for those who do right, and practice regular charity, and those who believe in Our signs;-

Surah 7:157: those who follow the messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find mentioned in their own scriptures, – in the Law and the Gospel; – for he commands them what is just and forbids them what is evil; he allows them as lawful what is good (and pure) and prohibits them from what is bad (and impure); He releases them from their heavy burdens and from the yokes that are upon them. So it is those who believe in him, honor him, help him, and follow the light which is sent down with him it is they who will prosper." (Yusuf Ali)

We will now analyze the above Quranic verses step by step to expose the blunder of Allah in the Quran:

THE PRAYER OF MOSES TO ALLAH

The Prayer of Moses begins in Surah 7:155

Surah 7:155: And Moses chose seventy of his people for Our place of meeting: When they were seized with violent quaking, he prayed: "O my Lord! If it had been Your Will, You could have destroyed, long before, both them and me: Would You destroy us for the deeds of the foolish ones among us? This is no more than Your trial: By it You cause whom You will to stray, and You lead whom You will into the right path. You are our Protector: So forgive us and give us Your mercy; for You are the best of those who forgive.

And the Prayer of Moses continues on until the first part of Surah 7:156(a)

Surah 7:156(a): And ordain for us that which is good in this life and in the Hereafter: For we have turned unto You."

THE RESPONSE OF ALLAH TO THE PRAYER OF MOSES

Allah's Response begins in the second part of Surah 7:156(b)

Surah 7:156(b): He said: "With My punishment I visit whom I will; but My mercy extends to all things. That mercy I shall ordain for those who do right, and practice regular charity, and those who believe in Our signs*;-*

And Allah's Response continues on right to the end of Surah 7:157

Surah 7:157: those who follow the messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find mentioned in their own scriptures, – in the Law and the Gospel; – for he commands them what is just and forbids them what is evil; he allows them as lawful what is good (and pure) and prohibits them from what is bad (and impure); He releases them from their heavy burdens and from the yokes that are upon them. So it is those who believe in him, honor him, help him, and follow the light which is sent down with him it is they who will prosper."

The structure of the above Quranic verses is simple to follow and easy to understand:

From Verse 155 to Verse 156a is the Prayer of Moses in which he pleads with Allah for forgiveness and mercy.

*And Allah's Response to the Prayer of Moses begins in Verse 156b and continues on right through to the end of Verse 157.

In response to the plea of Moses for "forgiveness and mercy," Allah specifies the four types of persons who will be shown "mercy" by him. In Verse 156b and Verse 157, Allah identifies them as follows:

(i) Those who do right
(ii) Those who practice regular charity
(iii) Those who believe in Our signs
(iv) And those who follow the messenger, the unlettered Prophet, whom they find mentioned in their own scriptures, – in the Law and the Gospel.

The above clarification was a direct response of Allah to the Prayer of Moses who pleaded for "forgiveness" and "mercy" on behalf of the Israelites:

"You are our Protector: So forgive us and give us Your mercy; for You are the best of those who forgive."

This proves that the entire conversation between Allah and Moses in Surah 7:155-157 took place during the lifetime of Moses. It is important to remember this time-setting. Muslims have no problem in identifying the "unlettered Prophet" in the above Quranic verses as referring to Muhammad. As such, is this not a powerful testimony to prove the legitimacy of the prophethood of Muhammad? It would certainly be if this was true.

But there is a major problem with this claim in the Quran. It is one of the many instances where we find anachronisms or out of time references in the Quran. For Allah to specifically inform Moses that a reference of the unlettered Prophet can be found in the Gospel is not only absurd but also absolutely impossible. Why? This is because the Gospel did not exist at the time of Moses. It was not available to Moses or to anyone else for that matter who lived during his time. And it will not be available until centuries later. So how can Allah make this ridiculous claim in the Quran?

Allah testified that the Israelites who lived during the time of Moses can find predictions of Muhammad "in the Law and the Gospel." This is an obvious error in the Quran. How can the Israelites who lived at the time of Moses find predictions of Muhammad in the Gospel when the Gospel was not revealed for another fifteen hundred years? Muslim apologists are aware of this gross error in the Quran. Some desperate Muslims try to reconcile this erroneous passage in the Quran by claiming that the Quran is actually referring to the Gospel that would be revealed later to the Israelites. However, Allah is clearly referring to the Gospel which supposedly existed with the contemporaries of Moses. Let us look at the Quranic verse once again:

Surah 7:157: Those who follow the Messenger, the Prophet who can neither read nor write, whom they will find described in the Torah and the Gospel which are with them. (Pickthall)

As testified in the above Quranic verse, Allah is clearly referring to the Gospel which was "with them" at the time when he spoke to Moses. He is referring to the Gospel which was allegedly in the possession of the Israelites at the time of Moses. And to further confirm this, Allah spoke in the past-tense when he revealed this Quranic verse to Moses. He stated: "whom they find mentioned in the Torah and the Gospel." Thus, Allah is clearly testifying that the Israelites can "find" a prophecy about Muhammad "mentioned in the Torah and the Gospel" that were already in their possession.

Since the Gospel was not revealed at the time of Moses, no Israelite will be able to "find" anything in this non-existing Gospel. The claim that the Bible predicted the coming of Muhammad is as good as the non-existing Gospel at the time of Moses. If that which is given as evidence for the authenticity of Muhammad's prophethood turns out to be false, what does this reveal to us about the Prophet of Islam? He is as fake as the non-existing Gospel.

What can we learn from this colossal error in the Quran? Muhammad cannot be a Prophet of the true God. Being truly uneducated in the knowledge of the earlier Scriptures, Muhammad was unaware of an obvious blunder in the Quran. What is significant is how this ignorance of Muhammad made its way into the Quran. This means that either Muhammad himself wrote parts of the Quran or Allah is equally ignorant as his illiterate Prophet. Either way, this proves Islam false. It also proves that Allah cannot be the one who revealed the Gospel as he claims. Allah is but an impostor.

It is impossible to accept the Quran's claim of divine authorship. The above error is just one out of the several time compressions that can found in the Quran. There are many other accounts of anachronism in the Quran involving several persons who in historical reality are separated by hundreds of years. The existence of such anachronisms in the Quran proves that it cannot be the product of an all-knowing God. Muhammad can be excused because he was unlettered but what excuse does Allah have? This gives us a powerful reason to reject Islam. The writings of the Gospel were inspired not by Allah but Jehovah – the only true and living God. It would be wise for Muslims to turn to Jehovah for their eternal salvation.

Miracles of Muhammad!

The Qur'an itself testifies that Muhammad performed no supernatural miracles. The miracle claims for Muhammad do not occur in the Qur'an, but in the Hadith. This is a serious contradiction in Islam. Qur'an reveals that whenever Muhammad was asked by his contemporaries to perform miracles, he either remained silent or confessed that he could not do so because he was just an ordinary human without any special powers. The Qur'an contains more than twenty such passages expressing Muhammad's inability to perform miracles.

> Surah 17:90-93: They said, "We will not believe you unless you cause a spring to gush out of the ground. "Or unless you own a garden of date palms and grapes, with rivers running through it. "Or unless you cause masses from the sky, as you claimed, to fall on us. Or unless you bring God and the angels before our eyes. "Or unless you own a luxurious mansion, or unless you climb into the sky. Even if you do climb, we will not believe unless you bring a book that we can read." Say, "Glory be to my Lord. Am I any more than a human messenger?"

The following Surahs testify not only Muhammad's failure to perform miracles but they also reveal that just like any ordinary person, he had no special knowledge of any kind:

> Surah 10:20: They (unbelievers) say, "Why has his Lord not given him some miracles to (support his claim of being His Messenger)?" Say "(The knowledge) of the unseen certainly belongs to God. Wait and I too shall be waiting with you.
> Surah 67:25-26: They ask, when will this promise be fulfilled, if you are truthful? Say, God alone has knowledge of that; and I am only a plain warner.

Time and again, Muhammad confessed that he was "only a plain warner."

> Surah 13:7: The unbelievers say, "Why has God not sent him, (Muhammad), some miracles." Muhammad, you are only a warner. For every nation there is a guide.
> Surah 29:50: And they say: Why are not signs sent down upon him from his Lord? Say*: The signs are only with Allah, and* I am only a plain warner*. (Shakir)*

As it can be noted, these Qur'anic verses clearly indicate that performing miracles was not one of the functions of Muhammad. However, the reason why Muhammad's contemporaries demanded for miracles was because he had acknowledged the manifestation of powerful miraculous works by the "ancient Prophets" who were sent by God.

> Surah 21:5: They have said, "It, (the Qur'an), is only the result of some confused dreams. He is only a poet. He should show us some miracles, as the ancient Prophets had done." (M. Sarwar)

Even though the Qur'an was revealed in their own native tongue, the Quraysh contemporaries of Muhammad were not impressed by it. Even so, they had sworn that in the event if Muhammad performed "a miracle" before them, they would then believe the messages of the Qur'an. Just a single miracle was sufficient for them.

> Surah 6:109: They swear by Allah that if a miracle comes to them, they would surely believe in it (the Book). Say, "All miracles are with Allah. What can make you understand that even if a physical miracle came to them, they will find other excuses and still not believe?

Numerous Qur'anic passages show that Muhammad experienced a mood of uncertainty when no miraculous sign from Allah came to confirm his mission:

> Surah 10:94-95:
> And if thou (Muhammad) art in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto thee*, then question those who read the Scripture (that was) before thee. Verily the Truth from thy Lord hath come unto thee.* So be not thou of the waverers. And be not thou of those who deny the revelations of Allah, for then wert thou of the losers.

It can be seen that Muhammad underwent some sort of an inner spiritual crisis when he lost hope of a miraculous sign. And Allah warned him not to become like those who deny his revelations. Allah even found it necessary to reprimand him:

> Surah 11:12: Then, it may be that you will give up part of what is revealed to you and your breast will become straitened by it because they say: Why has not a treasure been sent down upon him or an angel come with him? You are only a warner; and Allah is custodian over all things.

And Allah also rebuked Muhammad:

> Surah 6:35: If their turning away is hard on you, then go down a tunnel deep into the earth, if you can, or climb up a ladder into heaven, and bring them a Sign*. If Allah had wanted to He would have gathered them all to guidance.* So do not be among the ignorant.
> Surah 7:188: Say: I do not control any benefit or harm for my own soul except as Allah please; and had I known the unseen I would have had much of good and no evil would have touched me; I am nothing but a warner and the giver of good news to a people who believe.

Muhammad's contemporaries who actually knew him viewed him not as a miracle worker but as madman:

> Surah 15:6: "And they say: O thou unto whom the Reminder is revealed, lo! Thou art indeed a madman!"
> Surah 37:36: And said: Shall we forsake our gods for a mad poet*?*
> Surah 44:14: Yet they turn away from him and say: "Tutored (by others), a man possessed."

Let us now carefully analyze the following Qur'anic verses.

> Surah 29:50-51: And they say: Why are not signs sent down upon him from his Lord? Say: The signs are only with Allah, and I am only a plain warner. Is it not enough for them that We have revealed to you the Book which is recited to them? Most surely there is mercy in this and a reminder for a people who believe.

The above Qur'anic verses provide further evidences that prove Allah did not empower Muhammad with the ability to perform miracles. It also means that Allah was wrong in his initial conclusion that the Qur'an alone is sufficient for the outworking and accomplishment of the task assigned to Muhammad.

In his esteemed work, "Message of the Qur'an," the late Sunni scholar Muhammad Asad wrote his scholarly interpretation of Surah 29:51. He candidly admitted:

> In many places the Qur'an stresses the fact that the Prophet Muhammad, despite his being the last and greatest of God's apostles, was not empowered to perform miracles similar to those with which the earlier prophets are said to have reinforced their verbal messages. His only miracle was and is the Qur'an itself*(Asad, Message of the Qur'an p. 427, fn. 71, – Dar Al-Andalus Limited 3 Library Ramp, Gibraltar 1993)*

And this fact is also substantiated by the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world:

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 9, Book 92, Number 379:

> *Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet said, "*There was no prophet among the prophets but was given miracles because of which people had security or had belief, but what I was given was the Divine Inspiration which Allah revealed to me. So I hope that my followers will be more than those of any other prophet on the Day of Resurrection."

This admission by Muhammad shows clearly that he did not perform any miracles. Surah 29:51 actually sounds the death knell for any Muslim who claims that Muhammad performed miracles. If Muhammad really needed miracles in addition to the Qur'an to prove his prophethood, then this falsifies Allah's statement regarding the sufficiency of the Qur'an. In view of this fact, is it not really ironical that each time Muslims attribute miracles to Muhammad, they are only proving Allah, Muhammad and the Qur'an wrong? And to this we can add, also the implication that Allah lied in the Qur'an?

> Surah 13:43: "They who disbelieve say: Thou art no messenger of Allah. Say: Allah, and whosoever hath knowledge of the Scripture, is sufficient witness between me and you."

If Muhammad did not perform miracles as testified by the Qur'an, how can Muslims be sure that he was sent by God as Qur'an testifies that Jesus' prophethood was authenticated by the miraculous works:

> Surah 3:49: "I heal the blind and the leprous, and bring the dead to life with Allah's permission and I inform you of what you should eat and what you should store in your houses; most surely there is a sign in this for you, if you are believers."
> Surah 3:49: "I have brought you signs of my appointment from your Lord." (Farook Malik)

This means that according to the Qur'an, Jesus came with credentials that he was sent by God.

DOES THE QUR'AN QUALIFY AS A MIRACLE?

For a miracle to be truly miraculous, it should be accepted as a miracle by any individual from any nationality. Try giving the Qur'an to a man who does not know Arabic, and say, "This is a miracle." What do you think would be his response? The Muslim claim is that only when the Qur'an is read in the original Arabic language, one can see the miracle in it. This would then mean that the great majority of the Muslims themselves cannot see it as a miracle since they do not read Arabic. Well, how does the Qur'an measure-up in the field of moral teachings?

> Surah 33:50: O PROPHET! Behold, We have made lawful to thee thy wives unto whom thou hast paid their dowers, as well as those whom thy right hand has come to possess from among the captives of war whom God has bestowed upon thee.

Christian standard on marriage is based on God's original standard in the Garden of Eden, which is monogamy. However, what is shocking is the fact that Allah sanctions rape in the Qur'an. The above Qur'anic verse authorizes Muhammad to indulge in sexual intercourse with the female captives of war. Notice too, it says that it is Allah who provides these captive girls for his Prophet's sexual enjoyment.

> Surah 4:24: And all married women (are forbidden unto you) save those (captives) whom your right hands possess. It is a decree of Allah for you.
> Also forbidden are married women, except those who have passed into your hands as prisoners of war. This is a commandment of God to you.

This means that while Muslims are prohibited from engaging in extramarital sex with married women, there is an exception to this rule if the married woman is a captive or a slave. Under such circumstances, Muslim men can have forced sex with married captives of war or slave girls in their possession. The doctrine of rape is clearly taught in the Qur'an. ISLAM – THE RELIGION OF RAPE?

If Muslims are looking for a "Clear Sign" or "Evidence of the Truth" or "Sufficient miracle for a clear evidence of the truth" they should look for it elsewhere. They should look for it in the Holy Bible. Ironically for Muslims, this advice comes from none other than Allah himself. Notice how Allah testifies to this fact in the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 20:133: They say: "Why does he not bring us a sign from his Lord?" Has not a Clear Sign come to them of all that was in the former Books of revelation*?*

The "former Books of revelation" are none other than the Torah and the Gospel. The Qur'an is confirming the undeniable fact that "Clear Sign" or "Evidence for the Truth" can be found in the Holy Bible.

ALLAH HAS STOPPED SENDING MIRACLES

To believe that Muhammad performed miracles, would amount to a rejection of the teachings of the Qur'an:

> Surah 17:59: "And We refrain from sending the Signs, only because the men of former generations treated them as false*: We sent the she-camel to the Thamud to open their eyes, but they treated her wrongfully:* We only send the Signs by way of terror and warning from evil."

Why does Allah hold back miracles on the account of the lack of faith of a few people?

Without miracles of any kind, the only way Muhammad could make Allah appear legitimate and powerful is by ascribing the earlier Biblical miracles to him.

According to the above Qur'anic verse, Allah now sends signs only "by way of terror." In other words, without miracles, Allah now wants to terrorize the unbelievers into submission. Even in this, Allah fails. In the very next verse Allah admits that even this act of terrorizing the unbelievers only increased their transgression:

> Surah 17:60: "We put terror and warning into them, but it only increases their inordinate transgression!"

Allah was powerless to send any sign, not even in the way of terror as he had promised to do so in the Qur'an. When Muhammad threatened the Qurayshites saying that Allah would cause the sky to fall on them, the Qurayshites challenged Allah to carry out the threat.

> Surah 17:92: "Or thou cause the sky to fall in pieces, as thou sayest will happen, against us;"

Nothing happened.

Let us analyze Surah 17:59 once again:

> "We refrain from sending the Signs (miracles) because the men of former generations treated them as false: We sent the she-camel to the Thamud to open their eyes, but they treated her wrongfully."

According to Surah 7 verses 73, 75 and 77, the prophet Salih was sent to the people of Thamud. He was with the people of Thamud during the occasion of this tragic event when the unbelievers killed the she-camel of Allah:

> Surah 7:73: To the Thamud people We sent Salih, one of their own brethren*: He said: "O my people! Worship Allah: ye have no other god but Him. Now hath come unto you a clear Sign from your Lord! This she-camel of Allah is a Sign unto you: So leave her to graze in Allah's earth, and let her come to no harm, or ye shall be seized with a grievous punishment.*
> Surah 7:75: *The leaders of the arrogant party among his people said to those who were reckoned powerless – those among them who believed: "*know ye indeed that Salih is a messenger from his Lord?" They said: "We do indeed believe in the revelation which hath been sent through him."
> Surah 7:77: Then they ham-strung the she-camel, and insolently defied the order of their Lord, saying: "O Salih*! Bring about thy threats, if thou art a messenger of Allah!"*

The Qur'an does not mention the time period when the prophet Salih was sent to the people of Thamud. But we can say with utmost certainty that he was sent to the people of Thamud before the time of Jesus Christ. This is because according to Islamic theology no prophets or apostles were raised between the time of Jesus and Muhammad.

Sahih Muslim, Book 030, Hadith Number 5836:

> Abu Huraira reported many ahadith from Allah's Messenger and one is that Allah's Messenger said: I am most close to Jesus, son of Mary, among the whole of mankind in this worldly life and the next life. They said: Allah's Messenger how is it? Thereupon he said: Prophets are brothers in faith, having different mothers. Their religion is, however, one and there is no Apostle between us (between I and Jesus Christ).

This clearly proves that prophet Salih could not have been sent to the people of Thamud after the time of Jesus, but before. This is important because it means that Allah must have stopped sending miracles long before Jesus Christ set foot on earth. If that is the case, who then is the source behind the powerful works performed by Jesus Christ? Does not this prove that Allah simply cannot be the God who empowered Jesus with the ability to perform miracles? If Allah is not the one, then who did?

Now, how are Muslims going to reconcile Allah's statement to the effect that he stopped sending miracles after the people of Thamud killed his miraculous she-camel with his claims in the Qur'an that he empowered Jesus Christ with the ability to perform all the powerful miracles?

> Surah 3:49: And will make him (Jesus)) a Messenger to the Children of Israel (saying): "I have come to you with a sign from your Lord, that I design for you out of clay, as it were, the figure of a bird, and breathe into it, and it becomes a bird by Allah's Leave*; and I heal him who was born blind, and the leper, and I bring the dead to life* by Allah's Leave*. And I inform you of what you eat, and what you store in your houses. Surely, therein is a sign for you, if you believe." (Hilali-Khan)*

This clearly proves that Allah lied in the Qur'an. If Allah did perform miracles through Jesus, this would then make the Qur'an false since it claims that Allah has stopped sending miracles long before the time of Jesus. Then again, if Allah did not perform miracles through Jesus, this would still make the Qur'an false because it contains a false claim saying that Allah was the source behind the powerful miracles of Jesus. Either way the Qur'an is false.

> John 8:44: The Devil was a manslayer when he began, and he did not stand fast in the truth, because truth is not in him. When he speaks the lie, he speaks according to his own natural inclination, because he is a liar and the father of the lie.

In contrast, it is impossible for Jehovah to lie:

> Hebrews 6:18: It is impossible for God to lie.

This should alert sincere Muslims regarding the real source behind the inspiration of the Qur'an. Allah shamelessly proclaimed whatever he thought was necessary to deceive people. Whenever he wanted to make an impact on his audience with his pretentious awesome power, he talked about the miracles which he supposedly brought about in the distant past. However, when the people of Muhammad's time demanded that he prove his divinity through the manifestation of miraculous works, he lied to them saying: "I have stopped sending miracles, as people in the past did not believe in them."

Although, some in the past did not put faith in the miracles, such as those performed by Moses, this did nothing to stop the true God from empowering many of his prophets who were sent after the time of Moses.

> Surah 2:87: "We gave Jesus the son of Mary Clear (Signs) and strengthened him with the holy spirit."

The Qur'an itself reveals that before the time of Muhammad when God had dealings with his people, the lack of faith on the part of one generation did not prevent the true God from providing miracles to the later generations. Even if a great majority chooses not to believe, miracles still served to prove that the prophets sent to speak in God's name were divinely authorized by him. It authenticated their prophethood. This was true in the case of both Moses and Jesus.

The Qur'an itself testifies that the miracles performed by past prophets such as Moses and Jesus, did move people to believe in the authenticity of the messages they delivered. For example, the miracles performed by Moses moved even the "sorcerers" of Pharaoh to abandon their demonic practices and turn to the true God.

> Surah 7:113-122: "So there came the sorcerers to Pharaoh: They said, "of course we shall have a suitable reward if we win!" Pharaoh said: "Yea and more, – for ye shall in that case be raised to posts nearest to my person." They said: "O Moses! Wilt thou throw first, or shall we have the first throw?" Said Moses: "Throw you first." So when they threw, they bewitched the eyes of the people, and struck terror into them: for they showed a great feat of magic. We put it into Moses' mind by inspiration: "Throw now thy rod": and Behold! It swallows up straight away all the falsehoods which they fake! Thus truth was confirmed*, and all that they did was made of no effect. So the great ones were vanquished there and then, and were made to look small.* But the sorcerers fell down prostrate in adoration. Saying: "We believe in the Lord of the Worlds, – "The Lord of Moses and Aaron."

Even under threat of death by crucifixion at the hands of Pharaoh, the repentant sorcerers replied:

> Surah 7:125: "For us, we are but sent back unto our Lord."

This proves that Allah lied when he said that peoples in the past did not believe in miracles. In fact, Allah stated that the contemporaries of Muhammad would not believe even if angels were sent to them or dead men came to life and spoke to them. (Surah 6:111)

In reality, these are the very miracles that the contemporaries of Muhammad had been asking to validate his claim.

> Surah 17:90-92: And they say: We will by no means believe in you until you cause a fountain to gush forth from the earth for us. Or you should have a garden of palms and grapes in the midst of which you should cause rivers to flow forth, gushing out. Or you should cause the heaven to come down upon us in pieces as you think, or bring Allah and the angels face to face with us.

Just think. Would those who had specifically demanded for miracles as a sign, disbelieve right after the very miracle they had demanded is visibly manifested before their very eyes? Years later, when the sword of Muhammad began to glitter in the hot Arabian Desert, the Meccans professed the Islamic faith and "entered Allah's religion in troops"

> Surah 110:2*: And thou seest mankind entering the religion of Allah in troops. (Pickthall)*

MIRACLES AND PREDESTINATION

Instead of validating Muhammad's prophethood through the display of miraculous signs, Allah revealed the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 13:27: The unbelievers say: "How is it that no miracle was sent down to him by his Lord?" Say: "Allah leads whosoever He wills astray, and guides whoever turns to Him in repentance.

Would it not be more merciful to send a miracle to convince the Meccans than to deliberately deceive them?

> Surah 6:109-111: The unbelievers solemnly swear by God that if they were to be shown some miracle, they would certainly believe. Muhammad, tell them, "Only with God are all the miracles." Even if a miracle was to take place, they still would not believe. We will turn their hearts and vision away from a miracle; they did not have faith in miracles at the first time, and We will leave them blind in their rebellion. Had We sent the angels to them, made the dead speak to them, and resurrected all things before their very eyes, they still would not believe unless God willed it to be so. But, in fact, most of them ignore the evidence.

Regarding the polytheists, Allah said that he "will turn their hearts and vision away from a miracle" because "they did not have faith in miracles at the first time." Since no signs or miracles were sent at any time to the contemporaries of Muhammad, how could Allah then say that "they did not have faith in miracles at the first time*"? The miracle mentioned here can only refer to the miracle of the Qur'an. And Surah 8:31 lends supports this conclusion:

> When Our Signs are recited to them*, they say, 'We have heard already. If we want, we too can say like this. These are nothing but myths of the ancients.'*

For the "Signs" to be "recited" it has to be the written messages of the Qur'an. The polytheists refused to believe in the Qur'an because there was nothing impressive about the Qur'an for them to accept it as the Word of God. They confronted Muhammad and said: "We have heard already. If we want, we too can say like this. These are nothing but myths of the ancients." As such, they wanted proofs similar to those exhibited by Jesus, Moses and other Biblical prophets:

> Surah 21:5: *Some say, These are his confused dreams. Others say, He has invented it himself, and yet others say, He is a poet. Let him bring us a sign as previous messengers did.

Surah 6:111:

> "And though We should send down the angels unto them, and the dead should speak unto them, and We should gather against them all things in array, they would not believe unless Allah so willed*. Howbeit, most of them are ignorant."*

Allah clearly stated that "they would not believe unless Allah so willed." Can you not see the utter wickedness of this Qur'anic verse? It shows that there is actually no free-will in Islam. If Allah had already preordained these people's unbelief and persistence in polytheism, what useful purpose could there be for miracles? What useful purpose could there be for prophets to preach to them? What useful purpose could there be for scriptures to guide them?

Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6406:

> Abu al-Aswad reported that 'Imran b Husain asked him: What is your view, what the people do today in the world, and strive for, is it something decreed for them or preordained for them or will their fate in the Hereafter be determined by the fact that their Prophets brought them teaching which they did not act upon? I said: Of course, it is something which is predetermined for them and preordained for them. He (further) said: Then, would it not be an injustice (to punish them)? I felt greatly disturbed because of that, and said: Everything is created by Allah and lies in His Power. He would not be questioned as to what He does, but they would be questioned; thereupon he said to me: May Allah have mercy upon you, I did not mean to ask you but for testing your intelligence. Two men of the tribe of Muzaina came to Allah's Messenger and said: Allah's Messenger, what is your opinion that the people do in the world and strive for, is something decreed for them; something preordained for them and will their fate in the Hereafter be determined by the fact that their Prophets brought them teachings which they did not act upon. And thus they became deserving of punishment? Thereupon, he said: Of course, it happens as it is decreed by Destiny and preordained for them, and this view is confirmed by this verse of the Book of Allah, the Exalted and Glorious*: "*Consider the soul and Him Who made it perfect, then breathed into it its sin and its piety" (Surah 91:8 [Original Arabic]).

The inescapable conclusion is that these people will not believe because Allah did not wish them to believe. And this is confirmed by the clear statement of Allah in Surah 6:110:

> "We will turn their hearts and vision away from a miracle."

Allah the Merciful also declared the following:

> Surah 32:13: "If We had so willed, We could certainly have brought every soul its true guidance: but the Word from Me will come true, "I will fill Hell with Jinns and men all together."

According to the above Qur'anic verse, Allah is not going to provide guidance for everyone. What is utterly damaging is the evil nature of Allah's statement in the Qur'an. He states that if he wanted to, he could have provided guidance to all mankind. But he does not want to do so for the sole reason that his "Word to fill Hell with Jinns and men will come true." In the first place, it is unthinkable that God will ever set as his goal, a predestined figure as a quota of the number of persons he wants to send to Hell. This is pure evil. Yet, this is true of Allah. And the Qur'an states that for this reason alone, he deliberately holds back guidance from those he predestines to Hell.

Those whom Allah destined to be saved will be saved and those whom Allah destined to be condemned will be condemned. So what is the purpose of the miraculous works of Moses and Jesus in Islam?According to Islamic theology, all our actions and decisions and even our final destinations are predetermined by Allah. And they are predestined even before we are born.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 55, Number 550:

> "The Prophet said, 'Allah has appointed an angel in the womb, and the angel says, "Lord, a drop of semen discharge. Lord, a clot, Lord, a piece of flesh." And then, if Allah wishes to complete the child's creation, the angel will say. Lord, male or a female? Lord, wretched or blessed in religion? What will his livelihood be? What will his age be?" The angel writes all this while the child is in the womb of its mother.'"

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 473:

> "While we were in a funeral procession, Allah's Apostle said, 'Every created soul has his place written for him either in Paradise or in Hell. They have a happy or miserable fate predestined for them.' A man said, 'Apostle! Shall we depend upon what is written and give up doing deeds? For whoever is destined to be fortunate, will join the fortunate and whoever is destined to be miserable will go to Hell.'"
> Surah 3:154: "Say: 'Even if you had remained in your houses, those ordained to be slaughtered would have gone forth to the places where they were to slain."

As such, miracles serve no purpose in Islam. In other words, with or without miracles, mankind's fate is sealed.

> Surah 4:88: And he whom Allah has made to go astray, you will never find for him any way of guidance.

> Surah 5:44: "He whom Allah doometh unto sin, thou by thine efforts wilt avail him naught against Allah. Those are they for whom the Will of Allah is that He cleanse not their hearts. Theirs in the world will be ignominy, and in the Hereafter an awful doom;"
> Surah 14:4: "Then Allah sendeth whom He will astray, and guideth whom He will. He is the Mighty, the Wise."
> Surah 39:23: "And him whom Allah sendeth astray, for him there is no guide."

All these Qur'anic verses show that according to Islamic theology, prophets will be unable to change or influence an individual whom Allah had predestined or predetermined to hell. This makes utter nonsense of the necessity of prophets or the need for any inspired holy books. In reality what can these do to change those who are already predestined by Allah? This also means that no amount of miracles will be able to alter the predestined course of an individual who is doomed by Allah – to a destiny of eternity in the Islamic Hell. God created man as a free moral agent with the freedom to choose.

> Deuteronomy 30:19: "I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the malediction, and you must choose life that you may keep living."

Almighty God performed many miracles through Moses and Jesus to authenticate their divine mission. He gave no excuses.

Because of the profound teachings and miracles performed by Jesus Christ, the greatest prophet of all times, Christianity spread to the entire inhabited earth without the use of the sword. Jesus taught Christians the following vital principle:

> Matthew 26:52: "Those who take the sword will perish by the sword."

After thirteen years of preaching in Mecca, no more than a hundred people believed in Muhammad. The messages of the Meccan Surahs proved ineffective. The only recourse that miracle-less Muhammad could find was the physical sword. After he migrated to Medina, he gathered the support of the men of the sword and robbed Meccan caravan. Islam became powerful. The sword of the flesh replaced the sword of the spirit. "Kill them wherever you find them." (Surah 2:191) became the rallying cry of Allah and Muhammad.

With neither miracles to authenticate his calling nor spiritual truths to reach the heart, the religion of Muhammad survived by inspiring fear through the threat of the Islamic sword.

Sahih Bukhari Volume 4, Book 22, Number 220:

> *Allah's Apostle said, "*I have been made victories with terror."

SPLITTING OF THE MOON

John 4:39-42:"Many Samaritans from that city believed in him because of the woman's testimony, 'He told me everything I have ever done.' So when the Samaritans came to him, they asked him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days. And many more believed because of his word. They said to the woman, 'It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is truly the Savior of the world.'"

Do you think those statue worshipers of Mecca would neglect moon spiting miracle? It would have converted entire continent instantly. Had Muhammad truly performed a miracle of this magnitude, the unbelievers would not have asked for a sign later on. And it would not have been necessary for Muhammad to later wage war against the Meccans who persistently denied his prophethood.

The Qur'an consistently refers to the "Hour of Judgment" as an occurrence that will take place at time of the end when God executes judgment. Therefore, this Qur'anic passage is not describing a miracle of Muhammad but a prophecy that is yet to be fulfilled.

Let's read the full narrative of this account to understand the time frame when this event is scheduled to occur:

> Surah 54:1-8: 1. The Hour of Doom is drawing near and the moon is rent asunder. 2. Whenever they see a miracle, they turn away from it and say, "This is just a powerful magic." 3. They have rejected it and have followed their own desires, but all matters will be settled by God. 4. They have certainly received the kind of news in which there is a lesson and strong words of wisdom, 5. but the warnings have proved to have no effect on them. 6. (Muhammad), leave them alone. On the day when they will be called to a terrible punishment*, 7.* they will come out of their graves*, their eyes cast down, hastening towards their Summoner as locusts rushing about. 8. These disbelievers will say, "This is a hard day." (Muhammad Sarwar)*

The term "Hour of Doom" or the "Day of Judgment" or the "Day of Resurrection" all refer to the same event. It is known as Qiyamah in Arabic which means "Time of the End." Therefore, this account is actually referring to future events that will occur at the time of the end.

Well, who was resurrected on the day when Muhammad split the moon? After all, the simple-minded Meccans just wanted Muhammad to miraculously "cause a spring to gush out of the ground." Would not that be easier? Anyway, there is not a single record anywhere related to "moon splitting" outside of Islam. If it did happen, the "splitting of the moon" would have been a worldwide phenomenon.

The problem with this Hadith is that it contradicts the Qur'an. As we have noted, Allah himself gave the reason in the Qur'an as to why Muhammad could not perform miracles. And we also learnt that the only miracle that was given to Muhammad was the Qur'an. The rule of the thumb in Islamic theology is that if any Hadith contradicts the Qur'an, it should be rejected.

Let us consider another vital piece of information. Let us consider the timeline of the Surahs that are relevant to our discussion.

Surah 54:1-2: Moon Splitting Verses (Early Meccan Surah).

Surah 6:109: No Miracle Verse (Late Meccan Surah).

Surah 13:7: No Miracle Verse (Late Meccan Surah).

Surah 29:50: No Miracle Verse (Late Meccan Surah).

Surah 29:51: Qur'an Alone Sufficient (Late Meccan Surah).

The four Late Meccan Surahs which show the inability of Muhammad to perform miracles was revealed after the moon-splitting Surah. Therefore, if the Moon was miraculously split in two by Muhammad, then it would be an unmistakable error for the Qur'an to emphatically state in these later Surahs that he could not perform miracles before the Meccans because his purpose was only to warn. Why did not Muhammad refer to this moon-splitting miracle to validate his prophethood when he was challenged by the Meccans? Had he really performed the moon-splitting miracle, he would have referenced it and would not have remained silent before the Meccans. Is it not astonishing that not once in the entire Qur'an did Muhammad appeal to this astounding miracle to silence his critics? Why?

But who will stop tricky Muslims 2 centuries later from inventing miracle by forging hadiths:

Narrated Muhammad bin Jubair bin Mut'im:
from his father who said: "The moon was split during the time of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) until it became as two sections, one above this mountain and one above that mountain. So they said: 'Muhammad has cast a spell upon us.' Some of them said: 'If he could cast a spell upon us, he can not cast a spell upon all of the people.'"

So the moon spiting in two half fell on 2 mountains and left without trace. But it is a fact unlike the night ascension to heaven from Fakhitah bint Abi Talib's house when her husband wasn't there (the women Muhammad sent marriage proposal before marrying 15 year older women Khadija & got rejected by her father).

Moon spiting took place without historical witness.

Let's see the only well documented miracle with the effect people have record:

Miracle:

Al-Kafi, Volume 1, Book 4, Chapter 111, Hadith #27

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Sa'd ibn 'Abdallah from Ibrahim ibn Muhammad al-Thaqafi from Ali ibn al-Mu'alla from his brother Muhammad from Durust ibn Abu Mansur from Ali ibn Abu Hamza from Abu Basir from Abu 'Abdallah (عليه السلام) who said:

"When the Holy Prophet (ﷺ) was born, he remained for days without milk. Abu Talib himself breastfed him and Allah sent milk through his nipples. He continued to be breastfed by him for several days until Abu Talib found Halima al-Sa'diyyah, so he gave him to her."

Effect:

Ibn Sad's "Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir", volume 1, pages 438, 439 [Ibn Sa'd, (d. 852 A.D.), "Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir", (Book of the Major Classes), translated by S. Moinul Haq, Pakistan Historical Society]:

…The apostle of Allah said, "Gabriel brought a kettle from which I ate and I was given the power of sexual intercourse to forty men."

…The apostle of Allah was given the power to equal to that of forty men and the people of paradise will be given the power equal to eighty men

…The prophet was granted the power of sexual intercourse to that of forty men.

Bukhari, volume 7, # 142

Narrated Anas bin Malik:

The Prophet used to pass by (have sexual relation with) all his wives in one night, and at that time he had nine wives.

Bukhari, volume 1, #268

Narrated Qatada:

Anas bin Malik said, "The Prophet used to visit all his wives in a round, during the day and night and they were eleven in number." I asked Anas, "Had the Prophet the strength for it?" Anas replied, "We used to say that the Prophet was given the strength of thirty (men)." And Sa'id said on the authority of Qatada that Anas had told him about nine wives only (not eleven).

ERROR IN QUR'AN: SUN SETS IN A POOL

Muhammad believed that the sun actually sets in a muddy pool. He must have likewise believed that the moon, just like the sun, is a small ball of light traveling through the night sky. Otherwise he would have corrected the verse like he did in case of satanic verse, as he went to 7th heaven and saw all of those. He would have made such a claim not knowing that it would have a deadly impact on the lives of people on earth with tsunami. Not knowing that it would have dangerously affected the stability of the earth. Not knowing about the importance of the gravitational pull of the moon on our planet. Not knowing all the facts, he dared to make such a claim to fool the Meccans as he was Ummi/Illiterate. And the Meccans did not believe him. No sane person of that time would believe this madness.

MUHAMMAD'S FABRICATED NIGHT JOURNEY TO HEAVEN

Conclusion: We can see that the Qur'an explicitly states that Muhammad performed no miracles apart from the alleged inspiration he received. The Qur'an testifies that his only miracle was the Qur'an that he received from Allah. And the Qur'an is no miracle either.

Genesis 3:1 :

"Now the serpent was more crafty than any other wild animal that the Lord God had made. He said to the woman, 'Did God say, "You shall not eat from any tree in the garden"?'"

Revelation 12:9 :

"The great dragon was thrown down, that ancient serpent, who is called the Devil and Satan, the deceiver of the whole world—he was thrown down to the earth, and his angels were thrown down with him."

Revelation 12:10 :

"Then I heard a loud voice in heaven, proclaiming,
'Now have come the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Messiah, for the accuser of our comrades has been thrown down, who accuses them day and night before our God.'"

SURAH 17:59- ALLAH IS A Falsifying about Miracle

According to the Quran, Allah miraculously produced a huge she-camel out of a rock:

Surah 7:73: Indeed there has come to you a clear Sign (the miracle of the coming out of a huge she-camel from the midst of a rock*) from your Lord. (Hilali-Khan)*

A Clear Sign has come to you from your Lord. This is the She-Camel of Allah as a Sign for you. (A. Bewley)

Thereafter Allah reveals in the Quran that he has stopped sending miracles anymore after this event. The reason why Allah stopped sending miracles after this incident is clarified in the following Quranic verse from 4 translations:

Surah 17:59: And We refrain from sending the Sign, only because the men of former generations treated them as false: We sent the she-camel to the Thamud to open their eyes, but they treated her wrongfully: We only send the Signs by way of terror. (Yusuf Ali)

Surah 17:59: And what stopped Us from sending the signs except that the previous people disbelieved in them. And We sent to Thamud the camel with foresight, but they did her wrong. And We do not send the signs except to make them fearful. (The Monotheist Group)

Surah 17:59: And nothing prevented Us from sending the miracles except that the earlier ones denied it. And We gave Thamud the female camel*, a visible sign, then they did wrong to her.* And We do not send the miracles except as a scare. (Ali Bakhtiari Nejad)

Surah 17:59: Nothing hindered us from sending you with miracles, except that the former nations have charged them with imposture. We gave unto the tribe of Thamud, (at their demand), the she-camel visible (to their sight); yet they dealt unjustly with her: And we send not a prophet with miracles but to strike terror. (Sale)

The specific miracle in this instant was a miraculous she-camel that Allah produced out of a rock to appear to the people of Thamud. The miracle was sent to "open their eyes" but instead they defiantly killed the she-camel of Allah. (Surah 11:64-65) As a result of their insolent act, Allah decided to stop sending miracles anymore in the future. Therefore according to the Quran, the final miracle of Allah was the miraculous she-camel that he produced for the people of Thamud. We can learn many essential details from this account in Surah 17:59. We will now analyze them carefully to expose the deception of Allah:

ONE: This Quranic verse specifies the reason why Allah stopped sending miracles. Allah found it futile to send miracles anymore "because the men of former generations treated them as false." In other words, the reason why Allah stopped sending miracles is because the people in the past did not believe in them. The miracles of Allah were ineffective in convincing the people.

However, contrary to this claim of Allah, multitudes of the "former generations" of Jews and Christians, who lived before the time of Muhammad, believed and demonstrated strong faith in the miracles performed by both Moses and Jesus. The Quran itself admits that even the magic practicing priest of Egypt abandoned their demonic practices and repented when they witnessed the powerful miracles performed by Moses. (Surah 7:113-122) Even under the threat of death by crucifixion, the repentant sorcerers boldly testified:

Surah 7:125: "We will certainly return to Our Lord." (Sarwar)

TWO: Surah 17:59 helps us to identify the time period when Allah decided to stop sending miracles. It reveals that he stopped sending miracles long before the time of Muhammad.

THREE: Allah concluded Surah 17:59 on a threatening note. After stating that he has stopped sending miracles anymore, Allah declared:

"We do not send the Signs except to make them fearful."

The following translation is even more explicit:

"We send not a prophet with miracles but to strike terror."

This means that instead of sending uplifting miracles such as the restoration of sight to the blind or healing the leprous or bringing back the dead to life, Allah now wants to terrorize the unbelievers into submission. However, even this attempt to terrorize the unbelievers fails. In the very next verse Allah admits that even this act of terrorizing the unbelievers only increases their transgression:

Surah 17:60: "We put terror and warning into them, but it only increases their inordinate transgression!" (Yusuf Ali)

It is hard to imagine how Muslims can put faith in this lame excuse of Allah. Allah is in effect saying: "We don't do miracles anymore because the people of Thamud killed our she-camel." This Quranic verse is significant because we can really feel a sense of defeat in Allah at the hands of mere humans. However, even more damaging is the fact that this Quranic verse proves that Allah is a preposterous liar when he made this claim in Surah 17:59. Why do we say that? Consider now the evidences which clearly prove that Allah lied when he made this claim in the Quran.

A GOD WHO LIES

More than twenty passages in the Quran reveal that whenever the contemporaries of Muhammad asked him to perform miracles, he either remained silent or confessed he could not. He confessed that he was just an ordinary human messenger. The most explicit of this admission can be found in the following Quranic verses:

Surah 17:90-93: They said, "We will not believe you unless you cause a spring to gush out of the ground. Or unless you own a garden of date palms and grapes, with rivers running through it. Or unless you cause masses from the sky, as you claimed, to fall on us. Or unless you bring God and the angels before our eyes. Or unless you own a luxurious mansion, or unless you climb into the sky. Even if you do climb, we will not believe unless you bring a book that we can read." Say, "Glory be to my Lord. Am I any more than a human messenger?" (Khalifa)

The former prophets who performed miracles, are they not "human messengers" just like Muhammad? We will now analyze Surah 17:59 once again but from a different perspective. Our objective is to prove beyond any reasonable doubt that Allah is a liar and the Quran is a lie. To begin, we will first establish that according to the Quran, it was the Prophet Salih who was sent to the people of Thamud during the tragedy of the she-camel:

Surah 7:73: *To the Thamud people (We sent)* Salih, one of their own brethren: He said: "O my people! Worship Allah: ye have no other god but Him. Now hath come unto you a clear Sign from your Lord! This she-camel of Allah is a Sign unto you: So leave her to graze in Allah's earth, and let her come to no harm, or ye shall be seized with a grievous punishment."

Surah 7:75: *The leaders of the arrogant party among his people said to those who were reckoned powerless – those among them who believed: "*know ye indeed that Salih is a messenger from his Lord?" They said: "We do indeed believe in the revelation which hath been sent through him."

Surah 7:77: Then they ham-strung the she-camel*, and insolently defied the order of their Lord, saying: "*O Salih! Bring about thy threats, if thou art an apostle of God!" (Yusuf Ali)

As a result of the insolent act of the people of Thamud, Allah stopped sending miracles anymore. Surah 17:59 clearly acknowledges this decision of Allah to stop sending miracles. Even though the Quran does not specifically mention the time period when the Prophet Salih was sent to the people of Thamud, we can say with certainty that it was before the time of Jesus Christ. Why can we be sure of that? Because according to Muhammad himself, there were no prophets or apostles between the time of Jesus and Muhammad. In other words, the only "prophet" who was sent after Jesus was Muhammad.

Sahih Muslim, Book 030, Number 5835:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: I am most akin to Jesus Christ among the whole of mankind, and all the Prophets are of different mothers but belong to one religion and no Prophet was raised between me and Jesus.

In the above Hadith, Muhammad declared: "no Prophet was raised between me and Jesus." Thus, the Prophet Salih could not have been sent after the arrival of Jesus but before. Otherwise, it would place him between Jesus and Muhammad. Therefore, Allah must have stopped sending miracles long before Jesus set foot on earth. Yet, the Quran admits that Jesus performed many miracles. It even specifies the nature of his miracles. But what is significant is the Quran's proclamation that Jesus performed these miracles "with Allah's permission." Read the following Quranic verse carefully:

Surah 3:49: And I (Jesus) heal the blind and the leprous, and bring the dead to life with Allah's permission. (Shakir)

How can this be possible? Since Allah himself testified that he has "stopped sending miracles" long before the time of Jesus, how can he then claim to be the source behind the powerful miracles performed by Jesus? This proves that the claims of Allah in the Quran that he was the originator of the miracles of Jesus are blatant lies.

Since the Quran itself states that Allah has stopped sending miracles long before the arrival of Jesus, Muslims are faced with a dilemma. For Muslims to accept the Quran's testimony of the miracles of Jesus, they would have to now acknowledge the fact that Allah is a liar. How are Muslims going to reconcile Allah's statement to the effect that he has stopped sending miracles after the people of Thamud killed his miraculous she-camel with his claim in the Quran that he performed many miracles through Jesus Christ? Which of these two statements is true? Allah clearly lied in the Quran when he said:

Surah 2:87: "We gave Jesus, son of Mary, profound miracles and supported him with the Holy Spirit." (Khalifa)

Furthermore, since Surah 17:59 also proves that Allah has "stopped sending miracles" long before the time of Muhammad, how can Muslims then claim that Muhammad performed many outstanding miracles? Hence, if the Quran is true, then Muhammad could not have performed any miracles as Muslims claim. Therefore, each time Muslims claim that Muhammad performed miracles, they are in fact admitting that Allah lied in the Quran when he testified that he has "stopped sending miracles."

Whenever Allah wants to make an impact on his audience, he talked about the miracles that he supposedly performed through the earlier prophets of God. However, when the people of Muhammad's time demanded miracles to prove his divinity, he dodged them by saying: "I have stopped sending miracles, as people in the past did not believe in them." Allah deceptively claims whatever is necessary to deceive us. This manipulative behavior of Allah not only proves he is a liar but it also proves that he is a fraud. Allah cannot be trusted.

When Muhammad was questioned by his contemporaries why he could not perform miracles, Allah could not answer them with a miracle. Note carefully how the "miracle-less" Allah evaded their challenge by drawing attention to the miracles in the Holy Bible. He pointed to the miracles in the Bible as evidence of the miracles that they were demanding. Four different translations of this vital Quranic verse are provided below:

Surah 20:133: And they say, "Why does he not bring us a miracle from his Lord?" Were they not given enough miracles in the former Scriptures? (Talal A. Itani)

Surah 20:133:They have said, "Why has he, (Muhammad), not brought some miracle from his Lord?" Have they not received the previously revealed heavenly Books as the evidence of the Truth? (Sarwar)

Surah 20:133:They said, "If he could only show us a miracle from his Lord!" Did they not receive sufficient miracles with the previous messages? (Khalifa)

Surah 20:133: They say: "Why does he not bring us a sign (proof) from his Lord?" Has there not come to them the proof of that which is written in the former Scriptures *(the Torah and the Gospel). (Hilali-Khan)*

As clarified in Hilali-Khan's translation, the "former Scriptures" are none other than the Torah and the Gospel. This proves that evidences of authentic miracles can only be found in the Bible. Therefore, the originator of those miracles cannot be Allah but the One who inspired the writings of the Holy Bible. For Muslims to know the truth about miracles, they must obey the commandment in the Quran to examine the inspired evidences in the Holy Bible.

Not only Allah failed to perform miracles but he also lied to cover up his failure. Muslims must realize that it is not an outside source but evidences in the Quran itself prove Allah is a liar. The fact that the Quran itself testifies that Jesus performed numerous miracles after the time of the Prophet Salih confirms the undeniable truth that not only is Allah a liar but also an impostor. Is it not clear that Allah is pretending to be the source behind the powerful miracles of Jesus? Who then is the true Source behind the powerful miracles performed by Jesus? His divine name is identified as Jehovah in the Holy Bible:

Psalm 83:18: You, whose name is Jehovah*, you alone are the Most High over all the earth.*

It was Jehovah who "anointed Jesus with the Holy Spirit" and empowered him to perform many powerful miracles. And the Bible testifies to this undeniable truth:

Acts 10:38: You know how God anointed Jesus from Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power. Jesus went through the land doing good and healing all those oppressed by the Devil. Jesus did these things because God was with him.

Acknowledging this undeniable truth, Allah is forced to admit that true miracles can only be found in the Holy Bible. This is because the Originator of true miracles is Jehovah – the God of the Bible.

A GOD OF TRUTH

In contrast to Allah, the Bible testifies that it is impossible for the true God to lie:

Hebrews 6:18: It is impossible for God to lie.

It is impossible for the true God to lie. By his very nature Jehovah cannot lie. Therefore, the Holy Bible which he revealed to us must be absolutely true. Christians must always treasure this divine quality of their God each time they study His Word, each time they pray to Him and each time they reach out for His love. Yes! God cannot lie. What a grand privilege to worship a God of such integrity. What a grand blessing it is to worship Jehovah our heavenly Father.

In contrast, Allah fabricated lies in the Quran. This invalidates the Quran as the Word of God. Who then is this lying deity behind the inspiration of the Quran? We will let the Bible answer. The Bible reveals the following truth concerning the characteristics of Satan:

John 8:44: He was a murderer from the beginning, and he did not stand fast in the truth*, because* truth is not in him. When he speaks the lie, he speaks according to his own character, for he is a liar and the father of the lie.

The Bible identifies Satan the Devil as a "liar and the father of the lie." Is it not a little suspicious that Allah exhibits the same deceptive character of Satan? This should alert sincere Muslims. And this gives us another convincing reason to reject Islam.

Muhammad’s Night Journey (Miraj) to Heaven Riding Female Headed Donkey

Muslims often cite two Quranic verses as evidence of miraculous events associated with Muhammad: his Night Journey and the splitting of the moon. These claims, however, warrant scrutiny to determine whether the Quran itself supports these interpretations or whether they are extrapolations from later Islamic sources.

The Night Journey

The supposed miracle of Muhammad's Night Journey is linked to Surah 17:1, which states:

"Glory be to Him who carried His servant by night from the Holy Mosque to the Further Mosque, the precincts of which We have blessed, that We might show him some of Our signs. He is the All-Hearing, the All-Seeing."

Muslims commonly interpret this verse as referring to Muhammad traveling from Mecca to Jerusalem on a supernatural flying creature, often identified in later sources as a buraq. However, examining the verse closely reveals several issues with this interpretation:

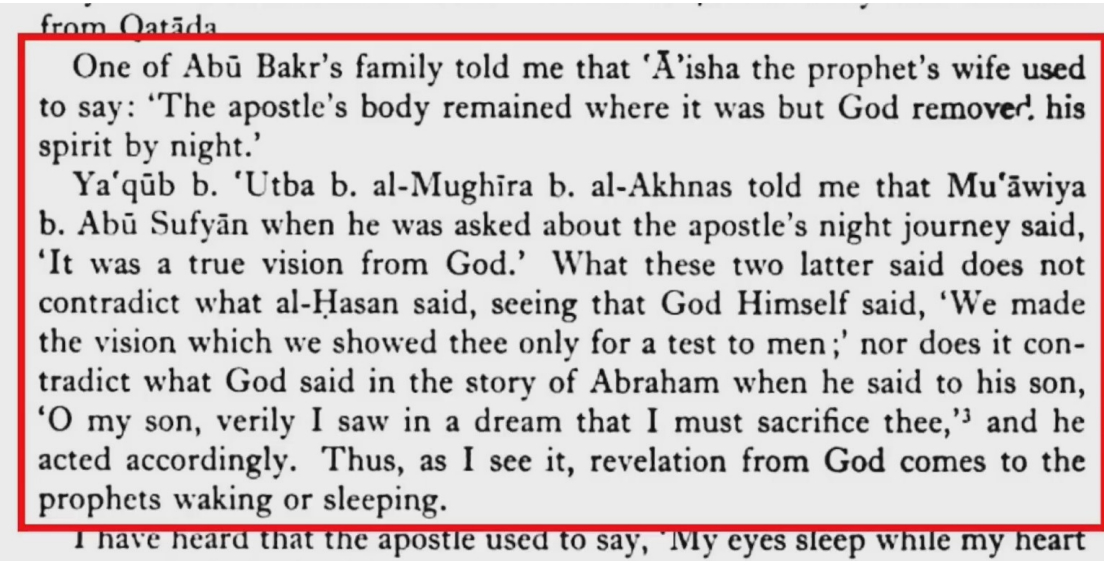
- No Mention of Muhammad: The verse refers to a "servant" but does not name Muhammad.
- No Mention of Jerusalem: The "Further Mosque" (Al-Aqsa) is not explicitly identified as Jerusalem.
- No Flying Creature: There is no reference to any "magic flying donkey monster," as described in later Islamic traditions.

When the context of Surah 17 is considered, the verse appears more connected to Moses than Muhammad. The following verses state:

"And We gave Moses the Book and made it a guidance for the Children of Israel, [saying], 'Do not take other than Me as [a] Disposer of [your] affairs.'" (17:2)

This continuity suggests the "servant" mentioned in 17:1 could be Moses, not Muhammad. Early Islamic sources also support the idea that Muhammad's Night Journey was a spiritual vision rather than a physical event.

Ibn Ishaq, one of the earliest biographers of Muhammad, records Aisha's statement:



from Qatāda

One of Abū Bakr's family told me that ʿĀ'isha the prophet's wife used to say: 'The apostle's body remained where it was but God removed his spirit by night.'

Yaʿqūb b. ʿUtba b. al-Mughīra b. al-Akhnas told me that Muʿāwiya b. Abū Sufyān when he was asked about the apostle's night journey said, 'It was a true vision from God.' What these two latter said does not contradict what al-Ḥasan said, seeing that God Himself said, 'We made the vision which we showed thee only for a test to men;' nor does it contradict what God said in the story of Abraham when he said to his son, 'O my son, verily I saw in a dream that I must sacrifice thee,'[3] and he acted accordingly. Thus, as I see it, revelation from God comes to the prophets waking or sleeping.

I have heard that the apostle used to say, 'My eyes sleep while my heart

"The Apostle's body remained where it was, but God removed his spirit by night." (Ibn Ishaq, p. 183)

Similarly, Mu'awiyah bin Abu Sufyan reportedly said the Night Journey was a "true vision from God."

Therefore, Quran 17:1 says absolutely nothing about Muhammad. In context it sounds like it's a part of a story about Moses.

But, if Quran 17:1 is about Muhammad, then Quran 17:60 refers back to Muhammad.

The Quran itself appears to support this interpretation in Surah 17:60:

"And [remember] when We said to you, 'Indeed, your Lord has encompassed the people.' And We did not make the vision which We showed you except as a trial for the people."

So if Quran 17:1 is about Muhammad's night journey, then clearly as of Quran 17:60 it's a vision.

The Splitting of the Moon

The second alleged miracle is the splitting of the moon, which Muslims attribute to Muhammad. This claim is tied to Surah 54:1-3, which states:

"The Hour has drawn near, and the moon has split [asunder]. But if they see a sign, they turn away and say, 'Passing magic.' And they denied and followed their inclinations. But every matter has been decreed."

The verse uses the past tense, which some interpret as describing a historical event, while others argue it is a prophetic reference to the Day of Judgment. Later Islamic sources claim that Muhammad split the moon as a miracle in response to a challenge from the Meccan polytheists.

However, several issues arise:

- No Mention of Muhammad's Role: The verse does not say Muhammad split the moon.
- Ambiguity of the Event: Many commentators, including Yusuf Ali, suggest the verse refers to a future event tied to the Day of Judgment.
- Contradictions in Interpretations: Some Muslims believe this describes an actual miracle performed by Muhammad, while others see it as a metaphorical or eschatological statement.

The note for the verse in the Quran's Haleem translation, "The Hour draws near; the moon is split," states:

"One of the signs of the Day of Judgement. The Arabic uses the past tense, as if that Day were already here, to help the reader/listener imagine how it will be. Some traditional commentators hold the view that this describes an actual event at the time of the Prophet, but it clearly refers to the end of the world: cf. the same expression with reference to the sky, 55: 37; 84: 1."

Yusuf Ali Quran translation offers three potential explanations as commentary:

Three explanations are given in the Mufradat, and perhaps all three apply here:

"(1) that the moon once appeared cleft asunder in the valley of Makkah within sight of the Prophet, his Companions, and some Unbelievers;

(2) that the prophetic past tense indicates the future, the cleaving asunder of the moon being a Sign of the Judgement approaching; and

(3) that the phrase is metaphorical, meaning that the matter has become clear as the moon. That the first was noticed by contemporaries, including Unbelievers, is clear from verse 2. The second is an incident of the disruption of the solar system at the New Creation: Cf. 75:8–9. And the third might well be implied as in eastern allegory, based on the other two."

Therefore, Yusuf Ali thinks all three explanations may apply. These are very different interpretations.
He says the first explanations are clear from verse 2. In Yusuf Ali translations verse 2 states:

“But if they see a Sign, they turn away, and say, “This is (but) transient magic.””

Notice this doesn’t say Muslims and Meccan Polytheists way a sign. It says ‘if’. It sounds like it is condemning the Polytheists for rejecting the Quran. Like “even if the day of judgment was approaching and the moon fell apart, they will just make excuses and call it a magic. Because that’s what they do when Quran is recited to them.”

None of these interpretations directly ties the event to Muhammad performing a miracle. Furthermore, if Muhammad had indeed split the moon, one would expect the Quran to address this explicitly and repeatedly as evidence of his prophethood, given the persistent criticisms of Muhammad’s lack of miracles in the Quran.

The Influence of Later Islamic Sources

The miraculous interpretations of Surah 17:1 and Surah 54:1-3 arise from sources written long after Muhammad's death. These later traditions, driven by a need to elevate Muhammad’s status, introduced miraculous narratives absent from the Quran. This phenomenon reflects the challenges Muhammad faced during his life:

- His inability to perform miracles was a point of contention with his contemporaries.
- The lack of single miracle was later compensated by fabricated stories to align Muhammad more closely with Jesus.

Conclusion

The Quran does not attribute the Night Journey or the splitting of the moon to Muhammad. The interpretations linking these events to him rely on later Islamic traditions rather than the Quran itself.

Let’s explore why they fabricated night journey to 7th heaven on top of a female headed donkey.

Introduction

When Muhammad undertook the journey of Isra/Miraj, many Islamic references mention that he was staying at the house of a woman named Umm Hani (Fakhitah bint Abi Talib) that night. Naturally, questions arise: Who was this woman? Why was the Prophet staying at her house that night? Who else was present with the Prophet and Umm Hani that night? And what was the nature of their relationship?

According to the strict and stringent rules of Islam, it is considered completely forbidden for a devout believer to interact, meet, or associate with anyone other than their husband or blood relatives. For those with whom marriage is permissible, there are numerous prohibitions even regarding interactions, meetings, and conversations. However, Islamic references indicate that the Prophet would spend the night at the house of a woman with whom marriage was permissible.

Some Muslims argue that at that time, the rulings of modesty and veiling had not yet been revealed, which is why the Prophet acted in this manner. However, even after the revelation of the rulings on veil, the Prophet continued to meet, interact, and dine with Umm Hani. Additionally, many Islamic scholars assert that the Prophet never engaged in any forbidden acts, even before the revelation of specific rulings in Islam. For instance, most Islamic scholars believe that even before the Quran was revealed, the Prophet never committed adultery, drank alcohol, or worshipped idols (later 2 claims are not true according to authentic Islamic Hadiths).

Based on this understanding, it can be assumed that even before the rulings on modesty were revealed, the Prophet did not interact inappropriately with women he could lawfully marry. In response to the question of what kind of relationship he had with Umm Hani, many Islamic scholars state that the Prophet considered Umm Hani as a sister. They argue that it is the disbelievers with distorted minds who spread slander about this sacred brother-sister relationship.

Who Was Umm Hani (Fakhitah bint Abi Talib)?

The real name of Umm Hani was Fakhitah or Fakitah; some sources also mention her name as Hind (Siyar A'lam al-Nubala 3/537). She was the daughter of Abu Talib, the uncle of Prophet Muhammad, and her mother was Fatimah bint Asad (Usd al-Ghabah 5/501). Umm Hani was the sister of Ja'far, Aqil, and the fourth caliph of Islam, Ali ibn Abi Talib (Al-Isabah 4/503).

After the death of Prophet Muhammad's parents, he was first cared for by his grandfather, Abdul Muttalib, and later by his uncle, Abu Talib. As a result, he grew up alongside his cousins, including Umm Hani. It is noteworthy that during that time, marriage between cousins was not considered inappropriate or taboo, as it is often viewed today. In fact, the Quran permits marriages between first cousins, while Hadith promotes marriage between cousins. Although modern perspectives might discourage such practices due to potential genetic risks.

Introduction to Umm Hani (According to Asma' al-Rijal, Mufti Ghulam Rabbani Bhuiya, Publisher: Mr. Lokman Hossain, Pages 51, 52)

- Name: Fakhitah or Hind (Siyar A'lam al-Nubala 3/537)
- Title: Umm Hani (a name derived from her son Hani)
- Father's Name: Abu Talib (Usd al-Ghabah 5/501)
- Mother's Name: Fatimah bint Asad (Al-Isabah 4/503)

- Relationship with the Prophet: Cousin of Prophet Muhammad and sister of Ali and Ja'far (Tadhkirah 1/38).

Acceptance of Islam

Umm Hani accepted Islam during the conquest of Mecca in the 8th year of Hijrah (Usd al-Ghabah 5/501).

Prophet Muhammad's Stay in Her Home

During the conquest of Mecca, Prophet Muhammad stayed at her house, performed ghusl (ritual purification), and offered the Duha prayer (Al-Isabah 4/503) [voluntary (Sunnah) prayer performed in the forenoon, usually after sunrise and before the Dhuhr (noon) prayer]. Additionally, the historic event of Isra and Mi'raj occurred while the Prophet was staying at her home during the siege in the Valley of Abu Talib (Tadhkirah 1/38).

Marriage

Before Prophethood, Muhammad proposed marriage to Umm Hani (Siyar A'lam al-Nubala 3/537). However, her father, Abu Talib, arranged her marriage to Hubaybah ibn Abi Wahb al-Makhzumi instead (Usd al-Ghabah 5/501). After the conquest of Mecca, when her husband did not accept Islam and fled, the Prophet once again proposed to her. This time, Umm Hani declined, citing that she was already a mother to many children (Al-Isabah 4/503).

Contribution to Hadith

Umm Hani narrated 46 hadiths from the Prophet Muhammad. Among them, one hadith is jointly recorded in both Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim (Tadhkirah 1/38).

Death

Umm Hani passed away after the 50th year of Hijrah (Al-Isabah 4/503).

What is Ghayr Mahram?

Ghayr Mahram refers to those men in front of whom it is not permissible for a woman to appear according to Islamic law and with whom marriage is lawful. If a woman absolutely must appear before a Ghayr Mahram, she must do so while observing full modesty (purdah/veil). For instance, the Muhammad was considered Ghayr Mahram to Umm Hani, meaning marriage with her was permissible. All men, except those categorized as Mahram, are considered Ghayr Mahram to believing women. This includes even close male relatives like paternal or maternal cousins, brothers-in-law, uncles by marriage, divorced stepfather, half blood brother and fathers-in-law. Interaction, appearance, or casual mingling with them is strictly prohibited according to Islamic principles.

Childhood Affair

There isn't much information about the childhood or early life of Umm Hani in Islamic history. However, there are a few accounts about her marriage. Before receiving prophethood, Muhammad proposed marriage to Umm Hani through her father, Abu Talib. Simultaneously, another proposal came from Hubayra ibn Abi Wahb (or Hubayra ibn 'Amr ibn 'Ayidh al-Makhzumi). Abu Talib accepted Hubayra's proposal and married Umm Hani to him (As'hab-e-Rasul).

Muhammad was deeply saddened by this and expressed his dismay, saying: "Uncle, you rejected my proposal and married her to Hubayra?" (Sirat Ibn Hisham, Vol. 2, Page 420).

Abu Talib replied: "Nephew, we have married her to someone of equal status. Noble ones marry within their peers." (A'lam an-Nisa, Vol. 4, Page 14).

This response indicates that Abu Talib did not consider the Muhammad equal in status. Is it because he was an orphan and impoverished? (read The only documented miracle of Muhammad chapter for more). This early emotional connection of the Prophet with Umm Hani remained unfulfilled. Some speculate that the Prophet's later marriage to the wealthy and 14 years older Khadijah was influenced by this episode, but this is not certain.

The Lives of the Companions of the Prophet, Female Companions, Muhammad Abdul Mabud, Bangladesh Islamic Center, Volume 6, Page 98:

> Umm Hani bint Abi Talib :
> Historically, Umm Hani is best known by her nickname. Her real name was Fakhita or Hind, according to some opinions. She was the daughter of Abu Talib and Fatima bint Asad, making her a sister to Aqil, Ja'far, Talib, and Ali (Sirat Ibn Hisham, 2/420; Al-'Alam An-Nisa, 4/14; Al-Isti'ab, 2/772).
> Although little is known about her early life, her marriage has been documented. Before prophethood, Prophet Muhammad sent a marriage proposal to Abu Talib for Umm Hani, along with one from Hubayra ibn 'Amr ibn 'Ayidh al-Makhzumi. Abu Talib accepted Hubayra's proposal, marrying her to him. Upon hearing this, the Prophet remarked:
> "Uncle, you rejected my proposal and married her to Hubayra?"

Abu Talib replied:

"Nephew, we have married her to someone of equal status. Noble ones marry within their peers." (A'lam an-Nisa, Vol. 4, Page 14).

No further details beyond this are recorded. However, the marriage to Hubayra ibn 'Amr is widely affirmed in various sources (Usud al-Ghabah, Vol. 5, Page 624).

Conversion to Islam:

There are differing accounts regarding when Umm Hani embraced Islam. According to Imam al-Dhahabi:

"Her conversion to Islam was delayed, and she accepted it on the day of the Conquest of Mecca" (Siyar A'lam an-Nubala, Vol. 2, Page 31).

However, narrations about the Prophet's Miraj (night journey) mention her prominently. It is believed that the Miraj began from her house, suggesting she was a Muslim before the Hijrah (migration to Medina).

She recounted:

"The Prophet performed the Isha prayer in my house and slept there. We also slept. Just before Fajr, he woke us and prayed Fajr with us. Then he said: 'Umm Hani, you saw that I prayed Isha in this valley last night. Then I traveled to Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem), performed prayer there, and returned to pray Fajr with you. ……..'" (Sirat Ibn Hisham, Vol. 2, Page 420).

But even if Umm Hani didn't accept Islam then and the Prophet Muhammad were not married, what kind of prayer they performed?
Without marriage could they truly remain distant from each other? Would one listen to the other's voice at night with intent? According to a hadith, the Prophet Muhammad would recite Qiraah (Qur'anic recitation) during the night, and Umm Hani would listen to it from her rooftop. This indicates that, while they were physically distant, their hearts were not far apart.

The Death of Abu Talib and Khadijah

According to nearly all Islamic sources, the Prophet Muhammad's wealthy merchant wife, Khadijah—whose home he lived in as a husband and who brought him wealth through marriage—passed away in the year 619 CE. Around the same time, Abu Talib (Hani's father) also passed away. Therefore, it can be stated with certainty that during the event of Miraj (the Night Journey), Prophet Muhammad's wife Khadijah was no longer alive.
This is further corroborated in the book Seerat-ul-Mustafa by Allama Idris Kandhlavi, where it is mentioned that their deaths occurred prior to the Mi'raj event. [Seerat-ul-Mustafa, Allama Idris Kandhalvi, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Pages 236, 249, 250]

> Seerat-ul-Mustafa, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Pages 236:
> "The demise of Abu Talib and Khadija tul-Kubra:
> After Abu Talib returned from Shi'b Abu Talib (the Valley of Abu Talib), a few days later in the 10th year of the Prophet's prophethood during the month of Ramadan, Abu Talib passed away. Three or five days after that, Khadija also passed away."
> Seerat-ul-Mustafa, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Pages 249:
> ■Isra and Mi'raj
> After returning from Ta'if, Allah's Messenger was spiritually taken from Masjid al-Haram to Masjid al-Aqsa and then from Masjid al-Aqsa to the heavens during a single night. This miraculous journey, known as Isra and Mi'raj, was a special honor granted to him by Allah. There is a difference of opinion among the scholars regarding the exact year this event took place. The primary opinions are as follows:

1. Six months before Hijrah
2. Eight months before Hijrah
3. One year before Hijrah
4. One year and one month before Hijrah

Seerat-ul-Mustafa, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Pages 250:

5. One year and two months before Hijrah;
6. One year and three months before Hijrah;
7. One year and five months before Hijrah;
8. One year and six months before Hijrah;
9. One year and eight months before Hijrah;
10. Five years before Hijrah.

Among these, there are differing opinions regarding the year of Mi'raj, as summarized by scholars. The common belief is that it occurred after the demise of Hazrat Khadijah and Abu Talib, and before the Prophet's migration. As narrated, the Mi'raj occurred after Khadijah and Abu Talib had passed away, placing this event after the Year of Sorrow (Aam-ul-Huzn).

Some traditions specify that the Mi'raj took place one year before Hijrah, while others suggest an earlier timeline. Many scholars reconcile these differences by suggesting that the initial spiritual ascension occurred first, followed by the final physical ascension closer to Hijrah.

A significant conclusion from these narrations indicates that Mi'raj likely happened during a period when the Prophet faced great difficulty, following the death of his supporters and his return from Ta'if. This sacred journey came as a form of divine consolation, preparing him for the great responsibilities of the upcoming migration and the establishment of the Islamic state in Medina.

It is also recorded that Mi'raj occurred on the 27th night of Rajab, and this has become a prominent date in Islamic tradition. While some scholars emphasize that the precise timing remains disputed, the importance of the event and its spiritual significance is unanimously recognized.

The events of the night of Miraj

If we closely observe, it becomes evident that during the time of the Miraj, the Prophet Muhammad's wife, Khadijah , was no longer alive. The Prophet was undoubtedly saddened by her passing. Around the same period, Umm Hani's father, Abu Talib, also passed away. In such circumstances, I do not find it unusual for the Prophet to experience a rekindling of old affections. It is human nature to seek the company of loved ones during times of sorrow and grief. This is simply a characteristic of human behavior. Let us now consider the perspectives of several renowned Islamic scholars.

Quranul Kareem, Bengali Translation & Short Tafseer, Dr. Abu Bakr Muhammad Zakaria, Volume 1, page 959:

> Here, the term "Masjid-ul-Haram" generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah, known as the Baitullah Sharif, which is surrounded by the Sacred Mosque. However, in certain places in the Qur'an and Sunnah, it is used to mean the entire Haram Sharif (the Sacred Sanctuary), which includes the areas designated by the Quraysh, which surpasses several square kilometers. Its boundaries were demarcated by Ibrahim . For example, in Miraj event Masjid-ul-Haram is mentioned.
> In Islamic jurisprudence, the term "Masjid-ul-Haram" in this context does not only signify the Ka'bah itself. This is because, in cases where certain actions are associated with areas beyond the immediate vicinity of the Ka'bah, like the Prophet's ﷺ house or locations outside Baitullah's vicinity, it implies the broader Haram area. Miraj event commenced from Umm Hani's house, which is outside immediate vicinity of the Ka'bah. Similarly, in Surah At-Tawbah, verse 7, the term Masjid-ul-Haram is mentioned, and it refers to the entire Haram Sharif. This is because the specifically mentioned limited space referred to as 'Hanifiyah' lies outside the perimeter of Haram Sharif but is in close proximity. Because, the place of treaty of Hudaibiya is outside the bounderies of Masjid-ul-Haram but is in close proximity. [Reference: Al-Balagul Haram: Ahkam wa Adab]

Seeratun Nabi, Ibn Hisham, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Volume 2, Page 76

> About the Isra of Prophet Muhammad Narration of Umm Hani:
> Musanna Ibn Ishaq said: The narration about Isra (Miraj) from Umm Hani bint Abi Talib is as follows. She would say: "From my house, Muhammad's journey began. He was sleeping in my house that night. After performing the Isha prayer, he went to sleep. We also slept. Then as morning approached he called us up. Then we prayed with him Fajr prayer. Then he would say: 'O Umm Hani! What you saw is that I performed the Isha prayer with you and slept with you. However, afterward, I traveled to the Dome of the Rock (Bait-ul-Muqaddas) and prayed there. Then I returned and performed the Fajr prayer with you, as you saw.'"

Umm Hani narrates: "When he said this, he would rise to go somewhere. I caught the corner of the bed-sheet, as a result his cloth from belly shifted. It looked like transparent and polished like folded Kibty dress. I told him: O prophet of Allah! Don't disclose this event to people, otherwise they will blame you to be falsifier and hurt you. Then Muhammad would then say: "By Allah! I will certainly tell it to them."

Tafseer Ma'ariful Qur'an, Maulana Muhammad Shafi, Volume 4, Page 396:

The term "Masjid-ul-Haram" generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah (Baitullah Sharif), which is enclosed by walls. However, in certain verses of the Qur'an and Hadith, it is used to refer to the entirety of the Haram Sharif, encompassing the broader area designated by the Quraysh, whose boundaries were demarcated by Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham). For instance, on certain occasions, the reference to Masjid-ul-Haram includes broader areas.

In Islamic jurisprudence, the term "Masjid-ul-Haram" here does not exclusively mean the immediate Ka'bah itself. This is because the event of Miraj happened from the house of Umm Hani, which is apart from Masjid-ul-Haram's vicinity. Similarly, in the important verse from Surah At-Tawbah, "They will not transgress against you near the Sacred Mosque", it refers to the entirety of the Haram Sharif. This is because the specifically mentioned site, known as Hudaibiya is outside the bounderies of Masjid-ul-Haram but is in close proximity. After the era of ignorance (Jahiliyyah), entry into the full Haram Sharif was restricted for non-Muslims.

Tafsir Jalalain, Volume 2, Page 650

"By 'Masjid al-Haram,' it generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah that is enclosed by walls. However, in the Qur'an and certain hadiths, it is also used to refer to the entire Haram Sharif of Makkah, which spans several square miles and whose boundaries were designated by Ibrahim (Abraham). For example, in the event of Mi'raj (the Night Journey), the mention of Masjid al-Haram refers to this broader definition. According to the consensus of scholars, 'Masjid al-Haram' in this context does not mean the immediate surroundings of the Ka'bah. This is because the starting point of the Mi'raj was from the house of Umm Hani, which was located outside but its immediate vicinity. Similarly, in Surah At-Tawbah, the mention of 'Masjid al-Haram' also implies the entire Haram Sharif. This is because the reference point here is Hudaybiyyah, which is located just outside the Haram Sharif boundary. Following year polytheists were prohibited from entering the entire Haram Sharif."

Sirat-e-Rasulullah, Translation by Shaheed Akhando, Prothoma Prokashoni (publishers), Page 218

Regarding Rasulullah's Miraj, Umm Hani bint Abi Talib AKA Hind gave some description. She told: "He has gone to Miraj from my house, from nowhere else. At that night he was sleeping in my house. At that night he went to sleep after Isha prayer. We also went to sleep. Just before dawn he waken us up. We took Fajar prayer. Then he said, "Umm Hani, yesterday here, in this valley I prayed with you Isha prayer. You have seen that. Then I went to Jerusalem and took prayer there. Again just in a moment before I prayed with you Fazar prayer, as you have seen." As he began to go out I caught his upper garment, as a result his belly was revealed, it was like I was pulling a folded Egyptian garment. I told him, "Rasulullah don't tell this event, they will say it's fabricated, they will shame you." He said, "By Allah I will certainly tell it."

Next, let us examine the famous tafsir (commentary) book by a prominent Bangladeshi scholar, Dr. Abu Bakr Muhammad Zakaria, a work authenticated by the Saudi government.

The Translation and Concise Commentary of the Qur'an, Dr. Abu Bakr Muhammad Zakaria, Volume 2, King Fahd Quran Printing Complex, Page 959:

"By 'Masjid al-Haram,' it generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah that is enclosed by walls. However, in the Qur'an and certain hadiths, it is also used to refer to the entire Haram Sharif of Makkah, which spans several square miles and whose boundaries were designated by Ibrahim (Abraham). For example, in the event of Mi'raj (the Night Journey), the mention of Masjid al-Haram refers to this broader definition. According to the consensus of scholars, 'Masjid al-Haram' in this context does not mean the immediate surroundings of the Ka'bah. This is because the starting point of the Mi'raj was from the house of Umm Hani, which was located outside but its immediate vicinity. Similarly, in Surah At-Tawbah verse 7, the mention of 'Masjid al-Haram' also implies the entire Haram Sharif area. This is because the reference point here is Hudaybiyyah, which is located just outside the Haram Sharif boundary.

> Following year polytheists were prohibited from entering the entire Haram Sharif. [Al-Baladul Haram: Ahkam wa Adab]"

Let's look at another passage from the translation and brief commentary on the Qur'an published under the direction and patronage of King Salman ibn Abdul Aziz Al Saud of Saudi Arabia, where it appears that the Prophet narrated the incident to Umm Hani on his return from Meraj

The Translation and Concise Commentary of the Qur'an, Dr. Abu Bakr Muhammad Zakaria, Volume 2, King Fahd Quran Printing Complex, Page* 1466:

> "Besides when the messenger of Allah narrated the incident of Meraj to Umm Hani, she advised that he should not reveal it to anyone; if you reveal it, the disbelievers will lie about you even more. If the event was just a dream, what was the reason to lie? Then when the messenger of Allah revealed the incident the disbelievers put lie on him and mocked. Even many believers faith was wavering after hearing that."

Now let's read the speech of the Prophet from the interpretation book of Bokhari Sharif. This account shows that the Prophet returned to his companions shortly before dawn. That is, the Prophet was with his companions before with Umm Hani. After returning, Abu Bakr asked the companions, where were you at night? Abu Bakr looked everywhere for Muhammad, but could not find him. That is, the Prophet went somewhere in the middle and spent almost the whole night there in that particular place. So, in response to Abu Bakr's question, the Prophet said, "I visited Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem) at that time." On the other hand, according to Umm Hani's narration, he came to her house and slept in Umm Hani's room after praying at night. That is, leaving Abu Bakr in front of the Kaaba, the Prophet went to the house of Umm Hani, prayed or whatever he did, then went to sleep. He returned to Abu Bakr before dawn and said, "I have visited Baitul Moqaddas." Review these Two case.

Bukhari Sharif Bengali Translation and Commentary, Siratun Nabi Collection, Maulana Shamsul Haque Faridpuri, Volume V, Hamidiya Library, published 1977-78, page 507:

> ……..Then I returned to my companions in Mecca before dawn. Then Abu Bakr came to me and asked, "I have searched for you in all possible places." Then Muhammad told the story of visiting Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem). Abu Bakr was astonished and told, "Messenger of Allah Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem) is located on the path of one month (Abu Bakr previously visited Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem))! Muhammad told him many description of Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem). Then Abu Bakr was astonished and said, “Truly you are messenger of Allah.”

Muhammad’s uncle’s daughter Umm Hani described that He has gone to Miraj from my house. At that night he was sleeping in my house. At that night he went to sleep after prayer. We also went to sleep. Just before dawn we woke up together. After Fajar prayer he said, “Yesterday in this Mecca I prayed with you Isha prayer. Then I went to Jerusalem and took prayer there. Again just in a moment before I prayed with you Fazar prayer.” [Tafsir Ibn Kathir 3-22]

The same is stated in Tafseer Mazhari.

Tafsir-e-Mahari, Volume 5, Page 288, 289–

"After this year, let them no longer come close to Masjid al-Haram." Hanafi scholars interpret this to mean that after this year, no disbeliever can approach Masjid al-Haram to do so Hajj and Unrah. Based on this interpretation, the prohibition of non-believers from entering Masjid al-Haram has not been explicitly mandated. Therefore, other mosques do not fall under this restriction. The phrase "don’t come close to" refers specifically to performing Hajj and Umrah at Masjid al-Haram.
Imam Shafei states that "don’t come close to" in this context is specific to the boundaries of Masjid al-Haram and refers to their prohibition from entering it.

Regarding this narration, a verse states:
"Glory to Him who took His servant by night from the Sacred Mosque (Masjid al-Haram) to the Farthest Mosque (Masjid al-Aqsa)—whose surroundings We have blessed—that We might show him some of Our signs. "
(Surah Al-Isra, 17:1)

On Miraj night Muhammad was taken from Umm Hani’s house, not from Kaaba. This verse further establishes that the boundaries of Masjid al-Haram extend beyond the Kaaba itself. However, the phrase "don’t come close to" in the Quran refers specifically to the prohibition of non-believers from entering the wider boundaries of Masjid al-Haram.

The same description is given in Tafseer Jalaline

[Tafsir al-Jalalayn, Volume 2, Page 650] –

By 'Masjid al-Haram,' it generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah that is enclosed by walls. However, in the Qur'an and certain hadiths, it is also used to refer to the entire Haram Sharif of Makkah, which spans several square miles and whose boundaries were designated by Ibrahim (Abraham). For example, in the event of Mi'raj (the Night Journey), the mention of Masjid al-Haram refers to this broader definition, because it was from Umm Hani's house, which is situated outside of the compound of Baitullah. Similarly, in Surah At-Tawbah verse 7, the mention of 'Masjid al-Haram' also implies the entire Haram Sharif entire area. This is because the reference point here is Hudaybiyyah, which is located just outside the Haram Sharif boundary but in close viscinity. Following year polytheists were prohibited from entering the entire Haram Sharif.

A similar description is also found in the Tafseer Ma'areful Quran written by the renowned Pakistani Islamic scholar Maulana Muhammad Shafi

[Tafsir Ma'ariful Qur'an, Maulana Muhammad Shafi, Volume 4, Page 396.]

By 'Masjid al-Haram,' it generally refers to the area surrounding the Ka'bah that is enclosed by walls. Now let us look at a document from Mukhtasar Jadul Ma'ad written by Imam Ibn al-Qayyim, where it appears that he met Umm Hani after returning from Miraj and to Umm Hani he first disclosed the incident

[Mukhtasar Zad al-Ma'ad, Imam Ibn al-Qayyim pag1 217]–

The incident of Miraj has a special lesson for preachers of Islam. When Muhammad came back from Miraj and explained his desire to tell the prople the story, Umm Hani bint Abu Talib said to him: I am afraid that people will call you a liar. Muhammad then said; By Aallah! I will definitely tell them the story. Even if they call me a liar.

Many Islamic apologists claim that during the night of Mi'raj (Ascension) or Isra, Umm Hani's husband, Hubayra ibn ‘Amr ibn ‘Ayidh al-Makhzumi, was also present. They base this claim on a description where Umm Hani used the word "we," implying that her husband was at home that night. According to this narrative, Umm Hani, her husband, and the Prophet Muhammad supposedly prayed together that night.

However, another account reveals that Umm Hani's husband had fled the area out of fear of Muhammad, which will be discussed later. The question arises: would someone who prayed with the Prophet and his wife at night flee the region in fear after the conquest of Mecca?

Additionally, a critical issue here is that most sources indicate Umm Hani accepted Islam only after the conquest of Mecca (Seerat al-Mustafa, Allama Idris Kandhlavi, Islamic Foundation, Vol. 3, p. 43). So how and why would they pray together while the Prophet was still in Mecca before the Hijra? Umm Hani was not Muslim at the time/night—what kind of prayer was they performing? (Think about the steps of Islamic prayer) The narrative doesn't add up. Let's examine the relevant sources:

Seerat al-Mustafa*, Allama Idris Kandhlavi, Islamic Foundation, Vol. 3, p. 43:

> Narrated by Umm Hani bint Abi Talib :
> Muhammad ibn Ishaq reported, quoting Muhammad ibn Muhammad Sa’ib al-Kalbi ... Umm Hani bint Abi Talib narrated an event, saying, "On the night of Isra and Mi'raj (The Night Journey and Ascension), the Prophet Muhammad stayed in my house. He prayed the Isha prayer and then went to sleep in my house. We also went to sleep. Before dawn, we woke him up. Then he took prayer and we also did with him. After performing Salah with us, he said, 'O Umm Hani, I prayed the Isha prayer with you all and now I will prayed the morning Salah. Between this time, Allah took me on Baitul Moqaddas (Jerusalem) and brought him back to you, as you see. The rabi named Kalbi is ignored by muhaddis. But Abu Yala his Musnade Muhammad ibn Ishmail Ansari ……. from Umm Hani narrated the Hadith and narrated very broadly. Hafiz Abul Kashem Tarbani Abdul Aala Ibn Abdul Musavir…… Umm Hani narrates, she says “On the night of Miraj Rasulullah was in my house. Afterwards haven’t found him I was panicked and spent sleepless night in the fear that Quraish tribe might get him in trouble.

Seeratun Nabi, Ibn Hisham, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Vol. 2, p. 76:

Muhammad ibn Ishaq says, Muhammad ibn Sa’ib al-Kalbi…

Narrated from Umm al-Hani bint Abu Talib . She relates about the Miraj (Night Journey) of Rasulullah (ﷺ) and says: On the night when the Miraj took place, he was resting at my house. After the Isha prayer, he lay down to sleep. We also fell asleep. Just before Fajr, he woke us up. He performed the prayer and we prayed with him. Then he said: 'O Umm al-Hani, you saw me pray the Isha prayer with you and then sleep here. But after that, I went to Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem) and prayed there. Now, I prayed Fajr with you, which you witnessed.' Umm al-Hani says, after this, he stood up to leave. I grabbed the corner of his cloak, and as a result, his garment shifted. It looked like a smooth, clear, and folded Egyptian cloth. I said: 'O Prophet of Allah! Do not tell the people about this. Otherwise, they will accuse you of lying and cause you distress.' But he said: 'By Allah! I will definitely tell them about this.' Then I said to my Abyssinian maid: 'Why are you sitting there? Hurry up! Go with Rasulullah and listen to what he tells the people and see what they comment.

Now let us look at the description from the book Sīrat-e-Rasulullah published by Prothoma Prokashoni (publishers):

Regarding the Prophet Muhammad's (PBUH) Mi'raj (Night Journey), I have received some accounts from Umm Hani bint Abi Talib, also known as Hind. She said:

"He embarked on the Mi'raj while staying at my house, not from any other place. That night, he was sleeping in my house. After performing the Isha prayer, he went to sleep, and we also went to sleep. A little before dawn, the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) woke us up. We performed the Fajr prayer. Then he said, ‘Umm Hani, last night I prayed the Isha prayer with you here in this valley; you saw it yourself. Then I went to Jerusalem and prayed there, and now I have just returned to pray the Fajr prayer with you, as you have seen.’

When he got up to leave, I grabbed his garment and pulled it, which caused it to reveal part of his stomach, as if I had pulled on a folded Egyptian cloth. I said, 'O Messenger of Allah, do not tell anyone about this; they will say it is false and insult you.' He replied, 'By Allah, I will surely tell them.'"

Now let's read from Tafseer Mazhari.

Tafsir-e-Mazhari, Volume 7, Pages 16 and 17 –
It is stated:
"Min al-Masjid al-Haram ila al-Masjid al-Aqsa" (from Masjid al-Haram to Masjid al-Aqsa),* meaning from the Kaaba in Makkah to the farthest mosque (in Jerusalem).

From Hazrat Anas , through Malik bin Sashar , Imam Bukhari and Imam Muslim narrated via a continuous chain that, the Prophet said: "I was feeling sleepy at Kaaba premises. At that time, Jibrael (Gabriel) appeared to me, bringing Buraq. Another narration stares: "I was lying on Kaaba's hatim."

Some scholars have said: The Prophet Muhammad spent the night at his paternal cousin Umm Hani's house. From there, he was taken on the night journey. To be noted that entire area of Mecca is considered Masjid al-Haram.

Narrations from Hazrat Anas mention that the Hadith recorded by Bukhari and Muslim elaborates from Kaaba yard. Again Narrations from Hazrat Anas through Hazrat Abu Jar, Hadith recorded by Bukhari and Muslim elaborates the Prophet said, "I was laying down at that moment. From there through Kaaba's roof I was taken out.

Allama Abu Yali in his 'Musnad' and Allama Tibrini in his book 'Al-Kabir' wrote that during the Mi'raj, the Prophet Muhammad departed from the house of Hazrat Uda Hani. He returned within a very short time and mentioned the miraculous events to Hazrat Uda Hani at her house. He said that all the prophets were presented before him. Each one of them performed prayers. And I was Imam (leader) in that prayer. He informed everyone about the miraculous event in Kaaba premise in the morning. At this all became astonished. Truth deniers denied it, even some faint hearted believers disbelieved. By these they became apostates. Some went by running at the house of Abu Bakr. Calling him they said: "Have you heard that your friend has visited furthest mosque and returned the same night. After this will you believe him?" Abu Bakr said, "If my beloved friend has said this, then he has spoken the truth. I believe all his statements. I even believe in events far more miraculous than this. Hazrat Jibril (Gabriel) would bring Quranic revelations from Allah and then return. Comuting bearing Allah's great word is more miraculous. Though I believe that.

Few people of Mecca visited furthest mosque (Jerusalem) once or more. When someone questioned the Prophet about his journey to furthest mosque (Jerusalem), the veil that covered his distance sight was lifted. He was allowed to witness the blessed scene with their own eyes and describe. The questioners were astonished hearing the minor details, saying you are correct. When they asked about the distance of their caravan that is approaching towards Mecca the Prophet described them camel number, goods above them- everything. Then he said in this and this day your caravan will reach Mecca. In front of the caravan will be a camel of mud color. At that specified day those people rising up early went on a hill for the caravan. All were astonished seeing the caravan was heading towards them. And in front of them are a camel of mud color. Even seeing this evidence the skeptics didn't believe saying it's clearly magic.

I say, the events of Mi'raj occurred twice: once from Masjid al-Haram's hatim and another from the house of Hazrat Uda Hani. Therefore, the details of these accounts align correctly in their respective contexts.

You see as Muhammad had no miracle *c*ompanions are trying to forge them in later days. And even the narrations are contradicting. Now let us read part of a page from Tafseer Ibn Abbas on sura Bani Israel.

Tafseer Ibn Abbas, Volume 2, page 232] –

He is free from having children and is great, who took His servant on a journey; in another narration, it states that He caused His servant Muhammad to travel by night, during the first part of the night, from Masjid al-Haram, that is, from the house of Abu Talib's daughter Umm Hani, located in the area of Haram Sharif, to Masjid al-Aqsa, which refers to Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem). It is called Masjid al-Aqsa because it is situated at a distant location from the land of Mecca. (166). (Surrounding it, We have blessed with water bodies, trees, and various crops)

Now let's take a look at the Hajj, Umrah and Pilgrimage Guide published by the Saudi government, which is a book that the Saudi government provides for free distribution

Hajj, Umrah, and Ziyarah Guide, for free distribution by Islam House –

Exalted is the One who took His servant by night from Masjid al-Haram to Masjid al-Aqsa, whose surroundings We have blessed." According to historians, the Prophet Muhammad was taken for the journey of Isra and Miraj from the house of Umm Hani. At that time, the area surrounding the Kaaba was limited, and Masjid al-Haram only covered a small space. Umm Hani's house was located at a distance from Masjid al-Haram. Despite this, the place is referred to as Masjid al-Haram.

Hearing Bilal's Footsteps in Paradise

Let's read an intriguing hadith. According to Islamic faith, humans were created by Allah for a test. After death, they will face punishment in the grave, followed by judgment in Allah's presence on the Day of Resurrection. Those who obey Allah will enter Paradise, while those who disobey will go to Hell. The judgment will take place after the destruction of the universe.

However, this hadith presents a unique scenario where the sound of a living person's footsteps is heard in Paradise. The Prophet Muhammad said he heard the sound of Bilal's shoes in Paradise before him.

[Mishkat al-Masabih (Mishkat), Hadith: 1322].

Source: Mishkat al-Masabih (Mishkat)
Section: 4. Prayer
Chapter: 39. First Section – Voluntary Prayers
All forms of voluntary prayers proven from the Prophet (ﷺ) include Salat al-Tahiyyatul Wudu, Salat al-Istikhara, Tawba, Salat al-Hajat, and Salat al-Tasbih.

Explanation:
The term التَّطَوُّعِ comes from الطوع، والطاعة, meaning compliance, fulfillment, and acceptance. This word applies to all non-obligatory prayers, and anyone who performs additional righteous acts is called مُتَطَوِّعِ.

Hadith Number: 1322.
Narrated by Abu Hurairah :
The Prophet (ﷺ) asked Bilal during Fajr prayer, "O Bilal! What deed have you done after accepting Islam that you hope brings you great reward? I heard the sound of your sandals in Paradise." Bilal replied, "I don't think I've done anything extraordinary. However, whenever I performed ablution, I offered as many voluntary prayers as possible." (Sources: Sahih Bukhari 1149, Sahih Muslim 2458, Irwa 464, Sahih al-Targheeb 226, Musnad Ahmad 8403, Ibn Khuzaymah 1208)

Grade: Sahih (Authentic)

Questions Raised:

- The Prophet Muhammad had not yet entered Paradise. When exactly did he go there apart from the Isra and Miraj?
- Bilal was alive at the time, and the Day of Judgment had not occurred. How was his presence in Paradise explained?
- Could it be that the Prophet experienced heavenly bliss while on Earth, and during such a moment, he heard Bilal's footsteps nearby as guard?

Description of the Prophet's Body

After the Isra (Night Journey), when the Prophet prepared to leave, Umm Hani accidentally pulled a corner of his cloak, exposing part of his abdomen. She described the Prophet's abdomen as resembling folded Egyptian linen. The Prophet's companion, Umm Hani, marveled at the beauty of his exposed body and praised his appearance.

Such descriptions from non-mahram women raise questions about their Islamic permissibility, which scholars can better address. [As'haabe Rasuler Jibonkotha (Lives of the Companions of the Prophet), Women Companions, by Muhammad Abdul Mabud, Bangladesh Islamic Centre, Volume 6, Page 99; Seerat-un-Nabi (S.A.W.) (Biography of the Prophet), by Ibn Hisham, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Volume 2, Page 76.]

The Prophet's abdomen is not described similarly by any of his wives, but Umm Hani repeatedly praised it. She said:

> "I have never seen anyone with a more beautiful smile than the Prophet's. Whenever I saw his abdomen, I would recall it vividly. On the day of the conquest of Mecca, I observed that the Prophet had his hair braided into four plaits." [Al-Waqidi, Page 427]

Fear of the Prophet Led to Husband's Escape

As'haabe Rasuler Jibonkotha (Lives of the Companions of the Prophet), Women Companions, by Muhammad Abdul Mabud, Bangladesh Islamic Centre, Volume 6, Pages 99 and 100:

> Umm Hani's husband fled to Najran due to fear of the Prophet Muhammad. Upon hearing of Umm Hani's conversion to Islam, he expressed his disapproval through a poem, portions of which are recorded in several historical (Sirah) sources. In his poem, he explained his flight from Mecca:
> "By your life! I did not flee Muhammad and his companions out of cowardice or fear of death. I deeply considered my position and realized my weapons and arrows were insufficient for the battle. Resolute in my decision, I eventually returned as a tiger returns to its cubs."

However, on the day of the conquest of Mecca, the Prophet Muhammad forgave several polytheists at the request of Umm Hani, even though Ali was prepared to kill them. It can be confidently said that the Muhammad would have also forgiven Umm Hani's husband and granted him safety. Yet, the question remains: why did Umm Hani's husband have to flee for his life? This remains a remarkable incident, which is evident from the pages of the aforementioned book on the lives of the Companions of the Messenger.

Even When They Were Elderly

Not only did the Prophet Muhammad liked Umm Hani during their youth, but this affection endured even in old age. Despite having wealth, influence, and dozens of wives and concubines, the Prophet proposed marriage to Umm Hani again during his later years. However, she declined the proposal, citing her advanced age and responsibilities towards her children.

In this hadith, note that the Prophet Muhammad described Umm Hani as an exemplary woman, likening her to the best of women who ride camels. However, this raises the question: why did the Prophet regard camel-riding women as ideal for marriage? What advantages could one gain from marrying such women? To explore this, let's reflect on the practical qualities associated with women who excel in riding animals like camels, horses, or buffaloes: Just Imagine!!!

Reported by Abd ibn Humam from Umm Hani bint Abi Talib :

She said, "The Messenger of Allah (PBUH) proposed marriage to me. When I expressed my refusal regarding this matter, he prayed for me. Then Allah the Almighty revealed the following verse:
(وَتُخْفِي فِي نَفْسِكَ مَا اللَّهُ مُبْدِيهِ وَتَخْشَى النَّاسَ)
'And you concealed in yourself what Allah was going to make evident, and you feared the people.'

I am not lawful (halal) for him because I did not migrate (perform Hijrah). I was among those who were granted freedom during the conquest of Mecca.

This hadith is classified as Hasan-Sahih. According to Suddi 's narration, apart from this source, we do not know anything further regarding this matter.

Even Umm Hani was one of the women for whom verse 50 of Surah Al-Ahzab (33:50) was revealed. Even if she was not a cousin of the emigrants, this love might have been consummated if she had been willing to surrender herself. We know that from Tafseer.

Surah Al-Ahzab (33:50):

"O Prophet, We have made lawful to you your wives to whom you have given their due compensation and those your right hand possesses from what Allah has returned to you [of captives], and the daughters of your paternal uncles and the daughters of your paternal aunts and the daughters of your maternal uncles and the daughters of your maternal aunts who emigrated with you, and a believing woman if she gives herself to the Prophet [and] if the Prophet wishes to marry her—[this is] only for you, excluding the [other] believers. We certainly know what We have made obligatory upon them concerning their wives and those their right hands possess, in order that there will be upon you no discomfort. And ever is Allah Forgiving and Merciful."

Tafsir Ibn Kathir, Islamic Foundation, Volume 9, Page 132:

Ibn Abu Hatim said: Muhammad ibn Ammar ... narrated from Umm Hani. She said: Once the Messenger of Allah sent me a marriage proposal; but when I made an excuse, he accepted my excuse. Then Allah Almighty revealed this verse:
Indeed, We have made lawful for you your wives whose wages have been proven, and your right hand has no power over you except what Allah has granted [Surah Al-Ahzab (33:50)].
Umm Hani said: I was not lawful for him, nor did I leave the country with him. Rather, I was among those whom the Messenger of Allah freed after the conquest of Mecca. Ibn Jarir has narrated this from Abu Kuraib from Ubaydullah ibn Musa . Ibn Abu Hatim has narrated this from Ismail ibn Abu Khalid from Abu Salih from Hazrat Umm Hani . Imam Tirmidhi has also mentioned this in his book Jame'. Abu Razin and Qatadah said that by Hijrah is meant the migration to Medina. In another narration from Qatadah , Hijrah is meant the acceptance of Islam.

He said: And a believing woman, if she offers herself to the Prophet, and the Prophet wishes to marry her, then she is lawful for you [Surah Al-Ahzab (33:50)]. This is only for you and not for anyone else. That is, if a believing woman offers herself to the Prophet, then the Prophet can marry her without a dowry if he wishes.

Interactions with Muhammad

From authentic Hadith, it is known that the Prophet would often visit the house of Umm Hani. He would meet her, engage in conversation, and share meals.

> "The Messenger of Allah came to me one day and asked, 'Do you have anything?' I replied, 'Nothing except a few pieces of dry bread and some vinegar.' The Prophet said, 'Bring them, for a house with vinegar cannot be said to lack condiments.'"

This hadith is graded Hasan (good). It is unique in its chain, as we do not have additional narrations of this specific wording. Umm Hani passed away a long time after Ali .

Another hadith mentions that from the same vessel, first Prophet Muhammad drank, followed by Umm Hani.

Jami' al-Tirmidhi, Hadith No: 730

Mahmud Ibn Gaylan …...… from Umm Hani narrated that once Prophet came to her house and called her to bring water. He drank from it, and gave it to Umm Hani. She also draank. Then Umm Hani told that she was fasting. Prophet told, "The one who observes the voluntary fast is his own trustee: He can fast if he wishes and break it if he wishes."

(Rabi) Shu'bah said that I said to Ja'da, "Did you hear this Hadith from Unmu Hani?" He said, "No." Abu Salah and our family narrated it to me from Umm Hani. Hammad ibn Salamah narrated this Hadith from Simaq, the grandson of Umm Hani, on the authority of Harun, the grandson of Unmu Hani. The authority of U'ba is more sound. Mahmud ibn Ghaylan narrated it on the authority of Abu Dawud. He said in it, "The one who observes the fast is his own trustee." The other narrators, except Mahmud, doubted the authority of Abu Dawud, who narrated, "The one who observes the fast is his own trustee or is his own trustee." It has been narrated from Shu'bah and in several sources with similar ambiguity that "the fasting person is his own trustee". There is a negative statement about the chain of transmission of this hadith narrated by Umm Hani. Some of the companions of the Prophet and other scholars have acted according to this hadith that if a person observing a voluntary fast breaks it, he does not have to make it up. However, if he wishes (as recommended), he can make it up. This is the opinion of Sufyan Thawri, Ahmad, Ishaq and Shafi'i.

Another hadith informs us that on the day of the conquest of Mecca, Muhammad and Umm Hani sat together and drank a beverage. By that time, the injunction of the veil (purdah) had already been revealed. The question arises about how permissible it is in Islam for Muhammad to sit and drink alongside a woman, whom he could lawfully marry, even after the revelation of the veil. Islamic scholars are best suited to interpret this matter.

Another hadith suggests that on the day of the conquest of Mecca, it was as if the Prophet Muhammad had finally visited Umm Hani's house after a long wait. Upon arrival, the Prophet (PBUH) performed ghusl (ritual bath). The question arises: Where was Umm Hani's husband at that time? It is reported that he fled in fear of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH). So, who else was present at the house that day?

Imam Abu Isa Tirmidhi commented: This hadith is considered hasan-sahih. Imam Ahmad deemed Umm Hani's narration most authentic on this matter. There is a disagreement among historians about another narrator, Nu'aym , and his father's name. Some say his name was Nu'aym ibn Khamar, others say ibn Ammar, ibn Habbar, or ibn Hammam. However, the correct name is Ibn Hammam. There was confusion, but later the narrator referred to him as Nu'aym without mentioning his father's name. Imam Tirmidhi remarked that Abdu ibn Humayd narrated this to him from Abu Nu'aym.

Voluntary or Obligatory Fasting in Ramadan?

It is widely known that the conquest of Mecca took place during Ramadan. From Seerat Ibn Hisham, we learn that the Prophet himself began the journey to Mecca while fasting but broke his fast along the way.
Seerat Ibn Hisham, Translated by Akram Faruq, Bangladesh Islamic Center, Page 271:

> Then the Messenger of Allah set out on the campaign against Mecca. At that time, he appointed Abu Burhum Ghifari as his caliph in Medina. After ten days of Ramadan had passed, he set out. He and all the Muslims fasted. When they reached a place called Kudayd, between Usfan and Amaz, everyone broke their fast.

The events of entering Makkah and the subsequent occurrences all happened during the month of Ramadan. We know well that fasting during Ramadan was made obligatory for Muslims in the second year of Hijra.
[Fasting in Ramadan was mandated during the month of Sha'ban in the second year of Hijra. The Messenger of Allah observed nine Ramadans of fasting. Imam Nawawi stated in Al-Majmu' (6/250):

"The Messenger of Allah fasted Ramadan for nine years because fasting during Ramadan was made obligatory in the month of Sha'ban of the second year of Hijra, and the Prophet passed away in Rabi' al-Awwal of the 11th year of Hijra."]

Under such circumstances, how could the Prophet Muhammad be seen sharing a drink with Umm Hani and Fatima in such a manner? This is indeed a peculiar situation. If believers attempt to justify by saying that, since the Prophet was on a journey, fasting was not obligatory for him, this reasoning does not apply here. Umm Hani, for example, was not traveling, and fasting during Ramadan was obligatory for her. Why did the Prophet not command the newly converted Umm Hani to adhere to fasting rules during Ramadan, and instead seemingly facilitate the breaking of her fast? This remains unclear. Is there "something unusual in the details," or is "the entire account questionable"? [Referencing Sunan Abu Dawood, Islamic Foundation, Hadith 2448].

The setting here is the day of the conquest of Makkah. The disbelievers of Makkah were in a state of panic due to the fear of Prophet Muhammad. On this day, Umm Hani provided protection to a disbeliever whom Ali intended to kill. In order to save this person, Umm Hani rushed to the Prophet. At this time, the Prophet had just finished bathing and had performed Duha (mid-morning) prayer.

Afterwards, Muhammad came out from performing ghusl (ritual purification bath). In the same place, Fatimah, Muhammad, and Umm Hani sat together and drank a type of beverage. Umm Hani, however, was fasting and initially refused to drink the beverage. This meant that for her, eating, drinking, or engaging in sexual activity was prohibited that day. But Prophet Muhammad almost forcibly persuaded Umm Hani to break her fast. Since her fast was broken, there were no further restrictions on eating, drinking, or engaging in intimacy for Umm Hani that day.

Afterward, the Prophet went to Umm Hani’s house. Her husband was not present at home. At her house, the Prophet performed ghusl (ritual purification bath) again and then prayed.

The question arises: Why was it necessary to perform ghusl (ritual purification bath) twice on the same day and in such close succession? What did the Prophet do at the house of Umm Hani, a non-mahram (stranger) woman, in the absence of her husband that required another bath?

Let us carefully examine the details of the conquest of Mecca. Readers, note that the Prophet was once in the higher area of Mecca. During this time, some fugitives were hiding in Umm Hani’s house. At this location, Fatimah and the Prophet both performed ghusl (ritual purification bath)[Sahih Muslim, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 658; Sirat-un-Nabi , Vol. 4, Page 66].

In the next Hadith, notice that the setting is Umm Hani's house. The Prophet Muhammad arrived there with his hair styled in braids (zulfa), meaning he was groomed and adorned. [Mishkat al-Masabih, Section 22: Clothing, Chapter 3: Second Article - Combing Hair, Hadith 4446-[28]]At her house, the Prophet performed another ghusl. The question arises again: Why was it necessary to perform ghusl twice in such a short time? What happened at Umm Hani's house that required another bath?

474. ʻAbdur-Raḥmān bin Abī Laila narrated: "No one informed that they saw Allāh's Messenger ﷺ praying Aḍ-Ḍuḥā except Umm Hāni'. She narrated that Allāh's Messenger ﷺ entered her house on the Day of the Conquest of Makkah. He performed Ghusl and performed eight voluntary Rak'ah such that she had not ever seen him pray any Ṣalāt lighter than them, but that he completed the bowing and prostrations." (Ṣaḥīḥ)

Abū ʻEīsā said: This Ḥadīth is Ḥasan Ṣaḥīḥ.

It is as if Aḥmad thought that the most correct thing about this topic was the Ḥadīth of Umm Hāni'.

They differ over Nu'aim, some of them call him Nu'aim bin

Let us also look at the hadith from Sahih Bukhari. Note that the only narrator of this hadith is Ummul Hani. This means no other companion was present at the scene.

Hadith Text:

> Abu Waleed narrated from Ibn Abi Layla who said that he saw the Prophet (PBUH) offering the Chasht prayer (mid-morning prayer), and this is something that no one except Ummul Hani has narrated to us. She said that on the day of the conquest of Makkah, the Prophet (PBUH) took a bath at her house, after which he offered eight rak'ahs of prayer. Ummul Hani said:
> "I have never seen the Prophet (PBUH) offering any prayer more lightly than this one, though he performed the rukoo' (bowing) and sujood (prostration) fully."

Authenticity of the Hadith: Sahih
Narrator: Ibn Abi Layla

Therefore nobody else was in that place.

Now let us read the account from Tafseer Ibn Kasir
[Tafseer Ibn Kathir, Volume 7, Islamic Foundation, Page 492] –

> Abdullah ibn Harith said, "So I brought him to Umm Hani (RA) and said, 'Please narrate to him the account you have told me.' Then she (Umm Hani) said, 'On the day of the conquest of Mecca, the Messenger of Allah (SAW) entered my house. He asked for some water to be poured into a basin and for a piece of cloth. He used the cloth to create a partition between himself and me, and he performed ghusl (ritual washing) there. Then, he went to a corner of the house and offered eight rak'ahs of the Duha prayer. In those rak'ahs, the standing, bowing, prostration, and sitting were all of equal duration.'"

Now let's take a look at a page from the book Salatul Auwabeen published by Islam House

Salat al-Awwabeen, Islam House Publications, Abdullah Al Mamun Al Azhari, Editor: Dr. Abu Bakr Muhammad Zakaria
Pages: 16:

> "She heard Umm Hani (RA) say: On the day of the conquest of Mecca, I went to the Messenger of Allah (SAW), and I found him performing ghusl (ritual washing). His daughter Fatimah (RA) was shielding him with a cloth. I greeted him with salam. He asked, 'Who is this?' I replied, 'Umm Hani bint Abu Talib.' He said, 'Welcome, O Umm Hani!'
> After finishing his ghusl, he stood and offered eight rak'ahs of prayer, while wearing the same cloth. When he completed his prayer, I said, 'O Messenger of Allah, my brother Ali ibn Abu Talib intends to kill so-and-so, the son of Hurairah, whom I have given protection.' The Messenger of Allah (SAW) said, 'O Umm Hani, the one to whom you have granted protection, I too grant him protection.' Umm Hani (RA) said, 'This was during the time of Duha (forenoon prayer).'"

Pages: 6:

> "No one has narrated to us that they saw the Messenger of Allah (SAW) performing the Duha (forenoon) prayer except for Umm Hani (RA), the cousin of the Prophet (SAW). She said that on the day of the conquest of Mecca, the Messenger of Allah (SAW) entered her house and performed ghusl (ritual washing). She also mentioned, 'I have never seen him perform such a short prayer as that. Although the recitation was brief, he performed the bowing (ruku') and prostration (sujood) in a complete and perfect manner.'"

That is, what happened on the day of the conquest of Makkah:

Time	Place	Event

He made four braids in his hair (Mishkat al-Masabih, Section 22: Clothing, Chapter 3: Second Article - Combing Hair, Hadith 4446-[28]).
Day of the Conquest of Mecca (Sahih al-Bukhari 4292)	At Umm Hani's house (Jami at-Tirmidh, Darussalam Publications, vol. 1, Page 476; Jami` at-Tirmidhi 474)	Prophet's visit to Umm Hani's house; Umm Hani's husband is absent from home. The Prophet went there and bathed again (Jami` at-Tirmidhi 474;Sahih al-Bukhari 4292).

Now, let us read a few more hadiths. These hadiths illustrate that performing ghusl (ritual bath) after multiple instances of intercourse or with multiple wives was a practice of the Prophet. The individual who would engage in intercourse with eleven women in one day or night and perform ghusl only once, without bathing between moving from one wife to another —where this list of eleven included both wives and slave women—raises an interesting point to ponder: why would such a person perform ghusl twice during the same prayer time without an urgent need? This is indeed a matter worthy of contemplation.

Contradiction in the Narration of Miraj

In fabricated stories, inconsistencies are often present—this is a well-known phenomenon even in any court of law. If two narrators provide conflicting accounts, it is usually easy to conclude that the witnesses might be fabricating the story. This is why, during police interrogations, witnesses are often questioned separately, and their versions of events are meticulously cross-checked. If discrepancies are found, it indicates potential issues in their testimonies.

Often, when a fabricated story is recounted by the narrator a second or third time, they may forget the details they provided initially. As a result, later accounts tend to conflict with earlier ones. This is why during police investigations or psychological analyses, the same witness is asked to recount the incident multiple times. If they provide differing versions in the first, second, and third instances, it becomes evident that the account is likely fabricated. This is a straightforward and commonly used method in criminology for detecting lies.

Since we are discussing the story of Prophet Muhammad's Miraj (Night Journey), I will highlight inconsistencies in the Miraj narratives to show that these accounts contain numerous discrepancies. Many scholars attempt to reconcile these contradictions through various explanations or reinterpretations. Some claim that the Miraj occurred multiple times. Others argue it happened only once or twice. Some assert it was a physical journey, while others suggest it was a spiritual experience or a dream.

For example, some hadiths state that Prophet Muhammad prayed at the Al-Aqsa Mosque in Jerusalem during that night. However, historians argue that there was no mosque in that area during Muhammad's lifetime. Instead, the site contained the ruins of King Solomon's temple. This raises the question: where exactly did the Prophet pray that night? This issue will be explored in detail later. For now, we will examine other aspects of the story.

It's worth noting that if we include weak (da'if) hadiths in this discussion, the list of inconsistencies would grow even longer, as these contain significant contradictions. Therefore, I am excluding weak hadiths, as scholars have already classified them as unreliable compared to authentic (sahih) hadiths. My analysis will focus solely on sahih and hasan (good) hadiths, as well as one munkar hadith (a narration considered unreliable due to its conflict with sahih hadiths).

How Many Angels Came?

Prophet Muhammad provided different accounts to different people about the number of angels present. In some narrations, there is mention of one angel, in others two, and yet another narration speaks of three angels. Let's compare these accounts.

First Account: One Angel

In one version, it is stated that only one angel, Jibril (Gabriel), came to take the Prophet on the Night Journey. Muhammad reportedly recognized him as he was already familiar with Jibril. This account specifies that Jibril came alone that night.

Further analysis of other accounts will follow in subsequent discussions. [Sahih Bukhari, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 342]

8 / Salat

Chapter: How As-Salat (the Prayer) was prescribed on the night of Al-Isra (miraculous night journey) of the Prophet (pbuh) to Jerusalem (and then to the heavens)

Narrated Abu Dhar:

Allah's Messenger said, "While I was at Mecca the roof of my house was opened and Gabriel descended, opened my chest, and washed it with Zamzam water. Then he brought a golden tray full of wisdom and faith and having poured its contents into my chest, he closed it. Then he took my hand and ascended with me to the nearest heaven, when I reached the nearest heaven, Gabriel said to the gatekeeper of the heaven, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered: 'Gabriel.' He asked, 'Is there anyone with you?' Gabriel replied, 'Yes, Muhammad I is with me.' He asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel said, 'Yes.' So the gate was opened and we went over the nearest heaven and there we saw a man sitting with some people on his right and some on his left. When he looked towards his right, he laughed and when he looked toward his left he wept. Then he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' He replied, 'He is Adam and the people on his right and left are the souls of his offspring. Those on his right are the people of Paradise and those on his left are the people of Hell and when he looks towards his right he laughs and when he looks towards his left he weeps.' Then he ascended with me till he reached the second heaven and he (Gabriel) said to its gatekeeper, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper said to him the same as the gatekeeper of the first heaven had said and he opened the gate. Anas said: "Abu Dhar added that the Prophet (ﷺ) met Adam, Idris, Moses, Jesus and Abraham, he (Abu Dhar) did not mention on which heaven they were but he mentioned that he (the Prophet (ﷺ)) met Adam on the nearest heaven and Abraham on the sixth heaven. Anas said, "When Gabriel along with the Prophet (ﷺ) passed by Idris, the latter said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' The Prophet (ﷺ) asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Idris." The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "I passed by Moses and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Moses.' Then I passed by Jesus and he said, 'Welcome! O pious brother and pious Prophet.' I asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Jesus. Then I passed by Abraham and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Abraham. The Prophet (ﷺ) added, 'Then Gabriel ascended with me to a place where I heard the creaking of the pens." Ibn Hazm and Anas bin Malik said: The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Then Allah enjoined fifty prayers on my followers when I returned with this order of Allah, I passed by Moses who asked me, 'What has Allah enjoined on your followers?' I replied, 'He has enjoined fifty prayers on them.' Moses said, 'Go back to your Lord (and appeal for reduction) for your followers will not be able to bear it.' (So I went back to Allah and requested for reduction) and He reduced it to half. When I passed by Moses again and informed him about it, he said, 'Go back to your Lord as your followers will not be able to bear it.' So I returned to Allah and requested for further reduction and half of it was reduced. I again passed by Moses and he said to me: 'Return to your Lord, for your followers will not be able to bear it. So I returned to Allah and He said, 'These are five prayers and they are all (equal to) fifty (in reward) for My Word does not change.' I returned to Moses and he told me to go back once again. I replied, 'Now I feel shy of asking my Lord again.' Then Gabriel took me till we " reached Sidrat-il-Muntaha (Lote tree of; the utmost boundary) which was shrouded in colors, indescribable. Then I was admitted into Paradise where I found small (tents or) walls (made) of pearls and its earth was of musk."

Hudba Ibn Khalid (R.A.) … on the authority of Malik Ibn Sasa (R.A.), Narrated `Abbas bin Malik:

Malik bin Sasaa said that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) described to them his Night Journey saying, "While I was lying in Al-Hatim or Al-Hijr, suddenly someone came to me and cut my body open from here to here." I asked Al-Jarud who was by my side, "What does he mean?" He said, "It means from his throat to his pubic area," or said, "From the top of the chest." The Prophet (ﷺ) further said, "He then took out my heart. Then a gold tray of Belief was brought to me and my heart was washed and was filled (with Belief) and then returned to its original place. Then a white animal which was smaller than a mule and bigger than a donkey was brought to me." (On this Al-Jarud asked, "Was it the Buraq, O Abu Hamza?" I (i.e. Anas) replied in the affirmative). The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "The animal's step (was so wide that it) reached the farthest point within the reach of the animal's sight. I was carried on it, and Gabriel set out with me till we reached the nearest heaven. When he asked for the gate to be opened, it was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has Muhammad been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the first heaven, I saw Adam there. Gabriel said (to me). 'This is your father, Adam; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious son and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me till we reached the second heaven. Gabriel asked for the gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel answered in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened. When I went over the second heaven, there I saw Yahya (i.e. John) and `Isa (i.e. Jesus) who were cousins of each other. Gabriel said (to me), 'These are John and Jesus; pay them your greetings.' So I greeted them and both of them returned my greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the third heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed, what an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the third heaven there I saw Joseph. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is Joseph; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the fourth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed, what an excel lent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the fourth heaven, there I saw Idris. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is Idris; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the fifth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked. 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said He is welcomed, what an excellent visit his is! So when I went over the fifth heaven, there I saw Harun (i.e. Aaron), Gabriel said, (to me). This is Aaron; pay him your greetings.' I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the sixth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked. 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. It was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' When I went (over the sixth heaven), there I saw Moses. Gabriel said (to me),' This is Moses; pay him your greeting. So I greeted him and he returned the greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' When I left him (i.e. Moses) he wept. Someone asked him, 'What makes you weep?' Moses said, 'I weep because after me there has been sent (as Prophet) a young man whose followers will enter Paradise in greater numbers than my followers.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the seventh heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked,' Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' So when I went (over the seventh heaven), there I saw Abraham. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is your father; pay your greetings to him.' So I greeted him and he returned the greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious son and pious Prophet.' Then I was made to ascend to Sidrat-ul-Muntaha (i.e. the Lote Tree of the utmost boundary) Behold! Its fruits were like the jars of Hajr (i.e. a place near Medina) and its leaves were as big as the ears of elephants. Gabriel said, 'This is the Lote Tree of the utmost boundary) . Behold ! There ran four rivers, two were hidden and two were visible, I asked, 'What are these two kinds of rivers, O Gabriel?' He replied,' As for the hidden rivers, they are two rivers in Paradise and the visible rivers are the Nile and the Euphrates.' Then Al-Bait-ul-Ma'mur (i.e. the Sacred House) was shown to me and a container full of wine and another full of milk and a third full of honey were brought to me. I took the milk. Gabriel remarked, 'This is the Islamic religion which you and your followers are following.' Then the prayers were enjoined on me: They were fifty prayers a day. When I returned, I passed by Moses who asked (me), 'What have you been ordered to do?' I replied, 'I have been ordered to offer fifty prayers a day.' Moses said, 'Your followers cannot bear fifty prayers a day, and by Allah, I have tested people before you, and I have tried my level best with Bani Israel (in vain). Go back to your Lord and ask for reduction to lessen your followers' burden.' So I went back, and Allah reduced ten prayers for me. Then again I came to Moses, but he repeated the same as he had said before. Then again I went back to Allah and He reduced ten more prayers. When I came back to Moses he said the same, I went back to Allah and He ordered me to observe ten prayers a day. When I came back to Moses, he repeated the same advice, so I went back to Allah and was ordered to observe five prayers a day. When I came back to Moses, he said, 'What have you been ordered?' I replied, 'I have been ordered to observe five prayers a day.' He said, 'Your followers cannot bear five prayers a day, and no doubt, I have got an experience of the people before you, and I have tried my level best with Bani Israel, so go back to your Lord and ask for reduction to lessen your follower's burden.' I said, 'I have requested so much of my Lord that I feel ashamed, but I am satisfied now and surrender to Allah's Order.' When I left, I heard a voice saying, 'I have passed My Order and have lessened the burden of My Worshipers."

Musa Ibn Ismail … on the authority of Samura Ibn Jundab

Narrated Samura bin Jundab:

> Whenever the Prophet (ﷺ) finished the (morning) prayer, he would face us and ask, "Who amongst you had a dream last night?" So if anyone had seen a dream he would narrate it. The Prophet (ﷺ) would say: "Ma sha'a-llah" (An Arabic maxim meaning literally, 'What Allah wished,' and it indicates a good omen.) One day, he asked us whether anyone of us had seen a dream. We replied in the negative. The Prophet said, "But I had seen (a dream) last night that two men came to me, caught hold of my hands, and took me to the Sacred Land (Jerusalem). There, I saw a person sitting and another standing with an iron hook in his hand pushing it inside the mouth of the former till it reached the jawbone, and then tore off one side of his cheek, and then did the same with the other side; in the meantime the first side of his cheek became normal again and then he repeated the same operation again. I said, 'What is this?' They told me to proceed on and we went on till we came to a man Lying flat on his back, and another man standing at his head carrying a stone or a piece of rock, and crushing the head of the Lying man, with that stone. Whenever he struck him, the stone rolled away. The man went to pick it up and by the time he returned to him, the crushed head had returned to its normal state and the man came back and struck him again (and so on). I said, 'Who is this?' They told me to proceed on; so we proceeded on and passed by a hole like an oven; with a narrow top and wide bottom, and the fire was kindling underneath that hole. Whenever the fire-flame went up, the people were lifted up to such an extent that they about to get out of it, and whenever the fire got quieter, the people went down into it, and there were naked men and women in it. I said, 'Who is this?' They told me to proceed on. So we proceeded on till we reached a river of blood and a man was in it, and another man was standing at its bank with stones in front of him, facing the man standing in the river. Whenever the man in the river wanted to come out, the other one threw a stone in his mouth and caused him to retreat to his original position; and so whenever he wanted to come out the other would throw a stone in his mouth, and he would retreat to his original position. I asked, 'What is this?' They told me to proceed on and we did so till we reached a well-flourished green garden having a huge tree and near its root was sitting an old man with some children. (I saw) Another man near the tree with fire in front of him and he was kindling it up. Then they (i.e. my two companions) made me climb up the tree and made me enter a house, better than which I have ever seen. In it were some old men and young men, women and children. Then they took me out of this house and made me climb up the tree and made me enter another house that was better and superior (to the first) containing old and young people. I said to them (i.e. my two companions), 'You have made me ramble all the night. Tell me all about that I have seen.' They said, 'Yes. As for the one whose cheek you saw being torn away, he was a liar and he used to tell lies, and the people would report those lies on his authority till they spread all over the world. So, he will be punished like that till the Day of Resurrection. The one whose head you saw being crushed is the one whom Allah had given the knowledge of Qur'an (i.e. knowing it by heart) but he used to sleep at night (i.e. he did not recite it then) and did not use to act upon it (i.e. upon its orders etc.) by day; and so this punishment will go on till the Day of Resurrection. And those you saw in the hole (like oven) were adulterers (those men and women who commit illegal sexual intercourse). And those you saw in the river of blood were those dealing in Riba (usury). And the old man who was sitting at the base of the tree was Abraham and the little children around him were the offspring of the people. And the one who was kindling the fire was Malik, the gatekeeper of the Hell-fire. And the first house in which you have gone was the house of the common believers, and the second house was of the martyrs. I am Gabriel and this is Michael. Raise your head.' I raised my head and saw a thing like a cloud over me. They said, 'That is your place.' I said, 'Let me enter my place.' They said, 'You still have some life which you have not yet completed, and when you complete (that remaining portion of your life) you will then enter your place.' "

On the authority of Abdul Aziz Ibn Abdullah … on the authority of Anas Ibn Salik

Narrated Anas bin Malik:

> The night Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) was taken for a journey from the sacred mosque (of Mecca) Al-Ka`ba: Three persons came to him (in a dream) while he was sleeping in the Sacred Mosque before the Divine Inspiration was revealed to Him. One of them said, "Which of them is he?" The middle (second) angel said, "He is the best of them." The last (third) angle said, "Take the best of them." Only that much happened on that night and he did not see them till they came on another night, i.e. after The Divine Inspiration was revealed to him. (Fath-ul-Bari Page 258, Vol. 17) and he saw them, his eyes were asleep but his heart was not----and so is the case with the prophets: their eyes sleep while their hearts do not sleep. So those angels did not talk to him till they carried him and placed him beside the well of Zamzam. From among them Gabriel took charge of him. Gabriel cut open (the part of his body) between his throat and the middle of his chest (heart) and took all the material out of his chest and `Abdomen and then washed it with Zamzam water with his own hands till he cleansed the inside of his body, and then a gold tray containing a gold bowl full of belief and wisdom was brought and then Gabriel stuffed his chest and throat blood vessels with it and then closed it (the chest). He then ascended with him to the heaven of the world and knocked on one of its doors. The dwellers of the Heaven asked, 'Who is it?' He said, "Gabriel." They said, "Who is accompanying you?" He said, "Muhammad." They said, "Has he been called?" He said, "Yes" They said, "He is welcomed." So the dwellers of the Heaven became pleased with his arrival, and they did not know what Allah would do to the Prophet (ﷺ) on earth unless Allah informed them. The Prophet (ﷺ) met Adam over the nearest Heaven. Gabriel said to the Prophet, "He is your father; greet him." The Prophet (ﷺ) greeted him and Adam returned his greeting and said, "Welcome, O my Son! O what a good son you are!" Behold, he saw two flowing rivers, while he was in the nearest sky. He asked, "What are these two rivers, O Gabriel?" Gabriel said, "These are the sources of the Nile and the Euphrates." Then Gabriel took him around that Heaven and behold, he saw another river at the bank of which there was a palace built of pearls and emerald. He put his hand into the river and found its mud like musk Adhfar. He asked, "What is this, O Gabriel?" Gabriel said, "This is the Kauthar which your Lord has kept for you." Then Gabriel ascended (with him) to the second Heaven and the angels asked the same questions as those on the first Heaven, i.e., "Who is it?" Gabriel replied, "Gabriel". They asked, "Who is accompanying you?" He said, "Muhammad." They asked, "Has he been sent for?" He said, "Yes." Then they said, "He is welcomed." Then he (Gabriel) ascended with the Prophet (ﷺ) to the third Heaven, and the angels said the same as the angels of the first and the second Heavens had said. Then he ascended with him to the fourth Heaven and they said the same; and then he ascended with him to the fifth Heaven and they said the same; and then he ascended with him to the sixth Heaven and they said the same; then he ascended with him to the seventh Heaven and they said the same. On each Heaven there were prophets whose names he had mentioned and of whom I remember Idris on the second Heaven, Aaron on the fourth Heavens another prophet whose name I don't remember, on the fifth Heaven, Abraham on the sixth Heaven, and Moses on the seventh Heaven because of his privilege of talking to Allah directly. Moses said (to Allah), "O Lord! I thought that none would be raised up above me." But Gabriel ascended with him (the Prophet) for a distance above that, the distance of which only Allah knows, till he reached the Lote Tree (beyond which none may pass) and then the Irresistible, the Lord of Honor and Majesty approached and came closer till he (Gabriel) was about two bow lengths or (even) nearer. (It is said that it was Gabriel who approached and came closer to the Prophet. (Fate Al-Bari Page 263, 264, Vol. 17). Among the things which Allah revealed to him then, was: "Fifty prayers were enjoined on his followers in a day and a night." Then the Prophet (ﷺ) descended till he met Moses, and then Moses stopped him and asked, "O Muhammad ! What did your Lord en join upon you?" The Prophet (ﷺ) replied," He enjoined upon me to perform fifty prayers in a day and a night." Moses said, "Your followers cannot do that;

Go back so that your Lord may reduce it for you and for them." So the Prophet (ﷺ) turned to Gabriel as if he wanted to consult him about that issue. Gabriel told him of his opinion, saying, "Yes, if you wish." So Gabriel ascended with him to the Irresistible and said while he was in his place, "O Lord, please lighten our burden as my followers cannot do that." So Allah deducted for him ten prayers where upon he returned to Moses who stopped him again and kept on sending him back to his Lord till the enjoined prayers were reduced to only five prayers. Then Moses stopped him when the prayers had been reduced to five and said, "O Muhammad! By Allah, I tried to persuade my nation, Bani Israel to do less than this, but they could not do it and gave it up. However, your followers are weaker in body, heart, sight and hearing, so return to your Lord so that He may lighten your burden." The Prophet (ﷺ) turned towards Gabriel for advice and Gabriel did not disapprove of that. So he ascended with him for the fifth time. The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "O Lord, my followers are weak in their bodies, hearts, hearing and constitution, so lighten our burden." On that the Irresistible said, "O Muhammad!" the Prophet replied, "Labbaik and Sa`daik." Allah said, "The Word that comes from Me does not change, so it will be as I enjoined on you in the Mother of the Book." Allah added, "Every good deed will be rewarded as ten times so it is fifty (prayers) in the Mother of the Book (in reward) but you are to perform only five (in practice)." The Prophet (ﷺ) returned to Moses who asked, "What have you done?" He said, "He has lightened our burden: He has given us for every good deed a tenfold reward." Moses said, "By Allah! I tried to make Bani Israel observe less than that, but they gave it up. So go back to your Lord that He may lighten your burden further." Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "O Moses! By Allah, I feel shy of returning too many times to my Lord." On that Gabriel said, "Descend in Allah's Name." The Prophet (ﷺ) then woke while he was in the Sacred Mosque (at Mecca).

Tafsir-e-Mazhari, Volume 7, Page 19:

Baghbi wrote that Mother Aisha said the body of the Prophet was not taken during the Night of Ascension (Mi'raj); rather, his blessed soul was taken. In other words, the Mi'raj did not occur physically but spiritually.

The account as narrated by Anas ibn Malik and reported by Bukhari describes the incident as follows: The Prophet was taken to Mi'raj from the precincts of the Ka'bah. This occurred before he received prophethood. He was lying there, and in a state of semi-sleep, he saw three individuals approach him. The first person asked, "Who is this man?" The second replied, "He is the best among men." The third added, "Take the best among men." With this, they departed.

The following night, the Prophet was again lying in the precincts of the Ka'bah. Though his eyes were closed in sleep, his heart remained awake, as is the condition of the hearts of Prophets. Their eyes may sleep, but their hearts do not.

The same three individuals appeared again. Without speaking, they lifted the Prophet and brought him to the well of Zamzam. There, Angel Jibril (Gabriel) opened the Prophet's chest, washed the interior with the water of Zamzam, and then placed therein faith and knowledge suitable for him. Finally, the chest was sealed back as it was before.

Hazrat Anas narrated the entire event of the Mi'raj in this manner.

Ibn 'Abbas said: Narrated to me by Abu Sufyan Ibn Harb in the hadith of Heracles. In it, he also said that the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, commanded us to pray, to be truthful and to be pure in character.

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "While I was at Mecca the roof of my house was opened and Gabriel descended, opened my chest, and washed it with Zamzam water. Then he brought a golden tray full of wisdom and faith and having poured its contents into my chest, he closed it. Then he took my hand and ascended with me to the nearest heaven, when I reached the nearest heaven, Gabriel said to the gatekeeper of the heaven, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered: 'Gabriel.' He asked, 'Is there anyone with you?' Gabriel replied, 'Yes, Muhammad I is with me.' He asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel said, 'Yes.' So the gate was opened and we went over the nearest heaven and there we saw a man sitting with some people on his right and some on his left. When he looked towards his right, he laughed and when he looked toward his left he wept. Then he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' He replied, 'He is Adam and the people on his right and left are the souls of his offspring. Those on his right are the people of Paradise and those on his left are the people of Hell and when he looks towards his right he laughs and when he looks towards his left he weeps.' Then he ascended with me till he reached the second heaven and he (Gabriel) said to its gatekeeper, 'Open (the gate).' The gatekeeper said to him the same as the gatekeeper of the first heaven had said and he opened the gate. Anas said: "Abu Dhar added that the Prophet (ﷺ) met Adam, Idris, Moses, Jesus and Abraham, he (Abu Dhar) did not mention on which heaven they were but he mentioned that he (the Prophet (ﷺ)) met Adam on the nearest heaven and Abraham on the sixth heaven. Anas said, "When Gabriel along with the Prophet (ﷺ) passed by Idris, the latter said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' The Prophet (ﷺ) asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Idris." The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "I passed by Moses and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious brother.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Moses.' Then I passed by Jesus and he said, 'Welcome! O pious brother and pious Prophet.' I asked, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Jesus. Then I passed by Abraham and he said, 'Welcome! O pious Prophet and pious son.' I asked Gabriel, 'Who is he?' Gabriel replied, 'He is Abraham. The Prophet (ﷺ) added, 'Then Gabriel ascended with me to a place where I heard the creaking of the pens." Ibn

Hazm and Anas bin Malik said: The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Then Allah enjoined fifty prayers on my followers when I returned with this order of Allah, I passed by Moses who asked me, 'What has Allah enjoined on your followers?' I replied, 'He has enjoined fifty prayers on them.' Moses said, 'Go back to your Lord (and appeal for reduction) for your followers will not be able to bear it.' (So I went back to Allah and requested for reduction) and He reduced it to half. When I passed by Moses again and informed him about it, he said, 'Go back to your Lord as your followers will not be able to bear it.' So I returned to Allah and requested for further reduction and half of it was reduced. I again passed by Moses and he said to me: 'Return to your Lord, for your followers will not be able to bear it. So I returned to Allah and He said, 'These are five prayers and they are all (equal to) fifty (in reward) for My Word does not change.' I returned to Moses and he told me to go back once again. I replied, 'Now I feel shy of asking my Lord again.' Then Gabriel took me till we " reached Sidrat-il-Muntaha (Lote tree of; the utmost boundary) which was shrouded in colors, indescribable. Then I was admitted into Paradise where I found small (tents or) walls (made) of pearls and its earth was of musk." Hadith Quality: Sahih Another account has the Prophet taken to Miraj from Kaaba Hatim or Hijr, which contradicts the earlier statement. It should be noted that there is no roof on Kaaba Hatim. Below is a picture of Kaaba Hatim, for the purpose of understanding.

Narrated `Abbas bin Malik:

Malik bin Sasaa said that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) described to them his Night Journey saying, "While I was lying in Al-Hatim or Al-Hijr of Kaaba, suddenly someone came to me and cut my body open from here to here." I asked Al-Jarud who was by my side, "What does he mean?" He said, "It means from his throat to his pubic area," or said, "From the top of the chest." The Prophet (ﷺ) further said, "He then took out my heart. Then a gold tray of Belief was brought to me and my heart was washed and was filled (with Belief) and then returned to its original place. Then a white animal which was smaller than a mule and bigger than a donkey was brought to me." (On this Al-Jarud asked, "Was it the Buraq, O Abu Hamza?" I (i.e. Anas) replied in the affirmative). The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "The animal's step (was so wide that it) reached the farthest point within the reach of the animal's sight. I was carried on it, and Gabriel set out with me till we reached the nearest heaven. When he asked for the gate to be opened, it was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has Muhammad been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the first heaven, I saw Adam there. Gabriel said (to me). 'This is your father, Adam; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious son and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me till we reached the second heaven. Gabriel asked for the gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel answered, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel answered in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened. When I went over the second heaven, there I saw Yahya (i.e. John) and `Isa (i.e. Jesus) who were cousins of each other. Gabriel said (to me), 'These are John and Jesus; pay them your greetings.' So I greeted them and both of them returned my greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the third heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed, what an excellent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the third heaven there I saw Joseph. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is Joseph; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the fourth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed, what an excel lent visit his is!' The gate was opened, and when I went over the fourth heaven, there I saw Idris. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is Idris; pay him your greetings.' So I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the fifth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked. 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said He is welcomed, what an excellent visit his is! So when I went over the fifth heaven, there I saw Harun (i.e. Aaron), Gabriel said, (to me). This is Aaron; pay him your greetings.' I greeted him and he returned the greeting to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the sixth heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked. 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked, 'Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. It was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' When I went (over the sixth heaven), there I saw Moses. Gabriel said (to me),' This is Moses; pay him your greeting. So I greeted him and he returned the greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious brother and pious Prophet.' When I left him (i.e. Moses) he wept. Someone asked him, 'What makes you weep?' Moses said, 'I weep because after me there has been sent (as Prophet) a young man whose followers will enter Paradise in greater numbers than my followers.' Then Gabriel ascended with me to the seventh heaven and asked for its gate to be opened. It was asked, 'Who is it?' Gabriel replied, 'Gabriel.' It was asked,' Who is accompanying you?' Gabriel replied, 'Muhammad.' It was asked, 'Has he been called?' Gabriel replied in the affirmative. Then it was said, 'He is welcomed. What an excellent visit his is!' So when I went (over the seventh heaven), there I saw Abraham. Gabriel said (to me), 'This is your father; pay your greetings to him.' So I greeted him and he returned the greetings to me and said, 'You are welcomed, O pious son and pious Prophet.' Then I was made to ascend to Sidrat-ul-Muntaha (i.e. the Lote Tree of the utmost boundary) Behold! Its fruits were like the jars of Hajr (i.e. a place near Medina) and its leaves were as big as the ears of elephants. Gabriel said, 'This is the Lote Tree of the utmost boundary) . Behold ! There ran four rivers, two were hidden and two were visible, I asked, 'What are these two kinds of rivers, O Gabriel?' He replied,' As for the hidden rivers, they are two rivers in Paradise and the visible rivers are the Nile and the Euphrates.' Then Al-Bait-ul-Ma'mur (i.e. the Sacred House) was shown to me and a container full of wine and another full of milk and a third full of honey were brought to me. I took the milk. Gabriel remarked, 'This is the Islamic religion which you and your followers are following.' Then the prayers were enjoined on me: They were fifty prayers a day. When I returned, I passed by Moses who asked (me), 'What have you been ordered to do?' I replied, 'I have been ordered to offer fifty prayers a day.' Moses said, 'Your followers cannot bear fifty prayers a day, and by Allah, I have tested people before you, and I have tried my level best with Bani Israel (in vain). Go back to your Lord and ask for reduction to lessen your followers' burden.' So I went back, and Allah reduced ten prayers for me. Then again I came to Moses, but he repeated the same as he had said before. Then again I went back to Allah and He reduced ten more prayers. When I came back to Moses he said the same, I went back to Allah and He ordered me to observe ten prayers a day. When I came back to Moses, he repeated the same advice, so I went back to Allah and was ordered to observe five prayers a day. When I came back to Moses, he said, 'What have you been ordered?' I replied, 'I have been ordered to observe five prayers a day.' He said, 'Your followers cannot bear five prayers a day, and no doubt, I have got an experience of the people before you, and I have tried my level best with Bani Israel, so go back to your Lord and ask for reduction to lessen your follower's burden.' I said, 'I have requested so much of my Lord that I feel ashamed, but I am satisfied now and surrender to Allah's Order.' When I left, I heard a voice saying, 'I have passed My Order and have lessened the burden of My Worshipers." Hadith Quality: Sahih

According to another narration, the incident took place from the house of Umm Hani. According to Umm Hani, not from anywhere else. That is, Umm Hani not only gave her own statement, but also rejected the different statements of others. It is reported from Ibn Ishaq's Sirat Rasulullah that Miraj took place from the house of Umm Hani [Sirat-e-Rasulullah (S.A.), Translation by Shahid Akhand, Prothoma Prokashani, Page 218; Siratun Nabi (S.A.), Ibn Hisham, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Volume 2, Page 76]

Sirat-e-Rasulullah (S.A.), Translation by Shahid Akhand, Prothoma Prokashani, Page 218:

I have come across some narrations about the Miraj of Rasul-e-Karim from Umm Hani bint Abu Talib, also known as Hind. She said, “He undertook the Miraj while staying at my house; he did not go from any other place. That night, he was sleeping at my house. After performing the Isha prayer, he went to sleep, and we also went to bed. A little before dawn, Rasul-e-Karim woke us up. We prayed the Fajr prayer together. Then he said, 'Umm Hani, yesterday evening, I prayed Isha with you in this valley; you witnessed it. After that, I went to Jerusalem and prayed there. And now, just moments ago, I prayed Fajr here with you, as you saw.'

When he stood up to leave, I held onto his cloak, pulling it, which caused it to lift and expose his abdomen. It was as though I had pulled a folded Egyptian cloth. I said, 'O Rasulullah, do not tell this to anyone. They will accuse you of falsehood and insult you.' He replied, 'By Allah, I will surely tell them.'"

Siratun Nabi (S.A.), Ibn Hisham, Islamic Foundation Bangladesh, Volume 2, Page 76:

Muhammad ibn Ishaq narrates from Muhammad ibn Saib Kalbi… from Umm Hani bint Abu Talib , who spoke about the Miraj of Rasulullah (ﷺ). She said, "On the night Rasulullah (ﷺ) undertook the Miraj, he was resting at my house. After performing the Isha prayer, he went to sleep, and we also went to sleep. Shortly before Fajr, he woke us up. He prayed, and we prayed Fajr with him. Then he said: 'O Umm Hani, you saw that I prayed Isha with you and then lay down here with you. After that, I went to Bayt al-Maqdis (Jerusalem) and prayed there. Now I have prayed Fajr with you, as you have seen.'

Umm Hani continued, 'When he stood up to leave, I grabbed the edge of his cloak, which slipped off his abdomen. His stomach was as smooth and radiant as a folded Coptic cloth. I said, "O Messenger of Allah, do not tell this to the people. Otherwise, they will call you a liar and hurt you." But he replied, "By Allah, I will surely convey it to them."

I then instructed my Ethiopian servant girl, "Why are you sitting? Go quickly with Rasulullah (ﷺ). Listen to what he says to the people and observe their reactions."'"

Where did the meeting with Jibril take place?

Consider these two verses of the Qur'an. Here it is mentioned that Muhammad (PBUH) met Jibril near the Sidrat al-Muntaha for the second time, and the first meeting took place at another time.

(77)Chapter: The Meaning of the Saying of Allah, The Mighty and Sublime: And indeed he saw him at a second descent (another time)"; And did the prophet (saws) see his lord on the night of the Isra?

It is narrated on the authority of Masruq that he said:

I was resting at (the house of) 'A'isha that she said: O Abu 'A'isha (kunya of Masruq), there are three things, and he who affirmed even one of them fabricated the greatest lie against Allah. I asked that they were. She said: He who presumed that Muhammad (ﷺ) saw his Lord (with his ocular vision) fabricated the greatest lie against Allah. I was reclining but then sat up and said: Mother of the Faithful, wait a bit and do not be in a haste. Has not Allah (Mighty and Majestic) said:" And truly he saw him on the clear horizon" (Al-Qur'an, Surat at-Takwir, 81:23) and" he saw Him in another descent" (Al-Qur'an, Surat Najm 53:13)? She said: I am the first of this Ummah who asked the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) about it, and he said: Verily he is Gabriel. I have never seen him in his original form in which he was created except on those two occasions (to which these verses refer); I saw him descending from the heaven and filling (the space) from the sky to the earth with the greatness of his bodily structure. She said: Have you not heard Allah saying: "Eyes comprehend Him not, but He comprehends (all) vision. and He is Subtle, and All-Aware" (Al-Qur'an, Surat al-An`am 6:103)? (She, i.e. 'A'isha, further said): Have you not heard that, verily, Allah says: "And it is not for any human being that Allah should speak to him except by revelation or from behind a partition or that He sends a messenger to reveal, by His permission, what He wills. Indeed, He is Most High and Wise." (Al-Qur'an, Surat ash-Shura, 42:51) She said: He who presumes that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) concealed anything from the Book of Allah fabricates the greatest lie against Allah. Allah says: "O Messenger, announce that which has been revealed to you from your Lord, and if you do not, then you have not conveyed His message. And Allah will protect you from the people. Indeed, Allah does not guide the disbelieving people." (Al-Qur'an, Surat al-Ma'idah, 5:67). She said: He who presumes that he would inform about what was going to happen tomorrow fabricates the greatest lie against Allah. And Allah says "Say, 'None in the heavens and earth knows the unseen except Allah , and they do not perceive when they will be resurrected.'" (Al-Qur'an, Surat an-Naml, 27:65).

However, from the hadith regarding the Mi'raj, it is understood that Jibril came to Makkah that night and took Muhammad with him. Then why does the Qur'an mention the meeting near Sidrat al-Muntaha?

Here's an example: Suppose I met Kalimuddin at the Kamalapur railway station. From there, we went to the airport. Afterward, we flew to Berlin, Germany. After completing our work, we returned to Dhaka airport and then went back to Kamalapur. So, where would I say I met Kalimuddin? Should I say we met in Berlin, or would it be accurate to say we met at Kamalapur?

Similarly, that night, the meeting with Jibril took place in Makkah, so it would be expected that such a description would be given. Certainly, they also met at Sidrat al-Muntaha, but that is a part of the overall event. When narrating such events, people usually consider the moment of the first meeting as the time of the encounter, not a later moment. Think about this carefully.

Surah An-Najm (53:13-14):

"And he certainly saw him a second time,
At the Lote Tree of the Utmost Boundary (*Sidrat al-Muntaha)."

First Encounter: Surat at-Takwir (81:23)

"And truly he saw him on the clear horizon."
This verse refers to the Prophet Muhammad's (ﷺ) first vision of Jibril (جبريل) in his original form.

Second Encounter: Surat an-Najm (53:13)

"And he saw him in another descent."
This refers to the second encounter with Jibril at Sidrat al-Muntaha (سدرة المنتهى) during the Prophet's Ascension (Mi'raj).

The Sidrat al-Muntaha is a lote tree located at the farthest boundary of creation, on the right of the Throne in the seventh heaven.

What was the mode of transportation during Mi'raj?

What mode of transportation did Muhammad (PBUH) use to ascend during Mi'raj—was it by riding an animal, holding Jibril's hand, or using some sort of elevator or stairs? There are inconsistencies in the descriptions. Let us examine the following narration. Here, it is mentioned that he rode a white animal called Buraq and then reached the first heaven. This implies that the Buraq itself was the mode of transport [Sahih Bukhari, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 313]

Muhammad ibn al-Muthanna narrated from Anas ibn Malik , who stated that a narrator said, "Anas might have narrated this from a member of his community, Malik ibn Sa'sa'ah ." He said that the Prophet (ﷺ) mentioned:

"One night, I was in a state between sleep and wakefulness near the Ka'bah when I heard someone among three individuals speaking. They came to me, took me, and brought a golden basin filled with Zamzam water. My chest was split open from here to there." (The narrator Qatadah asked someone near him, "What does 'here to there' mean?" He replied, "From the chest to below the stomach.")

The Prophet (ﷺ) continued: "My heart was taken out, washed with Zamzam water, and then returned to its place. My heart was then filled with faith and wisdom. After that, a white creature called 'Buraq' was brought to me. It was larger than a donkey but smaller than a mule. It could travel the distance as far as its sight in one step. I was mounted on it, and we began our journey, reaching the sky of the world. Jibreel asked for the gate to be opened. A voice asked, 'Who is it?' Jibreel replied, 'It is Jibreel.' The voice asked, 'Who is with you?' Jibreel said, 'Muhammad is with me.' The gatekeeper asked, 'Has he been sent for?' Jibreel said, 'Yes.' The gatekeeper opened the gate, saying, 'Welcome! How noble is his arrival!'"

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

"We then came to Adam ... (The full hadith narrates the details of the journey.) It is mentioned in this narration that on the second heaven, the Prophet (ﷺ) met Isa (Jesus) and Yahya (John the Baptist); on the third, Yusuf (Joseph); on the fourth, Idris (Enoch); on the fifth, Harun (Aaron), peace be upon them all. On the sixth heaven, I met Musa (Moses, AS), and I greeted him. He said, 'Welcome, O noble Prophet and noble brother!' When I proceeded, Musa began weeping. A voice asked, 'Why are you weeping?' He replied, 'My Lord, this young man was sent after me, yet more of his followers will enter Paradise than mine.'"

The Prophet (ﷺ) continued:

"We then reached the seventh heaven and came to Ibrahim (Abraham, AS). In this narration, the Prophet (ﷺ) also mentioned that he saw four rivers there: two visible and two hidden, all flowing from the Sidrat al-Muntaha (Lote Tree). I asked Jibreel, 'What are these rivers?' He replied, 'The hidden ones are the rivers of Paradise, and the visible ones are the Nile and Euphrates, resembling the rivers of Paradise.'"

The Prophet (ﷺ) said:

"After that, I was taken to Bayt al-Ma'mur. I asked Jibreel, 'What is this?' He replied, 'This is Bayt al-Ma'mur. Every day, seventy thousand angels enter it to circumambulate, and they never return to it.' Then two vessels were brought to me—one filled with wine and the other with milk. I chose the vessel of milk. Jibreel said, 'You have chosen correctly. Through you, Allah will keep your Ummah on the natural disposition (fitrah).' Then fifty prayers were prescribed for me... (The narration continues till the end of the hadith)."

Another hadith emphasizes that after mounting Buraq, the Prophet (ﷺ) remained on it during his journey to view Paradise and Hell. Thus, Buraq was his means of transport throughout the journey. [67. Sunan at-Tirmidhi (Verified), Hadith: 3147; Sunan at-Tirmidhi, Islamic Center, Hadith: 3085.]

Zirr ibn Hubaysh narrated:
I asked Hudhayfah ibn al-Yaman , "Did the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) pray in Bayt al-Maqdis?"
He replied, "No."
I said, "Yes, he did pray there."
He responded, "O bald one! On what basis are you making this claim?"
I replied, "Based on the Qur'an. Let the Qur'an judge between us."
Hudhayfah said, "Whoever takes evidence from the Qur'an has succeeded."

Sufyan reported that Mis'ar sometimes said, "He has prevailed," and at other times said, "He has triumphed."

Zirr then recited the following verse:
"Glory be to the One who took His servant by night from al-Masjid al-Haram to al-Masjid al-Aqsa"- (Surah Bani Isra'il, 17:1).

Hudhayfah asked, "Are you trying to prove through this verse that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) prayed there?"
I replied, "No."
He said, "If the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) had prayed there, it would have been obligatory for you to pray there as well, just as it has been made obligatory for you to pray in al-Masjid al-Haram."

Hudhayfah further stated: "A riding animal was brought to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ). Its back was long, and its step would reach as far as the eye could see. The two of them (the Prophet and Jibril) did not dismount from Buraq until they had seen Paradise, Hell, and the matters promised for the Hereafter. Then they returned just as they had gone, mounted on the same ride."

Hudhayfah added: "People claim that he tied Buraq, but why would it flee? The One who knows everything hidden and visible (Allah) had already subdued Buraq for him."

It was such a marvelous creation that people like you look at it with wide, bursting eyes at the time of death. My companion (Gabriel) made me ascend upon it, and it took me to the door of the heavens, called Bab al-Hafaza (The Gate of the Guardians). > Yahya ibn Bukayr narrated ... from Anas ibn Malik , who said that Abu Dharr narrated from the Messenger of Allah :
> The roof of my house was opened while I was in Mecca. Then Jibreel descended, opened my chest, and washed it with Zamzam water. He then brought a gold basin filled with wisdom and faith, poured it into my chest, and sealed it. Afterward, he held my hand and ascended with me to the heaven of this world.
> When we reached the lowest heaven, Jibreel asked its guardian to open the gate. The guardian asked, "Who is this?" Jibreel replied, "It is I, Jibreel." The guardian asked, "Is there anyone with you?" Jibreel said, "Yes, Muhammad is with me." The guardian asked, "Has he been sent for?" Jibreel replied, "Yes."

The gate was opened, and we ascended to the first heaven. There I saw a man sitting with numerous human forms to his right and left. When he looked to his right, he smiled, and when he looked to his left, he wept. The man said, "Welcome, O pious Prophet! Welcome, O righteous son!" I asked Jibreel , "Who is he?" Jibreel replied, "He is Adam . The forms to his right are the souls of the people of Paradise, and those to his left are the souls of the people of Hell. That is why he smiles when he looks to his right and weeps when he looks to his left."

We then ascended to the second heaven. The same questions were asked by its guardian as those by the first heaven's guardian, and the gate was opened.

Anas narrated that Abu Dharr mentioned that the Prophet met Adam in the first heaven, and Ibrahim in the sixth heaven. Abu Dharr did not specify the location of the others but mentioned that the Prophet also met Idris , Musa , and 'Isa .

When Jibreel brought the Prophet to Idris , Idris said, "Welcome, O pious Prophet and righteous brother!" I asked, "Who is he?" Jibreel replied, "He is Idris."

When I passed by Musa , he said, "Welcome, O pious Prophet and righteous brother!" I asked, "Who is he?" Jibreel replied, "He is Musa."

When I passed by 'Isa , he said, "Welcome, O pious Prophet and righteous brother!" I asked, "Who is he?" Jibreel replied, "He is 'Isa."

When I passed by Ibrahim , he said, "Welcome, O pious Prophet and righteous son!" I asked, "Who is he?" Jibreel replied, "He is Ibrahim."

Ibn Shihab said that Ibn Hazm narrated to him from Ibn Abbas and Abu Habba Al-Ansari that the Prophet said: "Then I was taken further up, where I reached a plane where I could hear the sound of the pens writing."

Ibn Hazm and Anas ibn Malik narrated that the Prophet said: "Then Allah made fifty daily prayers obligatory upon my Ummah. On my way back, I passed by Musa , who asked, 'What has your Lord enjoined upon your Ummah?' I replied, 'Fifty prayers.' He said, 'Return to your Lord, for your Ummah will not be able to bear that.'

So I returned, and Allah reduced a portion of it. When I passed by Musa again, he asked, 'What did your Lord do?' I replied, 'He reduced a portion.' He said, 'Return to your Lord, for your Ummah will not be able to bear it.' I returned, and it was further reduced.

This continued until Allah said, 'These are five daily prayers that will be equivalent to fifty in reward. My word does not change.' When I passed by Musa again, he said, 'Return to your Lord.' I replied, 'I feel too shy to return to my Lord again.'"

Jibreel then took me to Sidrat al-Muntaha, which was covered with colors the nature of which I do not know. Then I was taken to Paradise, where I saw that its domes were made of pearls and its soil was musk."

> Shayban ibn Farrukh … on the authority of Anas ibn Malik . Rasulullah sallallahu alayhi wasallam said: Blessings have been brought to me. Burak is a white animal bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. As far as the eye can see, one step at a time he goes. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I ascended it and I reached Baitul Maqdas. Then I tied my vehicle with the same rope that Kiram used to tie their vehicles in other Ambiyas. Then I entered the mosque and came out after performing the two-rakat Salat (prayer/prayer). Jibreel (alayhis salam) came to me with a vessel of wine and a vessel of milk. I took milk. Jibreel said to me, "You accepted Firat." Then Gabriel took me to heaven and told me to open the door reaching to heaven. Said, who are you? He said, I am Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It is said, have you been sent to bring him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. There I met Adam who congratulated me and prayed for my well-being. Then Gabriel took me up and reached the second heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He replied Jibreel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, what was he sent to bring? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Isa ibnu Maryam and Yahya ibnu Zakaria (alayhimus salam) two half-brothers. They called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare. Then Gabriel took me up and reached the threshold of the third heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said: Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Yusuf there. He was given half of all beauty. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fourth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Idris . He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare. Allah Ta'ala said about him: وَرَفَعْنَاهُ مَكَانًا عَلِيًّا “And I raised him to a high rank—” (57: 19).
Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fifth heaven and told me to open the door. Said, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. I met Harun there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the sixth heaven and asked me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Musa there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel reached the threshold of the seventh heaven and asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. It is said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Ibrahim there. He is sitting with his back to Baitul Ma'mur. Seventy thousand angels enter Baitul Mamur every day for the purpose of Tawaf, who do not get the opportunity to return there again.
Then Gabriel took me to Sidratul Muntaha. The leaves of that tree are like the ears of elephants and the fruits are like big balls. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: When he covers the tree by the command of Allah, it changes. It is not possible for anyone in God's creation to describe that beauty. Then Allah Ta'ala revealed to me what He was about to reveal. He made a total of fifty prayers obligatory on me day and night. Then I returned to Musa . He said to me, What has your Lord enjoined on you? I said, fifty times Salat. He said, Go back to your Lord and ask him to make it easier. Because your Ummah will not be able to receive this instruction. I examined the Children of Israel and I gained experience of them. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then I turned back to my Lord and said, O my Lord! Simplify this order for my Ummah. Five times reduced. Then I returned to Musa and said, Five times have been reduced from me. He said, Your Ummah will not be able to do this either. You go back and apply to make it easier.

Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Thus I continued to visit Musa (Alaihis Salam) once and Allah once. At the end, Allah Ta'ala said: O Muhammad! Go, five times of day and night prayers are fixed. Each time of prayer has the same reward as ten times of prayer. Thus (five times) is equal to fifty times Salat. Whoever desired a good deed and could not carry it out, I will write a reward for him; And if you put it into practice, I will write ten rewards for it. On the other hand, whoever intended an evil deed, but did not turn it into action, no sin is recorded for him. And if he turns it into a deed, only one sin is written on him. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: Then I came down to Musa (Alaihis Salam) and informed him about this. He then said, Return to the Lord and pray for more ease. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I have repeatedly come and gone to my Lord with this betrothal, now I am ashamed to go again.

Muhammad Ibn Musanna … Narrated Anas Ibn Malik that Rabi said, Anas may have narrated from Malik Ibn Sa’sa’a , a member of his community, that the Prophet, said: Once I came to the Kaaba. I was in between sleep and wakefulness near Sharif. Then I heard one of the three people talking. However he came to me and took me. Then a golden vessel was brought to me, in which was the water of Yama. Then he spread my chest from here to there. Narrator Qatada (R.A.) said, I asked someone next to me, what do you mean by "from here to there"?
He replied, “From the chest to the lower abdomen”. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then my heart was taken out and washed with the water of Zamzam and put back in its proper place. My heart is filled with faith and wisdom. Then I was presented with a white beast named 'Burak'.

It is somewhat larger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. He goes as far as his eyes go with each step. I was mounted on it. We walked and reached the sky of the world. Gabriel (Alaihis Salam) asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad is with me. Darrakshi said, you were sent to him? He said yes. Then he opened the door and said, Marhaba! What an honorable visitor has arrived.

Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: Then we came to Adam (Alaihis Salam) … Thus the narrator narrates the full hadith. However, it is said in this tradition that the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, met Jesus and Yahya in the second heaven, Yusuf in the third heaven, Idris in the fourth heaven, Harun (alayhimus salam) in the fifth heaven. Rasulullah said: Then we went to the sixth heaven and approached Musa and greeted him. He said, Marhaba, O blessed Prophet, blessed brother! Then he started crying when we crossed the right. The voice came, why are you crying? He answered, Lord, thou hast sent this boy after me; But his ummah will enter Paradise in greater numbers than my ummah.

Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: We went again and reached the seventh heaven and came to Ibrahim (Alaihis Salam). Sahabi also mentions in his hadith that Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam also said: He saw four canals there. Two of them are public and two are not public. All of them flow from Siduratul Muntahara base. The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: I said, O Gabriel! What are these canals? He said, "The invisible rivers are the rivers of Paradise and the visible ones are blue and Furat." That is, these two canals are similar to the two canals of Paradise.

Then I was raised to Baitul Mamur. I said: O Gabriel! What is this? He said, This is 'Baytul Mamur'. Seventy thousand angels enter it (for circumambulation) every day. Once they complete Tawaf, they never have the opportunity to perform Tawaf again. Then two vessels were presented before me, one of wine, the other of milk. I took the milk container. He told me, you are right. May Allah keep your ummah on the Fitrat in your means. Then fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) was made obligatory upon me… Thus the narrator narrates to the end of the hadith.

Shayban ibn Farrukh … on the authority of Anas ibn Malik . Rasulullah sallallahu alayhi wasallam said: Blessings have been brought to me. Burak is a white animal bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. As far as the eye can see, one step at a time he goes. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I ascended it and I reached Baitul Maqdas. Then I tied my vehicle with the same rope that Kiram used to tie their vehicles in other Ambiyas. Then I entered the mosque and came out after performing the two-rakat Salat (prayer/prayer). Jibreel (alayhis salam) came to me with a vessel of wine and a vessel of milk. I took milk. Jibreel said to me, "You accepted Firat." Then Gabriel took me to heaven and told me to open the door reaching to heaven. Said, who are you? He said, I am Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It is said, have you been sent to bring him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. There I met Adam who congratulated me and prayed for my well-being.
Then Gabriel took me up and reached the second heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He replied Jibreel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, what was he sent to bring? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Isa ibnu Maryam and Yahya ibnu Zakaria (alayhimus salam) two half-brothers. They called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel took me up and reached the threshold of the third heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said: Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Yusuf there. He was given half of all beauty. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fourth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Idris . He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare. Allah Ta'ala said about him: وَرَفَعْنَاهُ مَكَانًا عَلِيًّا “And I raised him to a high rank—” (57: 19).
Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fifth heaven and told me to open the door. Said, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. I met Harun there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the sixth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Musa there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel reached the threshold of the seventh heaven and asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. It is said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Ibrahim there. He is sitting with his back to Baitul Ma'mur. Seventy thousand angels enter Baitul Mamur every day for the purpose of Tawaf, who do not get the opportunity to return there again.
Then Gabriel took me to Sidratul Muntaha. The leaves of that tree are like the ears of elephants and the fruits are like big balls. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: When he covers the tree by the command of Allah, it changes. It is not possible for anyone in God's creation to describe that beauty. Then Allah Ta'ala revealed to me what He was about to reveal. He made a total of fifty prayers obligatory on me day and night. Then I returned to Musa . He said to me, What has your Lord enjoined on you? I said, fifty times Salat. He said, Go back to your Lord and ask him to make it easier. Because your Ummah will not be able to receive this instruction. I examined the Children of Israel and I gained experience of them. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then I turned back to my Lord and said, O my Lord! Simplify this order for my Ummah. Five times reduced. Then I returned to Musa and said, Five times have been reduced from me. He said, Your Ummah will not be able to do this either. You go back and apply to make it easier.
Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Thus I continued to visit Musa (Alaihis Salam) once and Allah once. At the end, Allah Ta'ala said: O Muhammad! Go, five times of day and night prayers are fixed. Each time of prayer has the same reward as ten times of prayer. Thus (five times) is equal to fifty times Salat. Whoever desired a good deed and could not carry it out, I will write a reward for him; And if you put it into practice, I will write ten rewards for it. On the other hand, whoever intended an evil deed, but did not turn it into action, no sin is recorded for him. And if he turns it into a deed, only one sin is written on him. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: Then I came down to Musa (Alaihis Salam) and informed him about this. He then said, Return to the Lord and pray for more ease. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I have repeatedly come and gone to my Lord with this betrothal, now I am ashamed to go again.

Muhammad Ibn Musanna … Narrated Anas Ibn Malik that Rabi said, Anas may have narrated from Malik Ibn Sa'sa'a , a member of his community, that the Prophet, said: Once I came to the Kaaba. I was in the middle of sleep and wakefulness with Sharif. Then I heard one of the three people talking. However he came to me and took me. Then a golden vessel was brought to me, in which was the water of Yama. Then he spread my chest from here to there. Narrator Qatada (R.A.) said, I asked someone next to me, what do you mean by "from here to there"?
He replied, "From the chest to the lower abdomen". Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then my heart was taken out and washed with the water of Zamzam and put back in its proper place. My heart is filled with faith and wisdom. Then I was presented with a white beast named 'Burak'. It is somewhat larger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. He goes as far as his eyes go with each step. I was mounted on it. We walked and reached the sky of the world. Gabriel (Alaihis Salam) asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad is with me. Darrakshi said, you were sent to him? He said yes. Then he opened the door and said, Marhaba! What an honorable visitor has arrived. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: Then we came to Adam (Alaihis Salam) … Thus the narrator narrates the full hadith. However, it is said in this tradition that the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, met Jesus and Yahya in the second heaven, Yusuf in the third heaven, Idris in the fourth heaven, Harun (alayhimus salam) in the fifth heaven. Rasulullah said: Then we went to the sixth heaven and approached Musa and greeted him. He said, Marhaba, O blessed Prophet, blessed brother! Then he started crying when we crossed the right. The voice came, why are you crying? He answered, Lord, thou hast sent this boy after me; But his ummah will enter Paradise in greater numbers than my ummah.

Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: We went again and reached the seventh heaven and came to Ibrahim (Alaihis Salam). The Sahabi also mentioned in his hadith that the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, also said: He saw four canals there. Two of them are public and two are not public. All of them flow from Siduratul Muntahara base. The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: I said, O Gabriel! What are these canals? He said, "The invisible rivers are the rivers of Paradise and the visible ones are Blue and Furat." That is, these two canals are similar to the two canals of Paradise.

Then I was raised to Baitul Mamur. I said: O Gabriel! What is this? He said, This is 'Baytul Mamur'. Seventy thousand angels enter it (for circumambulation) every day. Once they complete Tawaf, they never have the opportunity to perform Tawaf again. Then two vessels were presented before me, one of wine, the other of milk. I took the milk container. He told me, you are right. May Allah keep your ummah on the Fitrat in your means. Then fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) was made obligatory upon me… Thus the narrator narrates to the end of the hadith.

Anas Ibn Malik narrated that the Messenger of Allah (PBUH) said:On the night of my Mi'raj, I was passing by Musa . He was offering Salat[1] at his grave.[2]
[1] Saying Salat here as a Mukallif of Shariah is offering Salat for reward - that is not the intention. On the contrary, here the barakhi life of the prophets is special from others, just as the martyrs have a special life in the barakhi life than the common dead. Besides, this prayer is not like the prayer of the world, but it is like the glorification of the angels or the glorification of the people of Paradise. Regarding Masih Ibn Maryam and Masihud-Dajjal . Zuhayr ibn Harb narrates on the authority of Abu Hurairah that the Messenger of Allah (PBUH) said: I was in Hijr, i.e. Hatam. At this time the Quraysh began to question me about my Isra. They started asking me about things about Baitul Maqdis, which I did not remember well. As a result I became very worried. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then Allah Ta'ala is before me Baytul Maqdis was revealed and I was watching it. I started answering the questions they were asking me. Then I saw myself in a group of prophets.
I saw Musa standing in prayer (prayer/prayer) and he was of medium stature like the people of the tribe of Shanuyah. His hair was curly. I saw Jesus also standing in prayer. Urwa ibn Mas'ud Abu Saqafi is his closest counterpart. I saw Ibrahim also standing in prayer. He is similar to this friend of yours. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then it was time for prayer, I led them. At the end of the prayer, a person said to me, O Muhammad! Salutations to him, the 'Master', the guardian of hell. > Hudbah Ibn Khalid and Khalifa (Ibn Khayyat) … on the authority of Malik Ibn Sa’sa’a , who said: The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, “I was in between sleep and wakefulness near the Kaaba. . Then he mentioned the situation of another person between the two people i.e. himself and said, A golden plate was brought to me - which was full of wisdom and faith. The heat was ripped from my chest to my lower abdomen. Then my stomach was washed by the water of Yamayam. Then wisdom and faith were perfected and a white four-legged animal was brought to me, smaller than a mule and bigger than a donkey, i.e. Burak.

After that, I climbed it and reached the heaven closest to the earth, walking with Gabriel (Alaihis Salam). Asked, who is this? The answer was said, Gabriel. Asked, who else with you? The answer was given by Muhammad . The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said, thank him, how good his good wishes are.
Then I went to Adam . I saluted him. He said, son and prophet! thanks to you Then we went to the second heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I came to Jesus and Yahya . They both said, brother and prophet! thanks to you
Then we reached the third heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Yusuf . Look, I salute you. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then we reached the fourth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Idris . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then we reached the fifth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then we went to Harun . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then I reached the sixth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Musa . I greeted him. He said, Thank you brother and Prophet.
Then as I passed by him, he wept. He was told, why are you crying? He said, O Lord! This person who is sent after me, his ummah will go to paradise more than my ummah. Then we reached seventh heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Ibrahim . I greeted him. He said, O son and prophet! thank you
Then Baitul Ma'mur was revealed before me. I asked Gabriel . He said,

This is Baitul Mamur. Seventy thousand angels perform salat (prayer/prayer) here every day. Once they leave here, they don't come back a second time. This is their last entry. Then I was shown Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that the result is like the motka of a thousand places. And its leaves are like the ears of an elephant. Four fountains flowed in his native country.' Two inside and two outside. I asked Gabriel about this. He said, Inside are two Paradises. And the outer two are the Euphrates (Iraq) and the Nile (Egypt).
Then I pray every fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) is obligatory. I accepted it and returned to Musa . He said, how come? I said, Fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) has been made obligatory on me. He said, I know more about people than you. I have tried hard enough to treat the Bani Isra'il and your Ummah will not be able to do so much (in salat (prayer/prayer)). So go back to your Lord and ask for it to be reduced.
I went back and appealed to him. He offered Salat (prayer/prayer) forty times. The same thing happened again. And the salat (prayer/prayer) was offered thirty times. If the same thing happened again, he offered Salat (prayer/prayer) twenty times. Same again. He made Salat (prayer/prayer) ten times. Then I came to Musa . He said as before, now Allah has made Salat (prayer/prayer) five times obligatory. I came to Moses. He said, how come? I said, Allah has made five times obligatory.
This time he said as before, I said, I have accepted it. Then the voice came, I have issued my duty. And made it lighter than My servants. And I will reward ten times for every good deed.
And about Bait al-Mamur, Hammam narrated from the Prophet on the authority of Abu Huraira .

On the authority of Abdul Aziz Ibn Abdullah … on the authority of Anas Ibn Salik . He said, Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam was visited from the Kaaba Mosque one night. The narration is that a congregation of three angels came to the Prophet sallallaahu alaihi wasallam before he was sent a revelation on this matter. But then he was sleeping in Masjidul Haram. The first of them said, who is he? The insider said, he is the best of them. The last man said, then take the best of them. That's all that happened that night. That's why he didn't see them again. Finally they came to another night which he was watching by heart. His eyes are sleepy, his heart does not sleep. Similarly, the eyes of other prophets sleep, but the heart does not sleep.

That night, without speaking to him, they took him up and kept him near the well. Jibreel (Alaihis Salam) took over the responsibility of the Prophet from among his companions. Jibreel (alayhis salam) cut her from below her throat to her chest and washed everything from her chest and stomach with the water of Jamam with his hands. He washed them, then a tray was brought and on it was a golden vessel full of faith and wisdom. He filled the veins of his chest and throat with it.

Then he placed them in the chest and closed them. Then took him back and ascended to the sky. He moved a door from the doors of heaven. As a result, the people of Asman called him and asked, who is this? He replied: Gabriel. They asked again, who is with you? He said: With me is Muhammad, may God bless him and grant him peace. He asked, has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. Then they said: Marhaban wa ahlan (Thank you, you have come to your people) The inhabitants of the heavens were very happy at the auspicious arrival. In fact, they cannot know what Allah Ta'ala intends to do on earth until He informs the people of heaven.

He found Adam in the sky of the world. Gabriel showed him and said, He is your father, greet him. The Prophet greeted him. Adam responded to his salam. And said: Marhaban wa Ahlan O my son. You are my good son. The Prophet saw two flowing rivers in the sky of the world. He asked, these two canals, O Gabriel! Gabriel said, these two are the source of Nile and Euphrates.

Then Gabriel wandered in this sky with the Prophet . He observed another canal. A palace built by Moti and Jabarzad stood on it. The Prophet struck the canal. It was a very high quality misc. He said: O Gabriel! What is it? Gabriel said: House of Kawsar. That which your Lord has reserved for you. Then he went to the second heaven with the Prophet . The angels in the first heaven told him what he said here: they wanted to know, who is he? He said: Gabriel. They said: Who is with you? He said: Muhammad. They said: Has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. They said, Marhaban wa Ahlan.

Then he went to the third heaven with the Prophet . What the angels in the first and second heaven said, the angels in the third heaven also said. Then he accompanied her to the fourth heaven. They also told him the same as before. Then he took her to the fifth heaven. They also said as before. Then he took him to the sixth heaven. There too the angels spoke as before. Finally, when he went to the seventh heaven with the Prophet sallallaahu alaihi wasallam, the angels there also spoke to him like the previous angels. There are prophets in every heaven. The Prophet mentioned their names. Among them, I saved that Idris (Alaihis Salam) went to the second heaven, Harun (Alaihis Salam) to the fourth heaven, another prophet went to the fifth heaven, I could not remember his name. In the sixth heaven is Ibrahim and Musa (alaihis salam) is in the seventh heaven because of the dignity of conversation with Allah.

At that time Musa said: O my Lord. I did not think that someone will be given high status over me. Then the Prophet was raised to such a height that none but Allah knows. Finally he arrived at Sidratul Muntaha. Here Almighty Allah approached him. As a result of the close proximity, there was a gap of two bows between them or less. Then Allah sent revelation to him. In other words, revelation was sent to his ummah to perform fifty salats (prayer/prayer) night and day.

Then the Prophet descended. And when he reached Musa, Musa stopped him and said, O Muhammad! What did your Lord command you? The Prophet said: To pray fifty times a day and night. Then Musa said, Your Ummah will not be able to fulfill it. So if you go back, your Lord will make this order easier for you and your Ummah. Then the Prophet looked at Gabriel as if he was seeking his advice on this matter. Gabriel pointed to him and said: Yes. It can be if you want. So he went to Allah first with the Prophet .

Then the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, stood up and said: O my Lord! My Ummah will not be able to realize it. Then Allah reduced the Salat (prayer/prayer) to ten times. Then he returned to Musa and he brought him down. Thus Moses continued to send him to his Lord. Finally five times remained. In number five, Musa (Alaihis Salam) stopped him and said, O Muhammad! I have sought a little more from my Bani Israel. Moreover they have weakened and abandoned while your Ummah is weaker in all aspects physical, mental, physical creativity and hearing. So you go again and get the instructions from your Lord more easily. Every time the Prophet looked to Gabriel for advice. Gabriel went with him for the fifth time as well. The Prophet said: O my Lord. My Ummah's body, mind, hearing and body are extremely weak. So make the instruction easier than us. Then Almighty Allah said: Muhammad! The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: I am present to you, present again and again.

Allah said: My words do not change in any way. What I have enjoined upon you is preserved in the 'Ummul Kitab' i.e. Laohe Mahfuj. Every good deed has ten virtues. Salat (prayer/prayer) is recorded fifty times in the Book of Ummul. But it was made five times for you and your Ummah. Then when the Prophet returned to Moses, Moses asked him, "Have you brought provisions?"

The Prophet said: Allah has made it easy for us. He has assigned us ten rewards for every good deed. Then Musa said: By Allah! I expect little more from Bani Israel. But they did not pay that. To your Lord you return again, to reduce it a little more.

Now the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: O Musa, by Allah! I have gone to my Lord again and again. I feel ashamed to go again, as if I am changing with him. Then Musa said: You can descend in the name of Allah. At that time, the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, woke up and saw that he was in the forbidden mosque.

He found Adam in the sky of the world. Gabriel showed him and said, He is your father, greet him. The Prophet greeted him. Adam responded to his salam. And said: Marhaban wa Ahlan O my son. You are my good son. The Prophet saw two flowing rivers in the sky of the world. He asked, these two canals, O Gabriel! Gabriel said, these two are the source of Nile and Euphrates.
Then Gabriel wandered in this sky with the Prophet . He observed another canal. A palace built by Moti and Jabarzad stood on it. The Prophet struck the canal. It was a very high quality misc. He said: O Gabriel! What is it? Gabriel said: House of Kawsar. That which your Lord has reserved for you.
Then he went to the second heaven with the Prophet . The angels in the first heaven told him what he said here: they wanted to know, who is he? He said: Gabriel. They said: Who is with you? He said: Muhammad. They said: Has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. They said, Marhaban wa Ahlan.
Then he went to the third heaven with the Prophet . What the angels in the first and second heaven said, the angels in the third heaven also said. Then he accompanied her to the fourth heaven. They also told him the same as before. Then he took her to the fifth heaven. They also said as before. Then he took him to the sixth heaven. There too the angels spoke as before. Finally, when he went to the seventh heaven with the Prophet sallallaahu alaihi wasallam, the angels there also spoke to him like the previous angels. There are prophets in every heaven. The Prophet mentioned their names. Among them, I saved that Idris (Alaihis Salam) went to the second heaven, Harun (Alaihis Salam) to the fourth heaven, another prophet went to the fifth heaven, I could not remember his name. In the sixth heaven is Ibrahim and Musa (alaihis salam) is in the seventh heaven because of the dignity of conversation with Allah.
At that time Musa said: O my Lord. I did not think that someone will be given high status over me. Then the Prophet was raised to such a height that none but Allah knows. Finally he arrived at Sidratul Muntaha. Here Almighty Allah approached him. As a result of the close proximity, there was a gap of two bows between them or less. Then Allah sent revelation to him. In other words, revelation was sent to his ummah to perform fifty salats (prayer/prayer) night and day.
Then the Prophet descended. And when he reached Musa, Musa stopped him and said, O Muhammad! What did your Lord command you? The Prophet said: To pray fifty times a day and night. Then Musa said, Your Ummah will not be able to fulfill it. So if you go back, your Lord will make this order easier for you and your Ummah. Then the Prophet looked at Gabriel as if he was seeking his advice on this matter. Gabriel pointed to him and said: Yes. It can be if you want. So he went to Allah first with the Prophet .

Then the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, stood up and said: O my Lord! My Ummah will not be able to realize it. Then Allah reduced the Salat (prayer/prayer) to ten times. Then he returned to Musa and he brought him down. Thus Moses continued to send him to his Lord. Finally five times remained. In number five, Musa (Alaihis Salam) stopped him and said, O Muhammad! I have sought a little more from my Bani Israel. Moreover they have weakened and abandoned while your Ummah is weaker in all aspects physical, mental, physical creativity and hearing. So you go again and get the instructions from your Lord more easily. Every time the Prophet looked to Gabriel for advice. Gabriel went with him for the fifth time as well. The Prophet said: O my Lord. My Ummah's body, mind, hearing and body are extremely weak. So make the instruction easier than us. Then Almighty Allah said: Muhammad! The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: I am present to you, present again and again.

Allah said: My words do not change in any way. What I have enjoined upon you is preserved in the 'Ummul Kitab' i.e. Laohe Mahfuj. Every good deed has ten virtues. Salat (prayer/prayer) is recorded fifty times in the Book of Ummul. But it was made five times for you and your Ummah. Then when the Prophet returned to Moses, Moses asked him, "Have you brought provisions?"

The Prophet said: Allah has made it easy for us. He has assigned us ten rewards for every good deed. Then Musa said: By Allah! I expect little more from Bani Israel. But they did not pay that. To your Lord you return again, to reduce it a little more.

Now the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: O Musa, by Allah! I have gone to my Lord again and again. I feel ashamed to go again, as if I am changing with him. Then Musa said: You can descend in the name of Allah. At that time, the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, woke up and saw that he was in the forbidden mosque.

Hudbah Ibn Khalid and Khalifa (Ibn Khayyat) … on the authority of Malik Ibn Sa'sa'a , who said:

The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, "I was in between sleep and wakefulness near the Kaaba. . Then he mentioned the situation of another person between the two people i.e. himself and said, A golden plate was brought to me - which was full of wisdom and faith. The heat was ripped from my chest to my lower abdomen. Then my stomach was washed by the water of Yamayam.
Then wisdom and faith were perfected and a white four-legged animal was brought to me, smaller than a mule and bigger than a donkey, i.e. Burak. After that, I climbed it and reached the heaven closest to the earth, walking with Gabriel (Alaihis Salam). Asked, who is this? The answer was said, Gabriel. Asked, who else with you? The answer was given by Muhammad . The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said, thank him, how good his good wishes are.
Then I went to Adam . I saluted him. He said, son and prophet! thanks to you Then we went to the second heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I came to Jesus and Yahya . They both said, brother and prophet! thanks to you
Then we reached the third heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Yusuf . Look, I salute you. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then we reached the fourth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Idris . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you

Then we reached the fifth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then we went to Harun . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you.
Then I reached the sixth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Musa . I greeted him. He said, Thank you brother and Prophet.
Then as I passed by him, he wept. He was told, why are you crying? He said, O Lord! This person who is sent after me, his ummah will go to paradise more than my ummah.Then we reached seventh heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Ibrahim . I greeted him.He said, O son and prophet! thank you.

Then Baitul Ma'mur was revealed before me. I asked Gabriel . He said, This is Baitul Mamur. Seventy thousand angels perform salat (prayer/prayer) here every day. Once they leave here, they don't come back a second time. This is their last entry. Then I was shown Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that the result is like the motka of a thousand places. And its leaves are like the ears of an elephant. Four fountains flowed in his native country.' Two inside and two outside. I asked Gabriel about this. He said, Inside are two Paradises. And the outer two are the Euphrates (Iraq) and the Nile (Egypt).
Then I pray every fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) is obligatory. I accepted it and returned to Musa . He said, how come? I said, Fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) has been made obligatory on me. He said, I know more about people than you. I have tried hard enough to treat Bani Isra'il and your ummah will not be able to do so much (in salat (prayer/prayer)). So go back to your Lord and ask for it to be reduced.
I went back and appealed to him. He offered Salat (prayer/prayer) forty times. The same thing happened again. And the salat (prayer/prayer) was offered thirty times. If it happened again, he offered Salat (prayer/prayer) twenty times. Same again. He made Salat (prayer/prayer) ten times. Then I came to Musa . He said as before, now Allah has made Salat (prayer/prayer) five times obligatory. I came to Moses. He said, how did you come? I said, Allah has made five times obligatory.

This time he said as before, I said, I have accepted it. Then the voice came, I have issued my duty. And made it lighter than My servants. And I will reward tenfold for every good deed.

On the authority of Abdul Aziz Ibn Abdullah … on the authority of Anas Ibn Salik . He said, Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam was visited from the Kaaba Mosque one night. The narration is that a congregation of three angels came to the Prophet sallallaahu alaihi wasallam before he was sent a revelation on this matter. But then he was sleeping in Masjidul Haram. The first of them said, who is he? The insider said, he is the best of them. The last man said, then take the best of them. That's all that happened that night. That's why he didn't see them again. Finally they came to another night which he was watching by heart. His eyes are sleepy, his heart does not sleep. Similarly, the eyes of other prophets sleep, but the heart does not sleep.

That night, without speaking to him, they took him up and kept him near the well. Jibreel (Alaihis Salam) took over the responsibility of the Prophet from among his companions. Jibreel (alayhis salam) cut her from below her throat to her chest and washed everything from her chest and stomach with the water of Jamam with his hands. He washed them, then a tray was brought and on it was a golden vessel full of faith and wisdom. He filled the veins of his chest and throat with it.
Then he placed them in the chest and closed them. Then took him back and ascended to the sky. He moved a door from the doors of heaven. As a result, the people of Asman called him and asked, who is this? He replied: Gabriel. They asked again, who is with you? He said: With me is Muhammad, may God bless him and grant him peace. He asked, has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. Then they said: Marhaban wa ahlan (Thank you, you have come to your people) The inhabitants of the heavens were very happy at the auspicious arrival. Then wisdom and faith were perfected and a white four-legged animal was brought to me, smaller than a mule and bigger than a donkey, i.e. Burak. After that, I climbed it and reached the heaven closest to the earth, walking with Gabriel (Alaihis Salam). Asked, who is this? The answer was said, Gabriel. Asked, who else with you? The answer was given by Muhammad . The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It was said, thanks to him, how good his good wishes are.

Then I went to Adam . I saluted him. He said, son and prophet! thanks to you Then we went to the second heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I came to Jesus and Yahya . They both said, brother and prophet! thanks to you

Then we reached the third heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Yusuf . Look, I salute you. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then we reached the fourth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Idris . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then we reached the fifth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then we went to Harun . I greeted him. He said, brother and prophet! thank you
Then I reached the sixth heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Musa . I greeted him. He said, Thank you brother and Prophet.
Then as I passed by him, he wept. He was told, why are you crying? He said, O Lord! This person who is sent after me, his ummah will go to paradise more than my ummah. Then we reached seventh heaven. Asked, who is this? He said, I am Gabriel. Asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. The question is what was sent to bring him? He said yes. It is said that thanks to him and how good his good wishes are. Then I went to Ibrahim . I greeted him. He said, O son and prophet! thank you
Then Baitul Ma'mur was revealed before me. I asked Gabriel . He said, This is Baitul Mamur. Seventy thousand angels perform salat (prayer/prayer) here every day. Once they leave here, they don't come back a second time. This is their last entry. Then I was shown Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that the result is like the motka of a thousand places. And its leaves are like the ears of an elephant. Four fountains flowed in his native country.' Two inside and two outside. I asked Gabriel about this. He said, Inside are two Paradises. And the outer two are the Euphrates (Iraq) and the Nile (Egypt).

Then I pray every fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) is obligatory. I accepted it and returned to Musa . He said, how come? I said, Fifty times Salat (prayer/prayer) has been made obligatory on me. He said, I know more about people than you. I have tried hard enough to treat the Bani Isra'il and your Ummah will not be able to do so much (in salat (prayer/prayer)). So go back to your Lord and ask for it to be reduced.
I went back and appealed to him. He offered Salat (prayer/prayer) forty times. The same thing happened again. And the salat (prayer/prayer) was offered thirty times. If it happened again, he offered Salat (prayer/prayer) twenty times. Same again. He made Salat (prayer/prayer) ten times. Then I came to Musa . He said as before, now Allah has made Salat (prayer/prayer) five times obligatory. I came to Moses. He said, how did you come? I said, Allah has made five times obligatory.
This time he said as before, I said, I have accepted it. Then the voice came, I have issued my duty. And made it lighter than My servants. And I will reward tenfold for every good deed.

Amr Ibn Hisham (R.A.) … Narrated Anas Ibn Malik (R.A.) that the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: There was brought before me an animal which was bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule, and whose feet fell as far as the eye could see. I climbed on it. Gabriel was with me. We traveled (to Medina). Gabriel said,

"Go down and pray." I prayed. Gabriel said, Do you know where you prayed?

You prayed in Taiba. You will migrate to this city. Again Gabriel said, "Go down and pray." I then went down and prayed. Gabriel said, Do you know where you prayed? You offered Salat at a place called 'Ture Saina'. Where Allah spoke to Musa .

Then Jibreel went to a place again and said, Get down and pray. I did that. Gabriel said, Do you know where you prayed? You prayed at a place called 'Bayt Laham'. Where Hazrat Jesus was born. Then I entered the 'Bayt al-Maqdis' and all the Prophets were gathered to me and Jibraeel (Alaihis Salam) led me before me and I led them all. Then he took me to the first sky.

I met Adam there. Later he took me to the second heaven. There he met his two cousins Isa and Yahya . Then took me to the third heaven and met Yusuf (Alaihis Salam) there. He then ascended with me to the fourth heaven and met Harun (Alaihis Salam) there. Then he took me to the fifth heaven where he met Idris .Then he took me to the sixth heaven. There he met Musa .

Then he took me to the seventh heaven and met Ibrahim there. Then he took me to the seventh heaven. Then we reached Sidratul Muntaha. There a cloud of smoke enveloped me and I prostrated. Then I was told - On the day I created the heavens and the earth, on that day I made fifty prayers obligatory on you and your Ummah. So you and your Ummah establish this Salat.

Then I returned to Ibrahim . He didn't ask me anything. Later I came to Musa . He asked me, what has Allah made obligatory on you and your Ummah? I said fifty times Salat is obligatory. Then Musa said, "Surely you and your Ummah will not be able to offer fifty prayers properly." You go back to your Lord and ask for abatement. I returned to the Lord. He reduced me by ten times. Then I came again to Musa . He asked me to go back again. I went back. Then he reduced it ten times more. Then when I came to Musa he asked me to go back again, I went back again. He reduced it ten times.

Then the last prayer was made five times. Musa said, "Go back to your Lord and ask for a shorter prayer." Because Allah only made obligatory on Bani Israel to pray two times. They did not pay these two times. Then I went back to Allah and asked him to shorten the prayer. Then he said, "Verily, on the day I created the heavens and the earth, I made fifty prayers obligatory on you and your Ummah." And these five times will be considered equal to fifty times. You and your ummah earn it. Then I understood that this five times prayer must be observed from the side of Allah. Then I returned to Musa . Again he asked me to go back. But I realized that five times is the final decision from Allah. So I never went back.

(74)Chapter: The night journey on which the messenger of Allah (saws) was taken up into the heavens and the prayers were enjoined(74)باب الإِسْرَاءِ بِرَسُولِ اللَّهِ صلى الله عليه وسلم إِلَى السَّمَوَاتِ وَفَرْضِ الصَّلَوَاتِ
Anas b. Malik reported on the authority of Malik b. Sa sa', perhaps a person of his tribe, that the Prophet of Allah (ﷺ) said:
I was near the House (i. e. Ka'bah) in a state between sleep and wakefulness when I heard someone say: He is the third among the two persons. Then he came to me and took me with him. Then a golden basin containing the water of Zamzam was brought to me and my heart was opened up to such and such (part). Qatada said: I asked him who was with me (i e. the narrator) and what he meant by such and such (part). He replied: (It means that it was opened) up to the lower part of his abdomen (Then the hadith continues): My heart was extracted and it was washed with the water of Zamzam and then it was restored in its original position, after which it was filled with faith and wisdom. I was then brought a white beast which is called al-Buraq, bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. Its stride was as long as the eye could reach. I was mounted on it, and then we went forth till we reached the lowest heaven. Gabriel asked for the (gate) to be opened, and it was said: Who is he? He replied: Gabriel. It was again said: Who is with thee? He replied: Muhammad (ﷺ). It was said: Has he been sent for? He (Gabriel) said: Yes. He (the Prophet) said: Then (the gate) was opened for us (and it was said): Welcome unto him! His is a blessed arrival. Then we came to Adam . And he (the narrator) narrated the whole account of the hadith. (The Holy Prophet) observed that he met Jesus in the second heaven, Yahya (peace be on both of them) in the third heaven, Yusuf in the third, Idris in the fourth, Harun in the fifth. Then we travelled on till we reached the sixth heaven and came to Moses and I greeted him and he said: Welcome unto righteous brother and righteous prophet. And when I passed (by him) he wept, and a voice was heard saying: What makes thee weep? He said: My Lord, he is a young man whom Thou hast sent after me (as a prophet) and his followers will enter Paradise in greater numbers than my followers. Then we travelled on till we reached the seventh heaven and I came to Ibrahim. He (the narrator) narrat- ed in this hadith that the Prophet of Allah (ﷺ) told that he saw four rivers which flowed from (the root of the lote-tree of the farthest limits): two manifest rivers and two hidden rivers. I said: ‘ Gabriel! what are these rivers? He replied: The two hidden rivers are the rivers of Paradise, and as regards the two manifest ones, they are the Nile and the Euphrates. Then the Bait-ul-Ma’mur was raised up to me. I said: O Gabriel! what is this? He replied: It is the Bait-ul-Ma’mur. Seventy thousand angels enter into it daily and, after they come out, they never return again. Two vessels were then brought to me. The first one contained wine and the second one contained milk, and both of them were placed before me. I chose milk. It was said: You did right. Allah will guide rightly through you your Ummah on the natural course. Then fifty prayers daily were made obligatory for me. And then he narrated the rest of the hadith to the end.

Baitul Mamur and Sidratul Muntaha!

According to some authentic hadiths, the Prophet Muhammad first saw Sidratul Muntaha on his way to the Night of Miraj, then saw Baitul Mamur or the House of worship of Angels.

Hudba Ibn Khalid (R.A.) … on the authority of Malik Ibn Sasa (R.A.), narrating the events of the night on which he was made to travel to the Prophet of God, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, said, “Once I was in the Hatim part of the Kaabah. Sometimes Rabi (Qatada) said, I slept during hijr. Suddenly a stranger came to me and cut the middle part of me from this place to that place. Rabi Qatada said, Anas (R.A.) sometimes said the word Qaddah (torn) and sometimes said the word Shakka (torn). Rabi said, I asked Jarud who was sitting next to me, what did he mean by this? He said, from the lower part of Holkum to the navel. Qatadah said, I heard Anas say this from the top of the chest to the bottom of the navel. Then (the Prophet) said: The stranger took out my heart. Then a golden vessel was brought to me which was full of faith. Then my heart was washed (with the water of Zamzam) and filled with faith and put back in its proper place.

Then a white beast was brought to me. Which size was smaller than mule and bigger than donkey? Jarud said to him, O Abu Hamza, is this Burak? Anas said, Yes. He keeps each step in sight. I was made to ride on it. Then Gabriel went with me, brought me to the first heaven and told me to open the door, I was asked, who is this? He said Gabriel. Asked again, who is with you? He said, Muhammad . Asked again, has he been summoned? He said, yes. Then it was said, "Khosh-Amaded, a good comer has come for him." Then the door of heaven was opened.

When I came down, I met Adam (Alaihis Salam) there. Gabriel said, This is your first father Adam . I greeted him. He returned the salutation and said, Peace be upon the righteous son and the righteous prophet. Then went up to the second sky and asked to open the door, asked who? He said Gabriel. Asked who is with you? He said, Muhammad . He was asked, has he been summoned? He replied, yes. Then it was said - God bless him. The good comer has arrived. Then it was opened. When I reached there. Then I met Yahya and Isa (Alaihimus Salam) there. They were both cousins. He (Gabriel) said, These are Yahya and Jesus . Greet them. Then I saluted. They replied, then said, Peace be upon the righteous brother and the righteous Prophet.

Then he took me to the third heaven, reaching there Gabriel said open it. Who is he called? He replied, Gabriel. Asked who is with you? He said, Muhammad . Was asked, has he been summoned? He said, yes. It was said, "Khosh-Ammed for him." The good comer has arrived. Then the door was opened. I reached there and saw Yusuf . Gabriel said, This is Yusuf . You should greet him. I saluted him, he replied and said, Peace be upon the righteous brother and the righteous Prophet.

Then Gabriel (Alaihis Salam) ascended with me and reached the fourth heaven. And asked (the angel) to open the door. Asked, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Asked who is with you? He said, Muhammad . Was asked, has he been summoned? He replied, yes. Then it was said - God bless him. The good comer has arrived. Then it was opened. When I reached Idris , Gabriel said, "This is Idris . Salute him. I greeted him. He also replied. Then he said, "Praise be to the righteous brother and the righteous Prophet."

Then he (Jibril) ascended with me to the fifth heaven and told me to open the door. Asked, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Was asked, who is with you? He replied, Muhammad . was asked. Has he been summoned? He replied, yes. It was said, God bless him. The good comer has arrived. On reaching there, I met Haroon . Gabriel said, This is Harun . I saluted him; He also replied, and said, Peace be upon the righteous brother and the righteous Prophet.

Then he took me to the sixth sky and told him to open the door. Asked, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Was asked, who is with you? He said, Muhammad . The question is, has he been summoned? He said, yes. Firishta said, Praise be to him. The good visitor has arrived. On reaching there, I met Musa . Gabriel said, This is Musa . I saluted him; He replied, and said, Peace be upon the righteous brother and the righteous Prophet. He cried as I advanced. He was asked, what are you crying for? He said: I am crying because a young man has been sent as a prophet after me, whose ummah will enter Jannah in greater numbers than my ummah. Then Gabriel (alayhis salam) took me to the seventh heaven and told me to open the door, it was asked, who is this? He replied, I am Gabriel. Asked again, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was asked, has he been summoned? He said, yes. It was said, God bless him. The good comer has arrived. I reached there and saw Ibrahim . Gabriel said, This is your father. Salute him. I greeted him. He returned the salutation and said, Peace be upon the righteous son and the righteous Prophet.Then I was raised up to Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that its fruit is like the motka of a thousand regions and its leaves are like the ears of this elephant. I was told, this is Sidratul Muntaha (the end of the material world). There I saw four canals, two of which were hidden and two which were visible. Then I asked Gabriel , what are these canals? The two unseen are the two canals of Paradise. And the two obvious ones are the Nile River and the Euphrates River. Then 'Al-Baytul Ma'mur' was revealed before me,Then a vessel of wine, a vessel of milk and a vessel of honey were served before me. I took the milk container. Then Jibreel said, This is Fitrat (Deen-e-Islam). You and your ummats are based on it. Then I was made to pray 50 times a day.

Then I came back. He asked me while passing in front of Musa . What has Allah commanded you? The Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, I have been ordered to pray fifty times a day. He said, Your ummah will not be able to perform fifty daily Salat (prayer/prayer). By Allah I tested the people before you and worked hard for the guidance of Bani Israel. So you turn to your Lord and plead to lighten your ummah (burden).
I went back. As a result, he reduced the (prayer/prayer) ten times from me. I returned to Musa and he said again as before, I went back again. As a result, Allah reduced the prayer to ten more times. On the way back to Musa , he said again, I went back again. I am Musa . I came back to him. I went back again. I came back (with it) as before. I went back , then I was ordered to pray five (times).
Then I returned to Musa . He said, "You are ordered to pray five (times) daily." Musa said, "Your ummah will not be able to pray five times a day. I tried hard for the people of Israel. Go back to your Lord and make it easier for your ummah." .
The Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, "I have pleaded with my Lord (many times), and I am ashamed of it." And I was satisfied with that and accepted it. Then he said, When I passed Musa (Alaihis Salam), a herald announced, I have issued My obligatory command and made it easy for My servants.
Hadith Quality: Sahih

Again, according to a different Sahih Hadith, on the way to the Night of Miraj, Prophet Muhammad first saw Bait al-Ma'm, where Prophet Ibrahim was sitting with his back turned. Then he saw Sidratul Muntaha. The question is, Prophet Muhammad saw Baitul Mamur first or Sidratul Muntaha first? Because both types of narratives are available, from different people. The problem is that both narrations are authentic, meaning that in the eyes of Islam there is absolutely no room for doubt about the memory and credibility of the rabbis!

Shayban ibn Farrukh … on the authority of Anas ibn Malik . Rasulullah sallallahu alayhi wasallam said: Blessings have been brought to me. Burak is a white animal bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. As far as the eye can see, one step at a time he goes. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I climbed it and reached Bait al-Maqdas. Then I tied my vehicle with the same rope that Kiram used to tie their vehicles in other Ambiyas. Then I entered the mosque and came out after performing the two-rakat Salat (prayer/prayer).

Jibreel (alayhis salam) came to me with a vessel of wine and a vessel of milk. I took milk. Jibreel said to me, "You accepted Firat." Then Gabriel took me to heaven and told me to open the door reaching to heaven. Said, who are you? He said, I am Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It is said, have you been sent to bring him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. There I met Adam who congratulated me and prayed for my well-being.

Then Gabriel took me up and reached the second heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He replied Jibreel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, what was he sent to bring? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Isa ibnu Maryam and Yahya ibnu Zakaria (alayhimus salam) two half-brothers. They called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me up and reached the threshold of the third heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said: Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Yusuf there. He was given half of all beauty. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fourth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Idris . He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare. Allah Ta'ala said about him: وَرَفَعْنَاهُ مَكَانًا عَلِيًّا “And I raised him to a high rank—” (57: 19).

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fifth heaven and told me to open the door. Said, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. I met Harun there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the sixth heaven and asked me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Musa there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel (alayhis salam) reached the threshold of the seventh heaven and asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. It is said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us.I met Ibrahim there. He is sitting with his back to Baitul Ma'mur. Seventy thousand angels enter Baitul Mamur every day for the purpose of Tawaf, who do not get the opportunity to return there again. Then Gabriel took me to Sidratul Muntaha. The leaves of that tree are like the ears of elephants and the fruits are like big balls. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: When he covers the tree by the command of Allah, it changes. It is not possible for anyone in God's creation to describe that beauty.Then Allah Ta'ala revealed to me what He was about to reveal. He made a total of fifty prayers obligatory on me day and night. Then I returned to Musa . He said to me, What has your Lord enjoined on you? I said, fifty times Salat. He said, Go back to your Lord and ask him to make it easier. Because your Ummah will not be able to receive this instruction. I examined the Children of Israel and I gained experience of them. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then I turned back to my Lord and said, O my Lord! Simplify this order for my Ummah. Five times reduced. Then I returned to Musa and said, Five times have been reduced from me. He said, Your Ummah will not be able to do this either. You go back and apply to make it easier.
Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Thus I continued to visit Musa (Alaihis Salam) once and Allah once. At the end, Allah Ta'ala said: O Muhammad! Go, five times of day and night prayers are fixed. Each time of prayer has the same reward as ten times of prayer. Thus (five times) is equal to fifty times Salat. Whoever desired a good deed and could not fulfill it, I will write a reward for him; And if you put it into action, I will write ten rewards for it. On the other hand, whoever intended an evil deed, but did not turn it into action, no sin is recorded for him. And if he turns it into a deed, only one sin is written on him.
Rasulullah Sallallahu Alayhi Wasallam said: Then I came down to Musa (Alaihis Salam) and informed him about this. He then said, Go back to the Lord and pray for more ease. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I

Then I was raised up to Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that its fruit is like the motka of a thousand regions and its leaves are like the ears of this elephant. I was told, this is Sidratul Muntaha (the end of the material world). There I saw four canals, two of which were hidden and two which were visible. Then I asked Gabriel , what are these canals? The two unseen are the two canals of Paradise. And the two obvious ones are the Nile River and the Euphrates River. Then 'Al-Baytul Ma'mur' was revealed before me,

I met Ibrahim there. He is sitting with his back to Baitul Ma'mur. Seventy thousand angels enter Baitul Mamur every day for the purpose of Tawaf, who do not get the opportunity to return there again.
Then Gabriel took me to Sidratul Muntaha. The leaves of that tree are like the ears of elephants and the fruits are like big balls. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: When he covers the tree by the command of Allah, it changes. It is not possible for anyone in God's creation to describe that beauty.

Forty or Fifty Thousand Years Ago

It is narrated in the hadith that Prophet Muhammad saw a debate between Adam and Moses on the night of Meraj. Adam won over Moses in that debate. The problem is, some of the hadiths about that debate show that the Torah was written forty years before the creation of Adam, where Adam's fate was determined. According to another authentic hadith, the fate of Adam was determined fifty thousand years before the creation of Adam. Both statements cannot be true at the same time. So there is a problem in this matter as well. Let's read two hadiths. [Sahih Muslim, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 6503; Sahih Muslim, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 6507]

Ishaq ibn Musa ibn Abdullah ibn Musa, ibn Abdullah ibn Yazid Ansari … on the authority of Abu Huraira . He said, The Messenger of Allah, said: Adam and Moses descended to their Lord in argument. Adam was victorious over Moses . Musa (Alaihis Salam) said, You are Adam (Alaihis Salam) whom Allah Ta'ala created with His own hands and He breathed His Spirit into you, He made you prostrate by His angels, and He made you dwell in His Paradise. Then you brought people down to earth by your mistakes.
Adam (Alaihis Salam) said, "You are Musa (Alaihis Salaam) whom Allah Ta'ala has chosen with the authority of Messengership and His Word, and has given you Tablets (Taurat Kitab), on which everything is written, and to others for private conversation." Proximity has given. Well, how many years before my creation did you find that Allah Ta'ala wrote down the Torah?Musa said, forty years ago.Adam (Alaihis Salam) said, "Did you find that, Adam disobeyed his Lord and went astray?" He said, yes.
Adam (Alaihis Salam) said, "Then why do you rebuke me for my deeds which Allah had decreed for me forty years before I was created?"Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then Adam (Alaihis Salam) prevailed over Musa (Alaihis Salam).

What is the necessity to tie Burak?

The description of Burak in the hadith shows that Burak actually understood the language. Burak calmed down when Gabriel spoke to him. That is, this particular horse or donkey can understand language, and is shy. So the question arises, why does such an animal need to be chained again? A common man ties his horse or donkey for a special reason. The reason is, horses or donkeys cannot understand human language, they are not intelligent animals. Because of this the horse or donkey can move anywhere. But the creature who understands the language of the Prophet, why should he be tied? Did he run away? There are so many gaps in the story, the prophet did not understand? [Sunan at-Tirmidhi, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 3131]

Shayban ibn Farrukh … on the authority of Anas ibn Malik . Rasulullah sallallahu alayhi wasallam said: Blessings have been brought to me. Burak is a white animal bigger than a donkey and smaller than a mule. As far as the eye can see, one step at a time he goes. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: I climbed it and reached Bait al-Maqdas. Then I tied my vehicle with the same rope that Kiram used to tie their vehicles in other Ambiyas. Then I entered the mosque and came out after performing the two-rakat Salat (prayer/prayer).
Jibreel (alayhis salam) came to me with a vessel of wine and a vessel of milk. I took milk. Jibreel said to me, "You accepted Firat." Then Gabriel took me to heaven and told me to open the door reaching to heaven. Said, who are you? He said, I am Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It is said, have you been sent to bring him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. There I met Adam who congratulated me and prayed for my well-being.
Then Gabriel took me up and reached the second heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He replied Jibreel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, what was he sent to bring? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Isa ibnu Maryam and Yahya ibnu Zakaria (alayhimus salam) two half-brothers. They called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel took me up and reached the threshold of the third heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said: Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Yusuf there. He was given half of all beauty. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fourth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. There I met Idris . He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare. Allah Ta'ala said about him: وَرَفَعْنَاهُ مَكَانًا عَلِيًّا “And I raised him to a high rank—” (57: 19). Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the fifth heaven and told me to open the door. Said, who are you? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Soon the door was opened for us. I met Harun there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.

Then Gabriel took me to the threshold of the sixth heaven and told me to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. Said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad. It was said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Musa there. He called me Marhaba and prayed for my welfare.
Then Gabriel reached the threshold of the seventh heaven and asked to open the door. It was said, who? He said, Gabriel. It is said, who is with you? He said, Muhammad said, were you sent to fetch him? He said, yes, he was summoned. Then the door was opened for us. I met Ibrahim there. He is sitting with his back to Baitul Ma'mur. Then Allah Ta'ala revealed to me what He was about to reveal. He made a total of fifty prayers obligatory on me day and night. Then I returned to Musa . He said to me, What has your Lord enjoined on you? I said, fifty times Salat. He said, Go back to your Lord and ask him to make it easier. Because your Ummah will not be able to receive this instruction. I examined the Children of Israel and I gained experience of them. Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Then I turned back to my Lord and said, O my Lord! Simplify this order for my Ummah. Five times reduced. Then I returned to Musa and said, Five times have been reduced from me. He said, Your Ummah will not be able to do this either. You go back and apply to make it easier.
Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam said: Thus I continued to visit Musa (Alaihis Salam) once and Allah once. At the end, Allah Ta'ala said: O Muhammad! Go, five times of day and night prayers are fixed. Each time of prayer has the same reward as ten times of prayer. Thus (five times) is equal to fifty times Salat. Whoever desired a good deed and could not carry it out, I will write a reward for him; And if you put it into practice, I will write ten rewards for it. On the other hand, whoever intended an evil deed, but did not turn it into action, no sin is recorded for him. And if he turns it into a deed, only one sin is written on him. On the authority of Zir Ibn Hubaish , he said, I asked Huzaifa Ibn al-Yaman , did the Messenger of Allah, offer prayers at Bait al-Maqdis? He said, no. I said, yes, he prayed. He said, O Teko! You are saying such things, on what basis are you saying it? I said, based on the Quran. Quran will judge between me and you. Huzaifah said, "Whoever accepts evidence from the Qur'an is successful."

Sufyan said, He (Misr) sometimes said “Qad Ihtazza” and sometimes “Qad Falaja”. Then he (Zir) recited this verse: "Glory be to Him, who took His servant one night from Masjidul Haram to a distant mosque" - (Surah Bani Israel 1). Huzaifah said, Do you want to prove through this verse that the Messenger of Allah, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, prayed there? I said no. He said, "If the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, had prayed there, then it would have been obligatory upon you to pray there, just as it has been obligatory upon you to pray in Masjidul Haram."

Huzaifah said, An animal was brought to the Messenger of Allah. Its back was long and (while walking) its legs fell to the limit of vision. The two of them (the Prophet and Gabriel) did not dismount from the back of Burak until they saw the promised things of Paradise, Hell and the Hereafter. Then they both returned. They return in the same manner as they came (i.e. return as mounted).Huzaifah said, People say that he tied up Borak. Why would it run away from him? But the Lord (Allah Ta'ala) who knows all things secret and public made Borak under his control.

Ignorance of the guardian of the sky?

When Muhammad opens one of the gates of heaven (is it the gates of heaven?) and enters, the hadith tells us that the gatekeeper asks who the gatekeeper is. However, such a big event, the gatekeepers are supposed to know who will come. All the angels are supposed to be informed by Allah in advance about the arrival of the Prophet. Asman's communication system is very bad, it is understood that it belongs to the era of Mandhata. Or are these made to make the story interesting and interesting? Mathematical error about prayer numbers

Let's do a calculation. At the suggestion of Moses, Muhammad turned to Allah for the first time, and reduced the 50 prayers to half. Half of 50 is 25. Then he halved

> Narrated by Anas Ibn Malik . He said, Abu Dharr narrated the hadith that the Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, "The roof of my house was opened (on Laylatul Mi'raj). I was in Mecca then. Then Gabriel descended and tore open my chest. Then he washed it with the water of Yama. He then brought a golden saucer full of Hikmat and Iman (knowledge and faith) and poured it into my bosom. Then he adjusted my chest as before. Now he took my hand and lifted me towards the sky. Then when he reached the sky near the world, Gabriel said to the gatekeeper of the sky, open the door. He asked, who? He replied, I am Gabriel. The doorman said, is there anyone else with you? He said, Muhammad is with me. The gatekeeper asked, has he been called? He said, yes. Then the door opened. As we ascended into the sky, we suddenly saw a man with a group of people on his right and a group of people on his left. He laughs when he looks to his right and cries when he looks to his left. (He saw me) said, Marahaba! Good Prophet and good children. I asked, O Gabriel! Who is this? He replied, This is Adam and those on his right and left are his children. Among them, the people on the right are Paradise and the people on the left are Hell. So when he looks to the right he laughs and when he looks to the left he cries. Then Jibraeel ascended higher with me. He even reached the gate of the second sky. Then he said to the gatekeeper of the sky, open the door! The gatekeeper told him the same way the gatekeeper of the first sky had told him. Then he opened the door.

Anas said, Then Abu Dharr mentioned that the Prophet met Idris, Musa, 'Isa and Ibrahim in the heavens. He did not tell me about their location in which sky. However, he mentioned that he saw the Prophet Adam in the sky closest to the world and Ibrahim in the sixth sky.

Anas said, When Gabriel passed by Idris , he (Idris) said, O good Prophet and good brother! love you (The Prophet, said) I asked, who is this? He (Gibreel) replied, This is Idris ! Then I passed near Musa . He said, Marhaba! O good Prophet and good brother. Then I asked, who is this? He (Gibril) said, This is Musa . Then I passed by the side of 'Isa . He said, Marhaba! O good Prophet and good brother. Then I asked, who is this? He (Jibraeel) said, This is 'Isa . Then I passed by Ibrahim . He said, Marhaba. O good Prophet and good children! I wanted to know, who is this? He (Jibraeel) said, This is Ibrahim .

Ibn Shihab said, Ibn Hazm informed me that Ibn 'Abbas and Abu Yahya Ansari used to say that the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, Then Gabriel took me up. At last I reached a plain. From there I heard the rustling of pens.

Narrated by Ibn Hazm and Anas Ibn Malik . The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, " Then Allah is upon me Fifty times Salat is obligatory". Then I came back with this instruction. When Musa was passing by, he asked, What has your Lord enjoined on your Ummah? I said, Fifty times Salat has been made obligatory on them. He said, Return to your Lord again. Because your people cannot afford to do it. Then I went back and begged my Lord to reduce it.He reduced it by half.I returned to Musa (pbuh). He said, "Go to your Lord and ask him to reduce it again."Now He (Allah) reduced it to half.Again I came to Musa and he said as before. I did it. Then Allah forgave a part of it. I again came to Musa and informed him. Then he said, Go to your Lord and ask for more reduction. Because your Ummah will not be able to fulfill it. I went back again and begged my Lord to reduce it. He said, these five prayers are left. And it will be equal to fifty prayers in terms of reward. My words do not change. Then I came back to Musa . He said again, go to your Lord and plead. I said, I am ashamed to face my Lord this time. Now Jibreel went on and finally took me with him to Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that it was full of wonderful colors that I have no power to describe. Then I was admitted to Paradise. I saw its bricks made of pearls and its soil fragrant like musk or musk.

How does the pen sound again?

It is known from many hadiths that Allah made a pen at the beginning of creation, which was responsible for writing all the good and bad of destiny. As we ascended into the sky, we suddenly saw a man with a group of people on his right and a group of people on his left. He laughs when he looks to his right and cries when he looks to his left. (He saw me) said, Marahaba! Good Prophet and good children. I asked, O Gabriel! Who is this? He replied, This is Adam and those on his right and left are his children. Among them, the people on the right are Paradise and the people on the left are Hell. So when he looks to the right he laughs and when he looks to the left he cries. Then Jibraeel ascended higher with me. He even reached the gate of the second sky. Then he said to the gatekeeper of the sky, open the door! The gatekeeper told him the same way the gatekeeper of the first sky had told him. Then he opened the door.

Anas said, Then Abu Dharr mentioned that the Prophet met Idris, Musa,

'Isa and Ibrahim in the heavens. He did not tell me about their location in which sky. However, he mentioned that he saw the Prophet Adam in the sky closest to the world and Ibrahim in the sixth sky. Anas said, When Gabriel passed by Idris , he (Idris) said, O good Prophet and good brother! love you (The Prophet, said) I asked, who is this? He (Gibreel) replied, This is Idris ! Then I passed near Musa . He said, Marhaba! O good Prophet and good brother. Then I asked, who is this? He (Gibril) said, This is Musa . Then I passed by the side of 'Isa . He said, Marhaba! O good Prophet and good brother. Then I asked, who is this? He (Jibraeel) said, This is 'Isa . Then I passed by Ibrahim . He said, Marhaba. O good Prophet and good children! I wanted to know, who is this? He (Jibraeel) said, This is Ibrahim . Ibn Shihab said, Ibn Hazm informed me that Ibn 'Abbas and Abu Yahya Ansari used to say that the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, Then Gabriel took me up.At last I reached a plain. From there I could hear the rustling of the pens. Narrated by Ibn Hazm and Anas Ibn Malik . The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said, "Allah made fifty prayers obligatory upon me." Then I came back with this instruction. When Musa was passing by, he asked, What has your Lord enjoined on your Ummah? I said, Fifty times Salat has been made obligatory on them. He said, Return to your Lord again. Because your people cannot afford to do it. Then I went back and begged my Lord to reduce it. He reduced it by half. I returned to Musa (pbuh). He said, "Go to your Lord and ask him to reduce it again." Now He (Allah) reduced it to half. Again I came to Musa and he said as before. I did it. Then Allah forgave a part of it. I again came to Musa and informed him. Then he said, Go to your Lord and ask for more reduction. Because your Ummah will not be able to fulfill it. I went back again and begged my Lord to reduce it. He said, these five times of prayer are left. And it will be equal to fifty times Salat in terms of reward. My words do not change. Then I came back to Musa . He said again, go to your Lord and plead. I said, I am ashamed to face my Lord this time. Now Jibreel went on and finally took me with him to Sidratul Muntaha. I saw that it was full of wonderful colors that I have no power to describe. Then I was admitted to Paradise. I saw its bricks made of pearls and its soil fragrant like musk or musk. Moses wiser than Allah?

The biggest question is whether Hazrat Musa is more learned than Allah. Note, it is mentioned in the hadith that Allah ordered 50 times of prayer in the first phase. Musa heard this from Prophet Muhammad and began to praise Allah. He said, to bargain with what Allah has given, according to Allah's order. It's like buying raw fish in the raw market. On the advice of Prophet Musa, who is wiser than the All-Knowing Allah, Prophet Muhammad reduced the number of prayers by bargaining with Allah like raw fish in the raw market. From this one may think that Prophet Musa is more mature than Allah, since Prophet Musa objected to the prayer prescribed by Allah and suggested shortening it. I don't know what punishment Allah will punish Prophet Musa for such rudeness, but Allah also reduces the number of prayers under the pressure of the Prophet. It means Allah corrects his mistake. Otherwise, why reduce the number of prayers? If Allah ordered 50 times of prayer, then Allah corrected his mistake with the advice of Moses, then it must be understood that Allah also makes mistakes. So how is he God? [Hadith Number: 3342 (Sahih al-Bukhari, Tawheed Publications)] –

Do horses have wings?

It is known from the Sahih Hadith that Prophet Muhammad was shocked to see a doll of a horse with wings in Aisha's house and asked how the horse can have wings again! Hearing this question, Aisha replied, "Don't you know, Prophet Sulaiman had horse wings?" Hearing this, Prophet Muhammad started laughing. This hadith is very important. Because Aisha's marriage with the Prophet has been fulfilled long before her life. Prophet Muhammad should have known that Burak horse had wings and could fly! Muhammad Ibn Awf ….. Narrated Aisha . He said: The Messenger of Allah, may God bless him and grant him peace, returned from the battle of Tabuk or Khaibar, and at that time a curtain was hanging in my room. A corner of the curtain was blown open by the wind, revealing my dolls, which were on a shelf. Then he said: O Aisha! What are these? He said: These are my dolls. After thatThe Prophet saw in it a horse with two wings made of cloth. Then the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, asked: What is this that I see? He said: It is a horse. The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: What is it on this? He said: Two winged horses? Aisha said: Have you not heard that Sulaiman had a horse with wings? Aisha said: Upon hearing this, the Messenger of Allah laughed, so that I could clearly see his front teeth.

Then he brought the Burāq, handsome-faced and bridled, a tall, white beast, bigger than the donkey but smaller than the mule. He could place his hooves at the farthest boundary of his gaze. He had long ears. Whenever he faced a mountain his hind legs would extend, and whenever he went downhill his front legs would extend. He had two wings on his thighs which lent strength to his legs.

He bucked when the Prophet ﷺ came to mount him. Gibrīl put his hand on his mane and said: "Are you not ashamed, O Burāq? By Allāh, none has mounted you in all creation dearer to Allāh than he." Hearing this he was so ashamed that he sweated until he became soaked, and he stood still so that the Prophet ﷺ mounted him.

The other Prophets used to mount the Burāq before. Saʿīd ibn al-Musayyib said: "It is the beast of Ibrāhīm ﷺ which he used to mount whenever he travelled to the Sacred House."

Al-Isrā' & Jerusalem

Gibrīl departed with him. He placed himself on his right while Mīkā'īl was on his left. (In Ibn Saʿd's version:) The one holding his stirrup was Gibrīl and the one holding the reins of the Burāq was Mīkāʿīl. They travelled until they reached a land filled with datepalms. Gibrīl said to the Prophet ﷺ: "Alight and pray here." He did so and remounted, then Gibrīl said: "Do you know where you prayed?" He said no. Gibrīl said: "You prayed in a ṭayba or land of pastures, and the Migration will take place there.

The Burāq continued his lightning flight, placing his hooves wherever his gaze could reach. Gibrīl then said again: "Alight and pray here." He did so and remounted, then Gibrīl said: "Do you know where you prayed?" He said no. Gibrīl said: "You prayed in Madyan[11] at the tree of Mūsā."[12]

The Burāq continued his lightning flight, then Gibrīl said again: "Alight and pray here." He did so and remounted, then Gibrīl said: "Do you know where you prayed?" He said no. Gibrīl said: "You prayed at the mountain of Sīnā' where Allāh addressed Mūsā."[13]

In dreams or spiritually or physically?

There is wide disagreement among the scholars as to whether the mirage occurred physically or spiritually or through a dream. Some eminent Companions including Aisha believed that Miraj occurred in a dream. Again, most scholars believe that the mirage happened physically. Let us first look at the physical evidence of mirage.

Mukhtasar Zad al-Ma'ad, page 210:

> "……..Imam Ibnul Qayyim said, according to pure narration, Miraj happened physically. ……"

On another page of this same book, many Companions, including Aisha and Muawiya, and Ibn Ishaq opined that Miraj occurred in dreams or spiritually.

Mukhtasar Zad al-Ma'ad, page 213:

> Ibn Ishaq narrates from Aisha and Muawiyah that the Mi'raj (ascension) occurred spiritually. However, the soul did not separate from the body. A similar narration is found from Hasan al-Basri. It is essential to understand the difference between the statements that the Mi'raj happened "in a dream" and that it occurred "through the soul." There is a significant distinction between the two. Aisha and Muawiyah did not state that the Mi'raj happened in a dream. Rather, they said that the Mi'raj occurred through the soul, but the soul did not leave the body.
> Therefore, there is a difference between the two. When a person dreams, what they see is either known or familiar. A dreaming person may see themselves flying towards the sky or being taken towards Mecca. Yet, their soul neither ascended to the sky nor traveled to Mecca. Instead, the angel of dreams presents an example or representation for them.

Now let's read a hadith. For the convenience of the reader, the said matter has been highlighted, for the convenience of reading. Note, at the beginning of the narration Muhammad is asleep, at the end of the narration Muhammad wakes up [Sahih al-Bukhari, Islamic Foundation, Hadith: 7009] –

On the authority of Abdul Aziz Ibn Abdullah … on the authority of Anas Ibn Salik . He said, Rasulullah Sallallahu Alaihi Wasallam was visited from the Kaaba Mosque one night. The description is,A group of three angels came to the Prophet sallallaahu 'alayhi wa sallam before sending the revelation on this matter to him. But then he was sleeping in Masjidul Haram. The first of them said, who is he? The insider said, he is the best of them. The last man said, then take the best of them. That's all that happened that night. That's why he didn't see them again. Finally they came to another night which he was watching by heart. His eyes are sleepy, his heart does not sleep. Similarly, the eyes of other prophets sleep, but the heart does not sleep. That night, without speaking to him, they took him up and kept him near the Zamzam well.Jibreel (Alaihis Salam) took over the responsibility of the Prophet from among his companions. Jibreel (alayhis salam) cut her from below her throat to her chest and washed everything from her chest and stomach with the water of Jamam with his hands. He washed them, then a tray was brought and on it was a golden vessel full of faith and wisdom. He filled the veins of his chest and throat with it.
Then he placed them in the chest and closed them. Then took him back and ascended to the sky. He moved a door from the doors of heaven. As a result, the people of Asman called him and asked, who is this? He replied: Gabriel. They asked again, who is with you? He said: With me is Muhammad, may God bless him and grant him peace. He asked, has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. Then they said: Marhaban wa ahlan (Thank you, you have come to your people) The inhabitants of the heavens were very happy at the auspicious arrival. In fact, they cannot know what Allah Ta'ala intends to do on earth until He informs the people of heaven.
He found Adam in the sky of the world. Gabriel showed him and said, He is your father, greet him. The Prophet greeted him. Adam responded to his salam. And said: Marhaban wa Ahlan O my son. You are my good son. The Prophet saw two flowing rivers in the sky of the world. He asked, these two canals, O Gabriel! Gabriel said, these two are the source of Nile and Euphrates.
Then Gabriel wandered in this sky with the Prophet . He observed another canal. A palace built by Moti and Jabarzad stood on it. The Prophet struck the canal. It was a very high quality misc. He said: O Gabriel! What is it? Gabriel said: House of Kawsar. That which your Lord has reserved for you.

Then he went to the second heaven with the Prophet . The angels in the first heaven told him what he said here: they wanted to know, who is he? He said: Gabriel. They said: Who is with you? He said: Muhammad . They said: Has a messenger been sent to him? He said: Yes. They said, Marhaban wa Ahlan.

Then he went to the third heaven with the Prophet . What the angels in the first and second heaven said, the angels in the third heaven also said. Then he accompanied her to the fourth heaven. They also told him the same as before. Then he took her to the fifth heaven. They also said as before. Then he took him to the sixth heaven. There too the angels spoke as before. Finally, when he went to the seventh heaven with the Prophet sallallaahu alaihi wasallam, the angels there also spoke to him like the previous angels. There are prophets in every heaven. The Prophet mentioned their names. Among them, I saved that Idris (Alaihis Salam) went to the second heaven, Harun (Alaihis Salam) to the fourth heaven, another prophet went to the fifth heaven, I could not remember his name. Abraham (Alaihis Salam) is in the sixth heaven and Musa (Alaihis Salam) is in the seventh heaven because of the status of conversation with Allah.

At that time Musa said: O my Lord. I did not think that someone will be given high status over me. Then the Prophet was raised to such a height that none but Allah knows. Finally he arrived at Sidratul Muntaha. Here Almighty Allah approached him. As a result of the close proximity, there was a gap of two bows between them or less. Then Allah sent revelation to him. In other words, revelation was sent to his ummah to perform fifty salats (prayer/prayer) night and day.

Then the Prophet descended. And when he reached Musa, Musa stopped him and said, O Muhammad! What did your Lord command you? The Prophet said: To pray fifty times a day and night. Then Musa said, Your Ummah will not be able to fulfill it. So if you go back, your Lord will make this order easier for you and your Ummah. Then the Prophet looked at Gabriel as if he was seeking his advice on this matter. Gabriel pointed to him and said: Yes. It can be if you want. So he went to Allah first with the Prophet .

Then the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, stood up and said: O my Lord! My Ummah will not be able to realize it. Then Allah reduced the Salat (prayer/prayer) to ten times. Then he returned to Musa and he brought him down. Thus Moses continued to send him to his Lord. Finally five times remained. In number five, Musa (Alaihis Salam) stopped him and said, O Muhammad! I have sought a little more from my Bani Israel. Moreover they have weakened and abandoned while your Ummah is weaker in all aspects physical, mental, physical creativity and hearing. So you go again and get the instructions from your Lord more easily. Every time the Prophet looked to Gabriel for advice. Gabriel went with him for the fifth time as well. The Prophet said: O my Lord. My Ummah's body, mind, hearing and body are extremely weak. So make the instruction easier than us. Then Almighty Allah said: Muhammad! The Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: I am present to you, present again and again.

Allah said: My words do not change in any way. What I have enjoined upon you is preserved in the 'Ummul Kitab' i.e. Laohe Mahfuj. Every good deed has ten virtues. Salat (prayer/prayer) is recorded fifty times in the Book of Ummul. But it was made five times for you and your Ummah. Then when the Prophet returned to Moses, Moses asked him, "Have you brought provisions?"

The Prophet said: Allah has made it easy for us. He has assigned us ten rewards for every good deed. Then Musa said: By Allah! I expect little more from Bani Israel. But they did not pay that. To your Lord you return again, to reduce it a little more.

Now the Prophet, may God bless him and grant him peace, said: O Musa, by Allah! I have gone to my Lord again and again. I feel ashamed to go again, as if I am changing with him. Then Musa said: You can descend in the name of Allah. At that time, the Prophet, woke up and saw that he was in the forbidden mosque.

■Analytical Review of Miraj's Documentations

If someone scrutinizes the entire Miraj event thoroughly and honestly, they are bound to conclude that numerous discrepancies exist in the accounts. These accounts contain significant differences and contradictions that make them unlikely to describe a truthful event. True incidents rarely have so many conflicting narratives. Even a devout Muslim might naturally harbor doubts when reading these varying accounts. Islamic scholars have tried for 1400 years to reconcile the contradictions through various explanations, but discerning readers can easily spot the inconsistencies in their arguments. Consequently, scholars discourage deep study or scrutiny of these events, often deflecting tough questions by labeling them as matters of "unseen knowledge" or saying, "Only Allah knows; our duty is to believe." Scholars discourage questioning because detailed analysis may lead to doubts about faith. Let us now compile and review all the evidence regarding Miraj.

Sister or Adolescent Lover?

After reading the entire narrative, some points become clear: there was a very intimate relationship between Prophet Muhammad and Umm Hani from their childhood. Even the Prophet himself wanted to marry her. Since he wanted to marry her, it is not difficult to understand that he had deep love for Umm Hani. However, his uncle Abu Talib did not consider the orphan Muhammad, who was poor and without wealth, to be a suitable son-in-law for his daughter.

Later, Muhammad married Khadijah and improved his circumstances. By that time, however, Umm Hani had become someone else's wife. Whether it was because of his failure to win Umm Hani's love or the pain of her separation, Muhammad started retreating to the cave of Hira for meditation. It is uncertain whether his failure in love or seeing his beloved as someone else's wife caused him to lose faith in the prevailing religion.

Reading these incidents gives the impression that his romantic failure might have influenced his rebellion against society and religion. Perhaps he prayed to the idols of Lat, Manat, and Uzza for the success of his love. When those prayers went unanswered, he might have lost faith in those idols. In despair, he retreated to the cave of Hira. Whether he consumed any intoxicant there, like Sarat Chandra's Devdas, remains unknown.

It was there that he encountered a supernatural entity named Jibreel (Gabriel), who brought him revelation. Subsequently, significant changes occurred in Muhammad's life. The soft-spoken boy gradually became a warrior, a conqueror, and a looter. He conquered the city of Mecca. Umm Hani's husband fled Mecca out of fear of Muhammad. Why he fled and why he was so afraid remains a curious matter.

Later, Muhammad again wished to marry Umm Hani. But once more, Umm Hani rejected him. Why she rejected him, whether it was due to his fearsome warrior persona, remains unclear. Perhaps the soft boy Umm Hani fell in love with during childhood bore no resemblance to the aggressive and barbaric man Muhammad had become, surrounded by many wives and concubines, practically running a harem.

It might be for this reason that she said:

[from The Lives of the Companions of the Prophet, Female Companions, Muhammad Abdul Mabud, Bangladesh Islamic Center, Volume 6, Page 101]:

"By Allah! I loved you even in the days of ignorance (before Islam)."

Question: If Prophet Muhammad considered Umm Hani as his own sister, then why did he repeatedly propose marriage to her?

The Prophet did not die before fulfilling his desires

According to Aisha's narration, the Prophet did not pass away until he had fulfilled his desires with all the women he wanted. In other words, Allah did not cause his death until his desires were completely satisfied. Whoever he desired and whoever he wished to engage in sexual relations with, he did so before his death.

This hadith is significant, as it clearly indicates that Prophet Muhammad proposed marriage to Umm Hani multiple times, which suggests that he had a sexual desire for her. Furthermore, according to Aisha's hadith, whoever the Prophet desired, he fulfilled those desires before his death. What does this mean?

Conclusion

All the information presented above has been sourced from Islamic references. Atheists did not fabricate any of these details to malign Muhammad. Therefore, instead of resorting to the usual claims like "this is not authentic" or "there's a translation error," it is important for everyone to seek the truth.

From the discussion, it is quite evident that there was an extramarital relationship between Prophet Muhammad and Umm Hani. Whether this relationship was that of siblings or lovers is left for the readers to decide.

It is noteworthy that atheists do not object to the alleged relationship, love, or sexual connection between Muhammad and Umm Hani. We respect everyone's right to love and affection. Moreover, we empathize with the anger and sadness that Muhammad might have felt because he could not marry Umm Hani during his youth. Separating two loving individuals solely because one was an orphan and lacked wealth is far from humane.

This writing highlights the hypocrisy within Islam, where natural love and affection are completely prohibited. In Islam, there is no space for love outside of marriage and the use of female slaves & captive women from war.

The only documented and verifiable miracle Muslims don't claim!

But Muslims don't claim the biggest miracle Muhammad performed, which most of the Meccans witnessed. Why is that they don't mention that at all, we will know today.

The holy book of Islam, the Quran, abuses non-Muslims in many places. In one place in the Qur'an, the infidels are slandered as bastards. This is the term used in most accepted translations of the Qur'an 68:13.

What is said in Tafseer Ibn Kathir about this Quran 68:13:

Ikramah says that this refers to an illegitimate child. It is also narrated that just like a goat with a torn ear, whose ear hangs by its neck and can easily be recognized in a herd, in the same way, a believer can be easily distinguished from a disbeliever. There are many more similar statements. But the essence of all of them is that (Arabic term) refers to a person who is infamous and whose true lineage and the identity of their real father are not known. Such people are often strongly influenced by Satan, and he exerts a great deal of control over them. As mentioned in a Hadith: "An illegitimate child will not enter Paradise." In another Hadith, it is stated: "An illegitimate child is one of the three wicked individuals, provided they follow the deeds of their parents."

From Ibn Abbas , Mujahid sources, Ibn Abu Najih narrates that Ibn Abbas thought that زَنِيمٍ is a person claiming to be from a special clan but actually not from that clan.

Ibn Abu Hatim narrates from 'Amir Inn Qudama that 'Amir Inn Qudama said that when Ikramah was asked about its meaning, he said زَنِيمٍ means a bastard child. On the authority of Saeed Ibn Zubayr , who said that زَنِيمٍ means one who is famous for being a sinner and a terrorist.

There are several narrations about Ibn Abbas . He said that زَنِيمٍ is a person whose name became infamous. People don't know him unless they say "notorious" or زَنِيمٍ. Many people have different opinions on the interpretation of زَنِيمٍ. Basically, زَنِيمٍ is a person who is famous for evil deeds, known by people as infamous or a terrorist. Usually, they are fatherless, bastard children. Because Satan can generally exert more influence over such people than over others. For example, in part of a long hadith, the Prophet said: "Bad children will not enter Paradise."

Bastard children do not get property:

In Islamic law, illegitimate children are deprived of property rights. That is, if a child is born out of wedlock, he will no longer be his father's heir, even though he has no guilt here!

■Various marriages of Jahili period

It is known from Sahih Hadith that there were some very uncivilized marriage customs in Arab society at that time. Those marriages ranged from cohabitation with the same girl to some of the more gruesome pagan practices. It is also known that all of Muhammad's family were infidels and pagans. Let us first see some examples of the type of marriage that was prevalent in that society at that time

Chapter: Regarding The Types Of Marriages That Were Practiced Before Islam

A'ishah wife of the Prophet (ﷺ) said "Marriage in pre Islamic times was of four kinds." One of them was the marriage contracted by the people today. A man asked another man to marry his relative (sister or daughter) to him. He fixed the dower and married her to him. Another kind of marriage was that a man asked his wife when she became pure from menstruation to send fro so and so and have sexual intercourse with him. Her husband kept himself aloof and did not have intercourse with her till It became apparent that she was pregnant from the man who had intercourse with her. When it was manifest that she was pregnant, her husband approached her if he liked. This marriage was called istibda'(to utilize man for intercourse for a noble birth). A third kind of marriage was that a group of people less than ten in number entered upon a woman and had intercourse with her. When she conceived gave birth to a child and a number of days passed after her delivery, she sent for them. No one of them could refuse to attend and they gathered before her. She said to them "You have realized your affair. I have now given birth to a child. And this is your son. O so and so. She called the name of anyone of them she liked and the child was attributed to him. A fourth kind of marriage was that many people gathered together and entered upon a woman who did not prevent anyone who came to her. They were prostitutes. They hoisted flags at their doors which served as a sign for the one who intended to enter upon them. When she became pregnant and delivered the child , they got together before her and called for the experts of tracing relationship from physical features. They attributed the child to whom they considered and it was given to him. The child was called his son and he could not deny. When Allah sent Muhammad (ﷺ) as a Prophet, he abolished all kinds of marriages prevalent among the people of the pre Islamic times except of the Muslims practiced today.

Muhammad's Pagan Lineage

Most Muslims today may not know, or do not want to admit, that Prophet Muhammad was born into a polytheist family, where Prophet Muhammad himself declared his parents and uncles to be hell-bound. Let's verify the truth of things from Sahih Hadith. According to the following hadiths, uncle Abu Talib and grandfather Abdul Muttalib, both were polytheists and Hell-mongers. According to the above-mentioned hadith, they must have had similar marriages during the Jahili era.

Funeral
Chapter: 863. When the polytheist recites La-Ilaha-Illallahu at the time of death (Kalima-e-Tawheed).
Narrated Sa`id bin Al-Musaiyab from his father:
When the time of the death of Abu Talib approached, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) went to him and found Abu Jahl bin Hisham and `Abdullah bin Abi Umaiya bin Al-Mughira by his side. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said to Abu Talib, "O uncle! Say: None has the right to be worshipped but Allah, a sentence with which I shall be a witness (i.e. argue) for you before Allah. Abu Jahl and `Abdullah bin Abi Umaiya said, "O Abu Talib! Are you going to denounce the religion of `Abdul Muttalib?" Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) kept on inviting Abu Talib to say it (i.e. 'None has the right to be worshipped but Allah') while they (Abu Jahl and `Abdullah) kept on repeating their statement till Abu Talib said as his last statement that he was on the religion of `Abdul Muttalib and refused to say, 'None has the right to be worshipped but Allah.' (Then Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "I will keep on asking Allah's forgiveness for you unless I am forbidden (by Allah) to do so." So Allah revealed (the verse) concerning him (i.e. It is not fitting for the Prophet (ﷺ) and those who believe that they should invoke (Allah) for forgiveness for pagans even though they be of kin, after it has become clear to them that they are companions of the fire (9.113).

The Book of Faith

It is reported by Sa'id b. Musayyib who narrated it on the authority of his father (Musayyib b. Hazm) that when Abu Talib was about to die, the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) came to him and found with him Abu Jahl ('Amr b. Hisham) and 'Abdullah b. Abi Umayya ibn al-Mughirah. The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said:
My uncle, you just make a profession that there is no god but Allah, and I will bear testimony before Allah (of your being a believer), Abu Jahl and 'Abdullah b. Abi Umayya addressing him said: Abu Talib, would you abandon the religion of 'Abdul-Muttalib? The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) constantly requested him (to accept his offer), and (on the other hand) was repeated the same statement (of Abu Jahl and 'Abdullah b. Abi Umayya) till Abu Talib gave his final decision and be stuck to the religion of 'Abdul-Muttalib and refused to profess that there is no god but Allah. Upon this the Messenger of Allah remarked: By Allah, I will persistently beg pardon for you till I am forbidden to do so (by God), It was then that Allah, the Magnificent and the Glorious, revealed this verse: " It is not meet for the Prophet and for those who believe that they should beg pardon for the polytheists, even though they were their kith and kin, after it had been made known to them that they were the denizens of Hell" (ix. 113) And it was said to the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ): " Verily thou canst not guide to the right path whom thou lovest. It is quite clear from the above hadiths that Prophet Muhammad was born in a Kafir and Mushrik i.e. Pagan family. As such, Prophet Muhammad also grew up in a pagan environment, in a pagan culture.

Amina and Hala got married on the same day

First of all, it is necessary to know how the marriage of Abdullah and Amina, who gave birth to Muhammad, took place. Muhammad's mother Amina was from the tribe of Banu Zuhra. His father's name was Wahhab ibn Abdmanaf (slave of Manaf). And mother's name was, Barah bint Abdul Uzzah. Abd means slave. Abd Al Uzza means slave of Uzza. Find out who Uzzah was. A little study will tell you. At that time, Muhammad's grandfather Abdul Muttalib took his son Abdullah to Wahhab's house to marry his son Abdullah to Amina. At that time, seeing Amina's brother's daughter Hala, Abdul Muttalib also wanted to get married and he himself proposed to Hala . Later on the same day Abdul Muttalib married Hala, and his son Abdullah married Amina. Allegedly, it was there that Amina moved in with Abdullah and Amina became pregnant. Let us take a direct look at this point from Martin Lings famous book Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources, [Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources, by Martin Lings, page 17]:

> Wahb had been chief of Zuhrah but had died some years previously and Aminah was now a ward of his brother Wuhayb, who had succeeded him as chief of the clan. Wuhayb himself also had a daughter of marriageable age, Halah by name, and when ‘Abd al-Muttalib had arranged that his son should marry Aminah, he asked that Halah should be given in marriage to himself. Wuhayb agreed, and all preparations were made for the double wedding to take place at the same time. On the appointed day, ‘Abd al-Muttalib took his son by the hand, and they set off together for the dwellings of the Bani Zuhrah.’ On the way they had to pass the dwellings of the Bani Asad; and it so happened that Qutaylah, the sister ofWaraqah, was standing at the entrance to her house, perhaps deliberately in order to see what could be seen, for everyone in Mecca knew of the great wedding which was about to take place. ‘Abd al-Muttalib was now over seventy years old, but he was still remarkably young for his age in every respect; and the slow approach of the two bridegrooms, their natural grace enhanced by the solemnity of the occasion, was indeed an impressive sight. But as they drew near, Qutaylah had eyes only for the younger man. ‘Abd Allah was, for beauty, the Joseph of his times.

Readers, take note: Hala and Amina got married on the same day. With father Abdul Muttalib and son Abdullah. Shortly after this Abdullah went on a foreign trip on the orders of his father Abdul Muttalib and died of an unknown disease there.

The claim of Abdullah and Amina’s marriage on the same day is authenticated by:

- Al-Bidāya wa’l-Nihāya by Abū al-Fidā Hafiz Ibn Kathir ad-Dimashqi

Abdullah died shortly after

Many references indicate that Abdullah was not in Mecca when the Prophet was born. At the same time, Abdullah was not in Mecca at the time of the Ababil incident. [Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources, by Martin Lings, page 21]

'Abd Allāh, the son of 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib, was not in Mecca at the time of the miracle of the birds. He had gone for trade to Palestine and Syria with one of the caravans; and on his way home he had lodged with his grandmother's family in Yathrib, and there he had fallen ill. The caravan went on without him to Mecca and when it brought the news of his illness 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib sent Ḥārith to accompany his brother home as soon as he should be well enough to travel. But when Ḥārith arrived at the house of his Yathrib cousins they answered his greetings with commiserations, and he knew at once that his brother was dead.

There was great grief in Mecca when Ḥārith returned. Āminah's one consolation was the unborn child of her dead husband, and her solace increased as the time of her delivery drew near. She was conscious of a light within her, and one day it shone forth from her so intensely that she could see the castles of Bostra in Syria. And she heard a voice say to her: "Thou carriest in thy womb the lord of this people; and when he is born say: 'I place him beneath the protection of the One, from the evil of every envier'; then name him Muḥammad."[1]

Some weeks later the child was born. Āminah was in the home of her uncle, and she sent word to 'Abd al-Muṭṭalib, asking him to come to see his

[1] I.I. 102.

It is known from several other sources that Abdullah died shortly after Abdullah's marriage with Amina. Some say it was shortly after the wedding, some say a little longer. However, all scholars agree that it happened in a very short time. A few historians claim that Muhammad was born two months before his father's death, but there is insufficient evidence to support that claim. Basically all these historians say this by calculating Hamza's age.

As the above reference shows, according to a few historians, Abdullah died two months after the birth of the Prophet. If this happens, more complications arise. Because Abdullah went abroad shortly after marrying Amina, Amina was pregnant during this long time?

Muhammad's biography, written by Ibn Hisham (Sirat Ibn Hisham), states that immediately after the marriage, Abdullah impregnated Amina in her father Wahab's house. Islamic scholars agree on this fact.

The Book of the Major Classes by Ibn Sa'd mentions that Abdullah died a few months after the marriage at the age of 25.

Hamza is 4 years older than the Prophet

In Muhammad's biography Uyūn al-Athar, written by Ibn Sayyid al-Nās, it is stated:

> “Narrated by Zubayr, Hamza is four years older than Muhammad. But I don’t think this is correct, because, from a reliable hadith, we know that Thaibah nursed both Hamza and Muhammad.”

To conclude, Ibn Sayyid al-Nās argued that Hamza was two years older than Muhammad, rejecting Zubayr's claim of four years.

Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani, in his book Finding the Truth in Judging the Companions, wrote that Hamza was born 2–4 years before Muhammad.

The Book of the Major Classes* by Ibn Sa'd also mentions that Hamza was 59 years old when he died in the Battle of Uhud and that he was four years older than Muhammad.

Hala, meanwhile, became pregnant, by Abdul Muttalib, and gave birth to a son named Hamza . This Hamza later became a follower of Muhammad and Hamza was killed in the Battle of Uhud on 22 March 625 (7 Shawwal 3 Hijri) at the age of 59.
He was 59 years old at the time of his death. Which Ibn Sa'd says, based on al-Waqidi's claim. Also, he was 3-4 years older than Muhammad. However, the famous Muhaddith Ibn Hajar Asqalani, the author of Fath ul Bari, wrote at the end of Ibn Sayyid's hadith: "Hamza was born two to four years before Muhammad".
Let us see from the book of Tabaqat Ibn Sa'd, how much older Hamza really was than Muhammad. [Muhammad ibn Saad. Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabair vol. 3. Translated by Bewley, A, page 4]

Muhammad ibn 'Umar reported from Musa ibn Muhammad ibn Ibrahim that his father said, "Hamza was distinguished in the Battle of Badr by an ostrich feather." Muhammad ibn 'Umar said, "Hamza carried the banner of the Messenger of Allah ﷺ in the expedition of the Banu Qaynuqa' and there were no standards on that day."

He was killed at the age of fifty-nine in the Battle of Uhud which took place thirty-two months after the Hijra. He was four years older than the Messenger of Allah ﷺ. He was a man of medium height. He was killed by Wahshi ibn Harb who slit his belly open and took his liver and brought it to Hind bint 'Uqba ibn Rabi'a. She chewed it and then spat it out. Then she went and mutilated Hamza and made anklets, necklaces and pendants from his body and brought them and his liver to Makka.

Hamza was shrouded in a mantle and when they covered his head with it, his feet showed and when they covered his feet with it, his face was uncovered. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, "Cover his face." Rue was put on his feet.

Waki' ibn al-Jarrah reported from Hisham ibn 'Urwa from his father that Hamza ibn 'Abd al-Muttalib was shrouded in a cloth.

Muhammad ibn 'Umar reported from 'Umar ibn 'Uthman al-Jahshi that his father said, "Hamza ibn 'Abd al-Muttalib and 'Abdullah ibn Jahsh were buried in the same grave. Hamza was the maternal uncle of 'Abdullah ibn Jahsh."

Muhammad ibn 'Umar said, "Abu Bakr, 'Umar, 'Ali, and az-Zubayr went down into Hamza's grave while the Messenger of Allah ﷺ sat on its edge. The Messenger of Allah ﷺ said, 'I saw the angels washing Hamza because he was in janaba on that day.' Hamza was the first martyr over whom the Messenger of Allah ﷺ prayed on that

Abu Talib's rejection of marriage

Muhammad was raised by his uncle Abu Talib after the death of his grandfather Abdul Muttalib. At that time, when he proposed to his cousin Umm Hani, he turned the proposal down because he did not consider his uncle Abu Talib Muhammad to be honorable enough. But the lineage of Abu Talib and Muhammad is the same, why Muhammad is smaller or inferior to Abu Talib in terms of respect, it is not understandable.

Abdul Muttalib's son?

According to a large number of authentic hadiths, Prophet Muhammad identified himself as the son of Abdul Muttalib in various places. Ibn Abdul Muttalib directly refers to himself, without mentioning his father's name. But at that time, grandfather's name was also called in Arabic, this is not a major proof. However, it is necessary to look at the hadiths. Before that, consider how much Abdul Muttalib loved his daughter-in-law Amina, and how much he loved Muhammad too.

Ali Fatima's cousin?

We all know that Hazrat Ali was the cousin of Prophet Muhammad. The Prophet was the son of Abdullah, and Ali was the son of his brother Abu Talib. But it is stated in the Sahih Hadith, the Prophet used to ask Fatima, where is your cousin?

By this he used to direct Hazrat Ali. But how does Ali become Fatima's cousin? Ali is supposed to be the cousin of Prophet Muhammad. Let us read the hadiths:

Sahih Bukhari Volume 8, Book 74, Number 297:

Narrated Sahl bin Sad:

There was no name dearer to 'Ali than his nickname Abu Turab (the father of dust). He used to feel happy whenever he was called by this name. Once Allah's Apostle came to the house of Fatima but did not find 'Ali in the house. So he asked "Where is your cousin?" She replied, "There was something (a quarrel) between me and him whereupon he got angry with me and went out without having a midday nap in my house." Allah's Apostle asked a person to look for him. That person came, and said, "O Allah's Apostle! He (Ali) is sleeping in the mosque." So Allah's Apostle went there and found him lying. His upper body cover had fallen off to one side of his body, and so he was covered with dust. Allah's Apostle started cleaning the dust from him, saying, "Get up, O Abu Turab! Get up, Abu Turab!"

Sahl b. Sa`d reported that a person from the offspring of Marwan was appointed as the governor of Medina. He called Sahl b. Sa`d and ordered him to abuse `Ali. Sahl refused to do that. He (the governor) said to him:

If you do not agree to it (at least) say: May Allah curse Abu Turab. Sahl said: There was no name dearer to `Ali than Abu Turab (for it was given to him by the Prophet himself) and he felt delighted when he was called by this name. He (the governor) said to him: Narrate to us the story of his being named as Abu Turab. He said: Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) came to the house of Fatima and he did not find `Ali in the house; whereupon he said: Where is your uncle's son? She said: (There cropped up something) between me and him which had annoyed him with me. He went out and did not rest here. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) asked a person to find out where he was. He came and said: Allah's Messenger, he is sleeping in the mosque. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) came to him and found him lying in the mosque and saw that his mantle had slipped from his back and his back was covered with dust and Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) began to wipe it away from him (from the body of Hadrat `Ali) saying: Get up, covered with dust (Abu Turab); get up, covered with dust.

Which of the two charts is correct?

ABDUL MUTTALIB	ABDUL MUTTALIB
Abdullah ===(Brother)== Abu Talib	Muhammad ==(Brother)= Abu Talib
Muhammad =(cousin)==== Ali	Fatima ======(Cousin)= Ali
Fatima ===(Uncle and Husband)= Ali

Left one

According to several hadiths, the pagan Quraysh called Prophet Muhammad Ibn Abu Kabsha. Ibn Abu Kabsha means son of Abu Kabsha. Who was this Abu Kabsha? He was the husband of Muhammad's aunt Halimah. It is known that he did not worship idols. For this reason the Quraish called Muhammad the son of Abu Kabsha. Let's look at those hadiths:

Narrated Ibn `Abbas:

Abu Sufyan said, "Heraclius sent for me when I was in 'Ilya' (i.e. Jerusalem). Then he asked for the letter of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and when he had finished its reading there was a great hue and cry around him and the voices grew louder and we were asked to quit the place. When we were turned out, I said to my companions, 'The cause of Ibn Abi Kabsha has become conspicuous as the King of Bani Al- Asfar is afraid of him.' "

Analysis of data

The information given above suggests that Amina and Hala became pregnant. But the problem arises when I sit down to calculate. According to the available calculations, Muhammad and Hamza are supposed to be the same age, or Hamza is supposed to be younger than Muhammad. Since Amina seems to have been pregnant earlier. If Hala had become pregnant earlier, Abdullah would have stayed in Makkah for a few more years, at least two/three years. But from all the sources it is known that within a few days of the marriage, Amina became pregnant and Abdullah went abroad on the orders of Abdul Muttalib . And, Hamza was four years older than Muhammad. Now let's do the math.

1) Abdullah and Abdul Muttalib married Amina and Hala on the same day.
2) Shortly after the marriage Abdullah went on a foreign trip and died there.
3) Since Hamza is older, Hala gets pregnant first. Hamza was born. Hamza was 59 at the time of his death, thus Hamza was born in 566.
4) Muhammad was born four years after the birth of Hamza. But since Abdullah went on a foreign trip shortly after the marriage, there is no evidence that Abdullah lived with Amina for three or four years. Three or four years later, then how was Muhammad born?

Key Dates:

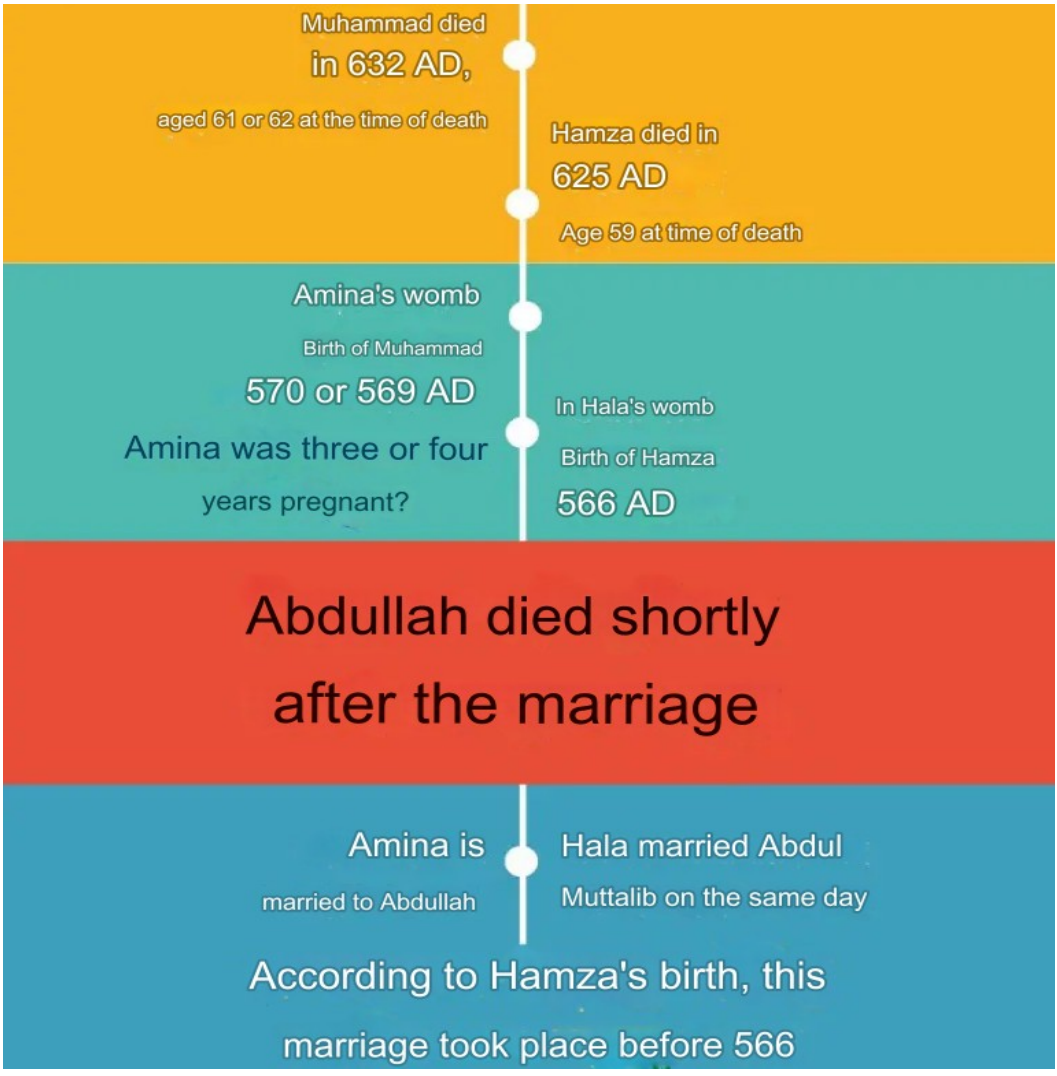
- Marriage duration of Abdullah and Amina: July 570 CE – January 571 CE (claimed by Islamic scholars)

Person	Birth Date	Death Date	Age at Death
Muhammad	August 29, 570 CE	June 8, 632 CE	61 years
Abdullah	546 CE	570–571 CE	24–25 years
Amina	c. 549 CE	577–578 CE	27–28 years
Hamza	567 CE	March 19, 625 CE	58 years

(claimed by Islamic scholars)

But if you recall that Abdullah and Abdul Muttalib married at the same time and Abdullah died within 7 months then this table doesn’t make sens.

Let's see through the chart:



Abusing the Prophet as Hamza's slave

Hamza ibn Abdul Muttalib, the Prophet's uncle, is said to have once drunkenly abused the Prophet by calling him his father's (Abdul Muttalib's) slave. In the state of drunkenness, the words of the human mind actually come out. It is not known why Hamza considered Prophet Muhammad as a servant of his father Abdul Muttalib.

'Ali b. Abu Talib reported; There fell to my lot along with Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) an old she-camel from the spoils of Badr. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) granted me another camel. I made them kneel down one day at the door of an Ansari, and I wanted to carry on them Idhkhir (a kind of grass) in order to sell that. There was with me a goldsmith of the tribe of Qainuqa'. I saught to give a wedding feast (on the occasion of marriage with) Fatima with the help of that (the price accrued from the sale of this grass). And Hamza b. 'Abd al-Muttalib was busy in drinking in that house in the company of a singing girl who was singing to him. She said:

Hamza, get up for slaughtering the fat she-camels. Hamza attacked them with the sword and cut off their humps and ripped their haunches, and then took out their livers. I said to Ibn Shihab: Did he take out anything from the hump? He said: He cut off the humps altogether. Ibn Shihab reported 'Ali having said: I saw this (horrible) sight and it shocked me, and I came to Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) and there was Zaid b, Haritha with him and communicated to him this news. He came in the company of Zaid and I also went along with him and he went to Hamza and he expressed anger with him. Hamza raised his eyes and said: Are you (not) but the servants of my father? Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) turned back on his heels (on hearing this) until he went away from them.

Conclusion

It is known that Abdul Muttalib cherished Muhammad as a son for a while. Because of Abdul Muttalib's greatness, despite the fact that he was a disbeliever, Muhammad spoke about him with respect and always respected and loved him. He was proud to identify himself as Abdul Muttalib's son, despite knowing that Abdul Muttalib was an infidel and a polytheist. I am not jumping to conclusions. I leave the matter to the reader why Muslims don't ever claim that birth after 3-4 years of a father's death is the biggest and unique miracle of all. Islamic Sharia court also adopted the law that a women can give birth 4 years after a women's husband's death to legitimate Muhammad's birth. And there aren't any reference that Muhammad ever circumcised or his tribe did. Even his companion's reference are trace.

The Book of Al Sirah Al-Halabia (another name of the Book of Insan Al-Ueoun Fe Serat Al-Ma'mun), Vol. 1, p. 128:

"After the death of Qathem Ibn Abd-Al-Mu'taleb (Muhammad's uncle) at the age of nine, three years before Muhammad was born, his father Abd-Al-Mu'taleb felt so sad, so when the prophet was born, he named him Qutham."

Islamic Doctor Yousuf Zaidan - Egypt - Director of Manuscripts in Alexandria says Mohammad's Real name is Qutham for little over 40 years of age. Book Hayat Mohammad Page 39, by Muhammed Hussein Haykal (Life of Mohammad):
The real name given to him after his birth is “Qutham, ibn Abd Al-Lat” meaning (Qutham, the son of The slave of Al-Lat).

Taj Al-'Aroos by Murtadi Al-Zubaydi, Volume 33, Page 228
"You are Qutham, and you are created from Qutham."
This is what Quraish used to say about him

Book: Al Mu'jam Al Saghir
And
Book: Al Mudhish by Al-Jalal ibn Al-Jawsi
Tells the meaning of Qutham:
Qutham means "stool" or "feces" or "excrement" or "shit"
Allegorically "bastard"

So then the full name which he carried for more than 40 years is "Stool/feces/Wasteproduct, Son of Al-Lat's slave"

Muhammad called himself Qotham or Qutham, Qathem in (Beharul Anwar Vol.16 p.130) : “It is narrated from Prophet Muhammad (s.a.w.w) to have said about himself that ‘I am Qotham` which means ‘I am the owner of comprehensiveness and the collection of all goodness`.”

Mohammed supposedly also had a cousin named Qutham ibn Abbas, who brought Islam to Uzbekistan. There is shrine to him there.

Muhammad was born in the year 570, which is four years after his named father, Abduallah, died! Some might say, “How can a child be born four (4) years after his father's death?” The answer is simple. Abduallah was called his father, but he was not. Before Islam, there was a kind of marriage they called Zawaj Al Rahe’t, which means group marriage. This is how the marriage worked: The woman sleeps with many men, seven, ten, or more. The number doesn't matter much. All are called Raht or Groups. You could say it's not marriage at all. It was more of a sex practice accepted by the society. The mother then chose the father of her baby when she gave birth. The real name of Muhammad's designated father was never Abduallah. His real name was Abd Allat, which means the slave of Allat (one of the three daughters of the pagan deity, Allah). Muslims only use the name Abduallah as his father's name because the actual name of his father is insulting to Allah. Muhammad's mother had many children, not only Muhammad. If the first and only individual man who ever had her was Muhammad's father, how does she have so many children?

In the Book of Imam Al Suyuti the Al Kasa's Al-Kubra, Vol. 1, p. 132, 133, 134,135 Muhammad's mother said

قالت حملت به فما حملت قط أخف منه فأريت في النوم حين حملت به أنه خرج مني نور

"I was pregnant with him, and it was the easiest one of my pregnancies."

No one speaks about his brothers. How can he have brothers, since Muslims claim that Muhammad never saw his father? And his mother, she was newly married? Add to that, Muhammad's father died a few months after he married her (as Muslims claim). The only way is if his mother would have had other husbands, or at least one other. In the coming hadith, I will clearly prove that the father of Muhammad (the claimed one, Abduallah never married Muhammad's mother. I am going to show the story as it is in Arabic, and translate it.

Excerpt of the hadith translation: Book of Al-Tabaqat Al-Kubra, Print. 1, 1968, Vol. 1, p. 95, 96: Obed Allah told us that (...) it was Waraqa Ibn Naofal's sister on the road looking for men. As she looked, she did not like any until she saw Abduallah (Muhammad's father) walk by. She said to him, holding him from his clothes, "What do you think about my goods?" (Get what you need from me.) He said, "Not now. When I am back!" He went out fast and entered to Amena Bent Wahab (Muhammad's mother) and had sex with her. On his way back, he came to meet with Waraqa Ibn Naofal's sister and said to her, "You'd still like to sleep with me!" She said, "No! When you walked by, before you left me, I saw a shiny face, but now you have lost that shiny face." (Maybe he got tired from sex.)

We can find the same story in the book entitled, Alsyrah Al-Nbwyah Le-Ibn- Hisham (Arabic), Printing 2.02, Vol. 1, p. 292, Author: Ibn Hisham Al-'Ansaary/'Abd Allah bin Yusuf:

السيرة النبوية، الإصدار 2.02 - لابن هشام
المجلد الأول >> ذكر المرأة المتعرضة لنكاح عبدالله بن عبدالمطلب >> عبدالله يرفضها

قال ابن إسحاق : ثم انصرف عبدالمطلب آخذا بيد عبدالله ، فمر به - فيما يزعمون - على امرأة من بني أسد بن عبدالعزى بن قصي بن كلاب بن مرة بن كعب بن لؤي بن غالب (1/ 292) بن فهر ، وهي أخت ورقة بن نوفل بن أسد بن عبدالعزى ، وهي عند الكعبة ؛ فقالت له حين نظرت إلى وجهه : أين تذهب يا عبدالله ؟ قال : مع أبي ، قالت : لك مثل الإبل التي نحرت عنك ، وقع علي الآن ، قال : أنا مع أبي ، ولا أستطيع خلافه ، ولا فراقه

The hadith translation of the above book, Chapter of Woman Offering Herself For Nukah (sex) to Abduallah Ibn Abd-Al-Mu'taleb (Muhammad's father):

Ibn Ishaq said: "Then Abd-Al-Mu'taleb (Muhammad's Grandfather) left, and he took with him Abduallah, at the same time they passed by a woman, she is from the family of Assad son of 'Uza son of 'Qusai son of Dogs (dogs was the name of Muhammad's early grandfather) son of Murah son of Ka'eb son of Lu'e son of Galeb son of Faher." She said when she saw his face: "Where are you going Abduallah?" He said, "With my father," then she said, "I will give you the same number of camels as was offered in the day of Sacrifice (100 camels) if you sleep with me." He said, "I cannot now, I am with my father. I cannot leave him."

Now as we study this story, it tells us that women at that time had full control of their lives. They slept with whoever they liked, and they offered themselves to any man of their choice. Did you notice in the first version that Muhammad's claimed father did not say no to the deal, but he had a rendez-vous with Muhammad's (Qathem's) mother? He wanted to have sex with Waraqa Ibn Naofal's sister, but when he came back, she changed her mind. Why?!

This proves that the word marriage had no meaning in Arabia. As I said and have proven, Muhammad's father practiced this kind of open sexual relationship. I am wondering what was the relationship between Waraqa Ibn Naofal and Muhammad's mother prior to his birth? I would not be surprised if Waraqa Ibn Naofal is the real father of Muhammad. I do not think this story came to life from nothing. In those days, Arabs used to offer their sisters or daughters for their own purposes. Maybe Waraqa Ibn Naofal tried to prevent Muhammad's father from having sex with Amena because she was a favorite of his! Perhaps he sent his sister on this mission! Had it worked, he (Muhammad's father) would have been hooked up with the sister instead of that woman. On the same page of the above hadith, we find the following: Fatima Bint Mur was among the most beautiful women and most noble with honor. She read books and was educated! All the young men of the Qurish tribes talked about her. The story says that she saw the light of prophet-hood in his face!

She offered Muhammad's father to sleep with her for the payment of one hundred camels!!

How decent was Muhammad's father to the point that women offered him money for sex! I am not talking about how good he was, but as in pleasant looking. What I mean is that an honorable man would not be jumping from one woman to another or even get paid for sex like a prostitute. In today's modern times, he would be considered a gigolo. The reason I am pointing out these stories is to give you some background about the daily life of the Arab tribes of Qurish at that time. I want to make it clear that, when Muslims speak about Muhammad's family as being a noble family, it does not match the reality. Don't forget that Muhammad's parents were on top of all of this, and they were pagans and died as such. And going back to the Qur'an we found that Allah called the pagans "filthy" as mentioned in Qur'an 9:28: "O ye who believe! Truly the Pagans are unclean; so let them not, after this year of theirs, approach the Sacred Mosque. And if ye fear poverty, soon will Allah enrich you, if He wills, out of His bounty, for Allah is All-knowing, All-wise." (Translation of Yusuf Ali). In the Book of Al-Rahi'q Ma'khtom, p. 45, his uncle 'Hamza was sharing the same breast feeding women (two women breastfed 'Hamza). Later on, both same women breastfed Muhammad. The names of the two women were Thaubia and 'Halima Al-Sadia.

وكان عمه حمزة بن عبد المطلب مسترضعًا في بني سعد بن بكر، فأرضعت أمه رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم يومًا وهو عند أمه حليمة،فكان حمزة رضيع رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم من جهتين، من جهة ثويبة ومن جهة السعدية.
الرحيق المختوم ص 45
صفي الرحمن المباركفوري

Translation:
And his uncle 'Hamza was a person who was breastfed from the family of Bany Sa'ed son of Baker, and his mother ('Hamza's mother), breastfed Muhammad while he was being suckled by 'Halima, therefore 'Hamza was breastfed and shared by both women who were also suckled by Muhammad.

After this brief introduction of Muhammad's life, it's time to shed the light on this man in order to figure out who he was, not as a name, but as a person and a man.

Muhammad had his own experience as a human. His early life was not easy until he got his hand on wealth. Let us recall the first story about how Waraqa's sister, by the name of Qatilah Bin Naofal, offered herself to Abduallah in order for him not to have sex with Amena, but he did anyway. Therefore, Waraqa's sister did not want him anymore. If we connect this with other stories, we will find that Waraqa Ibn Naofal is in every step of Muhammad's life. In the same book (Book of Al-Tabaqat Al-Kubra, Print. 1, 1968, Vol. 1, p. 95), it says that Muhammad:

تزوج عبد المطلب بن هاشم وتزوج عبد الله بن عبد المطلب في مجلس واحد فولدت هالة بنت وهيب لعبد المطلب حمزة بن عبد المطلب فكان حمزة عم رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في النسب وأخاه من الرضاعة قال أخبرنا هشام بن محمد بن السائب الكلبي عن أبيه وعن أبي الغياض

الخثعمي قالا لما تزوج عبد الله بن عبد المطلب آمنة بنت وهب أقام عندها ثلاثا وكانت تلك السنة عندهم إذا دخل الرجل على امرأته في أهلها.

Abd Al-Mu'taleb Ibn Hashem and his son Abd-Allah married on the same day,so Halah daughter of Waheb gave birth to 'Hamza, who became Muhammad'suncle and his brother by breast feeding (Muslims believe that if two suckle from the same woman, they become brothers), and we had been told by Ibn Ishaq that when the father of Muhammad married Amena (Muhammad's mother) he stayed with her three nights, as was the tradition at that time.

Continuing on the same page, we find that the grandfather of Muhammad and his son had sex with two sisters, Amena and Halah. Technically speaking,Muhammad's aunt is his grandfather's woman, or we can call her his wife. On top of that, it says that Halah gave birth to 'Hamza (Muhammad's uncle). This means both Muhammad and 'Hamza were breastfed by the mother of 'Hamza. That made 'Hamza, the uncle of Muhammad, also his brother (by suckling the same woman's milk), but not in the same time period (year). Add to that, Muhammad's father slept only with Muhammad's mother for three days! He even slept with her in her house! How can she be his wife? Why didn't he, if they were married, take his wife to his house?! This means that Muhammad's mother never moved into Abduallah's house!!

In the Book of Ibn Kathir, Vol. 1, p. 255, Ibn Hisham said that Muhammad was 14 or 15 years old when the battle of Al-Fajar had begun.

السيرة النبوية لابن كثير حرب الفجار 255/1
وقال ابن هشام: فلما بلغ رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم أربع عشرة سنة - أو خمس عشرة سنة

We find the same story from the Book Al-Sira Al-Naboiah, by Dr. Muhammad Ahmed Mahmoud Hasabalah (this is his entire name) and Dr. Muhammad AbduAlqader Al-'Khateb. Both are professors of Islamic history and civilization in Al Azhar University (the highest university accepted by Osama bin Laden, Al-Zawahiri and Muslims). They both say in their book that the battle of Al-Fajar started 12 years after the death of Abd-Al-Mu'taleb, the father of 'Hamza, and that 'Hamza was 22 years old at that time!!!

In the same book, both doctors agree that Muhammad, at that time, was 15 years old when the war of Al-Fajar had begun. Below is the link for their book. I know Muslims will not believe this. Let us say 99% of Muslims never read books, so how would they know?

Visit this link and see for yourself:

موقع السراج - السيرة النبوية - العهد المكي - من المولد حتى البعثة - حرب الفجار (alsiraj.net)

If 'Hamza was 22 at the time of war and Muhammad was 15, this means that, according to these scholars, 'Hamza is seven years older than Muhammad. But 'Hamza was born in the same year Muhammad's father died! This would mean that Muhammad was born seven years after his father's death.

The Book of Sira Ibn Kathir, Vol. 1, p. 263 says:
When Muhammad wanted to marry Khadija, he told his uncle about her and 'Hamza went to Khadija and asked for her hand for Muhammad.

أبن كثير السيرة الجزء الأول 263
فخرج معه عمه حمزة حتى دخل على خويلد بن أسد فخطبها إليه، فتزوجها عليه الصلاة والسلام.

In Arab traditions as I know our traditions very well, you do not ask someone of your own age to go on your behalf asking for someone's hand. It's not at all acceptable. In this case, 'Hamza fits in both ways to do the job: He is Muhammad's uncle and he is older.

Now we will find out when reading in the Book of (دائرة المعارف الإسلامية ج 29 ص 9112)

Da'ert Al-Ma-Ma'aref Al-Islamyiah, Vol. 29, p. 9112 , that Muhammad was born in the year 570 AC and the battle of 'Ohod was in the year 625, as all Islamic books agree.

This means that if we take the year 625 ('Ohod Battle) and substract 570 (his birth date) = 55 years (The age of Muhammad). In the Book of Al-Tabakat Al Kubra, Vol. 3, p. 29/118, 'Hamza held the flag in the attack against the children of Qanika'a (the Jewish tribe who were all killed by Muhammad) and when he died, his age was 59. Here, 'Hamza was older than the prophet by 4 years.

وحمل حمزة لواء رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في غزوة بني قينقاع ولم يكن الرايات يومئذ وقتل رحمه الله يوم أحد على رأس اثنين وثلاثين شهرا من الهجرة وهو يومئذ بن تسع وخمسين سنة كان أسن من رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم بأربع سنين

Again, Muslims might say I am making things up. This can be found in many Islamic books such as:

Book Sabil الكتاب : سبل الهدى والرشاد، في سيرة خير العباد، 11/83
Al-Huda Wa Al-Rashad, Vol. 11, p. 82, 83:

إذا كان أسن من رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم بأربع سنين، كيف يصح أن تكون ثويبة أرضعتهما معا، والحديث صحيح فهو مقدم على غيره إلا أن تكون أرضعتهما في زمانين.

If 'Hamza was four years older than the messenger of Allah, then how [could he] be suckling from the same woman? The answer is, the hadith is correct and has been favored above other hadiths because she breastfed them both in two different timing.

Al-Mustadark Fe Al-Sahih, Vol. 3, p. 212, Hadith 4873:

المستدرك [جزء 3 - صفحة 212] حديث رقم 4873 حمزة بن عبد المطلب كانت له كنيتان أبو يعلي و أبو عمارة لابنيه يعلي و عمارة أسلم حمزة في السنة السادسة من النبوة و كان أسن من رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم بأربع سنين و قتل يوم السبت في المغزى بأحد لسبع خلون من شوال سنة ثلاث من الهجرة

'Hamza used to have two names, Abu-'Ali and 'Emarah. He became a Muslim six years after Islam started and he was four years older than Muhammad. He was killed in battle of 'Ohod, Saturday the seventh of the month of Shoual (Islamic calendar).

Book of Al-Tabaqat Al-Kubra, print. 1, 1968, Vol. 3, p. 103:

وقتل، رحمه الله، يوم أحد على رأس اثنين وثلاثين شهرا من الهجرة وهو يومئذ بن تسع" وخمسين سنة، كان أسن من رسول الله، صلى الله عليه وسلم، بأربع سنين "

"'Hamza, may Allah have mercy on him, was killed by a man named Wahshy, he was fifty nine years old and four years older than the prophet."
What do we obtain from all of these stories?

If Muhammad's grandfather and his father slept with the same sisters in the same time period, and after that Muhammad's father left Amena a few days later, (or few months after, that being said for the sake of argument because it won't change anything) then:

Muhammad's grandfather and his son, Abduallah, had both sisters on the same day;
'Hamza was born in the same time period of which Muhammad's father's died;
'Hamza is older than Muhammad (Muslim scholars disagree if it isby four years or perhaps seven years);
'Hamza was killed at the battle of 'Ohod at age 59. Muhammad was then 55 years old;
Muhammad cannot be the son of that man whom Muslims call Abduallah as we see in Ibn Kathir's book of Al-Bidayah & Al-Nihayiah, Vol. 2, p. 316. At the end, a tribe of Banu Nader came asking for Muhammad, when he was a child, claiming that he was their child. It's so clear that he does not have a father.

البداية والنهاية لابن كثير باب ترويج عبد المطلب أبنه عبد الله ج 2ص 316) "بلغ)
النبي أن رجالاً من كندة يزعمون أنهم منه وأنه منهم ... فقال: إنا لن ننتفي من
آبائنا، نحن بنو النضر بن كنانة

To cover this obvious discrepancy, Muhammad told them that a woman can be pregnant for many years. This is how his grandfather was convinced that Muhammad must have been his grandson, even though his mother gave birth to him many years after Abduallah's death.

MUHAMMAD IS AN ADOPTED SON

To conclude this exploration of Muhammad's ancestry, read with me Sahih Al-Bukhari, Book 40, Hadith 563. This important hadith shows that Muhammad was no more than a slave to the family he grew up with: As I saw that unpleasant view, I went to the messenger of Allah and told him the story. The prophet came out in the companion of Zaid bin Harith, who was with him afterwards, and I too went in the company of them. The messenger went to 'Hamza (Muhammad's uncle) and spoke roughly to him. 'Hamza looked up at the messenger and said, "Are you not more than the slave of my forefathers?" The messenger withdrew himself and left. This incident occurred before the banning of drinking.
(Sahih Al-Bukhari, Book 40, Hadith 563).

7. Why would the uncle of Muhammad say such a lie, unless it's true?
8. Also, why did Muhammad withdraw himself right after, without even saying a word?
9. The words of 'Hamza were stating a fact to the point Muhammad could not respond and fight back;
10. Mostly, Muhammad was worried that if he talked more, 'Hamza would say more things that he would not want to hear;
11. It's so clear that Muhammad was not expecting 'Hamza, who is supposed to be his uncle, to say that in the first place;
12. This all leads to one thing: Muhammad is the son of an unknown father;

13. When this family adopted him, they called him Qathem, after one of their sons that had passed away.

Allah's Form, Shape, and Physical Attributes

When we search the Islam's main sources: the Quran, Hadith, Sirah (Muhammad's biography) and Sharia, we invariably derive one simple conclusion—that Allah, He, Himself had written the Quran with His own hands and that He, truly metes out justice and bounties with His own hands.

One of the most enigmatic episode of Muhammad's life was his alleged journey from his temporary sleeping place, Umm Hani's (Muhammad's cousin sister) bed-room to the mosque (this is questionable, of course, since no mosque existed at Jerusalem during Muhammad's time) of Jerusalem, Bait al-Maqdis and then to Paradise, to meet Allah. Ibn Sa'd writes that on the night of this journey Muhammad went to Umm Hani's house, offered isha prayer (night prayer) with her, boarded a Buraq, a half-horse–half–female shaped angel creature and departed for Jerusalem and from there took another flight with this Buraq (or in some version climbed a long ladder) and ascended to Paradise to meet Allah. (Ibn Sa'd, 1972, p. 1.248).

Sahih Bukhari writes:

The night journey to Bait ul-Maqdis (Isra) was a real sight and not a dream (context of verse 17:60) …(Sahih Bukhari, 5.58.228). This is a lengthy hadith, I am quoting just the relevant part.

> Volume 5, Book 58, Number 228: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas: Regarding the Statement of Allah"
> ……
> "And We granted the vision (Ascension to the heavens) which We made you see (as an actual eye witness) was only made as a trial for the people." (17.60)
> Ibn Abbas added: The sights which Allah's Apostle was shown on the Night Journey when he was taken to Bait-ulMaqdis (i.e. Jerusalem) were actual sights, (not dreams). And the Cursed Tree (mentioned) in the Quran is the tree of Zaqqum (itself).

The verse (17:60) mentioned in this Sahih (authentic) hadith reads:

> YUSUFALI: Behold! We told thee that thy Lord doth encompass mankind round about: We granted the vision which We showed thee, but as a trial for men,- as also the Cursed Tree (mentioned) in the Qur'an: We put terror (and warning) into them, but it only increases their inordinate transgression! [Q 017.060]

Those two sources prove that Allah is for real and He really has His residence in Paradise. Had Allah been everywhere, as many Islamists believe, it was not necessary for Muhammad to embark on this trip. Allah could simply manifest Himself to Muhammad in any form and talked to him like in the Bible. Allah could do this in an instant. So why should He waste time and resource to send a Buraq to Muhammad when sleeping with his cousin, just to accost him?

Therefore, we can safely derive this conclusion: Allah is for real. He is physical and has a fixed residence, wherever it might be. In bible God entered creation many times and met with the prophets with physical forms even ate.

Allah's Shape

According to the core belief in Islam, Allah created Adam in His own form. This indicates that Allah must have a shape. Otherwise, how could He have created Adam in His own form?

> Volume 8, Book 74, Number 246: Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet said, "Allah created Adam in his complete shape and form (directly), sixty cubits (about 30 meters) in height. When He created him, He said (to him), "Go and greet that group of angels sitting there, and listen what they will say in reply to you, for that will be your greeting and the greeting of your offspring." Adam (went and) said, 'As-Salamu alaikum (Peace be upon you).' They replied, 'AsSalamu-'Alaika wa Rahmatullah (Peace and Allah's Mercy be on you). So they increased 'Wa Rahmatullah' The Prophet added

'So whoever will enter Paradise, will be of the shape and form of Adam. Since then the creation of Adam's (offspring) (i.e. stature of human beings is being diminished continuously) to the present time."

Sahih Muslim 2841 or Book 40, Hadith 6809: Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) as saying: Allah, the Exalted and Glorious, created Adam in His image with His length of sixty cubits, and as He created him He told him to greet that group, and that was a party of angels sitting there, and listen to the response that they give him, for it would form his greeting and that of his offspring. He then went away and said: Peace be upon you! They (the angels) said: May there be peace upon you and the Mercy of Allah, and they made an addition of "Mercy of Allah." So he who would get into Paradise would get in the form of Adam, his length being sixty cubits, then the people who followed him continued to diminish in size up to this day.

Not Just Shape

The Quran and Hadith unequivocally state that Allah, like other deities, has hands, feet, a head, a body, a face, eyes, ears, and fingers. Let's verify each of these claims.

Allah's Weight

According to Islamic belief, Allah has weight. Evidence can be found in the following Hadith. Great angels are required to carry Him.

Sunan Abi Dawud 4727: Jabir b. 'Abd Allah reported the Prophet as saying: I have been permitted to tell about one of Allah's angels who bears the throne that the distance between the lobe of his ear and his shoulder is a journey of seven hundred years.

Some may argue that this refers to the weight of Allah's Throne, not Allah Himself. However, logically, this is not correct, as the Throne sometimes trembles with anger, grief, or sadness. Why would the Throne tremble if Allah had no weight? Furthermore, why did the Throne tremble at the death of one of the Prophet's companions? Allah already knew when that companion would die, as He is the one who causes death. So why did the Throne tremble? We usually tremble with anger, grief, or sadness, but why would Allah's Throne need to tremble?

Sahih al-Bukhari 3803: I heard the Prophet (ﷺ) saying, "The Throne (of Allah) shook at the death of Sad bin Muadh." Through another group of narrators, Jabir added, "I heard the Prophet (ﷺ) saying, 'The Throne of the Beneficent shook because of the death of Sad bin Muadh."

Allah's Face

Many verses in the Quran provide evidence of Allah's face.

> Book 032, Number 6325:
> This hadith has been transmitted on the authority of Abu Huraira and in the hadith transmitted on the authority of Ibn Hatim Allah's Apostle (may peace be upon him) is reported to have said: When any one of you fights with his brother, he should avoid his face for Allah created Adam in His own image.

To avoid the embarrassment, in the print version of Sahih Muslim, the translator of Sahih Muslim, the Islamist scholar, ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi, in a foot note, writes confusing remarks which could only confirm the absolute perplexity that Muhammad had created with his own concept of Allah. The learned ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi writes:

> We have translated Surathi as His image instead of His form as Allah has no definite form and shape. The words that Allah created Adam in his own image do not mean that he has been fashioned after His image or form, as the finite being cannot be fashioned after the pattern of Infinite. Here the words “His image” have been used in order to give an idea of the high dignity of man and of his being the roof and crown of his creation and of His being the vicegerent of the Lord upon the earth.
> According to some scholars, the pronoun “his” does not stand for God, but for the person who has been beaten on the face.
> According to this elucidation, the translation of the sentence should be: For Allah created Adam in his shape (the shape in which the victim too has been created). It is therefore the duty of everyone not to beat the face which is a replica of the face of Adam. (Sahih Muslim, 2004, p. 4.1660, foot note 2872).

Note that the translator imposes his own version of concept of Allah, which clearly contradicts the Quran’s idea of Allah and the hadith in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim. Obviously, Professor ‘Abdul Hamid is as confused as any Bedouin could have been during Muhammad’s time!

Let us read verse 55:26–27.

> YUSUFALI: All that is on earth will perish: [Q 055.026]
> YUSUFALI: But will abide (for ever) the Face of thy Lord,- full of Majesty, Bounty and Honour. [Q 055.027]

Surah Rahman, Ayat 27: "And there will remain the Face of your Lord, Owner of Majesty and Honor."

Surah Al-Qasas, Ayat 88: "And do not invoke with Allah another deity. There is no deity except Him. Everything will be destroyed except His Face. His is the judgement, and to Him you will be returned."

Surah Al-Lail, Ayat 20: "Except seeking the face of his Lord, the Most High."

Allah's Eyes

Allah has given evidence of His sight in fifty verses of the Quran, using the word 'eye' or 'eyes' in five verses. Numerous Hadiths also describe Allah's sight.

Surah Tur, Ayat 48: "So wait patiently (O Muhammad SAW) for the Decision of your Lord, for verily, you are under Our Eyes, and glorify the Praises of your Lord when you get up from sleep."

Sahih Muslim 169b or Book 1, Hadith 324: It is narrated on the authority of 'Abdullah b. Umar that one day the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) mentioned in the presence of people about al-Masih al-Dajjal. He said: Verily Allah (hallowed be He and High) is not blind of one eye. Behold, but the Masih al-Dajjal is blind of right eye as if his eye is like a swollen grape, and the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: I was shown in a dream in the night that near the Ka'bah there was a man fair-complexioned, fine amongst the white-complexioned men that you ever saw, his locks of hair were falling on his shoulders. He was a man whose hair were neither too curly nor too straight, and water trickled down from his head. He was placing his bands on the shoulders of two persons and amidst them was making a circuit around the Ka'bah. I said: Who is he? They replied: Al-Masih son of Mary. And I saw behind him a man with intensely curly hair, blind of right eye. Amongst the persons I have ever seen Ibn Qatan has the greatest resemblance with him. He was making a circuit around the Ka'bah by placing both his hands on the shoulders of two persons. I said: Who is he? They said; It is al-Masih al-Dajjal.

Surah Hud, Ayat 37: "And construct the ship under Our eyes and Our inspiration, and do not address Me concerning those who have wronged; indeed, they are to be drowned."

Surah Al-Mu'minun, Ayat 27: "So We inspired to him, 'Construct the ship under Our eyes and Our inspiration, and when Our command comes and the oven overflows, put into it [the ship] from every [creature] two mates and your family, except those about whom the word has preceded. And do not address Me concerning those who have wronged; indeed, they are to be drowned.'"

Surah Al-Ahzab, Ayat 9: "O you who have believed, remember the favor of Allah upon you when armies came to [attack] you and We sent upon them a wind and armies you did not see. And ever is Allah, of what you do, Seeing."

Allah's Hands

The Quran and Hadith explicitly mention Allah's hands numerous times.

In the holy Quran (35:41) we read that Allah grasps the sky and the earth firmly lest they move away from their places; only Allah could guarantee the continued existence of the heavens and the earth. This verse clearly depicts the hugeness of Allah's hand and personifies Allah's might so much so, that only Allah has the physical strength to keep perfectly the earth in its position of rest.

Here is the verse 35:41

PICKTHAL: Lo! Allah graspeth the heavens and the earth that they deviate not, and if they were to deviate there is not one that could grasp them after Him. Lo! He is ever Clement, Forgiving.

Jami` at-Tirmidhi 3367 or Vol. 5, Book 44, Hadith 3367:

Abu Hurairah narrated that the Messenger of Allah said:

"When Allah created Adam, He breathed the soul into him, then he sneezed and said: 'All praise is due to Allah.' So he praised Allah by His permission. Then His Lord said to him: 'May Allah have mercy upon you O Adam. Go to those angels – to that gathering of them sitting – so say: 'As-Salamu alaikum.' They said 'Wa Alaikas-Salamu Wa Rahmatullah'. Then he returned to his Lord, He said: 'This is your greeting and the greeting of your children among each other.' Then Allah said to him – while His Two Hands were closed – 'Choose which of them you wish.' He said: 'I chose the right My Lord and both of the Hands of my Lord are right, blessed.' Then He extended it, and there was Adam and his offspring in it.' So he said: 'What are these O my Lord?' He said: 'These are your offspring?' Each one of them had his age written between his eyes. But among them there was a man who was the most illuminating of them – or among the most illuminated of them. He said: 'O Lord! Who is this?' He said: 'This is your son Dawud, I wrote forty years for him.' He said: 'O Lord! Add to his age.' He said: 'That is what I have written for him.' He said: 'O Lord! Give him sixty of my years.' He said: 'So you shall have it.'" He said: "Then, he resided in Paradise as long as Allah willed, then he was cast from it, so Adam was counting for himself." He said: "So the Angel of death came to him, and Adam said to him: 'You are hasty, one-thousand years were written for me.' He said: 'Of course! But you gave sixty years to your son Dawud.' So he rejected, and his offspring rejected, and he forgot, and his offspring forgot." He said: "So ever since that day, what is written and witnessed has been decreed."

Surah Az-Zumar, Ayah 67:

"And they have not appraised Allah with true appraisal, while the earth entirely will be within His grip on the Day of Resurrection, and the heavens will be folded in His right hand. Exalted is He and high above what they associate with Him."

Surah Al-Ma'idah, Ayat 64: The Jews say: "Allah's hand is tied up." Their hands are tied up, and they are cursed for what they said. Rather, His hands are extended.

Hadith 40, 40 Hadith Qudsi or Riyad as-Salihin 1894 or Sahih al-Bukhari 7518 or Sahih al-Bukhari 7439: Narrated by Abu Sa'id al-Khudri: The Prophet (PBUH) said: "Allah will say to the inhabitants of Paradise: O inhabitants of Paradise! They will say: O our Lord, we present ourselves and are at Your pleasure, and goodness rests in Your Hands. Then He will say: Are you contented? They will say: And how should we not be contented, O Lord, as You have given us what You have not given to any of Your creatures? He will say: Shall I not give you something better than that? They will say: O our Lord! And what thing is better than that? He will say: I shall cause My pleasure to alight upon you, and I shall never be angry with you after that."

Sahih al-Bukhari 7419 or Book 97, Hadith 47: The Prophet (PBUH) said: "The Right Hand of Allah is full, and its fullness is not affected by continuous spending night and day. Do you see what He has spent since He created the heavens and the earth? Yet all that has not decreased what is in His Right Hand. His Throne is over the water, and in His other Hand is the bounty or the power to bring about death, and He raises some people and brings others down."

Jami` at-Tirmidhi 3045 or Vol. 5, Book 44, Hadith 3045: Narrated Abu Hurairah: "The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: 'Ar-Rahman's Hand is full, He spends without any decrease, night and day.' He said: 'Do you not see how much He has spent since He created the heavens and the earth, yet it has not decreased what is in His Hand, and His Throne is over the water, and in His Other Hand is the Mizan (Scale) which He raises and lowers.'"

Sahih Muslim 2788a or Book 39, Hadith 6704: Allah, the Exalted and Glorious, would fold the Heavens on the Day of Judgment and then He would place them on His right hand and say: I am the Lord; where are the haughty and where are the proud (today)? He would fold the earth (placing it) on the left hand and say: I am the Lord; where are the haughty and where are the proud (today)?

Sahih al-Bukhari 6519 or Vol. 8, Book 76, Hadith 526: Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Allah will take the whole earth (in His Hand) and will roll up the Heaven in His right Hand, and then He will say, 'I am King! Where are the kings of the earth?'"

Allah has hands; He created Adam with His own hands…(38:75, 48:10).

> YUSUFALI: (Allah) said: "O Iblis! What prevents thee from prostrating thyself to one whom I have created with my hands? Art thou haughty? Or art thou one of the high (and mighty) ones?" [Q 038.075]

> YUSUFALI: Verily those who plight their fealty to thee do no less than plight their fealty to Allah: the Hand of Allah is over their hands: then any one who violates his oath, does so to the harm of his own soul, and any one who fulfils what he has covenanted with Allah,- Allah will soon grant him a great Reward. [Q 048.010]

Commenting on the above two verses, the translator of Sahih Bukhari, Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan writes that those two verses confirm two hands for Allah, but there is no similarity for them. Readers might be confounded at such a convoluted remark, but hold on, Dr Muhsin writes further:

> This is not like as some people think that Allah is present everywhere—here, there and even inside the breasts of men (Khan, 1994, p. 1067).

Dr Muhsin Khan has confirmed what I wrote beforehand that Allah is anthropomorphic and He has a fixed residence.

Allah's two hands are outstretched

> After Muhammad had migrated to Medina, he remained in penury. Many of his followers went hungry for days and depended on peoples' charity for their daily living. To placate his critics, especially the Jews, Muhammad insisted on the abundance supply form His Allah. This was not forthcoming; so the Jews said that Muhammad's Allah is, after all, not so rich On this, Muhammad claimed that the Jews had falsely said that "Allah's hand" is tied up; in reality both His hands are outstretched. This means that Allah does have two hands

This claim of Allah's two physical hands has been recorded in the Quran:

> YUSUFALI: The Jews say: "Allah's hand is tied up." Be their hands tied up and be they accursed for the (blasphemy) they utter. Nay, both His hands are widely outstretched: He giveth and spendeth (of His bounty) as He pleaseth. But the revelation that cometh to thee from Allah increaseth in most of them their obstinate rebellion and blasphemy. Amongst them we have placed enmity and hatred till the Day of Judgment. Every time they kindle the fire of war, Allah doth extinguish it; but they (ever) strive to do mischief on earth. And Allah loveth not those who do mischief. [Q 005.064]

Not only that the holy Quran confirms the two physical hands for Allah, it also says that Allah will use His two outstretched hands to fold up the heavens (universe)—much like a person who folds a piece of mat or rug with his two hands. After folding up the heavens with His two outstretched hands, He will then hold them (the universe) in His right hand!

Here is the Quran talking about Allah's Hand.

> On the resurrection day, the whole earth will be within the fistful of Allah; He will fold up the heavens (universe) inside His right hand (39:67).
> YUSUFALI: No just estimate have they made of Allah, such as is due to Him: On the Day of Judgment the whole of the earth will be but His handful, and the heavens will be rolled up in His right hand: Glory to Him! High is He above the Partners they attribute to Him! [Q 039.067]

Allah's hand holds the balance of justice

Muhammad insisted that His Allah has hands and with one of His hands, Allah holds the balance of justice. It is much like the picture or sketch one might have seen of a judge who holds a balance of justice in one of his/her hands and a sword in another. Muhammad wanted his followers to have a vivid picture of the uprightness of his Allah. So, he had to use this similarity, which he might have seen in some inscriptions of Roman justice system.

Let us read this hadith from Sahih Bukhari:

> Volume 6, Book 60, Number 206: Narrated Abu Huraira: Allah's Apostle said, "Allah said, 'Spend (O man), and I shall spend on you." He also said, "Allah's Hand is full, and (its fullness) is not affected by the continuous spending night and day." He also said, "Do you see what He has spent since He created the Heavens and the Earth? Nevertheless, what is in His Hand is not decreased, and His Throne was over the water; and in His Hand there is the balance (of justice) whereby He raises and lowers (people)."

Sahih Bukhari also confirms that Allah has a right hand and a left hand. On His left hand is the balance of justice. This hadith does not mention the content of Allah's right hand, except that it is full. Let us read this hadith:

> Allah's right hand is full, on the other hand He holds the balance of justice, His throne is over the water...(Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.515)
> Volume 9, Book 93, Number 515: Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet said, "The Right (Hand) of Allah Is full, and (Its fullness) is not affected by the continuous spending night and day. Do you see what He has spent since He created the Heavens and the Earth? Yet all that has not decreased what is in His Right Hand. His Throne is over the water and in His other Hand is the Bounty or the Power to bring about death, and He raises some people and brings others down." (See Hadith No. 508)

Let us read another verse. This verse confirms that Allah holds His bounties in His hand.

YUSUFALI: "And believe no one unless he follows your religion." Say: "True guidance is the Guidance of Allah: (Fear ye) Lest a revelation be sent to someone (else) Like unto that which was sent unto you? or that those (Receiving such revelation) should engage you in argument before your Lord?" Say: "All bounties are in the hand of Allah: He granteth them to whom He pleaseth: And Allah careth for all, and He knoweth all things." [Q 003.073]

Holds the Sky from Falling

Surah Al-Hajj, Ayat 65: "Do you not see that Allah has made subservient to you what is on the earth and the ships run in the sea by His command? And He holds the heaven so that it will not fall on the earth except by His permission."

Allah's Leg/Shin and Foot

Let us read verse 68:42

YUSUFALI: The Day that the shin shall be laid bare, and they shall be summoned to bow in adoration, but they shall not be able,- [Q 068.042]

Sahih al-Bukhari 4850 or Book 65, Hadith 372: Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Paradise and the Fire (Hell) argued, and the Fire (Hell) said, "I have been given the privilege of receiving the arrogant and the tyrants." Paradise said, "What is the matter with me? Why do only the weak and the humble among the people enter me?" On that, Allah said to Paradise, "You are My Mercy which I bestow on whoever I wish of My servants." Then Allah said to the (Hell) Fire, "You are My (means of) punishment by which I punish whoever I wish of My slaves. And each of you will have its fill." As for the Fire (Hell), it will not be filled till Allah puts His Foot over it, whereupon it will say, "Qati! Qati!" (i.e. Enough! Enough!) at which it will be filled, and its different parts will come closer to each other; and Allah will not wrong any of His created beings. As regards Paradise, Allah will create a new creation to fill it with."

The same hadith can be found in Sahih Muslim Book 40, Hadith Number 6819 and in Sahih al-Bukhari 7449 or Vol. 9, Book 93, Hadith 541

Al-Mustadrak al-Hakim, Vol. 2, Page 282:

Narrated by Ibn Abbas: The Prophet (PBUH) said: Al-Kursi is the place of the two feet of Allah.

Chapter 68 - THE PEN

42 A day the leg [of Allah] will be made bare, and they will be called to worship, so they will not be able.

Sahih al-Bukhari 7439 or In-book reference: Book 97, Hadith 65 Narrated:
....then it will be said to them, 'Do you know any sign by which you can recognize Him?' They will say. 'The Shin,' and so Allah will then uncover His Shin whereupon every believer will prostrate before Him and there will remain those who used to prostrate before Him just for showing off and for gaining good reputation. ..…

Sahih al-Bukhari 4848 or In-book reference: Book 65, Hadith 369 Narrated by Anas:

The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "The people will be thrown into the (Hell) Fire and it will say: "Are there any more (to come)?' (50.30) till Allah puts His Foot over it and it will say, 'Qati! Qati! (Enough Enough!)'"

Sahih al-Bukhari 7384 or Vol. 9, Book 93, Hadith 481: Narrated Anas bin Malik: The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "The people will be thrown into Hell (Fire) and it will keep on saying, 'Is there any more?' till the Lord of the worlds puts His Foot over it, whereupon its different sides will come close to each other, and it will say, 'Qati! Qati! (Enough! Enough!) By Your Honor and Your Majesty!' Paradise will remain spacious enough to accommodate more people until Allah will create some more people and let them dwell in the superfluous space of Paradise."

A hadith in Sahih Bukhari says that Allah will, indeed, open His Shin to the unbelievers. This hadith is very long; I shall quote only the relevant part:

> Volume 9, Book 93, Number 532s: Narrated Abu Sa'id Al-Khudri: …Then the Almighty will come to them in a shape other than the one which they saw the first time, and He will say, 'I am your Lord,' and they will say, 'You are not our Lord.' And none will speak: to Him then but the Prophets, and then it will be said to them, 'Do you know any sign by which you can recognize Him?' They will say. 'The Shin,' and so Allah will then uncover His Shin whereupon every believer will prostrate before Him and there will remain those who used to prostrate before Him just for showing off and for gaining good reputation. These people > will try to prostrate but their backs will be rigid like one piece of a wood (and they will not be able to prostrate). Then the bridge will be laid across Hell." We, the companions of the Prophet said, "O Allah's Apostle! What is the bridge?...

The above hadith says quite unmistakably that on the Resurrection Day there will be no problem in seeing Allah in His physical form; He will be recognized by His shin.

Smiles:

Sahih Muslim 1890c or Book 20, Hadith 4660: It has been reported on the authority of Abu Huraira that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said:

God laughs at the two men one of whom kills the other; both of them will enter Paradise. They (the Companions) said: How, Messenger of Allah? He said: One is slain (in the way of Allah) and enters Paradise. Then God forgives the other and guides him to Islam; then he fights in the way of Allah and dies a martyr.

Allah's Fingers

Sahih al-Bukhari 4811 or Book 65, Hadith 333: Narrated Abdullah bin Mas'ud: A Jew came to the Prophet (ﷺ) and said, "O Muhammad! Allah will put the heavens on one Finger, and the earth on one Finger, and the trees and the rivers on one Finger, and the rest of the creation on one Finger, and then will say, 'I am the King.'" On that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) smiled and said, "No just estimate have they made of Allah such as is due to Him." (39.67)

Sahih Muslim 2786 or Book 39, Hadith 6702: Abdullah b. Mas'ud reported that a person from among the People of the Book came to Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) and said: Abu al-Qasim, verily, Allah would carry the Heavens upon one Finger and the earths upon one Finger and the mountains and the trees upon one Finger and the oceans and the moisture upon one Finger, and the whole of the creation upon one Finger, and then say: I am your Lord. I am your Lord. And he (the narrator) further said: I saw Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) smiling until his front teeth became visible and then he recited the verse: "And they honour not Allah with the honour due to Him" (xxxix. 67).

Jami` at-Tirmidhi 2140 or In-book reference Book 32, Hadith 2290:

'Anas narrated:

"The Messenger of Allah (s.a.w) would often say: Ya Muqallibal-qulub, thabbit qalbi 'ala dinik('O Changer of the Hearts! Strengthen my heart upon Your Religion.)' So I said: 'O Prophet of Allah! We believe in you and what you have come with, but do you fear for us?' He said: 'Yes. Indeed the hearts are between two Fingers of Allah's Fingers, He changes them as He wills.'"

Sahih Bukhari Volume 9, Book 93, Hadith Number 510:

Narrated By ‘Abdullah : A Jew came to the Prophet and said, “O Muhammad! Allah will hold the heavens on a Finger, and the mountains on a Finger, and the trees on a Finger, and all the creation on a Finger, and then He will say, ‘I am the King.’ ” On that Allah’s Apostle smiled till his premolar teeth became visible, and then recited:

‘No just estimate have they made of Allah such as due to him… (39.67) ‘Abdullah added: Allah’s Apostle smiled (at the Jew’s statement) expressing his wonder and believe in what was said.

Sahih Bukhari Volume 9, Book 93, Hadith Number 511:

Narrated By ‘Abdullah : A man from the people of the scripture came to the Prophet and said, “O Abal-Qasim! Allah will hold the Heavens upon a Finger, and the Earth on a Finger and the land on a Finger, and all the creation on a Finger, and will say, ‘I am the King! I am the King!’ “I saw the Prophet (after hearing that), smiling till his premolar teeth became visible, and he then recited: “No just estimate have they made of Allah such as due to him…” (39.67)

Allah's Sitting on His Throne

Surah Al-Baqarah, Ayat 255: "Allah! There is no deity except Him, the Ever-Living, the Sustainer of [all] existence. Neither drowsiness overtakes Him nor sleep. To Him belongs whatever is in the heavens and whatever is on the earth. Who is it that can intercede with Him except by His permission? He knows what is before them and what will be after them, and they encompass not a thing of His knowledge except for what He wills. His Kursi extends over the heavens and the earth, and their preservation tires Him not. And He is the Most High, the Most Great."

Sahih Muslim 182a or Book 1, Hadith 352: It is narrated on the authority of Abu Huraira that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) observed: Allah laughs at the two men one of whom kills the other and both of them enter Paradise. They said: Messenger of Allah, how is it? He said: One is slain (in the way of Allah) and enters Paradise. Then Allah turns in mercy to the slayer. He embraces Islam and then dies as a martyr in the cause of Allah.

Allah's Speaking

Surah An-Nisa, Ayat 164: "And [We sent] messengers We have mentioned to you before and messengers We have not mentioned to you. And Allah spoke to Moses with [direct] speech."

Surah Al-Araf, Ayat 143: "And when Moses arrived at Our appointed time and his Lord spoke to him, he said, 'My Lord, show me [Yourself] that I may look at You.' [Allah] said, 'You will not see Me, but look at the mountain; if it should remain in place, then you will see Me.' But when his Lord appeared to the mountain, He rendered it level, and Moses fell unconscious. And when he awoke, he said, 'Exalted are You! I have repented to You, and I am the first of the believers.'"

Surah Al-Qasas 28:30

"But when he came to it, he was called from the right side of the valley, in the blessed spot, from the tree: 'O Moses, indeed I am Allah, Lord of the worlds.'"

Surah An-Naml 27:8

"But when he came to it, he was called, 'Blessed is whoever is at the fire and whoever is around it. And exalted is Allah, Lord of the worlds.'"

Allah's Coming and Descending

Sahih al-Bukhari 1145 or Vol. 2, Book 21, Hadith 246: Narrated Abu Huraira: Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Our Lord, the Blessed, the Superior, comes every night down on the nearest Heaven to us when the last third of the night remains, saying: "Is there anyone to invoke Me, so that I may respond to invocation? Is there anyone to ask Me, so that I may grant him his request? Is there anyone seeking My forgiveness, so that I may forgive him?"

Sahih Muslim 758a or Book 6, Hadith 170: Abu Huraira reported: The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: "Our Lord, the Blessed and the Exalted, descends every night to the lowest heaven when one-third of the latter part of the night is left, and says: Who supplicates Me so that I may answer him? Who asks Me so that I may give him? Who asks My forgiveness so that I may forgive him?"

Allah's Sitting and Writing

Sunan Abi Dawud 4727 or Book 42, Hadith 132: Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet (ﷺ) said: "When Allah created the creation, He wrote in the Book which is with Him on His Throne: My Mercy prevails over My Wrath."

Color of Allah:

Surah Al-Baqarah 2:138

"We take on Allah's color. And who is better in color than Allah? And we are His worshippers."

Allah Hears:

Allah does have the physical ability of hearing and seeing. Here is a hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud:

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol. III, Hhadith Number 4710
> Abu Yunus Sulaim b. Jubair, client of Abu Hurairah, said: I heard Abu Hurairah recite this verse (4:58): "Allah doth command you to render back your trusts to those to whom they are due"…up to "For Allah is He who heareth and seeth all things. He said: I saw the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) putting his thumb on his ear and finger on his eye.
> Abu Huraira said: I saw the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) reciting this verse and putting his fingers. Ibn Yunus said that al-Muqri said: "Allah hears and sees" means that Allah has the power to hearing and seeing.

As usual, embarrassed with such incredulous hadith, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud, Professor Ahmad Hasan, in a foot note, vehemently denies the existence of Allah's physical organs like ears and eyes. He rather blames the Jahmiyyah (heretics) for such an idea. In a foot note, he writes:

> The Jahmiyyah did not believe in Divine attributes. This tradition refuted their view. Allah does not have the organs of hearing and seeing, i.e. ears and eyes, but their power. (Hasan, 2001, p. 3.1324, foot note 4121).

Needless to say, this is a prevarication by Professor Hasan to impose his personal opinion on unsuspecting readers.

Let us read verse 7:194-196 from the holy Quran:

Idols have no legs to walk, no hands to hold, no eyes to see and no ears to hear; you may try in vain to call on them to smite Allah (this means that Allah has feet, hands and ears)…7:194–196:

> YUSUFALI: Verily those whom ye call upon besides Allah are servants like unto you: Call upon them, and let them listen to your prayer, if ye are (indeed) truthful! [Q 7.194]
> YUSUFALI: Have they feet to walk with? Or hands to lay hold with? Or eyes to see with? Or ears to hear with? Say: "Call your 'god-partners', scheme (your worst) against me, and give me no respite! [Q 7.195] YUSUFALI: "For my Protector is Allah, Who revealed the Book (from time to time), and He will choose and befriend the righteous [Q 7.196]

Surah Al-Mujadila 58:1

"Allah has certainly heard the speech of the one who argues with you concerning her husband and directs her complaint to Allah. And Allah hears your dialogue; indeed, Allah is Hearing and Seeing."

Surah An-Nisa 4:134

"And Allah is Hearing and Seeing of everything."

Surah Al-Hajj 22:75

"Allah chooses messengers from the angels and from the people. Indeed, Allah is Hearing and Seeing."

Shade:

Sahih al-Bukhari 6479 or Book 81, Hadith 68

Narrated Abu Huraira:

The Prophet (ﷺ) said Allah will give shade to seven (types of people) under His Shade (on the Day of Resurrection). (one of them will be) a person who remembers Allah and his eyes are then flooded with tears.

Allah is with people at night and hears their words:

Surah An-Nisa' 4:108 "They hide from the people but do not hide from Allah, while He is with them when they spend the night in what He does not approve of. And Allah is encompassing of what they do."

Allah's Head:

Chapter 2: Al-Baqarah Verse 115: "To Allah belongs the east and the west. Wherever you turn, there is the Face of Allah. Indeed, Allah is all-encompassing and knowing."

Chapter 75: Al-Qiyamah Verse 22-23: "Some faces, that Day, will be radiant, looking at their Lord."

Modest:

Sunan Abi Dawud 4012

The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) saw a man washing in a public place without a lower garment. So he mounted the pulpit, praised and extolled Allah and said: Allah is characterised by modesty and concealment. So when any of you washes, he should conceal himself.

Allah is vengeful:

Surah Aal-E-Imran 3:4

"Before this, as a guidance to mankind. And He sent down the Criterion [of judgment between right and wrong]. Those who disbelieve in the signs of Allah will have a severe punishment, and Allah is All-Mighty, All-Able of Retribution."

Smiles:

Sahih al-Bukhari, Hadith 2826

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Allah welcomes two men with a smile; one of whom kills the other and both of them enter Paradise. One fights in Allah's Cause and gets killed. Later on Allah forgives the 'killer who also get martyred (In Allah's Cause)."

Male?:

Surah Al-An'am 6:101:

"(He is) the Originator of the heavens and the earth. How could He have a son when He does not have a companion? He created all things and has knowledge of everything."

Eyes:

Muhammad was adamant that his Allah was for real; that is, Allah does have physical limbs. To strengthen his claim he compared the eye of Dajjal (anti-Christ) to that of Allah. He claimed that Dajjal is one-eyed, but Allah is not. Here is a hadith from Sahih Bukhari:

> Dajjal is one-eyed but Allah is not…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.55.553)
> Volume 4, Book 55, Number 553: Narrated Ibn Umar: Once Allah's Apostle stood amongst the people, glorified and praised Allah as He deserved and then mentioned the Dajjal saying, "I warn you against him (i.e. the Dajjal) and there was no prophet but warned his nation against him. No doubt, Noah warned his nation against him but I tell you about him something of which no prophet told his nation before me. You should know that he is one-eyed, and Allah is not one-eyed."

Handshake:

Allah will shake hands. Yes, that's correct. Allah does have arms to shake hands with the His ardent faithful followers.

Here is a hadith from Sunann ibn Majah:

> Sunaan ibn Majah, Vol. I Hadith Nnumber 104
> 'Ubayy b. Ka'b (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him said, "The first person with whom Allah will shake hands (on the Day of Judgment), will be 'Umar and he will be the first man to whom Allah will pay salutation (say: Assalamu 'alaika) and he will be the first man whom he will hold with his Hand and make him enter the Paradise.
> According to Al-Zawa'id, its isnad is daif. It contains in it Dawud b. 'Ata al-Madani and all the scholars are unanimous about his du'f (weakness). The other transmitters are reliable and sound. As-Suyuti has said, "Hafiz 'Imad ud-Din b. Kathir in his Jami al-Masanid has said: This hadith is highly munkar (disagreeable) and is not far from being a maudu (fabricated) hadith.

In case we are wondering about the content of the second paragraph of this hadith, here is the explanation. According to Ibn Majah, a person, named Dawud b 'Ata al-Madani who is one of the narrators of this hadith is not a very reliable narrator of hadith. The other narrators are reliable and the text of the hadith is acceptable, though this might be weak. Another opinion is that this hadith could be fabricated.

The bottom line is: though this hadith might be weak and controversial there is no compelling reason to reject this hadith, out-of-hand, or render it totally un-authentic. At best, it is controversial; at worst it is a weak hadith, but not completely inauthentic.

To dispel all the mumbo-jumbo of the apologist Islamic scholars, here is a hadith (sahih quoted partly because of its length) from Sahih Bukhari (8.76.577) which tells us unmistakably, that on the Resurrection Day the sun worshippers will follow the sun, the moon worshippers will follow the moon, the idol worshippers will follow their deities; Allah will appear to the Muslims in a shape and will lead them to cross the bridge over fire, then the wrong doers will be sent to hell and the true believers will be sent to Paradise.

> Volume 8, Book 76, Number 577: Narrated Abu Huraira: …Then Allah will come to then in a shape they know and will say, "I am your Lord.' They will say, '(No doubt) You are our Lord,' and they will follow Him. Then a bridge will be laid over the (Hell) Fire." Allah's Apostle added, "I will be the first to cross it…

Here is another hadith which tells us that Allah is anthropomorphic—He does posses a shape and will be an entity—just like a flesh–and–blood being.

> You will definitely see Allah with your own eyes...(Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.530, 531)

Witnessing a physical Allah is as certain as the observation of the sun and the moon

There are many hadith which tell us very clearly that Allah is a visible being, though one has to die to see Allah. Here are summaries of a few such hadith. Readers are requested to verify these hadith either with the online version of these hadith or with the print version.

> On the resurrection day you will see Allah like you see the sun or the moon on a clear sky …(Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.105)
> People will see Allah like a moon...(Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.529)
> Background to 50:39: when Muhammad looked at the full moon and said that you would see Allah just like you see the full moon…(Sahih Bukhari, 1.10.529, 547)
> You will see Allah as clearly as you see the moon and the sun; hooks will be used to punish the unbelievers; Muhammad, along with his followers will be the first to cross the bridge of hell; some sinners will stay in hell temporarily, some forever ... (Sahih Bukhari, 1.12.770)

Sunaan ibn Majah, volume 1, hadith number 178:

Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Do you crowd (and push one another) to see the moon of the night of the full moon?" they (the audience) said, "No," whereupon he (the Holy Prophet) said, "Similarly, you will not crowd to see your Lord on the Day of Resurrection."

Allah is seated on a Throne with His angels guarding Him

When we read the Quran describing the attributes of Allah, we are amazed that Muhammad had taken extreme care to describe his Allah. He compared Allah to a human king—just like the kings in many countries, seated on a huge throne and conducting His affairs from this throne (more on Allah's throne in a later part of this essay). The Quran even tells us that Allah created His throne and then He walked to it and rose over it to take His seat. Read the following verses from the Quran.

> Allah created the heavens (first) and (then) the earth in six days then he rose over His throne...7:54
> 007.054
> YUSUFALI: Your Guardian-Lord is Allah, Who created the heavens and the earth in six days, and is firmly established on the throne (of authority): He draweth the night as a veil o'er the day, each seeking the other in rapid succession: He created the sun, the moon, and the stars, (all) governed by laws under His command. Is it not His to create and to govern? Blessed be Allah, the Cherisher and Sustainer of the worlds!
> Allah created the heavens (first) and (then) the earth in six days and (then) He firmly established himself on His throne (i.e. He moved to His throne from somewhere else)...57:4
> YUSUFALI: He it is Who created the heavens and the earth in Six Days, and is moreover firmly established on the Throne (of Authority). He knows what enters within the earth and what comes forth out of it, what comes down from heaven and what mounts up to it. And He is with you wheresoever ye may be. And Allah sees well all that ye do. [Q 057.004]
> The angels (eight) will be by the side of Allah's throne (octagonal in shape?)...69:17
> YUSUFALI: And the angels will be on its sides, and eight will, that Day, bear the Throne of thy Lord above them. [Q 069.017]

Like a security guard Allah watched Muhammad, Noah and other Prophets

> Allah watches Muhammad when he prays alone or in congregations… 26:218-219
> YUSUFALI: Who seeth thee standing forth (in prayer), [Q 26.218]
> YUSUFALI: And thy movements among those who prostrate themselves, [Q 26.219]
> YUSUFALI: For it is He Who heareth and knoweth all things. [Q 026.220]

Those few verses will give us the impression that Allah really lives above us and glances over all His creations—similar to the astronauts in an orbit who, from their windows of their spacecraft, glance on the mother planet (earth). Here are few more verses from the holy Quran on the visual glances of Allah high above from space.

> Allah is like a guardian on a watch-tower—always watchful...89:14
> YUSUFALI: For thy Lord is (as a Guardian) on a watch-tower. [Q 089.014]
> Allah has two eyes; with His two eyes He saw Noah's ark…54:13–14
> YUSUFALI: But We bore him on an (Ark) made of broad planks and caulked with palm-fibre: [Q 054.013]
> YUSUFALI: She floats under our eyes (and care): a recompense to one who had been rejected (with scorn)! [Q 054.014]
> A hadith in Sunaan Ibn Majah tells us that Allah does indeed glance from above:
> Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. I, Hadith Number 184:
> Jabir b. 'Abdullah (Allah be pleased with both of them) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "When the inmates of Paradise will (enter) into their blessings, a light will suddenly shine upon them. Upon this, they will raise their heads (and see) that their Lord is glancing them from above. He (the Lord) will say, "Assalamu 'alaikum (peace be upon you), O the inmates of the Paradise!" He said, "This refers to Allah's words: The word from the Merciful Lord is: Peace (36:58)." He will look towards them and they will look towards Him and will not pay any attention to anything of the Divine favors as long as they will keep looking towards Him till He will hide (Himself) from them and His Light and His Blessings will last on them in their houses.

In a foot note, Ibn Majah casts some doubt on the authenticity of this hadith. I quoted this hadith just to demonstrate that Muhammad did try to convince his followers about the watchful nature of his Allah. Even without this hadith, there are a number of verses in the Quran which unmistakably tell us that Allah has the ears to hear all conversations. Here is such a verse:

> Allah heard the complain that a woman brought to Muhammad regarding her husband; Allah hears all conversations…58:1
> 058.001
> YUSUFALI: Allah has indeed heard (and accepted) the statement of the woman who pleads with thee concerning her husband and carries her complaint (in prayer) to Allah: and Allah (always) hears the arguments between both sides among you: for Allah hears and sees (all things).

Devil's Acknowledged Revelation

Must You Know Arabic To Debate Islam?

Muslims often disarm those who criticize the Qur'an by asking if they had read the Qur'an in Arabic. Whenever we debate with Muslims about the deficiencies, contradictions, absurdities or the violent verses of the Qur'an, their favorite line of defense is "Can you read Arabic?" The inference is that all the difficulties of the Qur'an will somehow disappear if we read it in the Arabic language. The Muslim game is that the Qur'an can only be fully understood in Arabic. Therefore, one cannot criticize Islam without knowing Arabic.

Muslims claim that the language of the Qur'an is so unique that an accurate translation of it into another language is virtually impossible. This is a deception by Muslims. They try to silence any criticism that is raised against the Qur'an by resorting to this deception. Since most of us do not understand or speak the original language of the Qur'an, they quickly dismiss our arguments as baseless. We are told that since we do not know Arabic, we are not in a position to raise any objection against the Qur'an. "Can you read Arabic?" has often been the battle cry of Muslims when they engage in debates with Christians. Critics of the Qur'an are often reduced to an awkward silence with this Muslim tactic. This lie needs to be exposed.

Firstly, the Qur'an claims to be a universal message for all humanity for all times. If the message is universal, then it must be understood by all people. If the great majority of mankind cannot understand the message, then by definition it is not universal. To claim that we need to know Arabic to understand the Qur'an belies the claim that the Qur'an is a universal message for all humanity. Therefore, this shameful tactic of Muslims comes at a heavy price for them, since Islam cannot be protected in this way without sacrificing its claim to being a universal religion.

Secondly, how many Muslims are able to read the Qur'an in Arabic, let alone with understanding? The great majority of Muslims are not Arabs or Arabic speaking peoples. In fact, the largest Muslim nation, Indonesia, and the second largest Muslim nation, Pakistan, are non-Arabic speaking nations. And to these we can add Iran, Turkey, Malaysia, India (which has a sizeable Muslim population) and many others. In other words, the majority of Muslims have to rely on translations of the Qur'an in their native language in order to understand it. In fact, most Muslims who raise the language objection are non-Arabs who do not understand Arabic. How then did they become Muslims without understanding Arabic?

Additionally, it must be made clear which Arabic is being discussed here. The Arabic of the Qur'an is classical Arabic. Classical Arabic of the Qur'an is totally different from the Arabic of today. In other words, the great majority of modern Arab cannot effectively read the original Arabic Qur'an and understand its meaning. Thus, even Arab Muslims have to rely on translations to understand the Qur'an. It is estimated that fewer than a thousand scholars who read classical Arabic can compose a paragraph in classical Arabic script on a given subject. Now, what about the billion-plus Muslims who do not even understand modern Arabic? If it is necessary to have a knowledge of classical Arabic to understand the Qur'an correctly, then how can all those non-Arabic speaking Muslims understand the Qur'an? Since it is alleged that it impossible for them to understand the Qur'an correctly in their native language, how then did they become Muslims?

Arabic is a Semitic language related to Hebrew and Aramaic. If these two Biblical languages can be translated into other languages, why not the Arabic of the Qur'an? Why would Muslims want us to believe that the Qur'an alone could not be understood in other languages? Is not Arab a human language?

THE MUSLIM DILEMMA

Muslims fail to realize that there is a serious theological problem with their argument that the Qur'an cannot be translated or fully understood in a language other than Arabic. Consider now the following Qur'anic verses:

Surah 26:192-197: And lo! It is a revelation of the Lord of the Worlds*, Which the True Spirit hath brought down upon thy heart, that thou mayest be one of the warners,* In plain Arabic speech. And lo, it is in the Scriptures of the men of old. Is it not a token for them that the doctors of the Children of Israel know it? (Pickthall)

Truly it is revelation sent down by the Lord of all the Worlds. The Faithful Ruh brought it down to your heart so you would be one of the Warners in a clear Arabic tongue*.* It is certainly in the Scriptures of the previous peoples*. Is it not indeed a Sign for them that the scholars of the tribe of Israel have knowledge of it? (A. Bewley)*

"It is certainly in the Scriptures of the previous peoples." The Scriptures of the previous peoples are the Torah and the Gospel. And these Scriptures were revealed in the Hebrew and Greek languages with a small portion of it in Aramaic. After saying that the Qur'an was revealed in "plain Arabic speech," the above Qur'anic verses continue on to state that the Qur'an is "in the Scriptures of the previous peoples." How can the contents of the Qur'an which are written in "plain Arabic speech" be written in the previous Scriptures when the previous Scriptures were not revealed in the Arabic language?

Of course, for the Qur'an to be written in the previous Scriptures, it must be written in the languages of the previous Scriptures. Since the Bible was revealed centuries before the Qur'an, this presupposes that the Qur'an which was written in "plain Arabic speech" was transmitted accurately in the languages of the Bible before the arrival of the Qur'an. This demonstrates that the Qur'an can be accurately translated into other languages. And vice versa.

To accept Surah 26:192-197 as divinely inspired, Muslims have to accept as true what these Qur'anic verses actually teach. They have to accept the fact that the Qur'an itself confirms that the Qur'an can be translated into other languages such as Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. Notice what the Qur'an clearly states: "Is it not indeed a Sign for them that the scholars of the tribe of Israel have knowledge of it?" Yes! It can be understood by those who speak a different language such as Hebrew. Additionally, it is important to remember that Greek is not a Semitic language. This fact alone proves that the Arabic of the Qur'an can be translated into languages that have no common roots with it.

Muslims have an option. To believe that the Qur'an which was revealed "in plain Arabic speech" is in the "Scriptures of the previous peoples," Muslims have to accept as true that the Qur'an has already been transmitted accurately in the languages of the Bible. This means that the Qur'an can be translated accurately from Arabic into other languages. Alternately, Muslims can choose to believe that the Qur'an cannot be translated accurately into other languages. This would then that they have to believe that the above Qur'anic verses are false. Muslims have to now choose between these two options.

Therefore, the only option left for Muslims come to terms with Allah's revelation in Surah 26:192-197 is to accept the fact that long before the messages of the Qur'an were written in "plain Arabic," these very same messages were written earlier in the Bible in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek. Should Muslims choose to disagree with this conclusion, it would then mean that the Qur'an is a lie.

The fact that the messages of the Qur'an could be written in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek proves that the Arabic Qur'an can be translated into Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek and vice-versa. And since the Bible which is written in Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek has been translated accurately into hundreds of languages, it proves that the same can be accomplished with the Qur'an. Thus, there is no validity in the Muslim argument that the Qur'an can only be understood in the Arabic language.

Of course, Christians do not believe that the messages of Qur'an can be found in the Bible. Christians do not believe that the Qur'an is the inspired Word of God. We are only using the above argument to prove that even according to their Qur'an, the Muslim claim is false. The Qur'an itself proves that it can be written and understood in languages other than Arabic.

"CAN YOU READ ARABIC"

The reason for Muslims to come up with the excuse that one should know Arabic to understand the Qur'an is really quite simple. For one, it is the easiest way to silence the critics. However, there is also another reason. Many of those who have read the Qur'an in the language they could understand became shocked by its contents. Their study of Islam's holiest book only reinforced a negative opinion of it. To overcome this dilemma, Muslims scholars came up with a contingency plan to respond to these ones who now question the unethical teachings of the Qur'an. These scholars began to dishonestly claim that an accurate knowledge of the Qur'an can only be accomplished with the understanding of the Arabic language.

This deceit is also conveniently used to silence any critics of the Qur'an. This is a carefully planned deception on the part by Muslims leaders. Is Arabic truly an untranslatable language? The existence of translations of many early Arabic literatures in other languages easily exposes this deceit by Muslims. A classic example of this are the Hadiths. If it is possible to translate the other earlier Arabic works into foreign languages, why cannot the same be done with the Qur'an? If Arabic is truly a barrier for non-Arabs to understand Islam, why did Allah choose this untranslatable language to reveal the Qur'an?

This linguistic objection is only a recent development in Islam. Quite tellingly this development began with the contemporary rejection of Islamic practices by the non-Muslim world. It began when Islam's debased practices such as slavery, the inferior status of women, wife-beating, holy war, religious discrimination, became exposed to the non-Muslim world. Especially today, this linguistic objection has become a much needed defense mechanism for Muslims because of the easy exposé of Islam through the information superhighway – the internet. No other religion makes this absurd claim that the knowledge of a particular language is imperative to the understanding of that religion.

Obviously, the real reason for this illogical linguistic argument is that the information age is now making it possible for the teachings of the Islamic religion to be available to a broader audience. And the contents are highly embarrassing to both Muslim scholars and their faithful flock. Pretending that different meanings exist in Arabic became a means of gaining self-confidence and saving face with others.

The next time when you find a Muslim arguing against any Christian doctrine, just ask him if he can read Hebrew, Aramaic or Koine Greek. If he does not know these languages how can he then form an opinion about something he has read from a translation? If Muslims have the privilege to form an opinion based on a translation of the Holy Bible, why are we not given the same privilege? Why can we not in the same way read and understand the Qur'an? This shows that we do not need to know Arabic to refute the teachings of the Qur'an. Yet Muslims are quite happy to criticize the Bible and Christianity without knowing a single word of Hebrew, Aramaic or Greek.

Muslims do not understand that their flawed logic to defend Islam's absurdities goes against them. If it is possible for Muslims around the world to preach Islam in languages other than Arabic and make converts, why do they then argue that the Qur'an can only be understood in Arabic? How can these new converts to Islam become Muslims without understanding Arabic? In other words, how can new converts to Islam become Muslims without understanding the Qur'an? The language argument is a Muslim tactic to defend the idiocy of Islam. If Islam is indeed the true religion, language will not be a barrier for any sincere honest-hearted persons to discover the truth in it. It must be pointed out that the majority of the translations of the Qur'an are done by devout Muslims. Hence, Muslims cannot claim that there has been deliberate tampering of the text by infidel translators.

Moreover, many of the doctrines of the Qur'an are repeated word for word and explained in the Hadiths. If it is possible for these doctrines, which are recorded in Arabic in the Hadiths, to be translated and understood by the non-Arabic Muslim population, why is it impossible to do the same with the Qur'an? Why is that out of all the books in the world, the Qur'an is the only one that cannot be translated and understood accurately in another language? How is that the Arabic Qur'an is the only one with words and phrases that are literally untranslatable? Does it not sound suspicious? If the language argument is really true, then we must ask the Muslims, "Why in the world would Allah choose to communicate his final revelation for all people in the only language that cannot be understood by all people?" Not even by the majority of the Muslims.

In the first place, it is basically impossible for anyone to learn a new language if they cannot relate it to the wordings of the language they already do know. In other words, if someone wants to learn Arabic, he or she must be able to perceive the meaning of the Arabic words in their own language. They need to mentally translate the Arabic that they are learning into their mother tongue. If this is possible, then it proves that Arabic is not a language that cannot be translated. Therefore, Muslim apologists who insist that one must learn Arabic to understand the Qur'an are committing a logical fallacy. Either the Arabic of the Qur'an is translatable for one to learn it, in which case it would not be necessary to learn Arabic, since one can now rely on the translation. Or it is not translatable, in which case it can never be learned by the non-Arabic speaker.

In order for the Qur'an to be the divine Word of God, every single word in it must be translatable into any language of the world. The Word of God must be clear and understandable for all mankind. Therefore, to claim that the Qur'an is not translatable means it is not the Word of God. It is fraudulent.

THE MOST WIDELY DISTRIBUTED BOOK IN THE WORLD

"The Bible is the most widely read book in history…More copies have been distributed of the Bible than of any other book. The Bible has also been translated *more times, and into more languages, than any other book."—"*The World Book Encyclopedia."

The true Revelation of God can be conveyed in any language.

Revelation 14:6-7*: And I saw another angel flying in midheaven, and he had everlasting good news to declare as glad tidings to those who dwell on the earth, and to every nation and tribe and* tongue and people, saying in a loud voice: "Fear God and give him glory."

The Bible is the most widely translated book in history. The complete Bible or portions of it have been translated into more than 2,600 languages and dialects. Over 90 percent of the human family has access to at least part of the Bible in their own language.

Isaiah 11:9: "They will not do any harm or cause any ruin in all my holy mountain; because the earth will certainly be filled with the knowledge of Jehovah as the waters are covering the very sea."

The Bible is well understood because it is published and made available in the various tongues of the people. The Holy Bible, inspired by none other than the Creator of the human languages, has crossed national boundaries and transcended racial and ethnic barriers. Thus, Christians of all nationalities and races can easily understand the message of their Creator. Their clear understanding of the Bible – in their own language – presents the faithful Christians with a unique opportunity to cultivate a close relationship with their heavenly Father. This helps them to develop a significant amount of appreciation for Him – without having to devote their time learning another language that is alien to them. It is well known and it can be confirmed by linguists that learning in one's own mother tongue is better understood than in a second-language. It also has many other advantages.

The God of the Holy Bible understands this. Thus, he has never insisted on making one language more significant than the other. The conveying of the life-saving message of the Bible is the primary concern of our Creator and not the learning of a particular language. That is why the Message of the Holy Bible is truly universal. Even an Arab can obtain the Holy Bible and read it in his mother tongue. Islam on the other hand requires all Muslims to know Arabic to understand the Qur'an. In fact, Islam requires all Muslims to pray in the Arabic language. No matter in which country a Muslim lives, the mosques will blare out prayers only in Arabic. Does not Allah understand other languages? This bias towards one language somehow elevates those whose mother tongue is Arabic above the non-Arabic Muslim population. And, of course, it is an insult to all other languages. Because of this bias towards one language, most Muslims have to memorize prayers in the Arabic language which most of them do not even understand. More than 80% of Muslims have to pray in a language which is alien to them. Thus, most Muslims have no clue of what they keep repeating, five times a day.

If you find this unbelievable, test this out by asking Muslims. And you will soon find out how many really understand what they are saying to Allah. If they are cannot even converse in Arabic, how can they really understand the Qur'an? It is similar to an American parroting a prayer in romanized Sanskrit. Such is the illogical situation that Muslims find themselves in because of the teachings of Islam. Now, contrast Allah with Jehovah. No matter in which language we speak to our heavenly Father, he listens to us. This is the hallmark of a true Creator:

Psalms 65:2: "O Hearer of prayer, even to you people of all flesh will come."

Isaiah 45:22-24: "Turn to me and be saved, all you who dwell at the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is no one else. By my own self I have sworn, my mouth has uttered in righteousness a word that will not be revoked: Before me every knee will bend down, and every tongue will confess allegiance to me, saying, 'Surely in Jehovah there are full righteousness and strength."

Romans 10:11-13: For the Scripture says: "None that rests his faith on him will be disappointed." For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek*, for there is the same Lord over all, who is rich to all those calling upon him.* For "everyone who calls on the name of Jehovah will be saved."

The Holy Bible reveals the Mind of God, the State of Man, the Way of Salvation, the Destiny of Sinners, and the Joy of Believers. Its Doctrines are Holy, its Precepts are Binding, its Decisions are Immutable, its Histories are True, and its Teachings are Divine. And it makes no excuses.

■Qur'an 17:73-75 (Surah Al-Isra)

Verse 73:

> "And indeed, they were about to tempt you away from that which We revealed to you, > so that you might invent against Us something else; and then they would have taken you as a close friend."

Verse 74:

> "And had We not strengthened you,
> you would almost have inclined to them a little."

Verse 75:

> "Then We would have made you taste double (punishment) in life, > and double after death. Then you would not find for yourself against Us a helper."

Surah 22:52

Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee but when He recited (the message) Satan proposed (opposition) in respect of that which he recited thereof. But Allah abolisheth that which Satan proposeth. Then Allah establisheth His revelations. Allah is Knower, Wise;

■Exegesis and Historical Context of the "Satanic Verses" Incident

Tafsir Al-Jalalayn on Surah Al-Hajj (22:52)

> The Prophet Muhammad, during an assembly of the Quraysh tribe, was reciting verses from Surah An-Najm (53), specifically:

“Have you considered al-Lāt and al-ʿUzzā, and Manāt, the third one?” (Qur'an 53:19-20).

Satan’s Interjection:

- Satan cast words onto the Prophet’s tongue without his awareness, leading him to utter:

"These are the high-flying cranes (al-gharānīq al-‘ulā), and indeed their intercession is to be hoped for."

- This statement delighted the Quraysh, as it appeared to affirm the status of their deities.

Gabriel’s Intervention:

- Gabriel later informed the Prophet that Satan had influenced his recitation.
- The Prophet felt deep grief upon realizing this, but he was then comforted by the following verse revealed by Allah:

“God abrogates what Satan has cast, then God confirms His revelations. And God is Knower of what Satan casts and Wise in His allowance for it.”

- This incident demonstrated that God nullifies any attempt by Satan to interfere with divine revelation, reinforcing God’s ultimate wisdom and will.

Asbāb Al-Nuzūl (The Context of Revelation) by Al-Wahidi on Surah Al-Hajj (22:52)

Background of Revelation:

- The Prophet Muhammad felt sorrowful due to the persistent rejection by his people, the Quraysh. He secretly wished for a revelation that would bridge the gap between his message and the Quraysh’s beliefs, hoping they would be more receptive.
- During a large gathering of the Quraysh, the Prophet began reciting Surah An-Najm. When he reached the verses (53:19-20):

“Have you considered al-Lāt and al-ʿUzzā, and Manāt, the third, the other?”

Satan’s Deception:

- At this moment, Satan put on the Prophet’s tongue words that he had secretly wished for, saying:

"These are the mighty cranes (gharānīq), whose intercession is hoped for."

- The Quraysh, upon hearing this, were delighted. They believed that Muhammad had acknowledged their idols, affirming their role as intercessors with Allah.

The Prostration:

- The Prophet continued reciting until the end of the surah. At its conclusion, he performed sujūd (prostration), and:
    - All present, including Muslims, idolaters, jinn, and humans, joined in prostration, except for al-Walid ibn al-Mughirah and Abu Uhayhah Sa'id ibn al-'As, who, due to old age, could not prostrate but symbolically placed dust on their foreheads.
- The Quraysh dispersed happily, saying:

"Muhammad has spoken favorably of our idols. We acknowledge Allah’s power, but our idols will intercede for us with Him. Now that Muhammad has associated them, we support him."

Gabriel’s Rebuke:

- That evening, Gabriel came to the Prophet and questioned him:

"What have you done? You recited to the people something that I did not bring from Allah. You spoke words that were not revealed to you."

- Realizing the mistake, the Prophet was grieved, but Allah then revealed the verse:

“Never did We send a messenger or prophet before you but when he wished, Satan cast into his wish. But Allah abrogates what Satan casts, and then confirms His revelations. Indeed, Allah is Knowing and Wise.” (Qur'an 22:52)

Narration from Hadith Sahih Bukhari, Dar-us-Salam reference Hadith 4862, In-book reference Book 65, Hadith 4862,USC-MSA web (English) reference Volume 6, Book 60, Hadith 385:

Ibn Abbas Narrates:

- When the Prophet completed the recitation of Surah An-Najm, he performed a prostration. Following him, all Muslims, pagans, jinn, and humans present also prostrated.

■Analysis and Implications

1. The Incident's Controversy:
    - This event, often referred to as the Satanic Verses incident, has been a topic of debate within Islamic scholarship due to its implications on the infallibility of the Prophet's message and the nature of revelation.
2. Early Acceptance and Later Rejection:
    - While every early sources including tafsir works like those of Al-Jalalayn and Al-Wahidi include the story, many later Islamic scholars and theologians have rejected its authenticity, viewing it as an affront to the integrity of prophethood.
3. Qur'anic Reassurance:
    - The verse in Surah Al-Hajj (22:52) is seen as a divine clarification, emphasizing that God's message prevails over any interference by Satan, and any such incident is ultimately abrogated by Allah's will. Before it was abrogated temptation narrative (17:73-75), might have another hint.

■Summary of Revelation Order and Context

Surah Name	Surah Number	Revelation Order	Place of Revelation	Notable Context
An-Najm	53	23rd	Mecca	"Satanic Verses" incident, prostration at the end.
Al-Isra	17	50th	Mecca	Temptation narrative (17:73-75), Quraish were about to tempt Muhammad away from that which Allah revealed. So Allah strengthened Muhammad. (But Satan already revealed satanic verses)
Al-Hajj	22	103rd	Mecca/ Medina	Abrogation of Satanic interference/ verses (22:52).

■Therefore on Muhammad's 23 years of prophet-hood for 8 years he praised 3 daughters of Allah as intercessor/mediator. By then 103 surahs were revealed.

Surah An-Najm (53:19–21), before the aborgation and correction at Surah al Hajj:

19. Have you then seen Al-Lāt and Al-'Uzzā
20. And the third one, Manāt, as well?
21. These are the exalted Gharāniq whose intercession is approved.

■First Verse of 6 Chapters of the Qur'an

These verses are interpreted in connection with the names Al-Uzza, Al-Lat, and Manat (referred to as the "daughters of Allah" in pre-Islamic Arabia, but not endorsed in Islamic theology).

Alif, Lam, Meem (الم) has been interpreted by some as symbolic of Al-Uzza, Lat, and Manat (a claim not recognized in mainstream Islamic scholarship).

ʾAlif Lām Mīm (الم) ordered by revelation order:

You might say why are there 2nd revealed surah mentioned Muqatta'at (disjointed letters) it satan started revealing from 23rd revealed sura. As you think that Satan started his journey in surah An-Najm, that is 23rd revealed surah and ended in surah Al-Hajj, that is 103rd revealed surah. But it was with him throughout.

Narrated AbuHurayrah:

The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: Gabriel (ﷺ) came to me and said: I came to you last night and was prevented from entering simply because there were images at the door, for there was a decorated curtain with images on it in the house, and there was a dog in the house. So order the head of the image which is in the house to be cut off so that it resembles the form of a tree; order the curtain to be cut up and made into two cushions spread out on which people may tread; and order the dog to be turned out.

The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) then did so. The dog belonged to al-Hasan or al-Husayn and was under their couch. So he ordered it to be turned out.

Abu Dawud said: Al-Nadd means a thing on which clothes are placed like a couch.

Here image at the door is mistranslated. It will be statue at the door in arabic.

The phrase "keep away from idols" is found in Surah Al-Muddaththir (74:5):

> وَالرُّجْزَ فَاهْجُرْ
> "And keep away from impurities (idols)."

The Arabic word الرُّجْزَ (Ar-Rujz) is commonly interpreted as referring to idols or idolatry. But it was a specific idol.

The verse "قُلْ هُوَ اللَّهُ أَحَدٌ" (Qul Huwa Allahu Ahad) is the first verse of Surah Al-Ikhlas (Chapter 112) in the Quran. It translates to:

"Say, 'He is Allah, [who is] One.'"

But it is mistranslated. Ahad means one of. Correct translation is: Say, 'He is Allah, [who is] One of.

Arabic word "وَاحِدٌ" (Wahid) means "one".

* تفسير Tafsir al-Jalalayn

And We did not send before you any messenger rasūl — this is a prophet who has been commanded to deliver a Message — or prophet nabī — one who has not been commanded to deliver anything — but that when he recited the scripture Satan cast into his recitation what is not from the Qur'ān but which those to whom he the prophet had been sent would find pleasing. The Prophet s had during an assembly of the men of Quraysh after reciting the following verses from sūrat al-Najm Have you considered Lāt and 'Uzzā? And Manāt the third one? 5319-20 added as a result of Satan casting them onto his tongue without his the Prophet's being aware of it the following words 'those are the high-flying cranes al-gharānīq al-'ulā and indeed their intercession is to be hoped for' and so they the men of Quraysh were thereby delighted. Gabriel however later informed him the Prophet of this that Satan had cast onto his tongue and he was grieved by it; but was subsequently comforted with this following verse that he might be reassured of God's pleasure thereat God abrogates nullifies whatever Satan had cast then God confirms His revelations. And God is Knower of Satan's casting of that which has been mentioned Wise in His enabling him Satan to do such things for He does whatever He will.

* تفسير Asbab Al-Nuzul by Al-Wahidi

{ وَمَآ أَرْسَلْنَا مِن قَبْلِكَ مِن رَّسُولٍ وَلاَ نَبِيٍّ إِلاَّ إِذَا تَمَنَّىٰ أَلْقَى ٱلشَّيْطَانُ فِيۤ أُمْنِيَّتِهِ فَيَنسَخُ ٱللَّهُ مَا يُلْقِي ٱلشَّيْطَانُ ثُمَّ يُحْكِمُ ٱللَّهُ آيَاتِهِ وَٱللَّهُ عَلِيمٌ حَكِيمٌ }

(Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee...) [22:52]. The commentators of the Qur'an said: "When the Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, saw that his people were shunning him, he was aggrieved by their rejection of the message he brought them and he secretly wished that Allah, exalted is He, reveals something to him which would bring him and his people closer to each other, keen as he was to see them accept faith. One day, he sat in one of the congregations of Quraysh which attracted a huge number of its members, and he wished that Allah, exalted is He, does not reveal to him on that day anything that might repel them from him. Allah, exalted is He, revealed to him then Surah al-Najm (By the star when it stetteth...) [Surah 53]. The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, recited it but when he reached (Have ye thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza, and Manat, the third, the other) [53:19-20], the devil put on his tongue what he had secretly wished and hoped for and said: 'These are the mighty cranes (gharaniq) and their intercession is hoped for'. When the Quraysh heard this, they were very pleased. The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, carried on reciting until the end of the Surah and then prostrated. All the Muslims followed suit and prostrated, and all the idolaters who were present prostrated too. All those who were present, whether Muslim or disbeliever, prostrated except al-Walid ibn al-Mughirah and Abu Uhyahah Sa'id ibn al-'As who were too advanced in age and could not prostrate, but they both grabbed a handful of dust and put their foreheads on it. The Quraysh then dispersed, happy with what they heard. They said: 'Muhammad has mentioned our idols with complimentary terms. We know that Allah gives life and takes it away, He creates and provides sustenance, but these idols of ours will intercede for us with Him. Now that Muhammad has associated them, we are all with him'. That evening, Gabriel, peace be upon him, went to the Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, and said: 'What have you done? You recited to people that which I did not bring from Allah, glorified is He, and you said what I did not say to you'.

The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, felt very saddened and was greatly scared of Allah. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed this verse, upon which the Quraysh said: 'Muhammad has regretted what he has mentioned regarding the status of our idols vis-à-vis Allah'. And they became even more antagonistic than before". Abu Bakr al-Harithi informed us> Abu Bakr Muhammad ibn Hayyan> Abu Yahya al-Razi> Sahl al-'Askari> Yahya> 'Uthman ibn al-Aswad> Sa'id ibn Jubayr who said: "The Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, recited (Have ye thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza, and Manat, the third, the other) upon which the devil projected on his tongue: 'These are the mighty cranes and their intercession is hoped for'. The idolaters were pleased. They said: 'He has mentioned our idols'. Then Gabriel, peace be upon him, came to the Messenger of Allah, Allah bless him and give him peace, and said: 'Read back to me the speech of Allah'. When he read it to him, Gabriel said: 'As for this I did not bring; this is from the devil'. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed (Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee but when He recited (the message) Satan proposed (opposition) in respect of that which he recited thereof. Ibn Jarir, ibn Al-Munthir and ibn Hathim reported with a sahih isnad, from Saeed ibn Jubair, he said:
The messenger of Allah read in Mecca (Surah An-Najm), when he reached this part: Have you seen Al-Lat, Al-Uzza, and another Manat the third (Qur'an, Surah An-Najm (53), verse 19, 20), Satan cast on his tounge: "These are the High Cranes (Gharaniq) and their intercession is hoped for."
They (the Quraish) said: "Muhammad did not mention our idols positively until today!" Muhammad did sujud (prostrate) and they did sujud as well. Then Jibril came to him after that and said: "I did not bring this (i.e. Satanic Verses), this is from Satan!" Then Allah sent down (to abrogate Satan's words):"We did not sent any messenger or prophet before you, but Satan cast on his tounge..." (Qur'an, Surah Al-Hajj (22), verse 52).

Now that Muhammad HAS ASSOCIATED THEM, we are all with him'. That evening, Gabriel went to the Messenger of Allah and said: 'What have you done? You recited to people that which I did not bring from Allah, glorified is He, and you said what I did not say to you'.

(Asbab Al-Nuzul by Al-Wahidi Ibid. https://altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=86&tSoraNo=22&tAyahNo=52&tDisplay=yes&Page=2&Size=1&LanguageId=2; bold and capital emphasis ours:

The Messenger of Allah felt very saddened and was greatly scared of Allah. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed this verse, upon which the Quraysh said: 'Muhammad has regretted what he has mentioned regarding the status of our idols vis-à-vis Allah'. And they became even more antagonistic than before". Abu Bakr al-Harithi informed us> Abu Bakr Muhammad ibn Hayyan> Abu Yahya al-Razi> Sahl al-'Askari> Yahya> 'Uthman ibn al-Aswad> Sa'id ibn Jubayr who said: "The Messenger of Allah recited (Have ye thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza, and Manat, the third, the other) upon which the devil projected on his tongue: 'These are the mighty cranes and their intercession is hoped for'. The idolaters were pleased. They said: 'He has mentioned our idols'. Then Gabriel came to the Messenger of Allah and said: 'Read back to me the speech of Allah'. When he read it to him, Gabriel said: 'As for this I did not bring; this is from the devil'. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed (Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee but when He recited (the message) Satan proposed (opposition) in respect of that which he recited thereof. But Allah abolisheth that which Satan proposeth. Then Allah establisheth His revelations…)".

When the Messenger of God was in Mecca, he recited [qara'a] to them: "By the star when it sets." When he reached: "Have you considered al-Lat, al-‘Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?”, he said: “Indeed, their intercession is to be hoped for [inna shafa ‘ata-ha turtaja]” – the Messenger of God did this unmindfully [wa-saha rasul Allah].

The Mushrikun, “in whose hearts there was sickness [alladhina fi qulub-him marad],” met him and greeted him and were greatly pleased at it. He said to them: “But that was from Satan! [inna-ma dhalika min al-shaytan].” And God sent down: “And we have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet, but that when he tamanna, Satan (something) into his umniyyah, then God removes that which Satan cast.”

The above version appears in al-Tabari’s Tafsir, 17:189, with the following transmission: Yunus b. ‘Abd al-A’la al-Misri (170-264) – ‘Abd Allah b. Wahb al-Misri (125-197) – Yunus b. Yazid al-Ayli (d. 160) – Muhammad b. Shihab al-Zuhri (51-124) – Abu Bakr b. ‘Abd al-Rahman b. al-Harith (23-95).

It is also cited by Abu Ja’far al-Nahas al-Misri (d. 328) in al-Naskh wa al-mansukh (1:448-449 and 2:527-528) with the following chain: Al-Layth b. Sa’d al-Misri (94-175) – Yunus b. Yazid – al-Zuhri – Abu Bakr b. ‘Abd al-Rahman.

What makes the above narrative significant to our discussion is that it is deemed a sahih mursal report, i.e. a report in which the transmitters are reliable but which doesn’t go back to a companion of Muhammad, but to one of their followers. Al-Suyuti cited this from al-Tabari and also from ‘Abd b. Humayd al-Kissi/al-Kishshi/al-Kashshi al-Samarqandi (170s-249) (Al-Durr, 6:66), stating that they are mursal sahih al-isnad. The leading 9th century hadith scholar Ibn Hajar al-‘Asqalani also gave the same verdict (Fath al-bari fi Sahih al-Bukhari [Shirkat al-Taba’ah al-Fanniyyah al-Muttahidah, Cairo, Egypt], 18:40). Even the late renowned Salafi hadith scholar Al-Albani, Majaniq, 9, accepted this verdict, despite rejecting its historicity due to the fact that it is a mursal report.

And here is another version of the same event:

The Messenger of God recited [qara’a]: “Have you considered al-Lat, al-‘Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?” and Satan cast onto his tongue [fa-alqa al-shaytan ‘ala lisani-hi]: “Those (are the high) flying cranes: there intercession is to be hoped for! [tilka al-gharaniq al-‘ula wa shafa’atu-hunna turtaja].”

And the Mushrikun were greatly pleased by this and said: “He has mentioned our gods.”

So Gabriel came to him and said: “Recite to me [iqra’ ‘alayya] what I brought you!” And he recited: “Have you considered al-Lat, al-‘Uzza and Manat, the third, the other? Those (are the) high-flying cranes: their intercession is hoped for!” He (Gabriel) said: “I did not bring you this! This is from Satan [ma ataytu-ka bi-hadha hadha ‘an al-shaytan]”; or he said: “This is from Satan! I did not bring you these” [aw qala hadha min al-shaytan lam ati-ka bi-ha].

So God sent down: “We have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet but that when he tamanna, Satan cast something into his umniyyah,” to the end of the verse.

This narration is quoted from the Tafsir of Ibn Mardawayh (323-410 AH) in a later hadith collection, namely the Mukhtarah of al-Diya’ al-Maqdisi (537-634), with a chain going back to Ibn Abbas:

Ahmad b. Musa Ibn Mardawayh al-Isbahani – his father, Musa b. Mardawayh al-Isbahani (d. 360) – Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. Mattawayh al-Isbahani (d. 302) – Muhammad b. ‘Ali al-Muqri’ al-Baghdadi (d. 300) – Ja’far b. Muhammad al-Tayalisi al-Baghdadi (d. 282) – Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. ‘Ar’arah al-Basri al-Baghdadi (d. 231) – Abu ‘Asim al-Nabil al-Dahhak b. Makhlad al-Makki al-Basri (d. 212) – ‘Uthman b. al-Aswad al-Makki (d. 150) – Sa’id b. Jubayr – Ibn ‘Abbas. (Diya’ al-Din Abu ‘Abd Allah Muhammad b. ‘Abd al-Wahid b. ‘Abd al-Rahman al-Hanbali al-Maqdisi, al-Ahadith al-mukhtarah aw al-mustakhraj min al-ahadith al-mukhtarah mim-ma lam yukhrij-hu al-Bukhari wa Muslim fi sahihay-hima, edited by ‘Abd al-Malik b. Abd Allah b. Duhaysh [Maktabat al-Nahdah al-Hadithah, Mecca], pp. 1990-1993).

The section of al-Mukhtarah containing this hadith has not been published. The late Salafi hadith scholar Al-Albani, Majaniq, 8, transcribed the chain of transmitters from a Zahiriyyah manuscript (ms) which some suspect may have been ms Majmu’ 86 (al-Albani, Fihris makhtutat Dar al-Kutub al-Zahiriyyah [Majma’ al-Lughah al-‘Arabiyyah bi-Dimashq, 1970], p. 326)

Al-Suyuti also cites this hadith both directly from Ibn Mardawayh, claiming that its chain is made up of reliable transmitters (sanad rijalu-hu thiqat; cf. al-Durr 6:65), and from al-Diya al-Maqdisi’s citation of Ibn Mardawayh. In fact, Ja’far b. Muhammad al-Tayalisi al-Baghdadi, Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. ‘Ar’arah al-Basri al-Baghdadi, Abu ‘Asim al-Nabil al-Dahhak b. Makhlad al-Makki al-Basri, and ‘Uthman b. al-Aswad al-Makki are considered to be impeachable as transmitters and seem to have been muhaddithun (hadith scholars). ‘Uthman b. al-Aswad was also known for studying under two prominent mufassirun (commentators), namely Mujahid b. Jabr and ‘Atiyyah b. Sa’d al-‘Awfi. Moreover, Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani considered this particular transmission to be the most reliable of all the chains narrating the Satanic verses (cf. Takhrij ahadith al-Kashshaf, p. 114).

These next reports are even more significant since they not only provide further substantiation that Satan caused Muhammad to recite the Satanic verses but they also prove that Muhammad at one time did in fact worship these false goddesses. These narratives further call into question Muhammad’s entire salvation:

Then those who had gone (to Abyssinia) the first time returned before (the departure of) Ja’far b. Abi Talib and his companions. This is when God sent down the surah in which He states, “By the star when it sets.” The Mushrikun had said: “If only this man would speak favourably of our gods [yadhkuru alihata-na bi-khayr], we would secure him [aqrarna-hu] and his companions. He does not speak of any the Jews and Christians who oppose his religion with the abuse and invective [al-shatm wa al-sharr] with which he speaks of our gods.”

When God sent down the surah in which He mentions, “By the star,” he (the Prophet) recited [qara’a], “Have you considered al-Lat, al-‘Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?” At this point, Satan cast into it (Surat al-Najm) [alqa al-shaytanu fi-ha ‘inda dhalika] a mention of the evil ones [dhikr al-tawaghit], and he (the Prophet) said [fa-qala]: “Indeed, they are high-flying cranes! And, indeed, their intercession is to be hoped for! [inna-hunna la-min al-gharaniq al-‘ula wa inna shafa’ata-hum (sic) la turtaja]”; that was the rhyming prose [saj’] of Satan and was an instance of his sedition [min fitnati-hi].

Those two phrases became lodged in the heart of every Mushrik; their tongues were debased by them, they rejoiced at them [dhallat bi-ha alsinatu-hum wa istabsharu bi-ha] and said: “MUHAMMAD HAS RETURNED TO HIS ORIGINAL RELIGION AND THE RELIGION OF HIS TRIBE [qad raja’a Muhammad ila dini-hi al-awwal wa din qawmi-hi]”…

As for the Mushrikun, their minds were set at ease in regard to the Prophet and his Companions when they heard what Satan cast into the umniyyah of the Prophet [lamma sami‘u al-ladhi alqa al-shaytan fi umniyyat al-nabi]. Satan told them that the Messenger of God had recited them (the Satanic verses) when in sajdah, so they made the sajdah in veneration of their gods…

The Messenger of God was greatly distressed by this [wa kabura dhalika ‘ala rasul Allah]. In the evening, Gabriel came to him. He (the Prophet) complained to him [fa-shaka ilay-hi], so he (Gabriel) ordered him (to recite the surah) and he (the Prophet) recited to him [fa-qara’a ‘alay-hi]. When he (the Prophet) reached them (the Satanic verses) [fa-lamma balagha-ha] (OR: when he (Gabriel) heard [sami’a] (the Satanic verses)), Gabriel absolved himself of responsibility for them [tabarra’a min-ha] and said: “God protect me from these! My Lord did not send them down, nor your Lord command me with them! [ma’adh Allah min hatayni ma anzala-huma rabb-i wa la amara-ni bi-hima rabbu-ka].” When the Messenger of God saw this, he was greatly disturbed [shaqqa ‘alay-hi] and said: “I HAVE OBEYED SATAN AND SPOKEN HIS WORDS AND HE HAS BECOME A PARTNER IN GOD’S MATTER WITH ME [ata’tu al-shaytana wa takallamtu bi-kalami-hi wa sharika-ni fi amr Allah].”

So God removed that which Satan cast [fa-nasakha Allahu ‘azza wa jalla ma alqa al-shaytan] and sent down upon him: “We have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet but that when he removes that which Satan casts and establishes his Signs clearly – and God is All-Knowing, All-Wise – to make that which Satan cast a trial for those in whose hearts is a sickness, and for those whose hearts are hardened. Indeed, the Wrongdoers are in far dissension.”

Abu al-Qasim Sulayman b. Ahmad al-Tabarani narrated it with the following chain: Muhammad b. ‘Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri (d. 292 AH) – ‘Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri (d. 229) – ‘Abd Allah Ibn Lahi’ah al-Misri (97-174) – Muhammad b. ‘Abd al-Rahman Abu al-Aswad al-Madani al-Misri (d. 136/7) – ‘Urwah b. al-Zubayr al-Madani (23-94). (al-Mu’jam al-Kabir, edited by Hamdi ‘Abd al-Majid al-Salafi [Wizarat al-Awqaf wa al-Shu’un al-Diniyyah, Baghdad, 1971], 9:34-36)

Abu Bakr Muhammad b. ‘Ali al-Muttawi’i al-Ghazi al-Naysaburi al-Makki gives the following chain:

Abu al- ‘Abbas Ahmad b. al-Hasan b. Bundar al-Razi al-Makki (d. 409) – Abu al-Qasim Sulayman b. Ahmad al-Tabarani – Muhammad b. ‘Amr b.

Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri – ‘Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri – ‘Urwah b. al-Zubayr. (Kitab man sabara zafira, pp. 77b-78b)

We further read in Tafsir Dur al-Manthur that:

Al-Bazaar and Al-Tabarani and Ibn Mardaweh and al-Ziya’ have narrated through a chain of all trustworthy (Thiqa) narrators by the way of Said Ibn Jubayr, from Ibn Abbas that the Prophet recited the words of Surah Najm in the following manner:

“Have you then considered the Lat and the Uzza And Manat, the third, the last? These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after.”

The idolaters became delighted on hearing this from the prophet and said that their idols have also been mentioned in the Quran. Then Gabriel came and said to prophet: “Recite same revelation and Quran which I have brought.” Prophet again recited the words:

“Have you then considered the Lat and the Uzza And Manat, the third, the last? These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after.”

Gabriel said: “I had not brought these words, these are from Satan.” Then the following verse was revealed:

And We did not send before you any messenger or prophet, but when he desired, Satan made a suggestion respecting his desire; but Allah annuls that which Satan casts, then does Allah establish His communications, and Allah is Knowing, Wise. (Ibid., Volume 6, p. 65, on Q. 22:52 http://islamport.com/d/1/tfs/1/11/521.html)

As mentioned, Jalauddin as-Suyuti recorded similar versions from several other authentic chains:

“Ibn Jarir and Ibn al-Munder and Ibn Abi Hatim and Ibn Mardawayh have narrated through a Sahih chain by the way of Said Ibn Jubayr who said…”

“Ibn Jarir, Ibn Al Munzir and Ibn Abi Hatim narrated with a Sahih chain from Abi Al ‘Aliyah…”

“Abd bin Hamid and Ibn Jarir by the way of Yunis, from Ibn Shahab narrated… with a Mursal Sahih chain.”

Qadhi Thanaullah Pani Patti Uthmani, in his commentary of the above mentioned verse, though doubting the veracity of this episode, nevertheless, acknowledges that the event is based on multiply attested and strong narrations:

"… However the tradition we previously mentioned from Said bin Jubayr by Bazar, Ibn Mardawayh and Tabarani, is indeed successive (mutawatur) and strong (qawi). Ibn Hajar Asqalani has stated that from the abundance of traditions reported, it is deemed that there is some truth in it…"

Ibn Abi Bakar al-Haythami is also among those Sunni scholars who affirmed that this incident is authentic:

"Al-Bazar and Tabarani narrated it and they added '*{the penalty of a Mighty Day}'*in the day of Badr, the narrators are the narrators of *Sahih." (Majma al-Zawadi, Volume 7, p. 248, Number 11376)

Moreover, the darling of Salafi Muslims, i.e., Ibn Tamiyyah, also believed that the "Satanic Verses" took place, and erroneously thought that this actually establishes that Muhammad was a genuine prophet!

"What occurred with suratul Najm and its recitation 'These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after' is well known amongst the Salaf; that this was recited by the Messenger of Allah and then Allah abrogated it." (Minhaj Sunnah, Volume 2, p. 409)

We include a brief list of some of the many Islamic sources that record Muhammad's lapse into idolater due to the influence of Satan:

The Implications

There are several crucial points to glean from this particular narration.

First, Muhammad's characterization of his error is astonishing to say the least. Notice his words once again:

"I have obeyed Satan, and spoken his words, and he has become a partner in God's matter with me (wa sharika-ni fi amr Allah)."

Muhammad's use of the verb sharika means that he committed the rather grievous error of joining Satan with Allah, which is the unforgiveable sin according to the Quran:

Verily! Allah forgives not (the sin of) setting up partners in worship with Him, but He forgives whom he pleases sins other than that, and whoever sets up partners in worship with Allah, has indeed strayed far away. They (all those who worship others than Allah) invoke nothing but female deities besides Him (Allah), and they invoke nothing but Shaitan (Satan), a persistent rebel! S. 4:116-117 Hilali-Khan

Second, Muhammad compounded the problem by complying with the pagans in praising their false goddesses even though he was specifically told by his deity never to commit this mistake, otherwise he would be condemned to hell with all his deeds going to waste:

This is (part) of that wisdom wherewith thy Lord hath inspired thee (O Muhammad). And set not up with Allah any other god, lest thou be cast into hell, reproved, abandoned. S. 17:39 Pickthall

O Prophet! be careful of (your duty to) Allah and do not comply with (the wishes of) the unbelievers and the hypocrites; surely Allah is Knowing, Wise; S. 33:1

And certainly, it has been revealed to you and to those before you: Surely if you associate (ashrakta) (with Allah), your work would certainly come to naught and you would certainly be of the losers. S. 39:65 Shakir

Therefore, Muhammad stands condemned according to the Quran, which means that he must now be in hell suffering eternal wrath and torture.

More importantly, Muhammad is also condemned by the true God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as he has revealed himself in his only inspired Scripture. According to the Holy Bible, any self-professed prophet who speaks in the name of other gods or proclaims a word which did not come from God is nothing more than a false prophet and must die.

"If anyone does not listen to my words that the prophet speaks in my name, I myself will call him to account. But a prophet who presumes to speak in my name anything I have not commanded him to say, or a prophet who speaks in the name of other gods, must be put to death." Deuteronomy 18:19-20

Since Muhammad spoke something in the name of Allah (whom he claimed was the God of the Biblical prophets such as Abraham and Moses), which he did not command, and further mentioned and actually praised the names of false goddesses, he is nothing more than a false prophet who stands eternally condemned by the true God of the Holy Bible.

Thirdly, the response of the pagans to Muhammad glorifying and honoring their goddesses is striking since it proves that Muhammad initially worship these pagan daughters of Allah. Again, notice their words carefully:

Those two phrases became lodged in the heart of every Mushrik; their tongues were debased by them, they rejoiced at them [dhallat bi-ha alsinatu-hum wa istabsharu bi-ha] and said: "MUHAMMAD HAS RETURNED TO HIS ORIGINAL RELIGION AND THE RELIGION OF HIS TRIBE [qad raja'a Muhammad ila dini-hi al-awwal wa din qawmi-hi]"…

The pagans claimed that, in magnifying these goddesses, Muhammad had actually returned to his original religion, that being the religion of his tribe the Quraysh. Nor is this the only report that mentions this specific reaction of the pagans:

Ibn Abi Hatim – Musa b. 'Uqbah – al-Zuhri.

The Mushrikun of Quraysh had been saying: "If only this man would speak favourably of our gods [yadhkuru alihata-na bi-khayr], we would secure him [aqrarna-hu] and his companions. He does not speak of the Jews and Christians who oppose his religion with the abuse and invective [al-shatm wa al-sharr] with which he speaks of our gods."

The Messenger of God was greatly distressed [ishtadda 'alay-hi] by the persecution [adha] he and his Companions had suffered from them (Quraysh) and by their calling him a liar. Their errant conduct saddened him and he desired an end to their persecution [yatamanna kaffa adha-hum].

When God sent down Surat al-Najm, he (the Prophet) said [qala], "Have you considered al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?" And Satan cast some words at this point when God mentioned the evil ones [alqa al-shaytanu 'inda-ha kalimatin hina dhakara Allahu 'azza wa jalla Akhir al-tawaghit], and he said [fa-qala]: "Indeed they, they are the high-flying cranes! And, indeed, their intercession is what is to be hoped for!" [inna-hunna la-min al-gharaniq al-'ula wa inna shafa'ata-hunna la-hiya allati turtaja].

That was the rhyming prose of Satan and was an instance of his sedition [min fitnati-hi]. Those two phrases became lodged in the heart of every Mushrik in Mecca. Their tongues were sharpened by them [dhaliqat bi-ha]; they rejoiced in telling them to each other [tabasharu bi-ha], and said: "MUHAMMAD HAS RETURNED TO

HIS ORIGINAL RELIGION AND TO THE RELIGION OF HIS TRIBE." (Jalaludin al-Suyuti, Al-Durr al-manthur, 6:66-67)

It makes absolutely no sense to speak of Muhammad returning back to a religion, which he neither believed in, nor ever practiced. This only makes sense if Muhammad at one time worshiped the false gods and goddesses of his pagan tribe.

What makes the response of the pagans all the more significant is that this was stated in connection to Muhammad having just praised and glorified Allat, al-Uzza, and Manat, thereby implying that Muhammad had in fact worshiped them in the past.

As it stands, this story of Satan influencing Muhammad into praising and magnifying the false goddesses of the Meccans is one of the strongest proofs that he was an accursed false apostle who stands condemned by the one true God revealed in the glorious Person of the Lord Jesus Christ, God's unique, beloved Son.

Exposing the lies and misinformation of Muhammadan Ali Ataie in respect to the veracity of the "satanic verses". In these posts I will address Ataie's two main contentions, which are:
There are no manuscripts of the Quran that contain the satanic verses, not a single one. And there are no variant Arabic readings (qiraat) which them either.

Q. 22:52, which is supposed to have been "revealed" concerning this incident, wasn't "sent down" until eight years later in Medina. Therefore, it makes no sense that Muslims were reciting the satanic verses as part of Q. 53:19-20 for eight more years without anyone raising an eyebrow or objecting seeing how these verses contradict the Quran's express condemnation of the worship of any other deity besides Allah.

Here I will address Ataie's first main objection.

WHOLESALE DESTRUCTION OF THE QURANIC CODICES

The first problem with Ataie's claim is that he erroneously assumes that Muhammad and his cronies would not have immediately expunged the satanic verses from the written materials in their possession, the very moment his prophet admitted that Satan had inspired him to utter these statements, thereby committing the unforgiveable sin of idolatry.

This brings us to the second problem with Ataie's pathetic assertion. Another reason why there are "zero manuscripts (MSS)" which still have the verses which Satan inspired Muhammad to recite is because the Islamic sources attest that the Muslims pretty much destroyed the copies which were written down by Muhammad's followers, which resulted in the loss of a great bulk of the Quran.

Note, for instance, the following tradition from al-Bukhari:

Narrated Zaid bin Thabit:

Abu Bakr As-Siddiq sent for me when the people! of Yamama had been killed (i.e., a number of the Prophet's Companions who fought against Musailama). (I went to him) and found 'Umar bin Al-Khattab sitting with him. Abu Bakr then said (to me), "Umar has come to me and said: "Casualties were heavy among the Qurra' of the! Qur'an (i.e. those who knew the Quran by heart) on the day of the Battle of Ya'mama, and I am afraid that more heavy casualties may take place among the Qurra' on other battlefields, whereby a large part of the Qur'an MAY BE LOST. Therefore I suggest, you (Abu Bakr) order that the Qur'an be collected." I said to 'Umar, "How can you do something which ALLAH'S APOSTLE DID NOT DO?" 'Umar said, "By Allah, that is a good project. "Umar kept on urging me to accept his proposal till Allah opened my chest for it and I began to realize the good in the idea which 'Umar had realized." Then Abu Bakr said (to me). 'You are a wise young man and we do not have any suspicion about you, and you used to write the Divine Inspiration for Allah's Apostle. So you should search for (the fragmentary scripts of) the Qur'an and collect it in one book)." By Allah If they had ordered me to shift one of the mountains, it would not have been heavier for me than this ordering me to collect the Qur'an. Then I said to Abu Bakr, "How will you do something which Allah's Apostle did not do?" Abu Bakr replied, "By Allah, it is a good project." Abu Bakr kept on urging me to accept his idea until Allah opened my chest for what He had opened the chests of Abu Bakr and 'Umar. So I started looking for the Qur'an and collecting it from (what was written on) palmed stalks, thin white stones and also from the men who knew it by heart, till I found the last Verse of Surat At-Tauba (Repentance) with Abi Khuzaima Al-Ansari, AND I DID NOT FIND IT WITH ANYBODY OTHER THAN HIM. The Verse is: 'Verily there has come unto you an Apostle (Muhammad) from amongst yourselves. It grieves him that you should receive any injury or difficulty… (till the end of Surat-Baraa' (At-Tauba) (9.128-129) Then the complete manuscripts (copy) of the Qur'an remained with Abu Bakr till he died, then with 'Umar till the end of his life, and then with Hafsa, the daughter of 'Umar. (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 61, Number 509 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=61&translator=1&start=0&number=509)

Narrated Anas bin Malik:

Hudhaifa bin Al-Yaman came to Uthman at the time when the people of Sham and the people of Iraq were Waging war to conquer Arminya and Adharbijan. Hudhaifa WAS AFRAID OF THEIR (the people of Sham and Iraq) DIFFERENCES IN THE RECITATION OF THE QUR'AN , so he said to 'Uthman, "O chief of the Believers! Save this nation before they differ about the Book (Quran) as Jews and the Christians did before." So 'Uthman sent a message to Hafsa saying, "Send us the manuscripts of the Qur'an so that we may compile the Qur'anic materials in perfect copies and return the manuscripts to you." Hafsa sent it to 'Uthman. 'Uthman then ordered zaid bin Thabit, 'Abdullah bin AzZubair, Said bin Al-As and 'AbdurRahman bin Harith bin Hisham to rewrite the manuscripts in perfect copies. 'Uthman said to the three Quraishi men, "In case you disagree with zaid bin Thabit on any point in the Qur'an, then write it in the dialect of Quraish, the Qur'an was revealed in their tongue." They did so, and when they had written many copies, 'Uthman returned the original manuscripts to Hafsa. 'Uthman sent to every Muslim province one copy of what they had copied, and ordered that all the other Qur'anic materials, whether written in fragmentary manuscripts or whole copies, BE BURNT. Said bin Thabit added, "A Verse from Surat Ahzab was missed by me when we copied the Qur'an and I used to hear Allah's Apostle reciting it. So we searched for it and found it with Khuzaima bin Thabit Al-Ansari. (That Verse was): 'Among the Believers are men who have been true in their covenant with Allah.'" (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 61, Number 510 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=61&translator=1&start=0&number=510)

Here's an alternate rendering of the aforementioned hadiths:

III: The Collection of the Qur'an

4702. It is related that Zayd ibn Thabit said, “After the slaughter of people in the Battle of Yamama, Abu Bakr sent for me. ‘Umar was with him. Abu Bakr said, ”Umar came to me and said, “Many Qur’an reciters were killed in the Battle of Yamama, and I fear that heavy casualties will be inflicted on the Qur’an reciters in other places and therefore MUCH OF THE QUR’AN WILL BE LOST. I think that you should collect the Qur’an together.”‘ Abu Bakr said, ‘I said to ‘Umar, “How can I do something which the Messenger of Allah did not do?” ‘Umar said, “By Allah, it is better.” ‘Umar kept at me about it until Allah opened my breast to that. I think what ‘Umar thinks about that.’”

Zayd continued, “Abu Bakr said, ‘You are an intelligent young man and we have no suspicion about you. You used to write down the revelation for the Messenger of Allah, may Allah bless him and grant him peace. Therefore you are to search out the Qur’an and collect it.’ By Allah, if he had obliged me to move one of the mountains, that would not have been weightier for me than what he commanded to do of collecting the Qur’an. I said, ‘How can you do something which the Messenger of Allah did not do?‘ Abu Bakr said, ‘By Allah, it is better.’ Abu Bakr continued to keep at me until Allah opened my breast to what Allah had opened the breasts of Abu Bakr and ‘Umar. So I began to search out the Qur’an and collect it from the palm stalks, thin white stones, and the breasts of men until I found end of Surat at-Tawba with Khuzayma al-Ansari which I did not find with anyone else: ‘A Messenger has come to you from among yourselves. Your suffering is distressful to him…’ (9:128)” The copy of the Qur’an in which the Qur’an was collected remained in the possession of Abu Bakr until Allah took him, and then it was with ‘Umar until Allah took him, and then it was with Hafsa bint ‘Umar.”

4703. Anas ibn Malik reported that Hudhayfa ibn al-Yaman came to ‘Uthman while the people of Syria were conquering Armenia and Azerbaijan with the people of Iraq. Hudhayfa WAS ALARMED BY THE DIFFERENCE IN THEIR RECITATION. Hudhayfa said to ‘Uthman, “Amir al-Mu’minin! Deliver this Community before they disagree about the Book as the Jews and Christians differed!” So ‘Uthman sent a message to Hafsa, saying, “Send us the pages in your possession and we will copy them and then return them to you.” So Hafsa sent them to ‘Uthman. He ordered Zayd ibn Thabit, ‘Abdullah ibn az-Zubayr, Sa’id ibn al-‘As, and ‘Abdu’r-Rahman ibn al-Harith ibn Hisham to transcribe copies. ‘Uthman said to the group of the three Qurashis, “When you and Zayd ibn Thabit disagree about any of the Qur'an, write it in the dialect of Quraysh. It was revealed in their language." They did that. When they had copied it out, 'Uthman returned the pages to Hafsa and he sent a copy of what they had copied out to every region and commanded that every sheet or copy which had any other form of the Qur'an should be burned.

Kharija ibn Zayd ibn Thabit added that he heard Zayd ibn Thabit say, "I missed one ayat of Surat al-Ahzab when we copied out the Qur'an which I used to hear the Messenger of Allah recite. So we searched for it and found it with Khuzayma ibn Thabit al-Ansari: "Among the believers there are men who have been true to the contract they made with Allah." (33:23) (Aisha Bewley, The Sahih Collection of al-Bukhari, Chapter 69. Book of the Virtues of the Qur'an; emphasis mine)

Moreover, the Islamic sources are emphatic that there are many verses that have disappeared:

"Umar bin al-Khattab asked about a verse of Allah's book, they answered: 'It was with a man who got killed on day of Yamama (battle)'. He (Umar) said: 'We all shall return to Allah'. Then he ordered to collect the Quran, therefore he was the first one who collected it in one book." (Kanz ul Ummal, Volume 2, p. 574)

Umar was once looking for the text of a specific verse of the Qur'an he vaguely remembered. To his deep sorrow, he discovered that the only person who had any record of that verse had been killed in the battle of Yamama *and that the verse was consequently lost. (Ibn Abi Dawud, Kitab al-Masahif, p. 10 – see also as-Suyuti's al-Itqan fi 'ulum al-Quran, volume 1, p. 204)

In the Muqaddamah of Q. 33, Jalaluddin as-Suyuti recorded a statement from Sufyan al-Thawri (d. 161 A. H), as narrated by his student Abd al-Razaq al-Sanani (d. 211 A. H.):

وأخرج عبد الرزاق عن الثوري قال : بلغنا ان ناسا من أصحاب النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم كانوا يقرأون القرآن أصيبوا يوم مسيلمة فذهبت حروف من القرآن

"Abd al-Razaq narrated from Al-Thawri that he said: 'I have come to know that people from the Sahaba of the Prophet who used to recite the Quran were killed on the day of Musaylama and with their deaths LETTERS FROM THE QURAN WERE LOST (Zahab).'" (Tafsir Dur al-Manthur, Muqaddamah of Surah Ahzab, Volume 6, p. 558)

And here are several reports which speak of the missing verses of adult breast feeding and stoning in connection with the loss of much of the Quran:

9 The Chapters on Marriage

(36) Chapter: Breastfeeding an adult

It was narrated that ‘Aishah said:

“The Verse of stoning and of breastfeeding an adult ten times was revealed1, and the paper was with me under my pillow. When the Messenger of Allah died, we were preoccupied with his death, AND A TAME SHEEP CAME AND ATE IT.”

1: These verses were abrogated in recitation but not ruling. Other ahadith establish the number for fosterage to be 5.

How ironic that a sheep proved to be too powerful for Ataie’s god since he prevented Allah from preserving the only copy which contained these specific verses, resulting in their wholesale disappearance!

And:

Zirr ibn Hubaish reported: “Ubayy ibn Ka’b said to me, ‘What is the extent of Suratul-Ahzab?’ I said, ‘Seventy, or seventy-three verses’. He said, ‘Yet it used to be equal to Suratul-Baqarah and in it we recited the verse of stoning’. I said, ‘And what is the verse of stoning’? He replied, ‘The fornicators among the married men (ash-shaikh) and married women (ash-shaikhah), stone them as an exemplary punishment from Allah, and Allah is Mighty and Wise.’“ (Al-Itqan fi ‘ulum al-Quran, p. 524)

This is what Jalaluddin as-Suyuti wrote in the preface of his book Dur al-Manthur concerning the veracity of the reports found all throughout:

“Praise be to Allah… who has given me the ability to conduct a commentary of his great book based on what I have received of the transmitted reports with high valued chains.”

This explains why Muslims have admitted that much of the Quran's contents is completely gone, lost to the vestiges of time, never to be recovered or found ever again:

"Abd al-Razzak in Al-Musannaf from Ibn Abbas said: Umar bin Al-Khattab ordered a person to gather people for Salat of Jama'at. He then ascended on a pulpit, praised Allah and said: 'O people! Do not get afraid about the verse of Al-Rajm because it is a verse that was revealed in the book of Allah and we recited it but it was lost [Zahab], WITH MUCH OF THE QURAN GONE WITH MUHAMMAD; and the proof of that is that the prophet would stone, and Abu Bakr would stone, and I have stoned and there will come people from this nation who would deny the stoning.'" (Tafsir Dur al-Manthur, Muqadmah of Surah Ahzab)

"Ismail bin Ibrahim narrated from Ayub from Naf'i from Ibn Umar who said: 'Verily among you people one would say that he has found the Quran while he is unaware of what the total quantity of the Quran was, because MOST of the Quran has been lost. Rather one should say that verily he has found the Quran that has appeared.'" (Fadhail al-Quran, by Qasim bin Salam (d. 222 A.H.), Volume 2, p. 135)

The following authorities all cite this particular narration:

Tafsir Dur al-Manthur Volume 1, p. 106.

Tafsir Ruh al-Mani, Volume 1, p. 25.

Al-Itqan fi 'ulum al-Quran by Suyuti, rendered into Urdu by Maulana Muhammad Haleem Ansari, Volume 2, p. 64 (Idara Islamiat, Lahore).

Here is an English translation of this specific report taken from another version of the Itqan:

It is reported from Ismail ibn Ibrahim from Ayyub from Naafi from Ibn Umar who said: "Let none of you say 'I have acquired the whole of the Qur'an'. How does he know what all of it is when MUCH of the Qur'an has disappeared? Rather let him say 'I have acquired what has survived.'" (Al-Itqan, p. 524)

And here is what the scholars said about the transmitters of the foregoing report:

Ismail bin Ibrahim

Dahabi said, "Hujja" (Al-Kashif, Volume 1 p. 242).

Ibn Hajar said, “Thiqah” (Taqrib al-Tahdib, Volume 1, p. 90).

Ayyub al-Sakhtiani

Dahabi said, “The master of scholars’ (Siar alam al-nubala, Volume 6, p. 15).

Ibn Hajar said, “Thiqah Thabt Hujja” (Taqrib al-Tahdib, Volume 1, p. 116).

Naafi

Dahabi said, “The Imam of Tabi’in” (Al-Kashif, volume 2, p. 315).

Ibn Hajar said, “Thiqah Thabt” (Taqrib al-Tahdib, Volume 2, p. 239).

The words Thiqah, Thabt and Hujja are used to describe men of integrity who were deemed to be completely reliable and trustworthy in narrating hadiths.

Finally, and more importantly, the Quran testifies to its own corruption:

Like as We sent down on the dividers, Those who made the Quran INTO SHREDS. So, by your Lord, We would most certainly question them all, As to what they did. S. 15:90-93 Shakir

Here are some of the various ways that Q. 15:91 has been translated:

(So also on such) as have made Qur’an into shreds (as they please). Y. Ali

Those who break the Qur’an into parts. Pickthall who dismember the Qur’an. Palmer who have broken the Koran into fragments. Arberry

Who splintered the Quran into diverse parts. Tarif Khalidi

Those who divided the Qur’an into parts. Maulana Muhammad Ali

Those who break the Quran into separate parts. Hamid S. Aziz

Those who have broken the Qur’an into fragments (as they please). Ali Unal and also divided the Quran believing in some parts and rejecting others. Muhammad Sarwar and who have broken the Scripture into fragments— Wahiduddin Khan

And severed their Scripture into fragments. Muhammad Ahmed-Samira

It is thus clear from this verse that the words of the Quran were being changed.

As the late Islamic Scholar Alphonse Mingana explained:

“Finally, if we understand correctly the following verse of Suratul-Hijr (xv. 90-91): ‘As we sent down upon (punished) the dividers (of the Scripture?) who broke up the Koran into parts,’ we are tempted to state that even when the Prophet was alive, some changes were noticed in the recital of certain verses of his sacred book. There is nothing very surprising in this fact, since Muhammad could not read or write, and was at the mercy of friends for the writing of his revelations, or, more frequently, of some mercenary amanuenses.” (Mingana, “Three Ancient Korans”, The Origins of the Koran – Classic Essays on Islam’s Holy Book, edited by Ibn Warraq [Prometheus Books, Amherst NY, 1998], p. 84; bold emphasis mine)

The evidence also shows that such corruptions to the text continued long after Muhammad’s death. For instance, Mingana records the Muslim reaction to Uthman b. Affan’s burning and wholesale destruction of primary, competing Quranic codices:

“The book, drawn up by this method, continued to be authoritative and the standard text till 29-30 A.H. under the caliphate of ‘Uthman. At this time the wonderful faithfulness of Arab memory was defective, and according to a general weakness of human nature, the Believers have been heard reciting the verses of the Koran in a different way. This fact was due specially, it is said, to the hundreds of dialects used in Arabia. Zaid was again asked to put an end to these variations which had begun to scandalize the votaries of the Prophet. That indefatigable compiler, assisted by three men from the tribe of Quraish, started to do what he had already done more than fifteen years before. The previous copies made from the first one written under Abu Bakr were all destroyed by special order of the caliph: the revelation sent down from heaven was one, and the book containing this revelation must be one. The critic remarks that the only guarantee of the authenticity of the Koran is the testimony of Zaid; and for this reason, a scholar who doubts whether a given word has been really used by Muhammad, or whether it has been only employed by Zaid on his own authority, or on the meagre testimony of some Arab reciters, does not transgress the strict laws of high criticism. If the memory of the followers of the Prophet has been found defective from the year 15 to 30 A.H. when Islam was proclaimed over all Arabia, why may it not have been defective from 612 to 632 C.E. when the Prophet was often obliged to defend his own life against terrible aggressors? And if the first recension of Zaid contained always the actual words of Muhammad, why was this compiler not content with re-establishing it in its entirety, and why was the want of a new recension felt by ‘Uthman? How can it be that in the short space of fifteen years such wonderful variants could have crept into the few copies preceding the reign of the third caliph that he found himself bound to destroy all those he could find? If ‘Uthman was certainly inspired only by religious purposes, why did his enemies call him ‘THE TEARER OF THE BOOKS’ and why did they fasten on him the following stigma: ‘He found the Korans many and left one; HE TORE UP THE BOOK’? …” (Ibid., p. 84-85; bold and capital emphasis mine)

In another article, Mingana cites Muslim historian al-Tabari who wrote that:

“… ‘Ali b. Abi Talib, and ‘Uthman b. Affan wrote the Revelation to the Prophet; but in their absence it was Ubai b. Ka’b and Zaid b. Thabit who wrote it.’ He informs us, too, that the people said to ‘Uthman: ‘The Koran was in MANY BOOKS, and thou discreditedst them all but one’; and after the Prophet’s death, ‘People gave him as successor Abu Bakr, who in turn was succeeded by ‘Umar; and both of them acted according to the Book and the Sunnah of the Apostle of God – and praise be to God the Lord of the worlds; then people elected ‘Uthman b. ‘Affan WHO … TORE UP THE BOOK.’” (Ibid., The Transmission of the Koran, p. 102; bold and capital emphasis mine)

Muslims have disagreed on who compiled the Quran. They said that the four men mentioned earlier died, and so it was not compiled. Sometimes they said it was Zaid b. Thabit who compiled it, or Salim, the servant of Abu Hudsaifa. Some say that Ali swore not to put on a cloak, except for prayer, until he had compiled the Quran. Once the Quran had been compiled, people wondered what to call it. Some suggested calling it Sifr (“the Book”), But Ali refused, because that is a Hebrew word. Later Ali said: “I saw one like it in Abyssinia called Al-Mushaf“; so this is what it was called (Darwaza, Al-Qur’an al-Majid, p. 53).

I now conclude this part by citing the following Christian reference’s superb summation of the issues concerning the imperfect and chaotic compilation of the Muslim scripture:

… Further, al-Bukhari narrated what he heard from Qatada. He said: “I asked Anas b. Malik: ‘Who compiled the Quran during the lifetime of the Prophet?' 'Four,' he replied, 'and all of them are from the Ansar: Ubai b. Ka'b, Muads b. Jabal, Zaid b. Thabit, and Abu Zaid.' I asked: 'Who is Abu Zaid?' 'One of my uncles,' he answered" (see al-Bukhari, Fadhail al-Qur'an 3).

It is also narrated by Anas via Ibn Thabit: "The Prophet died, and only four compiled the Quran, including Abu Al-Darda, Muads b. Jabal, Zaid b. Thabit and Abu Zaid." As such, this hadith disagrees with Qatada's in the sense of confinement regarding the four; the other hadith mentions Abi Al-Darda instead of Ka'b b. Ubai. A number of Imams (leaders) resented this sense of confinement to the four only; yet some unbelievers held on tenaciously to Anas' claim, implying that a great portion of the Quran had been lost – especially verses that back up their party. In fact, these four died before the Quran was compiled. They also asserted that many reciters of the Quran had died before the Quran was compiled. Al-Qurtubi said: "During the Battle of Yamama, 450 RECITERS OF THE QURAN WERE KILLED." THE SAME NUMBER WAS KILLED at Mauna Well during the Prophet's time (see Al-Bidaya wa al-Nihaya by Ibn Kathir; chapter on Battle of Yamama).

Abu Bakr was overwhelmed by sadness over the loss of the Quran. Al-Bukhari's narration, based on what Zaid b. Thabit related, said that Zaid said: "Abu Bakr sent someone to call me when the Yamama people were killed. Umar was there with him. Abu Bakr said: 'On the Day of Yamama, Umar came to me saying that reciters of the Quran were killed. He was afraid that others might be killed elsewhere. This indicates the loss of much of the Quran. He suggested that I command that the Quran be compiled.'…

Another version says that Abu Bakr asked Zaid b. Thabit to compile the Quran. Zaid refused until he was assisted. Yet another version claims that Abu Bakr asked Zaid b. Thabit to compile the Quran, with Zaid refusing until he was helped by Umar. Maghazi ("Campaigns") by Musa b. Uqba, Ibn Shihab said: "When Muslims in the Yamama combat were injured, Abu Bakr panicked. He was afraid that a portion of the Quran would be lost. Therefore, people came with what they already had with them" (Al-Qur'an al-majid by Darwaza, pg. 54)…

Abu Bakr said to Umar and Zaid: "Sit at the door of the mosque, so that if someone comes with two witnesses and has something of the Book of Allah, then you can write it." So Zaid did not write a verse unless it was backed up by two just witnesses. The end of Sura al-Tawba was found only with Abu Khuzaima b. Thabit, but since his witness was considered equal to that of two men, what he had brought was written down. But Umar brought a verse about stoning (ayat al-rajm) which was not written down, for he was alone. The reason behind all this is that the Quran was divided among shoulder bones, palm branches, etc. (Al-Itqan by al-Suyuti; chapter on compiling the Quran)…

An evidence that the Quran had undergone some increase in volume is what Muhammad b. Sirin quotes Ikrima as having said: "After Abu Bakr had been paid homage to, Ali b. Abu Talib stayed home. So people said to Abu Bakr: 'He hates to pay you homage.' Therefore, Abu Bakr sent for Ali and asked: 'Do you really hate paying me homage?' 'No,' replied Ali. 'Why then have you not come to me?' asked Abu Bakr. Ali said: 'I SAW THE BOOK OF ALLAH BEING ADDED TO. This led me to make up my mind not to put on my cloak, except for prayer, until I compile the Quran.' Abu Bakr then stated: 'Yes. What you have said is right!'" Muhammad b. Sirin continued: "Then I said to Ikrima, 'Put it together as it was revealed, the first revelation comes first.' He said: 'If jinn and men had gathered to put it together in such a way, they could never have done it.'" This clearly indicates that the Quran was not recorded in the sequence of its revelation. Rather, the caliphs and others put it together according to their own tastes, for it consisted of scattered fragments (Al-Itqan by al-Suyuti; chapter on compilation)…

This is a summary of the history of the Quran in Abu Bakr's and Umar's time, and from it we gather that the Quran had not yet been compiled. Consider the following:

1. Ibn Ashtah produced the following account in the Al-Mushaf, having it authentically supported as he heard it from Muhammad b. Sirin. He said: "Abu Bakr died, and the Quran was not compiled then. Umar was killed, and the Quran was not compiled then." Ibn Ashtah commented: "The entire Quran was not completely memorised; neither was the compilation of the three Masahif (plural form of al-Mushaf) completed" (Al-Itqan by al-Suyuti; chapter on compilation). This implies that many groups had their own Quran. There was a Quran that included the Nasikh and the Mansukh ("the Abrogative and the Abrogated"). Another edition was arranged in chronological order. If these copies had been identical, Uthman would not have had them burned.

2. The Muslims disagreed about the variant editions of the Quran, so Uthman burned them, being so advised by Hudsaifa. Al-Bukhari narrated that Anas said that Hudsaifa was appalled at the differences in reading…

Ibn Ashtah produced the following narration via Ayyub b. Abi Qulaba He said: “Ibn Malik, a man from Banu Amir, told me they disagreed on the Quran during Uthman’s time, until boys and teachers ended up killing each other.” When Uthman found out about this, he said: “Here, in my presence, you lie in the Quran and make it full of grammatical mistakes. O followers of Muhammad, gather together and write a main copy for the people”; so they did. Whenever anyone disagreed with someone on a verse, they would say: “The prophet of Allah had so and so read it.” They sent three people to ask him: “In what way did the prophet of Allah read such and such a verse to you?” He would answer: “As such and such.” Then they wrote it down, not that they had left a space for it.

Ibn Abi Dawud said via Muhammad b. Sirin, that when Uthman wanted to write out the Masahif, he gathered together twelve men, Quraishites and Ansar: “They asked for the copy at Umar’s house, and it was brought. Uthman was overseeing them. Therefore, if they disagreed on something, they would delay recording it. I thought they were delaying it to see if someone had heard it as Muhammad had said it the last time. Then they would finally write it down as such” (Al-Masahif by al-Sijistani; chapter on Uthman’s compilation of the Quran).

From these accounts, it is evident that whenever Uthman sensed that they were in for a civil war or dissension as a result of the people’s disagreement over the Quran, he would hold meetings to appoint an imam for the people…

As for the compilation of the Quran, consider the following:

1. The people who undertook the compilation of the Quran were known for their treachery and lying. Uthman was murdered because he was a treacherous liar. The compilers were not filled with God’s Spirit, so they could not tell which writings, if any, were inspired. They quoted Arabs who did not know much about worldly or divine knowledge. The Quran itself says: “The Arabs are the worst in unbelief and hypocrisy, and most fitted to be in ignorance of the command which Allah has sent down to his apostle” (Sura al-Tawba 9:87).

2. When the Bible was revealed, no one tried to kill anyone else, because the writings were scattered in bits and pieces, needing to be gathered. But in Uthman's time there were different ways to read the Quranic verses, according to different dialects. This led them to mistakenly blame one another of being in grave error. Uthman became afraid as to how far this would go; so he had the verses written in one copy, preferring the dialect of the Quraish to others.

3. Honest Muslim theologians cannot deny the discrepancies in the Quran. There have been disagreements over the number of masahif that Uthman sent to remote parts; some claimed there were five, others four, still others seven. Uthman sent these copies to Mecca, Syria, Yemen, Bahrain, Basra, and Kufa. He kept one copy at Medina.

Some maintain that when Uthman noticed the reciters' disagreement, seeing that the evil had gone too far, he collected whatever versions of the Quran he could get. No one dared to take the copy that Ali b. Abu Talib had, neither did anyone hurt those who recited the Quran according to Ali's copy. Yet Ka'b b. Ubai died before Uthman compiled the Quran. Ibn Mas'ud refused to hand over his own copy to Uthman, so they sent him out of Kufa; they used Abu Musa al-Ash'ari's copy instead. For composing and mending the Quran, they appointed Zaid b. Thabit al-Ansari and Abdallah b. Abbas (others claim that the latter was Muhammad b. Abu Bakr). Both were still young. Uthman said to them: "If you disagree on something, at least write it in the language of the Quraish."

When the Quran was compiled, they sent a copy to Mecca. It was burned in the year 200 A.H. They sent a copy to Medina that was lost in the days of Yazid b. Muawiya. They sent a copy to Iraq that was lost in the days of al-Mukhtar. Another copy was sent to Syria. Then Uthman ordered the governors in the Islamic world to collect whatever copies of the Quran they could find. He SOAKED THEM ALL in boiling vinegar until nothing remained. Uthman threatened to punish anyone who disobeyed his orders (Al-Itqan by al-Suyuti; Kitab al-Masahif). (The True Guidance [Light of Life, Villach, Austria, First English Edition: 1994], Part Four. An Introduction to Quranic Studies, pp. 47-55)

The foregoing explains why there are no extant Quranic MSS that contain the satanic verses. I.e., Muslims destroyed the very primary codices produced by the companions of Muhammad, resulting in the irreparable loss of much of the original Quran!

THE QURAN'S DISJOINTED AND HAPHAZARD COMPOSITION

What Ataie deceitfully withheld from his audience and what he dishonestly failed to mention is that the Islamic sources clearly attest that particular verses would be added later on to specific surahs which were composed or recited separately or independently from the texts in question.

As Christian apologist John Gilchrist noted in his response to this very same objection raised by another Muhammadan:

Zafrulla Khan, in one of his typically bold but completely inaccurate statements, says: "The Holy Quran excludes emphatically any idea of Satan being capable of influencing any righteous person, let alone a prophet or messenger" (Muhammad: Seal of the Prophets, p. 45). This claim is seriously undermined by Surah 22.52 which makes the exact point that the writer is at pains to deny. Another somewhat more credible defence is offered by a Muslim commentator on this verse:

Moreover, it is absolutely inconceivable that such an important incident as the Prophet's having accepted the intercession of idols should have been mentioned in the Qur'an eight years after it happened. The 53rd chapter, in which the change is said to have taken place, was revealed before the fifth year of the Prophet's call, while this chapter was revealed on the eve of the Prophet's departure from Makkah. (Ali, The Holy Qur'an, p. 658).

The argument, however, does not take into account the well-established fact that most of the Surahs of the Qur'an are composite chapters of various passages dating from different periods, often made up of both Meccan and Medinan verses. In an introduction to Surah 22 in his translation of the Qur'an, Richard Bell says:

The surah has in fact become quite disjointed. Vv. 51-53, addressed to the prophet personally, are quite out of connection. (Bell, The Qur'an Translated, Vol. 1, p. 316).

He goes on to give possible occasions for the inclusion of the verses mentioned and allows for an earlier date than the main body of the Surah. It is therefore quite possible that Surah 22.52 dates prior to the rest of the Surah and refers directly to the occasion of the "satanic verses". W. M. Watt, in another book, comments on the same verse:

This passage is a justification for some previous alteration in the text of the Qur'an; one strand of tradition holds that it applies to verses originally proclaimed as following 53.19,20. (Watt, Companion to the Qur'an, p. 156).

The strand referred to is the Ibn Ishaq/Tabari source aforementioned. We must surely conclude that Surah 22.52 is a Qur'anic reference and clue to the story of the concession to the pagan Meccans when we consider that there is no other occasion suggested in the Islamic tradition literature for the revelation of this verse. Muslim commentators who reject the link identified in the Ibn Ishaq/Tabari strand nevertheless cannot suggest an alternative incident or event which can explain the statements made in the verse.

The other verse which appears to allude to the occasion of the "satanic verses" is this one which helps us in some measure to see the inner workings of Muhammad's mind:

And their purpose was to tempt thee away from that which We had revealed unto thee, to substitute in Our name something quite different: (In that case), behold! They would certainly have made thee (their) friend! And had We not given thee strength, thou wouldst nearly have inclined to them a little. Surah 17. 73-74.

This verse also appears to refer to the same occasion, in particular the yearnings felt by Muhammad for a reconciliation with his kinsmen which led to the ejaculation in favour of their goddesses. Once again no reasonable alternative suggests itself. There is no other occasion in Muhammad's life referred to in the sources to which these enlightening verses can relate. Furthermore, as with Surah 22.52, we are not proposing a convenient link between the verses and the story. Ibn Sa'd plainly states that they were revealed in consequence of Muhammad's concession to the pagan goddesses and his subsequent reversion to his original position (Ibn Sa'd, Kitab at-Tabaqat al-Kabir, Vol. 1, p. 237). (Gilchrist, Muhammad and The Religion of Islam, 3. THE NATURE OF MUHAMMAD'S PROPHETIC EXPERIENCE, C. Satan's Interjection and its Implications, 4. Support for the Story in the Qur'an.; bold emphasis mine)

The following ahadith and Islamic sources corroborate Gilchrist's point:

Narrated Ibn 'Abbas: "I said to 'Uthman bin 'Affan:

'What was your reasoning with Al-Anfal – while it is from the Muthani (Surah with less than one-hundred Ayat), and Bara'ah while it is from the Mi'in (Surah with about one-hundred Ayat), then you put them together, without writing the line Bismillahir-Rahmanir-Rahim between them, and you placed them with the seven long (Surah) – why did you do that?' So 'Uthman said: 'A long time might pass upon the Messenger of Allah without anything being revealed to him, and then sometimes a Surah with numerous (Ayat) might be revealed. So when something was revealed, he would call for someone who could write, and say: "Put these Ayat in the Surah which mentions this and that in it." When an Ayah was revealed, he would say: "Put this Ayah in the Surah which mentions this and that in it." Now Al-Anfal was among the first of those revealed in Al-Madinah, and Bara'ah among the last of those revealed of the Qur'an, and its narrations (those of Bara'ah) resembled its narrations (those of Al-Anfal), so we thought that it was part of it. Then the Messenger of Allah died, and it was not made clear to us whether it was part of it. So it is for this reason that we put them together without writing Bismillahir-Rahmanir-Rahim between them, and we put that with the seven long (Surahs).'"

Narrated Uthman ibn Affan:

Yazid al-Farisi said: I heard Ibn Abbas say: I asked Uthman ibn Affan: What moved you to put the (Surah) al-Bara'ah which belongs to the mi'in (surahs) (containing one hundred verses) and the (Surah) al-Anfal which belongs to the mathani (Surahs) in the category of as-sab'u at-tiwal (the first long surah or chapters of the Qur'an), and you did not write "In the name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful" between them? Uthman replied: When the verses of the Qur'an were revealed to the Prophet, he called someone to write them down for him and said to him: Put this verse in the surah in which such and such has been mentioned; and when one or two verses were revealed, he used to say similarly (regarding them). (Surah) al-Anfal is the first surah that was revealed at Medina, and (Surah) al-Bara'ah was revealed last in the Qur'an, and its contents were similar to those of al-Anfal. I, therefore, thought that it was a part of al-Anfal. Hence I put them in the category of as-sab'u at-tiwal (the seven lengthy surahs), and I did not write "In the name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful" between them.

Ahmad narrated in al-Musnad (4/218) with a hasan isnaad from 'Uthmaan ibn Abi'l-'Aas that he said: "I was sitting with the Messenger of Allaah when he fixed his gaze on something, then lowered his gaze until he was almost looking at the ground, then he gazed at something. He said, 'Jibreel came to me and told me to put this aayah in this place in this soorah:

"Verily, Allâh enjoins Al-'Adl (i.e. justice and worshipping none but Allâh Alone Islâmic Monotheism) and Al-Ihsân [i.e. to be patient in performing your duties to Allâh, totally for Allâh's sake and in accordance with the Sunnah (legal ways) of the Prophet in a perfect manner], and giving (help) to kith and kin (i.e. all that Allâh has ordered you to give them, e.g., wealth, visiting, looking after them, or any other kind of help), and forbids Al-Fahshâ' (i.e. all evil deeds, e.g. illegal sexual acts, disobedience of parents, polytheism, to tell lies, to give false witness, to kill a life without right), and Al-Munkar (i.e. all that is prohibited by Islâmic law: polytheism of every kind, disbelief and every kind of evil deeds), and Al-Baghy (i.e. all kinds of oppression). He admonishes you, that you may take heed." [al-Nahl 16:90 – interpretation of the meaning].'"…

Al-Qaadi Abu Bakr said in al-Intisaar: "The order of the aayahs is something that is obligatory and binding. Jibreel used to say (to the Prophet), 'Put such and such an aayah in such and such a place.'"…

Al-Baghawi said in Sharh al-Sunnah: "The Messenger of Allaah used to instruct his companions and teach them what was revealed to him of the Qur'aan in the order in which it appears in our Mus-hafs now, the order which Jibreel taught him. When each aayah was revealed, Jibreel would tell him, this aayah is to be written after such and such an aayah in Soorah such and such. Thus it is clear that the efforts of the Sahaabah were limited solely to gathering the Qur'aan in one place, not to arranging its order. The Qur'aan is written on al-Lawh al-Mahfooz in this order, then Allaah sent it down in its entirety to the first heaven, whence it was revealed in stages as it was needed, and the order in which it was revealed is not the order in which it is recited." (Islamqa, The order of Soorahs and Aayahs in the Qur'aan)

And here are a couple of hadiths that affirm that, despite the ninth chapter being the last surah that Muhammad composed, the last verse he recited was actually Q. 4:176:

Narrated Al-Bara: The last Sura that was revealed was Bara'a, and the last verse that was revealed was: "They ask you for a legal verdict, Say: Allah's directs (thus) about those who leave no descendants or ascendants as heirs." (4.176) (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 129 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=60&translator=1&start=0&number=129)

Narrated Al-Bara: The last verse that was revealed was: 'They ask you for a legal verdict: Say: Allah directs (thus) about Al-Kalalah (those who leave no descendants or ascendants as heirs).' And the last Sura which was revealed was Baraatun (9). (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 177 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=60&translator=1&start=0&number=177)

Other traditions state that the last verse Muhammad recited was the one on usury (Riba) in Q. 2:275:

Narrated Ibn Abbas: The last Verse (in the Quran) revealed to the Prophet was the Verse dealing with usury (i.e., Riba). (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 67, https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=60&translator=1&start=0&number=67)

(4c) Chapter: Usury – Section 3

'Umar b. al-Khattab said:

The last verse to be sent down was that on usury (Al-Qur'an 2:275) but God's Messenger was taken without having expounded it to us; so leave aside usury and whatever is doubtful. Ibn Majah and Darimi transmitted it.

Whatever the case maybe, the fact that Q. 2:275 and 4:176 were only added after these respective surahs were compiled lends support to Q. 17:73-75 and 22:52 being initially composed to address the fact of Satan causing Muhammad to magnify the pagan goddesses, and were therefore originally separate from the surahs which they came to be placed in.

In other words, these verses were only added much later into the surahs that presently contain them.

Moreover, Muhammad would even go so far as to correct and modify certain verses due to his changing circumstances and/or unforeseen problems that caught him by surprise, as we find in the following examples:

Q. 2:284-286

(The messenger believeth in that which hath been revealed unto him from his Lord…) [2:285]. The Imam Abu Mansur ‘Abd al-Qahir ibn Tahir informed us> Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn ‘Ali ibn Ziyad> Muhammad ibn Ibrahim al-Bushanji> Umayyah ibn Bistam> Yazid ibn Zuray‘> Rawh ibn al-Qasim> al-‘Ala’> his father> Abu Hurayrah who said: “When Allah, exalted is He, revealed to His Messenger the verse (… and whether ye make known what is in your minds or hide, Allah will bring you to account for it…) [2:284], the prophetic Companions found this hard to cope with. They went to the Messenger and said: ‘We have been entrusted with works that we can not bear: the prayer, fasting, Jihad, almsgiving; and now Allah has revealed to you this verse which we are not able to bear’. The Messenger of Allah said to them: ‘Do you want to say as the people of the two Scriptures said before you? — the narrator said: I think he quoted the verse (We hear and we rebel!) [2:93] — Say, rather, (We hear, and we obey. (Grant us) Thy forgiveness, our Lord. Unto Thee is the journeying)’. When they heard this, they did not answer. Allah revealed after this (The messenger believeth in that which hath been revealed unto him from his Lord…) the whole verse, and Allah ABROGATED it by His revelation (Allah tasketh not a soul beyond its scope…) [2:286] to the end of the verse”. This report was narrated by Muslim from Umayyah ibn Bistam. Muhammad ibn Ibrahim ibn Muhammad ibn Yahya informed us> his father> Muhammad ibn Ishaq al-Thaqafi> ‘Abd Allah ibn ‘Umar and Yusuf ibn Musa> Waki‘> Sufyan> Adam ibn Sulayman who said: “I heard Sa‘id ibn Jubayr relating from Ibn ‘Abbas who said: ‘When the verse (… and whether ye make known what is in your minds or hide, Allah will bring you to account for it…) was revealed, objection crept into the hearts of the prophetic Companions as it never did before. The Prophet said to them: Say, 'we hear and we obey'. Allah then revealed (Allah tasketh not a soul beyond its scope), up to His saying (or miss the mark) upon which he said: You did. (Al-Wahidi https://www.altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=86&tSoraNo=2&tAyahNo=285&tDisplay=yes&UserProfile=0&LanguageId=2; bold and capital emphasis mine)

He repeated this with each sentence of this verse until the end of it'". This was narrated Muslim from Abu Bakr ibn Abi Shaybah from Waki'. The commentators of the Qur'an said: "When the verse (and whether ye make known what is in your minds or hide, Allah will bring you to account for it) was revealed, Abu Bakr, 'Umar, 'Abd al-Rahman ibn 'Awf, Mu'adh ibn Jabal and a group from the Helpers all went to the Prophet. They kneeled down and then said: 'O Messenger of Allah! By Allah no other revealed verse of the Qur'an is harder on us than this one. One of us speaks to himself with things that he does not like to remain in his heart even in exchange for the world and all that it contains. And now we are taken to task for the things that we speak to our own selves. By Allah, we are doomed'. The Messenger of Allah said: 'This is how it was revealed!' They said: 'We are ruined; we have been bound by that which we cannot possibly bear'. The Messenger of Allah said: 'Are you going to say as the Children of Israel said to Moses (We hear and we rebel!); say rather: We hear and we obey'. They said: 'We hear and we obey'. This was extremely hard on them, and they remained in this situation FOR A YEAR upon which Allah, exalted is He, sent down relief and repose with His saying (Allah tasketh not a soul beyond its scope…) WHICH ABROGATED THE VERSE BEFORE IT. The Prophet said: 'Allah has pardoned my community for the things with which they speak to themselves as long as they do not act upon them or speak about them to others' ". (Ibid. https://www.altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=86&tSoraNo=2&tAyahNo=285&tDisplay=yes&Page=2&Size=1&LanguageId=2; bold and capital emphasis mine)

Q. 4:95

Narrated Al-Bara: There was revealed: "Not equal are those believers who sit (at home) and those who strive and fight in the Cause of Allah." (Q. 4:95) The Prophet said, "Call Zaid for me and let him bring the board, the inkpot and the scapula bone." Then he said, "Write: Not equal are those Believers who sit …", and at that time 'Amr bin Um Maktum, the blind man was sitting behind the Prophet. He said, “O Allah’s Apostle! What is your order for me (as regards the above Verse) as I am a blind man?” So, instead of the above verse, the following verse was revealed: “Not equal are those believers who sit (at home) except those who are disabled and those who strive and fight in the cause of Allah.” (Q. 4:95) (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 61, Number 512 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=61&translator=1&start=0&number=512)

Q. 8:65-66

Then He said: ‘O prophet, God is sufficient for thee and the believers who follow thee. O prophet, exhort the believers to fight. If there are twenty steadfast ones among you they will overcome a thousand unbelievers for there are hundred of you they will overcome a thousand unbelievers for they are senseless people,’ i.e. they do not fight with a good intention nor for truth nor have they knowledge of what is good and what is evil. Abdullah b. Abu Najih from ‘Ata’ b. Abu Ribah from ‘Abdullah b. ‘Abbas told me that WHEN THIS VERSE CAME DOWN it came as a shock to the Muslims who took it hard that twenty should have to fight two hundred, and a hundred fight a thousand. So God relieved them AND CANCELED THE VERSE WITH ANOTHER SAYING: ‘Now has God relieved you and He knows that there is weakness amongst you, so if there are a hundred steadfast they shall overcome two hundred, and if there are a thousand of you they shall overcome two thousand by God’s permission, for God is with the steadfast.’ (‘Abdullah) said, ‘When they numbered half of the enemy it was wrong for them to run from them; but if they were less than half they were not bound to fight and it was permissible for them to withdraw.’ (The Life of Muhammad, A Translation of Ibn Ishaq’s Sirat Rasul Allah, with introduction and notes by Alfred Guillaume [Karachi Oxford University Press, Karachi, Tenth Impression 1995], p. 326; bold and capital emphasis mine)

Allah said next, commanding the believers and conveying good news to them…

<If there are twenty steadfast persons among you, they will overcome two hundred, and if there be a hundred steadfast persons, they will overcome a thousand of those who disbelieve.>

The Ayah says, one Muslim should endure ten disbelievers. Allah abrogated this part later on, but the good news remained. `Abdullah bin Al-Mubarak said that Jarir bin Hazim narrated to them that, Az-Zubayr bin Al-Khirrit narrated to him, from `Ikrimah, from Ibn `Abbas, “When this verse was revealed…

<If there are twenty steadfast persons among you, they will overcome two hundred…> it became difficult for the Muslims, when Allah commanded that one Muslim is required to endure ten idolators. Soon after, this matter was made easy…

<Now Allah has lightened your (task)>, until…

<they shall overcome two hundred…>

Allah lowered the number [of adversaries that Muslims are required to endure], and thus, made the required patience less, compatible to the decrease in numbers.” Al-Bukhari recorded a similar narration from Ibn Al-Mubarak. Muhammad bin Ishaq recorded that Ibn `Abbas said, “When this Ayah was revealed, it was difficult for the Muslims, for they thought it was burdensome since twenty should fight two hundred, and a hundred against a thousand. Allah made this ruling easy for them and abrogated this Ayah with another *Ayah…

<Now Allah has lightened your (task), for He knows that there is weakness in you…>

Thereafter, if Muslims were half as many as their enemy, they were not allowed to run away from them. If the Muslims were fewer than that, they were not obligated to fight the disbelievers and thus allowed to avoid hostilities.” (Tafsir Ibn Kathir http://www.alim.org/library/quran/AlQuran-tafsir/TIK/8/64; bold emphasis mine)

Q. 25:68-70

Narrated Said bin Jubair: Ibn Abza said to me, “Ask Ibn ‘Abbas regarding the Statement of Allah: ‘And whoever murders a believer intentionally, his recompense is Hell.’ (4.69) And also His Statement: ‘…nor kill such life as Allah has forbidden, except for a just cause …..except those who repent, believe, and do good deeds.’ ” (25.68-70) So I asked Ibn ‘Abbas and he said, “When this (25.68-69) was revealed, the people of Mecca said, “We have invoked other gods with Allah, and we have murdered such lives which Allah has made sacred, and we have committed illegal sexual intercourse. So Allah revealed: ‘Except those who repent, believe, and do good deeds and Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.’

(25.70) (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 288 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=60&translator=1&start=0&number=288)

It, therefore, makes absolute sense and perfectly fits Muhammad's pattern that he would immediately correct his glorification of the three chief goddesses of the Meccans, thereby lapsing into idolatry, by expunging his praise of them and replacing that with a strict denunciation of their existence and worship.

THE MUSLIM EXPOSITORS ON Q. 22:52 AND 17:73-75

… Then the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, approached them (Quraysh) and got close to them, and they also came near to him. One day he was sitting in their assembly near the Ka'bah, and he recited: "By the Star when it setteth", till he reached, "Have ye thought upon Al-Uzza and Manat, the third, the other". Satan made him repeat these two phrases: These idols are high and their intercession is expected. The Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, repeated them, and he went on reciting the whole surah and then fell in prostration, and the people also fell in prostration with him. Al-Walid Ibn Al-Mughirah, who was an old man and could not prostrate, took a handful of dust to his forehead and prostrated on it. It is said: Abu Uhayhah Sa'id Ibn al-'As, being an old man, took dust and prostrated on it. Some people say: It was al-Walid who took the dust; others say: It was Abu Uhayhah; while others say: Both did it. They were pleased with what the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, had uttered. They said: We know that Allah gives life and causes death. He creates and gives us provisions, but our deities will intercede with Him, and in what you have assigned to them, we are with you. These words pricked the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him. He was sitting in his house and when it was evening, Gabriel, may peace be upon him, came to him and REVISED the surah. Then Gabriel said: Did I bring these two phrases. The Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, said: I ascribed to Allah, what He had not said. THEN ALLAH REVEALED TO HIM: "And they indeed strove hard to beguile thee (Muhammad) away from that wherewith We have inspired thee, that thou shouldst invent other than it against Us; and then would they have accepted thee as a friend.

And if We had not made thee wholly firm thou mightest almost have inclined unto them a little.

Then had We made thee taste a double (punishment) of living and a double (punishment) of dying then hadst thou found to [sic] helper against Us.

… This prostration became known to people till the news reached Abyssinia and the Companions of the Apostle of Allah, may Allah bless him, that the people of Makkah fell in protraction and joined Islam including al-Walid … The people said: When such persons have joined Islam, who else remains in Makkah? They said: Our relatives are dear to us. So they returned. When they were at a distance of one hour's walk from Makkah, they confronted some horsemen of Kinanah. They inquired about the Quraysh and their affairs. The horsemen said: MUHAMMAD SPOKE WELL OF THEIR DEITIES, SO THEY FOLLOWED HIM, but they turned apostate. He began to abuse their gods and they began to harm him. We left them in this struggle. They discussed that they should return to Abyssinia, but then they said: We have reached here, so let us enter (the town), see the Quraysh and visit our families and then return. (Ibn Sa'ad's Kitab Al-Tabaqat Al-Kabir, English translation by S. Moinul Haq, M.A., PH.D assisted by H.K. Ghazanfar M.A. (Kitab Bhavan Exporters & Importers, 1784 Kalan Mahal, Daryaganj, New Delhi- 110 002 India), Volume I, parts I & II, pp. 237-238; bold and capital emphasis mine)

And We did not send before you any messenger rasūl — this is a prophet who has been commanded to deliver a Message — or prophet nabī — one who has not been commanded to deliver anything — but that when he recited the scripture Satan cast into his recitation what is not from the Qur'ān but which those to whom he the prophet had been sent would find pleasing. The Prophet s had during an assembly of the men of Quraysh after reciting the following verses from sūrat al-Najm Have you considered Lāt and 'Uzzā? And Manāt the third one? 5319-20 added as a result of Satan casting them onto his tongue without his the Prophet's being aware of it the following words 'those are the high-flying cranes al-gharānīq al-'ulā and indeed their intercession is to be hoped for' and so they the men of Quraysh were thereby delighted. Gabriel however later informed him the Prophet of this that Satan had cast onto his tongue and he was grieved by it; but was subsequently comforted with this following verse that he might be reassured of God's pleasure thereat God abrogates nullifies whatever Satan had cast then God confirms His revelations. And God is Knower of Satan's casting of that which has been mentioned Wise in His enabling him Satan to do such things for He does whatever He will.

(Tafsir al-Jalalayn, Q. 22:52 https://altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=74&tSoraNo=22&tAyahNo=52&tDisplay=yes&UserProfile=0&LanguageId=2; bold emphasis mine)

(Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee…) [22:52]. The commentators of the Qur'an said: "When the Messenger of Allah saw that his people were shunning him, he was aggrieved by their rejection of the message he brought them and he secretly wished that Allah, exalted is He, reveals something to him which would bring him and his people closer to each other, keen as he was to see them accept faith. One day, he sat in one of the congregations of Quraysh which attracted a huge number of its members, and he wished that Allah, exalted is He, does not reveal to him on that day anything that might repel them from him. Allah, exalted is He, revealed to him then Surah al-Najm (By the star when it stetteth…) [Surah 53]. The Messenger of Allah recited it but when he reached (Have ye thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza, and Manat, the third, the other) [53:19-20], the devil put on his tongue what he had SECRETLY WISHED AND HOPED FOR and said: 'These are the mighty cranes (gharaniq) and their intercession is hoped for'. When the Quraysh heard this, they were very pleased. The Messenger of Allah carried on reciting until the end of the Surah and then prostrated. All the Muslims followed suit and prostrated, and all the idolaters who were present prostrated too. All those who were present, whether Muslim or disbeliever, prostrated except al-Walid ibn al-Mughirah and Abu Uhyahah Sa'id ibn al-'As who were too advanced in age and could not prostrate, but they both grabbed a handful of dust and put their foreheads on it. The Quraysh then dispersed, happy with what they heard. They said: 'Muhammad has mentioned our idols with complimentary terms. We know that Allah gives life and takes it away, He creates and provides sustenance, but these idols of ours will intercede for us with Him. Now that Muhammad HAS ASSOCIATED THEM, we are all with him'. That evening, Gabriel went to the Messenger of Allah and said: 'What have you done? You recited to people that which I did not bring from Allah, glorified is He, and you said what I did not say to you'. ('Alī ibn Ahmad al-Wahidi, Asbab al-Nuzul, Q. 22:52 https://altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=86&tSoraNo=22&tAyahNo=52&tDisplay=yes&UserProfile=0&LanguageId=2; bold and capital emphasis mine)

The Messenger of Allah felt very saddened and was greatly scared of Allah. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed this verse, upon which the Quraysh said: 'Muhammad has regretted what he has mentioned regarding the status of our idols vis-à-vis Allah'. And they became even more antagonistic than before". Abu Bakr al-Harithi informed us> Abu Bakr Muhammad ibn Hayyan> Abu Yahya al-Razi> Sahl al-'Askari> Yahya> 'Uthman ibn al-Aswad> Sa'id ibn Jubayr who said: "The Messenger of Allah recited (Have ye thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza, and Manat, the third, the other) upon which the devil projected on his tongue: 'These are the mighty cranes and their intercession is hoped for'. The idolaters were pleased. They said: 'He has mentioned our idols'. Then Gabriel came to the Messenger of Allah and said: 'Read back to me the speech of Allah'. When he read it to him, Gabriel said: 'As for this I did not bring; this is from the devil'. And so Allah, exalted is He, revealed (Never sent We a messenger or a prophet before thee but when He recited (the message) Satan proposed (opposition) in respect of that which he recited thereof. But Allah abolisheth that which Satan proposeth. Then Allah establisheth His revelations…)". (Ibid. https://altafsir.com/Tafasir.asp?tMadhNo=0&tTafsirNo=86&tSoraNo=22&tAyahNo=52&tDisplay=yes&Page=2&Size=1&LanguageId=2; bold and capital emphasis mine)

It is narrated on the authority of Muhammad Ibn Ka'b Al-Qurathi that the Messenger of Allah recited Surat An-Najm to Allah's saying (what means): {So have you considered al-Lat and al-'Uzza? And Manat, the third – the other one?} [An-Najm, verse 19-20] THEN SATAN INSPIRED HIM TO SAY: "Those are the high goddesses whose intercession is expected". Then Allah revealed what means: {Verily, they were about to tempt you away from that which We revealed to you to fabricate something other than it against Us, and (had you done so) then they would surely have taken you an intimate friend! And if We had not strengthened you, you would have almost inclined to them a little}. [Al-Isra', verse 73-74] The Messenger of Allah then kept distressed till Allah revealed (what means): {And We did not send before you any messenger or prophet except that when he spoke (or recited), Satan threw into it (his recitation some misunderstanding). But Allah abolishes that which Satan throws in; then Allah makes precise His verses. And Allah is Knowing and Wise}. [Al-Hajj, verse 52] [Abu Ash-Shaykh] (Jalal Al-Din Al-Suyuti, Reasons and Occasions of Revelation of the Holy Qur'an (Lubab An-Nuqul Fi Asbab An-Nuzul), translated by Dr.

Muhammad Mahdi Al-Sharif [Dar Al-Kotob Al-Ilmiyah, Beirut 2015], Q. 17:73, pp. 235-236; capital emphasis mine)

It is narrated on the authority of Sa'id Ibn Jubayr that The Messenger of Allah recited Surat An-Najm to Allah's saying (what means): {So have you considered al-Lat and al-'Uzza? And Manat, the third – the other one?} [An-Najm, verse 19-20] THEN SATAN INSPIRED HIM TO SAY: "Those are the high goddesses whose intercession is expected". The polytheists said: "He (Muhammad) has never mentioned our gods with good before this day". Then he prostrated AND THEY PROSTRATED WITH HIM. On that occasion, Allah revealed this Qur'anic Verse. [Ibn Abu Hatim; Ibn Jarir and Ibn Al-Mundhir]

The same is narrated ON THE AUTHORITY OF IBN 'ABBAS. [Al-Bazzar and Ibn Mardawayh] (Ibid., Q. 22:52, p. 260; capital emphasis mine)

We further read in Tafsir Dur al-Manthur that:

Al-Bazaar and Al-Tabarani and Ibn Mardaweh and al-Ziya' have narrated through a chain of all trustworthy (Thiqa) narrators by the way of Said Ibn Jubayr, from Ibn Abbas that the Prophet recited the words of Surah Najm in the following manner:

"Have you then considered the Lat and the Uzza And Manat, the third, the last? These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after*."*

The idolaters became delighted on hearing this from the prophet and said that their idols have also been mentioned in the Quran. Then Gabriel came and said to prophet:

"Recite same revelation and Quran which I have brought." Prophet again recited the words:

"Have you then considered the Lat and the Uzza And Manat, the third, the last? These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after*."*

Gabriel said: "I had not brought these words, these are from Satan." Then the following verse was revealed:

And We did not send before you any messenger or prophet, but when he desired, Satan made a suggestion respecting his desire; but Allah annuls that which Satan casts, then does Allah establish His communications, and

Allah is Knowing, Wise. (Ibid., Volume 6, p. 65, on Q. 22:52 http://islamport.com/d/1/tfs/1/11/521.html)

Note carefully that the transmitters of the aforementioned were all trustworthy according to al-Suyuti.

There's more:

When the Messenger of God was in Mecca, he recited [qara'a] to them: "By the star when it sets." When he reached: "Have you considered al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?", he said: "Indeed, their intercession is to be hoped for [inna shafa 'ata-ha turtaja]" – the Messenger of God did this unmindfully [wa-saha rasul Allah].

The Mushrikun, "in whose hearts there was sickness [alladhina fi qulub-him marad]," met him and greeted him and were greatly pleased at it. He said to them: "But that was from Satan! [inna-ma dhalika min al-shaytan]." And God sent down: "And we have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet, but that when he tamanna, Satan (something) into his umniyyah, then God removes that which Satan cast."

The above version appears in al-Tabari's Tafsir, 17:189, with the following transmission: Yunus b. 'Abd al-A'la al-Misri (170-264) – 'Abd Allah b. Wahb al-Misri (125-197) – Yunus b. Yazid al-Ayli (d. 160) – Muhammad b. Shihab al-Zuhri (51-124) – Abu Bakr b. 'Abd al-Rahman b. al-Harith (23-95).

It is also cited by Abu Ja'far al-Nahas al-Misri (d. 328) in al-Naskh wa al-mansukh (1:448-449 and 2:527-528) with the following chain: Al-Layth b. Sa'd al-Misri (94-175) – Yunus b. Yazid – al-Zuhri – Abu Bakr b. 'Abd al-Rahman.

What makes the above narrative significant to our discussion is that it is deemed a sahih mursal report, i.e., a report in which the transmitters are reliable but which doesn't go back to a companion of Muhammad, but to one of their followers.

Al-Suyuti cited this from al-Tabari and also from 'Abd b. Humayd al-Kissi/al-Kishshi/al-Kashshi al-Samarqandi (170s-249) (Al-Durr, 6:66), stating that they are mursal sahih al-isnad.

The leading 9th century hadith scholar Ibn Hajar al-'Asqalani also gave the same verdict (Fath al-bari fi Sahih al-Bukhari [Shirkat al-Taba'ah al-Fanniyyah al-Muttahidah, Cairo, Egypt], 18:40).

Even the late renowned Salafi hadith scholar Al-Albani, Majaniq, 9, accepted this verdict, despite rejecting its historicity due to the fact that it is a mursal report.

And here is another version of the same event:

The Messenger of God recited [qara'a]: "Have you considered al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?" and Satan cast onto his tongue [fa-alqa al-shaytan 'ala lisani-hi]: "Those (are the high) flying cranes: there intercession is to be hoped for! [tilka al-gharaniq al-'ula wa shafa'atu-hunna turtaja]."

And the Mushrikun were greatly pleased by this and said: "He has mentioned our gods."

So Gabriel came to him and said: "Recite to me [iqra' 'alayya] what I brought you!" And he recited: "Have you considered al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other? Those (are the) high-flying cranes: their intercession is hoped for!" He (Gabriel) said: "I did not bring you this! This is from Satan [ma ataytu-ka bi-hadha hadha 'an al-shaytan]"; or he said: "This is from Satan! I did not bring you these" [aw qala hadha min al-shaytan lam ati-ka bi-ha].

So God sent down: "We have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet but that when he tamanna, Satan cast something into his umniyyah," to the end of the verse.

This narration is quoted from the Tafsir of Ibn Mardawayh (323-410 AH) in a later hadith collection, namely the Mukhtarah of al-Diya' al-Maqdisi (537-634), with a chain going back to Ibn Abbas:

Ahmad b. Musa Ibn Mardawayh al-Isbahani – his father, Musa b. Mardawayh al-Isbahani (d. 360) – Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. Mattawayh al-Isbahani (d. 302) – Muhammad b. 'Ali al-Muqri' al-Baghdadi (d. 300) – Ja'far b. Muhammad al-Tayalisi al-Baghdadi (d. 282) – Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. 'Ar'arah al-Basri al-Baghdadi (d. 231) – Abu 'Asim al-Nabil al-Dahhak b. Makhlad al-Makki al-Basri (d. 212) – 'Uthman b. al-Aswad al-Makki (d. 150) – Sa'id b. Jubayr – Ibn 'Abbas. (Diya' al-Din Abu 'Abd Allah Muhammad b. 'Abd al-Wahid b. 'Abd al-Rahman al-Hanbali al-Maqdisi, al-Ahadith al-mukhtarah aw al-mustakhraj min al-ahadith al-mukhtarah mim-ma lam yukhrij-hu al-Bukhari wa Muslim fi sahihay-hima, edited by 'Abd al-Malik b. Abd Allah b. Duhaysh [Maktabat al-Nahdah al-Hadithah, Mecca], pp. 1990-1993).

Al-Suyuti also cites this hadith both directly from Ibn Mardawayh, claiming that its chain is made up of reliable transmitters (sanad rijalu-hu thiqat; cf. al-Durr 6:65), and from al-Diya al-Maqdisi's citation of Ibn Mardawayh.

In fact, Ja'far b. Muhammad al-Tayalisi al-Baghdadi, Ibrahim b. Muhammad b. 'Ar'arah al-Basri al-Baghdadi, Abu 'Asim al-Nabil al-Dahhak b. Makhlad al-Makki al-Basri, and 'Uthman b. al-Aswad al-Makki are considered to be impeachable as transmitters and seem to have been muhaddithun (hadith scholars). 'Uthman b. al-Aswad was also known for studying under two prominent mufassirun (commentators), namely Mujahid b. Jabr and 'Atiyyah b. Sa'd al-'Awfi.

Moreover, Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani considered this particular transmission to be the most reliable of all the chains narrating the Satanic verses (cf. Takhrij ahadith al-Kashshaf, p. 114).

These next reports are even more significant since they not only provide further substantiation that Satan caused Muhammad to recite the Satanic verses, but they also prove that Muhammad used to worship these false goddesses. These narratives further call into question Muhammad's entire salvation:

Then those who had gone (to Abyssinia) the first time returned before (the departure of) Ja'far b. Abi Talib and his companions. This is when God sent down the surah in which He states, "By the star when it sets." The Mushrikun had said: "If only this man would speak favourably of our gods [yadhkuru alihata-na bi-khayr], we would secure him [aqrarna-hu] and his companions. He does not speak of any the Jews and Christians who oppose his religion with the abuse and invective [al-shatm wa al-sharr] with which he speaks of our gods."

When God sent down the surah in which He mentions, "By the star," he (the Prophet) recited [qara'a], "Have you considered al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?" At this point, Satan cast into it (Surat al-Najm) [alqa al-shaytanu fi-ha 'inda dhalika] a mention of the evil ones [dhikr al-tawaghit], and he (the Prophet) said [fa-qala]: "Indeed, they are high-flying cranes! And, indeed, their intercession is to be hoped for! [inna-hunna la-min al-gharaniq al-'ula wa inna shafa'ata-hum (sic) la turtaja]"; that was the rhyming prose [saj'] of Satan and was an instance of his sedition [min fitnati-hi].

Those two phrases became lodged in the heart of every Mushrik; their tongues were debased by them, they rejoiced at them [dhallat bi-ha alsinatu-hum wa istabsharu bi-ha] and said: "MUHAMMAD HAS RETURNED TO HIS ORIGINAL RELIGION AND THE RELIGION OF HIS TRIBE [qad raja'a Muhammad ila dini-hi al-awwal wa din qawmi-hi]"…

As for the Mushrikun, their minds were set at ease in regard to the Prophet and his Companions when they heard what Satan cast into the umniyyah of the Prophet [lamma sami'u al-ladhi alqa al-shaytan fi umniyyat al-nabi]. Satan told them that the Messenger of God had recited them (the Satanic verses) when in sajdah, so they made the sajdah in veneration of their gods…

The Messenger of God was greatly distressed by this [wa kabura dhalika 'ala rasul Allah]. In the evening, Gabriel came to him. He (the Prophet) complained to him [fa-shaka ilay-hi], so he (Gabriel) ordered him (to recite the surah) and he (the Prophet) recited to him [fa-qara'a 'alay-hi]. When he (the Prophet) reached them (the Satanic verses) [fa-lamma balagha-ha] (OR: when he (Gabriel) heard [sami'a] (the Satanic verses)), Gabriel absolved himself of responsibility for them [tabarra'a min-ha] and said: "God protect me from these! My Lord did not send them down, nor your Lord command me with them! [ma'adh Allah min hatayni ma anzala-huma rabb-i wa la amara-ni bi-hima rabbu-ka]." When the Messenger of God saw this, he was greatly disturbed [shaqqa 'alay-hi] and said: "I HAVE OBEYED SATAN AND SPOKEN HIS WORDS AND HE HAS BECOME A PARTNER IN GOD'S MATTER WITH ME [ata'tu al-shaytana wa takallamtu bi-kalami-hi wa sharika-ni fi amr Allah]."

So God removed that which Satan cast [fa-nasakha Allahu 'azza wa jalla ma alqa al-shaytan] and sent down upon him: "We have not sent before you a Messenger or a Prophet but that when he removes that which Satan casts and establishes his Signs clearly – and God is All-Knowing, All-Wise – to make that which Satan cast a trial for those in whose hearts is a sickness, and for those whose hearts are hardened. Indeed, the Wrongdoers are in far dissension."

The aforementioned report has been variously transmitted by the following Muslim authorities:

Abu al-Qasim Sulayman b. Ahmad al-Tabarani narrated it with the following chain: Muhammad b. 'Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri (d. 292 AH) – 'Amr

b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri (d. 229) – ‘Abd Allah Ibn Lahi’ah al-Misri (97-174) – Muhammad b. ‘Abd al-Rahman Abu al-Aswad al-Madani al-Misri (d. 136/7) – ‘Urwah b. al-Zubayr al-Madani (23-94). (al-Mu’jam al-Kabir, edited by Hamdi ‘Abd al-Majid al-Salafi [Wizarat al-Awqaf wa al-Shu’un al-Diniyyah, Baghdad, 1971], 9:34-36)

Abu Bakr Muhammad b. ‘Ali al-Muttawi’i al-Ghazi al-Naysaburi al-Makki gives the following chain:

Abu al- ‘Abbas Ahmad b. al-Hasan b. Bundar al-Razi al-Makki (d. 409) – Abu al-Qasim Sulayman b. Ahmad al-Tabarani – Muhammad b. ‘Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri – ‘Amr b. Khalid al-Harrani al-Misri – ‘Urwah b. al-Zubayr. (Kitab man sabara zafira, pp. 77b-78b)

Even someone as renowned as Ibn Kathir had no choice but to acknowledge the fact that many Muslim commentators referred to this story of the Devil duping Muhammad into glorifying the false goddesses of Arabia, despite his personal rejection of this event:

At this point MANY of the scholars of Tafsir mentioned the story of the Gharaniq and how many of those who had migrated to Ethiopia came back when they thought that the idolators of the Quraysh had become Muslims, but these reports all come through Mursal chains of narration and I do not think that any of them may be regarded as Sahih. And Allah knows best… (Tafsir Ibn Kathir https://www.alim.org/quran/tafsir/ibn-kathir/surah/22/52/; bold and capital emphasis mine)

BASED ON SAHIH CHAINS

As was already noted earlier, many of the reports are based on sahih or sound chains of transmission, refuting the lie of Muhammadans such as Ali Ataie that the episode is based on weak or fabricated hadiths.

For example, Jalauddin as-Suyuti recorded varying narrations of the satanic verses, all of which were based on authentic chains:

“Ibn Jarir and Ibn al-Munder and Ibn Abi Hatim and Ibn Mardawayh have narrated through a Sahih chain by the way of Said Ibn Jubayr who said…”

“Ibn Jarir, Ibn Al Munzir and Ibn Abi Hatim narrated with a Sahih chain from Abi Al ‘Aliyah…”

“Abd bin Hamid and Ibn Jarir by the way of Yunis, from Ibn Shahab narrated… with a Mursal Sahih chain.”

Qadhi Thanaullah Pani Patti Uthmani, in his commentary of the above mentioned verse, though doubting the veracity of this episode, nevertheless, acknowledges that the event is based on multiply attested and strong narrations:

“… However the tradition we previously mentioned from Said bin Jubayr by Bazar, Ibn Mardawayh and Tabarani, is indeed successive (mutawatur) and strong (qawi). Ibn Hajar Asqalani has stated that from the abundance of traditions reported, it is deemed that there is some truth in it…”

Here’s what Ibn Hajar al-Asqalani actually wrote:

لكن كثرة الطرق تدل على أن للقصة أصلاً مع أن لها طريقين صحيحين

“However, various versions mean that the story has an origin although there are two authentic versions.” (Fatah al-Bari Sharh Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 8, p. 439)

Ibn Abi Bakar al-Haythami is another Sunni scholar who affirmed that the episode concerning the satanic verses is Sahih:

رواه البزار والطبراني وزاد إلى قوله : { عذاب يوم عقيم } يوم بدر ورجالهما رجال الصحيح

“Al-Bazar and Tabarani narrated it and they added ‘the penalty of a Mighty Day’ in the day of Badr. The narrators are the narrators of *Sahih.” (Majma al-Zawadi, Volume 7, p. 248, Number 11376)

IBN TAYMIYYAH’S ACCEPTANCE OF THE SATANIC VERSES!

Moreover, the darling of Salafi Muslims, i.e., Ibn Tamiyyah, also believed that the “Satanic Verses” took place, and erroneously thought that this actually establishes that Muhammad was a genuine prophet!

What occurred with suratul-Najm (Q. 53) and its recitation, ‘These are the lofty (idols), verily their intercession is sought after,’ is well known amongst the Salaf; that this was recited by the messenger of Allah and then Allah abrogated it.” (Minhaj Sunnah, Volume 2, p. 409 https://web.archive.org/web/20090329200908/http://arabic.islamicweb.com/Books/taimiya.asp?book=365&id=967)

The following modern Muslim writer candidly admits:

Given this background, and given the consistent assertion throughout the Qur'an is that God alone should be worshipped, many Muslim scholars have rejected the validity of the report about the so-called "Satanic Verses." This report claims that due to the distress the Prophet felt because of the severe persecution of his followers, he was susceptible to the suggestion of Satan to interject a verse into Sura al-Najm suggesting that the celestial goddesses al-Lat, al-'Uzza, and Manat are "high flying cranes whose intercession is approved." This validation of the beliefs of the Meccans was said to have pleased them so that they stopped their persecution of the Muslims. However, Gabriel appeared to the Prophet and made him aware of his mistake and revealed the verse,

We have not sent a prophet or a messenger before you except that when he longed for something Satan cast suggestion into his longing. But God will annul what Satan has suggested, then God will establish his verses; indeed God is All-knowing, Wise, (Hajj; 22:52)

For the majority of Muslim scholars, this report does not meet the standard established by hadith criticism because it lacks a valid isnad and its content contradicts the belief of the majority of Muslims that prophets are infallible. A minority of scholars, however, most notably the Syrian Hanbali scholar Ibn Taymiyya (d. 728/1328), accept the validity of these reports.

Ibn Taymiyya agreed with the majority that all prophets are infallible; however, he understood this infallibility not as preventing prophets from ever committing errors but as preventing them from persisting in them once committed. The commission of such errors is part of God's wisdom to allow them an opportunity to repent and perfect their character. (Ingrid Mattson, The Story of the Qur'an: Its History and Place in Muslim Life [Wiley-Blackwell, Second edition 2013], pp. 54-55; bold emphasis mine)

Even the renowned Islamic professor and Muslim convert Dr. Jonathan Brown admits that Ibn Taymiyya defended the historicity of Muhammad reciting the satanic verses:

According to this story, soon afterwards Gabriel informed Muhammad that the last verse had not been revealed by God. Rather, Satan had FOOLED the Prophet into thinking it was divine revelation. The verse was removed from the Quran and replaced by the verse that follows verse 53:20 in the Quran we know today: 'These [supposed goddesses] are nothing but empty names you have invented, you and your forefathers, for which God has bestowed no warrant from on high' (53:21-3). God then comforted Muhammad by revealing that 'We never sent a messenger or prophet before you without Satan intervening in his desires. But God abrogates what Satan interposes' (Quran 22:52).

The story of the Satanic Verses appears in the Sira of Ibn Ishaq as well as most early works of Quranic commentary (tafsir). Western historians have accepted it as true based on the HCM principle that reports that seem to contradict orthodoxy must be true (who would make them up?). As Watt notes, the Satanic Verses story is 'so strange that it must be true in its essentials'.

Indeed, the story seems to undermine the central pillars of Muhammad's claim to prophecy: his status as an infallible channel of revelation and the complete reliability of the Quran. From a Muslim point of view, if Satan could interfere in the revelation of the holy book, how do we know that other verses were not also tampered with?? From the point of view of a non-Muslim evaluating Muhammad's claims to prophethood, his 'error' in the revelation makes him seem like a mere mortal who first politicked to earn Meccan support and then tried to cover up a mistake.

We must be careful, however, in relying too heavily on the principles of the Historical Critical Method. Just because we think that a story makes an orthodox tradition look bad does not mean that the participants in that tradition viewed it in the same way. The great historian of the Prophet's campaigns, al-Waqidi (d. 822), reports that when Muhammad sent Khalid bin al-Walid to destroy the idol of 'Uzza, it came alive in the form of a naked black woman with long, wild hair. This also seems to contradict the orthodox vision of Islam. The Quran repeatedly states that idols cannot speak or defend themselves (see, for example, Quran 21:58-67).

We must consider the possibility that early Muslims saw the story of the Satanic Verses, as well as those of live idols, as totally consistent with their religion. Certainly, most Muslim scholars later rejected the story of the Satanic Verses as heresy. The Spanish Muslim scholar Qadi Iyad (d. 1149) argued that the story could not have been true because none of the critics of Muhammad from the Quraysh ever took advantage of the episode to undermine his claims of prophecy. But other Muslim scholars accepted the Satanic Verses as fact. Some, like Ibn Taymiyya (d. 1328), explained them by saying that the Prophet was still entirely trustworthy as a medium of revelation because God would have corrected him whenever the Devil confused him. In the late antique world in which God constantly intervened in the lives of His prophets, the Satanic Verses would not seem out of place. (Brown, Muhammad: A Very Short Introduction [Oxford University Press Inc., New York 2011], pp. 97-99; bold emphasis mine)

This now brings me to my next point.

MUHAMMAD COMMITS SHIRK!

Muhammad knowingly committed the unforgiveable sin of shirk, or of associating other gods/goddesses along with Allah when Satan caused him to both acknowledge the existence of the three pagan goddesses, and to glorify them as highly exalted intercessors.

Muhammad did this even though he had been sternly warned by his god that this would make all his previous efforts null and void, and would result in his being consigned among the losers whom Allah would severely torment:

Who has made the earth your couch, and the heavens your canopy; and sent down rain from the heavens; and brought forth therewith Fruits for your sustenance; then set not up rivals unto God when ye know (the truth). S. 2:22 Abdullah Yusuf Ali

God forgiveth not that partners should be set up with Him; but He forgiveth anything else, to whom He pleaseth; to set up partners with God is to devise a sin Most heinous indeed. S. 4:48 Y. Ali

That was the reasoning about Us, which We gave to Abraham (to use) against his people: We raise whom We will, degree after degree: for thy Lord is full of wisdom and knowledge. We gave him Isaac and Jacob: all (three) guided: and before him, We guided Noah, and among his progeny, David, Solomon, Job, Joseph, Moses, and Aaron: thus do We reward those who do good: And Zakariya and John, and Jesus and Elias: all in the ranks of the righteous: And Isma'il and Elisha, and Jonas, and Lot: and to all We gave favour above the nations: (To them) and to their fathers, and progeny and brethren: We chose them, and we guided them to a straight way. This is the guidance of God: He giveth that guidance to whom He pleaseth, of His worshippers. If they were to join other gods with Him, all that they did would be vain for them. S. 6:83-88 Y. Ali

O Prophet! Fear God, and hearken not to the Unbelievers and the Hypocrites: verily God is full of Knowledge and Wisdom. S. 33:1 Y. Ali

But it has already been revealed to thee, – as it was to those before thee, – "If thou wert to join (gods with God), truly fruitless will be thy work (in life), and thou wilt surely be in the ranks of those who lose (all spiritual good)". S. 39:65 Y. Ali

Muhammad himself realized that he had turned Satan into Allah's associate and partner when he invariably recited statements which the devil caused him to utter in praise of the so-called daughters of Allah (banat Allah):

Those two phrases became lodged in the heart of every Mushrik; their tongues were debased by them, they rejoiced at them [dhallat bi-ha alsinatu-hum wa istabsharu bi-ha] and said: "MUHAMMAD HAS RETURNED TO HIS ORIGINAL RELIGION AND THE RELIGION OF HIS TRIBE [qad raja'a Muhammad ila dini-hi al-awwal wa din qawmi-hi]"…

When the Messenger of God saw this, he was greatly disturbed [shaqqa 'alay-hi] and said: "I HAVE OBEYED SATAN AND SPOKEN HIS WORDS AND HE HAS BECOME A PARTNER IN GOD'S MATTER WITH ME [ata'tu al-shaytana wa takallamtu bi-kalami-hi wa SHARIKA-ni fi amr Allah]."

As such, Muhammad stands condemned as a false prophet by the words of his very own deity, proving that Muhammad is in hell where he belongs.

CONCLUSION

I have shown in these series of posts that, contrary to the lies and deceit of Muhammadan Ali Ataie, the satanic verses are based on authentic, reliable chains of transmitters as acknowledge by some of Islam's greatest scholars and historians. The earliest sources uniformly attest that Satan caused Muhammad to commit shirk, wherein he praised and magnified the three pagan goddesses loved and worship by his pagan tribe. In so doing, Muhammad exposed himself as a charlatan and a false prophet who could not distinguish between a message from Satan from that which he was supposedly receiving from the true God.

I conclude by citing the statements of the late Shahab Ahmed, who was perhaps the leading Muslim scholar in respect to the satanic verses, having done the most research into this subject.

Ahmad concluded his research as follows:

The Satanic verses incident constituted a standard element in the historical memory of the Muslim community in the first 150 years of Islam, and was recorded by almost all prominent scholars working in the fields of tafsir and sirah-Maghazi. (The Satanic Verses Incident in the Memory of the Early Muslim Community – An Analysis of the Early Riwayahs and their Isnads, A dissertation presented at Princeton University, 1999, p. i; bold emphasis mine)

[We have] repeatedly dated the reports of the Satanic Verses incident to the late 1st and early 2nd centuries; in other words, to what seems to have been the earliest period of systematic collection and organization of historical memory materials in the Muslim community. As regards the discourses of which these reports formed a part, we have found that all the reports were transmitted by late 1st/early 2nd century sirah-maghazi and tafsir scholars. (Ibid., p. 258; bold emphasis mine)

The Satanic verses were being transmitted in almost every important intellectual centre in the *Dar al-Islam: Madinah, Mecca, Basrah, Kufah, Baghdad, Missisah, Rayy, Balkh, Samarqand, San'a', Fustat and Qayrawan. (Ibid., p. 260; bold emphasis mine)

The Satanic verses incident is narrated in numerous reports (between 18 and 25, depending on how one reckons an independent riwayah) scattered in the sirah nabawiyyah and tafsir literature originating in the first two centuries of Islam. The indications are that the incident formed a fairly standard element in the historical memory of the early Muslim community regarding the life of its founder. (Ibn Taymiyyah and the Satanic Verses, Studia Islamica, no. 87, 1998, p. 70; bold emphasis mine)

Al-Tabari, one of Islam's greatest commentators and historians, relays two versions of the story:

Satan Casts a False Revelation on the Messenger of God's Tongue

The Messenger of God was eager for the welfare of his people and wished to effect a reconciliation with them in whatever ways he could. It is said that he wanted to find a way to do this, and what happened was as follows.

Ibn Humayd – Salamah – Muhammad b. Ishaq – Yazid b. Ziyad al-Madani – Muhammad b. Ka'b al-Qurazi: When the Messenger of God saw how his tribe turned their backs on him and was grieved to see them shunning the message he had brought to them from God, he longed in his soul that something would come to him from God which would reconcile him with his tribe. With his love for his tribe and his eagerness for their welfare it would have delighted him if some of the difficulties which they made for him could have been smoothed out, and he debated with himself and fervently desired such an outcome. Then God revealed:

By the Star when it sets, your comrade does not err, nor is he deceived; nor does he speak out of (his own) desire…

and when he came to the words:

Have you thought upon al-Lat and al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?

Satan cast on his tongue, because of his inner debates and what he desired to bring to his people, the words:

These are the high-flying cranes; verily their intercession is accepted with approval.

When Quraysh heard this, they rejoiced and were happy and delighted at the way in which he spoke of their gods, and they listened to him, while the Muslims, having complete trust in their Prophet in respect of the messages which he brought from God, did not suspect him of error, illusion, or mistake. When he came to the prostration, having completed the surah, he prostrated himself and the Muslims did likewise, following their Prophet, trusting in the message which he had brought and following his example. Those polytheists of the Quraysh and others who were in the mosque likewise prostrated themselves because of the reference to their gods which they had heard, so that there was no one in the mosque, believer or unbeliever, who did not prostrate himself. The one exception was al-Walid b. Al-Mughirah, who was a very old man and could not prostrate himself; but he took a handful of soil from the valley in his hand and bowed over that. Then they all dispersed from the mosque. The Quraysh left delighted by the mention of their gods which they had heard, saying, "Muhammad has mentioned our gods in the most favorable way possible, stating in his recitation that they are the high flying cranes and that their intercession is received with approval."

The news of the prostration reached those of the Messenger of God's companions who were in Abyssinia and people said, "The Quraysh have accepted Islam." Some rose up to return, while others remained behind.

Then Gabriel came to the Messenger of God and said, "Muhammad, what have you done? You have recited to the people that which I did not bring to you from God, and you have said that which was not said to you." Then the Messenger of God was much grieved and feared God greatly, but God sent down a revelation to him, for He was merciful to him, consoling him and making the matter light for him, informing him that there had never been a prophet or a messenger before him who desired as he desired and wished as he wished but that Satan had cast words into his recitation, as he had cast words on Muhammad's tongue. Then God cancelled what Satan had thus cast, and established his verses by telling him that he was like other prophets and messengers, and revealed:

Never did we send a messenger or a prophet before you but that when he recited (the Message) Satan cast words into his recitation (umniyyah). God abrogates what Satan casts. Then God established his verses. God is knower, wise.

Thus God removed the sorrow from his Messenger, reassured him about that which he had feared and cancelled the words which Satan had cast on his tongue, that their gods were the high flying cranes whose intercession was accepted with approval. He now revealed, following the mention of "al-Lat, al-'Uzza and Manat, the third, the other," the words:

Are yours the males and his the females? That indeed were an unfair division! They are but names which you have named, you and your fathers.

to the words:

to whom he wills and accepts.

This means, how can the intercession of their gods avail with God?

When Muhammad brought a revelation from God canceling what Satan had cast on the tongue of His Prophet, the Quraysh said, "Muhammad has repented of what he said concerning the position of your gods with God, and has altered it and brought something else." Those two phrases which Satan had cast on the tongue of the Messenger of God were in the mouth of every polytheists, and they became even more ill-disposed and more violent in their persecution of those of them who had accepted Islam and followed the messenger of God.

Those of the Companions of the Messenger of God who had left Abyssinia upon hearing that Quraysh had accepted Islam by prostrating themselves with the Messenger of God now approached. When they were near Mecca, they heard that the report that the people of Mecca had accepted Islam was false. Not one of them entered Mecca without obtaining protection or entering secretly. Among those who came to Mecca and remained there until they emigrated to al-Madinah and were present with the Prophet at Badr, were, from the Banu Abd Shams b. Abd Manaf b. Qusayy, Uthman b. ‘Affan b. Abi al-‘As b. Umayyah, accompanied by his wife Ruqayyah the daughter of the Messenger of God; Abu Hudhayfah b. ‘Utbah b. Rabi‘ah b. Abd Shams, accompanied by his wife Sahlah bt. Suhayl; together with a number of others numbering thirty three men.

Al-Qasim b. Al-Hasan – al Husayn b. Daud – Hajja – Abu Ma‘shar – Muhammad b. Ka‘b al-Qurazi and Muhammad b. Qays: The Messenger of God was sitting in a large gathering of Quraysh, wishing that day that no revelation would come to him from God which could cause them to turn away from him. Then God revealed:

By the Star when it sets, your comrade does not err, nor is he deceived…

and the Messenger of God recited it until he came to:

Have you thought upon al-Lat and al-Uzza and Manat, the third, the other?

when Satan cast on his tongue two phrases:

These are the high-flying cranes; verily their intercession is to be desired.

He uttered them and went on to complete the surah. When he prostrated himself at the end of the surah, the whole company prostrated themselves with him. Al-Walid b. al-Mughirah raised some dust to his forehead and bowed over that, since he was a very old man and could not prostrate himself. They were satisfied with what Muhammad had uttered and said, “We recognize that it is God who gives life and death, who creates and who provides sustenance, but if these gods of ours intercede for us with him, and if you give them a share, we are with you.”

That evening Gabriel came to him and reviewed the surah with him, and when he reached the two phrases which Satan had cast upon his tongue he said, “I did not bring you these two.” Then the Messenger of God said, “I have FABRICATED things against God and have imputed to him words which He has not spoken.” Then God revealed to him:

And they indeed strove hard to beguile you away from what we have revealed to you, that you should invent other than it against us…

to the words:

and then you would have found no helper against us.

He remained grief stricken and anxious until the revelation of the verse:

Never did we send a messenger or a prophet before you… to the words… God is knower, wise.

When those who had emigrated to Abyssinia heard that all the people of Mecca had accepted Islam, they returned to their clans, saying, “They are more dear to us”; but they found that the people had reversed their decision when God cancelled what Satan had cast upon the Messenger of God’s tongue. (The History of al-Tabari, translated and annotated by W. Montgomery Watt and M.V. McDonald [State University of New York Press (SUNY), Albany, NY 1988], Volume 6, pp. 107-112; bold and capital emphasis mine)

Here, again, are the verses that al-Tabari indicates were supposedly sent down as a consequence of Muhammad reciting the words of Satan:

Verily, they were about to tempt you away from that which We have revealed (the Qur’an) unto you (O Muhammad), to fabricate something other than it against Us, and then they would certainly have taken you a friend! And had We not made you stand firm, you would nearly have inclined to them a little. In that case, We would have made you taste a double portion (of punishment) in this life and a double portion (of punishment) after death. And then you would have found none to help you against Us. S. 17:73-75 Hilali-Khan

Never did We send a Messenger or a Prophet before you, but; when he did recite the revelation or narrated or spoke, Shaitan (Satan) threw (some falsehood) in it. But Allah abolishes that which Shaitan (Satan) throws in. Then Allah establishes His Revelations. And Allah is All-Knower, All-Wise: That He (Allah) may make what is thrown in by Shaitan (Satan) a trial for those in whose hearts is a disease (of hypocrisy and disbelief) and whose hearts are hardened. And certainly, the Zalimun (polytheists and wrong-doers, etc.) are in an opposition far-off (from the truth against Allah’s Messenger and the believers). S. 22:52-53 Hilali-Khan

With that in mind, the most authentic and authoritative collection of sunni traditions provides tacit support for the historicity of this event. Imam al-Bukhari records two narratives which attest that all the pagans prostrated along with Muhammad when the latter finished reciting surat-Najm, chapter

53, the very surah that contained Muhammad's praise of the three goddesses:

Narrated Ibn Abbas: The Prophet I prostrated while reciting An-Najm and with him prostrated the Muslims, the pagans, the jinns, and all human beings. (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 2, Book 19, Number 177 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=19&translator=1&start=0&number=177)

Narrated Ibn Abbas: The Prophet performed a prostration when he finished reciting Surat-an-Najm, and all the Muslims and pagans and Jinns and human beings prostrated along with him. (Sahih al-Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 385 https://www.searchtruth.com/book_display.php?book=60&translator=1&start=0&number=385)

It makes absolutely no sense to argue, as some Muslims do, that the reason why all the pagans fell down in worship at Muhammad's recital of surah 53 is because of its beauty and majesty, since they had never done so before or afterwards for any other surah.

The irrationality of such a claim is further seen from the fact that this surah in its current form contains a severe rebuke and condemnation of the pagans for their belief in and worship of female deities. Why, then, would they all bow down after hearing Muhammad renounce them and the three daughters of Allah?

The more sensible explanation is that Muhammad's recital of surat-Najm initially included the praise of the three goddesses which Satan inspired him to recite:

"Surat-an-Najm" is the same Surah 53 which Muhammad was reciting according to the narratives we have quoted. What else could have prompted all present, both Muslims and pagans, to prostrate behind Muhammad but the concession made to the Meccan goddesses? One can understand the Muslims following any lead Muhammad gave (see the quote from Ibn Ishaq) but it is hard, if not impossible, to believe that the pagan Meccans would have joined Muhammad in worship at the end of the Surah if he had quoted it as it now stands with such a vehement denunciation of these same goddesses by name. The story does appear to have a compelling historical foundation. (John Gilchrist, Muhammad and the Religion of Islam, Muhammad and the Religion of Islam, 3. The Nature of Muhammad's Prophetic Experience, Satan's Interjection and its Implications)

Moreover, and contrary to the claims of some Muhammadans, there is even solid historical evidence that Ibn Ishaq, the man who wrote the earliest extant biography on Muhammad's life in the eighth century, e.g., Sirat Rasulullah ("The Life of the Messenger of Allah"), included this incident in his work. And yet, this story of Muhammad's compromise was subsequently removed by Ibn Hisham, the Muslim who edited and reworked Ibn Ishaq's sirah in the ninth century AD.

In fact, Ibn Hisham admitted to omitting material from Ibn Ishaq's sirah that he felt was either weak or too embarrassing to the character of Muhammad:

"… There is, in the Qarawiyun mosque library at Fez in Morocco, a manuscript entitled Kitab al-Maghazi (Book of the Campaigns) which, among other sources, contains a record of lectures given at one time by Ibn Ishaq on the life of Muhammad which includes the story of the concession made by Muhammad to the pagan Meccans. The narrative is very similar to that in Tabari's work except that the actual 'satanic verses' are only referred to and not actually quoted in the text."
(Gilchrist, Muhammad and the Religion of Islam, pp. 117ff.)

And in support of the statements of Gilchrist, not what the renowned Islamist and the very scholar who translated Ibn Ishaq's sirah into English, Alfred Guillaume, noted in regards to this manuscript find in the library at Fez:

The Verse Inserted into the Koran at the Instigation of Satan

Ms. fo. 56b; T. pp. 1192f.; S. p. 229; I.H. p. 241; L. p. 161

There can be little doubt that Ibn Hisham cut out some of the text which came to him because he gives no reason for the sudden conversion of the people of Mecca and leaves it unexplained. The full story hitherto has been known only from Tabari's who quoted Ibn Ishaq on the authority of Salama. In that version it is made clear that it was the prophet's desire to end the estrangement between him and his people and to make it easier for them to accept Islam that prompted him to yield to the suggestion of Satan and add the words "These are the exalted cranes (gharaniq) whose intercession is to be hoped for" (or, in another version, "approved").

The manuscript agrees with Salama's report from Ibn Ishaq that the emigrants returned from Abyssinia because they heard of the conversion of Quraysh in consequence of the concession to polytheism, but strangely enough it does not quote the offending words. Presumable they were deliberately omitted and readers must have known what they were because otherwise the narrative would be unintelligible. Two verses are referred to, but the second is not quoted. In view of its interest I give a translation of the manuscript: "(The emigrants) remained where they were until they heard that the people of Mecca had accepted Islam and prostrated themselves. That was because the chapter of The Star (53) had been sent down to Muhammad and the apostle recited it. Both Muslim and polytheist listened to it silently until he reached his words 'Have you seen (or, "considered") al-Lat and al-Uzza?' They gave ear to him attentively while the faithful believed (their prophet). Some apostatized when they heard the 'saj' of the Satan and said 'By Allah we will serve them (the Gharaniq) so that they may bring us near to Allah'. The Satan taught these two verses to every polytheist and their tongues took to them easily. This weighed heavily upon the apostle until Gabriel came to him and complained to him of these two verses and the effect that they had upon the people. Gabriel declined responsibility for them and said 'YOU RECITED to the people something which I did not bring you from God and YOU SAID what you were not told to say'. The apostle was deeply grieved and afraid. Then God send down by way of comfort to him: 'Never did we send an apostle or a prophet before you but when he wished Satan cast a suggestion into his wish' as far as the words 'Knowing, Wise'' (Sura 22:51).

Ibn Kathir gives a fantastic reason for the conversion of the Meccans and says that Ibn Ishaq's tradition is not sound. He says that he himself has not quoted the story of the gharaniq because there might be some who heard it for the first time and would not be able to take a right view of it.

Suhayli with his customary honesty makes no bones about it. He says that the cause of the return of the emigrants was as we have heard, and he also tells that besides Ibn Ishaq, Musa ibn 'Uqba handed on the tradition. He says that traditionists reject this hadith, and those who accept it have ways of explaining it. One of these, he says, namely that Satan spoke of the words which were broadcast through the town but the apostle did not utter them, would be excellent were it not for the fact that the tradition asserts that Gabriel said to Muhammad "I did not bring you this”. (Alfred Guillaume, New Light on the Life of Muhammad [Manchester University Press], pp. 38-39 https://books.google.com/books?id=tNHnAAAAIAAJ&printsec=frontcover#v=onepage&q=instigation%20of%20satan&f=false; bold and capital emphasis mine)

With the foregoing in perspective, it is abundantly clear that the evidence for the devil moving Muhammad to praise the daughters of Allah, thereby causing him to commit the unforgiveable sin of associating others with the Islamic evidence, is massive and overwhelming. Therefore, Muslims cannot be conveniently brush aside or ignored this story as a fabrication, especially when it originated from within the Islamic community, being taught and passed on by some of Islam’s greatest and earliest scholars.

Additional Sources of the Satanic Verses Event of Muhammad

- 50 Sources: There are 50 different sources reporting various versions of the Satanic Verses story.
- Notable Early Scholars:
    1. Six reports trace back to Kaʿb al-Qurazi, a prominent early scholar of the Qur’an.
    2. Five reports trace back to ʿUrwah ibn al-Zubayr, an early Meccan scholar recognized as the founder of the study of the life of Muhammad. He was also:
        - A nephew of Aisha
        - A grandson of Abu Bakr
        - The son of Asma, one of the first 20 converts to Islam.
    3. Two reports go back to Abu Bakr ibn ʿAbd al-Rahman ibn al-Harith, a leading scholar in Islamic law during the first century.
    4. Five reports trace back to Abu al-ʿAliyah al-Basri, another notable Qur’anic scholar. He studied the Qur’an with several significant figures:
        - Caliph Umar
        - Ubayy ibn Ka'b
        - Zayd ibn Thabit
        - Ibn ʿAbbas
    5. Two reports go back to al-Suddi, an early scholar who studied with Ibn ʿAbbas.
    6. One report originates from the tafsir of Muhammad ibn al-Saʾib al-Kalbi, who compiled the longest tafsir written up until his time.

7. Four reports are attributed to Qatadah ibn Diʿamah, one of the early renowned commentators of Islam.
8. One report goes back to al-Dahhak, a first-century expert in tafsir.
9. One report is linked to ʿIkrimah, a former slave of Ibn ʿAbbas and an expart on the life of Muhammad.
10. Six reports directly trace back to Ibn ʿAbbas, regarded as the founder of Qur'anic studies.
11. Several reports are linked to Saʿid ibn Jubayr, a leading scholar of his time and a top student of Ibn ʿAbbas.

- Prevalence in Early Islamic Tradition:

1. The story is widespread across first-century Islamic sources. However, later Muslim scholars, feeling embarrassed by it, began to deny its occurrence.
2. The denial stems from an inability to reconcile the idea that the Prophet Muhammad might have delivered a revelation influenced by Satan, only to retract it later, arguing that all prophets might experience such an incident.

Surah An-Nisa (4:48) states:

"Indeed, Allah does not forgive association with Him, but He forgives what is less than that for whom He wills. And whoever associates others with Allah has certainly fabricated a tremendous sin."

MUHAMMAD'S "SATANIC VERSES" REVISTED

The late renowned Islamic scholar Alfred Guillaume wrote a booklet on a manuscript find, which was kept in the Qarawiyun library at Fez and numbered 727. This manuscript (ms.) contains a report of a person who had heard the lecture of Ibn Ishaq on the life of Muhammad.
Ibn Ishaq is the Muslim who had written a biography on Muhammad in the eighth century AD titled Sirat Rasulullah, which Guillaume has translated into English. This biography was subsequently edited and purged by Ibn Hisham in the ninth century (c. 830 AD).

The importance of this ms. can be seen from the fact that it confirms that Ibn Ishaq did in fact narrate the event of Satan inspiring Muhammad to recite lines praising the three pagan goddesses of the Quraysh al-Lat, al-Uzza and Manat. Unfortunately, Ibn Hisham expunged this report from his editorial reworking of Ibn Ishaq's sirah.

This lapse into blatant idolatry on Muhammad's part, where he was duped by Satan to commit the unforgiveable sin of shirk (cf. Q. 2:22; 4:48, 116), was later corrected and the lines abrogated by "Gabriel" who had informed him that Allah had not "revealed" these words to his "messenger."

I quote from Guillaume's booklet which mentions these details:

The Verses Inserted in the Koran at the Instigation of Satan

Ms. fo. 56b; T. pp. 1192f.; S. p. 229; I.H. p. 241; L. p. 165

There can be little doubt that Ibn Hisham cut out some of the text which came to him because he gives no reasons for the sudden conversion of the people of Mecca and leaves it unexplained. The full story hitherto has been known only from Tabari who quoted Ibn Ishaq on the authority of Salama. The MS. agrees with Salam's report from Ibn Ishaq that the emigrants returned from Abyssinia because they heard of the conversion of Quraysh in consequence of the concession to polytheism, but strangely enough it does not quote the offending words. Presumably they were deliberately omitted and readers must have known what they were because otherwise the narrative is unintelligible. Two verses are referred to, but the second is not quoted. In view of its interest I give a translation of the MS.: "(The emigrants) remained where they were until they heard that the people of Mecca had accepted Islam and prostrated themselves. The daughters of Allah in history

We read that the moon Allah was a male deity. Did this Allah have a wife or a female partner?

This question will infuriate many diehard believers of Islam. But historical evidences, especially epigraphical proof is too compelling to reject. From the cuneiform writings of the Sumerian (of Babylon), it stands out that Allah did have a consort (a wife, perhaps) and her name was Lilith. The conjecture is that Allat was the product of union of Allah and Lilith. Allat resembled Lilith, her mother, who is depicted in the Sumerian epigraphs with two huge breasts and a gigantic vulva. Phillip Hitti, in his authoritative book, History of the Arabs shows the image of Allat in a bronze coin of the Nabateans (Hitti, 2002, p. 86). This image of Allat has the striking resemblance of the goddess Saraswati, the Hindu goddess of learning. It is also possible that the other two daughters of Allah; namely; Uzza and Manat were from Lilith, or possibly from other concubines of Allah. These goddesses are referred to in the Qur'an as the daughters (Satanic verses, 53:19-20) of Allah. When Muhammad was utterly disappointed with the meager success of his mission, he sought reconciliation with the Pagan Quraysh. He extolled these three daughters of Allah and wanted their exalted blessing. However, Muhammad was quick to recognize his folly and claimed that all Prophets, at times, were inspired by the Satan. Then he cancelled those verses from the Qur'an.

Hisham al-Kalbi, the author, of Kitab al-Asnam (The Book of Idols), writes about these three daughters of Allah:

Allat: She stood in al-Taif. She was more recent than Manah. She was a cubic rock. 'Attab ibn Malik of the Thaqif was her keeper. They built an edifice over her. The Quraysh and all Arabs used to worship her and name their children after her. She stood on the left side of the present mosque at Taif. Verse 53:19 mentions her. Mughirah ibn Shu'bab destroyed her and burnt her temple to the ground.

Ibn-Hajar, swearing by Allah said, "By Allat and 'Uzza and those who in them believe, and by Allah verily He is greater than both" (ibn al-Kalbi, 1952, p. 15).

Uzza: Uzza is more recent than Allat or Manah. The Arabs named their children after her.
Zilim ibn As'ad introduced al-Uzza. She was situated in a valley in Nakhlat called Hurad-to the right of the road from Mecca to al-Iraq, above Dhat-Irq. Zilim built a house over her calling it Buss. People received divine messages there. Children were named-Abd-al-Uzza. She was the greatest among the Quraysh. They used to seek her favors through sacrifice. Muhammad had offered a sacrifice, a white sheep to al-Uzza. The Quraysh circumambulated Ka'ba saying:

By Allat and al-Uzza,
And Manah, the third idol besides Verily they are the most exalted females
Whose intercession is sought.

These verses were abrogated and replaced by verses 53:19-20 and 17:75-76.
Allat, al-Uzza and Manah were called the daughters of Allah.

Al-Uzza had a place of sacrifice called al-Ghabghab. Arabs used to sacrifice cattle there. After sacrifice they used to divide the meat among those present at the ceremony. The Quraysh venerated her above all other idols (ibn al-Kalbi, 1952, p. 17).

Having watched a Television documentary on the ruins of Arabia Petra, situated at north-western Saudi Arabia, it is my conjecture that the Meccan goddess Uzza probably resembled Kali, the Hindu goddess of destruction.

Manah (alternative spelling of Manat): It was the most ancient idol. The Arabs named their children after it. She was at Qudayd, between Medina and Mecca. They used to sacrifice before her-particularly Aws and Khazraj as well as the inhabitants of Medina and Mecca. At the end of pilgrimage, when about to return home, people would set out to the place of Manah, shave their heads and stay there for a while. The pilgrimage was not complete until they visited Manah.
Manah is mentioned in 53:20. She was the goddess of the Hudhayl and the Khuza'ah. Ali demolished her, took all her treasures and took them to Muhammad-two swords-presented to Manah by al-Harith ibn Abi-Shamir al-Ghaassan, the king of Ghassan. These swords were called Mikhdam and Rasub. Muhammad gave these two swords to Ali. Dhu-al-Faqr was one of these swords. It was the sword of Ali. However, another version of this destruction story says that Ali found these two swords in the temple of al-Fals, the idol of Tayyi (ibn al-Kalbi, 1952, pp. 13-14).
Here are a few more comments on the three daughters of Allah: Allat, Uzza and Manat.
Allat was the goddess of war, Uzza, the goddess of sacrifice and Manat, the goddess of destiny or fate (Walker, 2004, p. 45).
Allat was connected with the moon, Uzza with the planet Venus and Manat with the star Sirius (Ibid, p. 46).
The above information will clarify why Islam's symbol is the crescent and a star. Clearly, Paganism in Islam is still inherent, if we have to interpret these symbols: Crescent-for Allah and the star (Venus)-for His daughter Uzza.The third daughter of Allah, Manat is represented by the star Sirius. Even the Qur'an says that Allah is the Lord of the Alpha Sirius. Here is the Qur'anic verse on the star Alpha Sirius (Manat). Needless to say, the Islamist scholars have a different version of interpretation of these symbolism of Islam (Islam is supposed to be devoid of any symbolism, whatsoever)-the star for five prayers, crescent, beginning of the new moon-signifying the growth of Islam. I am yet to read any verses in the Qur'an and any hadith which support this interpretation of the crescent and the star.
Let us read what the Qur'an says.

God is the Lord of the galaxies (Alpha Sirius, the brightest star visible from earth)-53:49
YUSUFALI: That He is the Lord of Sirius (the Mighty Star);
PICKTHAL: And that He it is Who is the Lord of Sirius;
SHAKIR: And that He is the Lord of the Sirius; [Q 053.049]

In a foot note on this verse, Abdullah Yusuf Ali writes:

The tenth aphorism refers to a mighty phenomenon of nature, the magnificent star Sirius, which is such a prominent object in the skies, in the early part of the solar year, say from January to April. It is the brightest star in the firmament and its bluish light causes wonder and terror in Pagan minds. The Pagan Arabs worshipped it as a divinity. But God is the Lord, Creator and Cherisher, of the most magnificent part of creation, and worship is due Him alone (Ali, 1983, p. 1450, foot note 5119).

The learned Abdullah Yususf Ali probably wanted to avoid the embarrassing truth. Nowhere in the Arab history tell us that the Meccans were scared of the appearance of the star Sirius. They always thought of Sirius as a goddess, just as they thought of the moon as the god Allah. It was Muhammad who wanted to twist their long-held belief.

In this verse, Allah clearly says that He is the Lord of Sirius, which, according to the Sumerian epigraph, is none but Manat, one of the daughters of Allah.
The goddesses of the 'satanic' verses were located at Taif, Nakhla and at al-Mushallal, very close to Mecca (Tabari, 1988, p. 6.42).

Allat, identified by Herodotus with Aphrodite Urania, was the chief female deity. That is, Allat was the Arabic version of the Greek goddess Aphrodite Urania (Hitti, 2002, p. 72).
Al-Uzza was a Greek Aphrodite (Ibid, .p. 79).

Al-Uzza was the counterpart of the Greek goddess Aphrodite. A son of al-Harith was offered as a sacrifice to al-Uzza. Ten years later, al-Harith took his revenge and slew his Lakhmid enemy in a battle in the district of Qinnasrin. This battle is known as the "Day of Halimah" of Arabic tradition. Halimah was the daughter of al-Harith, who, before the battle, perfumed with her own hands the hundred Ghassanid champions ready for death and clad them in shrouds of white linen in addition to coats of mail (suicide squad?) (Ibid). Note: the italicized words are mine.

Al-Lat was in Taif. Muhammad offered a sacrifice to al-Uzza. Al-Uzza, the mightiest was Venus, the morning star. Her sanctuary consisted of three trees. Human sacrifice characterized her cult. Al-Rahman (the compassionate), RHM occurs as the name of a deity in pre-Islamic Sabaean inscription. Shirk-south Arabia inscription, worship of one Supreme Being with who other minor deities were associated (Ibid, p. 99).

Manah was the goddess of fate. She was in a sanctuary of black stone in Qusayd on the road between Mecca and Yathrib. Still today the Arabs believe in the power of her. Hubal was the chief deity of Ka'ba in human form. Hubal was imported from Mesopotamia (Ibid, p. 100).

So now you know very well that for whom Quran was revealed

The term gharāniq, often translated as "cranes," was understood to refer to high-soaring, angelic beings.[3] By appearing to acknowledge the status of these goddesses as intercessors, the Prophet had, for a moment, offered the theological compromise the Quraysh had long sought.

■1.1 The Prostration of the Quraysh and the Return of the Emigrants

The effect of these words was instantaneous and profound. The leaders of the Quraysh, who had been relentlessly hostile, were reportedly "delighted and greatly pleased" at this apparent validation of their ancestral deities.[2] The narrative reports that when the Prophet concluded the surah with its final verse commanding prostration, a remarkable event occurred: the entire assembly, both believers and polytheists, fell to the ground in a unified act of worship.[3]

This dramatic, albeit temporary, reconciliation had far-reaching consequences. News of the event—that the Quraysh had ceased their persecution and accepted Muhammad's message—traveled across the Red Sea to Abyssinia, where a group of Muslims had previously fled to escape the violence in Mecca.[2] Believing it was safe to return, a number of these emigrants began their journey back to their homeland. This detail is a crucial narrative anchor, as it links the Gharaniq incident directly to the well-documented history of the first hijra (emigration) and subsequent return.

■1.2 The Retraction and Abrogation

According to the traditional accounts, the reconciliation was short-lived. Later that same day, the angel Gabriel appeared before the Prophet, not to deliver a new revelation, but to confront him. "O Muhammad, what have you done!" Gabriel is reported to have said. "You have recited to the people something which I have not brought you from God, and you have spoken what He did not say to you".[3] The Prophet was overcome with sorrow and fear of God's wrath.[3]

In response to his distress, a new set of divine revelations was sent down. These served a dual purpose: to abrogate the satanic interpolation and to console the Prophet. The specific Quranic verses identified by early commentators as fulfilling this role are, first, the continuation of Surah An-Najm itself (verses 53:21-26), which now contained a scathing refutation of the goddesses, questioning how God could have daughters while mortals had sons.[2] Second, and of central importance to the incident's theological explanation, was the revelation of Surah Al-Hajj, verse 52: "Never did We send a Messenger or a Prophet before you, but that whenever he had a desire, Satan interfered with that desire. But Allah eradicates the interference of Satan and strengthens His Signs".[2] This verse contextualized the Prophet's error, framing it not as a unique failure but as part of a divine trial faced by all previous messengers.

When this divine correction became known, the Quraysh, realizing the concession had been withdrawn, reportedly said, "Muhammad has gone back on what he said".[2] Their persecution of the Muslims resumed with even greater ferocity. The returning emigrants, arriving at the outskirts of Mecca, learned that the news of peace was false and were forced to either turn back or enter the city under the protection of a powerful clan, their hopes of a safe return shattered.[2]

Section 2: The Chronological Conundrum: Dating Surah An-Najm and Surah Al-Hajj

The central premise of the query—that the abrogation of the Gharaniq verses occurred not immediately but after a significant delay—hinges on the chronological dating of the Quranic chapters (surahs) associated with the event. An analysis of both traditional Islamic chronologies and modern academic scholarship reveals a stark temporal gap between the revelation of Surah An-Najm, during which the incident is said to have occurred, and Surah Al-Hajj, which contains the primary verse of abrogation. This discrepancy is not a fringe theory but a direct and unavoidable consequence of the established timeline of Quranic revelation.

■2.1 Dating Surah An-Najm (The Star) and the Incident

There is a broad and consistent consensus within early Islamic sources that the Gharaniq incident took place in the middle of the Meccan period. The Tabaqat of Ibn Sa'd, a foundational work of biographical history, provides a specific date, placing the event in the month of Ramadan in the fifth year of the Prophet's call to prophethood (approximately 615 CE).[5] This dating is narratively coherent, as it situates the event shortly after the first migration of Muslims to Abyssinia, which is said to have taken place in Rajab of the same year, thus providing the necessary context for the emigrants' subsequent decision to return.[5]

This historical dating is corroborated by Quranic chronologies. In the traditional Egyptian ordering, which is widely used as a standard, Surah An-Najm (Chapter 53) is listed as the 23rd surah to be revealed, placing it firmly within the Meccan period.[7] While some modern scholars propose slightly different sequences, virtually all agree that Surah An-Najm is a Meccan revelation from this middle period.

■2.2 Dating Surah Al-Hajj (The Pilgrimage) and the Abrogation

The chronological placement of Surah Al-Hajj (Chapter 22) is more complex but ultimately decisive for this analysis. It is widely recognized by both classical commentators and modern scholars as a composite surah, meaning its verses were revealed at different times and it contains sections from both the Meccan and Medinan periods.[9]

However, there is a near-universal consensus regarding the specific verse at the heart of the abrogation narrative: verse 22:52. This passage, which explains that Satan has always attempted to interfere in the revelations of prophets, is identified as a Medinan revelation.[2] Classical exegetes and modern scholars consistently date its revelation to the very early period after the Hijra (the migration to Medina), most likely in the first year (approximately 622-623 CE).[9] The historical context often cited for this period is the nascent Muslim state's consolidation of its identity and its first encounters with armed conflict, as the verses immediately preceding this section of Surah Al-Hajj grant the Muslims permission to wage war for the first time.[9] The verse's theme of divine reassurance in the face of satanic opposition fits this new, more confrontational Medinan context.

■2.3 Calculating the Chronological Gap

The established dating of these two key surahs creates an unavoidable chronological gap. By juxtaposing the dates from the traditional sources, the duration of this interval becomes clear.

- The Gharaniq incident, tied to the revelation of Surah An-Najm, is dated to the 5th year of the Prophetic Call (c. 615 CE).
- The primary abrogating verse, Surah Al-Hajj 22:52, is dated to the 1st year of the Hijrah (c. 622-623 CE). The Prophetic Call began in 610 CE, so the 1st year of Hijrah corresponds to the 13th year of the mission.

A simple calculation reveals a significant delay: the difference between the 13th year of the mission (623 CE) and the 5th year (615 CE) is eight years. This is not a hidden or obscure point; some classical commentators were themselves aware of this temporal problem. One source explicitly notes the strangeness of the traditional account, pointing out that the verse of abrogation (in Surah Al-Hajj) was revealed "about 8 or 9 years after the alleged incident," while the verses of "reproof" (Surah 17:73-75, also dated to late Mecca) came five or six years after the event.[11]

The following table visualizes this timeline, mapping the key revelations against the major events of the Prophet's career to provide a clear, evidence-based overview of the chronological disparity.

Event	Traditional Islamic Date	Estimated Gregorian Date (CE)	Relevant Quranic Verse(s)	Primary Source Citation(s)
Start of	N/A	c. 610	Surah Al-Alaq	[12]

Prophetic Mission			(96:1-5)
First Migration to Abyssinia	Rajab, 5th Year of Call	c. 615	N/A	[5]
Gharaniq Incident	Ramadan, 5th Year of Call	c. 615	Surah An-Najm (53)	[5]
Revelation of "Reproof" Verses	c. 11th-12th Year of Call	c. 620-621	Surah Bani Isra'il (17:73-75)	[9]
The Hijrah (Migration to Medina)	1st Year of Hijrah	622	N/A	[13]
Revelation of Abrogation Verse	1st Year of Hijrah	c. 622-623	Surah Al-Hajj (22:52)	[9]

This chronological analysis demonstrates that the eight-year gap is not a speculative theory but a direct result of accepting the traditional dating of the Quranic chapters involved. The existence of this gap is a textual and historical fact.

Theologically, the idea that God would allow His Prophet to recite satanic verses and permit this error to stand uncorrected for eight years is deemed incompatible with the divine protection afforded to prophets and the integrity of the revelatory process. Logically, the narrative becomes absurd: a divine reproof arriving five or six years after the fact, followed by a formal abrogation nearly a decade later, strains credulity.[9]

The Gharaniq verses were indeed uttered and, crucially, remained un-abrogated and thus doctrinally operative for the entire eight-year period until the revelation of Surah Al-Hajj 22:52 in Medina.[15]

The theological consequences of this hypothesis are immense. It would mean that for a substantial portion of the Prophet's Meccan ministry—a period of nearly eight years—the nascent Muslim community may have practiced a form of religion that was not strictly monotheistic. It suggests a period of sanctioned henotheism, where Allah was worshipped as the supreme deity but the intercession of lesser divine beings (the goddesses) was also permitted.[15] This interpretation recasts the early history of Islam not as an uncompromising struggle for pure monotheism, but as a period of pragmatic theological flexibility and compromise that was only later, after the community's political and military consolidation in Medina, retroactively purified by a "delayed abrogation."

■3. The Academic-Critical Theory: "Historical Telescoping"

A third approach, developed within Western academic scholarship, offers a more nuanced interpretation of the narrative and its chronology. This theory, articulated by scholars such as Alford T. Welch, suggests that the traditional story of the Gharaniq is a form of "historical telescoping".[3] This historical-critical method treats the narrative not as a literal, day-by-day account but as a literary text that has condensed and simplified a much longer and more complex historical process.

According to this view, the eight-year gap between the two surahs may actually reflect the approximate duration of a real historical period of negotiation, accommodation, and potential compromise between the Prophet Muhammad and the polytheist Quraysh.[3] The neat, dramatic story of a single utterance, a same-day correction by Gabriel, and a clear abrogation is seen as a later historiographical simplification/fabrication. This simplification served to contain a theologically messy and prolonged period of ambiguity within a manageable and ultimately orthodox-affirming framework. By reducing a potential years-long policy of accommodation to a momentary, satanically-induced slip that was swiftly corrected by God, the later tradition could acknowledge the memory of a compromise while simultaneously neutralizing its theological threat.[3] In this interpretation, the chronological gap is not a literal eight-year acceptance of polytheism, but is rather a faint echo of a complex historical reality that was later reframed and "telescoped" into a single, dramatic episode.

■4. Arguments for Historicity: The Early Consensus and the "Criterion of Embarrassment"

The most compelling evidence for the historical reality of the incident is its near-universal acceptance within the early Muslim community. The groundbreaking research of the late Harvard scholar Shahab Ahmed, in his posthumous work Before Orthodoxy: The Satanic Verses in Early Islam, demonstrates this conclusively. Ahmed meticulously documents over fifty historical reports of the incident from the first two centuries of Islam and shows that, far from being a fringe belief, the story was an "absolutely standard element" in the Prophet's biography.[15] For the "overwhelming majority of the Muslim community" in this formative period, it was an established fact that the Prophet had, on one occasion, mistaken satanic suggestion for divine revelation.[16]

This early consensus is powerfully supported by a historiographical principle known as the "criterion of embarrassment." A wide range of Western scholars, including William Montgomery Watt, Alfred Guillaume, and Maxime Rodinson, have argued that it is highly improbable, if not inconceivable, that early Muslim biographers would invent a story so profoundly unflattering to their Prophet.[3] The narrative, which depicts Muhammad as fallible and capable of being deceived by Satan, runs contrary to the hagiographical tendencies of religious traditions. The very fact that the story is so theologically problematic is, paradoxically, seen as the strongest indicator of its authenticity; it must be true, the argument goes, because no one would have made it up.

However, over subsequent centuries, the theological doctrine of 'iṣmat al-anbiyā'—the divine protection of prophets from sin and error, or prophetic infallibility—became a central tenet of Islamic orthodoxy.[3] As this doctrine crystallized, the Gharaniq story became theologically intolerable.

■5.1 The Challenge to Prophetic Infallibility ('Isma)

The doctrine of 'ismat al-anbiyā', or the divine protection of prophets from error, is a cornerstone of orthodox Islamic theology. While the traditional, single-day version of the Gharaniq incident already strains this doctrine by admitting a momentary lapse, a delay of eight years magnifies the challenge to an almost insurmountable degree. It transforms a fleeting mistake, quickly rectified, into a sustained and foundational error in the Prophet's proclamation of tawhid (the absolute oneness of God), the central message of his entire mission.[24]

An eight-year period during which verses acknowledging the intercession of pagan goddesses were part of the recited scripture would imply that the Prophet was not merely fallible in a minor matter, but was fundamentally mistaken about the nature of God for a significant portion of his ministry. It would suggest that the early Muslim community in Mecca, for years, followed a compromised monotheism, a notion entirely at odds with the traditional narrative of an uncompromising and heroic struggle against polytheism. The concept of a Prophet divinely guided and protected in his transmission of revelation becomes difficult to sustain in the face of such a prolonged and fundamental error.

■5.2 The Nature of Revelation and the Quran

A delayed abrogation would necessitate a radical rethinking of the nature of divine revelation and the composition of the Quran. The orthodox understanding posits a direct and uncorrupted transmission of God's word from the divine realm to the Prophet via the angel Gabriel. The Gharaniq story, even in its brief form, introduces a third party into this process: Satan. An eight-year delay would suggest that this satanic interference was not a minor anomaly but a significant and lasting corruption of the sacred text.

This raises the deeply unsettling question articulated by critics of the story for centuries: if the Prophet was unable to distinguish the voice of God from the voice of Satan on this occasion, and if this error persisted for eight years, what guarantee is there for the authenticity of the rest of the Quran?.[2] This possibility undermines the certainty of the entire scriptural corpus. It suggests a model of revelation that is not a pristine dictation but a dynamic, messy process of trial and error, subject to socio-political pressures, satanic meddling, and subsequent, delayed divine corrections.[2] The Quran would be seen less as a static, eternal text and more as a document that evolved over time in response to human and supernatural conflict.

■5.3 Re-evaluating the Early Muslim Community

Finally, the hypothesis of a delayed abrogation forces a dramatic re-evaluation of the character and beliefs of the first Muslims. As Shahab Ahmed's work suggests, the very acceptance of the Gharaniq story by the early community indicates that their worldview was one in which such a divine test of their Prophet was "entirely thinkable".[15] They seemingly operated with a concept of prophethood that embraced human fallibility and struggle.

An eight-year period of living with the Gharaniq verses would paint a picture of this nascent community as being far more pragmatic and theologically flexible than later tradition portrays. It would suggest a group willing to engage in significant theological compromise to ensure its survival and foster reconciliation with the dominant power structure of Mecca. The later abrogation in Medina, from this perspective, could be seen not just as a theological correction but as a political one, occurring only after the Muslims had achieved a position of strength and independence, no longer needing the compromise that had been necessary in their vulnerable early years. The early community would thus appear less as ideological purists and more as adaptable survivors navigating a complex and hostile environment.

Conclusion: Synthesizing the Evidence on the "Eight-Year" Claim

This investigation into the claim that the Gharaniq ("Satanic Verses") incident was followed by an eight-year period before its abrogation yields a complex and multi-layered conclusion. The analysis of primary sources and secondary scholarship confirms that the chronological premise is not only plausible but is, in fact, textually and historically sound based on the standard dating of the relevant Quranic chapters. A clear temporal gap of approximately eight years exists between the traditional dating of the incident during the recitation of the Meccan Surah An-Najm (c. 615 CE) and the revelation of the primary explanatory verse, 22:52, in the Medinan Surah Al-Hajj (c. 623 CE).

A prominent theory within Western historical-critical scholarship, notably that of Alford T. Welch, proposes that the narrative represents a "historical telescoping." This view reinterprets the story not as a literal account of a single event but as a literary condensation of a much longer, more ambiguous period of negotiation and potential compromise between the Prophet and the Quraysh. In this model, the eight-year gap is not a period of "delayed abrogation" but rather a faint echo of the actual duration of this complex historical process, which was later simplified into a tidy, theologically manageable anecdote.

God’s Everlasting Covenant

God commanded Abraham to sacrifice Isaac. In the ancient world your love for your God was measured by the value of the sacrifice you brought to the altar. The greater the value of your sacrifice the greater your devotion to your God. Hence, in the land of Canaan followers of the god Malik believed that a man's ultimate act of piety was sacrificing his own child to Malik. The priests would heat up a bronze statue of the pagan god until it was glowing.

The devout would place their children into its fiery arms and the children would burn. Then came Abraham and one of the most famous stories in the Old Testament. God commanded Abraham to sacrifice his son Isaac. Abraham was so faithful to God that he was ready to obey God's command to sacrifice what was to Abraham the most precious thing in the world, his son Isaac. He loved God so much that he tied up his son, put him on a pile of wood and was about to plunge a knife into him. Critics of the Bible look at this and say God told Abraham to sacrifice his own son and Abraham was going to obey him! How barbaric! But, as usual, the critics completely missed the point. They're not simply missing some insignificant random point here, they're missing what may be the most amazing, life-changing, mind-blowing point that's ever been made in the history forever. I challenge every last one of you Atheist, Muslim, Jew, Hindu, whatever you may be. I challenge you to read through this until you get the point, and then find any story by anyone ever that's this deep, this profound, this powerful, this epic. Challenge accepted? Good.

Genesis 22:1-2 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

1 Some time later God tested Abraham. He said to him, "Abraham!"
"Here I am," he replied.
2 Then God said, "Take your son, your only son, whom you love—Isaac—and go to the region of Moriah. Sacrifice him there as a burnt offering on a mountain I will show you."

Abraham of course had another son- Ishmael, but Ishmael had been cast out in Genesis 21, leaving Abraham with Isaac as his only son. God tells Abraham to take Isaac to the region of Moriah, which is the region of Jerusalem.

Genesis 22:3-8 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

3 Early the next morning Abraham got up and loaded his donkey. He took with him two of his servants and his son Isaac. When he had cut enough wood for the burnt offering, he set out for the place God had told him about. 4 On the third day Abraham looked up and saw the place in the distance. 5 He said to his servants, "Stay here with the donkey while I and the boy go over there. We will worship and then we will come back to you."
6 Abraham took the wood for the burnt offering and placed it on his son Isaac, and he himself carried the fire and the knife. As the two of them went on together, 7 Isaac spoke up and said to his father Abraham, "Father?"
"Yes, my son?" Abraham replied.
"The fire and wood are here," Isaac said, "but where is the lamb for the burnt offering?"
8 Abraham answered, "God himself will provide the lamb for the burnt offering, my son." And the two of them went on together.

Notice that Isaac had to carry the wood on which he was to be sacrificed. Abraham obviously hadn't told anyone what he was about to do. Interestingly Abraham the prophet says that God himself will provide a 'lamb' for the burnt offering.

Genesis 22:9-12 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

9 When they reached the place God had told him about, Abraham built an altar there and arranged the wood on it. He bound his son Isaac and laid him on the altar, on top of the wood. 10 Then he reached out his hand and took the knife to slay his son. 11 But the angel of the Lord called out to him from heaven, "Abraham! Abraham!"

"Here I am," he replied.
12 "Do not lay a hand on the boy," he said. "Do not do anything to him. Now I know that you fear God, because you have not withheld from me your son, your only son."

Who told Abraham to stop the sacrifice? It's 'The angel of the Lord'. There are lots of angels in the Bible. The word Angel simply means messenger. But this particular messenger called 'The angel of the Lord' here is no ordinary angel. He's a messenger who speaks for God, but he also identifies as God. Even here in Genesis 22 the angel of the Lord speaks as God. He says "you have not withheld from me your son". So according to 'the angel of the Lord' Abraham was offering a sacrifice to him- to 'the angel of the Lord'.

Genesis 22:13-14 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)
13 Abraham looked up and there in a thicket he saw a ram caught by its horns. He went over and took the ram and sacrificed it as a burnt offering instead of his son. 14 So Abraham called that place The Lord Will Provide. And to this day it is said, "On the mountain of the Lord it will be provided."
Abraham told Isaac that God himself would provide a lamb for the sacrifice. But God provided a ram. Where's the lamb? Abraham called that place the Lord will provide. Where were they? They were at the region of Moriah. Mount Moriah is the Temple Mount in Jerusalem.
2 Chronicles 3:1 (written in around 450-400 BC by Ezra)
1 Then Solomon began to build the temple of the Lord in Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the Lord had appeared to his father David. It was on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite, the place provided by David.

So there's a specific mountain- Mount Moriah and there's the region of Moriah. Abraham was somewhere in the area of Jerusalem. God showed him a specific place. God provided his own sacrifice and for many centuries Abraham's descendants would say on the mountain of the Lord it will be provided.
Genesis 22:15-18 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses) 15 The angel of the Lord called to Abraham from heaven a second time 16 and said, "I swear by myself, declares the Lord, that because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your only son, 17 I will surely bless you and make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as the sand on the seashore. Your descendants will take possession of the cities of their enemies, 18 and through your offspring all nations on earth will be blessed, because you have obeyed me."

'The angel of the Lord' declares "I swear by myself", "I will surely bless you", "I will make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as the sand on the seashore. Your descendants will take possession of the cities of their enemies, and through your offspring all nations on earth will be blessed, because you have obeyed me". That is quite the promise. The angel of the Lord told that all nations on earth would be blessed through Abraham's offspring. But Abraham was ready to sacrifice his offspring- his son Isaac, when God told him to. Keep in mind Isaac was no ordinary son- he was the son of Promise. Years earlier Abraham had complained that even though God had blessed him abundantly, God hadn't blessed him with a son to be his heir. And, Abraham knew they were already too late, because he and his wife were way, way past their adulthood. But God told him in Genesis 15 that he would indeed have a son.

Genesis 15:4-5 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

4 Then the word of the Lord came to him: "This man will not be your heir, but a son who is your own flesh and blood will be your heir." 5 He took him outside and said, "Look up at the sky and count the stars—if indeed you can count them." Then he said to him, "So shall your offspring be."

His descendants would be like the stars in the sky. This passage is where we see what made Abraham unique among his contemporaries. Abraham wasn't unique because he was willing to sacrifice his son. There were pagans who were willing to do that. Abraham was unique because God kept making promises to him that sounded increasingly unbelievable, but Abraham kept believing that God was going to do what he promised. Abraham believed the Lord. In Genesis 17 God told him that the son of Promise would be born to Sarah who would be the mother of Nations:

Genesis 17:16 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

16 I will bless her and will surely give you a son by her. I will bless her so that she will be the mother of nations; kings of peoples will come from her."

Genesis 17:19 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

19 Then God said, “Yes, but your wife Sarah will bear you a son, and you will call him Isaac. I will establish my covenant with him as an everlasting covenant for his descendants after him.

God would establish an Everlasting Covenant through Isaac. So, when God commanded Abraham to sacrifice his son, this was a very special son, this son was prophesied, and this son would have a miraculous birth. The Everlasting Covenant would come through this son. Then God said remember all that stuff I said about your son, remember all the promises I made about him? You know how all of your hopes and dreams are riding on this one particular son, now I want you to sacrifice him as a burnt offering. Abraham's God suddenly started sounding just like the gods of the pagans- sacrifice your child to me. We look at this as people in the 21st century, we look at this as people who came long after: the complete reversal of paganism that was about to take place. But try to think about this from the perspective of the people around Abraham. Abraham was surrounded by people who were convinced that the greatest thing they could ever do was sacrifice their children to their God. Abraham was ready to do it, but the angel of the Lord told him to stop. The takeaway message of the story of Abraham and Isaac for the surrounding culture was this: Abraham is just as devout as the most devout of any of you. He's the sort of person who's willing to do whatever his God commands. He loves his God so much that he's ready to sacrifice what he values most in this world. The difference between you and Abraham is not that Abraham is willing to sacrifice his son, some of you pagans are willing to do that too. The difference between you and Abraham is that Abraham's God doesn't want him to sacrifice his son. Abraham's God stops him from sacrificing his son. Abraham's God provides his own sacrifice. So, putting all of this together- God who is no ordinary God, orders his Prophet who is no ordinary prophet, to sacrifice his son, who is no ordinary son. But the sacrifice is stopped by an angel, who is no Ordinary angel. This story isn't finished, because there was something about a lamb and an everlasting covenant and all nations being blessed through Abraham's offspring. Recap, if necessary as it is very important.

So, how was God going to bless all nations through Abraham's offspring? Well, we start getting some hints through the prophets in Isaiah 53. We find a prophecy about someone who would be punished for the sins of others.

Isaiah 53:4-7 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

4 Surely he took up our pain

and bore our suffering,
yet we considered him punished by God,
stricken by him, and afflicted.
5 But he was pierced for our transgressions,
he was crushed for our iniquities;
the punishment that brought us peace was on him,
and by his wounds we are healed.
6 We all, like sheep, have gone astray,
each of us has turned to our own way;
and the Lord has laid on him
the iniquity of us all.
7 He was oppressed and afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth;
he was led like a lamb to the slaughter,
and as a sheep before its shearers is silent,
so he did not open his mouth.

Then we get some puzzling details. For instance in Zechariah 12 God says

Zechariah 12:10 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah)

10 "And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplication. They will look on me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son.

This is God speaking and God says that people will look at Him after piercing Him. How does someone pierce God and look at Him? And then oddly enough after God says they will look on Me, He switches to the third person and refers to the one who's pierced as Him, as if there's some sort of distinction between God and the one who's pierced. Confusing? We read about the angel of the Lord who somehow is the Lord even though he's distinct from the Lord. There's the one who was pierced was somehow God and distinct from God. Is there anyone who can clear this up for us? Let's check the Gospel of John starting at the very first verse.

John 1:1 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

So, the Word was God but was also with God. That reminds me of the Angel of the Lord, the messenger who spoke for God, but was also God. Yes, the angel of the Lord was the pre-incarnate Jesus. He was the Eternal Word who was with God and who was God. But, he entered creation as Jesus of Nazareth via the Incarnation. Because how else would they pierce God?

John 1:14 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

14 The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the one and only Son, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth.

So, here the distinction between the Lord and the angel of the Lord, is the distinction between God and the word of God, is the distinction between the father and the son. John the Baptist started preaching before Jesus but when John saw Jesus approaching he said:

John 1:29 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

29 The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!

Is this the lamb we've been waiting for? John also said in the same passage:

John 1:32-34 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

32 And John bore record, saying, "I saw the Spirit descending from Heaven like a dove, and It abode upon Him.

33 And I knew Him not. But He that sent me to baptize with water, the Same said unto me, 'Upon whom thou shalt see the Spirit descending and remaining on Him, the Same is He that baptizeth with the Holy Ghost.'

34 And I saw and bore record that this is the Son of God."

John is referring to Jesus' baptism:

Matthew 3:16-17 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)

16 As soon as Jesus was baptized, he went up out of the water. At that moment heaven was opened, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting on him. 17 And a voice from heaven said, "This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased."

The voice is the voice of God the Father. Notice that God the Father and God the Holy Spirit together identify Jesus as the Divine Son, which is how John knew who Jesus really was. John the Baptist identified Jesus as the Lamb of God who would take away the sins of the world. John identified Jesus as the Son of God because that's what God the Father and God the Holy Spirit revealed to him. A little later in the Gospel of John in chapter 3 Jesus is having a discussion with a Pharisee named Nicodemus. Since Nicodemus had a thorough knowledge of the scriptures, Jesus asked him how do you not understand what's going on here.

John 3:10 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

10 "You are Israel's teacher," said Jesus, "and do you not understand these things?

And then we get the most famous verse of any book in history.

John 3:16 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

16 For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.

Among the pagans, your love for your God was measured by the value of your sacrifice. The most precious thing you could ever have would be your children, especially if you only had one child and especially if that child was your heir. So the greatest thing you could do was sacrifice your only son to your God. That's how you would demonstrate your love for your God.

God ordered Abraham to sacrifice his son- a very special son, a son like no other, the son of promise. Then the angel of the Lord AKA (Also Known As) the word AKA The Eternal Divine Son AKA the pre-incarnate Christ stopped Abraham because God provides his own sacrifice. God would provide a lamb. Then God provided a ram. What about the lamb? Well, the lamb turns out to be 'the angel of the Lord'/ the word/ the Divine Son/ the pre-incarnate Christ. So, when Abraham said that God would provide a lamb, the lamb that God would provide was there. But, lamb AKA the angel of the Lord AKA the word AKA the Son AKA the pre-incarnate Christ was the one who told Abraham to shut down the sacrifice of Isaac. The word/ 'the angel of the Lord' enters creation as Jesus of Nazareth. And this is definitely no ordinary son, this is the eternal divine Son who because of his incarnation is also the son of Abraham, the son of Isaac, the son of Jacob, the son of David. He's the Messiah he's the one through whom all nations of the world would be blessed. He's the one through whom the world would be saved.

John 3:17 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

17 For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him.

Jesus is the ultimate son of promise. Everything, all the promises, the entire world is riding on this son of promise. This is the most important son ever. And we mocked him spit on him hit him lashed him and nailed him to a cross. Ironically some of the descendants of Abraham united with the pagans to have him crucified. Abraham was willing to kill Isaac just like the most devout pagans were willing to kill their sons. Abraham sacrificed the ram that the angel of the Lord provided as a substitute for Isaac. Then when the ultimate son of promise appeared descendants of Abraham and descendants of pagans worked together to execute him. Where? That's in the region of Moriah. Like Isaac before him, Jesus didn't fight back. In John 19 we have the complaints of the Jewish leaders:

John 19:7 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

7 The Jewish leaders insisted, "We have a law, and according to that law he must die, because he claimed to be the Son of God."

The Romans didn't care much about this, but they did have a problem with someone claiming to be king. Claiming to be king would put you on the cross.

John 19:17-19 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

17 And He, bearing His cross, went forth into a place called the Place of a Skull

18 where they crucified Him and two others with Him, one on either side and Jesus in the midst.

19 And Pilate wrote a title and put it on the cross. And the writing was: Jesus Of Nazareth The King Of The Jews.

Remember Isaac carrying the wood for the fire? Calling a crucified man the king of the Jews was simultaneously an insult to the Jewish leaders like- hey I know you hate this guy, so I'm calling him your king. It's a standard Roman warning to anyone thinking about challenging the ruller. The irony is that it was true- Jesus is the king of the Jews and the king of everyone else. But, we nailed him to a cross and he died.

John 19:36-37 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

36 These things happened so that the scripture would be fulfilled: "Not one of his bones will be broken," 37 and, as another scripture says, "They will look on the one they have pierced."

Remember Zechariah 12 where God says they will look on me the one they have pierced?

Zechariah 12:10 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah)
10 “And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplication. They will look on me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son.

In Acts 3 Peter heals a lame beggar in the name of Jesus, and that gives him the opportunity to share some of his newfound knowledge.

Acts 3:11-16 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke)
11 While the man held on to Peter and John, all the people were astonished and came running to them in the place called Solomon’s Colonnade. 12 When Peter saw this, he said to them: “Fellow Israelites, why does this surprise you? Why do you stare at us as if by our own power or godliness we had made this man walk? 13 The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the God of our fathers, has glorified his servant Jesus. You handed him over to be killed, and you disowned him before Pilate, though he had decided to let him go. 14 You disowned the Holy and Righteous One and asked that a murderer be released to you. 15 You killed the author of life, but God raised him from the dead. We are witnesses of this. 16 By faith in the name of Jesus, this man whom you see and know was made strong. It is Jesus’ name and the faith that comes through him that has completely healed him, as you can all see.

Peter calls Jesus the author of Life, which would be God. But God raised him from the dead there's that recurring distinction between God and a servant, who's also God.
Acts 3:17-26 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke) 17 “Now, fellow Israelites, I know that you acted in ignorance, as did your leaders. 18 But this is how God fulfilled what he had foretold through all the prophets, saying that his Messiah would suffer. 19 Repent, then, and turn to God, so that your sins may be wiped out, that times of refreshing may come from the Lord, 20 and that he may send the Messiah, who has been appointed for you—even Jesus. 21 Heaven must receive him until the time comes for God to restore everything, as he promised long ago through his holy prophets. 22 For Moses said, ‘The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your own people; you must listen to everything he tells you. 23 Anyone who does not listen to him will be completely cut off from their people.’24 “Indeed, beginning with Samuel, all the prophets who have spoken have foretold these days. 25 And you are heirs of the prophets and of the covenant God made with your fathers. He said to Abraham, ‘Through your offspring all peoples on earth will be blessed.’ 26 When God raised up his servant, he sent him first to you to bless you by turning each of you from your wicked ways.”

Here in Acts 3 verse 22-23 Deuteronomy 18:15-19 is quoted. In verse 25 Genesis 22:18 is quoted. Peter brings it back to the story of Abraham and Isaac- when the angel of the Lord promised Abraham that all nations would be blessed through his offspring. Peter points out that God sent his servant Jesus AKA the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world AKA the angel of the Lord AKA the word of God AKA The Son of God to the Jews first. Later in Acts, we see how the Gospel spread to the Gentiles as well, so that all nations would be blessed through Jesus. But there's also this part about God raising Jesus from the dead. Interestingly that was part of the story about Abraham and Isaac too.

Hebrews 11:17-19 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul)
17 By faith Abraham, when God tested him, offered Isaac as a sacrifice. He who had embraced the promises was about to sacrifice his one and only son, 18 even though God had said to him, “It is through Isaac that your offspring will be reckoned.” 19 Abraham reasoned that God could even raise the dead, and so in a manner of speaking he did receive Isaac back from death.

When we went through Genesis 22 we saw that as Abraham was about to go sacrifice Isaac:
Genesis 22:5 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)
5 He said to his servants, “Stay here with the donkey while I and the boy go over there. We will worship and then we will come back to you.”

We, both of us, will come back to you. Why did Abraham say that Isaac would return when Isaac was about to be sacrificed? Well according to Hebrews Abraham reasoned that God could raise Isaac from the dead. In other words, Abraham had two pieces of information to go on-
1/ God said that Abraham's descendants would be like the stars and that the Covenant would be through Isaac.

2/ God ordered Abraham to sacrifice Isaac. Abraham believed God and did the math- if Isaac's about to die and I'm going to have a ton of descendants through Isaac then God is going to raise him from the dead.
Think about how this sets the stage for the Messiah. There are prophecies about the Messiah being the blessing to all nations and ruling the world. There are also prophecies about the Messiah claiming that he would suffer and die. How do we make sense of this? Well we could say it makes no sense for the Messiah to die and rule the world. So these prophecies must be talking about different people. That's one way to make sense of the conflicting messages from the prophets. But, if you think like Abraham how would you reconcile the conflicting messages? You'd say if God tells us that the Messiah is going to suffer and die and that all nations are going to be blessed through the Messiah and his reign, then God is going to raise the Messiah from the dead. That's what you would expect if you were going to apply Abrahamic thinking to Messianic prophecies, and it's exactly what happened. Now as this story unfolded did you catch the complete total reversal of ancient paganism? The ancient pagans said sacrifice your son to show your love for your God. The God of the Bible says it's not how this works, shut it down. You don't offer your son to show your love for me, I offer my son to show my love for you. It's no longer like "Abraham's so loved God that he gave his only son", it's like "God so loved the world that he gave his only son". God flips the Pagan script. No more sacrificing your way to God, God sacrifices his way to you and he brings his own sacrifice. You can see this all the way from the first book of the Bible to the last book of the Bible. Because it was the plan all along.

Revelation 13:8 (written in around 70-96 CE by John)

8 All inhabitants of the earth will worship the beast—all whose names have not been written in the Lamb's book of life, the Lamb who was slain from the creation of the world.

The Lamb was slain from the creation of the world. But, notice what else this prophecy says- everyone whose name hasn't been written in the Lamb's Book of Life will worship the beast (read chapter 10 to know more about the beast). If you reject the reversal of paganism through the Gospel you go right back to paganism.

Why did Jesus Die?

In the Book of Genesis Joseph's brothers sold him into slavery in order to get rid of him. The next time they saw Joseph he was very rich and very powerful. They were terrified that he was going to kill them. But, Joseph eventually said to comfort his brothers “what you meant for evil God meant for good”. Joseph saw that even though there was a malicious human cause of his suffering, but there was a divine purpose using that malicious human intent to achieve something that would save countless lives. Many centuries later a Jewish carpenter was executed by Roman soldiers with the support of the Jewish religious leaders. They wanted to get rid of him and they did it for only 3 Days. The message of Christianity in a nutshell is that what they meant for evil God meant for good. Think about what happened on the cross. Jesus of Nazareth was mocked beaten tortured and killed. The flogging would have left the skin on his back hanging like ribbons. His veins and arteries would have been exposed. His wrists and feet were pierced with large Nails. Because of the way he was positioned on the cross he had to push himself up on his pierced feet in order to exhale. The word excruciating is derived from Latin words, meaning out of the cross. But, we should also think about the purpose. Why did Jesus die on the cross? It turns out the answer goes far beyond the malicious human cause. The Bible offers lots of reasons Jesus came to die. Let's go through 10 of them.

Reason one: To fulfill Old Testament prophecy

700 years before Jesus walked the shores of the Sea of Galilee the prophet Isaiah wrote about someone who would die for our sins and rise from the dead. In Isaiah the prophet says:

Isaiah 53:4-6 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

4 Surely he took up our pain
and bore our suffering,
yet we considered him punished by God,
stricken by him, and afflicted.
5 But he was pierced for our transgressions,
he was crushed for our iniquities;
the punishment that brought us peace was on him,
and by his wounds we are healed.
6 We all, like sheep, have gone astray,
each of us has turned to our own way;
and the Lord has laid on him
the iniquity of us all.

The crucifixion of the Messiah wasn't something that caught God off guard. It was part of an eternal plan.

Reason two: To establish a covenant/ agreement

There are several covenants in the Bible. God established a covenant with the children of Israel which we read about in the Old Testament. But even in the Old Testament, there were prophecies about a future covenant- a new covenant.

Jeremiah 31:31-34 (written in around 605-580 BC by Jeremiah)

31 “The days are coming,” declares the Lord,
“when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and with the people of Judah.
32 It will not be like the covenant

I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt, because they broke my covenant, though I was a husband to them,"
declares the Lord.
33 "This is the covenant I will make with the people of Israel after that time," declares the Lord.
"I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts.
I will be their God,
and they will be my people.
34 No longer will they teach their neighbor, or say to one another, 'Know the Lord,' because they will all know me, from the least of them to the greatest,"
declares the Lord.
"For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more."

God said that a new covenant was coming- a covenant that would bring forgiveness of sins. More than six centuries later Jesus sat down for the last supper with his disciples.

Matthew 26:26-28 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)

26 While they were eating, Jesus took bread, and when he had given thanks, he broke it and gave it to his disciples, saying, "Take and eat; this is my body."

27 Then he took a cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it to them, saying, "Drink from it, all of you. 28 This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins.

The New Covenant was established through the blood of Christ.

Reason three: To become a ransom for many

Remember that New Covenant we were just talking about and how it's connected to forgiveness of sins. The letter to the Hebrews compares the Old Covenant and the New Covenant. The author quotes the passage we read from Jeremiah and he argues that while the Old Covenant was outward and temporary the New Covenant is Inward and eternal.

Hebrews 9:13-15 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul)

13 The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled on those who are ceremonially unclean sanctify them so that they are outwardly clean. 14 How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God!

15 For this reason Christ is the mediator of a new covenant, that those who are called may receive the promised eternal inheritance—now that he has died as a ransom to set them free from the sins committed under the first covenant.

A ransom is a payment to set someone free. Christ died as a ransom to set them free from the sins committed under the First Covenant and this echoes what Jesus said in:

Mark 10:45 (written in around 64-67 CE by Mark & Simon Peter)

45 For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

Reason four: To demonstrate God's love

The God of the Bible is perfect in his attributes. Since God's justice is perfect, all sin must be punished. If God let some sin slide, he wouldn't be perfect in his justice. But, God's love is also perfect. Which means that He's vastly more loving than we are, so much so that He's willing to take the punishment that we deserve upon himself. God loves sinners so much that the second person of the Trinity entered into creation as Jesus of Nazareth to pay the price for our sins.

Romans 5:6-8 (written in 57 CE by Paul)

6 You see, at just the right time, when we were still powerless, Christ died for the ungodly. 7 Very rarely will anyone die for a righteous person, though for a good person someone might possibly dare to die. 8 But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us.

John 3:16 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

16 For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life.

Reason five: To give us his righteousness

Some people can be described as righteous even in the Bible. But, that's a comparative righteousness, so and so is righteous compared to other people. When we compare ourselves to God, all we can say is what the prophet Isaiah said:

Isaiah 64:6 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

6 All of us have become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous acts are like filthy rags;

we all shrivel up like a leaf, and like the wind our sins sweep us away.

You might be good compared to me. I might be good compared to someone else. But, we aren't good enough to spend eternity with a perfect being. And there's nothing we can do to make ourselves good enough to spend eternity with a perfect being. So if we're going to spend eternity with a perfect being we need a righteousness that comes from someone other than ourselves. How are we going to get this righteousness?

Romans 3:21-24 (written in 57 CE by Paul)

21 But now apart from the law the righteousness of God has been made known, to which the Law and the Prophets testify. 22 This righteousness is given through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. There is no difference between Jew and Gentile, 23 for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, 24 and all are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus.

2 Corinthians 5:21 (written in 56 CE by Paul)

21 God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.

The Greek word for Gospel means ‘Good News’. The good news is that God gives the righteousness of Christ to people who did absolutely nothing to earn it.

Reason six: To transform us into God's temples

Since we have the righteousness of Christ we can be what we were created to be.

John 6:38 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

38 For I have come down from heaven not to do my will but to do the will of him who sent me.

But where was he going when he left heaven and came to earth as Jesus of Nazareth? Was he going to Bethlehem? Was he going to Nazareth? Was he going to the Cross? Was he going to the tomb? Jesus went to all of these places, but he had a particular destination in mind. He tells us exactly where he was going in the last two verses of John 17 where the divine Son shortly before his crucifixion says to the Father:

John 17:25-26 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

25 “Righteous Father, though the world does not know you, I know you, and they know that you have sent me. 26 I have made you known to them, and will continue to make you known in order that the love you have for me may be in them and that I myself may be in them.”

Where was Jesus going when he left heaven and came to earth? Right here, we were Jesus’ destination when he left heaven.

1 Corinthians 6:19 (written in 55 CE by Paul)

19 Do you not know that your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own;

Jesus died on the cross to cleanse new temples for God's glory. Christians are the walking, talking, living, breathing temples of our creator, because of Jesus.

Reason seven: To clear a path for genuine morality

A common atheist misunderstanding of Christian ethics is that Christians only do the right thing because we don't want to be punished in hell. According to this view atheists who do the right thing are better because they do it just because it's right, not because they're trying to avoid hell.

Valid point- what if someone only does what's right because of how it's going to benefit him? Is he really doing what's right if he only does it for selfish reasons? In other words you can help an old lady cross the street because it's a good thing to do. But what if you help her cross the street because someone pays you to help her. Have you done anything morally praiseworthy? True morality isn't just doing the right thing. It's doing the right thing for the right reason. There are two main obstacles to doing the right thing for the right reason-

1/ What if there isn't really a right thing to do. That's the atheist threat to morality. If there's no real foundation for right and wrong in atheism, then morality comes down to how you're wired and how you're conditioned by society. And so thinking that something is objectively right or wrong becomes a kind of delusion.

2/ If you only do the right thing to receive some reward, or to avoid being punished then everything you do is done out of selfishness. That's the Islamic threat to morality. But in Christianity your good deeds don't get you to heaven, Jesus does.

Ephesians 2:8-10 (written in around 56-60 CE by Paul)

8 For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith—and this is not from yourselves, it is the gift of God— 9 not by works, so that no one can boast. 10 For we are God’s handiwork, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do.

Since God is real, there's a real right and wrong. Thus avoiding the atheist obstacle to morality. Even though we do good works, we're not doing these good works because we think they'll earn us a trip to Heaven. Thus avoiding the Islamic obstacle to morality. Christians do what's right because it's right, and because we honor God, and because we're grateful. No selfishness in Christian ethics.

Reason eight: To set an example

In Luke 9 Jesus says

Luke 9:22-23 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke)

22 And he said, "The Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, the chief priests and the teachers of the law, and he must be killed and on the third day be raised to life."

23 Then he said to them all: "Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross daily and follow me.

By laying down his life for the sake of others Jesus set an example for his followers. His followers definitely got that message.

Ephesians 5:25-27 (written in around 56-60 CE by Paul)

25 Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her 26 to make her holy, cleansing her by the washing with water through the word, 27 and to present her to himself as a radiant church, without stain or wrinkle or any other blemish, but holy and blameless.

Husbands should love their wives enough to be ready to be crucified for them. Why? Well look at what Jesus did for his bride- the church.

Philippians 2:5-11 (written in 61 CE by Paul, Timothy)

5 In your relationships with one another, have the same mindset as Christ Jesus:
6 Who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be used to his own advantage;
7 rather, he made himself nothing by taking the very nature of a servant, being made in human likeness.
8 And being found in appearance as a man, he humbled himself
by becoming obedient to death—
even death on a cross!

9 Therefore God exalted him to the highest place and gave him the name that is above every name, 10 that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, 11 and every tongue acknowledge that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Reason nine: To shatter Dividing Walls based on race, class and gender

Unfortunately human beings usually don't have the same mindset as Jesus in our relationships. Which is why we have endless division and hostility. But, Jesus said

Matthew 5:43-48 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)

43 “You have heard that it was said, ‘Love your neighbor and hate your enemy.’ 44 But I tell you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, 45 that you may be children of your Father in heaven. He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous. 46 If you love those who love you, what reward will you get? Are not even the tax collectors doing that? 47 And if you greet only your own people, what are you doing more than others? Do not even pagans do that? 48 Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

All those people you view as your enemies God loves them too, not just you. And when we realize that we have not only the same Creator but also the same Savior the walls that divide us come tumbling down.

Galatians 3:26-29 (written in around 48-52 CE by Paul)

26 So in Christ Jesus you are all children of God through faith, 27 for all of you who were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. 28 There is neither Jew nor Gentile, neither slave nor free, nor is there male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. 29 If you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise.

Reason ten: To show us that God can turn the greatest evil into the greatest good

What's the worst thing that could possibly happen? Here, you might think about something that would be worst to you personally. Maybe your child dying, or something like that. But, if we leave all of our personal views out of it, I think, we might conclude that the worst thing that could possibly happen would be- the Creator of the universe who gave us life and everything else miraculously entering into creation- healing people, feeding people, telling people to love each other and then getting brutally tortured and executed like the world's most depraved criminal. That's the worst thing that could possibly happen. And yet it turned out to be the best thing that ever happened. Which means that God can turn the greatest evil into the greatest good. This should always be embedded in your thinking. We can see how this thinking impacted the earliest Christian community in Acts 4. Persecution against Christians is starting to warm up and they gather together and pray

Acts 4:24-28 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke)

24 When they heard this, they raised their voices together in prayer to God. “Sovereign Lord,” they said, “you made the heavens and the earth and the sea, and everything in them. 25 You spoke by the Holy Spirit through the mouth of your servant, our father David:

“‘Why do the nations rage and the peoples plot in vain?

26 The kings of the earth rise up and the rulers band together against the Lord and against his anointed one.

27 Indeed Herod and Pontius Pilate met together with the Gentiles and the people of Israel in this city to conspire against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed. 28 They did what your power and will had decided beforehand should happen.

These Christians acknowledge that Herod and Pilate and the Romans and the Jewish leaders conspired against Jesus. But they also know that it was all part of God's plan to bring Salvation to the world. how do you think that knowledge helped them endure persecution? If God can take the worst thing that could ever happen and turn it into the greatest thing that could ever happen, what do you think he can do with whatever problems you're facing?

Of course the Bible gives more reasons for Jesus' death. If you would like to dig deeper John Piper wrote a short book titled “50 reasons why Jesus came to die”. It covers several of the same points discussed here along with many many more.

Not to miss the details of eternal plan/covenant read the book sincerely, if necessary over and over. Highlight portions you need to recheck later or often. For clarity you can check different translation of the verse online. Even you can check Hebrew Greek interlinear Bible online, where you can find strong number and check detailed description of each of the word. You can even find photograph of entire manuscript of Bible carbon dated.

Seeing Jesus in Prophecies: A Biblical Exploration

Jesus told in Luke 24:25-27:

25 He said to them, “How foolish you are, and how slow to believe all that the prophets have spoken! 26 Did not the Messiah have to suffer these things and then enter his glory?” 27 And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he explained to them what was said in all the Scriptures concerning himself.

Jesus fulfilled 60 major Old Testament prophecies-with about 270 additional ramifications-all of which were made more than 400 years before His birth. In one day God fulfilled no fewer than 28 specific prophecies spoken at least 500 years earlier about Jesus Christ:

1/ He will be betrayed by a friend:

Prophecy:
Psalm 41:9 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
Even my close friend, someone I trusted, one who shared my bread, has turned against me.

Fulfillment:
Matthew 26:49 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
Going at once to Jesus, Judas said, 'Greetings, Rabbi!' and kissed him.

2/ The price of his betrayal will be 30 pieces of silver:

Prophecy:
Zechariah 11:12 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):
I told them, 'If you think it best, give me my pay; but if not, keep it.' So they paid me thirty pieces of silver.
Fulfillment:
Matthew 26:15 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
and asked, 'What are you willing to give me if I deliver him over to you?' So they counted out for him thirty pieces of silver.
3/ His betrayal money will be cast to the floor of the temple:

Prophecy:
Zechariah 11:13 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):
And the Lord said to me, 'Throw it to the potter'—the handsome price at which they valued me! So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them to the potter at the house of the Lord.
Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:5 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
So Judas threw the money into the temple and left. Then he went away and hanged himself.

4/ His betrayal money will be used to buy the potter's field:

Prophecy:
Zechariah 11:13 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):
And the Lord said to me, 'Throw it to the potter'—the handsome price at which they valued me! So I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them to the potter at the house of the Lord.
Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:7 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
So they decided to use the money to buy the potter's field as a burial place for foreigners.
5/ He will be forsaken and deserted by His disciples:

Prophecy:
Zechariah 13:7 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):

‘Awake, sword, against my shepherd, against the man who is close to me!’ declares the Lord Almighty. ‘Strike the shepherd, and the sheep will be scattered, and I will turn my hand against the little ones.’

Fulfillment:

Mark 14:50 (written in around 64-67 CE by Mark and Peter):

Then everyone deserted him and fled.

6/ He will be accused by false witnesses:

Prophecy:

Psalm 35:11 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

Ruthless witnesses come forward; they question me on things I know nothing about.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 26:59-60 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

The chief priests and the whole Sanhedrin were looking for false evidence against Jesus so that they could put him to death. But they did not find any, though many false witnesses came forward. Finally two came forward.

7/ He will be silent before his accusers:

Prophecy: Isaiah 53:7 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

He was oppressed and afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth; he was led like a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before its shearers is silent, so he did not open his mouth.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 27:12 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

When he was accused by the chief priests and the elders, he gave no answer.

8/ He will be wounded and bruised:

Prophecy:

Isaiah 53:5 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him, and by his wounds we are healed.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 27:26 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Then he released Barabbas to them. But he had Jesus flogged, and handed him over to be crucified.

9/ He will be hated without a cause:

Prophecy:

Psalm 69:4 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

Those who hate me without reason outnumber the hairs of my head; many are my enemies without cause, those who seek to destroy me. I am forced to restore what I did not steal.

Fulfillment:

John 15:25 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

But this is to fulfill what is written in their Law: 'They hated me without reason.'

10/ He will be struck and spit on:

Prophecy: Isaiah 50:6 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

I offered my back to those who beat me, my cheeks to those who pulled out my beard; I did not hide my face from mocking and spitting.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 26:67 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Then they spit in his face and struck him with their fists. Others slapped him.

11/ He will be mocked, ridiculed, and rejected:

Prophecy: Isaiah 53:3 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

He was despised and rejected by mankind, a man of suffering, and familiar with pain. Like one from whom people hide their faces he was despised, and we held him in low esteem.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 27:27-31 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Then the governor's soldiers took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole company of soldiers around him. They stripped him and put a scarlet robe on him, and then twisted together a crown of thorns and set it on his head. They put a staff in his right hand. Then they knelt in front of him and mocked him. 'Hail, king of the Jews!' they said. They spit on him, and took the staff and struck him on the head again and again. After they had mocked him, they took off the robe and put his own clothes on him. Then they led him away to crucify him.

John 7:5 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

For even his own brothers did not believe in him.

John 7:48 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

'Have any of the rulers or of the Pharisees believed in him?'

12/ He will collapse from weakness:

Prophecy: Psalm 109:24-25 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

My knees give way from fasting; my body is thin and gaunt. I am an object of scorn to my accusers; when they see me, they shake their heads.

Fulfillment: Luke 23:26 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke):

As the soldiers led him away, they seized Simon from Cyrene, who was on his way in from the country, and put the cross on him and made him carry it behind Jesus.

13/ He will be taunted with specific words:

Prophecy:

Psalm 22:6-8 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

But I am a worm and not a man, scorned by everyone, despised by the people. All who see me mock me; they hurl insults, shaking their heads. 'He trusts in the Lord,' they say, 'let the Lord rescue him. Let him deliver him, since he delights in him.'

Fulfillment:

Matthew 27:39-43 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Those who passed by hurled insults at him, shaking their heads and saying, 'You who are going to destroy the temple and build it in three days, save yourself! Come down from the cross, if you are the Son of God!' In the same way the chief priests, the teachers of the law and the elders mocked him. 'He saved others,' they said, 'but he can't save himself! He's the king of Israel! Let him come down now from the cross, and we will believe in him. He trusts in God. Let God rescue him now if he wants him, for he said, "I am the Son of God."'

14/ People will shake their heads at him:

Prophecy:

Psalm 109:25 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

I am an object of scorn to my accusers; when they see me, they shake their heads.

Fulfillment:

Matthew 27:39 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Those who passed by hurled insults at him, shaking their heads.

15/ People will stare at him:

Prophecy:

Psalm 22:17 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

All my bones are on display; people stare and gloat over me.

Fulfillment: Luke 23:35 (written in around 61-66 CE by Luke):

The people stood watching, and the rulers even sneered at him. They said, 'He saved others; let him save himself if he is God's Messiah, the Chosen One.'

16/ He will be executed among 'sinners':

Prophecy: Isaiah 53:12 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)
Therefore I will give him a portion among the great, and he will divide the spoils with the strong, because he poured out his life unto death, and was numbered with the transgressors. For he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:38 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
Two rebels were crucified with him, one on his right and one on his left.

17/ His hands and feet will be pierced:

Prophecy:
Psalm 22:16 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
Dogs surround me, a pack of villains encircles me; they pierce my hands and my feet.

Fulfillment: Luke 23:33 (written in around 61-66 CE by Luke):
When they came to the place called the Skull, they crucified him there, along with the criminals—one on his right, the other on his left.

18/ He will pray for his persecutors:

Prophecy: Isaiah 53:12 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)
Therefore I will give him a portion among the great, and he will divide the spoils with the strong, because he poured out his life unto death, and was numbered with the transgressors. For he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

Fulfillment: Luke 23:34 (written in around 61-66 CE by Luke):
Jesus said, 'Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing.' And they divided up his clothes by casting lots.

19/ His friends and family will stand far off and watch:

Prophecy:
Psalm 38:11 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
My friends and companions avoid me because of my wounds; my neighbors stay far away.

Fulfillment: Luke 23:49 (written in around 61-66 CE by Luke):
But all those who knew him, including the women who had followed him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things.

20/ His garments will be divided up and awarded by the casting of lots:

Prophecy:
Psalm 22:18 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
They divide my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment.
Fulfillment: John 19:23-24 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):
When the soldiers crucified Jesus, they took his clothes, dividing them into four shares, one for each of them, with the undergarment remaining. This garment was seamless, woven in one piece from top to bottom. 'Let's not tear it,' they said to one another. 'Let's decide by lot who will get it.' This happened that the scripture might be fulfilled that said, 'They divided my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment.' So this is what the soldiers did.

21/ He will thirst:

Prophecy:
Psalm 69:21 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
They put gall in my food and gave me vinegar for my thirst.
Fulfillment: John 19:28 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):
Later, knowing that everything had now been finished, and so that Scripture would be fulfilled, Jesus said, 'I am thirsty.'
22/ He will be given gall and vinegar:

Prophecy:
Psalm 69:21 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
They put gall in my food and gave me vinegar for my thirst.
Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:34 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
There they offered Jesus wine to drink, mixed with gall; but after tasting it, he refused to drink it.
23/ He will commit himself to God:

Prophecy:
Psalm 31:5 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
Into your hands I commit my spirit; deliver me, Lord, my faithful God.
Fulfillment: Luke 23:46 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke):
Jesus called out with a loud voice, 'Father, into your hands I commit my spirit.' When he had said this, he breathed his last.
24/ His bones will be left unbroken:

Prophecy:
Psalm 34:20 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
He protects all his bones, not one of them will be broken.
Fulfillment: John 19:33 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):
But when they came to Jesus and found that he was already dead, they did not break his legs.
25/ His side will be pierced:

Prophecy:
Zechariah 12:10 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):
And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplication. They will look on me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son.
Fulfillment: John 19:34 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):
Instead, one of the soldiers pierced Jesus' side with a spear, bringing a sudden flow of blood and water.
26/ Darkness will come over the land at midday:

Prophecy: Amos 8:9 (written in around 792-752 BC by Amos):
'In that day,' declares the Sovereign Lord, 'I will make the sun go down at noon and darken the earth in broad daylight.'
Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:45 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
From noon until three in the afternoon darkness came over all the land.
27/ He will be buried in a rich man's tomb:

Prophecy: Isaiah 53:9 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)
He was assigned a grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no violence, nor was any deceit in his mouth.
Fulfillment:
Matthew 27:57-60 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):
As evening approached, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who had himself become a disciple of Jesus. Going to Pilate, he asked for Jesus' body, and Pilate ordered that it be given to him. Joseph took the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and placed it in his own new tomb that he had cut out of the rock. He rolled a big stone in front of the entrance to the tomb and went away.
28/ He will die 483 years after the declaration of Artaxerxes to rebuild the temple in 444 BC:

Prophecy:

Daniel 9:24-26 (written in around 550-530 CE by Daniel):

Seventy 'sevens' are decreed for your people and your holy city to finish transgression, to put an end to sin, to atone for wickedness, to bring in everlasting righteousness, to seal up vision and prophecy and to anoint the Most Holy Place. Know and understand this: From the time the word goes out to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the Anointed One, the ruler, comes, there will be seven 'sevens,' and sixty-two 'sevens.' It will be rebuilt with streets and a trench, but in times of trouble. After the sixty-two 'sevens,' the Anointed One will be put to death and will have nothing. The people of the ruler who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary. The end will come like a flood: War will continue until the end, and desolations have been decreed.

Fulfillment:

The prophecy in Daniel refers to "seventy sevens" (weeks of years), which equates to 490 years. The timeline is divided into three parts: 7 sevens (49 years), 62 sevens (434 years), and the final 1 seven (7 years). The 483 years (49+434) lead up to the Anointed One being "cut off," which Christians interpret as the death of Jesus. Calculating from Artaxerxes' decree in 444 BC to rebuild Jerusalem, this timeline aligns with Jesus' crucifixion around 30-33 AD.

Your people and your holy city: This refers specifically to the people of Israel and Jerusalem. The prophecy is directed at the Jewish people and the fate of their holy city.

Finish the transgression and make an end of sins: This speaks to the ultimate resolution of human sin. Christians believe this was fulfilled through Jesus Christ’s sacrifice on the cross, which dealt with sin once and for all.

Make reconciliation for iniquity: This refers to atonement for sin. Christians interpret this as Christ’s atoning work, reconciling humanity to God through His death and resurrection.

Bring in everlasting righteousness: This points to a future time when Christ’s righteousness will be fully realized in the world, often interpreted as the establishment of God's eternal kingdom.

Seal up vision and prophecy: This suggests the fulfillment of prophecy and the completion of God’s revelation, which Christians believe is realized through Christ.

Anoint the Most Holy: This can be interpreted in different ways. Some view it as the anointing of Christ, while others see it as the dedication of a holy place or a future anointing related to the end times.

As a final testimony, on the third day after his death, He will be raised from the dead:

Psalm 16:10 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
because you will not abandon me to the realm of the dead, nor will you let your faithful one see decay.
Acts 2:31 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke):

Seeing what was to come, he spoke of the resurrection of the Messiah, that he was not abandoned to the realm of the dead, nor did his body see decay.

He will ascend to heaven:

Psalm 68:18 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
When you ascended on high, you took many captives; you received gifts from people, even from the rebellious—that you, Lord God, might dwell there.
Acts 1:9 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke):

After he said this, he was taken up before their very eyes, and a cloud hid him from their sight.

And be seated at the right hand of God in full majesty and authority:

Psalm 110:1 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
The Lord says to my Lord: 'Sit at my right hand, until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.'
Hebrews 1:3 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul):

The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word. After he had provided purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty in heaven.

The writer of Hebrews tells us that God has spoken to us through His Son in Hebrews 1:2 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul):

but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom also he made the universe.

Paul wrote in his letter to the Colossians 1:15–17 that Jesus:

(written in around 58-60 CE by Paul, Timoteos):

is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation. For in Him all things were created: things in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or powers or rulers or authorities; all things have been created through Him and for Him. He is before all things, and in Him all things hold together

Micah 5:2 (written in around 733-701 BC by Micah):

But you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though you are small among the clans of Judah, out of you will come for me one who will be ruler over Israel, whose origins are from of old,
from ancient times

The phrase translated “from of old” is used in Habbakuk 1:12 to describe God’s eternal nature.

Habbakuk 1:12 (written in around 626-590 CE by Habakkuk):

Lord, are you not from everlasting?

Psalm 22:16–18 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

Dogs surround me,
a pack of villains encircles me;
they pierce my hands and my feet.
All my bones are on display;
people stare and gloat over me.
They divide my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment

Psalms 22, 23, and 24 make up a messianic trilogy of the Shepherd. Actually, the correct Psalm is Psalm 22, not Psalm 24. Here are the quoted verses with the text:

Psalm 22 speaks to the Good Shepherd who lays down His life for the sheep:

Psalm 22:1 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from saving me, so far from my cries of anguish?

John 10:11 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.

Jesus quotes this Psalm from the cross when He asks:

Matthew 27:46 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

About three in the afternoon Jesus cried out in a loud voice, 'Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?' (which means 'My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?')

Psalm 22:1 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from saving me, so far from my cries of anguish?

Psalm 23, points at Jesus' role of protecting His sheep, meeting their daily needs, guiding them, and empathizing with their weakness. The Psalmist talks about the shepherd leading him beside still waters. Psalm 23:2 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
He makes me lie down in green pastures, he leads me beside quiet waters,
While prophesying about Israel's coming deliverance, Isaiah uses this same imagery in Isaiah 49:10 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah):
They will neither hunger nor thirst, nor will the desert heat or the sun beat down on them.
He who has compassion on them will guide them and lead them beside springs of water.
John also invokes this imagery when prophesying about the future of the righteous in Revelation 7:17 (written in around 70-96 CE by John):
For the Lamb at the center of the throne will be their shepherd;
'he will lead them to springs of living water.'
'And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes'

Psalm 24 describes Jesus' future role as King of Kings, fulfilling His promises as the King of glory.
Psalm 24:7-10 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

7 Lift up your heads, you gates; be lifted up, you ancient doors, that the King of glory may come in. 8 Who is this King of glory? The Lord strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle. 9 Lift up your heads, you gates; lift them up, you ancient doors, that the King of glory may come in. 10 Who is he, this King of glory? The Lord Almighty— he is the King of glory.

Explanation:

The King of Glory:

Verse 7-10 refers to the “King of glory.” In Christian interpretation, this title is attributed to Jesus Christ, who is seen as the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies about the Messiah. The repetition emphasizes the importance and the magnificence of the arrival of this King.

Jesus' Future Role:

King of Kings: In the New Testament, Jesus is referred to as the King of Kings and Lord of Lords (Revelation 19:16). Psalm 24 anticipates this role, portraying a victorious and mighty king entering through the gates, symbolizing His return and reign over all creation.

Fulfillment of Promises: Jesus fulfills the promises of God to establish an eternal kingdom. His entry as the King of glory signifies the culmination of God's redemptive plan and the establishment of His kingdom on earth.

The Gates and Doors:

Ancient Gates and Doors: These symbolize the barriers that separate humanity from the divine. The command to lift up the gates and doors signifies the opening of the way for the King of glory to enter. This can be seen as a metaphor for Jesus’ role in reconciling humanity with God, removing the barriers of sin and death through His sacrifice and resurrection.

The Lord Almighty:

The Lord Strong and Mighty: This description aligns with Jesus’ victory over sin, death, and Satan. His resurrection and ascension demonstrate His power and authority, validating Him as the Lord Almighty and the rightful King of glory.

New Testament Connections:

Revelation: The imagery in Psalm 24 parallels the scenes in Revelation where Jesus is depicted as the triumphant and reigning King (Revelation 11:15). The calls to open the gates resonate with the New Jerusalem’s gates being open for the glory of the nations to enter (Revelation 21:25-26).

Jesus went out of His way to identify Himself as the good shepherd, which means that He is both a leader and a companion to His sheep. But throughout the Old Testament, the identity of Israel’s chief shepherd belonged to God, which was often contrasted against the poor shepherding of Israel's leaders.

On his deathbed, Jacob communicated that God had been his shepherd all of his life.

Genesis 48:15 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses):

Then he blessed Joseph and said, 'May the God before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked faithfully, the God who has been my shepherd all my life to this day,'

Psalm 23:1-2 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The Lord is my shepherd, I lack nothing. He makes me lie down in green pastures, he leads me beside quiet waters,

One of the most evocative passages about God's power and care, Isaiah says in Isaiah 40:10–11 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isiah):

See, the Sovereign Lord comes with power, and he rules with a mighty arm.
See, his reward is with him, and his recompense accompanies him.
He tends his flock like a shepherd:
He gathers the lambs in his arms and carries them close to his heart;
he gently leads those that have young

It's not difficult to surmise that by taking on the mantle of "good Shepherd," Jesus was taking upon Himself the identity of the Old Testament's great Shepherd. Back in the garden of Eden, God told the deceiving serpent that he would strike the heel of the woman's offspring, but his head would ultimately be crushed in Genesis 3:15.

Genesis 3:15 is often referred to as the "Protoevangelium" or "first Gospel," as it is seen as the first prophecy of the coming Messiah who would defeat Satan. The "offspring" of the woman is interpreted as a reference to Jesus Christ, who would ultimately crush the power of Satan.

Genesis 3:15 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses):

And I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel.

This came to pass when Jesus was crucified but, in the process, conquered Satan and death. The Bible makes it clear that humanity's salvation was worked out long before Jesus was born. In Ephesians, Paul declares that God chose us to be in Christ before the world was created.

Ephesians 1:4 (written in around 58-60 CE by Paul):

For he chose us in him before the creation of the world to be holy and blameless in his sight. In love.

Revelation proclaims that Jesus (the Lamb) was slain from the creation of the world.

Revelation 13:8 (written in around 70-96 BC by John):

All inhabitants of the earth will worship the beast—all whose names have not been written in the Lamb's book of life, the Lamb who was slain from the creation of the world.

The Lamb's Book of Life: A metaphor for those who are saved and have eternal life through Jesus Christ.

When talking about Jesus as humanity's Savior, it's important to consider how Scripture talks about the role of savior. Isaiah addresses this topic succinctly:

Isaiah 43:3 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

For I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior.

Isaiah 43:10–11 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

"You are my witnesses," declares the Lord,
"and my servant whom I have chosen, so that you may know and believe me and understand that I am he.
Before me no god was formed, nor will there be one after me.
I, even I, am the Lord,
and apart from me there is no savior

Isaiah 45:21 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

Declare what is to be, present it—let them take counsel together.
Who foretold this long ago,
who declared it from the distant past?
Was it not I, the Lord?
And there is no God apart from me, a righteous God and a Savior;

there is none but me

The point is clear. There is only one Savior, and it is the Lord. To call Jesus the Savior of humankind is to call Him God. In fact, Jesus' name literally means "Yahweh is salvation." This salvation is Scripture's central theme. When Jesus appears to the disciples after His resurrection, they're overcome with amazement and joy. Jesus reminds them:

Luke 24:44 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke):

"This is what I told you while I was still with you: Everything must be fulfilled that is written about me in the Law of Moses, the Prophets and the Psalms".

It's obvious from Jesus' statement that He had tried to explain this all to them in the past, but they didn't entirely understand. Jesus had just explained all these things to the travelers on the path to Emmaus.

He said to them in Luke 24:25–27 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke):

25 He said to them, "How foolish you are, and how slow to believe all that the prophets have spoken! 26 Did not the Messiah have to suffer these things and then enter his glory?" 27 And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he explained to them what was said in all the Scriptures concerning himself.

Explanation: These verses are part of the account of Jesus appearing to two disciples on the road to Emmaus after His resurrection. The disciples are confused and saddened by the events of Jesus' crucifixion, not understanding that it was a fulfillment of prophecy.

Verse 25: Jesus rebukes the disciples for their lack of understanding and belief in what the prophets had foretold.

Verse 26: He explains that the Messiah's suffering and subsequent entry into glory were necessary and prophesied events.

Verse 27: Jesus then goes through the Scriptures, starting with the writings of Moses and continuing through all the prophets, to show how they pointed to Him and His mission.

Scripture makes it clear that there is no savior besides God and that salvation belongs to the Lord alone

Psalm 3:8 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

From the Lord comes deliverance.
May your blessing be on your people.

The psalmist acknowledges that salvation and deliverance come from God alone. This is a declaration of trust in God's power and sovereignty. This would explain why Jesus is the central theme of the Old Testament. If He is the Savior of the world (John 4:42, Acts 5:31, Philippians 3:20, 2 Timothy 1:10), He is also God.

John 4:42 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

They said to the woman, "We no longer believe just because of what you said; now we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this man really is the Savior of the world."

Explanation: In this verse, the Samaritans are speaking to the woman who met Jesus at the well. Initially, they believed in Jesus because of her testimony. However, after hearing Jesus themselves, they came to believe in Him directly, acknowledging Him as the "Savior of the world." This reflects the transformative power of encountering Jesus personally and recognizing His role in salvation.

Acts 5:31 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke):

God exalted him to his own right hand as Prince and Savior that he might bring Israel to repentance and forgive their sins.

Explanation: This verse is part of Peter's speech to the Sanhedrin. Peter declares that God has exalted Jesus to His right hand as "Prince and Savior" to grant repentance and forgiveness to Israel. It emphasizes Jesus' divine exaltation and His role in bringing about repentance and forgiveness, highlighting His authority and purpose in God's plan of salvation.

Philippians 3:20 (written in 61 CE by Paul & Timothy):

But our citizenship is in heaven. And we eagerly await a Savior from there, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Explanation: Paul writes to the Philippians, reminding them that their true citizenship is in heaven, not on earth. As citizens of heaven, they eagerly await the return of their Savior, Jesus Christ. This verse underscores the believer's hope and anticipation of Jesus' second coming and the ultimate fulfillment of their salvation.

2 Timothy 1:10 (written in 67 CE by Paul):

but it has now been revealed through the appearing of our Savior, Christ Jesus, who has destroyed death and has brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel.

Explanation: Paul is writing to Timothy, highlighting the revelation of God's grace through Jesus Christ. Jesus, referred to as our Savior, has defeated death and brought eternal life and immortality to light through the Gospel. This verse emphasizes the profound impact of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection on the believer's understanding of life and eternity.

And this explains why an angel would appear to the shepherds after Christ's birth to proclaim this good news:

Luke 2:11 (written in around 61-64 CE by Luke):

Today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you; he is the Messiah, the Lord

Daniel 9:24-27 (written in around 550-530 BC by Daniel)

Seventy weeks are decreed for your people and your holy city: to finish the transgression, to put an end to sin, and to atone for iniquity, to bring in everlasting righteousness, to seal both vision and prophet, and to anoint a most holy place. Know therefore and understand: from the time that the word went out to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the time of an anointed prince, there shall be seven weeks; and for sixty-two weeks it shall be built again with streets and moat, but in a troubled time. After the sixty-two weeks, an anointed one shall be cut off and shall have nothing, and the troops of the prince who is to come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary. Its end shall come with a flood, and to the end there shall be war. Desolations are decreed. He shall make a strong covenant with many for one week, and for half of the week he shall make sacrifice and offering cease; and in their place shall be an abomination that desolates, until the decreed end is poured out upon the desolator.

Explanation:

Seventy 'Sevens' (Weeks):

The term "sevens" is often interpreted as weeks of years, meaning 70 times 7 years, which equals 490 years. This period is broken down into specific segments: 7 'sevens' (49 years), 62 'sevens' (434 years), and 1 'seven' (7 years).

Anointed One (Messiah):

Verse 25 mentions the coming of an "Anointed One" (or Messiah), a ruler. Christians interpret this as a prophecy about the coming of Jesus Christ, the Messiah.

Rebuilding of Jerusalem:

The prophecy states that from the time the decree is issued to restore and rebuild Jerusalem until the Anointed One comes, there will be 7 ‘sevens’ and 62 ‘sevens’ (49 + 434 = 483 years). This period is believed to correspond to the time between the decree to rebuild Jerusalem (which historically happened around 445 B.C.) and the arrival of Jesus.

The Anointed One Put to Death:

Verse 26 says, "After the sixty-two ‘sevens,’ the Anointed One will be put to death and will have nothing." Christians see this as a clear reference to the crucifixion of Jesus, who was killed after His public ministry.

Destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple:

The prophecy also mentions that after the death of the Anointed One, "the people of the ruler who will come will destroy the city and the sanctuary." This is interpreted as the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple in 70 A.D. by the Romans.

Final ‘Seven’:

Verse 27 talks about the final ‘seven’ and mentions a covenant being confirmed for one ‘seven’ and in the middle of this ‘seven,’ sacrifices and offerings being stopped. Some interpretations link this to the events of Jesus' ministry and the subsequent end of the sacrificial system due to His ultimate sacrifice.

Deuteronomy 18:15-19 (written in 1406 BC by Moses)

15 The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your fellow Israelites. You must listen to him. 16 For this is what you asked of the Lord your God at Horeb on the day of the assembly when you said, “Let us not hear the voice of the Lord our God nor see this great fire anymore, or we will die.”

17 The Lord said to me: “What they say is good. 18 I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their fellow Israelites, and I will put my words in his mouth. He will tell them everything I command him. 19 I myself will call to account anyone who does not listen to my words that the prophet speaks in my name.

Explanation:

Jesus as the Fulfillment:

Jesus is the fulfillment of this prophecy. In the New Testament, Jesus is often seen as the new and greater Moses, who brings a new covenant and leads His people in a new exodus from sin.

Authority and Teaching:

Like Moses, Jesus performed miracles, taught with authority, and provided a new law. Jesus' teachings and actions align with the description of the prophet who would speak God's words.

New Testament Confirmation:

In the New Testament, this prophecy is explicitly linked to Jesus. For example, in Acts 3:22-23, Peter quotes this passage from Deuteronomy and applies it directly to Jesus, stating that Jesus is the prophet Moses spoke about.

Acts 3:22-23 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke):

For Moses said, 'The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your own people; you must listen to everything he tells you. Anyone who does not listen to him will be completely cut off from their people.'

Ezekiel 37:24 (written in around 597-573 BC by Ezekiel):
24 "'My servant David will be king over them, and they will all have one shepherd. They will follow my laws and be careful to keep my decrees.

Ezekiel 37:24 refers to a person coming from the House of David as the servant of God, unique Shepherd of Israel, which will rule over the House of Judah (verse 16) and over the Tribe of Joseph (verse 17) so that he will "make them one stick, and they shall be one in mine hand" (verse 19), in a unique nation of Israel. It talks about someone from the family line of David being a ruler over God's people. This person is described as a special shepherd who will lead both the tribe of Judah and the tribe of Joseph, bringing them together as one united nation.

Now, this might sound a bit confusing because historically, after King David's son Solomon died, the kingdom of Israel split into two separate kingdoms: the northern kingdom (Israel) and the southern kingdom (Judah). So, it seems unlikely that this verse is talking about King David himself since he lived long before these kingdoms split.

Ezekiel, the prophet who wrote this, lived many years after King David, around 600 years before Jesus. He was given visions and prophecies about the future, and in this passage, he's describing a future leader from the line of David who will bring unity to the divided people of Israel.

The mention of "David" here is symbolic. It represents a ruler who shares similar qualities to King David—someone who is strong, wise, and chosen by God. This ruler will bring together the scattered people of Israel and lead them in following God's laws.

The prophecy also speaks of this leader gathering the people of Israel back to their homeland, where they will live together as one nation. It's a vision of restoration and unity under the leadership of this chosen ruler.

So, while Ezekiel mentions "David" as a symbolic figure, the message is about a future leader who will come from the line of David, bringing unity, peace, and obedience to God's people. This leader will fulfill God's promise to gather His people and establish His kingdom on earth.

Ezekiel 37:25-27 (written in around 597-573 BC by Ezekiel):
25 They will live in the land I gave to my servant Jacob, the land where your ancestors lived. They and their children and their children's children will live there forever, and David my servant will be their prince forever. 26 I will make a covenant of peace with them; it will be an everlasting covenant. I will establish them and increase their numbers, and I will put my sanctuary among them forever. 27 My dwelling place will be with them; I will be their God, and they will be my people."

They will "live" ('made for thee to dwell' in Song of The Sea Exodus 15:17) in the land. The "dwelling place" (Hebrew mishkan מִשְׁכָּן Exodus 25:9) recalls the wilderness tabernacle. The Sanctuary (Hebrew miqdash מִקְדָּשׁ Exodus 15:17) points rather to the Temple, in particular the renewed Temple, which will occupy Ezekiel's attention in the last chapters of 40–48. Ezekiel's Temple is more glorious than the Tabernacle of Moses (Exodus 25–40) and the Temple of Solomon (1 Kings 5–8), pointing forward to several beliefs:

(1) the glory in which God dwells with man in the Messiah, John 1:14: "The Word became a human being and lived with us, and we saw his Sh'khinah" (שְׁכִינָה Exodus 25:8)
(2) The Messiah's body is the Temple, John 2:19–21: "Yeshua answered them, 'Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up again.' The Judeans said, 'It took 46 years to build this Temple, and you're going to raise it in three days?' But the 'temple' he had spoken of was his body."
(3) the messianic community as the Temple, 1 Corinthians 3:16: "Don't you know that you people are God's Temple and that God's Spirit lives in you?", Ephesians 2:20–22 "You have been built on the foundation of the emissaries and the prophets, with the cornerstone being Yeshua the Messiah himself. In union with him the whole building is held together, and it is growing into a holy temple in union with the Lord. Yes, in union with him, you yourselves are being built together into a spiritual dwelling-place for God!", 1 Peter 2:5 "...you yourselves, as living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be cohanim set apart for God to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to him through Yeshua the Messiah."
(4) the body of the individual believer, 1 Corinthians 6:19: "Or don't you know that your body is a Temple for the Ruach HaKodesh who lives inside you, whom you received from God? The fact is, you don't belong to yourselves"
(5) the heavenly Jerusalem, Revelation 21:9-22:5
Christian belief varies, with one segment holding that the Kingdom of God is not worldly at all, while another believe that the Kingdom is both spiritual and will be of this world in a Messianic Age where Jesus will rule on the throne of David. Christians (in particular Evangelicals) believe that it is both, and claim that it is spiritual (the historical Jesus completed salvation) and within right now, and physical and outward at the return of the Messiah (Second Coming of Jesus as "New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God" Revelation 21:1–4)

Hosea 11:1 (written in around 782-722 BC by Hosea):

"When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son."

Explanation of Hosea 11:1 as a Prophecy About Jesus

Historical Context:

In its original context, Hosea 11:1 refers to God’s love for Israel and the nation’s deliverance from slavery in Egypt. This verse speaks of Israel metaphorically as God's "son," whom He called out of Egypt during the Exodus.

New Testament Interpretation:

The Gospel of Matthew applies this verse to Jesus in a typological sense. In Matthew 2:13-15, after Jesus is born, Joseph is warned in a dream to take Mary and Jesus to Egypt to escape King Herod's decree to kill all male infants in Bethlehem. After Herod dies, Joseph is instructed to bring his family back to Israel. Matthew sees this return from Egypt as fulfilling Hosea 11:1.

Matthew 2:13-15 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

When they had gone, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream. 'Get up,' he said, 'take the child and his mother and escape to Egypt. Stay there until I tell you, for Herod is going to search for the child to kill him.' So he got up, took the child and his mother during the night and left for Egypt, where he stayed until the death of Herod. And so was fulfilled what the Lord had said through the prophet: 'Out of Egypt I called my son.'

Typological Fulfillment:

Typology is a concept where events, persons, or statements in the Old Testament are seen as prefiguring or foreshadowing events or aspects of Christ and the New Testament. In this case, Matthew sees the historical event of Israel being called out of Egypt as a "type" or foreshadowing of Jesus' return from Egypt. Jesus is identified with Israel, the "son" of God, and His journey out of Egypt symbolically reenacts Israel's history.

Jesus as the True Israel:

The application of Hosea 11:1 to Jesus underscores the belief that Jesus embodies the true fulfillment of what Israel was meant to be. Jesus, as the Son of God, re-lives the experiences of Israel, but in a way that brings about their ultimate redemption and fulfillment.

Isaiah 11:12 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

And he shall set up a banner for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth.

Context of Isaiah 11:

Isaiah 11 is a chapter that describes the coming of a messianic figure from the line of Jesse (David's father). This figure, often interpreted as the Messiah, is described as a righteous ruler who will bring justice, peace, and knowledge of the Lord to the earth.

Isaiah 11:1-2 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

A shoot will come up from the stump of Jesse; from his roots a Branch will bear fruit. The Spirit of the Lord will rest on him—the Spirit of wisdom and of understanding, the Spirit of counsel and of might, the Spirit of the knowledge and fear of the Lord.

Gathering the Exiles:

In verse 12, the Messiah is depicted as raising a banner for the nations, signaling a gathering of the exiled and scattered people of Israel and Judah from all parts of the world. This act symbolizes the restoration and reunification of God's people.

Jesus as the Messiah:

Christians believe that Jesus is the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies concerning the Messiah. Jesus, as the descendant of David, is seen as the one who fulfills the promise of bringing together and restoring God's people.

Spiritual Fulfillment:

While the immediate context of Isaiah 11:12 may refer to a physical gathering of the Jewish exiles, Christians interpret this prophecy as also having a spiritual dimension. Jesus' ministry and message extend the invitation to all nations, gathering people into the spiritual kingdom of God.

John 10:16 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

I have other sheep that are not of this sheep pen. I must bring them also. They too will listen to my voice, and there shall be one flock and one shepherd.

Universal Mission:

Jesus' mission is seen as universal, reaching out to both Jews and Gentiles. This aligns with Isaiah's vision of the Messiah raising a banner for the nations and gathering people from the four corners of the earth.

Matthew 28:19-20 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely I am with you always, to the very end of the age.

Christians refer to the foundation of the State of Israel as fulfillment of this prophecy. Others argue that the fulfillment is that Jesus as Messiah brings all nations to himself (cf. 11:10 "Nations will seek his counsel / And his abode will be honored.") citing John 12:32 ("And I, when I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all people to myself.") and Paul in Romans 15:12 when he quotes Isaiah 11:10, emphasizing the inclusion of the gentiles into the people of God.
Some Christians also believe that Isaiah 2:2 is to be understood in connection with Isaiah 11:10,12.

Isaiah 2:2 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

In the days to come, The Mount of the Lord's house Shall stand firm above the mountains And tower above the hills; And all the nations Shall gaze on it with joy.

Some Christians believe that Jesus the Messiah is the ultimate "house" or dwelling place of God, as is told in John 1:14 ("And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we have seen his glory") and 2:19–21 ("Jesus answered them, 'Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up.' The Jews then said, 'It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will you raise it up in three days?' But he was speaking about the temple of his body."). Through him the messianic community becomes a temple in 1 Corinthians 3:16 ("Do you not know that you all are God's temple and that God's Spirit dwells in you?") and Ephesians 2:20–22 ("...built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, the Messiah Jesus himself being the cornerstone, in whom the whole structure, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord. In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God by the Spirit."). It is through the Messiah's exaltation all nations are drawn to him, as in Luke 24:47 ("...and that repentance and forgiveness of sins should be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem.").

Isaiah 28:16 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

So this is what the Sovereign Lord says: 'See, I lay a stone in Zion, a tested stone, a precious cornerstone for a sure foundation; the one who relies on it will never be stricken with panic.'

Explanation and Connection to Jesus:

Cornerstone Imagery:

The cornerstone is a crucial part of a building's foundation. In ancient construction, the cornerstone was the first stone set, determining the position and stability of the entire structure.

Jesus as the Cornerstone:

In the New Testament, Jesus is identified as the cornerstone. This signifies that Jesus is the foundation of the Church, providing stability and alignment for all believers.

In 1 Peter 2:6-8 the Apostle Peter quotes Isaiah 28:16 to affirm that Jesus is the fulfillment of this prophecy. Peter combines Isaiah 28:16 with other Old Testament passages (Psalm 118:22 and Isaiah 8:14) to describe Jesus both as the cornerstone and as a stone that causes people to stumble.

1 Peter 2:6-8 (written in around 62-64 CE by Peter):

For in Scripture it says: 'See, I lay a stone in Zion, a chosen and precious cornerstone, and the one who trusts in him will never be put to shame.'

Now to you who believe, this stone is precious. But to those who do not believe, 'The stone the builders rejected has become the cornerstone,' and, 'A stone that causes people to stumble and a rock that makes them fall.'

They stumble because they disobey the message—which is also what they were destined for."

Psalm 118:22 speaks of the stone the builders rejected becoming the cornerstone. Christians interpret this to mean that although Jesus was rejected by the religious leaders and others, He became the most important part of God's plan for salvation.

Psalm 118:22 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The stone the builders rejected has become the cornerstone;

Isaiah 8:14 refers to the stone being a sanctuary for some but a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense for others. Jesus is seen as fulfilling this dual role, being a refuge for believers and a point of contention for those who reject Him.

Isaiah 8:14 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

He will be a holy place; for both Israel and Judah he will be a stone that causes people to stumble and a rock that makes them fall. And for the people of Jerusalem he will be a trap and a snare.

Isaiah 53:5 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

But he was pierced for our transgressions, he was crushed for our iniquities; the punishment that brought us peace was on him, and by his wounds we are healed.

Explanation of Isaiah 53:5 as a Prophecy About Jesus:

Suffering Servant:

Isaiah 53 is part of a larger section in the Book of Isaiah known as the "Suffering Servant" passages (Isaiah 52:13-53:12). These passages describe a servant of God who suffers and is rejected, yet through his suffering, brings redemption to others.

Pierced for Our Transgressions:

The phrase "pierced for our transgressions" is interpreted as a reference to Jesus' crucifixion, where He was literally pierced by nails and a spear. This suffering was seen as bearing the penalty for human sins.

John 19:34 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

Instead, one of the soldiers pierced Jesus' side with a spear, bringing a sudden flow of blood and water.

Crushed for Our Iniquities:

"Crushed for our iniquities" emphasizes the severity of the suffering endured by the servant. Christians see Jesus’ intense suffering and crucifixion as fulfilling this description, bearing the weight of humanity’s sins.

Punishment that Brought Us Peace:

The servant’s punishment is said to bring peace and healing to others. Jesus' sacrificial death is viewed as the means by which peace with God is restored, reconciling humanity to God.

Romans 5:1 (written in 57 CE by Paul):

Therefore, since we have been justified through faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,

By His Wounds We Are Healed:

The idea that "by his wounds we are healed" is seen as Jesus' suffering bringing spiritual healing and salvation to believers. His wounds, inflicted during His crucifixion, are seen as the means by which humanity is healed from the consequences of sin.

1 Peter 2:24 (written in around 62-64 CE by Peter):

He himself bore our sins in his body on the cross, so that we might die to sins and live for righteousness; 'by his wounds you have been healed.'

John 1:1-2 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning.

Psalm 2:1-9 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

1 Why do the nations conspire and the peoples plot in vain? 2 The kings of the earth rise up and the rulers band together against the Lord and against his anointed, saying, 3 “Let us break their chains and throw off their shackles.”

4 The One enthroned in heaven laughs; the Lord scoffs at them. 5 He rebukes them in his anger and terrifies them in his wrath, saying, 6 “I have installed my king on Zion, my holy mountain.”

7 I will proclaim the Lord’s decree: He said to me, “You are my son; today I have become your father. 8 Ask me, and I will make the nations your inheritance, the ends of the earth your possession. 9 You will break them with a rod of iron; you will dash them to pieces like pottery.”

Explanation of Psalm 2:1-9 as a Prophecy About Jesus:

Rebellion of the Nations (Verses 1-3):

The psalm opens with a depiction of nations and their leaders conspiring against the Lord and His anointed one. Christians see this as foreshadowing the opposition Jesus faced from earthly powers, including both Jewish and Roman authorities.

God's Response (Verses 4-6):

God responds to the rebellion with laughter, declaring His sovereign power and the futility of opposing His will. He states that He has installed His king on Zion, His holy mountain. This is interpreted as God's declaration of Jesus' ultimate authority and kingship.

Declaration of the Son (Verse 7):

Verse 7 is pivotal: "You are my son; today I have become your father." This verse is directly quoted in the New Testament to refer to Jesus, emphasizing His divine sonship and unique relationship with God the Father.

Acts 13:33 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke):

He has fulfilled for us, their children, by raising up Jesus. As it is written in the second Psalm: 'You are my son; today I have become your father.'

Inheritance and Authority (Verses 8-9):

God promises the anointed one dominion over the nations and the ends of the earth. The imagery of breaking them with a rod of iron and dashing them to pieces like pottery speaks to the powerful and unassailable rule of this king. In Christian theology, this is seen as a prophecy of Christ's eventual reign over all creation, exercising divine authority.

Revelation 2:27 (written in around 70-96 CE by John):

That one 'will rule them with an iron scepter and will dash them to pieces like pottery'—just as I have received authority from my Father.

Psalm 16:7-11 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

I will praise the Lord, who counsels me; even at night my heart instructs me.
I keep my eyes always on the Lord. With him at my right hand, I will not be shaken.
Therefore my heart is glad and my tongue rejoices; my body also will rest secure, because you will not abandon me to the realm of the dead, nor will you let your faithful one see decay.
You make known to me the path of life; you will fill me with joy in your presence, with eternal pleasures at your right hand.

Interpretation as a Prophecy about Jesus

Verse 10 - "You will not abandon me to the realm of the dead, nor will you let your faithful one see decay."

This verse is pivotal in the Christian interpretation. The "realm of the dead" (Sheol in Hebrew) and the idea of not seeing decay are seen as references to Jesus' resurrection. In the New Testament, this verse is quoted by Peter in Acts 2:27 and by Paul in Acts 13:35 as evidence that Jesus' resurrection was foretold in the Old Testament.

Verse 9 - "My body also will rest secure."

Christians interpret this as Jesus' body resting in the tomb in security, knowing He would not be abandoned to death permanently.

Verse 11 - "You make known to me the path of life; you will fill me with joy in your presence, with eternal pleasures at your right hand."

This is seen as foreshadowing Jesus' ascension and His eternal place at the right hand of God, which is a recurring theme in the New Testament (e.g., Mark 16:19, Hebrews 12:2).

New Testament References

In his Pentecost sermon, Peter quotes Psalm 16:8-11 in Acts 2:25-31. He explains that David, the author of the Psalm, was a prophet and knew that God had promised that one of his descendants would sit on his throne. Peter argues that David was speaking of the resurrection of the Messiah, that He was not abandoned to the realm of the dead, nor did His body see decay.

Paul also references Psalm 16:10 in his sermon at Pisidian Antioch in Acts 13:35-37. He emphasizes that David served God's purpose in his own generation and then died, but the one whom God raised from the dead did not see decay. Paul asserts that Jesus is the fulfillment of this prophecy.

Psalm 22:1 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

My God, my God, why have you forsaken me? Why are you so far from saving me, so far from my cries of anguish?

New Testament Connection:

Matthew 27:46 and Mark 15:34: Jesus quotes this verse while on the cross: About three in the afternoon Jesus cried out in a loud voice, 'Eli, Eli, lema sabachthani?' (which means 'My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?').

This direct quotation establishes a strong connection between Jesus' suffering and the words of Psalm 22.

Psalm 22:7-8 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

All who see me mock me; they hurl insults, shaking their heads. 8 'He trusts in the Lord,' they say, 'let the Lord rescue him. Let him deliver him, since he delights in him.'

New Testament Connection:

Matthew 27:39-43 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

The people passing by the crucifixion mocked Jesus, shaking their heads and saying, "Those who passed by hurled insults at him, shaking their heads and saying, 'You who are going to destroy the temple and build it in three days, save yourself! Come down from the cross, if you are the Son of God!' In the same way the chief priests, the teachers of the law and the elders mocked him. 'He saved others,' they said, 'but he can't save himself! He's the king of Israel! Let him come down now from the cross, and we will believe in him. He trusts in God. Let God rescue him now if he wants him, for he said, "I am the Son of God."'"

This closely mirrors the mockery described in Psalm 22.

Psalm 22:16 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

Dogs surround me, a pack of villains encircles me; they pierce my hands and my feet.

New Testament Connection:

John 20:25-27 is seen as a prophetic reference to the crucifixion, specifically the piercing of Jesus' hands and feet by the nails of the cross.

John 20:25-27 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

So the other disciples told him, 'We have seen the Lord!' But he said to them, 'Unless I see the nail marks in his hands and put my finger where the nails were, and put my hand into his side, I will not believe.' A week later his disciples were in the house again, and Thomas was with them. Though the doors were locked, Jesus came and stood among them and said, 'Peace be with you!' Then he said to Thomas, 'Put your finger here; see my hands. Reach out your hand and put it into my side. Stop doubting and believe.'

Psalm 22:18 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

They divide my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment.

New Testament Connection:

In John 19:23-24 the soldiers who crucified Jesus divided His garments and cast lots for His clothing.

John 19:23-24 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

When the soldiers crucified Jesus, they took his clothes, dividing them into four shares, one for each of them, with the undergarment remaining. This garment was seamless, woven in one piece from top to bottom. 'Let's not tear it,' they said to one another. 'Let's decide by lot who will get it.' This happened that the scripture might be fulfilled that said: 'They divided my clothes among them and cast lots for my garment.' So this is what the soldiers did.

Summary of Prophetic Elements and Their Fulfillment:

Psalm 22:1 - Jesus' Cry of Abandonment:

Fulfillment: Jesus quotes this on the cross (Matthew 27:46, Mark 15:34).

Psalm 22:7-8 - Mockery and Taunting:

Fulfillment: Passersby and religious leaders mock Jesus (Matthew 27:39-43).

Psalm 22:16 - Piercing of Hands and Feet:

Fulfillment: Crucifixion nails pierce Jesus' hands and feet (John 20:25-27).

Psalm 22:18 - Dividing Garments and Casting Lots:

Fulfillment: Soldiers cast lots for Jesus' clothing (John 19:23-24).

Psalm 34:20 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

He protects all his bones, not one of them will be broken.

New Testament Connection

The prophecy is seen as fulfilled in the events surrounding Jesus' crucifixion:

John 19:31-36 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

Now it was the day of Preparation, and the next day was to be a special Sabbath. Because the Jewish leaders did not want the bodies left on the crosses during the Sabbath, they asked Pilate to have the legs broken and the bodies taken down. The soldiers therefore came and broke the legs of the first man who had been crucified with Jesus, and then those of the other. But when they came to Jesus and found that he was already dead, they did not break his legs. Instead, one of the soldiers pierced Jesus' side with a spear, bringing a sudden flow of blood and water. The man who saw it has given testimony, and his testimony is true. He knows that he tells the truth, and he testifies so that you also may believe. These things happened so that the scripture would be fulfilled: 'Not one of his bones will be broken,' and, as another scripture says, 'They will look on the one they have pierced.'

Explanation of the Prophecy

Historical Context of Crucifixion:

During Roman crucifixions, it was common to break the legs of those being crucified to hasten death, ensuring that they would die before the Sabbath or another significant day. This act would prevent the crucified individuals from being able to push themselves up to breathe, leading to quicker asphyxiation.

Fulfillment in Jesus' Crucifixion:

The soldiers broke the legs of the two thieves crucified alongside Jesus, but when they came to Jesus, they found He was already dead. Therefore, they did not break His legs. This specific detail ensured the fulfillment of the prophecy from Psalm 34:20.

Symbolic Significance:

The unbroken bones symbolize Jesus' perfection and the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies. In addition to Psalm 34:20, this event also relates to the regulations for the Passover lamb, where none of its bones were to be broken (Exodus 12:46). Jesus is seen as the ultimate Passover Lamb, whose sacrifice brings deliverance from sin.

Psalm 69:21 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

They put gall in my food and gave me vinegar for my thirst.

New Testament Connection

This verse is seen as being fulfilled during Jesus' crucifixion when He was offered sour wine (vinegar) to drink.

Matthew 27:34 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

There they offered Jesus wine to drink, mixed with gall; but after tasting it, he refused to drink it.

Matthew 27:48 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew):

Immediately one of them ran and got a sponge. He filled it with wine vinegar, put it on a staff, and offered it to Jesus to drink.

John 19:28-30 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

Later, knowing that everything had now been finished, and so that Scripture would be fulfilled, Jesus said, 'I am thirsty.' A jar of wine vinegar was there, so they soaked a sponge in it, put the sponge on a stalk of the hyssop plant, and lifted it to Jesus' lips. When he had received the drink, Jesus said, 'It is finished.' With that, he bowed his head and gave up his spirit.

Explanation of the Prophecy

Gall and Vinegar:

In Psalm 69:21, "gall" refers to a bitter substance, often associated with suffering and poison. "Vinegar" in the context of the crucifixion refers to sour wine, a cheap and common drink for Roman soldiers.
The offering of sour wine (vinegar) to Jesus on the cross is seen as a direct fulfillment of this verse. The soldiers' act of giving Jesus this sour wine to drink, when He expressed His thirst, aligns with the imagery of suffering described in Psalm 69.
Historical Context:

During Roman crucifixions, it was customary to offer the condemned a mixture of wine and myrrh (or gall) to numb the pain. However, Jesus refused the initial offer (Matthew 27:34) but later accepted the sour wine (John 19:28-30) to fulfill the Scripture.
Fulfillment in the Crucifixion:

The details in the New Testament accounts emphasize that these actions were done to fulfill Scripture. Jesus’ thirst and the offering of vinegar were seen as fulfilling the prophecy from Psalm 69:21.

This event is noted as significant in the Gospels, demonstrating that Jesus' suffering and the specific details of His crucifixion were in accordance with Old Testament prophecies.

Psalm 110:1 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The Lord says to my lord: 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.'

New Testament Connection:

In Matthew 22:44, Mark 12:36, Luke 20:42-43 Jesus quotes this verse to demonstrate His divine authority and identity as the Messiah.
In Acts 2:34-35 Peter cites this verse in his Pentecost sermon to assert Jesus' exaltation and divine authority.
In Hebrews 1:13 the author of Hebrews uses this verse to show Jesus' superiority over angels.

Speaker and Addressee:

The first "Lord" (YHWH) speaks to "my lord" (the king). In Jewish tradition, this could refer to a reigning king or a future anointed one (Messiah).
In Christian interpretation, Jesus cites this verse (Matthew 22:41-46) to point out that the Messiah is both David's descendant and his Lord, emphasizing Jesus' divinity and messianic role.

Right Hand of God:

Sitting at the right hand signifies a place of honor and authority. The imagery reflects the ancient Near Eastern custom where the second-in-command sat at the right hand of the king.
Footstool:

Making enemies a footstool symbolizes total victory and subjugation. This image is also found in Joshua 10:24, where conquered kings are defeated and humbled.

Psalm 110:2 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The Lord will extend your mighty scepter from Zion, saying, 'Rule in the midst of your enemies!'

New Testament Connection:

In Luke 1:32-33 the angel Gabriel tells Mary that Jesus will be given the throne of David and will reign over Jacob's descendants forever.

In Revelation 19:15 Jesus is depicted ruling with a rod of iron, which is seen as an extension of His strength and authority.

Psalm 110:3 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

Your troops will be willing on your day of battle. Arrayed in holy splendor, your young men will come to you like dew from the morning's womb.

New Testament Connection:

In Romans 12:1 Paul urges believers to offer themselves as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God, which can be seen as a response to the call of willingness in the day of His power.
This verse emphasizes the willing service of Jesus' followers and their sanctification, themes prevalent in the New Testament.

Psalm 110 is a significant passage in both Jewish and Christian traditions, often interpreted as a messianic prophecy. This psalm describes a dialogue and relationship between God and a king, who is referred to as "my lord." Here's an in-depth explanation of Psalm 110:1-7, with a focus on its messianic interpretation:

Psalm 110 Verses 2-3 summary:

Mighty Scepter:

The scepter is a symbol of kingly authority and power. Extending it from Zion (Jerusalem) underscores the king's divine mandate to rule.
Willing Troops:

The troops' willingness signifies their loyalty and readiness to support the king. The imagery of holy splendor and dew emphasizes purity and abundance.

Zion Tradition:

This connects to the Zion tradition found in Isaiah 2:1-4 and 60:1-22, which speaks of the central role of Jerusalem and the coming of an idealized, divinely supported king.

Psalm 110:4 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The Lord has sworn and will not change his mind: 'You are a priest forever, in the order of Melchizedek.'

New Testament Connection:

In Hebrews 5:6, 6:20, 7:17 the author of Hebrews extensively discusses Jesus' priesthood in the order of Melchizedek, contrasting it with the Levitical priesthood and emphasizing its eternal nature.

Priest-King:

This verse introduces the concept of a priest-king, combining religious and royal roles. Melchizedek, a figure from Genesis 14:18-20, was both a king and a priest, and serves as a type for the Messiah.

Eternal Priesthood:

The phrase "forever" indicates an everlasting priesthood, which in Christian interpretation applies to Jesus as the eternal high priest (Hebrews 5:6, 6:20).

Psalm 110:2-4 speaks of the Messiah's rule with a scepter from Zion and mentions the eternal priesthood in the order of Melchizedek.
In Acts 2:33 Peter refers to Jesus being exalted and receiving the promised Holy Spirit, indicating His kingly authority and priestly role, fulfilling the roles outlined in Psalm 110.

Psalm 110:5-6 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

The Lord is at your right hand; he will crush kings on the day of his wrath. He will judge the nations, heaping up the dead and crushing the rulers of the whole earth.

New Testament Connection:

In Acts 17:31 Paul speaks of Jesus as the one appointed by God to judge the world.
In Revelation 19:11-21, 20:4 Jesus is depicted as the divine warrior and judge, striking down nations and exercising judgment over the earth.

Psalm 110:5-6 describes the Messiah executing judgment and achieving victory over the nations.
In Acts 2:34-35 Peter quotes Psalm 110:1, emphasizing that Jesus' enemies will be made a footstool for His feet, indicating His ultimate victory and judgment.

Psalm 110:7 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):

He will drink from a brook along the way, and so he will lift his head high.

New Testament Connection:

This verse is often seen as a symbolic reference to Jesus' humility and subsequent exaltation. Drinking from the brook can be seen as enduring suffering or partaking in humanity, and lifting up the head signifies triumph and exaltation.
In Philippians 2:8-9 Paul describes Jesus' humility in His death and His subsequent exaltation by God.

Psalm 110 Verses 5-7 Summary:

Divine Support in Battle:

These verses depict the king as a divine warrior, supported by God to execute judgment and establish justice.
Judgment and Victory:

The imagery of crushing kings and judging nations speaks to the king's ultimate victory over his enemies, consistent with the messianic expectation of a victorious, just ruler.
Lifting His Head:

The phrase "he will lift his head high" symbolizes triumph and renewal of strength, often interpreted as the king's rejuvenation after battle.

In Acts 2:30-31 Peter explains that David, being a prophet, foresaw the resurrection of the Messiah. This is linked to the assurance in Psalm 110 that the Messiah will have a position of authority and victory.
The resurrection is seen as proof that Jesus is the promised descendant of David, fulfilling the messianic expectations.

Summary of Prophetic Elements and Their Fulfillment:

Psalm 110:1 - Divine Authority and Exaltation:

Fulfillment: Jesus' seating at the right hand of God, quoted in the Gospels and Acts.
Psalm 110:2 - Rule and Authority:

Fulfillment: Jesus' eternal reign as depicted in Luke and Revelation.
Psalm 110:3 - Willing People and Holiness:

Fulfillment: Believers' willing service and sanctification as described in Romans.
Psalm 110:4 - Eternal Priesthood:

Fulfillment: Jesus' priesthood in the order of Melchizedek, as extensively discussed in Hebrews.

Psalm 110:5-6 - Judgment:

Fulfillment: Jesus' role as judge over the nations, as seen in Acts and Revelation.

Psalm 110:7 - Humility and Exaltation:

Fulfillment: Jesus' humble incarnation and subsequent exaltation, as described in Philippians.

Matthew 22:41-46

41 While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 "What do you think about the Messiah? Whose son is he?"
"The son of David," they replied.
43 He said to them, "How is it then that David, speaking by the Spirit, calls him 'Lord'? For he says,
44 "'The Lord said to my Lord: "Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet."'
45 If then David calls him 'Lord,' how can he be his son?"
46 No one could say a word in reply, and from that day on no one dared to ask him any more questions.

Explanation:

Context and Question (Verses 41-42):

Jesus asks the Pharisees a theological question about the identity of the Messiah: "Whose son is he?"
The Pharisees respond with the traditional Jewish understanding that the Messiah would be a descendant of King David.

Jesus' Challenge (Verses 43-45):

Jesus cites Psalm 110:1, a psalm attributed to David, where David refers to the Messiah as "Lord."
The specific quote is: "The Lord said to my Lord: 'Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet.'"
"The Lord" (Jehovah or Yahweh) refers to God.
"My Lord" refers to the Messiah.
Jesus points out that David, inspired by the Holy Spirit, calls the Messiah "Lord." This implies a superiority of the Messiah over David.

Implication of the Question:

If the Messiah is David's son (a descendant), it would be unusual for David to call him "Lord," a title implying higher status.
Jesus' question highlights the dual nature of the Messiah:
As a descendant of David (human lineage).
As the Lord (divine status).
Pharisees' Reaction (Verse 46):

The Pharisees are unable to respond to Jesus' question, showing that their understanding of the Messiah is incomplete.
This moment emphasizes Jesus' deeper insight into the nature of the Messiah, suggesting his own identity as both David's descendant and the divine Lord.

2 Samuel 7:14 (written in around 1030-931 BC by Samuel):

14 "I will be his father, and he will be my son. When he does wrong, I will punish him with a rod wielded by men, with floggings inflicted by human hands."

This verse is part of God's covenant with David, delivered through the prophet Nathan. It promises that David's lineage will continue and that his descendants will be established as kings over Israel. This covenant is known as the Davidic covenant.

New Testament Application

Hebrews 1:5 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul):

5 For to which of the angels did God ever say, 'You are my Son; today I have become your Father'? Or again, 'I will be his Father, and he will be my Son'?

The writer of Hebrews quotes this verse to highlight Jesus' superiority over angels, emphasizing that Jesus uniquely fulfills the role of God's Son, a position not attributed to any angel.

Explanation:

1. Davidic Covenant and Messianic Promise:

Davidic Covenant: God's promise to David that his descendants would rule Israel, and through this lineage, God would establish an everlasting kingdom. This covenant is foundational for the Jewish understanding of the Messiah.
Immediate Fulfillment: Solomon, David's son, is the immediate fulfillment of this promise. He built the temple and ruled over Israel. However,

Solomon and his successors committed iniquities, for which they were punished.

2. Messianic Interpretation:

Ultimate Fulfillment in Jesus: Christians believe that Jesus is the ultimate fulfillment of the Davidic covenant. Unlike Solomon and other kings, Jesus is sinless and his reign is eternal. Thus, the verse's reference to "I will be his Father, and he will be my Son" is seen as pointing to the unique relationship between God the Father and Jesus the Son.
Divine Sonship: Hebrews 1:5 uses this verse to emphasize Jesus' divine sonship, a status not shared by angels or any other beings.

3. Chastening and Iniquity:

When He Does Wrong: The clause "When he does wrong, I will punish him" applies directly to the human kings in David's line, like Solomon, who did commit sins and were disciplined by God.
Jesus' Sinlessness: Jesus, being sinless, does not require chastening. However, the concept of suffering is still relevant, as Jesus bore the sins of humanity and suffered as a result (Isaiah 53:5).

1 Chronicles 17:13 Comparison:

1 Chronicles 17:13 (written in 55 CE by Paul):
I will be his father, and he will be my son. I will never take my love away from him, as I took it away from your predecessor.

This version omits the iniquity clause, focusing solely on the father-son relationship and God's steadfast love, which aligns well with the messianic interpretation.

Psalm 41 and John 13:18:

Psalm 41:9 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others):
Even my close friend, someone I trusted, one who shared my bread, has turned against me.
John 13:18 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):
I am not referring to all of you; I know those I have chosen. But this is to fulfill this passage of Scripture: 'He who shared my bread has turned against me.'
Messianic Connection: Jesus quotes Psalm 41:9 to refer to Judas' betrayal, drawing a parallel between David's experiences and his own. This further ties the Davidic covenant and psalms to Jesus, reinforcing the view of these texts as messianic prophecies.

Wisdom 2:12–20 (written in around 50 BC):

12 "Let us lie in wait for the righteous man, because he is inconvenient to us and opposes our actions; he reproaches us for sins against the law and accuses us of sins against our training.
13 He professes to have knowledge of God, and calls himself a child of the Lord.
14 He became to us a reproof of our thoughts; the very sight of him is a burden to us, because his manner of life is unlike that of others, and his ways are strange.
15 We are considered by him as something base, and he avoids our ways as unclean; he calls the last end of the righteous happy, and boasts that God is his father.
16 Let us see if his words are true, and let us test what will happen at the end of his life;
17 for if the righteous man is God's child, he will help him, and will deliver him from the hand of his adversaries.
18 Let us test him with insult and torture, so that we may find out how gentle he is, and make trial of his forbearance.
19 Let us condemn him to a shameful death, for, according to what he says, he will be protected."
20 Thus they reasoned, but they were led astray, for their wickedness blinded them,"

The Wisdom of Solomon is one of the Deuterocanonical books of the Old Testament. The Deuterocanonical books are considered canonical by Catholics, Eastern Orthodox and Oriental Orthodox, but are considered non-canonical by Jews and Protestants.

1. Characteristics of the Righteous Man:

The righteous man described in these verses exhibits several characteristics that are strongly associated with Jesus in the New Testament:

Opposition and Reproach: The righteous man is inconvenient and opposes the actions of the wicked, reproaching them for their sins (v. 12).

Jesus frequently confronted the religious leaders and challenged their hypocrisy (Matthew 23).

Knowledge of God: He professes to have knowledge of God and calls himself a child of the Lord (v. 13). Jesus consistently referred to God as His Father, claiming a unique and intimate relationship with Him (John 10:30).

2. Reaction of the Wicked:

The reaction of the wicked towards the righteous man mirrors the experiences of Jesus:

Hatred and Persecution: The wicked find the righteous man's life and teachings burdensome and strange, leading to hatred and persecution (vv. 14-15). Jesus was hated and persecuted by the religious authorities for His teachings and way of life (John 15:18-25).

Testing and Condemnation: The wicked resolve to test the righteous man by subjecting him to insult and torture, ultimately condemning him to a shameful death (vv. 16-20). This reflects the Passion of Christ, where Jesus was mocked, tortured, and crucified (Matthew 27:27-31).

3. Claims of Divine Protection:

Trust in God: The righteous man claims that God will deliver him from his adversaries (v. 18). Jesus expressed trust in God's plan and declared that He could call on His Father for protection but chose to fulfill His mission (Matthew 26:53-54).

Shameful Death: The prophecy about condemning the righteous man to a shameful death parallels Jesus' crucifixion, which was considered a dishonorable and cursed death (Galatians 3:13).

4. Fulfillment in Jesus:

The passage from Wisdom is seen as a prophecy about Jesus because it closely parallels His life and mission. Key aspects include:

Jesus' Persecution and Death: The specific mention of testing, torturing, and condemning the righteous man to a shameful death aligns with the events of Jesus' Passion.

Vindication and Resurrection: While the passage does not explicitly mention resurrection, the wicked's expectation that God would protect the righteous man if He truly is God's child hints at the vindication that Christians believe was fulfilled in Jesus' resurrection.

5. New Testament Confirmation:

The New Testament writers often drew on Old Testament and intertestamental texts to illustrate Jesus' fulfillment of prophecy. The description in Wisdom 2:12-20 of the suffering righteous man who is ultimately vindicated by God fits well with the Christian understanding of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection. This alignment supports the interpretation that Wisdom 2:12-20 is a prophetic foreshadowing of Jesus Christ.

Zechariah 12:10 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah):

10 "And I will pour out on the house of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace and supplication. They will look on me, the one they have pierced, and they will mourn for him as one mourns for an only child, and grieve bitterly for him as one grieves for a firstborn son."

Explanation and Messianic Interpretation

1. Context in Zechariah:

Zechariah 12:10 is part of a larger prophecy concerning the future of Jerusalem and its inhabitants. The chapter describes a time when God will defend Jerusalem against its enemies and bring about a period of repentance and mourning for the people.

2. Key Phrases and Their Significance:

"They will look on me, the one they have pierced": This phrase is particularly significant in the context of Jesus' crucifixion. The imagery of piercing directly correlates with the crucifixion, where Jesus' side was pierced by a Roman soldier's spear (John 19:34).

"Mourn for him as one mourns for an only child": The mourning for an only child or a firstborn son emphasizes deep sorrow and grief. Christians see this as reflective of the deep sorrow over Jesus' death, who is referred to as God's "one and only Son" (John 3:16).

3. New Testament Fulfillment:

John 19:37 (written in around 85-90 CE by John):

And, as another scripture says, 'They will look on the one they have pierced.'

The Gospel of John explicitly connects the piercing of Jesus during the crucifixion with Zechariah 12:10, indicating that this event fulfilled the prophecy. John's Gospel emphasizes that Jesus' crucifixion was in accordance with Scripture, highlighting the prophetic nature of these events.

Revelation 1:7 (written in around 70-96 CE by John):

Look, he is coming with the clouds, and every eye will see him, even those who pierced him; and all peoples on earth 'will mourn because of him.' So shall it be! Amen.

This verse in Revelation further echoes Zechariah 12:10, suggesting that the recognition and mourning for the one who was pierced is an essential part of the eschatological vision in the New Testament, reinforcing the prophecy's connection to Jesus.

4. Messianic Interpretation:

Jesus as the Pierced One: The piercing of Jesus on the cross and the subsequent mourning by those who recognize Him aligns directly with the imagery in Zechariah 12:10. Christians interpret this as a prophetic foretelling of the crucifixion and the recognition of Jesus as the Messiah.

Spirit of Grace and Supplication: The outpouring of the spirit of grace and supplication is seen in the New Testament through the coming of the Holy Spirit and the call to repentance. This spirit enables people to recognize their sin and their need for the Messiah, leading to genuine mourning and repentance for the one they have pierced.

Mourning and Repentance: The deep mourning described in Zechariah reflects the sorrow and repentance that comes from recognizing Jesus' sacrificial death. This is a key theme in the New Testament, where repentance and turning to Christ are central to the message of salvation (Acts 2:37-38).

Malachi 3:1 (written in around 514-415 BC by Malachi)

"I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the Lord Almighty.

Isaiah 53:1-3 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

53 Who has believed our message and to whom has the arm of the Lord been revealed?

2 He grew up before him like a tender shoot, and like a root out of dry ground.

He had no beauty or majesty to attract us to him, nothing in his appearance that we should desire him.

3 He was despised and rejected by mankind, a man of suffering, and familiar with pain.

Like one from whom people hide their faces

he was despised, and we held him in low esteem.

John 1:23 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

23 John replied in the words of Isaiah the prophet, "I am the voice of one calling in the wilderness, 'Make straight the way for the Lord.'"

John the baptist is quoting Isaiah 40:3

Isaiah 40:3 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

3 A voice of one calling:

"In the wilderness prepare the way for the Lord;

make straight in the desert

a highway for our God.

John 1:26-27 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

26 "I baptize with water," John replied, "but among you stands one you do not know. 27 the one coming behind me, but the lace of whose sandal I am not worthy to untie.

In Exodus 2:5, God told Moses to remove his sandals. To understand this verse, we must consider Jewish culture, as the Old Testament is written in Hebrew, the Jewish language. In Jewish culture, slaves were not allowed to wear sandals. In Luke 15:17–24, when the prodigal son was a slave of others, he wasn't wearing sandals. But when he returned home to his father, he was given sandals, signifying that he was no longer a slave. As Jesus was the Son of God and not a slave like Moses, John the Baptist wanted us to understand biblically that Jesus was not a slave like Moses.

John 1:30 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

30 This is the one I meant when I said, 'A man who comes after me has surpassed me because he was before me.'

John 1:9-10 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

9 The true light that gives light to everyone was coming into the world. 10 He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him.

Isaiah 7:14 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

14 Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign: The virgin will conceive and give birth to a son, and will call him Immanuel.

Immanuel means God with us.

Jeremiah 23:5 (written in around 605-580 BC by Jeremiah)

5 "The days are coming," declares the Lord,

"when I will raise up for David a righteous Branch, a King who will reign wisely and do what is just and right in the land.

Ezekiel 34:23 (written in around 597-573 BC by Ezekiel)

23 I will place over them one shepherd, my servant David, and he will tend them; he will tend them and be their shepherd.

Micah 7:20:

"You will give truth to Jacob and mercy to Abraham, which You have sworn to our fathers from days of old."

It reflects God's unwavering commitment to His promises despite Israel's unfaithfulness.

1. God's Faithfulness: Christians believe that God's promises, made long ago, find their fulfillment in Jesus Christ. God's covenant with Abraham to bless all nations (Genesis 12:3) is seen as fulfilled through Christ's coming, His life, death, and resurrection, which offer salvation to all people.

2. Mercy and Truth: Mercy (steadfast love) and truth (faithfulness) are key attributes of God. Jesus is often referred to as the embodiment of both mercy and truth (John 1:14). Christians see in this verse a foreshadowing of God's ultimate act of mercy through Christ, offering redemption to humanity.
3. Fulfillment of Covenant: The promise to Jacob (representing the nation of Israel) and to Abraham (the father of faith) finds its ultimate expression in the new covenant through Jesus. Paul references this in Galatians 3:16, pointing out that the promises made to Abraham are fulfilled in Christ.

Thus, Micah 7:20 serves as a reminder of God's unwavering commitment to His covenant promises, which Christians believe culminate in Jesus, offering salvation and restoration.

Unveiling Image of the invisible God- the Word/Jesus/Emmanuel before coming in flesh

The name Immanuel (or Emmanuel, meaning "God is with us") appears explicitly in two key places in the Bible:

1. Isaiah 7:14
   "Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign. Look, the young woman is with child and shall bear a son, and shall name him Immanuel."
   This prophecy was given to King Ahaz as a sign of God's presence and protection for Judah.

2. Matthew 1:23
   "'Look, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel,' which means, 'God is with us.'"
   Here, the Gospel of Matthew quotes Isaiah 7:14 and applies it to the birth of Jesus, emphasizing that Jesus embodies God's presence with humanity.

The Hebrew term Immanuel (עִמָּנוּאֵל, ʿImmānûʾēl) is significant as it reflects the promise of God's closeness and His active involvement in the lives of His people.

The name Jesus comes from the Hebrew name Yeshua (יֵשׁוּעַ, Yēšūaʿ), which is a shortened form of Yehoshua (יְהוֹשֻׁעַ, Yəhōšūaʿ). The name means "Yahweh [the LORD] is salvation" or "Yahweh [the LORD] saves" or "The LORD delivers".

Possible Interpretations:

- "The LORD who saves" emphasizes God's active role as Savior.
- "The LORD the Savior" attributes the identity of Savior to Yahweh Himself.

In Greek, the name was rendered as Ἰησοῦς (Iēsous), which then became Jesus in Latin and later English. The meaning highlights Jesus' role as the one through whom God brings salvation, aligning with passages like Matthew 1:21:

"You are to name him Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins."

Someone who is called the commander of the Lord's army or the Angel of the LORD points back to this character who appears and disappears usually to deliver God's people.

In Joshua 5:13–15, the narrative introduces a mysterious figure, "the commander of the army of the Lord," who appears to Joshua as the Israelites prepare to conquer Jericho. This passage is significant in the context of the Angel of the Lord mentioned earlier in the wilderness.

Joshua 5:13-15 (written in 1370 BC by Joshua) (here I used brackets to clarify verses for this article's context only):

"And it came to pass, when Joshua was by Jericho, that he lifted his eyes (he's probably just praying) and looked, and behold, a Man (sometimes you'll find it says 'a man' and then it says it was an angel- it just means a person) stood opposite him with His sword drawn in His hand: (don't forget the sword). And Joshua went to Him, "Are you for us or for our adversaries?" So He said, "No, but as Commander of the army of the Lord I have now come." And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped, and said to Him "What does my Lord say to his servant?" Then the Commander of the Lord's army said to Joshua, "Take your sandals off your foot, for the place where you stand is holy." And Joshua did so.

■Contextual Explanation

1. The Angel of the Lord: Earlier, Moses had spoken of an "angel" who would lead and guide Israel into the Promised Land:

    - Exodus 23:20–21 :
      "I am going to send an angel in front of you, to guard you on the way and to bring you to the place that I have prepared. Be attentive to him and listen to his voice; do not rebel against him, for he will not pardon your transgression, for my name is in him."
    - Explanation
    - Speaker and Context:
        - Speaker: God is speaking directly to Moses as part of His covenant instructions for the Israelites. This follows the giving of the Law at Mount Sinai.
        - Context: God promises to lead the Israelites to the land He has prepared for them (Canaan). This "angel" is presented as a divine guide and protector.
    - "An angel in front of you":
        - The "angel" here (Hebrew: מַלְאָךְ, malʾāk) refers to a messenger or divine representative. This angel is sent by God to guide the Israelites safely to the Promised Land.

    - Some interpret this angel as a manifestation of God's presence, possibly a Christophany (pre-incarnate appearance of Christ), or as a high-ranking angel like Michael.
- "My name is in him":
    - The phrase indicates that this angel carries God's authority, presence, and power. In Hebrew thought, a name often signifies character and identity, so the angel represents God directly.
- "Do not rebel against him":
    - This command underscores the seriousness of obeying the angel because rebellion would equate to rebelling against God Himself.
    - The warning about the angel not pardoning transgressions suggests a level of authority over divine justice.

2. The Figure in Joshua 5:
    - The figure identified as "the commander of the army of the Lord" aligns with this angelic figure because:
        - He wields divine authority.
        - Joshua responds with worship, an act reserved for divine or holy beings.
        - The command to remove sandals echoes God's command to Moses at the burning bush (Exodus 3:5), indicating the presence of God.
3. Not Taking Sides:
    - When Joshua asks if the figure is "for us or our adversaries," the response—"Neither"—emphasizes that God’s plans are sovereign and not limited to human conflicts. The commander represents God’s divine agenda, not merely Israel’s military efforts.
4. Preparation for Jericho:
    - This encounter reminds Joshua and the Israelites that victory comes not by their strength but through divine guidance. The figure's presence affirms God’s active role in leading and fighting for His people, fulfilling the promise given to Moses.

The event referenced in Exodus 23:20–21 is part of God's instructions and promises to guide the Israelites safely to the Promised Land. It does not describe a specific event happening at that moment but instead anticipates their journey and divine guidance. To connect it to related events, here are some key passages:

God's Promise of Guidance:

- Exodus 14:19: "The angel of God who was going before the Israelite army moved and went behind them, and the pillar of cloud moved from in front of them and took its place behind them."
  This event shows God's protective presence through the angel and the cloud during the crossing of the Red Sea.

- Exodus 40:34–38:
  "Then the cloud covered the tent of meeting, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. Moses was not able to enter the tent of meeting because the cloud settled upon it, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. Whenever the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle, the Israelites would set out on each stage of their journey; but if the cloud was not taken up, then they did not set out until the day that it was taken up. For the cloud of the Lord was on the tabernacle by day, and fire was in the cloud by night, before the eyes of all the house of Israel at each stage of their journey."
  This passage reflects God's faithfulness to lead and guide His people, as promised in Exodus 23:20–21.

2. Rebellion Against God's Messenger:

- Numbers 20:2–13:
  "Now there was no water for the congregation; so they gathered together against Moses and against Aaron. The people quarreled with Moses and said, 'Would that we had died when our kindred died before the Lord! ... Moses lifted up his hand and struck the rock twice with his staff; water came out abundantly, and the congregation and their livestock drank. But the Lord said to Moses and Aaron, 'Because you did not trust in me, to show my holiness before the eyes of the Israelites, therefore you shall not bring this assembly into the land that I have given them.'"
  This rebellion highlights the consequences of disobedience against God's appointed leaders and His guidance.

- Numbers 14:39–45:
  "When Moses told these words to all the Israelites, the people mourned greatly. They rose early in the morning and went up to the heights of the hill country, saying, 'Here we are. We will go up to the place that the Lord has promised, for we have sinned.' But Moses said, 'Why do you continue to transgress the command of the Lord? That will not succeed. Do not go up, for the Lord is not with you; do not let yourselves be struck down before your enemies.' … But they presumed to go up to the heights of the hill country, though neither the ark of the covenant of the Lord nor Moses had left the camp. Then the Amalekites and the Canaanites who lived in that hill country came down and defeated them, pursuing them as far as Hormah."

This shows the failure of the Israelites when they acted without God's presence, contrary to His guidance.

3. Fulfillment of Guidance:
    - Joshua 5:13–15
    - Joshua 23:14:
    "And now I am about to go the way of all the earth, and you know in your hearts and souls, all of you, that not one thing has failed of all the good things that the Lord your God promised concerning you; all have come to pass; not one of them has failed."
    Joshua confirms the fulfillment of God's promises, including His guidance through the journey.

The angel mentioned in Exodus 23:20 plays a prominent role in guiding and protecting the Israelites, but the text itself doesn't describe a specific event involving the angel at that moment. However, subsequent events in the Israelites' journey align with this promise. Here are events that involve the angel fulfilling this role:

1. Crossing the Red Sea (Exodus 14:19–20):
    "The angel of God who was going before the Israelite army moved and went behind them, and the pillar of cloud moved from in front of them and took its place behind them, coming between the army of Egypt and the army of Israel. And so the cloud was there with the darkness, and it lit up the night; one did not come near the other all night."
    This event aligns with the angel guarding the Israelites and ensuring their safety as they crossed the sea, a fulfillment of the protective role promised.

2. Guidance in the Wilderness (Exodus 13:21–22):
   "The Lord went in front of them in a pillar of cloud by day, to lead them along the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to give them light, so that they might travel by day and by night. Neither the pillar of cloud by day nor the pillar of fire by night left its place in front of the people."
   While this describes the cloud and fire, the presence of the angel is closely associated with these manifestations of divine guidance.

3. Rebellion and the Angel's Warning:

   - Numbers 22:22–35: The story of Balaam and the angel of the Lord demonstrates the angel's authority and role in enforcing obedience. The angel stands as an adversary to Balaam when he disobeys God's instructions.
     "Then the Lord's anger was kindled because he was going, and the angel of the Lord took his stand in the road as his adversary. … When the donkey saw the angel of the Lord, it lay down under Balaam, and Balaam's anger was kindled, and he struck the donkey with his staff."

4. The Angel and Joshua (Joshua 5:13–15):
   "Once when Joshua was near Jericho, he looked up and saw a man standing before him with a drawn sword in his hand. Joshua went to him and said to him, 'Are you one of us, or one of our adversaries?' He replied, 'Neither, but as commander of the army of the Lord I have now come.' And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped."
   This could be interpreted as the angel mentioned in Exodus 23:20, continuing to guide and lead the Israelites into the Promised Land.

So, this individual appears to Joshua. Joshua fell on his feet and worshiped him. Now are we supposed to worship angels? - No. You're only supposed to worship God.

At the beginning of the Wilderness experience when God told Moses to lead the people out of Egypt this Angel of the Lord appears and he says take your shoes off- this is Holy Ground, and Joshua worships him. Jesus when he was tempted by the devil, he says you are only supposed to worship God. So, this commander of the Lord's army says take off your shoes, it's not Joshua's idea, it's His idea.

Revelation 19:11-15 (written in around 70-96 CE by John) (Brackets ([ ]) are used to explain verses in this article's context only):

“Now I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse. And He who sat on him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness He judges and he makes war (He is leading heavenly army). His eyes were like a flame of fire, [That can be related to how Jesus appears in Revelation 4:1: ("After this I looked, and there before me was a door standing open in heaven. And the voice I had first heard speaking to me like a trumpet said, 'Come up here, and I will show you what must take place after this.'")] on his head were many crowns (He is king of kings). He has got a name written that no one knew except Himself. He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood (this is surely Christ), and his name is called The Word of God. And the armies in heaven, clothed in fine linen, white and clean, followed him on white horses.”

It says all things that were made were made by him- the word.

Revelation 19:15-16: (written in around 70-96 CE by John) (Brackets are used to explain verses in this article’s context only):

Now out of his mouth goes a sharp sword (there's the sword again like Joshua 5:13-15), that with it He should strike the nations. And He Himself will rule them with a rod of iron. He Himself treads the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God. And he has on his robe and on His thigh a name written: KING OF KINGS AND

LORD OF LORDS.

Who is the commander of the Lord's army?- It's Jesus. Who is it that appeared to Joshua? -Probably Jesus

Reiterate that he was worshiped and this individual received the worship. He said “Take your sandal off your foot, for the place where you stand is holy.” [Joshua chapter 5 verse 15]

Revelation 19:10 (written in around 70-96 CE by John)

And I fell at his feet to worship him. But he said to me, “See that you do not do that! I am your fellow servant, and of your brethren who have the testimony of Jesus. Worship God! For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.”

When John is having a vision- this Angel maybe Gabriel, we don't know. This Angel is showing him these things in heaven that John is so overwhelmed with the glory and he falls down to worship the angel. You do not do that, you're breaking commandment. Angel says- I'm an angel, I'm not God. But the other angel receives worship. You see the word angel can be used interchangeably in the Bible- between people and messengers and Cherubim-Seraphim.

Jesus when he's bringing a great message, it means The Messer Angelos- it means the messenger. For instance, in Revelation chapter 1, Jesus said to the seven churches the angel of the Church of Ephesus. Again, was it God telling John to write a letter and mail it to an angel? Do angels get mail?- The angel of the church was the messenger of the church, it was the pastor of the church- who write these letters and give them to the pastors to read to their congregations.

Another time, on two occasions, referring to King David the people and Philistine king, Achish said ‘you are like an angel of God’- meaning he was like a prophet/ messenger of God.

1 Samuel 29:9: (written in around 1030-931 BC by Samuel, Nathan, Gad)

> "Achish replied, 'I know that you are as pleasing in my sight as an angel of God.

So, prior to his coming as a man the Word appeared many times in the Old Testament. Sometimes it uses these phrases in the New Testament referring back to it. They are called Christophany- when Christ appeared to men. The account of the Lord appearing to Abraham and Abraham's intercession for the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah is found in Genesis 18:1–33. This passage is widely interpreted by Christian tradition as an example of a theophany—an appearance of God in human form. Some Christian theologians argue that the figure of the Lord in this passage is a pre-incarnate appearance of Jesus Christ, often referred to as the Angel of the Lord or a Christophany.

■The Lord Appearing to Abraham (Genesis 18:1–2,)

> "The Lord appeared to Abraham by the oaks of Mamre, as he sat at the entrance of his tent in the heat of the day. He looked up and saw three men standing near him. When he saw them, he ran from the tent entrance to meet them, and bowed down to the ground."

Here, "the Lord" (Hebrew: יהוה, YHWH) appears alongside two other figures. One of these is often interpreted as the pre-incarnate Christ due to the divine authority he wields, while the other two are identified later as angels (Genesis 19:1). Abraham's interaction with the Lord suggests he recognizes Him as divine, as seen in his reverence and plea for mercy.

■Abraham's Pleading for Sodom (Genesis 18:23–26,)

> "Then Abraham came near and said, 'Will you indeed sweep away the righteous with the wicked? Suppose there are fifty righteous within the city; will you then sweep away the place and not forgive it for the fifty righteous who are in it? Far be it from you to do such a thing, to slay the righteous with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?' And the Lord said, 'If I find at Sodom fifty righteous in the city, I will forgive the whole place for their sake.'"

Abraham's plea reflects his understanding of God's justice and mercy. The dialogue emphasizes that the Lord, often identified here with Christ in Christian theology, is approachable and compassionate, engaging directly with Abraham's intercession.

Hebrews 1:6 (written in around 66-70 CE by Paul)

But when he again brings the firstborn into the world, He says: “Let all the angels of God worship Him.”

There was an angel that wanted worship that shouldn't have wanted it- Devil.

Matthew 4: 8-10 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)

8 Again, the devil took Him up on an exceedingly high mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory. 9 And he said to Him, “All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship me.”

10 Then Jesus said to him, “Away with you, Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the Lord your God, and Him only you shall serve.’”

When Jesus rose from the dead, did he accept worship? - Yes. Thomas when he finally sees this, he says my Lord and my God, and then Jesus says all hail.

Matthew 28:9 (written in around 60-66 CE by Matthew)

And as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, "Rejoice!" So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him.

So, humans worship Jesus, angels worship Jesus.

If an angel wants to be God is that a sin? - Yes. There's an angel that wanted to do that- Satan. But if God wants to relate to the angels is that a sin? Let's say it differently- if a man wants to be God is that sin? -Yes. But if God becomes a man? Jesus became a man- was it a sin? Because he's stepping down, he's humbling himself to reach us. So why would we think that Jesus can't identify with angels? It's not that he is an angel. He's often called the angel of the Lord.

In Exodus 3:2 God is calling Moses. Moses tried to deliver the people on his own and he failed. When he killed the Egyptian, he had to run from the Pharaoh. He ends up living like a shepherd for 40 years and at the end of that you remember he sees his burning bush.

Exodus 3:2-6 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

And the Angel of the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire from the midst of a bush. So he looked, and behold, the bush was burning with fire, but the bush was not consumed. Then Moses said, "I will now turn aside and see this great sight, why the bush does not burn." So when the Lord saw that he turned aside to look, God called the him from the midst of the bush and said, "Moses, Moses!" And he said, "Here I am." Then He said, "Do not draw near this place. Take your sandals off your feet, for the place where you stand is holy ground." Then He said, "I am the God of your father—the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." And Moses hid his face, for he was afraid to look upon God.

Acts 7: 35 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke)

"This Moses whom they rejected, saying, 'Who made you a ruler and a judge?' is the one God sent to be ruler and I deliver by the hand of the Angel who appeared to him in the bush.

That called that angel God.

Acts 7: 38 (written in around 63-64 CE by Luke)

“This is he who is in the congregation in the wilderness with the Angel who spoke to him on Mount Sinai, and with our fathers, the one who received the living oracles to give to us,

Who gave Moses the Ten Commandments? An angel or God? And God spoke all these words saying. What did Stephen just call him- An angel. Because it's a message from God. They use that word sometimes to refer to God.

The event referred to in Acts 7:38 is a key moment in the Old Testament: God’s revelation of the Law to Moses on Mount Sinai during the Israelites' journey in the wilderness. Stephen, in his speech before the Sanhedrin, emphasizes Moses' unique role as a mediator between God and the Israelites and highlights the presence of an "Angel" who spoke with Moses and delivered the "living oracles" (the Law).

■The Event in the Old Testament

This event is recorded in Exodus 19–20 and further detailed in Exodus 24.

1. The Angel of the Lord
   In Exodus, the presence of the "Angel" is often associated with God Himself. This "Angel" is described as God's messenger, but Christian theology sometimes identifies the Angel as a pre-incarnate Christ (a Christophany), especially because He speaks with divine authority and delivers God's covenant.

Exodus 3:2–6 connects the Angel of the Lord with Moses' calling:

> "There the angel of the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire out of a bush... God called to him out of the bush, 'Moses, Moses!' And he said, 'Here I am.'"

The same figure is implied to be present on Mount Sinai, communicating directly with Moses.

2. Receiving the Living Oracles
   The "living oracles" (Greek: λόγια ζῶντα) refers to the Ten Commandments and the broader Law given to Moses. These laws are described as "living" because they are divinely inspired and provide guidance for life in covenant with God.

Exodus 19:16–20 :

> "On the morning of the third day there was thunder and lightning, as well as a thick cloud on the mountain... The Lord descended upon it in fire... Then the Lord called Moses to the top of the mountain."

Exodus 24:12 :

> "The Lord said to Moses, 'Come up to me on the mountain, and wait there; and I will give you the tablets of stone, with the law and the commandment, which I have written for their instruction.'"

3. The Congregation in the Wilderness
   The term "congregation" (Greek: ἐκκλησία, ekklesia) refers to the assembly of Israelites in the wilderness. This word is significant because it later becomes a key term for the Church, connecting the Old Testament people of God with the New Testament community.

Significance in Stephen's Speech

Stephen references this event to emphasize:

- Moses' role as a prophet and mediator between God and the people.
- The importance of the Law, which the Israelites initially received but repeatedly disobeyed.
- The continuity of God's work from the wilderness congregation to the coming of Jesus, who fulfills the Law.

By mentioning "the Angel," Stephen may be pointing to a divine figure (possibly the pre-incarnate Christ) as central to God's revelation, thus linking the Old Testament and the new covenant in Jesus.

■Reflection in New Testament Theology

- Jesus as the Living Word: While Moses brought the "living oracles," Jesus is the ultimate revelation of God, the "Word made flesh" (John 1:14).
- Mediation of a Better Covenant: Hebrews 8:6 highlights Jesus as the mediator of a new and better covenant, completing what began with Moses.

1 Corinthians 10:1-4 (written in 55 CE by Paul)

Moreover, brethren, I do not want you to be unaware that all our fathers were under the cloud, all passed through the sea, 2 all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea, 3 all ate the same spiritual food, 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them, and that Rock was Christ.

Paul talks about the one who led the children of Israel through the wilderness. There Jesus was a rock. Moses talks about our rock. It's not like their rock- meant their foundation, their defender. But, the one who followed them through the wilderness, Moses said, this angel will go with you. He will bring you into the promised land. And Paul says who is that rock, who is that angel?- Christ.

■Key Old Testament References

1. Under the Cloud
   Paul refers to the cloud that symbolized God's presence and guidance during the Israelites' journey.
   Exodus 13:21-22 :

   "The Lord went in front of them in a pillar of cloud by day, to lead them along the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to give them light, so that they might travel by day and by night."

The cloud represented God's divine protection and leadership, similar to how believers today are led by Christ and the Holy Spirit.

2. Passing Through the Sea
   This refers to the miraculous crossing of the Red Sea, where God delivered Israel from slavery in Egypt.
   Exodus 14:21-22 :

   "Then Moses stretched out his hand over the sea. The Lord drove the sea back by a strong east wind all night and turned the sea into dry land; and the waters were divided. The Israelites went into the sea on dry ground, the waters forming a wall for them on their right and on their left."

Paul equates this event with baptism, as it symbolizes passing through the waters into a new life of freedom under God's covenant.

3. Spiritual Food
   This refers to the manna that God provided in the wilderness.
   Exodus 16:4 :

   "Then the Lord said to Moses, 'I am going to rain bread from heaven for you, and each day the people shall go out and gather enough for that day.'"

Manna sustained the Israelites physically, but Paul emphasizes its spiritual significance, pointing to Jesus as the true "bread of life" (John 6:31-35).

4. Spiritual Drink and the Rock
   The "spiritual drink" refers to the water God miraculously provided from the rock in the wilderness.
   Exodus 17:6 :

> "I will be standing there in front of you on the rock at Horeb. Strike the rock, and water will come out of it, so that the people may drink."

Paul interprets the rock as a symbol of Christ, suggesting that just as the rock provided life-sustaining water, Christ provides living water that leads to eternal life (John 4:14).

Zechariah 3:1-2 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah)

Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right hand to oppose him. And the Lord said to Satan, "The Lord rebuke you, Satan! The Lord, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is this not a brand plucked from the fire?"

How do you say the name Jesus in Hebrew? We say in English Joshua, but in Hebrew it's Yahshua. Did you just notice that the angel of the Lord is commander of God's Army appeared to Joshua the General. Now the Angel of the Lord appears to Joshua the high priest. There are two Joshuas (they're both prophets) that are principle in the Old Testament. One is the general who leads them into the Promised Land. Another one is the high priest who leads them from Babylon back into the promised land. The angel of the Lord appears to them both.

Oppose the word means accuse, accuser of the brethren. And the Lord said to Satan 'the Lord rebuke you Satan'. Why would the Lord say the Lord rebuke you, why wouldn't the Lord say I rebuke you? The Lord is invoking his own name. That comes up later. When Jesus rebuked the devil in the wilderness, he did it in the name of the Lord.

■Joshua the General

In Joshua 5:13–15, the Angel of the Lord appears to Joshua as he prepares for the conquest of Jericho:

> Joshua 5:13-15 :
> "Once when Joshua was by Jericho, he looked up and saw a man standing before him with a drawn sword in his hand. Joshua went to him and said to him, 'Are you one of us, or one of our adversaries?' He replied, 'Neither; but as commander of the army of the Lord I have now come.' And Joshua fell on his face to the earth and worshiped, and he said to him, 'What do you command your servant, my lord?' The commander of the army of the Lord said to Joshua, 'Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy.' And Joshua did so."

Key Points:

1. Commander of the Army of the Lord: This figure, often identified as the Angel of the Lord or a pre-incarnate Christ, leads God's heavenly host. The title emphasizes divine authority over both earthly and heavenly armies.
2. Worship and Holiness: Joshua's act of worship and the command to remove his sandals parallels Moses' encounter with God at the burning bush (Exodus 3:5), signifying the divine nature of this being.
3. Neutrality in Human Conflicts: The commander does not align himself with human factions but represents God's purposes, underscoring that victory comes through obedience to God.

■Joshua the High Priest

In Zechariah 3:1–5, the Angel of the Lord appears in a vision concerning Joshua the high priest, representing Israel's spiritual restoration:

Zechariah 3:1-5 :
"Then he showed me the high priest Joshua standing before the angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right hand to accuse him. And the Lord said to Satan, 'The Lord rebuke you, O Satan! The Lord who has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you! Is not this man a brand plucked from the fire?' Now Joshua was wearing filthy clothes as he stood before the angel. The angel said to those who were standing before him, 'Take off his filthy clothes.' And to him he said, 'See, I have taken your guilt away from you, and I will clothe you in festal apparel.' And I said, 'Let them put a clean turban on his head.' So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him in the apparel; and the angel of the Lord was standing by."

Key Points:

1. The Angel of the Lord's Role: Acts as an advocate and mediator, rebuking Satan's accusations against Joshua, who symbolizes Israel.
2. Filthy Clothes: Represent sin and guilt, which are removed and replaced with clean garments, symbolizing forgiveness and restoration by divine grace.

3. Connection to the Messiah: The Angel of the Lord declares the removal of guilt, foreshadowing the redemptive work of Christ, who intercedes for His people (Romans 8:34, Hebrews 7:25).

■Connections and Theological Implications

1. Christ as Commander and Advocate: In Joshua 5, the Angel is the leader of God's armies, pointing to Christ's authority and role as the divine warrior (Revelation 19:11-16). In Zechariah 3, the Angel acts as an intercessor and redeemer, prefiguring Christ's high priestly role (Hebrews 4:14-16).
2. God's Sovereignty in Salvation and Judgment: Both passages emphasize God's authority over physical and spiritual realms, whether in delivering His people through battle or in cleansing them of sin.
3. Holiness and Worship: The responses of both Joshuas—one bowing in worship, the other being clothed in righteousness—highlight humanity's dependence on God's grace and the need to honor His presence.

Zechariah 3:3-5 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah)

Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments and was standing before the Angel. Then he answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, “Take away the filthy garments from him.” And to him, He said, “See, I have removed your iniquity from you, and I will clothe you with rich robes.” And I said, “Let them put a clean turban on his head.” So they put a clean turban on his head, and they put clothes on him. And the Angel of the Lord stood by.

Is the priest supposed to wear filthy garments? The Book of Leviticus goes into great detail telling us that the garments of the priest should be clean because they represented the Holiness of God as the mediators and the intercessors. The only way you'd have the high priest wearing filthy garments is because he's bearing the sins of the people.

Here you've got the angel of the Lord, who is overseeing Joshua- who represents the people. He's the high priest for the people. His sin is being taken away, his iniquities are being taken away, and clean garments are being given. It's saying the angel of the Lord is instrumental in this sanctification that's taking place.

Zechariah 3:6 (written in around 520-480 BC by Zechariah)

Then the angel of the Lord admonished Joshua, saying, “Thus says the Lord of hosts:

‘If you walk in My ways,

And if you keep My command,

Then you'll judge My house,

And likewise have charge of my courts;

I will give you places to walk

Among those who stand here.

So, the angel is saying he's got the authority to say they're my commands, my courts, my ways.

Remember when Sarah had the bright idea that if she couldn't give Abraham a child in time, that she would hand over her handmade Hager as a surrogate. Then Hager is pregnant and she starts to get a little haughty and Sarah chases her way and she's being persecuted.

Genesis 16:7 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

Now the angel of the Lord found her by a spring of water in the wilderness, by the spring on the way to Shur.

And he communes with her there and listen how she responds after the angel of the Lord talks to her.

Genesis 16:13 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

Then she called the name of the Lord who spoke to her, You-Are-the-God-Who-Sees; for she said, “Have I also here seen Him who sees me?”

It's all talking about the same person who sees- God who sees. And it says, it's the angel of the Lord who saw her.

Genesis 22 when he brings Isaac on the mountain to offer him and the knife is about to come down because Abraham is going to obey God and offer his son.

Genesis 22:15-18 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

Then the Angel of the Lord called the Abraham a second time out of heaven, and said: “By Myself I have sworn, says the Lord, because you have done this thing, and have not withheld your son, your only son-blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply your descendants as the stars of heaven and as the sand which is on the seashore; and your descendants shall possess the gates of their enemies. In your seed all the nations of the earth will be blessed, because you have obeyed My voice."

When do you have an angel swearing by himself? Can an angel make his own word the word of God? Or God says by my own name I swear? It's really interesting the way that all the world would be blessed through Abraham. You and I are blessed through Abraham today because Jesus came through Abraham. And here you have Jesus telling Abraham this promise.

Jacob is after wandering in Mesopotamia he's on his way back to the promised land. He's a little apprehensive. Because he had heard when he was leaving his brother wanted to kill him- for trying to steal the birthright. Now he's on his way back and a messenger said- you know your brother's coming with 400 soldiers. Jacob doesn't have an army. He has got two wives, two concubines, 11 kids, a lot of servants and cattle. He's just going to get slaughtered. So, he's praying for deliverance. He divides his family, he figures if they go after one, the rest will escape. He is trying to do everything humanly he can do. He's praying that God will forgive him, and while he prays through the night a man wrestles with him. I think Jesus came, touched him to answer his prayer, and he is so stressed about his brother coming that he spins around and starts to wrestle with this messenger of Mercy. And I think the Lord goes along with it for a little while to teach us that sometimes we need to wrestle with the Lord in prayer.

Genesis 32:24-30 (written in around 1445-1406 BC by Moses)

24 Then Jacob was left alone; and a Man wrestled with him until the breaking of day. 25 Now when He saw that He did not prevail against him, He touched the socket of his hip; and the socket of Jacob's hip was out of joint as He wrestled with him. 26 And He said, "Let Me go, for the day breaks."

But he said, "I will not let You go unless You bless me!"

27 So He said to him, "What is your name?"

He said, "Jacob."

28 And He said, “Your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel; for you have struggled with God and with men, and have prevailed.”

29 Then Jacob asked, saying, “Tell me Your name, I pray.”

And He said, “Why is it that you ask about My name?” And He blessed him there.

30 So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: “For I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.”

The Bible speaks of a time just before the end- that is time of trouble, when Michael stands up. We're going to go through the time of Jacob's trouble. There we're going to have to wrestle with God in prayer. It says a man wrestled with him until the breaking of day. Man was made lower than the Angels, the Bible says. Jacob was strong. It took several shepherds to move the stone to water the sheep and Jacob did it by himself to impress Rachel (Genesis 29:2–11). When He saw He did not Prevail against him, in other words, Jacob was not going to let go- He touched the socket of his hip which caused incredible pain. The socket of Jacob’s hip was out of joint. This messenger says let me go. Jacob said I'll not let you go unless you bless me. Angel of the Lord said to Jacob what is your name. Did He know his name? Like when God says to Adam where are you, did He know where he was? For our benefit He's saying I want to bring something to your attention. He said your name is Jacob meaning Deceiver. He says your name will no longer be called deceiver, but Israel. He's right now in trouble with Esau because he deceived his father. Who did Jacob see? Who wrestled with him? Who was the angel of the Lord that came to reassure him, that He would be there to protect him? - “So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel: “For I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved.””

You remember the appearance regarding Samson. This Angel appears to Manoa's wife and says you're going to have a boy, it's going to be a deliverer- to save people from the Philistines. He tells her how to eat and how to live. Manoa says oh I'm afraid we're going to mess up, maybe let's pray that He'd come back and He came back. Manoa is talking to Him and after He gives him more instructions the Angel ascends to the sacrifice.

Judges 13:17-18 (written in around 1085-971 BC by Samuel)

17 Then Manoah said to the Angel of the Lord, "What is Your name, that when Your words come to pass we may honor You?"

18 And the Angel of the Lord said to him, "Why do you ask My name, seeing it is wonderful?"

His name is wonderful. You know the prophecy there in-

Isaiah 9:6 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)

For to us a child is born, to us a son is given,
and the government will be on his shoulders.
And he will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God,
Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.

How does Manoa respond after this experience?

Judges 13:22 (written in around 1085-971 BC by Samuel)

And Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, because we have seen God!"

She's being very practical. Jesus has a number of names where he humbles himself. Jesus is called the servant. Of course he's the master of all. He calls himself the son of man- was he a Man? No, he identified with man. He became a man in the Incarnation, but he's much more than a man he's a maker of all men. He's called 'lamb of God', but he's the 'Lion of the tribe of Judah'. He identifies with the greatest message. (will go into details in later chapters)

1 Thessalonians 4:16 (written in 50 CE by Paul & Timothy)

For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

Who is coming down from heaven? - The Lord himself. Cannot be misunderstood who this is.

1 Corinthians 15:22 (written in 55 CE by Paul)

For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ all shall be made alive.

John 5: 25 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

Most assuredly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God; and those who hear will live.

Psalm 7:6 (written in around 440-400 BC by David & others)

Arise, O Lord, in Your anger;
Lift Yourself up because of the rage of my enemies;
Rise up for me to the judgment You have commanded!

In Your anger = time of trouble. That's when he is going to stand up as the commander, he's going to stand up as the judge. He says ‘judge your people’. He's coming to deliver, he's not working as a high priest anymore. Because, when he stands up, people are sealed- the saved are saved, the lost are lost.

In Exodus God says I've seen my people suffering I've come to deliver them. In Daniel 3 someone appeared to Shadrach, Meshech and Abednego in the fiery furnace and king Nebuchadnezzar, said one like the son of Man. Who was it?

The event in Daniel 3, where Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego are miraculously saved from the fiery furnace, includes a mysterious fourth figure seen by King Nebuchadnezzar. Let’s examine the relevant verses and the description of this figure.

■The Key Passage (Daniel 3:24–25,):

> "Then King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished and rose up quickly. He said to his counselors, 'Was it not three men that we threw bound into the fire?' They answered the king, 'True, O king.' He replied, 'But I see four men unbound, walking in the middle of the fire, and they are not hurt; and the fourth has the appearance of a god.'"

■Analysis of the Fourth Figure:

1. The Description in the Aramaic Text:

- The phrase translated as "the appearance of a god" in verse 25 comes from the Aramaic דְּמֵה לְבַר אֱלָהִין (dameh le-bar elahin), which can also be rendered as:
    - "Like a son of the gods."
    - "Resembling a divine being."
- The term "bar" means "son," and "elahin" (plural of "elah") can mean "gods" in a pagan sense or "divine" in a general sense. Nebuchadnezzar, a polytheist, may have described the figure in terms familiar to him.

2. Interpretation of "Son of the Gods":
    - Nebuchadnezzar, astonished at the supernatural deliverance, might not have understood the true nature of the fourth figure but recognized it as divine or angelic.
    - Christian interpretation often views this as a theophany (an appearance of God) or a Christophany (a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ), especially because of the figure's protective role.
3. Alternative Perspective – An Angel:
    - Nebuchadnezzar later refers to the fourth figure as an angel in Daniel 3:28:

> "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who has sent his angel and delivered his servants who trusted in him."

- This description aligns with biblical instances of God sending angels to protect His people (e.g., Psalm 91:11, Daniel 6:22).

■Who Is the Fourth Figure?

1. The Angel of the Lord (A Christophany):

- The Angel of the Lord often acts with divine authority and delivers God’s people (e.g., Exodus 3:2–6; Judges 6:11–24).
- Many Christian theologians interpret this as a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ due to the divine nature of the deliverance and the title "like a son of the gods."

2. An Angel:

- Nebuchadnezzar himself calls the figure an angel in verse 28, and this is consistent with other divine deliverances by angels (e.g., Daniel 6:22, Genesis 19:1–11).

The fourth figure in the fiery furnace is described as having "the appearance of a god" or "like a son of the gods" by Nebuchadnezzar. While Nebuchadnezzar may have initially thought of this figure in terms of his polytheistic worldview, Christian interpretation often sees this as a Christophany (pre-incarnate Christ). Alternatively, it could be understood as an angel sent by God to protect His faithful servants. The text leaves the exact identity open to interpretation, but it clearly conveys the miraculous nature of God's deliverance.

This is Jesus. He's the one who delivered Shadrach and Meshech. He's the one who probably delivered Daniel from the Lion's Den.

God says:

Isaiah 42:8 (written in around 739-686 BC by Isaiah)
8 “I am the Lord; that is my name!
I will not yield my glory to another or my praise to idols.

So, God doesn’t give his glory to anyone else. But, on John 17 Jesus says he glorified Father (verse 1 & 4) and thus asks Father to glorify him (verse 1 & 5).

John 17:1-5 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
1 After Jesus said this, he looked toward heaven and prayed:
“Father, the hour has come. Glorify your Son, that your Son may glorify you. 2 For you granted him authority over all people that he might give eternal life to all those you have given him. 3 Now this is eternal life: that they know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent. 4 I have brought you glory on earth by finishing the work you gave me to do. 5 And now, Father, glorify me in your presence with the glory I had with you before the world began.

Now compare what you just learned with Quran:

Quran 62:1 indicates that Allah is Al-Quddus. Al-Quddus is a name of Allah, meaning "The Most Holy." Ruhul Quddus means spirit of Most Holy.

In Quran 4:171, 3:39, and 19:34 Jesus is clearly described as the word of Allah. We are given limited knowledge about the Ruh mentioned in Quran 17:85. Quran 42:51 says Allah sends revelations from behind a veil.

In Quran 19:17-21, the spirit speaks to Mary as if it is Allah. The spirit took human form from within Allah and says that Jesus was created to be exemplary and favor from Allah for humans. Jesus is called Ruhullah, meaning "spirit of Allah." There is no mention in the Quran that Ruhul Qudus is Jibril or an angel. Even the idea that Jibril is an angel cannot be proven from the Quran. Quran 66:4 implies that angels and Jibril are different. Quran 2:97-98 and 66:4 do not mention Jibril as an angel.

Quran 97:4 implies that angels and the spirit descend, indicating that angels and the spirit are distinct entities. Thus, Jibril and angels are different, as are Ruh and angels.

In Genesis 3 the Devil misguided people by tricking:

1 Now the serpent proved to be the most cautious of all the wild beasts of the field that Jehovah God had made. So it began to say to the woman: “Is it really so that God said YOU must not eat from every tree of the garden?”2 At this the woman said to the serpent: “Of the fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat.3 But as for [eating] of the fruit of the tree that is in the middle of the garden, God has said, ‘YOU must not eat from it, no, YOU must not touch it that YOU do not die.’”4 At this the serpent said to the woman: “YOU positively will not die.5 For God knows that in the very day of YOUR eating from it YOUR eyes are bound to be opened and YOU are bound to be like God, KNOWING good and bad.”6 Consequently the woman saw that the tree was good for food and that it was something to be longed for to the eyes, yes, the tree was desirable to look upon. So she began taking of its fruit and eating it. Afterward she gave some also to her husband when with her and he began eating it.7 Then the eyes of both of them became opened and they began to realize that they were naked. Hence they sewed fig leaves together and made loin coverings for themselves.8 Later they heard the voice of Jehovah God walking in the garden about the breezy part of the day, and the man and his wife went into hiding from the face of Jehovah God in between the trees of the garden.9 And Jehovah God kept calling to the man and saying to him: “Where are you?”10 Finally he said: “Your voice I heard in the garden, but I was afraid because I was naked and so I hid myself.”11 At that he said: “Who told you that you were naked? From the tree from which I commanded you not to eat have you eaten?”12 And the man went on to say: “The woman whom you gave to be with me, she gave me [fruit] from the tree and so I ate.”13 With that Jehovah God said to the woman: “What is this you have done?” To this the woman replied: “The serpent—it deceived me and so I ate.”14 And Jehovah God proceeded to say to the serpent: “Because you have done this thing, you are the cursed one out of all the domestic animals and out of all the wild beasts of the field. Upon your belly you will go and dust is what you will eat all the days of your life.15 And I shall put enmity between you and the woman and between your seed and her seed. He will bruise you in the head and you will bruise him in the heel.”16 To the woman he said: “I shall greatly increase the pain of your pregnancy; in birth pangs you will bring forth children, and your craving will be for your husband, and he will dominate you.”17 And to Adam he said: “Because you listened to your wife’s voice and took to eating from the tree concerning which I gave you this command, ‘You must not eat from it,’ cursed is the ground on your account. In pain you will eat its produce all the days of your life.18 And thorns and thistles it will grow for you, and you must eat the vegetation of the field.19 In the sweat of your face you will eat bread until you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken. For dust you are and to dust you will return.”20 After this Adam called his wife’s name Eve, because she had to become the mother of everyone living.21 And Jehovah God proceeded to make long garments of skin for Adam and for his wife and to clothe them.22 And Jehovah God went on to say: “Here the man has become like one of us in knowing good and bad, and now in order that he may not put his hand out and actually take [fruit] also from the tree of life and eat and live to time indefinite,—”23 With that Jehovah God put him out of the garden of E'den to cultivate the ground from which he had been taken.24 And so he drove the man out and posted at the east of the garden of E'den the cherubs and the flaming blade of a sword that was turning itself continually to guard the way to the tree of life.

After they ate, they knew the difference between good and evil: knew they were naked and worn cloths. But it lead separation of holy spirit (medium of communication between God and human) from them- that’s the death God was talking about, not physical death. Devil kept the truth but tricked. Devil didn’t say clearly you won’t die but the holy spirit will be separated from you. So far you saw Quran commands readers to follow Bible and reveals the identity of Jesus in a very tricky way, and then misguides elsewhere.

They became mortal as they were kept away from the tree of life.

Now read the Genesis 3:15 again:

15 And I shall put enmity between you and the woman and between your seed and her seed. He will bruise you in the head and you will bruise him in the heel.

God told He would put enmity between the woman and the serpent/devil. Between devil’s seed and human’s seed. Later God says “He will bruise you in the head”, meaning that her seed/human will once bruise devil’s head and “you will bruise him in the heel” means that devil will bruise that human who bruised devil’s head. Bible tells us in Romans 16:20 that:

20 For his part, the God who gives peace will crush Satan under YOUR feet shortly. May the undeserved kindness of our Lord Jesus be with YOU.

Revelation 12:7-9:

7 And war broke out in heaven: Mi′cha·el and his angels battled with the dragon, and the dragon and its angels battled8 but it did not prevail, neither was a place found for them any longer in heaven.9 So down the great dragon was hurled, the original serpent, the one called Devil and Satan, who is misleading the entire inhabited earth; he was hurled down to the earth, and his angels were hurled down with him.

Revelation 19:20

But the beast was captured, and with it the false prophet who had performed the signs on its behalf. With these signs, he had deluded those who had received the mark of the beast and worshiped its image. The two of them were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulfur.

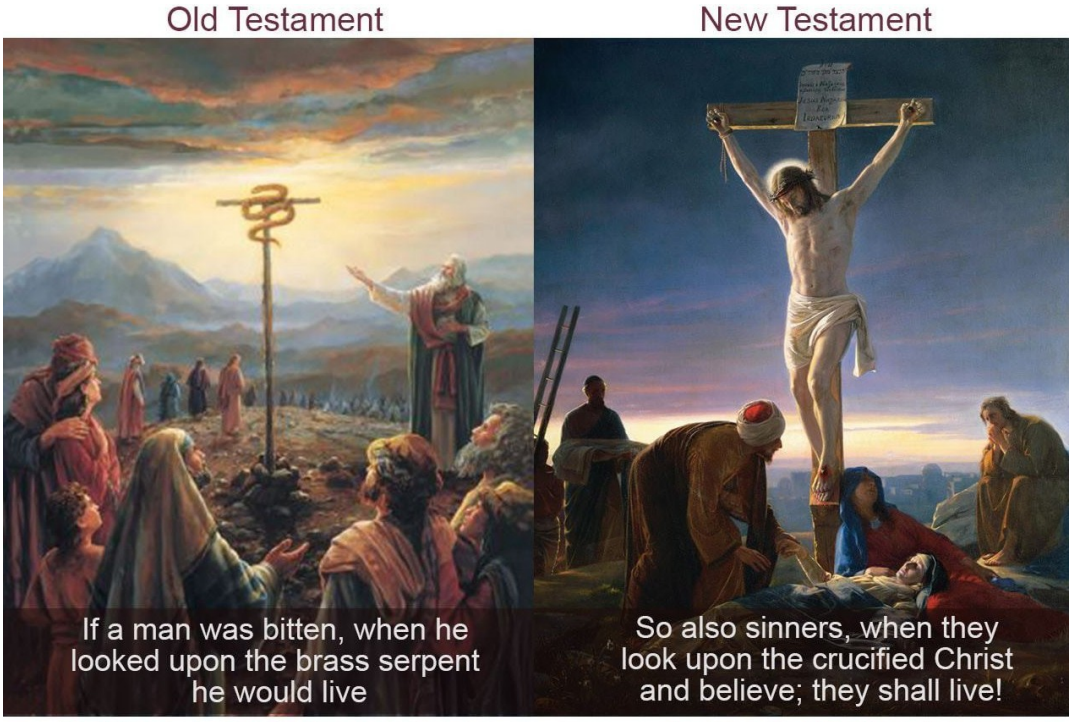
Revelation 20:10

And the devil, who deceived them, was thrown into the lake of burning sulfur, where the beast and the false prophet had been thrown. They will be tormented day and night for ever and ever.

It is clear that Jesus bruises/crushes devil and devil bruised Jesus's heal on the cross. So from the beginning of the Bible God told us the plan how the broken relationship between God and human will be restored.

Numbers 21:9

9 So Moses made a serpent of bronze and put it on the pole, and whenever a serpent had bitten a man and he looked at the bronze serpent, he survived.



Old Testament
New Testament
If a man was bitten, when he looked upon the brass serpent he would live
So also sinners, when they look upon the crucified Christ and believe; they shall live!

So Moses made a bronze snake and put it up on a pole.
Then when anyone was bitten by a snake and looked at the bronze snake, they lived.
Numbers 21:9

As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the
Son of man be lifted up.
John 3:14

John 3:1-21:

1 Now there was a Pharisee named Nicodemus, a leader of the Jews.
2 He came to Jesus by night and said to him, "Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher who has come from God; for no one can do these signs that you do apart from the presence of God."
3 Jesus answered him, "Very truly I tell you, no one can see the kingdom of God without being born from above."
4 Nicodemus said to him, "How can anyone be born after having grown old? Can one enter a second time into the mother's womb and be born?"
5 Jesus answered, "Very truly I tell you, no one can enter the kingdom of God without being born of water and Spirit.
6 What is born of the flesh is flesh, and what is born of the Spirit is spirit.
7 Do not be astonished that I said to you, 'You must be born from above.'
8 The wind blows where it chooses, and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

9 Nicodemus said to him, "How can these things be?"
10 Jesus answered him, "Are you a teacher of Israel, and yet you do not understand these things?
11 Very truly I tell you, we speak of what we know and testify to what we have seen; yet you do not receive our testimony.
12 If I have told you about earthly things and you do not believe, how can you believe if I tell you about heavenly things?
13 No one has ascended into heaven except the one who descended from heaven, the Son of Man.
14 And just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, 15 that whoever believes in him may have eternal life.
16 "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life.
17 Indeed, God did not send the Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him.
18 Those who believe in him are not condemned; but those who do not believe are condemned already, because they have not believed in the name of the only Son of God.
19 And this is the judgment, that the light has come into the world, and people loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil.
20 For all who do evil hate the light and do not come to the light, so that their deeds may not be exposed.
21 But those who do what is true come to the light, so that it may be clearly seen that their deeds have been done in God."

This passage is part of Jesus' conversation with Nicodemus, a Pharisee and member of the Jewish ruling council. Nicodemus comes to Jesus seeking understanding about His teachings. Jesus explains spiritual rebirth through the Holy Spirit (John 3:3-8), the necessity of His crucifixion (John 3:14-15), and the purpose of His coming into the world—salvation for all who believe in Him (John 3:16-21).

Key themes include spiritual rebirth, faith in Jesus as the path to eternal life, and the contrast between light and darkness. Jesus emphasizes that salvation is a gift of God’s love, not condemnation, and that belief in Him leads to eternal life.

So, those who believe in Christ will be freed from sin caused by the devil is foreshadowed.

The word “angel” means “messenger,” “one who is sent/dispatched” in both the Old & New Testaments.

Matthew 10:40:

“He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.”

Jesus makes it clear that He has been sent by the Father and that receiving Him means receiving the Father as well.

Matthew 15:24:

“I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

Jesus clarifies His mission during His earthly ministry, primarily focused on the people of Israel, though His ultimate purpose extends to all nations.

John 5:23-24:

“... that all should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. He who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him. Most assuredly, I say to you, he who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, but has passed from death into life.”

Jesus emphasizes His unique role as the one sent by the Father and connects belief in Him with eternal life.

John 5:30:

“I can of Myself do nothing. As I hear, I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because I do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.”

Jesus expresses His complete submission to the Father’s will, underlining that He was sent with a divine purpose and authority.

John 20:21:

“As the Father has sent Me, I also send you.”

After His resurrection, Jesus commissions His disciples to continue His mission, linking their sending with His own divine commissioning by the Father.

Genesis 48:15-16:

15 He blessed Joseph, and said,
"The God before whom my ancestors Abraham and Isaac walked, the God who has been my shepherd all my life to this day, 16 the angel who has redeemed me from all harm, bless the boys;

and in them let my name be perpetuated,
and the name of my ancestors Abraham and Isaac;
and let them grow into a multitude on the earth."

Genesis 19:24

24 Then Jehovah made it rain sulphur and fire from Jehovah, from the heavens, upon Sod′om and upon Go·mor′rah.

Exodus 23:20-23

20 "Behold, I send an Angel before you to keep you in the way and to bring you into the place which I have prepared.

21 Beware of Him and obey His voice; do not provoke Him, for He will not pardon your transgressions; for My name is in Him.

22 But if you indeed obey His voice and do all that I speak, then I will be an enemy to your enemies and an adversary to your adversaries.

23 For My Angel will go before you and bring you in to the Amorites and the Hittites and the Perizzites and the Canaanites and the Hivites and the Jebusites; and I will cut them off."

Judges 2:1

Now the angel of the LORD came up from Gilgal to Bochim.

And he said, “I brought you up out of Egypt and led you into the land which I have sworn to your fathers; and I said, I will never break My covenant with you, 2 and as for you, you shall make no covenant with the inhabitants of this land; you shall tear down their altars. But you have not obeyed Me; what is this you have done?

Genesis 12:7

7 Jehovah now appeared to A′bram and said: “To your seed I am going to give this land.” After that he built an altar there to Jehovah, who had appeared to him.

Genesis 26: 2-3

2 Then Jehovah appeared to him and said: “Do not go down to Egypt. Tabernacle in the land that I designate to you. 3 Reside as an alien in this land, and I shall continue with you and bless you, because to you and to your seed I shall give all these lands, and I will carry out the sworn statement that I swore to Abraham your father,

Judges 6:11-16

11 Later Jehovah’s angel came and sat under the big tree that was in Oph′rah, which belonged to Jo′ash the Abi-ez′rite, while Gid′e·on his son was beating out wheat in the winepress so as to get it quickly out of the sight of Mid′i·an.12 Then Jehovah’s angel appeared to him and said to him: “Jehovah is with you, you valiant, mighty one.”13 At this Gid′e·on said to him: “Excuse me, my lord, but if Jehovah is with us, then why has all this come upon us, and where are all his wonderful acts that our fathers related to us, saying, ‘Was it not out of Egypt that Jehovah brought us up?’ And now Jehovah has deserted us, and he gives us into the palm of Mid′i·an.”14 Upon that Jehovah faced him and said: “Go in this power of yours, and you will certainly save Israel out of Mid′i·an’s palm. Do I not send you?”15 In turn he said to him: “Excuse me, Jehovah. With what shall I save Israel? Look! My thousand is the least in Ma·nas′seh, and I am the smallest in my father’s house.”16 But Jehovah said to him: “Because I shall prove to be with you, and you will certainly strike down Mid′i·an as if one man.”

Genesis 18:1-5

1 Afterward Jehovah appeared to him among the big trees of Mam′re, while he was sitting at the entrance of the tent about the heat of the day.2 When he raised his eyes, then he looked and there three men were standing some distance from him. When he caught sight of them he began running to meet them from the entrance of the tent and proceeded to bow down to the earth.3 Then he said: “Jehovah, if, now, I have found favor in your eyes, please do not pass by your servant.4 Let a little water be taken, please, and YOU must have YOUR feet washed. Then recline under the tree.5 And let me get a piece of bread, and refresh YOUR hearts. Following that, YOU can pass on, because that is why YOU have passed this way to YOUR servant.” At this they said: “All right. You may do just as you have spoken.”

Genesis 19:24

24 Then Jehovah made it rain sulphur and fire from Jehovah, from the heavens, upon Sod′om and upon Go·mor′rah.

Daniel 7:9

9 “I kept on beholding until there were thrones placed and the Ancient of Days sat down. His clothing was white just like snow, and the hair of his head was like clean wool. His throne was flames of fire; its wheels were a burning fire.

Revelation 1:13-14

13 and in the midst of the lampstands someone like a son of man, clothed with a garment that reached down to the feet, and girded at the breasts with a golden girdle.14 Moreover, his head and his hair were white as white wool, as snow, and his eyes as a fiery flame;

Mark 9:12

3 and his outer garments became glistening, far whiter than any clothes cleaner on earth could whiten them.

Daniel 7:13-14

“I kept on beholding in the visions of the night, and, see there! with the clouds of the heavens someone like a son of man happened to be coming; and to the Ancient of Days he gained access, and they brought him up close even before that One.14 And to him there were given rulership and dignity and kingdom, that the peoples, national groups and languages should all serve even him. His rulership is an indefinitely lasting rulership that will not pass away, and his kingdom one that will not be brought to ruin.

Daniel 7:22

22until the Ancient of Days came and judgment itself was given in favor of the holy ones of the Supreme One, and the definite time arrived that the holy ones took possession of the kingdom itself.

Habakkuk 1:12

12 Are you not from long ago, O Jehovah? O my God, my Holy One, you do not die. O Jehovah, for a judgment you have set it; and, O Rock, for a reproving you have founded it.

Ezekiel 9 describes a vision the prophet Ezekiel has concerning judgment on the inhabitants of Jerusalem. In the chapter, God calls for a group of executioners to come and carry out divine judgment. Among these is a man dressed in linen, who has a writing kit at his side. His role is different from that of the executioners.

- The Marking of the Righteous: The man in linen is instructed by God to go through the city of Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of those who "sigh and cry" over the abominations happening in the city. This mark would protect them from the coming judgment.

Ezekiel 9:3-4:

> Now the glory of the God of Israel had gone up from the cherub, where it had been, to the threshold of the temple. And He called to the man clothed with linen, who had the writer’s inkhorn at his side; and the Lord said to him, “Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and put a mark on the foreheads of the men who sigh and cry over all the abominations that are done within it."

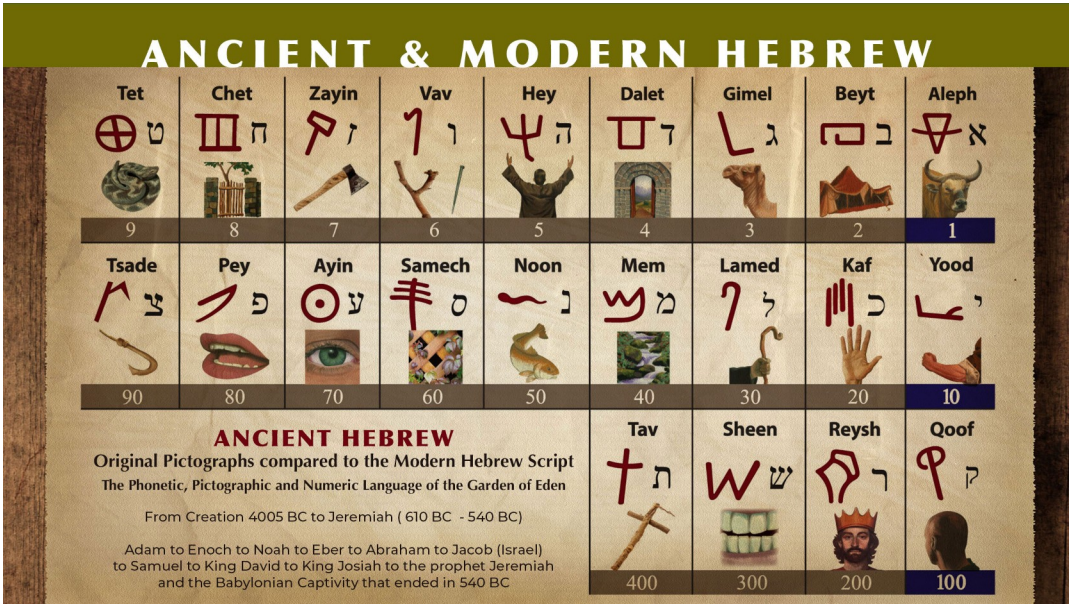
- Judgment on the Wicked: After the man in linen marks the righteous, the executioners are commanded to follow him and strike down everyone who does not have the mark, starting at the temple. The judgment is severe, sparing neither young nor old, man nor woman, except for those with the mark.

Ezekiel 9:5-6:

> To the others He said in my hearing, "Go after him through the city and kill; do not let your eye spare, nor have any pity. Utterly slay old and young men, maidens and little children and women; but do not come near anyone on whom is the mark; and begin at My sanctuary." So they began with the elders who were before the temple.

- Report to God: After completing his task, the man in linen returns to report to God, saying, "I have done as You commanded."

The word 'mark' that was given on the forehead by the man in linen was translated from Hebrew alphabet 'Tav'.



Which looks exactly like Christian cross in early Hebrew (contemporary of Ezekiel's time). Those who haven't received the mark was slayed by the executioners. Jewish scholars are keeping a lot about Jesus under the rug.

Ezekiel 9:11:

> Just then, the man clothed with linen, who had the inkhorn at his side, reported back and said, “I have done as You commanded me.”

Ezekiel 10 describes a powerful vision of God's presence leaving the temple in Jerusalem. The chapter emphasizes God's holiness and judgment, using striking imagery, including cherubim, wheels, and fire. The reference to a man in linen (likely linen, a white, clean garment representing purity) appears in Ezekiel 10:2 and a few other places in Ezekiel.

Here’s what happens in Ezekiel 10 regarding the man in linen:

- Ezekiel 10:2: God commands the man clothed in linen to go among the wheels under the cherubim, fill his hands with burning coals, and scatter them over the city. This act symbolizes God's judgment and the purification of Jerusalem.
- Ezekiel 10:6-7: The man in linen carries out the command by taking the fire from the midst of the cherubim and scattering it, signifying the coming destruction of Jerusalem.

The "man clothed in linen" represents an agent of God's will, acting under divine instruction, particularly in the context of judgment and purification. The linen garment symbolizes purity and righteousness, underscoring the role of divine judgment carried out with righteousness and justice.

The whole chapter vividly portrays the glory of God departing from the temple and the coming destruction of the city, tying in with Ezekiel’s broader theme of the fall of Jerusalem as a result of the people's sin and God's righteous judgment.

Ezekiel 10:1-7

1 Then I looked, and above the dome that was over the heads of the cherubim there appeared above them something like a sapphire, in form resembling a throne. 2 He said to the man clothed in linen, “Go within the wheelwork underneath the cherubim; fill your hands with burning coals from among the cherubim, and scatter them over the city.” He went in as I looked on.

3 Now the cherubim were standing on the south side of the house when the man went in, and a cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord rose up from the cherub to the threshold of the house; the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of the glory of the Lord.

5 The sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, like the voice of God Almighty[a] when he speaks.

6 When he commanded the man clothed in linen, "Take fire from within the wheelwork, from among the cherubim," he went in and stood beside a wheel.

7 And a cherub stretched out his hand from among the cherubim to the fire that was among them, took some of it, and put it into the hands of the man clothed in linen, who took it and went out.

Linen symbolizes purity. This is a symbolic vision and the man in linen can be Christ.

Fifty-five years later, Daniel saw a vision of a man clothed in linen:

"Now on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, that is, the Tigris, I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, a certain man clothed in linen, whose waist was girded with gold of Uphaz!" (Daniel 10:4-5)

From the description of the man in linen in verse 6, it can be understood that this was a vision of Jesus. The verse reads:

"His body was like beryl, his face like the appearance of lightning, his eyes like torches of fire, his arms and feet like burnished bronze in color, and the sound of his words like the voice of a multitude" (Daniel 10:6).

This is the same symbolism that is used in Revelation.

Revelation 1:13-16 :

> 13 "and in the midst of the lampstands I saw one like the Son of Man, clothed with a long robe and with a golden sash across his chest. 14 His head and his hair were white as white wool, white as snow; his eyes were like a flame of fire; 15 his feet were like burnished bronze, refined as in a furnace, and his voice was like the sound of many waters. 16 In his right hand he held seven stars, and from his mouth came a sharp, two-edged sword, and his face was like the sun shining with full force."

■Key Greek Terms with Pronunciation:

1. Son of Man - Ὁ Υἱὸς τοῦ Ἀνθρώπου (Ho Huios tou Anthropou): A title emphasizing Christ's humanity and divine authority, rooted in Daniel 7:13-14.

13 "As I watched in the night visions, I saw one like a human being coming with the clouds of heaven. And he came to the Ancient of Days and was presented before him. 14 To him was given dominion and glory and kingship, that all peoples, nations, and languages should serve him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that shall not pass away, and his kingship is one that shall never be destroyed."

1. Clouds of heaven - עִם עֲנָנֵי שְׁמַיָּא (Im Ananei Shemayya): Symbolic of divine presence and authority, as the clouds are often associated with God's glory (cf. Exodus 13:21, Psalm 104:3).

Exodus 13:21

"The LORD went in front of them in a pillar of cloud by day, to lead them along the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to give them light, so that they might travel by day and by night."

- Context: This verse describes God leading the Israelites out of Egypt, manifesting His presence in the form of a cloud during the day. The pillar of cloud signifies His guidance and divine presence.

Psalm 104:3

"You lay the beams of your chambers on the waters; you make the clouds your chariot; you ride on the wings of the wind."

- Context: This poetic description of God portrays Him as riding upon the clouds, a symbol of His majesty, power, and sovereignty over creation.

2. Eyes like a flame of fire - ὀφθαλμοὶ ὡς φλὸξ πυρός (ophthalmoi hōs phlox pyros): Symbolizing Christ's omniscience and penetrating judgment.
3. Feet like burnished bronze - πόδες ὅμοιοι χαλκολιβάνῳ (podes homoioi chalkolibanō): Indicates strength, purity, and authority in judgment.
4. Voice like many waters - φωνὴ ὡς φωνὴ ὑδάτων πολλῶν (phōnē hōs phōnē hydatōn pollōn): Represents overwhelming power and divine authority.
5. Sharp two-edged sword - ῥομφαία δίστομος (rhomphaia distomos): A symbol of Christ's word, which is incisive and carries judgment (cf. Hebrews 4:12).
6. One Like a Human Being" (Aramaic: בַּר אֱנָשׁ, bar enash):

- This figure appears "coming with the clouds of heaven," which symbolizes divine authority and power (Psalm 104:3; Isaiah 19:1). In ancient Near Eastern culture, riding the clouds was often an attribute of deity, highlighting the divine nature of this figure.
- He approaches the "Ancient of Days" (a title for God the Father) and is presented before Him, signifying a commissioning or bestowal of authority.

"Indeed, the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing until it divides soul from spirit, joints from marrow; it is able to judge the thoughts and intentions of the heart."

7. Face like the sun shining - πρόσωπον ὡς ὁ ἥλιος (prosōpon hōs ho hēlios): Reflecting Christ's divine glory and majesty.

■Daniel 10:6 Symbolism:

1. Body like beryl:
    - Beryl, a precious gemstone, often symbolizes purity, beauty, and value. It highlights the divine, transcendent nature of the figure Daniel sees.
2. Face like lightning:
    - Lightning reflects overwhelming brilliance and power, evoking awe and the fear of God's presence.
3. Eyes like torches of fire:
    - Fire signifies judgment, omniscience, and penetrating insight, seeing through all things.
4. Arms and feet like burnished bronze:
    - Burnished bronze suggests strength, stability, and purity, refined through fire.
5. Voice like the sound of a multitude:
    - A voice of great power and authority, overwhelming in its resonance and impact, reflecting the voice of God.

Revelation 1:13-16 Comparison:

1. Clothed with a robe reaching to His feet (v. 13):
    - Indicates divine priesthood and authority.
2. Eyes like a flame of fire (v. 14):
    - The same imagery of penetrating judgment and omniscience.
3. Feet like fine brass, as if refined in a furnace (v. 15):
    - Parallels the burnished bronze in Daniel, symbolizing purity through judgment and strength.
4. Voice as the sound of many waters (v. 15):
    - Similar to the sound of a multitude, conveying authority and awe-inspiring power.
5. Countenance like the sun shining in its strength (v. 16):
    - Reflects the lightning-like brilliance of Daniel's vision, representing divine glory.

Key Connections:

1. Both passages describe a divine being with overwhelming majesty and power, symbolizing aspects of God's nature: purity, omniscience, authority, and glory.
2. The continuity in symbolism suggests that the being Daniel saw was a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ (a Christophany), while John's vision in Revelation portrays the risen, glorified Christ.
3. These descriptions emphasize God's role as judge and sovereign ruler over history, aligning with the themes of both Daniel and Revelation, which focus on God's ultimate triumph and the establishment of His kingdom.

Daniel was then told by the person who touched him the unfolding of the end times. "At the time of the end the king of the South shall attack him; and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter the countries, overwhelm them, and pass through" (Daniel 11:40).

The vision concluded with the prophecy of a time of great tribulation at the end of the last kingdom. Someone standing on the bank of the river asked the man clothed in linen how long this would be. For the first time, the man in linen spoke and answered:

"Then I heard the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by Him who lives forever, that it shall be for a time, times, and half a time; and when the power of the holy people has been completely shattered, all these things shall be finished." (Daniel 12:7)

The "man clothed in linen" swears by the eternal God and delivers a prophecy about the culmination of history. If all prophecy testifies to Jesus (Revelation 19:10: "the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy"), this reinforces the idea that the figure in Daniel 12 clothed in linen is Christ Himself or a Christophany (a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ). And it's a vision, not a physical appearance (as none has seen Father).

Revelation is the third time where there is reference to the apparel of the man in linen. In Revelation 19:13, it speaks of the Rider on the white horse who was clothed with a garment dipped in blood: "He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood, and His name is called The Word of God."

The Greek word for garment in this text is ἱμάτιον (himation). It refers to the outer garment. This takes one back in history to the Passover meal which Jesus ate with His disciples. At this occasion, "He rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself. After that, He poured water into a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet" (John 13:4-5).

Now, John does not see the Jesus that took off His garment, but the Jesus that is coming to judge the nations fully dressed in military apparel. On His himation, the outer garment, are the words written:

"And He has on His robe and on His thigh a name written: KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS." (Revelation 19:16)

1 Corinthians 10:1-4

1 Now I do not want YOU to be ignorant, brothers, that our forefathers were all under the cloud and all passed through the sea 2 and all got baptized into Moses by means of the cloud and of the sea; 3 and all ate the same spiritual food 4 and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they used to drink from the spiritual rock-mass that followed them, and that rock-mass meant the Christ.

Now match up 1 Corinthians 10:1-4 with the bellow verses:

Exodus 13:21

And Jehovah was going ahead of them in the daytime in a pillar of cloud to lead them by the way, and in the nighttime in a pillar of fire to give them light to go in the daytime and nighttime.

Exodus 14:21-22

21 Moses now stretched his hand out over the sea; and Jehovah began making the sea go back by a strong east wind all night long and converting the sea basin into dry ground, and the waters were being split apart.22 At length the sons of Israel went through the midst of the sea on dry land, while the waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left.

Exodus 16:15

15 When the sons of Israel got to see it, they began to say to one another: "What is it?" For they did not know what it was. Hence Moses said to them: "It is the bread that Jehovah has given you for food.

Exodus 17:5-6

5 Then Jehovah said to Moses: "Pass in front of the people and take with you some of the older men of Israel and your rod with which you struck the Nile River. Take it in your hand and you must walk on. 6 Look! I am standing before you there on the rock in Ho′reb. And you must strike on the rock, and water must come out of it, and the people must drink it.” Subsequently Moses did so under the eyes of the older men of Israel.

Numbers 20:7-11

7 Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying:8 “Take the rod and call the assembly together, you and Aaron your brother, and you must speak to the crag before their eyes that it may indeed give its water; and you must bring out water for them from the crag and give the assembly and their beasts of burden drink.”9 So Moses took the rod from before Jehovah, just as he had commanded him.10 After that Moses and Aaron called the congregation together before the crag, and he proceeded to say to them: “Hear, now, you rebels! Is it from this crag that we shall bring out water for you?”11 With that Moses lifted his hand up and struck the crag with his rod twice; and much water began to come out, and the assembly and their beasts of burden began to drink.

Recap: Who is Angel of the Lord?

When King Humbert of Italy became king, the city of Naples was close to rebelling against him. Some politicians wanted to use violence to force the people to obey, but the king refused to allow this. Then, cholera, a terrible disease, suddenly broke out in the city and spread quickly.
Despite warnings from his advisers, the young king decided to leave his palace and visit the crowded hospitals of Naples alone. He was deeply moved by love and devotion for his people, even though many were against him. King Humbert personally cared for the sick, helping them with his own hands. Many of the suffering people prayed with gratitude for this kind nurse, not realizing that he was actually the king.

When the cholera outbreak was finally under control, many people found out the true identity of their noble caregiver. This act of kindness and compassion won over the hearts of the people of Naples. Instead of being conquered by force, Naples was won over by the love and pity of the king. From that time on, the people of Naples became the most loyal subjects of King Humbert.

To know the real identity of this mysterious being angel of the Lord, we use the technique from the Scriptures:
Isaiah 28:10

> For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little.

Explanation: This verse describes how God's teachings are meant to be given step-by-step, in a clear and orderly fashion (progressive revelation). The repetition of "precept upon precept; line upon line" emphasizes the methodical and incremental nature of divine instruction.

Because the word "angel" means messenger, it is used very freely and broadly in Scripture. Sometimes, men are called angels:

1 Samuel 29:9: "But Achish answered, 'I know that you have been as pleasing in my eyes as an angel of God; nevertheless, the Philistine commanders have said, ‘He must not go up with us into battle.’""

Galatians 4:14: "Even though my illness was a trial to you, you did not treat me with contempt or scorn. Instead, you welcomed me as if I were an angel of God, as if I were Christ Jesus himself."

Sometimes angels are called men:

Genesis 32:24: "So Jacob was left alone, and a man wrestled with him till daybreak."

And in other places, as will be soon see, God Himself is identified as an angel! Of course, even angels are called angels. Typically, when a person thinks of an angel, they picture as winged ministering spirits as angels, Seraphim, or Cherubim. Unlike Jesus, these celestial beings are created. Any comparison made to Jesus as an angel in this study is simply in the classical sense as a greatest messenger of salvation and is in no way intended to diminish from His eternal divinity.

The Key Is in the Name

First, let's consider the meaning of some words and names. In the Greek New Testament, the word "angel" means "messenger". One angel did profess to be like God. That covering cherub fallen from the heavenly courts is Lucifer, who became the devil or Satan, by claiming to "be like the most High" Isaiah 14:14.

The Angel of the Lord

The phrase "angel of the Lord" is found 68 times in Scripture.

Old Testament References

Genesis 16:7

"In all their distress he too was distressed, and the angel of his presence saved them. In his love and mercy he redeemed them; he lifted them up and carried them all the days of old."

Daniel 6:22

"My God sent his angel, and he shut the mouths of the lions. They have not hurt me, because I was found innocent in his sight. Nor have I ever done any wrong before you, Your Majesty."

Zechariah 1:11-12

"And they reported to the angel of the Lord who was standing among the myrtle trees, 'We have gone throughout the earth and found the whole world at rest and in peace.'"

"Then the angel of the Lord said, 'Lord Almighty, how long will you withhold mercy from Jerusalem and from the towns of Judah, which you have been angry with these seventy years?'"

Zechariah 3:1-6

"Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right side to accuse him."

"The Lord said to Satan, 'The Lord rebuke you, Satan! The Lord, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is not this man a burning stick snatched from the fire?'"

"Now Joshua was dressed in filthy clothes as he stood before the angel."

"The angel said to those who were standing before him, 'Take off his filthy clothes.' Then he said to Joshua, 'See, I have taken away your sin, and I will put fine garments on you.'"

"Then I said, 'Put a clean turban on his head.' So they put a clean turban on his head and clothed him, while the angel of the Lord stood by."

"The angel of the Lord gave this charge to Joshua:"

Zechariah 12:8

"On that day the Lord will shield those who live in Jerusalem, so that the feeblest among them will be like David, and the house of David will be like God, like the angel of the Lord going before them."

Genesis 21:17

"God heard the boy crying, and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven and said to her, 'What is the matter, Hagar? Do not be afraid; God has heard the boy crying as he lies there.'

Exodus 23:20-23
"See, I am sending an angel ahead of you to guard you along the way and to bring you to the place I have prepared. Pay attention to him and listen to what he says. Do not rebel against him; he will not forgive your rebellion, since my Name is in him. If you listen carefully to what he says and do all that I say, I will be an enemy to your enemies and will oppose those who oppose you. My angel will go ahead of you and bring you into the land of the Amorites..."

Exodus 33:2
"I will send an angel before you and drive out the Canaanites, Amorites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites."

Judges 13:9
"God heard Manoah, and the angel of God came again to the woman while she was sitting out in the field; but her husband Manoah was not with her."

"Suddenly an angel of the Lord appeared and a light shone in the cell. He struck Peter on the side and woke him up. 'Quick, get up!' he said, and the chains fell off Peter’s wrists."

Acts 12:23

"Immediately, because Herod did not give praise to God, an angel of the Lord struck him down, and he was eaten by worms and died."

Acts 23:9

"There was a great uproar, and some of the teachers of the law who were Pharisees stood up and argued vigorously. 'We find nothing wrong with this man,' they said. 'What if a spirit or an angel has spoken to him?'"

Revelation 22:6

"The angel said to me, 'These words are trustworthy and true. The Lord, the God who inspires the prophets, sent his angel to show his servants the things that must soon take place.'"

Sometimes it applies to Gabriel who appeared to Daniel, Zacharias, and Mary. But Gabriel is called "an" angel of the Lord:

Luke 1:11

"Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right side of the altar of incense."

He is not referred to as "the" angel of the Lord. Neither is he ever called the archangel. (And while we're on the subject, the popular angel Raphael does not appear anywhere in Scripture.) Gabriel is probably one of the two covering cherubs who flank the throne of God. Remember that he said to Zacharias, "I am Gabriel, who stands in the presence of God," (Luke 1:19). Lucifer once held the other position before his fall:

Ezekiel 28:14

"You were anointed as a guardian cherub, for so I ordained you. You were on the holy mount of God; you walked among the fiery stones."

If the highest rank held by an angel is that of the covering cherubs by the throne of God then who and what is an archangel? And who is this mighty individual identified as "the angel of the Lord" who performs such prominent roles in the redemption of man? God the Father created all things through Jesus:

Hebrews 1:2

"But in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom also he made the universe."

Ephesians 3:9

"and to make plain to everyone the administration of this mystery, which for ages past was kept hidden in God, who created all things."

It is not implausible to assume that if Christ came to earth and became a man in His battle against Satan to save human beings, He might also have in some way identified with the angels to protect them from Satan's evil influence. In fact, there are several references in Scripture to a mysterious being identified as "the angel of the Lord" before Christ's earthly incarnation. Yet each time He is mentioned, there are clues to His identity. Let's review them briefly in the order in which they appear:

Hagar

After Hagar the handmaid of Abraham bore Ishmael, she and the barren Sarah could no longer coexist peacefully. Sarah dealt severely with her now haughty hand- maid until Hagar fled into the desert. "And the angel of the Lord found her by a fountain of water in the wilderness" (Genesis 16:7). The angel told Hagar to go back and submit to Sarah and promised that her son, Ishmael, would be the father of a great nation. When the "angel" disappeared, Hagar said she has seen who sees her.

Genesis 16:13:

"She gave this name to the Lord who spoke to her: 'You are the God who sees me,' for she said, 'I have now seen the One who sees me.'"

It appears Hagar recognized that the "angel of the Lord" who had spoken to her was really God.

Abraham

God told Abraham to sacrifice his son Isaac on mount Moriah. Just as he was about to plunge the dagger into his son of promise, the angel of the Lord stopped him:

Genesis 22:11-12:

11 "But the angel of the Lord called out to him from heaven, 'Abraham! Abraham!' 'Here I am,' he replied.

12 "'Do not lay a hand on the boy,' he said. 'Do not do anything to him. Now I know that you fear God, because you have not withheld from me your son, your only son.'"

Genesis 22:15-18:

15 "The angel of the Lord called to Abraham from heaven a second time

16 and said, 'I swear by myself, declares the Lord, that because you have done this and have not withheld your son, your only son,

17 I will surely bless you and make your descendants as numerous as the stars in the sky and as the sand on the seashore. Your descendants will take possession of the cities of their enemies,

18 and through your offspring all nations on earth will be blessed, because you have obeyed me.'"

In recounting this experience of Abraham in Acts 3:25, Peter also identifies this "angel of the Lord" who made a covenant with the Patriarch as God.

Acts 3:25

You are the descendants of the prophets and of the covenant that God gave to your ancestors, saying to Abraham, 'And in your descendants all the families of the earth shall be blessed.

Jacob

While fleeing from his angry brother Esau, Jacob had a dream in which God confirmed the covenant of Abraham to him. After receiving assurance that God would be with him and bring him back safely to his home in Canaan, Jacob vowed to return to God a tithe of all his increase. He set up the stone he had been using for a pillow and anointed it with oil to solemnize his vow. Then he named the place Bethel, or house of God, since God had appeared to him there. Jacob's dream at Bethel, God appeared to him and spoke directly in Genesis 28:12–15: He had a dream in which he saw a stairway resting on the earth, with its top reaching to heaven, and the angels of God were ascending and descending on it. There above it stood the Lord, and he said: 'I am the Lord, the God of your father Abraham and the God of Isaac. I will give you and your descendants the land on which you are lying.' Your descendants will be like the dust of the earth, and you will spread out to the west and to the east, to the north and to the south. All peoples on earth will be blessed through you and your offspring. I am with you and will watch over you wherever you go, and I will bring you back to this land. I will not leave you until I have done what I have promised you.

Twenty years later, Jacob was on his way back home, not a penniless fugitive, but a wealthy man. God decided to remind Jacob who had really brought him success. Here's how Jacob recounted the story: "And the angel of God spake unto me in a dream, saying, Jacob: And I said, Here am I" (Genesis 31:11). In verse 13, this "angel of God" identifies Himself: "I am the God of Bethel, where you anointed a pillar and made a vow to me. Now leave this land at once and return to the land of your birth." Then, when Jacob wrestled with a heavenly being (Genesis 32:22-32), he was given a new name and blessed him. Jacob called the name of the place Peniel, "For I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved" (verse 30). In the New Testament, Jesus is the one who blesses His people and gives them a new name:

Matthew 5:3-12

3 “Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they will be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful, for they will be shown mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God.
10 Blessed are those who are persecuted because of righteousness, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
11 “Blessed are you when people insult you, persecute you and falsely say all kinds of evil against you because of me.

12 Rejoice and be glad, because great is your reward in heaven, for in the same way they persecuted the prophets who were before you."

Revelation 2:17

"Whoever has ears, let them hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the one who is victorious, I will give some of the hidden manna. I will also give that person a white stone with a new name written on it, known only to the one who receives it."

When Jacob was on his deathbed blessing Joseph's two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, he used the terms "angel" and "God" interchangeably.

Genesis 48:15-16

And he blessed Joseph, and said: 'The God before whom my ancestors Abraham and Isaac walked, the God who has been my shepherd all my life to this day, 16. the angel who has redeemed me from all harm, bless the boys; and in them let my name be perpetuated, and the name of my ancestors Abraham and Isaac; and let them grow into a multitude on the earth.'

The Scriptures are very clear there is neither a redeemer nor savior but God:

Isaiah 43:11

"I, even I, am the Lord, and apart from me there is no savior."

Isaiah 43:14

"This is what the Lord says—your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: 'For your sake I will send to Babylon and bring down as fugitives all the Babylonians, in the ships in which they took pride.'"

Once again we see that the angel who redeemed Jacob is another name for our Redeemer, Jesus!

Moses

Moses saw a burning bush that was not consumed. "And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush" (Exodus 3:2). Verse 4 identifies this angel: "God called unto him out of the midst of the bush." And in verse 6 He identifies Himself again. "I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob." The angel of the Lord identifies Himself as God! In his last sermon before he was stoned to death, Stephen agrees with the Exodus account.

Acts 7:30-32

30 "After forty years had passed, an angel appeared to Moses in the flames of a burning bush in the desert near Mount Sinai.

31 When he saw this, he was amazed at the sight. As he went over to get a closer look, he heard the Lord say:

32 'I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.' Moses trembled with fear and did not dare to look."

Israel

In another instance, the children of Israel were led through the wilderness by God. "And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night" (Exodus 13:21). Moses later describes this being that led them this way: "And the angel of God, which went before the camp of Israel, removed and went behind them; and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and stood behind them" (Exodus 14:19). Again, "the angel of God" is identified as God.

Balaam

The angel of the Lord again figures prominently in the story of Balaam and his talking donkey. It is this angel who saves the donkey from her merciless master and nearly kills the covetous prophet, who is on his way to curse God's people (Numbers 22:21-35). After Balaam's close brush with death, "the angel of the Lord said unto Balaam, Go with the men: but only the word that I shall speak unto thee, that thou shall speak" (verse 35). The next chapter reveals who put the words in the prophet's mouth: "And God met Balaam: … And the Lord put a word in Balaam's mouth, and said, Return unto Balak, and thus shalt thou speak" (Numbers 23:4, 5). Here again, "the angel of the Lord" turns out to be God Himself.

Judges

Now let's move on to the book of Judges, where we read, "And an 'angel of the LORD' came up from Gilgal to Bochim, and said, I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I sware unto your fathers; and I said, I will never break my covenant with you" (Judges 2:1). By now we should recognize a pattern. Who brought the Israelites out of Egypt and made the covenant with Israel that He would never break?- Angel of the Lord.

Gideon

Gideon has an encounter with the angel of the Lord in the book of Judges. The angel tells Gideon that the Lord is with him. Gideon points to the oppression of Israel by the Midianites as evidence to the contrary. "The Lord turned to him and said, 'Go in the strength you have and save Israel out of Midian's hand. Am I not sending you? " (Judges 6:14). Throughout the rest of the narrative, the person speaking to Gideon is identified interchangeably as the Lord, the angel of the Lord, and the angel of God.

Judges 6:11:
"Now the angel of the Lord (מַלְאַךְ יְהוָה, Mal'akh Yahweh) came and sat under the oak at Ophrah, which belonged to Joash the Abiezrite, as his son Gideon was beating out wheat in the winepress to hide it from the Midianites."

- The narrative introduces the figure as the angel of the Lord.
- Judges 6:12:
  "The angel of the Lord appeared to him and said to him, 'The Lord is with you, you mighty warrior.'"
- The angel speaks, delivering a divine message.
- Judges 6:14:
  "Then the Lord (יהוה, Yahweh) turned to him and said, 'Go in this might of yours and deliver Israel from the hand of Midian; I hereby commission you.'"
- The text refers directly to the Lord speaking to Gideon.
- Judges 6:16:
  "The Lord (יהוה, Yahweh) said to him, 'But I will be with you, and you shall strike down the Midianites, every one of them.'"
- Again, the speaker is explicitly identified as the Lord.
- Judges 6:20:
  "The angel of God (מַלְאַךְ הָאֱלֹהִים, Mal'akh HaElohim) said to him, 'Take the meat and the unleavened cakes and put them on this rock, and pour out the broth.' And he did so."
- Now the figure is referred to as the angel of God.
- Judges 6:22:
  "Then Gideon perceived that it was the angel of the Lord; and Gideon said, 'Help me, Lord God! For I have seen the angel of the Lord face to face.'"
- Gideon explicitly recognizes the figure as the angel of the Lord and fears for his life, a common reaction to encountering the divine.

Manoah

Samson's mother, the wife of Manoah, was barren. "And the angel of the Lord appeared unto the woman" (Judges 13:3). This angel told her she would bear a son who would deliver the apostate Israelites from their heathen oppressors. She quickly called Manoah, who prayed for another visit from the "man of God." When the angel came the second time, Manoah asked him his name. The King James says that the angel told Manoah that his name was "Secret," with a margin notation that translates it as "Wonderful." This immediately makes us think of Isaiah's familiar prophecy that Jesus would be called, "Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace" (Isaiah 9:6). The name "Wonderful" for the angel of the Lord who appeared to Manoah connects this "angel" with the coming Messiah who was to be called "Wonderful." Once again, after seeing this "Wonderful messenger," Manoah declared they had seen God. And Manoah said to his wife, "We shall surely die, because we have seen God!" (Judges 13:22).

No One has Seen the Father

Suddenly we have more leads than we can follow! We can clearly see that "angel of the Lord" is frequently identified to be God Himself. But the Bible states, "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18). John 6:46 tells us, "Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who is from God; he has seen the Father." Obviously, since no man has seen God the Father, all of these Old Testament sightings of God as the "angel of the Lord" must have been Jesus, God the Son, veiling His glory so they could endure His presence without being consumed.

The Angel of the Covenant

One of the most famous messianic prophecies is found in:

Malachi 3:1

"I will send my messenger, who will prepare the way before me. Then suddenly the Lord you are seeking will come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, will come," says the Lord Almighty."

The messenger of the covenant spoken of here in Malachi is clearly a reference to the advent of Jesus Christ. The word translated as messenger (mal'ak) is the same exact word used in the previous Old Testament passages translated as angel of the Lord. So this would also be a proper translation: “Behold, I will send my angel, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the angel of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts." What could be clearer?

Rebuking the Accuser

There is one more important reference in which the angel of the Lord appears in the Old Testament. The prophet Zechariah was given a vision of Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the Lord. Satan is standing at his right hand to resist him. Here we see two adversaries contending over a sinful human being. Joshua's filthy garment symbolizes his sin (Zechariah 3:3). In this narrative, the name changes quickly from "the angel of the Lord" (verse 1) to "the Lord" (verse 2), indicating again that they are the same. Then the Lord makes an interesting statement. "The Lord said to Satan, 'The Lord rebuke you, Satan!" (Zechariah 3:2).

Zechariah 3:1-2

1 "Then he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right side to accuse him.
2 The Lord said to Satan, 'The Lord rebuke you, Satan! The Lord, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you! Is not this man a burning stick snatched from the fire?'

Even Jesus reminded Satan in the wilderness, "For it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve" (Luke 4:8). In fact, all the created angels are commanded to worship Jesus as they did during His first advent. "And again, when he bringeth in the first begotten into the world, he saith, And let all the angels of God worship him" (Hebrews 1:6). The devil is infuriated because he knows that someday even he will be compelled to acknowledge Jesus as king and worship Him. "That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Philippians 2:10, 11). Notice the striking connection that even Paul makes between an angel of God and Jesus. "You received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus" (Galatians 4:14).

Who is as God!

When Philip asks Jesus to show the disciples the Father, Christ responded: "Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father" (John 14:9). Some think that God's Son waited 4,000 years to personally intervene in the affairs of man. Not so! Though it is true that the incarnation occurred 4,000 years after man's fall, God the Son has been personally involved in the history and affairs of His people. This is why Jesus said; "Your father Abraham rejoiced to see My day, and he saw it and was glad" (John 8:56). Jesus appeared personally to Abraham when the Patriarch interceded for Lot (Genesis 18:26). What a wonderful truth that Jesus, God's eternal Son, has ever been actively occupied in watching over, providing for, and protecting His children! He spoke face to face with Abraham and Moses and wrestled with Jacob. He led the Israelites through the wilderness, providing food and water and victory against their enemies.

Remember that the title "Michael the archangel" means "The greatest messenger who is as God." It was Jesus, "the image of the invisible God" (Colossians 1:15), who brought the greatest message of hope, the Gospel, to our perishing world!

Conclusion

In conclusion, we see this majestic and mysterious being, the angel of the Lord, veiling His divinity and appearing in the form of a humble angel. Yet this same enigmatic being has the power, authority and attributes that belong only to God. He offers us a new name.
Understanding the nature of God is an endeavor that spans the entirety of Scripture, revealing a God who is infinitely higher than our understanding yet intimately involved in His creation.

> “For My thoughts are not your thoughts, Nor are your ways My ways,” says the Lord. “For as the heavens are higher than the earth, So are My ways higher than your ways, And My thoughts than your thoughts.” (Isaiah 55:8-9)
> “Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised; And His greatness is unsearchable.” (Psalm 145:3)
> “Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out! For who has known the mind of the Lord? Or who has become His counselor?” (Romans 11:33-34)
> “Indeed these are the mere edges of His ways, And how small a whisper we hear of Him! But the thunder of His power who can understand?” (Job 26:14)

These verses collectively point to the reality that defining and explaining God in His fullness is beyond human capability; only God can truly define Himself.

Beyond Prophet: Jesus' Identity

In John 5:30 Jesus says I can do nothing on my own. Is it because he is a helpless human prophet- certainly not God? Let's start reading.

John 5:1-15 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
1 Some time later, Jesus went up to Jerusalem for one of the Jewish festivals. 2 Now there is in Jerusalem near the Sheep Gate a pool, which in Aramaic is called Bethesda and which is surrounded by five covered colonnades. 3 Here a great number of disabled people used to lie—the blind, the lame, the paralyzed. 4 For an angel went down at a certain season into the pool and troubled the water. Whosoever then first stepped in, after the troubling of the water, was made whole of whatsoever disease he had. 5 One who was there had been an invalid for thirty-eight years. 6 When Jesus saw him lying there and learned that he had been in this condition for a long time, he asked him, "Do you want to get well?" 7 "Sir," the invalid replied, "I have no one to help me into the pool when the water is stirred. While I am trying to get in, someone else goes down ahead of me."

8 Then Jesus said to him, “Get up! Pick up your mat and walk.” 9 At once the man was cured; he picked up his mat and walked.
The day on which this took place was a Sabbath, 10 and so the Jewish leaders said to the man who had been healed, “It is the Sabbath; the law forbids you to carry your mat.”

11 But he replied, “The man who made me well said to me, ‘Pick up your mat and walk.’ ”

12 So they asked him, “Who is this fellow who told you to pick it up and walk?”
13 The man who was healed had no idea who it was, for Jesus had slipped away into the crowd that was there.

14 Later Jesus found him at the temple and said to him, “See, you are well again. Stop sinning or something worse may happen to you.” 15 The man went away and told the Jewish leaders that it was Jesus who had made him well.

Summary: Jesus heals a man on the Sabbath and this upsets the Jewish leaders. They regard miraculously healing someone as work, and you're not allowed to work on the Sabbath.

John 5:16-18 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
16 So, because Jesus was doing these things on the Sabbath, the Jewish leaders began to persecute him. 17 In his defense Jesus said to them, “My Father is always at his work to this very day, and I too am working.” 18 For this reason they tried all the more to kill him; not only was he breaking the Sabbath, but he was even calling God his own Father, making himself equal with God.

Jesus says that he's working because the Father is working. However, there was a debate among the Jewish Rabbis about whether God works on the Sabbath. Some of them reasoned that since God upholds and sustains the universe even on the Sabbath or the 7th day of the week (Saturday), God works on the Sabbath. Jews don't get to work on the Sabbath, but God works on the Sabbath. How does Jesus answer the Jewish leaders when they complain that he is working on the Sabbath? He says ‘my Father is working until now and I am working’- like father like, son as the saying goes. That's exactly what the Jewish leaders thought he was saying. In the Bible people or groups of people can be called sons of God or children of God in various senses. For instance, we're all children of God in the sense that God created all of us. But God has lots of sons in the Bible. But the phrase ‘Son of God’ is used in very different ways. The question is what does the phrase Son of God mean when it's applied to Jesus? Jesus is clearly claiming to be the Son of God in a very special and unique way when he says that the Father is working on the Sabbath so he's working on the Sabbath. The religious leaders consider this blasphemy, because he's calling God his own father making himself equal with God. Notice the Jews here think that Jesus is claiming to be a separate God, a separate deity. He's the son who's equal with God, but who can act on his own- separate from the father. They think he's claiming to be another God who's equal to God. How should he respond when the Jewish leaders conclude that he's claiming to be another God who's equal with God from the perspective of Muslims? Shouldn't he correct the misunderstanding of the Jewish leaders as in the Islamic point of view by saying- wait you think I'm claiming to be another God who's equal to God? You totally misunderstood me, I'm only human just like the rest of you. But, if Christians are right and Jesus is the Divine Son who has the nature and attributes of God and who is one with the Father he should correct their misunderstanding by saying- wait you think I'm claiming to be a separate God? I'm not claiming to be a separate God. Yes I'm God, but I don't act on my own as some extra deity- everything I do comes from the father because I'm one with the father.

John 5:19 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

19 Jesus gave them this answer: “Very truly I tell you, the Son can do nothing by himself; he can do only what he sees his Father doing, because whatever the Father does the Son also does.

This sounds very similar to verse 30, where you'll recall Jesus declares I can do nothing on my own. What mere human being, what mere prophet could ever say ‘whatever God does I do that too’? So, when Jesus says the son can do nothing of his own accord, is he claiming to be a mere human being? Or is he claiming to be the Divine Son who's one with the father and therefore can't do anything separately from the father?

John 5:20-22 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

20 For the Father loves the Son and shows him all he does. Yes, and he will show him even greater works than these, so that you will be amazed. 21 For just as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, even so the Son gives life to whom he is pleased to give it. 22 Moreover, the Father judges no one, but has entrusted all judgment to the Son,

Here we have a theological red alert- Jesus says that the Father judges no one, but has given all judgment to the Son. Thus Son is the final judge, but according to the Old Testament God is the final judge.

Joel 3:12 (written in around 800-700 BC by Joel)

12 “Let the nations be roused; let them advance into the Valley of Jehoshaphat, for there I will sit to judge all the nations on every side.

The Quran also claims that God is the final judge in Surah 22:56. There are two main possibilities here- either the Bible and the Quran are wrong and God isn't the final judge or God is indeed the final judge because Jesus is God. And within the nature of the one God the father has given all judgment to the son. But why would the Father give all judgment to the Son? Jesus tells us

John 5:23 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
23 that all may honor the Son just as they honor the Father. Whoever does not honor the Son does not honor the Father, who sent him.

Tell me do we honor mere human beings the same way we honor the Father? What is the only possible basis for honoring the son just as we honor the Father? Only if the son has the same nature and attributes as the father. Here you got the answer to the question- where did Jesus say I am God worship me.

John 5:24-25 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

24 “Very truly I tell you, whoever hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life and will not be judged but has crossed over from death to life. 25 Very truly I tell you, a time is coming and has now come when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God and those who hear will live.

Wait a minute, Jesus is the one who raises the dead? We wonder if he simply means that he raises particular people when he performs miracles.

Because, if he means that raises the dead at the resurrection we are going to have another theological red alert.

John 5:26-27 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
26 For as the Father has life in himself, so he has granted the Son also to have life in himself. 27 And he has given him authority to judge because he is the Son of Man.

Jesus calls himself the son of man. Does this mean he is claiming to be a mere human being, just as Islam teaches? The title 'Son of Man' as Jesus uses it is a Divine title for a particular son of man that the prophet Daniel sees in a vision:

Daniel 7:13-14 (written in around 550-530 BC by Daniel)
13 "In my vision at night I looked, and there before me was one like a son of man, coming with the clouds of heaven. He approached the Ancient of Days and was led into his presence. 14 He was given authority, glory and sovereign power; all nations and peoples of every language worshiped him. His dominion is an everlasting dominion that will not pass away, and his kingdom is one that will never be destroyed.

Jesus claimed to be this particular son of man coming with the clouds of heaven who would be worshiped by all nations and peoples. He would have an everlasting dominion and an indestructible kingdom. Watch how the Jewish religious leaders reacted when they found out that Jesus was claiming to be the son of man from Daniel 7. This is at his Jewish trial. Which man?:

Ezekiel 1:26

26 And above the expanse that was over their head there was something in appearance like sapphire stone, the likeness of a throne. And upon the likeness of the throne there was a likeness of someone in appearance like an earthling man upon it, up above.

Mark 14:61-64 (written in around 64-67 CE by Mark)

61 But Jesus remained silent and gave no answer. Again the high priest asked him, "Are you the Messiah, the Son of the Blessed One?"

62 “I am,” said Jesus. “And you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Mighty One and coming on the clouds of heaven.” 63 The high priest tore his clothes. “Why do we need any more witnesses?” he asked. 64 “You have heard the blasphemy. What do you think?”
They all condemned him as worthy of death.

The Jewish religious leaders understood what Jesus meant when he called himself the son of man. He's claiming to be the son of man from Daniel 7 who will be worshiped by All Nations.

John 5:28-29 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)

28 “Do not be amazed at this, for a time is coming when all who are in their graves will hear his voice 29 and come out—those who have done what is good will rise to live, and those who have done what is evil will rise to be condemned.

Theological red alerts again. Jesus says that he's the one who raises the Dead- all the dead at the resurrection. According to the Old Testament who raises the dead at the resurrection?

1 Samuel 2:6 (written in around 1030-931 BC by Samuel, Nathan & Gad)
6 “The Lord brings death and makes alive;
he brings down to the grave and raises up.

According to the Quran 22:7 Allah raises the dead at the resurrection. Yet Jesus claims that he's the one who raises everyone from the dead. Are these the teachings of a man who thinks that he's a mere prophet?

John 5:30 (written in around 85-90 CE by John)
30 By myself I can do nothing; I judge only as I hear, and my judgment is just, for I seek not to please myself but him who sent me.

Summary of John chapter 5 verse 1-30: Jesus means- when I claimed to be the Divine Son of God you Jewish leaders thought I was claiming to be a separate God, who acts on his own. But I'm here to correct you- even though I have the same nature and attributes that the Father has and even though I'm the final judge of all people and the one who raises the dead, I do not act on my own. I cannot act on my own. I can do nothing on my own. Because, I'm not a separate God. I'm one with the Father.

Clear Identity and Divinity

Isaiah 35:5 is part of a broader prophetic vision that portrays the restoration and renewal of God's people. The context is a message of hope and transformation, promising a reversal of suffering and the establishment of divine justice.

Here's the broader context, Isaiah 35:3–6:

3 "Strengthen the weak hands, and make firm the feeble knees.
4 Say to those who are of a fearful heart,
'Be strong, do not fear!
Here is your God.
He will come with vengeance,
with terrible recompense.
He will come and save you.'
5 Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf unstopped;
6 then the lame shall leap like a deer,
and the tongue of the speechless sing for joy.
For waters shall break forth in the wilderness, and streams in the desert."

The chapter describes the triumph of God's redemption, where physical healings (like the opening of blind eyes and unstopping of deaf ears) symbolize the broader spiritual renewal and deliverance.

Isaiah 42:7 is part of the larger passage in Isaiah 42, often referred to as the first Servant Song. It highlights the role of God's chosen servant, who is tasked with bringing justice, liberation, and enlightenment to all nations. Here's the verse and its surrounding context:

Isaiah 42 introduces one of the "Servant Songs," describing God's chosen servant, His mission, and His relationship with God. Below is the text of Isaiah 42:1–25:

■The Servant, a Light to the Nations

1 Here is my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights;
I have put my spirit upon him;

he will bring forth justice to the nations.
2 He will not cry out or lift up his voice, or make it heard in the street;
3 a bruised reed he will not break, and a dimly burning wick he will not quench;
he will faithfully bring forth justice.
4 He will not grow faint or be crushed until he has established justice in the earth, and the coastlands wait for his teaching.

5 Thus says God, the Lord, who created the heavens and stretched them out,
who spread out the earth and what comes from it,
who gives breath to the people upon it and spirit to those who walk in it:
6 I am the Lord; I have called you in righteousness;
I have taken you by the hand and kept you;
I have given you as a covenant to the people,
a light to the nations,
7 to open the eyes that are blind, to bring out the prisoners from the dungeon,
from the prison those who sit in darkness.
8 I am the Lord; that is my name;
my glory I give to no other,
nor my praise to idols.
9 See, the former things have come to pass, and new things I now declare;
before they spring forth,
I tell you of them.

■A Song of Praise

10 Sing to the Lord a new song, his praise from the end of the earth!
Let the sea roar and all that fills it, the coastlands and their inhabitants.
11 Let the desert and its towns lift up their voice,
the villages that Kedar inhabits;
let the inhabitants of Sela sing for joy,
let them shout from the tops of the mountains.
12 Let them give glory to the Lord, and declare his praise in the coastlands.

13 The Lord goes out like a soldier, like a warrior he stirs up his fury;
he cries out; he shouts aloud;
he shows himself mighty against his foes.

■God's Promise to Deliver His People

14 For a long time I have held my peace;
I have kept still and restrained myself;
now I will cry out like a woman in labor;
I will gasp and pant.
15 I will lay waste mountains and hills,
and dry up all their herbage;
I will turn the rivers into islands,
and dry up the pools.
16 I will lead the blind
by a road they do not know;
by paths they have not known
I will guide them.
I will turn the darkness before them into light,
the rough places into level ground.
These are the things I will do,
and I will not forsake them.
17 They shall be turned back and utterly put to shame—those who trust in carved images, who say to cast images,
"You are our gods."

■Israel's Failure to Listen and See

18 Listen, you who are deaf; and you who are blind, look up and see!
19 Who is blind but my servant,
or deaf like my messenger whom I send?
Who is blind like my dedicated one, or blind like the servant of the Lord?
20 He sees many things, but does not observe them;
his ears are open, but he does not hear.
21 The Lord was pleased, for the sake of his righteousness, to magnify his teaching and make it glorious.

22 But this is a people robbed and plundered;
all of them are trapped in holes and hidden in prisons.
They have become a prey with no one to rescue, a spoil with no one to say, “Restore!”
23 Who among you will give heed to this,
who will attend and listen for the time to come?
24 Who gave up Jacob to the spoiler, and Israel to the robbers?
Was it not the Lord, against whom we have sinned, in whose ways they would not walk,
and whose law they would not obey?
25 So he poured upon him the heat of his anger and the fury of war;
it set him on fire all around, but he did not understand;
it burned him, but he did not take it to heart.

■1. The Servant of the Lord (Isaiah 42:1–4)

This section introduces the "Servant," a figure chosen by God, filled with His Spirit, and tasked with bringing justice to the nations. Christians view this Servant as a clear foreshadowing of Jesus, whose life and ministry fulfill these descriptions:

- "My servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights"
    - At Jesus' baptism, God declared, "This is my Son, the Beloved, with whom I am well pleased" (Matthew 3:17). This aligns with the servant being the delight of God.
- "He will bring forth justice to the nations"
    - Jesus' mission was universal, extending salvation beyond Israel to the Gentiles. His teachings emphasized justice, mercy, and righteousness.
- "He will not cry out or lift up his voice"
    - This points to Jesus’ humility and gentle approach, as seen in His ministry. He often avoided public spectacle, instead working quietly and compassionately (e.g., Matthew 12:15–21 explicitly cites this passage as fulfilled in Jesus).
- "A bruised reed he will not break, and a dimly burning wick he will not quench"

- This reflects Jesus' compassion for the weak, the brokenhearted, and those struggling in faith. His mission was one of restoration, not condemnation.

■2. The Covenant and Light to the Nations (Isaiah 42:5–9)

Here, God speaks of the Servant as a "covenant to the people" and "a light to the nations," roles fulfilled by Jesus:

- "I have given you as a covenant to the people, a light to the nations"
  - Jesus established the New Covenant through His death and resurrection (Luke 22:20). He also declared Himself "the light of the world" (John 8:12), bringing salvation to both Jews and Gentiles.
- "To open the eyes that are blind, to bring out the prisoners from the dungeon"
  - Jesus literally healed the blind (e.g., John 9:1–7) and freed people from spiritual bondage. His mission was one of liberation from sin, darkness, and death.

■3. The Song of Praise (Isaiah 42:10–17)

This section calls for worship in response to God’s work through the Servant. Christians see this fulfilled in the worldwide worship of Jesus as Savior:

- "Sing to the Lord a new song"
  - The "new song" is a theme in the New Testament, particularly in Revelation 5:9–10, where the Lamb (Jesus) is praised for redeeming people from every nation.
- "The Lord goes out like a soldier"
  - This imagery reflects Jesus’ victory over sin and death. Though His first coming emphasized humility, His second coming is described as a victorious and conquering King (Revelation 19:11–16).

■4. Israel’s Failure and Redemption (Isaiah 42:18–25)

The latter part of the chapter addresses Israel’s spiritual blindness and deafness, a condition that Jesus frequently confronted during His ministry:

- "Who is blind but my servant?"
    - While this initially refers to Israel as God’s servant, it contrasts with Jesus, the faithful Servant who perfectly fulfilled God’s will.
- "He sees many things, but does not observe them"
    - This highlights Israel’s failure to recognize God’s work, a theme echoed in Jesus’ interactions with the Pharisees and others who resisted His message (e.g., Matthew 13:13–15).
- "He poured upon him the heat of his anger"
    - Jesus bore God’s wrath on the cross, taking upon Himself the punishment for humanity’s sins. This act of substitutionary atonement brought redemption for all who believe.

■Summary of Jesus in Isaiah 42

Isaiah 42 paints a picture of a Servant who is humble, compassionate, and brings justice and salvation to the world—qualities Christians identify in Jesus Christ. His mission, as described in the Gospels, aligns with this prophecy, emphasizing His role as the Savior, the light to the nations, and the restorer of humanity. Through Jesus, God fulfills His promises to establish justice, righteousness, and a new covenant with His people.

1 Peter 1:11.

"inquiring about the person or time that the Spirit of Christ within them indicated when it testified in advance to the sufferings destined for Christ and the subsequent glory."

This verse speaks about the prophets of the Old Testament, who were inspired by the Spirit of Christ (πνεῦμα Χριστοῦ, pneuma Christou) to prophesy about the Messiah's suffering and the glory that would follow. It highlights the unity of Scripture and the foreknowledge of God's plan through Jesus Christ.

Daniel 3:25

25 He said, “Look! I see four men walking around in the fire, unbound and unharmed, and the fourth looks like a son of the gods.”

■Proverbs 30:4:

> "Who has ascended to heaven and come down?
> Who has gathered the wind in the hollow of the hand?
> Who has wrapped up the waters in a garment?
> Who has established all the ends of the earth?
> What is the name of the person?
> And what is the name of the person's child? Surely you know!"

■Psalm 110:1-2:

> "The Lord says to my lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.' The Lord sends out from Zion your mighty scepter. Rule in the midst of your foes."

■The Messianic Paradox in Psalm 110

This passage is deeply Messianic. The people of Israel understood that the Messiah would come to destroy the enemies of God, as foretold throughout the Old Testament. However, a profound question arises when considering Psalm 110: How can the Messiah, who is prophesied to be David's son, also be called David's Lord?

Psalm 110:1 begins with the declaration: "The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.'"
Here, Yahweh (יהוה, Yahweh in Hebrew) speaks to the Messiah, whom David refers to as my Lord (אדוני, Adoni).

This creates a theological paradox. In the Jewish understanding, a father or ancestor holds a place of honor above their descendants. How, then, could David acknowledge one of his descendants—the Messiah—as his Lord?

The only resolution is found in the nature of the Messiah Himself. He must be both fully divine and fully human. As David's son, He is a descendant of the kingly line in His humanity. Yet, as David's Lord, He is the eternal God who took on human flesh. This dual nature—eternal God becoming man—is the key to understanding how the Messiah fulfills both roles simultaneously.

Thus, the Messiah is not merely a human deliverer but the everlasting God entering time and space as a creature to accomplish the divine plan of salvation.

The verses in Matthew 22:43, Luke 20:42, and Mark 12:35 all involve Jesus addressing the question of the Messiah's identity as the "Son of David." He uses a quote from Psalm 110:1 to demonstrate that the Messiah is more than just David's descendant; He is also David's Lord.

■Relevant Context:

1. The Question Jesus Posed:
   In each Gospel account, Jesus challenges the prevailing assumption that the Messiah is merely David's human descendant. He asks the religious leaders how David, inspired by the Holy Spirit, could call the Messiah "Lord" if the Messiah is his son. This points to the Messiah's divine nature.

2. The Psalm Quoted (Psalm 110:1):
   "The Lord says to my lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.'"

- In Hebrew, the verse uses YHWH (יהוה) for "The Lord" and Adonai (אדֹנָי) for "my Lord," implying a distinction between God (YHWH) and the one David acknowledges as his superior (Adonai). This verse was widely understood as Messianic.

■Matthew 22:43–45 (NRSVue):

"He said to them, 'How is it then that David by the Spirit calls him Lord, saying, "The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet'"? If David thus calls him Lord, how can he be his son?'"

■Mark 12:35–37 (NRSVue):

"While Jesus was teaching in the temple, he said, 'How can the scribes say that the Messiah is the son of David? David himself, by the Holy Spirit, declared, "The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand, until I put your enemies under your feet.'" David himself calls him Lord, so how can he be his son?' And the large crowd was listening to him with delight."

■Luke 20:41–44 (NRSVue):

"Then he said to them, 'How can they say that the Messiah is David's son? For David himself says in the book of Psalms, "The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.'" David thus calls him Lord, so how can he be his son?'"

■Significance:

1. Messianic Identity:
   Jesus is highlighting that the Messiah is both David's descendant and David's Lord, implying His dual nature as both fully human and fully divine. While He fulfills the prophecies of being "the Son of David," His authority and identity transcend mere human lineage.

2. Challenge to Religious Leaders:
   This question was meant to confront the religious leaders' limited understanding of the Messiah and reveal their inability to grasp the full scope of Messianic prophecy.

3. Revelation of His Own Nature:
   While not explicitly claiming the title here, Jesus implies that He fulfills both roles as the Son of David and the divine Lord, aligning with His broader teaching about His identity throughout the Gospels.

Messiah is the "Son of David":

■2 Samuel 7:12–14

"When your days are fulfilled and you lie down with your ancestors, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come forth from your body, and I will establish his kingdom. He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever. I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me." (God's covenant with David establishes a descendant whose kingdom will last forever.)

■Psalm 89:3–4, 35–37

"You said, 'I have made a covenant with my chosen one; I have sworn to my servant David: "I will establish your descendants forever and build your throne for all generations."'" (Verses 3–4)
"Once and for all I have sworn by my holiness; I will not lie to David. His line shall continue forever, and his throne endure before me like the sun. It shall be established forever like the moon, an enduring witness in the skies."'" (Verses 35–37)
(Reaffirms the promise of an eternal throne through David's lineage.)

■Amos 9:11

"On that day I will raise up the booth of David that is fallen and repair its breaches and raise up its ruins and rebuild it as in the days of old."

(Prophecy of restoration through David's line, ultimately fulfilled in the Messiah.)

■Micah 5:2

"But you, O Bethlehem of Ephrathah, who are one of the little clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me one who is to rule in Israel, whose origin is from of old, from ancient days."
(Prophecy of the Messiah's birth in Bethlehem, connecting Him to David's hometown.)

■Matthew 9:27

"As Jesus went on from there, two blind men followed him, crying loudly, "Have mercy on us, Son of David!"
(Acknowledges Jesus as the Messianic Son of David through faith.)

■Matthew 12:23

"All the crowds were amazed and said, "Can this be the Son of David?"
(Recognition of Jesus' miraculous works pointing to His Messianic identity.)

■Matthew 15:22

"Just then a Canaanite woman from that region came out and started shouting, "Have mercy on me, Lord, Son of David; my daughter is tormented by a demon."
(Faith in Jesus as the Son of David extends even to Gentiles.)

■Matthew 20:30–31

"There were two blind men sitting by the roadside. When they heard that Jesus was passing by, they shouted, "Lord, have mercy on us, Son of David!" The crowd sternly ordered them to be quiet, but they shouted even more loudly, "Have mercy on us, Lord, Son of David!"
(Further affirmation of faith in Jesus' lineage and role as the Messiah.)

■Matthew 21:9

"The crowds that went ahead of him and that followed were shouting, "Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is the one who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest heaven!"
(Triumphal entry into Jerusalem with Messianic acclamation.)

■Luke 18:38–39

"Then he shouted, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!" Those who were in front sternly ordered him to be quiet, but he shouted even more loudly, "Son of David, have mercy on me!"

(Persistence in acknowledging Jesus as the Son of David.)

■Matthew 1:1–17

"An account of the genealogy of Jesus the Messiah, the son of David, the son of Abraham."
(Provides Jesus' genealogical link to David through Joseph.)

■Luke 3:23–38

"Jesus was about thirty years old when he began his work. He was the son (as was thought) of Joseph son of Heli..."
(Luke's genealogy also traces Jesus' lineage to David, affirming His rightful claim to the title Son of David.)

In addition to the verses, the title "Son of David" for the Messiah is mentioned or alluded to in the following scriptures:

■Old Testament (Prophecies and Allusions):

1. Isaiah 9:6–7
   "For a child has been born for us, a son given to us; authority rests upon his shoulders, and he is named Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. His authority shall grow continually, and there shall be endless peace for the throne of David and his kingdom."

- While "Son of David" is not explicitly stated, this verse prophesies a ruler who will establish and uphold David's throne forever.

2. Jeremiah 23:5–6
   "The days are surely coming, says the Lord, when I will raise up for David a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land."

- The Messiah is referred to as a "Branch" from David's line, implying His Davidic descent.

3. Ezekiel 34:23–24
   "I will set up over them one shepherd, my servant David, and he shall feed them: he shall feed them and be their shepherd. And I, the Lord, will be their God, and my servant David shall be prince among them."

- This refers to a future ruler in David's line, often interpreted as Messianic.

4. Hosea 3:5
   "Afterward the Israelites shall return and seek the Lord their God and David their king; they shall come in awe to the Lord and to his goodness in the latter days."

- A reference to the restoration under a Davidic king, linked to the Messiah.

■New Testament:

1. Romans 1:3
   "...the gospel concerning his Son, who was descended from David according to the flesh."

- Paul explicitly affirms Jesus as a descendant of David, connecting Him to the Messianic promises.

2. 2 Timothy 2:8
   "Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead, a descendant of David—that is my gospel."

- Paul again emphasizes Jesus' Davidic lineage.

3. Revelation 5:5
   "Then one of the elders said to me, 'Do not weep. See, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered, so that he can open the scroll and its seven seals.'"

- Jesus is called the "Root of David," affirming His Messianic identity.

4. Revelation 22:16
   "It is I, Jesus, who sent my angel to you with this testimony for the churches. I am the root and the descendant of David, the bright morning star."

- Jesus explicitly identifies Himself as the descendant of David.

■Contextual Allusions:

While "Son of David" is not directly mentioned in these passages, they reflect the broader Messianic expectation tied to David's lineage:

1. John 7:42
   "Has not the scripture said that the Messiah is descended from David and comes from Bethlehem, the village where David lived?"

- Highlights the Jewish expectation of the Messiah's Davidic lineage.

2. Acts 13:22–23
   "When he had removed him, he made David their king. In his testimony about him he said, 'I have found David, son of Jesse, to be a man after my heart, who will carry out all my wishes.' Of this man's posterity God has brought to Israel a Savior, Jesus, as he promised."

- Paul connects Jesus to the Davidic lineage.

3. Hebrews 1:5 (Echoes 2 Samuel 7:14)
   "For to which of the angels did God ever say, 'You are my Son; today I have begotten you'? Or again, 'I will be his Father, and he will be my Son'?"

- This verse draws from 2 Samuel 7:14, reaffirming the Messianic promise tied to David's line.

Psalm 110:1: "The Lord says to my lord, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.'"

- Mark 12:36: "David himself, by the Holy Spirit, declared, 'The Lord said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies under your feet."'"
- Acts 2:34: "For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says, 'The Lord said to my lord, "Sit at my right hand."'"
- Acts 7:56: "'Look,' he said, 'I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!'"
- Romans 8:34: "Who is to condemn? It is Christ Jesus, who died, yes, who was raised, who is at the right hand of God, who indeed intercedes for us."
- Ephesians 1:20: "God put this power to work in Christ when he raised him from the dead and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places."
- Colossians 3:1: "So if you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God."

- Hebrews 1:3: "He is the reflection of God's glory and the exact imprint of God's very being, and he sustains all things by his powerful word. When he had made purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high."
- Hebrews 8:1: "Now the main point in what we are saying is this: We have such a high priest, one who is seated at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens."
- Hebrews 10:12: "But when Christ had offered for all time a single sacrifice for sins, 'he sat down at the right hand of God.'"
- Hebrews 12:2: "Looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith, who for the sake of the joy that was set before him endured the cross, disregarding its shame, and has taken his seat at the right hand of the throne of God."
- 1 Peter 3:22: "Who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, with angels, authorities, and powers made subject to him."

◆ Matthew 22:44: "'The Lord said to my Lord, "Sit at my right hand, until I put your enemies under your feet."'"

◆ Acts 2:35: "'Until I make your enemies your footstool.'"

◆ 1 Corinthians 15:25: "For he must reign until he has put all his enemies under his feet."

◆ Hebrews 1:13: "But to which of the angels has he ever said, 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet'?"

◆ Hebrews 10:13: "And since then has been waiting 'until his enemies would be made a footstool for his feet.'"

The Apostle Paul, in Galatians 3:16, highlights the specificity of God's promise to Abraham by drawing attention to the use of the singular term "seed" rather than the plural "seeds." The verse states:

"Now the promises were made to Abraham and to his offspring; it does not say, 'And to offsprings,' as of many; but it says, 'And to your offspring,' that is, to one person, who is Christ".

Paul's argument rests on the precise wording of the promise found in Genesis 22:18: "and by your offspring shall all the nations of the earth gain blessing for themselves, because you have obeyed my voice".

The Significance of Bethlehem in the Nativity Story

Bethlehem, often referred to as the City of David, plays a central role in the story of the Messiah's birth. This town, situated in Judea, holds deep historical and spiritual significance. In the Gospel account, Joseph and Mary traveled from Nazareth to Bethlehem for a census because Joseph was of the house and lineage of David. While they were there, Mary gave birth to her firstborn son, wrapped him in swaddling cloths, and laid him in a manger, as there was no room in the inn.

Bethlehem's role in the nativity story is profound, but its significance extends far beyond its historical context. The Hebrew name for Bethlehem, Beit Lechem (בֵּית לֶחֶם), means "House of Bread." This name is deeply symbolic, connecting to the spiritual narrative surrounding the Messiah.

The Alphanumeric Connection: Bethlehem and 490

In Hebrew, letters are also numbers, making every Hebrew word alphanumeric. The numerical value of Beit Lechem is 490. This value is significant because it connects to the Hebrew word for "nativity," which also equals 490. Additionally, the number 490 appears in a pivotal New Testament passage. When Peter asks Jesus how many times he must forgive, suggesting up to seven times, Jesus responds, “Not seven times, but seventy times seven” (Matthew 18:22). This response highlights forgiveness—a central theme tied to Bethlehem and the Messiah’s mission.

Bethlehem as the House of Bread

The symbolism of Bethlehem as the "House of Bread" ties directly to the themes of sustenance and forgiveness. In the Lord's Prayer, bread and forgiveness are closely linked: “Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us” (Matthew 6:11-12). Similarly, during the Last Supper, Jesus breaks bread, declaring, “This is my body, broken for you for the forgiveness of sins” (Luke 22:19). These moments underline the connection between bread and forgiveness in the Scriptures.

The Messiah, born in Bethlehem, is described as the "bread of life" (John 6:35). Through his birth in the "House of Bread," he offers the "bread of forgiveness" to humanity. This spiritual sustenance is central to his mission of redemption.

Forgiveness, Completion, and the Perfect Sacrifice

The concept of 490 also ties to the Hebrew word tamim (תָּמִים), meaning "perfect" or "complete." Forgiveness, as emphasized by Jesus, is essential for spiritual completeness. Furthermore, the Passover lambs, which had to be without blemish (tamim), foreshadowed Jesus as the perfect sacrificial Lamb. His perfection fulfills the spiritual requirements for redemption and forgiveness.

Bethlehem's connection to 490—through nativity, forgiveness, and the Messiah's mission—reinforces its role as the birthplace of spiritual completion. The Messiah's birth in Bethlehem inaugurates the possibility of abundant forgiveness and reconciliation with God.

Peter, Forgiveness, and Overcoming

The number 490 also connects to Peter, whose name in Greek has a numerical value of 490. Peter's story exemplifies the theme of forgiveness. After denying Jesus three times, Peter receives overwhelming forgiveness, embodying the seventy times seven principle. His life demonstrates the transformative power of divine forgiveness.

In Greek, the word nikao (νικάω), meaning "to overcome," shares thematic connections to forgiveness and victory. Those who receive the forgiveness offered by the Messiah become true children of God, overcoming sin and embodying spiritual victory.

Bethlehem's significance in the nativity story transcends its historical role. As the "House of Bread," it symbolizes the sustenance and forgiveness offered through the Messiah. The numerical connections—490—highlight themes of forgiveness, spiritual completion, and the Messiah's redemptive mission. The birth of Jesus in Bethlehem invites humanity to partake in the bread of life and embrace the transformative power of forgiveness, leading to spiritual victory and reconciliation with God.

Insights into Genesis 1:1

In Hebrew, Genesis 1:1 traditionally reads:

"In the beginning, God created the heavens and the earth."

However, the Hebrew word "b'reishit" (בְּרֵאשִׁית) can carry additional meanings. The prefix "b'" can mean "in," "on account of," or "through." Meanwhile, "reishit" can mean "the first" or "the firstborn." This alternate interpretation provides a profound perspective:

"Through the firstborn, God created the heavens and the earth."

This reading aligns with John 1:1-3, which states:

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made through him, and without him was not anything made that was made."

The "firstborn" is understood to refer to Yeshua, the Son of God. Furthermore, another interpretation suggests that "on account of the firstborn" the world was created. This idea resonates with Jewish thought, which holds that God would not have created the world without the Messiah's agreement to die for its redemption. This concept mirrors Revelation 13:8, where Yeshua is described as the Lamb slain before the foundation of the world.

From the First to the Last

Even the structure of the Bible reflects this central truth. The first letter of Genesis is "bet" (בְּ), and the last letter of Revelation is "nun" (ן). Together, these letters form the Hebrew word "ben" (בֵּן), meaning "Son." From the beginning to the end, Scripture points to the Son of God.

Light in Chaos

Genesis 1:2 describes the earth as tohu va'vohu (formless and void) and filled with darkness (choshek). But God's first creative act was to declare, "Let there be light!" (Genesis 1:3).

This moment speaks to more than physical creation; it symbolizes hope and order emerging from chaos. In our world, filled with its own forms of darkness and disorder, the light of Yeshua, the Messiah, brings clarity and peace. He is the Or HaOlam (Light of the World) and the Word of God, illuminating our paths and dispelling darkness.

Jesus in every book in the Bible

The entire Bible is the revelation of Jesus Christ, but many Bible readers do not realize that Jesus is in the Old Testament. Jesus is present from the beginning to the end and said so Himself multiple times.

In John 5:39 He said, "you search the Scriptures because you think that in them, you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me."

In John 5:46, "for if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for he wrote of me."

And in Luke 24:44, Jesus says, “these are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled.”

His disciples also confirm the presence of Jesus in the Old Testament. In John 1:45, Philip says, “we have found him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.” And Peter wrote about it in 1 Peter 1:10-12:

10 Of this salvation the prophets have inquired and searched carefully, who prophesied of the grace that would come to you,

11 searching what, or what manner of time, the Spirit of Christ who was in them was indicating when He testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ and the glories that would follow.

12 To them it was revealed that, not to themselves, but to us they were ministering the things which now have been reported to you through those who have preached the gospel to you by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven—things which angels desire to look into.

All these Scriptures and more, agree that Jesus is in the Old Testament and that they testify of Him (Romans 3:21).

Romans 3:2:

21 But now the righteousness of God apart from the law is revealed, being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets.

But we often miss Jesus because He is not named and because He appears differently in the Old Testament than He does in the New Testament. But He is definitely there, and His presence makes a difference.

The original intent of the Old Testament is to lead to Jesus. If we fail to see Him in it, even though we might understand the Old Testament intellectually, we will miss the whole point. But when we do see Him, everything just clicks and makes more sense. I love how the two disciples on the road to Emmaus described the experience of seeing Jesus in the Old Testament. They said, Luke 24:32:

"And they said to one another, 'Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?' "

We also want the Holy Spirit to unlock the Scriptures and have our hearts burn within us. Hence, the goal of this series is to examine the different ways Jesus appears in the Old Testament. Each post will feature a few examples of Jesus' appearances and some principles to help you see Him during your study.

How to See Jesus in All Scriptures?

We are not supposed to read the Bible for facts or instructions only. We must read it primarily to see Jesus. He said in John 5:39, "You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me."

All Scriptures testify of Jesus. They may not all be explicitly about Him, but they all point to Him. And if we read any portion of the Bible without seeing how it, then we will miss the unified message of the Bible.

However, we cannot see Jesus in Scriptures on our own. We need the Holy Spirit because of a veil that prevents us from understanding Scriptures. 2 Corinthians 3:15-16 says, "Yes, to this day whenever Moses is read a veil lies over their hearts. But when one turns to the Lord, the veil is removed." The Jews had a veil upon them that blocked them from seeing Christ in the Old Testament. They read the Scriptures, but they couldn't comprehend that is was about Jesus.

But when they turned to Jesus, He lifted the veil and enabled them to behold His glory in the Old Testament and understand how Scriptures all point to Him. We will also miss Jesus in all Scriptures without the Holy Spirit. Take the two disciples in Luke 24, for example.

The story of the two disciples on the road to Emmaus, found in Luke 24:13-35, is a powerful account that illustrates the theme of recognition and understanding in the context of Jesus' resurrection. After the crucifixion of Jesus, these disciples were traveling to Emmaus, feeling disheartened and confused about the events that had transpired. Luke 24:16 states, "But their eyes were restrained, so that they did not know Him." This verse highlights their inability to recognize Jesus, even when He was walking alongside them.

Despite their knowledge of the Scriptures and the recent reports from the women at the tomb, who declared that Jesus had risen (Luke 24:10-11), the disciples remained skeptical. This skepticism is crucial to understanding their journey. They had not yet comprehended the significance of the resurrection or how it fulfilled the prophecies of the Old Testament. Their conversation was filled with despair as they recounted the events of Jesus' death and their dashed hopes (Luke 24:21).

In this moment of doubt and confusion, Jesus took the opportunity to teach them. He began to explain the Scriptures, revealing how they pointed to Him as the Messiah. Luke 24:27 states, "And beginning at Moses and all the Prophets, He expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself." This verse captures the essence of Jesus' teaching: the entire narrative of the Old Testament was ultimately about Him. From the prophecies of the coming Messiah to the sacrificial system, every aspect of the Scriptures foreshadowed His redemptive work.

The encounter on the road to Emmaus serves as a reminder of the transformative power of Scripture when understood in light of Christ. It was not until Jesus broke bread with them that their eyes were opened, as recorded in Luke 24:31: "Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight." This moment of recognition emphasizes the importance of communion and revelation in understanding who Jesus truly is.

In conclusion, the story of the two disciples on the road to Emmaus illustrates the struggle between knowledge and belief. Despite their familiarity with the Scriptures and reports of the resurrection, they failed to recognize Jesus as the Messiah. However, through His teaching and the breaking of bread, their eyes were opened to the truth of who He is. This narrative challenges believers to seek a deeper understanding of Scripture and to recognize the centrality of Christ in the entire biblical narrative.

Later, Jesus appeared to the eleven disciples who also doubted His resurrection, and He reminded them of all He had taught them about Him from the Scriptures, and their fulfillment. And then He "opened their minds to understand the Scriptures." (Luke 24:45)

Understanding how Scriptures points towards Jesus, not only makes more sense, but it is also exciting.

The two disciples on Emmaus experienced it and said, "did not our hearts burn within us while he talked to us on the road, while he opened to us the Scriptures? " (Luke 24:32).

Questions to ask when studying the Bible

1. Who is God? – Theology

What is God trying to teach me about Himself?

2. What has God done through Christ? – Christology

What has Jesus done for us? Look for the suffering of Christ, His death and resurrection, repentance for the forgiveness of our sins, and proclamation of the good news (Luke 24:46-47).

3. Who are we? – Ecclesiology

In light of who God is and has done, who am I in Him? What is my identity?

4. What do we do? – Missiology

What are we aiming to do as the body of Christ?

5. How do we do it? – Contextualization

What does this look like in my community and my life?

Application

Let's look at a couple of Scriptures/stories from the Old Testament and find Jesus in them using these questions as a guide. Since the contextualization is subjective, I will skip it.

Honor your father and mother (Exodus 20:12)

God is the one giving the commandment, and He is also our ultimate Father who deserves all honor.

Christ suffered and died so that we could be forgiven and adopted into God's family. Christ obeyed the commands of God entirely on our behalf.

As a result, we are now children of God and co-heir with Christ.

David and Goliath (1 Samuel 17)

God is the defender and provider of the Israelites. He uses the weak to shame the strong, and He brings victory in unlikely ways. He is also faithful, merciful, mighty, and achieves His purposes.

Christ humbled himself to enter the battlefield and used an unlikely means to defeat evil and drive out sin.

We are the fearing and cowering crowds who could not face sin ourselves. However, we got the victory through Christ and have been shown mercy even though we didn't deserve it.

Now, we must spread the good news to others.

When you read the Bible, especially the Old Testament, ask these questions to see Jesus in every corner of Scripture. Do be careful not to see Christ where he is not. I know Jesus is in every book of the Bible, and every story whispers His name. But I do not know if every single verse somehow foreshadows Him.

Christophanies

John 5:39

You search the Scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is they that bear witness about me.

Christophany comes from two Greek words; Christos, which means Christ, and phaneroo, which means to be revealed or to manifest. Therefore, a Christophany is a visible manifestation or appearance of Christ before His human incarnation.

All manifestations of God in the Bible aren't necessarily Christophanies. For example, the Father spoke during Jesus' baptism and transfiguration, and the Holy Spirit came like a dove upon Jesus, and a rushing wind upon the disciples. These manifestations of God are called theophanies.

But since the Bible consistently says that no one has ever seen God the Father and lived

Exodus 33:20

But He said, "You cannot see My face; for no man shall see Me, and live."

John 5:37

And the Father Himself, who sent Me, has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, nor seen His form.

John 6:46

Not that anyone has seen the Father, except He who is from God; He has seen the Father.

1 Timothy 6:15-16

He who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings and Lord of lords, who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light, whom no man has seen or can see, to whom be honor and everlasting power. Amen.

1 John 4:12

No one has seen God at any time. If we love one another, God abides in us, and His love has been perfected in us.

Many theologians believe that all visible theophanies in the Old Testament were pre-incarnate appearances of Christ.

Jesus is the image of the invisible God (Colossians 1:15). He is at the Father's side, and He is the only one who reveals Him (John 1:18). And here are some of His pre-incarnate appearances.

1. Appearance to Abraham (Genesis 18)

Three men visited Abraham, and one of them was God Himself (YHWH). We know he was God because the text says, “and the LORD appeared to him by the oaks of Mamre.” The other two men were angels.

2. Appearance to Jacob (Genesis 32:22-32)

Jacob once wrestled with a man all night, and that man was God. He said to Jacob, “your name shall no longer be called Jacob, but Israel for you have striven with God, and with men, and have prevailed.” Afterward, Jacob named the place Peniel and said, “for I have seen God face to face, and yet my life has been delivered.”

3. Appearance to Joshua (Joshua 5:13-15)

A man with a sword in hand appeared to Joshua before the fall of Jericho. He identified himself as the commander of the army of the Lord. Joshua immediately fell to his face and worshipped the man. And the commander said, “take off your sandals from your feet for the place where you are standing is holy.” This man was another Christophany.

Theologians also believe every visit of “the angel of the Lord,” or “the angel of God,” was a Christophany.

In Exodus 23:20-21, God told Moses He would send an angel before him to guide him, and that God’s name was in the angel. As the name of God represents His nature, will, and character. A random angel can’t bear God’s name; only God himself can. And this angel of the Lord must have been Jesus because He said in John 17:7, “I have manifested your name to the people whom you gave me out of the world.”

Here are a few visits from Jesus as the angel of the Lord.

4. Visit to Hagar (Genesis 16:7-14)

The angel of the Lord appeared to Hagar in the wilderness and said to her, “I will surely multiply your offspring so that they cannot be numbered for multitude.” The angel of the Lord spoke with the authority of God and said he would multiply her offspring. Hagar called the angel, “You are a God of seeing,” and said, “truly here I have seen him who looks after me.”

5. Visit to Abraham and Isaac (Genesis 22:11-18)

Abraham took Isaac to Mount Moriah to sacrifice him as God commanded. But when he was about to kill Isaac, the angel of the Lord appeared and told him to stop. He said, “now I know that you fear God seeing you have not withheld your son, your only son from me.” The angel spoke as if he was God.

6. Visit to Jacob (Genesis 31:11-13)

The Angel of God appeared to Jacob in a dream and said, “I am the God of Bethel, where you anointed a pillar and made a vow to me.” The God of Bethel is Yahweh (Genesis 28:13-22).

- In Genesis 28:13, Yahweh introduces Himself to Jacob, saying: “I am the Lord, the God of Abraham your father and the God of Isaac; the land on which you lie I will give to you and your descendants."
- Yahweh reiterates His covenant promises to Jacob, including descendants as numerous as the dust of the earth, and that all the families of the earth will be blessed through Jacob's line.
- After Jacob awakes, he recognizes the place as sacred and declares in Genesis 28:16-17:

  “Surely the Lord is in this place, and I did not know it… How awesome is this place! This is none other than the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven!”
- Jacob then names the place Bethel, meaning "House of God" (Genesis 28:19) and makes a vow in Genesis 28:20-22, committing himself to Yahweh.

7. Visit to Moses (Exodus 3:2-6)

The angel of the Lord appeared to Moses “in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush,” and then, “God called to him out of the bush.” He said, “I am the God of your Father, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac.”

It’s quite clear from these few examples that the angel of the Lord is a Christophany. Furthermore, His visits stop after the birth of Christ.

This doesn’t mean that Jesus was an angel before the incarnation. Jesus was, is, and always be God (John 8:58). The Hebrew word for angel is malak, which means a messenger. It appears 213 times in the Old Testament. It can refer to actual angels such as in Genesis 19:1, and men such as in Genesis 32:3.

Also, Christophanies do not contradict the incarnation of Christ nor the virgin birth. Jesus taking on the form of a man is not the same as becoming a man.

There are many other examples of Christophanies in the Old Testament. But some are less certain than others.

For example, many people believe the fourth man in the fire in Daniel 3:25 was a Christophany. But all we know about him is that he had the appearance of a "son of gods." Without additional information, we can't say for sure if he was a Christophany or an actual angel.

Melchizedek is another questionable Christophany. He appears in Genesis 14:18-20 and his name means king of righteousness, and a priest of God most High. Hebrews 7:3 says that "he is without father or mother or genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but resembling the Son of God, he continues a priest forever." As a result, many people believe Melchizedek was a Christophany. But he could have been a type of Christ.

Always let the Bible guide you to recognize a Christophany accurately. For instance, if the text says, "the Lord appeared," or the "Lord came down," it most likely a Christophany. Also, if a man speaks with the authority of God, identifies himself with God, or does things only God can do, He might be a pre-incarnate appearance of Christ.

Types

Luke 24:27

And beginning with Moses and all the Prophets, he interpreted to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

Theologically speaking, "a type is a special example, symbol, or picture that God designed beforehand, and that he placed in history at an earlier point in time in order to point forward to a later, larger fulfillment."[1]

Therefore, a type of Christ is a person or thing that resembles or behaves like Jesus.

It comes from the Greek word tupos, which means the mark of a blow, a copy, image, pattern, or prefigure of something or somebody. Paul used it in Romans 5:14 when he called Adam "a type of the one who was to come." He also used it in 1 Corinthians 10:6; 11, when he said some events in the wilderness "took place as an example for us."

The New Testament uses a few other Greek words when referring to types.

There is skia, which means shadow or outline. Paul used it in Colossians 2:17 when he said elements of the Mosaic covenants were “shadow of the things to come.” Skia also appears in Hebrews 8:5; 10:1.

Hebrews 8:5

"Who serve the copy and shadow of the heavenly things, as Moses was divinely instructed when he was about to make the tabernacle. For He said, 'See that you make all things according to the pattern shown you on the mountain.'"

Hebrews 10:1

"For the law, having a shadow of the good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with these same sacrifices, which they offer continually year by year, make those who approach perfect."

Hebrews 9:23

"Therefore it was necessary that the copies of the things in the heavens should be purified with these, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these."

Then there is hupodeigma, which means a figure, copy, or model. It appears in Hebrews 8:5; 9:23.

Lastly, there is antitupos, which means typical of, corresponding to, or an image. It appears as antitype in 1 Peter 3:21, and as copies in Hebrews 9:24.

1 Peter 3:21

"There is also an antitype which now saves us—baptism (not the removal of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God), through the resurrection of Jesus Christ."

Hebrews 9:24

"For Christ has not entered the holy places made with hands, which are copies of the true, but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us."

Jesus is always an antitype and all his shadows are identified in the New Testament. Hence, we do not decide who or what is a type of Christ; we only discover them. Typology is determined by Scripture. The Holy Spirit inspired the use of types; illustrations and analogies are the results of man’s study.

Here are some types of Christ mentioned in the New Testament.

1. Adam (Romans 5:12-21, 1 Corinthians 15:22-45)

Adam was the first man and a type of Jesus, who is called the last Adam (1 Corinthians 15:45). However, the last Adam is greater than the first Adam.

Adam was the son of God (Luke 3:38), but he was created (Genesis 1:27) and came from the earth (Genesis 2:7). Jesus is the only begotten Son of God (John 3:16), He created all things (Colossians 1:16), and He came from heaven (John 6:38).

Adam received life; Jesus gives life (1 Corinthians 15:45)

Adam stood by while his wife sinned (Genesis 3:6), Jesus sacrificed Himself so that His bride wouldn't sin (1 Peter 2:24).

Adam's single act of disobedience introduced sin and death into the world. Jesus' single act of obedience destroyed sin and brought grace and eternal life into the world. (Romans 5:12; 15)

Adam brought condemnation for all men, while Jesus brought justification for all those in him (Romans 5:18).

All those born from Adam inherit his sinful nature, but all those born from Christ inherit his holy nature (1 Corinthians 15:48-49)

2. Moses (Acts 3:22, Hebrews 3:1-5)

Moses is a type of Christ and shares many similarities with Him. For example:

At the time of Moses' birth, Pharaoh ordered the death of all male Hebrew babies (Exodus 1:22). King Herod ordered the murder of children under two to kill Jesus (Matthew 2:16). They both had to hide to escape infanticide (Exodus 2:2, Matthew 2:13)

Moses was adopted by Pharaoh's daughter (Exodus 2:10), while Joseph adopted Jesus (Matthew 2:14). Neither was raised by a biological father.

Both acted as intercessors for the people. Moses pleaded to God many times on behalf of the Israelites when they sinned (Numbers 11:2; 12:13; 21:7). And after the Israelites worshipped the golden calf, he offered his life in exchange for the people (Exodus 32:30-33). Jesus also offered His life for the sins of the world (John 3:16, Romans 5:8; 1 John 2:2). He advocates and intercedes for us with God (1 John 2:1, Romans 8:34, Hebrews 7:25).

They both led God's people out of slavery. Moses freed the Israelites from physical slavery in Egypt, while Jesus freed his people from spiritual bondage to sin and death (John 8:34-36, Romans 8:2).

Furthermore, they were both prophets of God, mediated a covenant, gave commandments, performed miracles, spoke to God face to face (Exodus 33:11, John 10:15), and were both transfigured on a mountain (Exodus 34:29, Matthew 17:2).

But in all these, Jesus is more significant than Moses. Moses was faithful as a servant, but Jesus was faithful as the Son of God.

3. The Passover Lamb (1 Corinthians 5:7, John 1:29, 1 Peter 1:19-20)

In Exodus 12, God sent a series of plagues to afflict the Egyptians so that Pharaoh would let the Israelites go. And the final plague was the death of all firstborn sons in Egypt (Exodus 12:29).

The night before the plague, God instructed the Israelites to select a male lamb without blemish (Exodus 12:5), to kill it without breaking any of its bones (Exodus 12:46), and to apply some of its blood around the house (Exodus 12:7-8). And when God saw the blood of the lamb, He passed over the household, and the destroyer did not enter (Exodus 12:23).

Jesus became the last and greater Passover lamb. He was the lamb of God (John 1:29) perfect, without blemish and sin (1 Peter 1:19). He was crucified with all His bones intact (John 19:33), and by His blood, many people have been saved (Hebrews 9:12).

Moreover, Jesus died around Passover (Mark 14:12). And as the blood of the slain lamb protected the Israelites from God's wrath, the blood and death of Christ cover us from God's judgment (Matthew 26:28).

4. The bronze serpent (John 3:14)

One day, the children of Israel felt discouraged and complained against God and Moses (Numbers 21:5). As punishment, God sent fiery serpents among them, and many died from their bites (Numbers 21:6). The people repented from their sins and asked Moses to pray for God's mercy. When Moses prayed, God instructed him to make a fiery serpent and set it on a pole, and whoever looked at the pole would get healed. (Numbers 21:7-9)

In John 3:14, Jesus likened himself to the bronze serpent, indicating it was a type of Him. The snake was a curse and symbolized Jesus, who became a curse for us (2 Corinthians 5:21).

Like the serpent, Jesus was hanged on a tree (Galatians 3:13), and all who look to Jesus and put their faith in Him will get saved from the sting of death (1 Corinthians 15:55-57).

Also, the serpent was their only means of salvation; just like Jesus is our only way to eternal life (John 14:6).

5. Jonah (Matthew 12:39-41)

Jonah was a prophet from the Old Testament whom Jesus declared a type. Here are a few reasons why:

They were both prophets to gentiles. Jonah's mission was to call the Assyrians of Nineveh to repentance (Jonah 1:2). Jesus came to call all sinners, Jews and gentiles alike to repentance (Matthew 28:18-20)

Jonah initially disobeyed God's order and went to Nineveh reluctantly (Jonah 1:3). Jesus willingly answered God's calling and submitted to His will (Luke 22:42)

Jonah sacrificed himself to save his shipmates (Jonah 1:12), Jesus sacrificed himself to save the world (Mark 10:45)

Jonah spent three days and three nights in the belly of a great fish because of his sin (Jonah 1:17). Jesus spent three days and nights in a tomb because of our sin (Luke 24:46).

Jonah came out from the belly of the fish (Jonah 2:11). Jesus resurrected from death and walked out of the tomb (Mark 16:6)

Jonah announced the destruction of Nineveh would take place in forty days (Jonah 3:4). Jesus taught for forty days after his resurrection (Acts 1:3)

Jonah despised God's grace towards sinners and was willing to die because of it (Jonah 4:1-3), Jesus showed mercy towards sinners and died to save them (John 3:16)

Jesus is a greater Jonah.

6. High priest (Hebrews 2:17; 4:15–16; 5:10)

In the Old Testament, a priest played the role of mediator between God and the people. The high priest was the leader and the only one who could enter the Most Holy place on the day of atonement.

Jesus is now our high priest because He mediates between God and men (1 Timothy 2:5). But He is a greater high priest for several reasons.

Old Testament high priests were temporary, but Jesus priesthood is eternal (Hebrews 7:23-25).

The Levitical high priest sacrificed daily, but Jesus sacrificed once and for all (Heb 7:27; 9:12).

The Levitical high priests were sinful and also required sacrifice for themselves; Jesus was holy, innocent, and unstained (Hebrews 7:26-27). And while the high priests offer sacrificed animals, Jesus offered himself.

Lastly, Jesus is a greater high priest because His sacrifice and cleansing are forever (Hebrews 10:1-11).

7. Melchizedek (Hebrews 7:1-3; 15-17, Hebrews 6:20)

Melchizedek is a mysterious figure who appears in Genesis 14:18-20 only. But he could have been a type of Christ as Hebrews 7:3 says, “he resembled the Son of God.”

Melchizedek was a king and a priest of God; Jesus is the King and High priest of God.

Melchizedek’s name means king of righteousness, and he was king of peace. Jesus is our righteousness (1 Corinthians 1:30), and the prince of peace (Isaiah 9:6). Even more, righteousness and peace kiss each other in Him (Psalm 85:10).

Melchizedek is without genealogy, no beginning or end (which could mean his origins were unknown). And as there is no record of his priesthood ending, he foreshadows Christ, who is a high priest forever. God even said His Son would be a High priest after the order of Melchizedek (Psalm 110:4, Hebrews 5:6), which is different from the priesthood of the Levites.

It is also possible that Melchizedek was a Christophany, especially if the author of Hebrews meant Melchizedek literally had no beginning or end of days. But whether he was a Christophany or a type, Melchizedek foreshadowed the priestly and kingly ministry of Jesus in the New Testament.

Illustrations

John 1:45

Philip found Nathanael and said to him, “We have found him of whom Moses in the Law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.”

Most of the heroes of the faith parallel Christ in one way or another. But since these analogies result from our study rather than Scriptures, it is mostly conjecture. So we may not agree on everything.

Nevertheless, here is a list of a few people I believe are unofficial types of Christ and some ways they foreshadow Him.

1. Isaac (Genesis 22:1-9)

Both Isaac and Jesus' births were foretold and miraculously conceived. Sarah was past child-bearing age when she gave birth to Isaac, and Mary was a virgin when she gave birth to Jesus. (Genesis 18:9-10, Luke 1:30-35).

They were both beloved as the only son of their fathers and were to be sacrificed by their loving Fathers (Genesis 22:2, Matthew 3:17, John 3:16).

The sacrifice was to happen on mount Moriah for Isaac and Jesus, and both carried the wood of their sacrifice on their backs. Isaac bore the wood for the burnt offering, while Jesus carried the cross (Genesis 22:6; John 19:17)

Both Isaac and Jesus submitted to their fathers. Isaac didn't resist when Abraham bound him on the altar (Genesis 22:9). And Jesus willingly gave His life (John 10:18).

However, the illustration ends here because the angel of the Lord (a Christophany) prevented Abraham from killing Isaac and provided a Ram instead. It might be why Isaac is not a type of Christ in the New Testament despite the strong resemblance.

2. Joseph (Genesis 37)

Joseph, son of Jacob, is one of the Old Testament characters whose life is most like Jesus.

They were both firstborn of their mothers and dearly beloved by their fathers (Genesis 37:3, Matthew 12:18).

Both Joseph and Jesus had brothers who didn't believe them and mocked them (Genesis 37:4-5, John 7:3-5).

They were both stripped of their garments. Joseph's brothers stripped him of his robe (Genesis 37:23), and the soldiers took off Jesus' garments and tunic (John 19:23).

They were both sold for money. Joseph's brothers sold him into slavery for twenty shekels of silver (Genesis 37:26-28). And Jesus was sold for thirty pieces of silver (Matthew 26:15).

They were both falsely accused. Joseph was charged with rape by his master's wife (Genesis 39:20), while false witnesses testified against Jesus (Matthew 26:59-61).

Joseph was in prison with two other guilty men; one was pardoned while the other died (Genesis 40:1-3; 20-22). Jesus was crucified next to two men, both physically died, but one was forgiven and received eternal life (Luke 23:32; 39-43).

They were both exalted after their humiliation. Pharaoh set Joseph to be ruler over all of Egypt, his house, and people (Genesis 41:40-44). God set Jesus at His right hand and gave Him dominion over all things (Matthew 28:18). All knees bowed before both (Genesis 41:43, Philippians 2:10).

3. Boaz (Ruth 1-4)

Ruth was a Moabites who married a Jew. After her husband died, she followed her mother in law, Naomi back to Israel. As they were both poor, Ruth tried to gather grain in a nearby field. It led to a series of events that made her meet Boaz, the owner of the field.

Boaz was a wealthy Bethlehemite with family ties with Naomi. When he learned of Naomi and Ruth's situation, he chose to redeem Naomi's family name by marrying Ruth. Notwithstanding, it would cost him his inheritance.

Jesus is our ultimate redeemer (Titus 2:14). Like Boaz, he took a gentile for a bride and restored her. And as Boaz made it possible for Naomi and Ruth's lineage to live on, Jesus makes it possible for us to live forever and become heirs of God (Romans 8:17).

4. David (1 Samuel 17)

King David is another character whose life bears a striking resemblance to Jesus.

He was a king and a shepherd like Jesus. He was a man after God's heart, a faithful servant; his brothers rejected him; he had mortal enemies who sought to kill him, and, most importantly, he trusted God above all.

God even said He would raise the messianic King after David (Jeremiah 30:9), who would descend from David's lineage (Jeremiah 23:5).

David also pre-enacted the victory of Jesus on a few occasions.

When David kept his father's sheep, a lion and a wolf came and took a lamb away from the flock. David went after them and rescued the lamb and killed the bear and lion (I Samuel 17:34-35). Jesus is the good shepherd who guards the flock of His Father (John 10:11). He also risked His life to rescue His wayward sheep (John 10:15) and destroyed the enemy, which is death (1 Corinthians 15:26).

Then there is the famous encounter with Goliath (1 Samuel 17:41-50).

Goliath was a Philistine who terrorized the Israelites, and no one could defeat him. But David came forward to fight him and won the battle. It foreshadows Jesus' victory over sin and death for us. Both David and Jesus used unlikely means to achieve success; David used a slingshot, while Jesus went to the cross. Both their victories benefited others. David's victory brought freedom to the Israelites from the Philistines, while Jesus's brought freedom from judgment to the world.

5. Solomon (1 Kings 1-11)

Solomon was the son of David with Bathsheba and the last King of Israel. While David's life parallels Jesus first coming, Solomon's life parallels Jesus's second coming when he establishes his messianic reign. For instance:

They are both called a son of David and were both wiser than all their contemporaries (Luke 11:31).

Solomon was a man of peace (1 Chronicles 22:9), and his kingdom was tremendously peaceful (1 Kings 4:24-25). Jesus is the prince of peace (Isaiah 9:6), and in His future kingdom, peace will be everlasting (Isaiah 9:7).

Solomon built the temple of the Lord, which was his physical dwelling place (2 Samuel 7:12-13), Jesus became the temple of God (John 2:19).

Nations came to bring tribute to Solomon (1 Kings 4:21; 1 Kings 10:23-25) Nations will also come to Jesus to worship Him (Zechariah 14:16; Haggai 2:7; Isaiah 60:3-7).

6. Samson (Judges 13-19)

Samson was the worst judge of Israel. He was a drunkard, a sexually immoral, and lived for worldly pleasures. Nevertheless, he made it to the Hebrews hall of faith, and his life surprisingly parallels Jesus's.

An angel announced both his birth and Jesus's. The angel of the Lord came to Manoah and his wife and told them they would conceive (Judges 13:3). Angel Gabriel told Mary she would give birth (Luke 1:30-31).

Both their births were miraculous as Samson's mother was barren, and Mary was a virgin. The angel also announced that both Samson and Jesus would be set apart for ministry (Judges 13:2-3, Luke 1:26-27), and both would become a savior of their people (Judges 13:5, Matthew 1:21).

Samson acted in the power of the Holy Spirit (Judges 14:6;19). The Holy Spirit descended upon Jesus during His baptism (Matthew 3:16).

Both were handed over to the Israelites (Judges 15:9-13, Matthew 27:1-2), and were both betrayed by someone closed to them. Samson was betrayed by Delilah, his lover (Judges 16:18-21), while Jesus was betrayed by Judas, his disciple (Matthew 26:47-50).

Both Samson and Jesus died to destroy their enemies, the philistines, and sin, respectively. And they both achieved more in their death than they ever did alive (Judges 16:30, John 12:31-32; Hebrews 2:14, 1 John 3:8).

7. Mordecai (Esther 1-10)

Mordecai was a Jew who lived during the Babylonian exile. He played a crucial role in the book of Esther and is like Jesus in a few ways.

They both had, mortal enemies. Haman hated Mordecai and planned to kill him (Esther 5:9;13), The Pharisees and other high-ranking Jews hated Jesus and planned to kill him (Matthew 12:14). But they both triumphed over their enemies (Esther 7:9-10, Matthew 28:6).

They both had a triumphant ride in a city (Esther 6:11, Matthew 21:1-11).

The King elevated Mordecai, and he gained more authority than he ever had before. He became great among the Jews, sought the welfare of his people, and spoke peace to them (Esther 10:3). God elevated Jesus to his right hand and has given Him all authority (Matthew 28:18). Jesus came to rescue His people and gave them peace with God (Romans 5:1).

Mordecai sent letters throughout Babylon to proclaim the news of the salvation of the Jews (Esther 9:20; 30-31). Jesus commissioned His disciples into all nations to share the gospel (Matthew 28:19).

The list could go on for a while as they are many people whose life parallels Christ in some way. However, we must be careful not to twist Scriptures when looking for illustrations. Always make sure it is Christ-centered, it points forward, and does not introduce a new theology.

Symbols

John 5:46

for if you believed Moses, you would believe me; for he wrote of me

The previous posts in the series dealt mostly with people whose life or actions resembled Christ. But people are not the only types or illustrations of Christ in the Old Testament. Jesus is also foreshadowed through symbols and events.

And here are a few of them:

1. Noah’s ark (Genesis 6:13-22)

When God decided to destroy the world through a flood, He chose to spare Noah and his family because Noah found favor in His eyes.

Consequently, God instructed Noah to build an ark, to enter it, and to bring his family and lots of animals with him. Once they entered, the Lord shut the door, and everyone within the ark survived the flood.

As the ark protected Noah and his family from the flood, Jesus protects us from judgment. He is the door of the sheep, and once we enter in Him, we will be saved from the wrath of God and receive life (John 10:9).

Also, as the ark was the only way to escape the flood, Jesus is the only way to salvation (John 14:6). Peter even said the flood was a type of baptism through the resurrection of Christ (1 Peter 3:21).

2. Jacob's ladder (Genesis 28:10-12)

Jacob once had a dream in which he saw a ladder on earth that reached heaven, and the angels of God were ascending and descending on it. Its purpose was to provide a bridge or access point between heaven and earth.

Jesus likened himself to this ladder in John 1:51 and said, "you will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending descending on the Son of Man."

Sin formerly broke our relationship with God and made us His enemies (Colossians 1:21). But through Christ, we have access to God and peace with Him (Romans 5:1-2; 10).

He is the real access point between heaven and earth and between God and man. He is the way, the truth, and the life; no one can get to God except through Him (John 14:6).

3. Manna from heaven (Exodus 16:4)

After God delivered the children of Israel from Egypt, He brought them to the wilderness temporarily. He provided for their food and gave them manna, a kind of sweet bread.

Jesus also likened himself to manna and declared that He was the true bread that came from Heaven (John 6:32-33), and He is infinitely higher than his type.

Unlike manna, which could only satisfy the Israelites physical needs temporarily, Jesus is the bread of life that will meet our spiritual needs eternally (John 6:35).

4. The rock at Horeb (Exodus 17:6)

God also provided water for the children of Israel in the wilderness. He instructed Moses to strike the rock at Horeb so that water would come out of it, and the people would drink.

The rock was a shadow of Christ who was also “struck” so that God’s people would receive living water (John 7:37-39). Jesus even told the Samaritan woman at the well, that He would give her living water. And whoever drank from it would never thirst again (John 4:10; 13-14).

And Paul said in 1 Corinthians 10:4 that the children of Israel “all ate the same spiritual food, and all drank the same spiritual drink. For they drank from the spiritual Rock that followed them, and the Rock was Christ.”

However, Moses kind of ruined this illustration in Numbers 20:8-10. This second time around, God instructed Moses to only speak to the rock to yield water. But out of frustration with the Israelites, Moses disobeyed and struck the rock again. His disobedience not only dishonored God, but it ruined the picture of Jesus as the rock.

Jesus paid for our sins once on the cross (Hebrews 10:12). Afterward, we only need to speak to Him, confess with our mouth that He is Lord to receive His living water (Romans 10:9).

As a result, God severely punished Moses and forbade him to enter the promised land.

5. The tabernacle (Exodus 36-40)

In the Old Testament, the tabernacle was a temporary place of worship for the Lord. Its purpose was for God to dwell among his people (Exodus 25:8; 29:45). It is also where the ark of the covenant (the representation of God’s presence), stayed.

It was a shadow of Christ, who is the true tabernacle and the final meeting between God and humanity (Colossians 2:9, Hebrews 9:11).

Jesus is the Word who became flesh and dwelt with us (John 1:14). His name is Emmanuel, which means God with us (Matthew 1:23). And He referred to His body as a temple (John 2:19-21). God designed the tabernacle, and its different components foreshadow Christ in some way.

For instance, the veil of the tabernacle is a type of Christ. It separated the Most Holy place, where God dwelt, from the Holy place. And only one man could enter it once a year. Jesus’ body was the veil that was torn open so that men could access God’s presence freely. (Hebrews 10:20, Matthew 27:51). Also, the tabernacle only had one entrance, which symbolizes Jesus as the only means to enter God's presence.

There are many other illustrations or types of Christ in the Tabernacle's design and items. Can you spot them?

6. The scapegoat (Leviticus 16:21-23)

During the day of atonement (Yom Kippur), God instructed Aaron to take a live goat, lay his hands on it, and "confess over it all the iniquities of the people of Israel, and all their transgressions, all their sins."

Afterward, Aaron would send the goat away into the wilderness. It symbolized the removal of the sins of the Israelites and foreshadowed Christ.

Jesus became our ultimate scapegoat on the cross when He bore the sins of the world (Isaiah 53:6). The scapegoat was cast out from among the people just like Jesus was rejected by men(Isaiah 53:3) and Jesus was also sent outside the city to die (Hebrews 13:12).

And as the scapegoat took the sins of the Israelites far from them, Jesus has removed our transgressions from us as far as the east is from the west (Psalm 103:12).

7. The worm (Psalm 22:6)

Psalm 22 is a prophetic psalm that describes the sufferings and death of the Messiah, who is likened to a worm verse 6.

There are three Hebrew words for a worm. The one in this verse is tola'ath, a crimson or scarlet worm, commonly found in Israel. The female crimson worm gives birth only once. At that time, she climbs up a tree or a piece of wood, attaches her body to it, and makes a hard crimson shell. The shell is so firmly attached to the tree, that it can only be removed by ripping her apart and thus killing her.

Underneath the body and protective shell, she lays her eggs, and the baby worms feed on her until she dies. After her death, her body released a red or crimson ink that covers the babies entirely. And the babies remain crimson red for the remainder of their lives.

Then three days later, the dead mother's body loses its crimson color and turns white wax. The wax falls like snow on the ground.

Like the crimson mother worm died for her children to live, Jesus died so that we may live through him (1 John 4:9). He also climbed on a tree and gave up His life so that His people would be cleansed by His blood (Revelation 1:5), covered by it (Ephesians 2:13), and become white as snow (Isaiah 1:18).

Prophecies

Luke 24:44

Then he said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms must be fulfilled."

Before the Canon of the Bible closed, God spoke through prophets. These people had His Spirit upon them and acted as a mouthpiece for the Lord (Exodus 4:13). They often declared things that would happen in the future, and these predictions are called prophecies. Jesus appears throughout the Old Testament, in over 300 prophecies.

These prophecies give accounts of the birth, life, death, and resurrection of Christ hundreds of years before Jesus' birth! A mathematician said the chances of one person fulfilling only 48 of these prophecies are 1 in 10 to the 157th power. Jesus fulfilled all 300! (mic drop)

Here are just a few of these prophecies grouped into six main categories and how He fulfilled them.

1. The first prophecy (Genesis 3:15)

The first prophecy about the Messiah appears as early as Genesis 3:15.

After the serpent deceived Eve, sin and death entered the world. But God in His grace announced He would send His Son to destroy the works of the devil (1 John 3:8), and said, "I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and her offspring: he shall bruise your head, and you shall bruise his heel."

The offspring of the woman is Jesus, who was born of a woman (Galatians 4:4-5). The serpent bruised Jesus' heel when He was crucified (1 Peter 2:24). However, Jesus bruised the serpent's head when He rose from the grave and conquered death (1 Corinthians 15:55-57).

2. The birth of Jesus (Jeremiah 23:5-6, Isaiah 7:14, Micah 5:2)

The Messiah would come from David's lineage.

The prophet Jeremiah said, "Behold, the days are coming, declares the Lord, when I will raise for David a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land. 6 In his days, Judah will be saved, and Israel will dwell securely. And this is the name by which he will be called: 'The Lord is our righteousness." (Jeremiah 23:5-6)

Jesus fulfilled this prophecy as He was born through David's line (Matthew 1:1, Luke 1:32-33)

The Messiah would be born from a virgin

The prophet Isaiah said, "Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign. Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." (Isaiah 7:14)

Jesus fulfilled it when Mary a virgin, gave birth to Him (Matthew 1:20-23, Luke 1:35)

The Messiah would be born in Bethlehem

The prophet Micah said, "But you O Bethlehem Ephrathah, who are too little to be among the clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me one who is to be ruler in Israel, whose coming forth is from of old, from ancient days." (Micah 5:2)

Jesus was born in Bethlehem (Matthew 2:1, Luke 2:1-7)

3. The life of Jesus (Isaiah 35:5-6; 61:1, Zechariah 9:9)

The Messiah would perform miracles

Isaiah said, "Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf unstopped; then shall the lame man leap like a deer and the tongue of the mute sing for joy. For waters break forth in the wilderness and streams in the desert" (Isaiah 35:5-6).

Jesus repeatedly performed miracles during His ministry. And when John the Baptist asked if He was the Messiah, Jesus replied, "the blind receive their sight and the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and the poor have good news preached to them." (Matthew 11:2-6)

The Messiah would set the captives free

Isaiah said, "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me because the Lord has anointed me to bring good news to the poor; he has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound." (Isaiah 61:1)

Jesus Himself said He fulfilled this prophecy (Luke 4:16-21).

The Messiah will have a triumphant entry in Jerusalem

The prophet Zechariah said, "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Shout aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, your king is coming to you; righteous and having salvation is he, humble and mounted on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey." (Zechariah 9:9).

Jesus fulfilled this prophecy when He rode on a donkey into Jerusalem with shouts of praise (Matthew 21:8-11, Luke 19:35-37, John 12:12-15).

4. The sufferings of Jesus (Zechariah 11:12-13, Isaiah 53:1-3, Psalm 22:7-8)

The Messiah would be betrayed for 30 pieces of silver

Zechariah said, "Then I said to them, 'If it seems good to you, give me my wages; but if not, keep them.' And they weighed out as my wages thirty pieces of silver. Then the Lord said to me, 'Throw it to the potter'—the lordly price at which I was priced by them. So, I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the house of the Lord, to the potter." (Zechariah 11:12-13).

Judas Iscariot betrayed Jesus for thirty pieces of silver (Matthew 26:14-16; 27:3-10).

The Messiah would be rejected by His people

Isaiah said, "He was despised and rejected by men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief; and as one from whom men hide their faces, he was despised, and we esteemed him not." (Isaiah 53:1-3).

The Jews rejected Jesus and even conspired to kill Him (John 1:10-11, John 12:37-38, Matthew 26:3-4)

The Messiah would be mocked

King David was not a prophet, but he had the Spirit of the Lord and prophetically said, "All who see me mock me; they make mouths at me; they wag their heads; "He trusts in the Lord; let him deliver him; let him rescue him, for he delights in him!" (Psalm 22:7-8)

The crowd, Herod, and his soldiers mocked and ridiculed Jesus with the same language. (Matthew 27:39-40, Luke 23:11; 35)

5. The death of Jesus (Psalm 22:16-17, Isaiah 53:5-6; 9)

The Messiah would be crucified

David said, “For dogs encompass me; a company of evildoers encircles me; they have pierced my hands and feet. I can count all my bones; they stare and gloat over me.” (Psalm 22:16-17)

Jesus’ hands and feet were pierced when the soldiers nailed Him to the cross (Matthew 27:31, John 19:15-16), and unlike other crucifixions, His bones remained intact (John 19:33-36)

The Messiah would die for our sins

Isaiah said, “But he was pierced for our transgressions; he was crushed for our iniquities; upon him was the chastisement that brought us peace, and with his wounds, we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned—every one—to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all.” (Isaiah 53:5-6).

Jesus died for the sins of the world (John 1:29, 1 Peter 2:24)

SEE ALSO: Jesus in the Old Testament: Types

The Messiah would be buried in a rich man’s tomb

Isaiah said. “And they made his grave with the wicked and with a rich man in his death.” (Isaiah 53:9).

After Jesus died, Joseph, a wealthy disciple, took Jesus’ body and laid Him in his new tomb (Matthew 27:57-60).

6. The resurrection of Jesus (Psalm 16:10; 110:1, 1 Corinthians 15:54)

The Messiah would not remain dead

David said, “For you will not abandon my soul to Sheol or let your holy one see corruption.” (Psalm 16:10)

Jesus rose from the grave! (Matthew 28:5-6, Mark 16:6). Peter and Paul even quoted this Psalm about the resurrection of Jesus (Acts 2:27-31; 13:35-37)

The Messiah would sit the right hand of God

David said, “The Lord says to my Lord: “Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.” (Psalm 110:1).

When Jesus resurrected, He ascended and sat down at the right hand of God (Mark 16:19, Hebrews 10:12-13)

The Messiah would swallow up death forever

Isaiah said, “And he will swallow up on this mountain the covering that is cast over all peoples, the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death forever, and the Lord God will wipe away tears from all faces, and the reproach of his people he will take away from all the earth, for the Lord has spoken.” (Isaiah 25:7-8)

Jesus died on a mountain (Luke 23:33), tore down the veil (Matthew 27:51), and conquered death (1 Corinthians 15:54).

7. The return and reign of Jesus

Jesus fulfilled all the prophecies concerning Him in the Old Testament. However, there are some prophecies about the Messiah’s reign that Jesus will entirely fulfill when He returns.

For example, Isaiah 9:6-7 says, “to us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder, and his name shall be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and of peace there will be no end, on the throne of David and over his kingdom, to establish it and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from this time forth and forevermore. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will do this.”

When Jesus comes again (Revelation 22:7; 12; 24), He will establish His kingdom forever, judge the world, and bring world peace. On that day, He will “wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning, nor crying, nor pain anymore, for the former things have passed away.” (Revelation 21:4).

Christians today still hope for the return of Jesus, who is coming soon to reign on the throne of David as it is written in the Word.

Sahih al-Bukhari 3431 and in lots of other hadith narrations:

Narrated Sa`id bin Al-Musaiyab:

Abu Huraira said, "I heard Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) saying, 'There is none born among the off-spring of Adam, but Satan touches it. A child therefore, cries loudly at the time of birth because of the touch of Satan, except Mary and her child." Then Abu Huraira recited: "And I seek refuge with You for her and for her offspring from the outcast Satan" (3.36)

Mary's Purity:

- Mary is highly revered in Islam and is considered one of the most righteous women. The Quran highlights her purity and her special status among women. In Surah Al-Imran (3:42), Allah says:
    - “And [mention] when the angels said, ‘O Mary, indeed Allah has chosen you and purified you and chosen you above the women of the worlds.’” This verse indicates that Mary was purified by Allah, signifying her sinless nature.

Jesus' Sinlessness:

- Jesus is also seen as free from sin in Islam. He is described as being a “pure boy” in the Quran. In Surah Maryam (19:19), the angel tells Mary:
    - “He said, ‘I am only the messenger of your Lord to give you [news of] a pure boy.’” The term "pure" (زَكِيًّا, zakiyy) refers to Jesus being free from sin.

Beginners guideline to the Divine terms used in Hebrew and Greek manuscripts

The Jewish translation of the Hebrew Bible into Greek is known as the Septuagint (LXX).

Name: Septuagint (from the Latin word "septuaginta," meaning "seventy")

Year: The translation was likely completed in stages, with its origins dating back to the 3rd to 2nd centuries BCE. The earliest parts were likely translated around 250-200 BCE in Alexandria, Egypt.

Description:

The Septuagint is the earliest extant Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures. It was produced for the Jewish community in Egypt, where many Jews spoke Greek and were no longer fluent in Hebrew or Aramaic.
Traditionally, it is said that seventy (or seventy-two) Jewish scholars worked on the translation, which is reflected in the name "Septuagint."
The translation includes the entire Hebrew Bible (Tanakh) and some additional texts that are not part of the Hebrew canon, known as the Deuterocanonical books or Apocrypha.
The Septuagint played a significant role in the early Christian Church, as many of the Old Testament quotations in the New Testament are derived from this translation.
It is important for biblical studies, particularly in understanding the textual history of the Bible, as well as for its influence on Christian theology and the development of the early Church.

In the Septuagint (LXX), several terms are used to refer to God, each carrying different connotations and meanings. Here are the primary terms:

1. κύριος (Kyrios)

Meaning: "Lord."
Usage: This term is used to translate the Tetragrammaton (YHWH, יְהוָה), the personal name of God in the Hebrew Bible. It emphasizes God's authority and sovereignty.
Significance: In Christian theology, it is often used to refer to Jesus as well, particularly in the context of His divinity.

2. θεός (Theos)

Meaning: "God."
Usage: This is a general term for God in Greek and is used throughout the Septuagint to refer to the one true God as well as to false gods in the context of idol worship.
Significance: It emphasizes the divine nature of God and is frequently used in the New Testament to refer to God the Father.

3. πάτερ (Pater)

Meaning: "Father."
Usage: This term is used to refer to God in a relational context, emphasizing His role as a caring and nurturing figure.
Significance: In Christian texts, it is often used in prayers and teachings about the relationship between God and believers.

4. ὁ ἅγιος (Ho Hagios)

Meaning: "The Holy One."
Usage: This term is sometimes used in the Septuagint to describe God's holiness.
Significance: It emphasizes God's purity and separateness from sin.

5. ἐλ (El) or ἰσραήλ (Israel)

Meaning: "God" (often in combination).
Usage: In some contexts, the term may be used to refer to God in relation to Israel, emphasizing His covenant relationship with His people.
Significance: This highlights God's role as protector and redeemer of Israel.

6. ῥαχ (Rach)

Meaning: "Spirit."
Usage: Referring to the Spirit of God or the Holy Spirit in some texts.
Significance: This indicates the active presence of God in creation and in the lives of people.

7. ἄρχων (Archōn)

Meaning: "Ruler" or "Prince."
Usage: Sometimes used to denote God's authority or leadership, particularly in prophetic texts.
Significance: Emphasizes God's sovereign rule over creation and His governance.

8. θεοῦ (Theou)

Meaning: "God" (genitive case).
Usage: Used in phrases like "τοῦ θεοῦ" (tou Theou), meaning "of God," to denote ownership or relationship.
Significance: Often used in theological discussions about God's nature and attributes.

9. ὁ παντοκράτωρ (Ho Pantokratōr)

Meaning: "The Almighty" or "The All-Powerful."
Usage: This term emphasizes God's omnipotence and sovereignty over all.

Significance: Used in contexts where God’s might and authority are highlighted, particularly in the prophetic texts.

10. ἡ ἀλήθεια (Hē Alētheia)

Meaning: "The Truth."
Usage: Sometimes used in reference to God's nature as the embodiment of truth.
Significance: Highlights God's reliability and faithfulness to His promises.

11. Σαβαώθ (Sabaoth)

Meaning: "Hosts" or "Armies."
Usage: Often translated as "Lord of Hosts," indicating God's sovereignty over the heavenly and earthly armies.
Significance: Used in military contexts to portray God as a warrior and protector of His people.

12. ῥαχ (Rach)

Meaning: "Mercy" or "Compassion."
Usage: Refers to God's merciful nature in dealing with His people.
Significance: Highlights the relational aspect of God’s character, particularly in covenant relationships.

13. Ἰεχωβά (Iehovah)

Meaning: "YHWH" in transliteration.
Usage: Sometimes represented in Greek texts; however, the Greek equivalent used most often in the LXX is κύριος (Kyrios).
Significance: Maintains the connection to the divine name revealed in the Hebrew Scriptures.

14. ἁγνός (Hagios)

Meaning: "Holy."
Usage: Used to describe God's holiness, emphasizing His moral purity and separation from sin.
Significance: Stresses the sacredness of God's nature and His standards for holiness among His people.

15. ῥαχά (Rachah)

Meaning: "Spirit."
Usage: Referring to the Spirit of God, particularly in contexts of creation and inspiration.

Significance: Indicates God's active presence and influence in the world and among His people.

New Testament

Date of Composition: The books of the New Testament were written between approximately 45 CE and 100 CE. The earliest texts are generally considered to be the letters of Paul, with the Gospels written later.

Formation of the Canon:

The process of recognizing which texts were authoritative occurred gradually. By the end of the 2nd century, most of the New Testament books were being recognized by various Christian communities.

Lists resembling the current New Testament canon began to appear in the 3rd and 4th centuries.

Key milestones in the formalization of the New Testament canon include:

The Muratorian Fragment (circa 170 CE) provides an early list of New Testament books.

Athanasius of Alexandria in 367 CE listed the 27 books of the New Testament that are now recognized in the canon in his Easter letter.

The Councils of Hippo (393 CE) and Carthage (397 CE) affirmed this list, leading to broader acceptance within the church.

In the Greek New Testament, several terms are used to refer to God, each with its own implications and connotations. Here are the primary terms:

1. θεός (Theos)

Meaning: "God."

Usage: This is the most common term used to refer to God in the New Testament. It can denote the one true God (the Father) and, in some contexts, is also used for Jesus, emphasizing His divine nature.

Significance: It emphasizes the divine essence and nature of God, often used in theological discussions about the identity of God and Jesus.

2. κύριος (Kyrios)

Meaning: "Lord."

Usage: This term is used to translate the Hebrew YHWH (Yahweh) and refers to Jesus as Lord, affirming His authority and divinity.

Significance: It emphasizes the sovereignty of God and Jesus, often highlighting their roles in salvation and authority over creation.

3. πάτερ (Pater)

Meaning: "Father."
Usage: Used frequently by Jesus to refer to God, especially in the context of prayer (e.g., the Lord's Prayer).
Significance: This term emphasizes the personal and relational aspect of God, portraying Him as a caring and nurturing figure.

4. Ἰησοῦς (Iēsous)

Meaning: "Jesus."
Usage: While this term specifically refers to Jesus Christ, in theological contexts, it affirms His divine status as the Son of God.
Significance: It signifies the incarnation of God and emphasizes the relationship between Jesus and the Father.

Philippians 2:9-11

9 Therefore God also highly exalted him and gave him the name that is above every name,
10 so that at the name of Jesus (Greek: Iēsous, Ἰησοῦς) every knee should bend, in heaven and on earth and under the earth,
11 and every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord (Greek: Kyrios, Κύριος), to the glory of God the Father.

5. ἐλ (El)

Meaning: "God."
Usage: This term appears in some phrases and references, often in the context of Old Testament citations.
Significance: It connects to the Hebrew Bible's description of God.

6. πατήρ (Patēr)

Meaning: "Father."
Usage: This is another term for "Father," used in the same context as πάτερ (Pater).
Significance: Emphasizes the familial relationship believers have with God.

7. ἀρχιερεύς (Archiereus)

Meaning: "High Priest."
Usage: While primarily referring to the Levitical priesthood, in the context of Jesus, it emphasizes His role as the mediator between God and humanity.
Significance: Connects to the sacrificial system and Jesus' ultimate sacrifice.

8. παντοκράτωρ (Pantokratōr)

Meaning: "Almighty" or "All-Powerful."
Usage: This term emphasizes God's omnipotence and sovereignty.
Significance: Used in contexts where God’s power and authority are highlighted, particularly in Revelation.

The Greek word "Theos" (θεός), meaning "God," changes its form based on the case in which it appears. Ancient Greek has five major cases that indicate the word's function in the sentence. Here are the cases related to the word "Theos":

1. Nominative (θεός)(Theos) – Used when "God" is the subject of the sentence.
    - Example: θεός ἐστιν ἀγάπη — "God is love."
2. Genitive (θεοῦ)(Theou) – Used to indicate possession or relationship. It answers the question "of whom?" or "of what?"
    - Example: ἡ βασιλεία τοῦ θεοῦ — "the kingdom of God."
3. Dative (θεῷ)(Theo) – Used for the indirect object or to indicate to whom something is given or for whom something is done.
    - Example: τῷ θεῷ εὐχαριστοῦμεν — "We give thanks to God."
4. Accusative (θεόν)(Theon) – Used when "God" is the direct object of a sentence.
    - Example: προσκυνεῖτε τὸν θεόν — "Worship God."
5. Vocative (θεέ)(Thee) – Used when directly addressing or calling upon God.
    - Example: ὦ θεέ μου — "O my God!"

Summary of Forms:

- Nominative: θεός (Theos) — Subject
- Genitive: θεοῦ (Theou) — Possession
- Dative: θεῷ (Theo) — Indirect object
- Accusative: θεόν (Theon) — Direct object
- Vocative: θεέ (Thee) — Direct address

Here are examples from the New Testament where the word "Theos" (θεός), referring to God, is used in all five cases:

1. Nominative (θεός) – Subject of a sentence

- John 1:1 :

- "καὶ θεὸς ἦν ὁ λόγος"
- Translation: "And the Word was God."
- Jesus (the Word) is identified as God, with "θεός" as the subject.

2. Genitive (θεοῦ) – Possession or Relationship

- Romans 8:14 :
  - "ὅσοι γὰρ πνεύματι θεοῦ ἄγονται, οὗτοι υἱοί θεοῦ εἰσιν"
  - Translation: "For all who are led by the Spirit of God are children of God."
  - Jesus is the Son of God (υἱός θεοῦ), showing the relationship to God in the genitive case.

3. Dative (θεῷ) – Indirect object

- Philippians 2:9 :
  - "διὸ καὶ ὁ θεὸς αὐτὸν ὑπερύψωσεν καὶ ἐχαρίσατο αὐτῷ ὄνομα τὸ ὑπὲρ πᾶν ὄνομα"
  - Translation: "Therefore God also highly exalted him and gave him the name that is above every name."
  - God (θεῷ) gives the name to Jesus, with "θεῷ" in the dative case, showing God as the giver.

4. Accusative (θεόν) – Direct object

- Matthew 27:46 :
  - "θεέ μου, θεέ μου, ἱνατί με ἐγκατέλιπες;"
  - Translation: "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"
  - Jesus is addressing God as the direct object of his cry, using "θεόν."

5. Vocative (θεέ) – Direct address

- John 20:28 :
  - "ἀπεκρίθη Θωμᾶς καὶ εἶπεν αὐτῷ· ὁ κύριός μου καὶ ὁ θεός μου."
  - Translation: "Thomas answered him, 'My Lord and my God!'"
  - Thomas directly addresses Jesus as "θεός" in the vocative case, acknowledging him as God.

New Testament writers were acquainted with the Septuagint (LXX), the Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures. This connection is evidenced by their frequent use of the LXX when quoting or alluding to the Old Testament. Here are key points demonstrating this:

1. Quotations Align with the LXX

Many direct quotations in the New Testament match the wording of the Septuagint rather than the Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT). For example:

Matthew

- Matthew 1:23 quoting Isaiah 7:14:
    - LXX: "The virgin (παρθένος, parthenos) shall conceive and bear a son."
    - MT: "The young woman (עַלְמָה, almah) shall conceive and bear a son."
- Matthew 4:4 quoting Deuteronomy 8:3:
    - LXX: "Man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God."
    - MT: Similar, but subtle emphasis differences reflect alignment with the LXX phrasing.
- Matthew 2:15 quoting Hosea 11:1:
    - LXX: "Out of Egypt I called My Son."
    - MT: Similar, but Matthew applies it to Jesus, suggesting familiarity with the LXX's context.
- Matthew 21:16 quoting Psalm 8:2:
    - LXX: "Out of the mouths of infants and nursing babies you have prepared praise."
    - MT: "You have established strength."

Luke

- Luke 4:18–19 quoting Isaiah 61:1–2:
    - LXX: Includes "to set at liberty those who are oppressed."
    - MT: The phrase "to set at liberty those who are oppressed" is absent or less explicit.
- Luke 3:6 quoting Isaiah 40:5:
    - LXX: "All flesh shall see the salvation of God."
    - MT: Similar but with variations in phrasing.

- Luke 23:46 quoting Psalm 31:5:
    - LXX: "Into your hands I commit my spirit."
    - MT: Matches closely, but the alignment suggests Jesus and Luke favored the LXX's phraseology.
- Luke 1:46–55 (Magnificat):
    - Usage: Mary's song draws heavily on the LXX, echoing language from Psalms and 1 Samuel (Hannah's prayer).

Mark

- Mark 7:6–7 quoting Isaiah 29:13:
    - LXX: "This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me; in vain do they worship me."
    - MT: Slightly different, emphasizing "fear" instead of "worship."
- Mark 1:2–3 (Isaiah 40:3 and Malachi 3:1):
    - LXX: "A voice of one crying out in the wilderness: Prepare the way of the Lord."
    - Usage: Demonstrates the fulfillment of John the Baptist's role through a combination of LXX texts.

John

- John 12:40 quoting Isaiah 6:10:
    - LXX: "He has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts."
    - MT: "Make the heart of this people dull, and their ears heavy, and shut their eyes."
- John 6:45 quoting Isaiah 54:13:
    - LXX: "They shall all be taught by God."
    - MT: Slight variation but essentially aligned with the LXX.
- John 19:36 (Psalm 34:20):
    - LXX: "He keeps all their bones; not one of them will be broken."
    - Usage: Connects Jesus' crucifixion to prophecy using LXX language.

Acts

- Acts 7:14 quoting Genesis 46:27:

    - LXX: Refers to 75 persons who went to Egypt.
    - MT: States 70 persons.
- Acts 15:16–17 quoting Amos 9:11–12:
    - LXX: "So that the rest of humankind may seek the Lord."
    - MT: Focuses on Israel, saying, "That they may possess the remnant of Edom."
- Acts 2:17–21 (Joel 2:28–32):
    - LXX: "I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh..."
    - MT: Similar but less inclusive in phrasing.
    - Usage: Peter's Pentecost sermon relies on the LXX's eschatological emphasis.
- Acts 13:47 (Isaiah 49:6):
    - LXX: "I have made you a light to the Gentiles."
    - Usage: Paul uses the LXX to justify the Gentile mission.

Romans

- Romans 3:10–18 (Psalm 14:1–3, Isaiah 59:7–8):
    - LXX: Combines multiple passages in a katena (chain) format.
    - Usage: The LXX provides the linguistic foundation for Paul's indictment of human sin.
- Romans 9:25–26 quoting Hosea 2:23 and 1:10:
    - LXX: Matches closely, emphasizing God's inclusion of Gentiles.
- Romans 15:12 quoting Isaiah 11:10:
    - LXX: "In Him shall the Gentiles hope."
    - MT: "The nations shall inquire of Him."
- Romans 10:11 quoting Isaiah 28:16:
    - LXX: "The one who believes in Him will not be put to shame."
    - MT: "Will not act hastily."

1 Corinthians

- 1 Corinthians 15:54–55 quoting Isaiah 25:8 and Hosea 13:14:
    - LXX: Matches the phrasing, "Death has been swallowed up in victory."

    - MT: Differences in wording make it less aligned with Paul's version.

- 1 Corinthians 1:19 (Isaiah 29:14):
    - LXX: "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise..."
    - Usage: Paul uses the LXX to contrast human wisdom with God's power.

Hebrews

- Hebrews 1:6 quoting Deuteronomy 32:43 (additional verse in LXX):
    - LXX: "Let all God's angels worship Him."
    - MT: This line is absent in the Hebrew version.
- Hebrews 10:5–7 quoting Psalm 40:6–8:
    - LXX: "A body you have prepared for me."
    - MT: "My ears you have opened."
- Hebrews 8:8–12 quoting Jeremiah 31:31–34:
    - LXX: Matches almost verbatim in its description of the new covenant.
    - MT: Differences in phrasing and focus are present.
- Hebrews 12:6 quoting Proverbs 3:12:
    - LXX: "The Lord disciplines the one He loves and chastises every son He accepts."
    - MT: Similar but slightly different emphasis.

Other Key Passages

- 1 Peter 2:6 quoting Isaiah 28:16:
    - LXX: "The one who believes in Him will not be put to shame."
    - MT: "Will not be in haste."
- Revelation 2:27 quoting Psalm 2:9:
    - LXX: "He shall rule them with a rod of iron."
    - MT: "You shall break them with a rod of iron."
- Revelation 5:9–10 quoting Exodus 19:6:
    - LXX: "You made them a kingdom and priests to our God."
    - MT: Matches closely but reflects the LXX's focus on universality.

- Revelation 22:16 echoing Isaiah 11:1:
    - LXX: "The root and offspring of David."
    - MT: Similar but the LXX language resonates more directly with the context.
- Galatians 3:13 quoting Deuteronomy 21:23:
    - LXX: "Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree."
    - MT: Matches closely, but Paul's citation aligns with the LXX phrasing.
- Ephesians 4:8 quoting Psalm 68:18:
    - LXX: "He gave gifts to men."
    - MT: "You received gifts among men."

Themes in LXX Usage:

■Messianic Prophecies

The LXX often presents messianic prophecies that align closely with the New Testament's presentation of Jesus as the Messiah. These passages in the LXX are sometimes more explicit in pointing to Christ, particularly when compared to the Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT).

- Isaiah 53 (LXX) and Matthew 8:17:
    - Isaiah 53:4 (LXX): "Surely he has borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; yet we esteemed him stricken, smitten by God, and afflicted."
    - Matthew 8:17: "This was to fulfill what was spoken by the prophet Isaiah: 'He took our illnesses and bore our diseases.'"
    - Significance: The LXX's phrasing of "borne our griefs" in Isaiah 53:4 fits perfectly with Matthew's depiction of Jesus' healing ministry, presenting Christ as the fulfillment of the suffering servant.
- Psalm 22 (LXX) and Matthew 27:46 / Mark 15:34:
    - Psalm 22:1 (LXX): "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"
    - Matthew 27:46 / Mark 15:34: "And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, 'Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?' that is, 'My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?'"

- Significance: Jesus' cry on the cross directly echoes the LXX version of Psalm 22:1, demonstrating that the LXX's rendering connects deeply with New Testament Christology.

■Gentile Inclusion

The LXX version of certain Old Testament texts highlights the inclusion of Gentiles in God's salvific plan, which is a prominent theme in the New Testament.

- Amos 9:11–12 (LXX) and Acts 15:16–17:
  - Amos 9:11–12 (LXX): "On that day I will raise up the booth of David that is fallen and repair its breaches, and raise up its ruins and rebuild it as in the days of old; that they may possess the remnant of Edom and all the nations who are called by my name, says the Lord who does this."
  - Acts 15:16–17: "After this I will return, and I will rebuild the tent of David that has fallen; I will rebuild its ruins, and I will restore it, that the remnant of mankind may seek the Lord, and all the Gentiles who are called by my name..."
  - Significance: The LXX's emphasis on the Gentiles' inclusion aligns with James' interpretation in the Council of Jerusalem in Acts 15, where he cites Amos 9 to justify the inclusion of Gentiles in the Church.

■Use of "Kyrios" for God

The LXX's translation of the divine name YHWH as κύριος (Kyrios) had a profound influence on the New Testament, where Kyrios is used for both God the Father and Jesus Christ.

- Isaiah 45:23 (LXX) and Philippians 2:10–11:
  - Isaiah 45:23 (LXX): "By myself I have sworn; from my mouth has gone forth in righteousness a word that shall not return: 'To me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear allegiance.'"
  - Philippians 2:10–11: "So that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, in heaven and on earth and under the earth, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."
  - Significance: The LXX's use of Kyrios (Lord) for God in Isaiah 45:23 is echoed in Philippians 2:10–11, where Kyrios is applied to Jesus. This connects the divine title of Lord to Jesus in a way that aligns with the New Testament's understanding of His divinity.

2. Hellenistic Context of Early Christianity

- The early Christian movement was rooted in a Hellenistic Jewish context where the Septuagint was widely used, especially among Jews living outside of Israel who spoke Greek.
- The New Testament itself was written in Koine Greek, the same linguistic environment as the LXX.

3. Theological and Interpretive Choices

Some theological concepts in the New Testament draw from nuances in the LXX's translation, which sometimes differs from the Hebrew.

■1. The Incarnation and Virgin Birth

- Matthew 1:23 quoting Isaiah 7:14:
  - LXX: "The virgin (παρθένος, parthenos) shall conceive and bear a son."
  - MT: "The young woman (עַלְמָה, almah) shall conceive and bear a son."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's use of parthenos explicitly supports the doctrine of the virgin birth, aligning with Matthew's Christological interpretation.

■2. The Divine Messiah

- Hebrews 1:8 quoting Psalm 45:6–7:
  - LXX: "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever."
  - MT: The Hebrew phrasing can be interpreted as "Your throne is the throne of God."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's rendering strengthens the identification of the Messiah as divine, a key theological claim in Hebrews.

■3. The Suffering Servant

- Acts 8:32–33 quoting Isaiah 53:7–8:
  - LXX: "As a sheep led to the slaughter... his life is taken away from the earth."
  - MT: "As a lamb to the slaughter... he was cut off out of the land of the living."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes the Servant's sacrificial role, prefiguring Jesus' death and its redemptive significance.

■4. Justification by Faith

- Romans 4:3 quoting Genesis 15:6:
    - LXX: "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness."
    - MT: Similar but slightly different focus; Paul's use of the LXX highlights faith as the basis of righteousness.
    - Theological Impact: The LXX's clarity supports Paul's doctrine of justification by faith.

■5. Gentile Inclusion

- Acts 15:16–17 quoting Amos 9:11–12:
    - LXX: "So that the rest of humankind may seek the Lord, and all the Gentiles."
    - MT: "That they may possess the remnant of Edom."
    - Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes God's plan for Gentile inclusion, which becomes central to early Christian theology.

■6. Christ as High Priest

- Hebrews 10:5 quoting Psalm 40:6–8:
    - LXX: "A body you have prepared for me."
    - MT: "My ears you have opened."
    - Theological Impact: The LXX's "body" language points directly to Jesus' incarnation and sacrificial death, foundational to the theology of Hebrews.

■7. Resurrection and Victory over Death

- 1 Corinthians 15:54–55 quoting Isaiah 25:8 and Hosea 13:14:
    - LXX (Isaiah): "Death is swallowed up in victory."
    - MT (Isaiah): "He will swallow up death forever."
    - LXX (Hosea): "O Death, where is your sting?"
    - MT (Hosea): The Hebrew text focuses more on judgment.
    - Theological Impact: The LXX highlights triumph and victory, key themes in Paul's teaching on resurrection.

■8. Christ's Eternal Rule

- Revelation 5:9–10 quoting Exodus 19:6:
    - LXX: "You made them a kingdom and priests to our God, and they will reign on earth."

- MT: "You shall be to me a kingdom of priests."
- Theological Impact: The LXX's broader eschatological vision influences the theology of Revelation regarding believers' role in God's kingdom.

■9. The Day of the Lord

- Acts 2:19–21 quoting Joel 2:28–32:
  - LXX: "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved."
  - MT: Similar but less explicit in universal application.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX underscores the accessibility of salvation, a cornerstone of Peter's Pentecost sermon.

■10. The New Covenant

- Hebrews 8:8–12 quoting Jeremiah 31:31–34:
  - LXX: Closely matches the New Testament's emphasis on God writing His law on hearts.
  - MT: The Hebrew has minor differences in wording.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX reinforces the promise of a spiritual transformation under the new covenant.

■11. The Role of Angels

- Hebrews 1:6 quoting Deuteronomy 32:43 (LXX addition):
  - LXX: "Let all God's angels worship Him."
  - MT: This phrase is absent.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX provides textual support for the worship of Christ by angels, affirming His divine status.

■12. Messianic Hope

- Romans 15:12 quoting Isaiah 11:10:
  - LXX: "The root of Jesse will arise to rule the Gentiles; in Him the Gentiles will hope."
  - MT: "The nations will inquire of Him."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes hope and trust in the Messiah, aligning with Paul's message.

■13. God's Name and Christ as "Lord"

- Romans 10:13 quoting Joel 2:32:

- LXX: "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord (κύριος, Kyrios) shall be saved."
- MT: "Everyone who calls on the name of YHWH shall be saved."
- Theological Impact: The LXX's substitution of Kyrios for YHWH allowed New Testament writers to apply this divine title to Jesus, emphasizing His deity.

■14. The Stone the Builders Rejected

- 1 Peter 2:6–8 quoting Isaiah 28:16, Psalm 118:22:
  - LXX (Isaiah): "The one who believes in Him will not be put to shame."
  - MT (Isaiah): "Will not act hastily."
  - LXX (Psalm): "The stone which the builders rejected has become the cornerstone."
  - MT (Psalm): Similar but less explicit in its messianic implications.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's emphasis on faith and rejection ties into Christ's role as the cornerstone of the Church.

■15. The Law and Christ's Fulfillment

- Galatians 3:19–24 referencing Deuteronomy 27:26:
  - LXX: "Cursed is everyone who does not abide by all the words of this law."
  - MT: Similar but subtly different in phrasing.
  - Theological Impact: Paul draws on the LXX's clarity to contrast the law's demands with the justification provided through Christ.

■16. Universal Sinfulness

- Romans 3:10–18 quoting Psalms 14:1–3 and others:
  - LXX: Includes additional lines about human sinfulness not present in the MT.
  - MT: Shorter and less comprehensive.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's expanded description of sin supports Paul's argument for universal sinfulness and the need for salvation.

■17. Melchizedek as a Type of Christ

- Hebrews 7:1–3 referencing Genesis 14:18 and Psalm 110:4:
  - LXX (Genesis): Melchizedek is introduced as "priest of the Most High God" (εἰς τὸν θεὸν τὸν ὕψιστον).

- MT (Genesis): Similar, but the Greek phrasing facilitates the connection to Jesus.
- Theological Impact: The LXX helps shape Melchizedek as a typological figure representing Christ's eternal priesthood.

■18. Christ’s Atonement and Redemption

- 1 Peter 1:18–19 referencing Exodus 12:5:
  - LXX: “Your lamb shall be perfect, without blemish.”
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX’s language of perfection aligns closely with the New Testament portrayal of Christ as the unblemished Lamb.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX underscores Christ’s sinlessness and His fulfillment of the Passover sacrifice.

■19. God’s Wrath and Judgment

- Romans 1:18–32 referencing Wisdom of Solomon 13–14 (included in the LXX):
  - LXX (Wisdom): Critiques idolatry and its resulting moral decay.
  - MT: This specific critique is absent.
  - Theological Impact: Paul’s argument against idolatry and immorality parallels the Wisdom text, showing his reliance on the LXX’s broader theological framework.

■20. The Image of God Restored

- Colossians 1:15 and Genesis 1:26:
  - LXX (Genesis): “Let us make man in our image, after our likeness.”
  - MT (Genesis): Matches closely but lacks the LXX’s emphasis on the relational aspect of image and likeness.
  - Theological Impact: Paul’s use of the LXX affirms Christ as the true Image of God, restoring what was lost in Adam.

■21. The Spirit's Role in Renewal

- Titus 3:5–6 referencing Ezekiel 36:26–27:
  - LXX: “I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you.”
  - MT: Matches closely but the LXX highlights the Spirit’s active role.

- Theological Impact: The LXX's phrasing complements the New Testament emphasis on regeneration by the Holy Spirit.

■22. The Eschatological Banquet

- Luke 14:15–24 and Isaiah 25:6–9:
  - LXX: "The Lord will make a feast for all the nations... He will swallow up death forever."
  - MT: Similar but less universal in tone.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX highlights the inclusion of Gentiles in God's ultimate salvation plan.

■23. The Messiah's Kingdom

- Revelation 19:15 quoting Psalm 2:9:
  - LXX: "He shall shepherd them with a rod of iron."
  - MT: "You shall break them with a rod of iron."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's wording shifts the tone to one of guidance and authority, aligning with Christ's messianic kingship.

■24. The New Creation

- 2 Corinthians 5:17 referencing Isaiah 65:17:
  - LXX: "I create new heavens and a new earth."
  - MT: Matches closely, but the LXX's phrasing aligns with Paul's theme of personal and cosmic renewal.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX enriches the concept of the believer's transformation into a new creation in Christ.

■25. The Servant of the Lord as Light to the Nations

- Acts 13:47 quoting Isaiah 49:6:
  - LXX: "I have set you as a light to the nations, that you should bring salvation to the ends of the earth."
  - MT: "I will make you a light for the nations."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's more active and universal phrasing resonates with the mission of the Church to reach all peoples, emphasizing the inclusivity of salvation.

■26. The End of Sacrificial Law

- Hebrews 10:4–10 referencing Psalm 40:6–8:
  - LXX: "Sacrifice and offering you did not desire, but a body you have prepared for me."

- MT: "Sacrifice and offering you did not desire, but you have opened my ears."
- Theological Impact: The LXX's emphasis on the "body" points directly to Jesus' incarnation and ultimate sacrifice, marking the transition from the old covenant of animal sacrifices to the new covenant in His blood.

■27. The Outpouring of the Holy Spirit

- Acts 2:17–21 quoting Joel 2:28–32:
  - LXX: "I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh."
  - MT: Similar but with less emphasis on universal application.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX explicitly underscores the universal outpouring of the Spirit, which aligns with the Pentecost event as a fulfillment of prophecy.

■28. The Victory of the Messiah Over His Enemies

- 1 Corinthians 15:25 and Psalm 110:1:
  - LXX: "The Lord said to my Lord: 'Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet.'"
  - MT: Matches closely but lacks the clarity of the messianic figure in the context of Greek thought.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's phrasing, particularly its use of Kyrios for both "Lord" and the messianic figure, highlights the exaltation of Jesus as Messiah and Lord.

■29. The Law as a Temporary Measure

- Galatians 3:19 referencing Deuteronomy 27:26:
  - LXX: "Cursed is everyone who does not continue in all the words of the law."
  - MT: Similar, but Paul relies on the LXX's phrasing to argue that the law was a tutor leading to Christ.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's precise wording helps Paul establish the temporary and preparatory role of the Mosaic Law in God's redemptive plan.

■30. The Faithfulness of Abraham

- Romans 4:3 quoting Genesis 15:6:
  - LXX: "Abraham believed God, and it was credited to him as righteousness."

- MT: Similar but with subtle differences in verb tenses and emphases.
- Theological Impact: The LXX's clear statement on faith and righteousness supports Paul's doctrine of justification by faith.

■31. Divine Sonship and Adoption

- Romans 9:26 quoting Hosea 1:10:
  - LXX: "In the place where it was said to them, 'You are not my people,' there they will be called sons of the living God."
  - MT: Similar but with less focus on divine sonship.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX underscores the transformative nature of God's covenant, extending it to include Gentiles as adopted children of God.

■32. Jesus as the Passover Lamb

- John 1:29 referencing Exodus 12:5 and Isaiah 53:7:
  - LXX (Exodus): "Your lamb shall be perfect, a male without blemish."
  - LXX (Isaiah): "Like a lamb that is led to the slaughter."
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX's focus on perfection aligns directly with Jesus' sinlessness and sacrificial death.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX reinforces the typology of Jesus as the ultimate Passover Lamb.

■33. The Messiah's Universal Rule

- Romans 15:12 quoting Isaiah 11:10:
  - LXX: "The root of Jesse will arise, to rule the Gentiles; in Him the Gentiles will hope."
  - MT: "The nations will seek Him."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes the universal hope found in the Messiah, central to Paul's mission to the Gentiles.

■34. The New Creation

- Revelation 21:1 quoting Isaiah 65:17:
  - LXX: "I create new heavens and a new earth."
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX's phrasing ties more directly into the eschatological vision of a transformed cosmos.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX provides a framework for understanding the restoration of all creation in Christ.

■35. Redemption from the Curse

- Galatians 3:13 quoting Deuteronomy 21:23:
  - LXX: "Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree."
  - MT: Matches closely, but the LXX's phrasing becomes a critical link to Jesus' crucifixion as bearing the curse for humanity.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX strengthens the typological connection between the curse of the law and Christ's redemptive death.

■36. The Messiah as the Righteous Judge

- Acts 17:31 referencing Psalm 96:13:
  - LXX: "For He is coming to judge the earth with righteousness."
  - MT: Similar but with less emphasis on the universal aspect.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX highlights the Messiah's role as the eschatological judge, a theme central to apostolic preaching.

■37. The Church as the True Israel

- Romans 9:25–26 quoting Hosea 2:23 and 1:10:
  - LXX (Hosea 2:23): "I will call those who were not my people, 'My people,' and her who was not beloved, 'Beloved.'"
  - MT: Similar but less poetic in phrasing.
  - Theological Impact: Paul's application of these passages to the Church relies on the LXX's clear emphasis on inclusion, presenting the Church as the fulfillment of God's promises to Israel.

■38. The Messiah's Humiliation and Exaltation

- Philippians 2:6–11 echoes Isaiah 45:23:
  - LXX: "Every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess to God."
  - MT: Similar, but Paul uses the LXX's phrasing to assert Jesus' divine status and universal lordship.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's explicit language ties Jesus to the divine prerogatives of YHWH, affirming His exaltation as Kyrios (Lord).

■39. The Coming of the Spirit to Empower Prophets

- Luke 4:18 quoting Isaiah 61:1:

- LXX: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He has anointed me to preach good news to the poor..."
- MT: Similar, but the LXX emphasizes proclamation, aligning with Jesus' role as the herald of the Kingdom.
- Theological Impact: The LXX shapes the understanding of Jesus' mission as Spirit-empowered and universally directed.

■40. The Suffering Servant's Vicarious Sacrifice

- 1 Peter 2:22–25 referencing Isaiah 53:4–7:
  - LXX: "He himself bore our sins in His body on the tree."
  - MT: "He carried our diseases."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes the Servant's substitutionary atonement, a cornerstone of Peter's Christology.

■41. Divine Adoption and Glory

- Romans 8:15–17 referencing Exodus 4:22:
  - LXX: "Israel is my firstborn son."
  - MT: Matches closely, but the LXX's Greek phrasing enables Paul to expand the concept to all believers as adopted children of God.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's language contributes to Paul's theology of sonship and inheritance in Christ.

■42. The Messianic Reign of Peace

- Hebrews 1:8–9 quoting Psalm 45:6–7:
  - LXX: "Your throne, O God, is forever and ever; the scepter of righteousness is the scepter of your kingdom."
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX explicitly applies the title "God" (ὁ θεός) to the king, reinforcing the messianic identity of Jesus.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX provides a foundation for the exaltation of Christ as both King and God.

■43. The Gentiles' Inclusion in the Covenant

- Ephesians 2:13–18 echoes Isaiah 57:19:
  - LXX: "Peace, peace to those far and near," says the Lord.
  - MT: Matches closely, but Paul uses the LXX's phrasing to stress the reconciliation of Jews and Gentiles through Christ.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's universal language supports the Church's mission to all nations.

■44. The Seed of Abraham

- Galatians 3:16 referencing Genesis 22:18:
  - LXX: "In your seed all the nations of the earth shall be blessed."
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX uses singular "seed," which Paul interprets as Christ.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's singular form allows Paul to identify Jesus as the fulfillment of the Abrahamic promise.

■45. Eternal Priesthood of the Messiah

- Hebrews 5:6 quoting Psalm 110:4:
  - LXX: "You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek."
  - MT: Matches closely, but the LXX's phrasing lends itself to the typology of Christ's eternal priesthood.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX underpins the argument for Jesus' unique priesthood, surpassing the Levitical order.

■46. The New Covenant

- Hebrews 8:8–12 quoting Jeremiah 31:31–34:
  - LXX: "I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah."
  - MT: Similar but the LXX's emphasis on new highlights the discontinuity with the old covenant.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX provides the basis for understanding the covenant inaugurated by Christ's death and resurrection.

■47. The Son of Man and the Nations

- Matthew 24:30 referencing Daniel 7:13–14:
  - LXX: "Behold, one like a son of man coming on the clouds of heaven."
  - MT: Matches closely but the LXX's apocalyptic tone resonates with Jesus' eschatological teachings.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX highlights the universal dominion of the Son of Man, applied to Jesus.

■48. The Resurrection of the Righteous

- Acts 24:15 referencing Daniel 12:2:

- LXX: "Many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake."
- MT: Matches closely, but the LXX emphasizes the distinction between eternal life and disgrace.
- Theological Impact: The LXX underscores the hope of resurrection central to Christian belief.

■49. The Psalms and Christological Worship

- Matthew 21:16 referencing Psalm 8:2:
  - LXX: "Out of the mouths of infants and nursing babies you have prepared praise."
  - MT: "Out of the mouths of infants and nursing babies you have established strength."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's choice of praise over strength enables Jesus to highlight the worship due to Him, affirming His divine identity.

■50. The Role of Angels and the Law

- Galatians 3:19 and Hebrews 2:2 referencing Deuteronomy 33:2:
  - LXX: "The Lord came from Sinai... with myriads of holy ones at His right hand."
  - MT: Emphasizes God's direct communication but downplays the role of angels.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's imagery supports the NT concept that angels were mediators of the Mosaic Law, paving the way for the superior covenant brought by Christ.

■51. Christ as the Rock in the Wilderness

- 1 Corinthians 10:4 referencing Exodus 17:6 and Numbers 20:8–11:
  - LXX: "You shall strike the rock, and water will come out of it."
  - MT: Similar but lacks the subtlety of Paul's interpretation.
  - Theological Impact: Paul uses the LXX's narrative framework to typologically identify Christ as the spiritual Rock sustaining Israel, pointing to His life-giving role.

■52. Justification by Faith Prefigured in the Prophets

- Romans 10:11 quoting Isaiah 28:16:
  - LXX: "The one who believes in Him will not be put to shame."
  - MT: "The one who trusts will not panic."

- Theological Impact: The LXX emphasizes belief in a personal object (Messiah), supporting Paul's doctrine of justification by faith in Christ.

■53. The Resurrection Foretold in Prophecy

- Acts 2:27–31 quoting Psalm 16:10:
  - LXX: "You will not allow your Holy One to see corruption."
  - MT: "You will not let your faithful one see the pit."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's reference to corruption provides a clearer basis for Peter's interpretation of the resurrection prophecy.

■54. The Messianic King's Triumph

- Revelation 19:15 referencing Isaiah 63:3:
  - LXX: "I trampled them in my wrath, and their blood spattered my garments."
  - MT: Matches closely but the LXX's vivid phrasing intensifies the imagery of divine judgment.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX contributes to John's vision of the victorious Messiah executing judgment upon His enemies.

■55. The Nations Coming to Zion

- Matthew 2:6 quoting Micah 5:2:
  - LXX: "And you, Bethlehem... out of you will come a ruler who will shepherd my people Israel."
  - MT: Similar but less explicitly connected to the messianic role.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's shepherd imagery aligns with Jesus' role as the Good Shepherd and King.

■56. The Covenant and the Blood of Christ

- Matthew 26:28 referencing Exodus 24:8:
  - LXX: "This is the blood of the covenant that the Lord has made with you."
  - MT: Matches closely, but the LXX's phrasing emphasizes the ratification of a covenant, prefiguring the Eucharist.
  - Theological Impact: Jesus' use of this language echoes the covenant ceremony in Exodus, applying it to His sacrificial death.

■57. The Restoration of Israel and Gentile Inclusion

- Acts 15:16–17 quoting Amos 9:11–12:

- LXX: "I will rebuild the tent of David... so that the rest of humanity may seek the Lord."
- MT: "...that they may possess the remnant of Edom."
- Theological Impact: The LXX's universal language supports the early Church's mission to include Gentiles as part of God's restored people.

■58. The Apocalyptic Vision of the Day of the Lord

- 2 Peter 3:10 referencing Isaiah 34:4 and Zephaniah 1:18:
  - LXX: "The heavens will be rolled up like a scroll, and their hosts will fall."
  - MT: Matches closely but the LXX's poetic imagery aligns with NT apocalyptic language.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX enhances the NT's eschatological vision of cosmic renewal.

■59. Wisdom Literature and Christ

- Colossians 1:15–20 echoing Wisdom of Solomon 7:25–26:
  - LXX (Wisdom 7:26): "For she is a reflection of eternal light, a spotless mirror of the working of God."
  - Theological Impact: The LXX's portrayal of Wisdom as God's agent of creation and revelation contributes to Paul's high Christology, presenting Jesus as the embodiment of divine Wisdom.

■60. Atonement and Mercy Seat Imagery

- Romans 3:25 referencing Leviticus 16:15:
  - LXX: "And he shall sprinkle the blood upon the mercy seat."
  - MT: Similar, but the LXX's hilastērion (mercy seat) connects directly to Paul's description of Jesus as the place of atonement.
  - Theological Impact: The LXX provides the vocabulary for understanding Jesus' sacrificial death as fulfilling the Day of Atonement.

4. Evidence from Patristic Sources

- Early Church Fathers affirm the use of the LXX in the early Christian community. For example, Justin Martyr and others explicitly mention its role in interpreting the Scriptures.

■1. Justin Martyr (100–165 CE)

Justin Martyr, one of the earliest Christian apologists, frequently quoted the LXX in his writings and recognized its authority:

- Dialogue with Trypho, Chapter 71:
  Justin defends the use of the LXX by Christians and accuses Jewish authorities of altering certain Hebrew texts to obscure messianic prophecies fulfilled by Christ.
    - "But I am far from putting reliance on your teachers, who refuse to admit that the interpretation made by the seventy elders who were with Ptolemy of Egypt is a correct one."
- Use of Messianic Prophecies:
  In this work, Justin uses the LXX's rendering of Isaiah 7:14 ("the virgin shall conceive") to argue for the virgin birth of Christ, a point of contention with Jewish interpretations of the Hebrew text.

■2. Irenaeus of Lyons (130–202 CE)

Irenaeus upheld the divine inspiration of the LXX and considered it an essential resource for understanding Christ's fulfillment of the Scriptures:

- Against Heresies, Book 3, Chapter 21.2:
  Irenaeus explicitly affirms the divine guidance of the seventy translators of the LXX:
    - "God prepared for the Gentiles the scriptures translated by the seventy elders, in order that they might come to Christ at the proper time."
- Defense of Isaiah 7:14:
  Irenaeus uses the LXX's "virgin" (παρθένος) in Isaiah 7:14 to argue for Christ's miraculous birth, emphasizing the reliability of the Greek text over Jewish claims.

■3. Clement of Alexandria (150–215 CE)

Clement often quoted the LXX in his theological works, affirming its role in Christian exegesis:

- Stromata, Book 1, Chapter 22:
  Clement discusses the miraculous nature of the LXX translation, describing how the seventy translators independently produced identical texts through divine inspiration.

    - “The Scriptures were interpreted with harmonious and wonderful concurrence by the seventy elders.”
- Scriptural Quotations:
  Clement's extensive citations of Scripture almost exclusively align with the LXX, indicating its centrality in Alexandrian Christian theology.

■4. Origen (184–253 CE)

Origen's scholarship solidified the LXX's role in Christian tradition, even as he engaged with the Hebrew text.

- Hexapla:
  Origen’s monumental work compared the Hebrew text and various Greek translations, including the LXX, demonstrating his reverence for the LXX while addressing textual differences.
    - He consistently used the LXX for theological arguments and noted its primacy in the Church’s liturgy and exegesis.
- Letter to Africanus:
  Origen defends the use of the LXX against criticisms of its fidelity to the Hebrew text, arguing that the Church received it as authoritative:
    - “The Church of Christ uses the Septuagint, and it is not correct to say they [the Jews] have corrupted it.”

■5. Eusebius of Caesarea (260–340 CE)

Eusebius affirmed the LXX’s importance in early Christianity and its providential role in spreading the Scriptures:

- Ecclesiastical History, Book 5, Chapter 8:
  Eusebius recounts the history of the LXX translation, portraying it as divinely inspired and an essential step in the preparation for Christ's coming.
    - He highlights the miraculous agreement among the seventy translators and its adoption by the early Church.
- Defense of Messianic Prophecies:
  Eusebius frequently quotes the LXX to show how Jesus fulfilled Old Testament prophecies, relying on the Greek text for clarity and precision.

■6. Athanasius of Alexandria (296–373 CE)

Athanasius, a champion of Nicene orthodoxy, emphasized the authority of the LXX in his writings:

- Festal Letter 39 (367 CE):
  Athanasius lists the canonical books of Scripture and affirms the Church's use of the LXX for both the Old Testament and deuterocanonical books.
    - "The Scriptures, as inspired by God, were translated by the seventy elders for the benefit of the nations."
- Defense of Isaiah 7:14:
  Athanasius also defends the LXX's use of παρθένος ("virgin") in Isaiah 7:14, seeing it as a prophetic validation of Christ's birth.

■7. Cyril of Jerusalem (313–386 CE)

Cyril embraced the LXX as the foundation of the Church's teaching and scriptural understanding:

- Catechetical Lectures, Lecture 4:
  Cyril highlights the providential history of the LXX translation, emphasizing its accuracy and divine inspiration:
    - "The divine Scriptures were translated for the Greeks by seventy interpreters... guided by the Spirit."
- Use in Instruction:
  In his catechesis, Cyril consistently quotes the LXX to teach key doctrines, from the Incarnation to the Resurrection.

■8. Augustine of Hippo (354–430 CE)

Augustine regarded the LXX as a divinely guided translation and the primary text for Christians.

- City of God, Book 18, Chapter 42:
  Augustine defends the LXX against claims that it is inferior to the Hebrew text:
    - "The seventy translators were guided by one and the same Spirit, so that there is no doubt their translation was made under divine guidance."
- On Christian Doctrine, Book 2, Chapter 15:
  Augustine argues for the Church's continued use of the LXX, even acknowledging differences with the Hebrew:
    - "The apostles themselves used the Greek Scriptures as they brought the Gospel to the Gentiles."

■9. John Chrysostom (349–407 CE)

John Chrysostom, known for his eloquent preaching, relied heavily on the LXX:

- Homilies on Genesis and the Psalms:
  Chrysostom's commentary aligns with the LXX, reflecting its centrality in the liturgical and theological life of the Church.
    - He praises the clarity and accessibility of the Greek Scriptures for both Jews and Gentiles.
- Defense of Isaiah 7:14:
  Like others, Chrysostom affirms the LXX's rendering of παρθένος in Isaiah 7:14 as a key messianic prophecy.

■10. Jerome (347–420 CE)

While Jerome is known for translating the Scriptures into Latin (the Vulgate), he acknowledged the importance of the LXX in the early Church:

- Preface to the Pentateuch:
  Jerome notes the widespread use of the LXX in the Church, even as he promoted the Hebrew text:
    - "The Septuagint was translated by the seventy elders, and it has been received by the apostles themselves."
- Letters:
  Jerome occasionally deferred to the LXX when interpreting difficult passages, recognizing its theological and historical significance.

Summary of Early Church Fathers' Affirmation:

1. Defense Against Jewish Criticisms:
   Many Fathers defended the LXX as an inspired text when Jewish scholars challenged its interpretations (e.g., Isaiah 7:14).
2. Authority in the Early Church:
   The LXX was the primary version of Scripture used in early Christian worship, catechesis, and theology.
3. Divine Inspiration:
   Numerous Fathers emphasized the miraculous nature of the LXX's translation process, affirming its providential role in salvation history.
4. Connection to Christ:
   The LXX's phrasing often provided clearer connections to messianic prophecies, which the Fathers consistently emphasized.

5. Usage by Specific Writers

The New Testament (NT) writers extensively used the Septuagint (LXX), often favoring its renderings over the Hebrew Masoretic Text (MT) for theological, linguistic, and contextual reasons. Below is an analysis of LXX usage by specific NT writers, categorized by the books they authored, along with examples:

Matthew

Matthew's Gospel frequently relies on the LXX, especially in citing messianic prophecies.

Mark

Mark uses fewer direct citations than Matthew but still aligns with the LXX where it occurs.

Luke

Luke, writing for a primarily Gentile audience, heavily relies on the LXX to connect Jesus to Jewish prophecy.

John

John's Gospel uses the LXX to underline theological themes, particularly Christ's divinity.

Acts (Luke)

Acts showcases numerous LXX citations to argue for Jesus as the fulfillment of prophecy.

Paul's Epistles

Paul frequently quotes the LXX, using its language to develop key theological arguments.

- Galatians 3:13 (Deuteronomy 21:23):
    - LXX: "Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree."
    - MT: Matches but Paul draws directly from the Greek to emphasize Jesus' crucifixion.

Hebrews

Hebrews relies almost exclusively on the LXX, aligning its Christological arguments with the Greek Scriptures.

Peter's Epistles

Peter uses the LXX to connect Jesus with Jewish prophecies.

- 1 Peter 2:22 (Isaiah 53:9):
    - LXX: "He committed no sin, nor was deceit found in his mouth."
    - Usage: Reflects the LXX's exact phrasing to describe Jesus' innocence.

Revelation (John)

Revelation's apocalyptic imagery often mirrors the LXX's phrasing, particularly from Isaiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel.

- Revelation 1:7 (Zechariah 12:10):
    - LXX: "They will look on Him whom they pierced."
    - MT: Similar but less explicit.
    - Usage: John emphasizes the visible return of Christ using the LXX.
- Revelation 19:15 (Isaiah 63:3):
    - LXX: "He will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God."
    - Usage: Aligns with the LXX's vivid apocalyptic imagery.

Summary Table of LXX Usage by NT Writers

NT Writer	Books	Prominent LXX Examples
Matthew	Matthew	Isaiah 7:14, Psalm 8:2
Mark	Mark	Isaiah 29:13, Isaiah 40:3
Luke	Luke, Acts	Isaiah 61:1–2, Joel 2:28–32
John	John, Revelation	Isaiah 6:10, Psalm 34:20, Zechariah 12:10
Paul	Romans, Galatians, etc.	Deuteronomy 21:23, Isaiah 29:14
Peter	1 & 2 Peter	Isaiah 28:16, Isaiah 53:9
Hebrews Author	Hebrews	Deuteronomy 32:43, Psalm 40:6–8

While the LXX was a significant influence, the New Testament writers sometimes adapted or paraphrased the text to fit their theological purposes, blending elements of both the Hebrew and Greek traditions.

Jesus and Father

Glory

Isaiah 42:8 (Hebrew)

"I am YHWH; that is My name! I will not give My glory to another, nor My praise to idols."

In Hebrew:
יְהוָֹה (YHWH) = Yahweh
Matthew 16:27 (Greek)

"For the Son of Man is going to come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and will then repay every man according to his deeds."

In Greek:

πατρὸς αὐτοῦ (patros autou) = His Father

δόξῃ (doxē) = glory

Creator

Isaiah 40:28 (Hebrew)

"Do you not know? Have you not heard? YHWH is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He will not grow tired or weary, and His understanding no one can fathom."

In Hebrew:
יְהוָֹה (YHWH) = Yahweh
בּוֹרֵא (bōrē) = Creator
Ephesians 3:8-12 (Greek)
*"8 Although I am the very least of all the saints, this grace was given to me to bring to the Gentiles the news of the boundless riches of Christ, 9 and to make everyone see what is the plan of the mystery hidden for ages in God who created all things; 10 so that through the church the wisdom of God in its rich variety might now be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places. 11 This was in accordance with the eternal purpose that he has carried out in Christ Jesus our Lord, 12 in whom we have access to God in boldness and confidence through faith in him."

In Greek:
θεῷ τῷ (theō tō) = God
κτίσαντι (ktisanti) = created

In Ephesians 3:8-12, Paul's focus is on the divine plan of salvation and the revelation of this mystery through Jesus Christ. While the passage does not explicitly state, "Jesus is God," it does imply Jesus' divinity through several key elements:

1. "Boundless riches of Christ" (v. 8)

- Paul speaks of the "boundless riches of Christ" (Greek: ἀνεξιχνίαστος πλοῦτος τοῦ Χριστοῦ, anexichniastos ploutos tou Christou), implying that Christ possesses infinite spiritual wealth and blessings.
- In the Old Testament, boundless riches and wisdom are typically attributed to God alone (e.g., Job 5:9, Psalm 145:3). By using this language for Christ, Paul hints at Christ's divine nature.

Job 5:9

"He does great things and unsearchable, marvelous things without number."

Explanation:

- This verse is part of a speech by Eliphaz, one of Job's friends, who is describing the greatness of God.
- "Great things and unsearchable": The word "unsearchable" (Hebrew: אֵין חֵקֶר, ein ḥēqer) means beyond human understanding or comprehension. It emphasizes the divine nature of God's actions.
- "Marvelous things without number": The phrase highlights God's limitless power and the countless wonders He performs, which go beyond human ability to count or fully understand.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8:

- When Paul speaks of the "boundless riches of Christ," he uses similar language to describe the infinite nature of Christ's blessings. This parallel suggests a divine attribute shared with God, supporting the idea of Christ's divinity.

Psalm 145:3

"Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; his greatness is unsearchable."

Explanation:

- "Great is the Lord" (Hebrew: גָּדוֹל יְהוָה, gadol YHWH): This declares the supreme greatness of God (Yahweh).
- "His greatness is unsearchable" (Hebrew: וּלְגִדֻלָּתוֹ אֵין חֵקֶר, uligdulato ein ḥēqer): This mirrors the language in Job 5:9, emphasizing that God's greatness cannot be fully understood or measured by human beings.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8:
